Appellant, Pro se

Case No: 12-12020(MG)

Residential Capital
GMAC

Adv. Pro. No. 13-01350(MG)

Appelle.

I don't intend to be as knowledgeable as counsel of record. However I also understand that reasonableness must be exercised at all levels. The Court sent me a letter requesting The Designation of the Contents of the Record on Appeal and Statement of Issues dated February 18, 2014, I received it first class mail the 22nd day of February, 2014. This notice requires me to respond by the 24th day of February, 2014. In addition to the lack of time afforded me, the distance between my residence and the court requires a response almost instate. As the court will have to acknowledge, I am attempting to abide by the courts demands. However, I am strenuously objecting to the lack of time allowed me to respond. The old adage haste makes waste, I'm afraid may be true here. Yet in order to comply with the courts demands I have had to make this response in a most hurriedly manner and financial hardship.

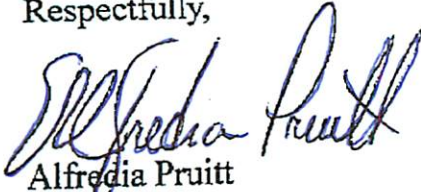

Although, a response is tendered as demanded, I am a pro se plaintiff, I feel I should have been notified earlier, in order for a more thought out response. I had less that 24 hrs to respond.
