EXHIBIT A

(0921528 B.C. Ltd.)

0921528 B.C. Ltd. (the "Landlord") files this amended proof of claim in the chapter 11 cases of Heli-One Canada ULC ("Heli-One") and 6922767 Holding S.A.R.L. ("6922767 Holding") and, together with the Landlord and Heli-One, the "Parties"). The chapter 11 cases of Heli-One and 6922767 Holding have been assigned case numbers 16-31893 (BJH) and 16-31855 (BJH), respectively, and were commenced on May 5, 2016 in the United States Bankruptcy Court for the Northern District of Texas, Dallas Division. This proof of claim amends Landlord's proof of claim numbers 1199 and 1200 filed on December 30, 2016.

On or about April 17, 2012, the Landlord, Heli-One Inc. (the predecessor of Heli-One), as tenant, and 6922767 Holding, as guarantor, entered into that certain Lease of Premises Single Tenancy (the "Lease") in respect of the non-residential real property situated at 4300 80th Street, Boundary Bay Airport, Delta, British Columbia (the "Boundary Bay Facility"). The Lease set forth the terms and conditions under which Heli-One was authorized to occupy the Boundary Bay Facility, including the Parties' respective rights and obligations with regard to, among other things, financial consideration, business taxes and building costs, use of the premises, insurance and indemnity, maintenance and repairs, damage and destruction, and default. The Lease contemplated an initial term of twenty-three (23) years and included two renewal options that could have extended it through 2050. Heli-One and 6922767 Holding are in possession of a true and correct copy of the same and, thus, a copy of the Lease is not attached to this filing. However, the Landlord will provide a copy of the Lease upon request.

As a lease of non-residential real property, and because the Lease had not been affirmatively assumed by Heli-One or 6922767 Holding, the Landlord asserted that the Lease would be deemed rejected by operation of section 365(d)(4) of Title 11 of the United States Code on December 1, 2016.¹ Despite deemed rejection being set to occur on December 1, Heli-One and 6922767 Holding filed a motion to reject the Lease on November 30, 2016 and scheduled it for hearing on January 24, 2017 (the "Rejection Motion").² While the Parties disagreed about the effective date of rejection, they ultimately reached a settlement (the "Settlement") whereby (i) rejection would be effective upon the entry of an order granting the Rejection Motion, (ii) a separate dispute over the nature and extent of Heli-One's interest in certain property, fixtures, chattels and other items (the "Property Ownership Dispute") would be litigated in the proceeding commenced before the Supreme Court of British Columbia on September 30, 2016 under Part IV of the Companies' Creditors Arrangement Act, No. S-169079, Vancouver Registry (the "CCAA Proceeding"), and (iii) the parties respective rights with respect to the Property Ownership Dispute and any other dispute that may arise were reserved. The Settlement was memorialized in a revised proposed form of order granting the Rejection Motion (the "Rejection Order"). The ¹ See Docket No. 805 in jointly administered case no. 16-31854 (BJH) (the "Main Case"). The Landlord previously filed proof of claim nos. 1199 and 1200 on account of its rejection damages. This claim amends and supersedes those claims.

² See Docket No. 1265 in the Main Case.

Court approved the settlement and entered the Rejection Order on January 24, 2016.³ Heli-One surrendered the property to the Landlord on February 1, 2017.

Due to the rejection (and other ongoing defaults), and therefore breach, of the Lease, the Landlord has been damaged in an unliquidated amount that cannot be adequately determined as of the filing of this amended proof of claim. The Landlord only recently received possession of the premises and therefore has not had an opportunity to fully assess its damages. However, the sum due from Heli-One, as tenant, and 6922767 Holding, as guarantor, includes, but is not limited to, rent due under the Lease, unpaid business and other taxes, unpaid charges for utilities and heating/cooling, indemnification of the Landlord, pre-petition environmental liabilities, improper removal and/or destruction of Landlord's property, physical damage to the premises and other compensatory, consequential and punitive damages.

The Landlord specifically reserves the right to amend this claim if necessary to, among other things, include and quantify all claims, damages and other amounts to which the Landlord is entitled under the Lease and applicable law related to or arising out of the rejection of the Lease, as well as on account of provisions for the payment of additional charges, future interests, and all other costs, including attorneys' fees, to which it is entitled.

Moreover, the Landlord specifically reserves the right to assert an administrative claim for any and all liabilities that arose post-petition, including, without limitation, potential post-petition environmental contamination and costs associated with damage to, or destruction of, the property, chattels and fixtures, and unauthorized removal of the Landlord's property. Nothing contained in this amended proof of claim, including the reservation to file an administrative claim, is intended to waive, nor shall it constitute a waiver of, the right of the Landlord to pursue claims arising after the Petition Date in the CCAA Proceeding, including claims of the type set forth in this amended proof of claim and as provided in the Rejection Order.⁴
