Notes:

1. EY performs a role for the City that has required and continues to require significant investment of time by several senior professionals. Due to the City's outdated financial reporting systems and the fact that the City is still in the process of hiring additional senior personnel in the Finance Department, active involvement by certain senior EY professionals provides the City with essential information and experience needed to support daily operation and, ultimately, to enable the City's restructuring. To the extent that these functions are undertaken by junior EY staff, senior professionals are needed to oversee and to confirm their work, and to provide input to the City's management.
2. In general, some of the tasks performed by EY are repetitive on a weekly or even daily basis, depending on the task. The time required to perform these tasks is often the same or closely so, which may result in the recording of the same time for the same or for similarly-worded entries on multiple days.

City of Detroit, Michigan, Detroit Chapter 9 Task Descriptions for Dentons

Overview. The Official Committee of Retirees ("Committee") was appointed by the Office of the United States Trustee on August 23, 2013. The Committee represents the general interests of approximately 22,500 retirees with vested pension benefits and OPEB (other post employment benefits) that the City estimated to be a total $3.5 billion and $5.6 billion, respectively with bankruptcy case filings. As a result, claims related to retirees account for more than half of the City's asserted $18 billion of debt, and more than 66% of claims if the alleged $6.5 billion if secured bonds are excluded.

After being retained, the Committee interviewed several law firms to serve as its principal legal counsel. On August 28, 2013, the Committee retained Dentons US LLP ("Dentons"). There are three key engagement partners Sam J. Alberts, Claude Montgomery and Carole Neville, the second of whom was still technically with Salans FMC SNR Denton Europe LLP ("Salans"). On October 1, 2013, the New York offices of Dentons and Salans combined. As such, separate fee applications for Dentons and Salans were submitted for the months of August and September 2013, and any single fee application for Dentons have been and continue to be submitted for the period beginning October 2013.

As a general matter, the representation of the Committee is being conducted by three key engagement Dentons partners identified above. These partners, often oversee specific issues and tasks, and often oversee other attorneys on tasks.

We have read and understand the terms of the Court's Fee Review Order dated September 11, 2013 ("the Order"). We have complied with the Order except as expressly noted in this transmittal.

Matter: Eligibility

Eligibility of the City to be a debtor under chapter 9 is the central gating issue in this and almost all other chapter 9 cases. In this case, the issue of eligibility, and the Committee objection to it, was one of, if not the most significant tasks for the first several months of this case. The Committee's efforts were rendered both more complicated in some respects, and easier in others, by the fact that more than 100 different parties filed objection to the City's eligibility. In addition to complex factual discovery, the Committee raised several procedural, legal and constitutional challenges to eligibility, as well as seeking withdrawal of the reference to the District Court on certain legal issues. The Eligibility task was lead by Claude Montgomery, with assistance from several attorneys, including partners Carole Neville, Arthur Rugger and Anthony Ullman on trial and appellate matters, Leah Bruno on general discovery matters and Robert Millner on pension discovery matters. Also providing significant assistance were counsel Paul Gunther and associates Joseph Selby, Christopher Soper and Carolina Ramirez on brief writing and research. Services during this period include preparation coordination and filing appellate papers, including drafting and revising the Committee's appellate brief to the Sixth Circuit Court of Appeals and drafting and filing procedural motions, which in total resulted in 114.30 hours of work at a value of $67,654.00.

Matter: Mediation

Soon after the Chapter 9 filing by the City, Bankruptcy Judge Rhodes ordered various parties, including the Committee, to participate in intense and extensive mediation efforts. Such mediation was referred to the Honorable Gerald E. Rosen, Chief United States District Court Judge for the Eastern District of Michigan, who in turn has availed himself of the several other mediators, including the Honorable Judge Wiley Y. Daniel, Senior United State District Judge for the District of Colorado, the Honorable Victoria A. Roberts, United States District Court Judge for the Eastern District of Michigan, the Honorable Elizabeth Perris, United States Bankruptcy Judge for the District of Oregon, and Eugene Driker, a well known Detroit mediator and lawyer. The committee was only involved in two sets of mediations. One involving pension issues and the other involving healthcare. Because the connected nature of these matters, these mediations are contained under the same task code similar to the tasking by the City. Carole Neville and Claude Montgomery are principally, but not exclusively responsible for pension related mediation and Sam J. Alberts is principally but not exclusively responsible for mediation related to OPEB (other post employment benefits). Carole Neville is also principally responsible for mediation relating to the assumption motion and forbearance agreement with assistance from Claude Montgomery. Total time for this task in this fee period was 39.00 hours with a work value of $30,007.00.

Matter: Assumption Motion

This task involves a motion by the City filed within the first days of the bankruptcy case to assume a contract that ostensibly resolves $220 million in allegedly secured SWAP obligations. A number of objections were filed before the Committee was appointed. The Committee was expressly authorized by Judge Rhodes to participate in the mediation involving the swap assumption motion and to file its objection. Given the pending nature of the motion, Dentons was required to attend to the Swap Matters. This task was principally overseen by Carole Neville, with assistance from Anthony Ullman, Sam J. Alberts and Joseph Selby. The City has entered into a series of settlement motions with the SWAP parties (UBS and Merrill Lynch)-none of which have been approved by the Bankruptcy Court. Dentons has been monitoring widespread creditor dissent and has taken an active role in opposition to the City's third settlement effort. Services during this period include the preparation of motions in opposition to the swap settlement and to compel discovery, and conducting discovery and making court appearances with respect to same. The time spent on this task in this period was 15.70 hours, at a value of $13,087.00.

Matter: Pension

According to the City, unfunded pension liability to retirees approximates $3.5 million, which the City asserts will necessarily result reductions in pension benefit payments to current and future retirees. This threat has been made notwithstanding that pensions are specifically protected under the Michigan Constitution. As such, the protection and preservation of pension is a critical issue for the Committee. Claude Montgomery and Carole Neville have the analysis lead for this project and partner Michael Maryn provided substantial assistance. The calculation of pension liability for purposes of voting and retiree recovery under the plan of adjustment is an ongoing effort. For this month, time on this matter totaled 45.00 hours at a value of $31,755.50.

Matter: OPEB

The City asserts that unfunded OPEB obligations to retirees totals $5.6 billion, making it the largest claim in the case. OPEB largely (although not exclusively) consists of health care benefits. The issue of threatened reductions to OPEB are of critical importance to retirees. From the outset the case, the City has stated its intention to substantially reduce OPEB health care, and to eliminate dental, eye care and life insurance benefits to retirees. In fact, under the City's original plan (still in affect), the City seeks to reduce annual OPEB spending from approximately $180 million to retirees to $30 million. Sam J. Alberts is the lead partner on these efforts. On OPEB litigation matters, assistance was provided by Dan Barnowski, Daniel Morris and Chris Soper (among others). On OPEB health care issue, assistance was provided by John Feore, and on trust structures, Michael Maryn. The calculation of OPEB liability and the treatment of OPEB under the Plan are ongoing efforts, involving all Committee professionals. Total time for this period was 40.60 hours with a value of $24,965.00.

Matter: Media

This matter includes review of media reports, as well as Committee contact and responses to media inquiries. Because of the City's efforts to position the case using media, the Committee was compelled to respond in kind to both inform its constituents of its efforts and to influence certain case events. The case is very closely watched by the local and national media, which influences the retirees and other parties in interest including the legislators. The partner in charge of media is Sam Alberts, with assistance originally from Tom Ochs, a media specialist, and later Amy Maslin, with further help from Daniel Pina, a paralegal. For this month, total time was 71.10 hours at a value of $28,370.50.

Matter: Government Affairs

Given the fundamentally political nature of the case, the Committee was called upon to understand the state, local and federal political dynamics of the bankruptcy, as to in turn formulate and implement a governmental affairs strategy. In addition, because the state contribution is a major component of retiree recovery under the plan, the Committee's efforts have included meeting with state representatives regarding the contribution. This tasks was principally overseen by Claude Montgomery, Sam Alberts and Carole Neville, with assistance from Seth Harris in Dentons governmental affairs practice group. For this period, total time was 2.60 hours at a value of $1,402.00.

Category 0016: Due Diligence.

This task category includes time relating to the due diligence review of various assets and potential assets of the City. It largely includes diligence work in connection with valuing the City-owned assets of the Detroit Institute of Arts (“DIA”) and in reviewing the DWSD and alternatives to monetize that asset. Aside from general cash flow, the DIA and the DWSD are the City’s two most valuable assets, and maximizing their values is essential to minimizing the City’s proposed cut to retiree pensions and healthcare. Services in this category were rendered by BWST member Paula A. Hall, Associate Michael T. Price and Paralegal, Jaclyn Bua. [4.2 hours of work with a value of $1,348.50].

Conway’s May Invoice initially included a pre-submission voluntary fee reduction of $8,415.00 and expense reduction of $4,216.13. The May Invoice provided for a fee request of $1,013,632.50 and an expense request of $800.06, for a total request of $1,014,432.56. In the Preliminary Report regarding Conway’s May Invoice, the Fee Examiner identified several issues and made certain requests of Conway relating to, among other things: (i) the sufficiency of certain service descriptions; (ii) clarification as to the nature of certain services relating to preparation of invoices; and (iii) the improper categorization of certain time entries.

Based on the Preliminary Report, Conway made substantial revisions to the Invoice to supplement, re-categorize, and clarify certain service descriptions. Conway has provided an affirmative statement that the fees requested in the Invoice comply with the terms and conditions of Conway’s fee agreement with the City and has further demonstrated that the fees are being monitored to comply with the

In addition, Conway has agreed to cap its fees for each bi-weekly period at $400,000 for Conway employees and $208,000 for subcontractors, and to cap its overall advisory fees for the period from June 1, 2013 through September 30, 2014 at $19,300,000.

9. Jones Day (Exhibit B)

Additional Voluntary Expense Reduction	$40.00
Final Expense Request	$112,608.50
Total Fee and Expense Request	$4,175,657.37

In the Preliminary Report regarding Jones Day’s May Invoice, the Fee Examiner identified several issues and made certain requests, including, but not limited to: (i) the amount of time and money ($332,145.00) spent in connection with the appeal of the eligibility ruling; and (ii) issues with respect to individual time entries and expenses (including, e.g., insufficient detail about the tasks performed, potential internal inconsistencies, improper allocation of resources, incorrect categorization and lumping).

In response, Jones Day outlined a number of factors that contributed to the significant amount of time and money spent on the appeal. First, in its appellate brief, the City was required to respond to briefs filed by seven different parties or groups of parties and five separate amicus curiae briefs, which significantly increased the amount of time needed to complete the brief. Second, according to Jones Day, the appellants launched “a broadside attack against virtually every aspect of the Bankruptcy Court’s eligibility decision.” Although certain of the issues were researched and addressed by Jones Day before the proceedings in the Bankruptcy Court, many ³ Jones Day has agreed to reduce its standard hourly rates by 10%.

“played a much more prominent role” in the appeal and required additional time and effort by Jones Day. Third, the City had to tailor its brief for the “generalist appellate judges” of the Sixth Circuit Court of Appeals, rather than bankruptcy specialists. Fourth, Jones Day noted the importance of winning the eligibility appeal to the outcome of the City’s bankruptcy case. Finally, Jones Day represented that it had already written off $35,290.00 in fees related to the appeal.

With respect to each of the Fee Examiner’s requests and comments, Jones Day has either reduced or written off such time entry or provided an adequate explanation with respect to the Fee Examiner’s comments on such time entry or expense. There are no open issues respecting the May Invoice.

In the Preliminary Report regarding KCC’s May Invoice, the Fee Examiner identified certain expenses that required further clarification. Additionally, the Fee Examiner requested that KCC explain the reason that the May Invoice was substantially higher than previous months’ invoices. In response to the Fee Examiner’s request for information, KCC provided adequate clarification on the identified expenses which are recoverable from the estate. Additionally, KCC explained that the increase in fees and expenses for the month was a result of solicitation-related mailing and noticing services. The Fee Examiner determined that KCC’s explanations and clarifications were sufficient. Accordingly, there are no open issues with respect to the May Invoice.

⁵ KCC has agreed to provide the estate with a 50% discount on its hourly fees. Additionally, pursuant to the engagement letter between KCC and the City, the rates for KCC’s various levels of professionals have been capped.

Miller Buckfire submitted its May Invoice on August 11, 2014. In the Preliminary Report regarding the Invoice, which was sent to Miller Buckfire on September 4, 2014, the Fee Examiner noted the reduced monthly fee of Miller Buckfire beginning as of January 2014 and that all prior comments by the Fee Examiner on specificity concerning expenses had been addressed. The Fee Examiner did request additional information concerning what appeared to be a duplicate airfare charge and excessive charges for use of a car service rather than a commercial cab service. Miller Buckfire provided the Fee Examiner with a thorough explanation by email on October 27, 2014. The response received addresses all concerns raised by the Fee Examiner and there are no unresolved issues.

⁶ Pursuant to the service contract entered into between Miller Buckfire and the City, Miller Buckfire was paid a monthly advisory fee of $500,000 per month through December 2013, which monthly fee was reduced to $300,000 per month beginning in January 2014, plus Miller Buckfire has been reimbursed for its out of pocket expenses. Additional Voluntary Expense Reduction	$0.00
Total Fee and Expense Request	$228,922.95

In the Preliminary Report regarding Miller Canfield’s May Invoice, the Fee Examiner identified several issues, including, but not limited to: (i) the inconsistent use of billing categories, (ii) the inadequacy of several descriptions of services rendered in individual time entries, (iii) the necessity of having several senior professionals review certain documents and attend the same hearings, and (iv) the appropriateness of seeking compensation for time spent correcting time entries before their initial submission to the Fee Examiner. Pursuant to its modified retention agreement with the City, effective retroactively to October 1, 2013, Miller Canfield charges the City the lesser of (a) standard hourly rates for all of lawyers; and (b) a blended hourly rate of $395 per hour for all non-bankruptcy lawyers and standard hourly rates for all bankruptcy lawyers. The Invoice reflects the blended hourly rate of $395 per hour for all non-bankruptcy lawyers and standard hourly rates for all bankruptcy lawyers.

With regard to the Fee Examiner’s comments concerning billing categories and the insufficiency of certain service descriptions, Miller Canfield revised its Invoice to correct the billing categories and provide additional detail of the services rendered. Miller Canfield also provided explanations to the Fee Examiner regarding the necessity of having multiple senior

On September 4, 2014 the Fee Examiner sent Milliman the May 2014 Preliminary Report respecting the May Invoice received on June 26, 2014. In the Preliminary Report, Milliman was asked to revise the Invoice to provide more detail in describing the work performed by professionals whose billed entries totaled less than an hour for the entire month, and to once again provide an explanation of the work performed by professionals who were designated as “Administrative/Clerical.” Lastly, the Fee Examiner again requested that Milliman provide a discounted rate for its services, as the City is not receiving any discount on the work Milliman performs. Milliman provided written comments in response to the Preliminary Report explaining the work performed by the individuals who billed less than an hour for the entire month. Milliman also submitted a revised Invoice correcting the “Administrative/Clerical” professional designations as the Fee Examiner requested. Milliman continues to decline to provide a discounted rate to the City for its services. There are no other unresolved issues.

The Preliminary Report also raised concerns about the billing increments used by certain EY timekeepers in some of their time entries.

EY provided the Fee Examiner with a written response to the Preliminary Report. EY’s response included a supporting spreadsheet that mirrored the Fee Examiner’s spreadsheet, responded to each of the Fee Examiner’s comments on particular time and expense entries, and detailed specific revisions and adjustments that EY agreed to make to its May Invoice in order to address the Fee Examiner’s concerns. These discounts and limitations were reflected in the Original Fee Request.

¹¹ Under the terms of EY’s engagement agreement with the City, the monthly fees of EY are “subject to a 10% holdback that will be payable upon the confirmation of a Plan of Adjustment of Debts by the Bankruptcy Court by December 31, 2014. Kilpatrick provided written comments in response to the Preliminary Report, adding more detail to those entries identified in the Preliminary Report. Kilpatrick later incorporated the Fee Examiner’s comments into its revised and final Invoice, including removing entries for time spent reviewing news articles from its total compensation request. The revised Invoice addresses all of the Fee Examiner’s concerns and there are no unresolved issues.

¹² Pursuant to the service contract between Kilpatrick and the City, Kilpatrick is charging discounted rates that reflect a 33-48% discount from its standard hourly rates.

20. Dentons US LLP (“Dentons”) (Exhibit M)

Initial Voluntary Fee Reduction ¹⁵	None
Original Fee Request	$1,034,039.00
Additional Voluntary Fee Reduction	$10,399.50
Final Fee Request	$1,023,639.50
Original Expense Request	$50,702.19
Additional Voluntary Expense Reduction	$0.00
Final Expense Request	$50,702.19
Total Fee and Expense Request	$1,074,341.69

The Fee Examiner reviewed the May Invoice of Dentons and raised several issues in the Preliminary Report, including, but not limited to: (i) Dentons’ continued practice of billing for services rendered in connection with monitoring press reports, preparing summaries of media coverage, and preparing and responding to press reports (“Media Activities”) (in excess of $17,000); (ii) a request that Dentons explain the role, duties and qualifications of the various non-legal professionals that have been listed in various invoices (e.g., litigation support professional, principal, reference specialist, project manager, and practice support coordinator) and state whether Dentons customarily charges clients for their services; and (iii) issues with respect to individual time entries and expenses (including, e.g., insufficient detail about the tasks performed, potential internal inconsistencies, and incorrect categorization, and unreasonable or non-compensable expenses).

In response, Dentons explained each non-legal professional’s general responsibilities and role in the case and confirmed that it is the firm’s standard practice to bill for their services. Dentons confirmed that each plays an integral role and generally “spare[s] lawyers from certain tasks at a much lower rate.” As related to the May invoice, Dentons explained that litigation support professionals and project managers are generally tasked with assisting attorneys plan, organize, digitize, and present their cases in a cost-effective and timely manner.

With respect to the Media Activities, Dentons agreed to reduce its fee for such services by 40%, for a total discount of $7,397.00. The Fee Examiner believes that the discount is an appropriate and reasonable resolution to the issue and has no further comments with respect to the Media Activities for the May Invoice.

Finally, with respect to individual time entries and expenses, Dentons has either reduced or written off such time entry, revised the description, or provided an adequate explanation with respect to the Fee Examiner’s comments on such time entry or expense. As a result of the response from Dentons, there are no open issues with respect to the May Invoice.

Original Expense Request	$43.05
Additional Voluntary Expense Reduction	$0.00
Final Expense Request	$43.05
Total Fee and Expense Request	$175,043.05

The Fee Examiner reviewed the May Invoice of Lazard and noted that Lazard had billed only approximately 100 hours. Although the Fee Examiner recognizes that Lazard bills on a fixed monthly fee basis of $175,000, the effective hourly rate for the services rendered in May is approximately $1,750. In the Preliminary Report, the Fee Examiner suggested that Lazard issue a significant credit for May. As of the date of this Monthly Report, Lazard and the Fee Examiner are continuing to discuss this issue, and therefore it remains unresolved.

23. Segal Consulting (“Segal”) (Exhibit P)

Initial Voluntary Fee Reduction ¹⁸	None
Original Fee Request	$186,968.00
Additional Voluntary Fee Reduction	$0.00

The transaction fee is subject to the approval of the Retiree Committee and the Fee Examiner and the consent of the City.

¹⁸ Segal offers no discount on its services rendered in the Case.

On September 4, 2014 the Fee Examiner sent Segal the May Preliminary Report. In the May Preliminary Report, the Fee Examiner requested that Segal provide more detail in describing the work performed by professionals whose billed entries totaled less than an hour for the entire month. The Fee Examiner observed that it was difficult to assess the reasonableness of time spent on work, or the benefit to the Estate, when a professional billed time for less than one hour. Segal submitted a response to the May Preliminary Report that provided an explanation of the work completed by a professional who billed less than an hour for the entire month. The Fee Examiner is satisfied with Segal's explanation of the professional's contribution to the Estate and time spent on the identified work. There are no open issues with respect to the May Invoice.
