This is a standard per event administrative fee charged in connection with notices and ballots sent to the City's security holders and tabulation of ballots received.

Pacer Service Center

PACER/ECF charges are incurred when KCC downloads documents from the Court's docket (through <https://ecf.mieb.uscourts.gov/cgi-bin/login.pl>) for use on the <http://www.kccllc.net/Detroit> case website and as requested by the City and its advisors.

Broadridge Investor Communications

These are security holder noticing costs incurred through the use of Broadridge to send notices to security holders who hold securities through banks and brokers and not directly in their own name.

Depository Trust Company

The Depository Trust Company (DTC) charges relate to noticing tasks related to security holders (e.g., security position reports requested from DTC in connection with the service of the Bar Date Notice and Proof of Claim to beneficial holders of the General Obligation bonds).

Electronic Imaging

Photocopies

These are photocopy charges at the agreed $0.05 per image rate that were needed in connection with the services detailed in the invoice.

First Class Mail

These are the total of the postage charges referred to in the Printing and Mailing Expenses detail and are not separate charges.

Summary description of work performed
As required by paragraph 13 of the Fee Review Order

Introduction / Background

The City engaged Miller Buckfire based upon its restructuring expertise as well as its capital markets knowledge, financing skills and mergers and acquisitions capabilities, some or all of which are expected to be required during Miller Buckfire's engagement, and were important factors in determining the amount of the various fees set forth in Miller Buckfire's Contract. The fee structure was agreed after extensive arms-length negotiations and reduction by Miller Buckfire of the fees originally sought.

In reaching its agreement with Miller Buckfire, the City recognized that Miller Buckfire does not maintain detailed written time records in the normal course of providing financial advisory and investment banking services to its clients and that Miller Buckfire does not bill its clients based on the number of hours expended by its professionals. Rather, the Contract reflects an understanding that the ultimate benefit of Miller Buckfire's services cannot be measured merely by reference to the number of hours to be expended by Miller Buckfire's professionals in the performance of such services. Rather, the Contract was agreed in anticipation that a substantial commitment of professional time and effort will be required of Miller Buckfire and that the actual time and commitment required of Miller Buckfire and its professionals to perform its services would vary substantially from week to week or month to month, creating "peak load" issues for the firm.

Miller Buckfire respectfully submits that (i) the professional services performed by Miller Buckfire are necessary and appropriate and substantially benefit the City and (ii) the compensation requested in this application is in accordance with the terms of Miller Buckfire's Contract. The terms and provisions of the Contract appropriately reflect (i) the nature of the services to be provided by Miller Buckfire and (ii) the fee structures typically utilized by Miller Buckfire and other leading financial advisory and investment banking firms, which do not bill their clients on an hourly basis and generally are compensated on a transactional basis. The fee structure creates a proper balance between fixed, monthly fees and transaction fees based on the consummation of specifically identified transactions. In addition, Miller Buckfire's compensation is fully justified and reasonable based upon the (i) complexity of issues presented, (ii) skill required to perform the financial advisory services properly, (iii) preclusion of other similar employment, (iv) customary fees charged to clients in out-of-court and in-court situations for similar services rendered, (v) time constraints required by the exigencies of the City's case, (vi) experience, reputation and ability of the professionals rendering services, (vii) time and labor required and (viii) and the requirement that specifically identified transaction be consummated prior to payment of any transaction based fees.

Employee Summary

The names in the chart below reflect Miller Buckfire bankers who spent more than five hours on the Detroit engagement during the month of May. Additionally, the chart reflects an estimated percentage of each banker’s work time that was spent on the engagement during the month.

To provide background, Miller Buckfire will typically staff one Managing Director, one Director or Vice President, one Associate and one Analyst on a particular engagement. Additionally, bankers are typically staffed on two live engagements at any time and have other internal firm responsibilities as well. Based on the above, we would expect that a normal engagement would feature four bankers, and that they would each be categorized in the “25-50%” section, on average, over the course of the engagement.

Notes:

1. EY performs a role for the City that has required and continues to require significant investment of time by several senior professionals. Due to the City's outdated financial reporting systems and the fact that the City is still in the process of hiring additional senior personnel in the Finance Department, active involvement by certain senior EY professionals provides the City with essential information and experience needed to support daily operation and, ultimately, to enable the City's restructuring. To the extent that these functions are undertaken by junior EY staff, senior professionals are needed to oversee and to confirm their work, and to provide input to the City's management.
2. In general, some of the tasks performed by EY are repetitive on a weekly or even daily basis, depending on the task. The time required to perform these tasks is often the same or closely so, which may result in the recording of the same time for the same or for similarly-worded entries on multiple days.
