Judge Mary F. Walrath,

On October 15, 2008, I submitted a claim against Washington Mutual to the US Bankruptcy Court in Delaware. On June 2, 2013, I went on the website to check the status of my claim, and I saw that my claim (#259) is listed as withdrawn. I would like to know why this happened. I am still receiving paperwork every year with updates on the case, so I didn't know anything was wrong. Because of this, I thought I was still a member of this class since I owned a Washington Mutual bond during the relevant period. I have since sold that bond, but I am afraid that I am being excluded as a creditor and I don't understand why. I was a creditor when Washington Mutual filed for bankruptcy protection. Please advise on what I can do to rectify this situation.

Thank you,
