Associated drivers and risk factors – what is driving the high rates of asthma in the community?

Many allergens are also asthma triggers that irritate the lungs, inducing an asthma attack. Allergic reactions are known to be caused by pollen, dust, food, insect stings, animal dander, mold, medications, and latex[5]. Other social and economic factors have been known to cause or trigger allergic reactions including poverty, which leads to poor housing conditions (living with cockroaches, mites, asbestos, mold etc.). Living in an environment or home with smokers has also been known exacerbate allergies and/or asthma. For data concerning health drivers, please refer to the Scorecard.

Community Input – what do community stakeholders think about the issue of asthma?

Stakeholders linked poor air quality, lack of access to medical care, and patients' inability to obtain the needed asthma medication to asthma prevalence.

Health Need Profile – Breast Cancer

About Breast Cancer– why is it important?

In the United States, breast cancer is the most common non-skin cancer and the second leading cause of cancer-related death in women. Each year, a small number of men also are diagnosed with and die from breast cancer. The overall breast cancer death rate has dropped steadily over the past 20 years. However, it is estimated that approximately $16.5 billion is spent in the U.S. each year on breast cancer treatment[1].

Statistical data – how is breast cancer measured? What is the prevalence/incidence rate of breast cancer in the community?

○ 90057-Westlake (32.3)

Stakeholders identified the areas of Pico Union and Westlake districts as the most impacted.

Associated drivers and risk factors – what is driving the high rates of breast cancer in the community?

Risk factors for breast cancer include older age, certain inherited genetic alterations, hormone therapy, having chest radiation therapy, heavy alcohol consumption, and obesity[5]. Breast cancer is associated with overall cancer mortality and access to breast cancer screening. Exercise and maintaining a healthy weight may reduce the chance of breast cancer. For data concerning health drivers, please refer to the Scorecard.

Community Input – what do community stakeholders think about the issue of breast cancer?

Stakeholders attributed the high rates of breast cancer to a lack of education around health, and a lack of access to health care including mammograms. As a result, more women are finding out late in their cancer trajectory (stages 3 and 4).

Health Need Profile –Cancer

About Cancer– why is it important?

Cancer is the second leading cause of death in the United States, claiming more than half a million Americans every year[1]. Cancer incidence rates per 100,000 persons show that the three most common cancers among men in the United States are prostate cancer (137.7), lung cancer (78.2), and colorectal cancer (49.2). Likewise, the leading causes of cancer death among men are lung cancer (62.0), prostate cancer (22.0), and colorectal cancer (19.1). Among women, the three most common cancers are breast cancer (123.1), lung cancer (54.1), and colorectal cancer (37.1).

The number of new cancer cases can be reduced, and many cancer deaths can be prevented. Research shows that screening for cervical and colorectal cancers, as recommended, helps prevent these diseases by finding precancerous lesions which can be treated before they become cancerous. Screening for cervical, colorectal and breast cancers also can identify these diseases at an early, often highly treatable stage[2]. The most common risk factors for cancer are growing older, obesity, tobacco, alcohol, over exposure to sunlight, certain chemicals, some viruses and bacteria, family history of cancer, poor diet, and lack of physical activity[3].

Statistical data – how is cancer measured? What is the prevalence/incidence rate of cancer in the community?

Geographic areas of greatest impact (disparities)

Stakeholders did not identify geographic disparities.

Associated drivers and risk factors – what is driving the high rates of cancer in the community?

A primary method of preventing cancer is screening for cervical, colorectal, and breast cancers[7]. The most common risk factors for cancer are growing older, obesity, tobacco, alcohol, sunlight exposure, certain chemicals, some viruses and bacteria, family history of cancer, poor diet, and lack of physical activity[8]. For data concerning health drivers, please refer to the Scorecard.

Community Input – what do community stakeholders think about the issue of cancer?

Stakeholders indicated that people have limited access to health education about cancer and to prevention services. One stakeholder added that there is a shortage of oncologists who speak the same language as their patients adding that 'few doctors have experience engaging in dialogue with patients and family members in a comprehensive approach. There's a sense that the doctors don't have the patient's well-being in mind." There has also been an increase in Latinos, Asian-Pacific Islanders, and Native Americans who are being diagnosed with late stage cancer. Improvements in messaging and services delivery are needed in order to encourage community members to access health care earlier.

Health Need Profile – Cardiovascular Disease

About Cardiovascular Disease– why is it important?

Cardiovascular disease—also called heart disease and coronary heart disease—includes several health conditions related to plaque buildup in the walls of the arteries, or atherosclerosis. As plaque builds up, the arteries narrow, restricting blood flow and creating the risk of heart attack. Currently, more than one in three adults (81.1 million) in the United States lives with one or more types of cardiovascular disease. In addition to being one of the leading causes of death in the United States, heart disease results in serious illness and disability, decreased quality of life, and hundreds of billions of dollars in economic loss every year[1].

Community Input – what do community stakeholders think about the issue of cardiovascular disease?

Stakeholders linked cardiovascular disease to obesity, diabetes, and hypertension. They attributed high rates of cardiovascular disease to the lack of access to healthy foods, living in food deserts, living an unhealthy lifestyle, a lack of access to medical care, and the lack of transportation to obtain medical care. Cardiovascular disease was also identified as the number one cause of death.

Health Need Profile – Cholesterol

About Cholesterol– why is it important?

Cholesterol is a waxy, fat-like substance necessary in the body. However, too much cholesterol in the blood can build up on artery walls, leading to heart disease—one of the leading causes of death in the United States—and stroke. About one of every six adults in the United States has high blood cholesterol. In addition, 2,200 Americans die of heart disease each day, an average of one death every 39 seconds[1].

Statistical data – how is cholesterol measured? What is the prevalence/incidence rate of cholesterol in the community?

Stakeholders identified Asian men as the most severely impacted.

Geographic areas of greatest impact (disparities)

Stakeholders did not identify geographic disparities.

Associated drivers and risk factors – what is driving the high rates of cholesterol in the community?

Some health conditions, as well as lifestyle and genetic factors, can put people at a higher risk for developing high cholesterol. Age is a contributing factor; as people get older, cholesterol level tends to rise. Diabetes can also lead to the development of high cholesterol. Some behaviors can also lead to high cholesterol, including a diet high in saturated fats, trans fatty acids (trans fats), dietary cholesterol, or triglycerides. Being overweight and physical inactivity can also contribute to high cholesterol. Finally, high cholesterol can be hereditary[5]. For data concerning health drivers, please refer to the Scorecard.

Community Input – what do community stakeholders think about the issue of cholesterol?

Stakeholders linked high cholesterol to poor nutrition and poor lifestyle choices.

Health Need Profile – Colorectal Cancer

About Colorectal Cancer– why is it important?

Colorectal cancer, defined as cancer that starts in the colon or the rectum, is the second leading cause of cancer-related deaths in the United States and is expected to cause about 50,830 deaths during 2013. The lifetime risk of developing colorectal cancer is about one in 20 (5.1%), with the risk being slightly lower in women than in men[1]. In addition, colorectal cancer is associated with overall cancer mortality, heavy alcohol consumption, obesity, diabetes prevalence and colon cancer screening.

The number of new colorectal cancer cases and the number of deaths from colorectal cancer are decreasing. The likely causes are regular screenings and improved treatment. Regular screenings can often detect colorectal cancer early on when the disease is most likely to be curable. Screenings can also find polyps, which can be removed before turning into cancer[2]. As a result, there are now more than one million survivors of colorectal cancer in the United States[3].

Given the success of colorectal cancer screening, public health organizations are working to increase awareness of these screenings among the general public and health care providers. Currently, only about half of Americans ages 50 or older have had any colorectal cancer screening[4].

Statistical data – how is colorectal cancer measured? What is the prevalence/incidence rate of colorectal cancer in the community?

Associated drivers and risk factors – what is driving the high rates of colorectal cancer in the community?

The major factors that can increase the risk of colorectal cancer are increasing age and family history of colorectal cancer. Other less significant factors include a personal history of inflammatory bowel disease, inherited risk, heavy alcohol use, cigarette smoking, obesity, diabetes prevalence, and colon cancer screening[8]. Regular physical activity and diets high in vegetables, fruits, and whole grains have been linked with a decreased incidence of colorectal cancer[9]. For data concerning health drivers, please refer to the Scorecard.

Health Need Profile – Diabetes

About Diabetes – why is it important?

Diabetes affects an estimated 23.6 million people and is the seventh leading cause of death in the United States. Diabetes lowers life expectancy by up to 15 years, increases the risk of heart disease by two to four times, and is the leading cause of kidney failure, lower-limb amputations, and adult-onset blindness[1]. A diabetes diagnosis can also indicate an unhealthy lifestyle—a risk factor for further health issues—and is also linked to obesity.

Given the steady rise in the number of people with diabetes, and the earlier onset of Type 2 diabetes, there is growing concern about substantial increases in diabetes-related complications and their potential to impact and overwhelm the health care system. There is a clear need to take advantage of recent discoveries about the individual and societal benefits of improved diabetes management and prevention by bringing life-saving findings into wider practice, and complementing those strategies with efforts in primary prevention among those at risk for developing diabetes[2].

In addition, evidence is emerging that diabetes is associated with other co-morbidities, including cognitive impairment, incontinence, fracture risk, and cancer risk and prognosis[3].

Associated drivers and risk factors – what is driving the high rates of diabetes in the community?

Factors associated with diabetes include being overweight, having high blood pressure, high cholesterol, high blood sugar (or glucose), physical inactivity, smoking, unhealthy eating, age, race, gender, and having a family history of diabetes[7]. For data concerning health drivers, please refer to the Scorecard.

"The main issue is families and culture. They tend to eat the same kind of food as in the past even if it's unhealthy."
(Resident Focus Group Participant)

Community Input – what do community stakeholders think about the issue of diabetes?

Stakeholders linked diabetes to obesity and hypertension. They also attributed the prevalence of diabetes to a number of factors including the high cost and lack of access to healthy food, as well as living in a food desert and lifestyle choices. Other factors include lack of access to health services, language barriers, and transportation. They also linked diabetes to obesity and physical inactivity. Stakeholders also stated that diabetes is an increasing issue among communities of color.

"As immigrants assimilate, especially Latinos, many stop practicing traditions they grew up with or customs that included activity and take up unhealthy habits, become inactive and consume high levels of fat and salt."

Health Need Profile – HIV/AIDS

About HIV/AIDS– why is it important?

More than 1.1 million people in the United States are living with HIV and almost one in five (18.1%) are unaware of their infection[1]. HIV infection weakens the immune system, making those living with HIV highly susceptible to a variety of illnesses and cancers, including tuberculosis (TB), cytomegalovirus (CMV), cryptococcal meningitis, lymphomas, kidney disease, and cardiovascular disease[2]. Without treatment, almost all people infected with HIV will develop AIDS[3]. While HIV is a chronic medical condition that can be treated, the disease cannot yet be cured.

The risk of acquiring HIV is increased by engaging in unprotected sex, having another sexually transmitted infection, sharing intravenous drugs, having been diagnosed with hepatitis, tuberculosis, or malaria, and having been exposed to the virus as a fetus or infant before or during birth or through breastfeeding from a mother infected with HIV[4]. Racial disparities in HIV prevalence persist; African Americans and Hispanics/Latinos are disproportionately affected by HIV and experience the most severe burden of HIV compared with other races and ethnicities in the United States. Prevention efforts to reduce the spread of HIV in the United States encompass many components, such as behavioral interventions, HIV testing, and linkage to treatment and care[5].

> "HIV related illness is decreasing, but there are many affected children (children of infected parents). The number of infected kids 10 years old and under is decreasing but there is an increase in infected teens ages 10 and over."

Stakeholders identified South Los Angeles as being the most severely impacted.

Associated drivers and risk factors – what is driving the high rates of HIV/AIDS in the community?

The following factors are associated with HIV/AIDS: injection drug use, risky sexual behaviors[9], poverty, heavy alcohol consumption, liquor store access, and HIV screenings. HIV prevalence is highest among gay, bisexual, and other men who have sex with men, and among African Americans[10].

"However, despite many gains in HIV/AIDS disease management, we still see people of color who are poor with such an advanced disease at diagnosis that they're really on the edge of death. It's surprising to see individuals still come in so late, immune system ravaged and at 80% of body weight."
(Executive Director, Community Based Organization

Untreated HIV infection is associated with many diseases including cardiovascular disease, kidney disease, liver disease, and cancer[11]. Persons with the HIV infection are disproportionately affected by viral hepatitis, and those co-infected with HIV and viral hepatitis experience greater liver-related health problems than those who do not have the HIV infection[12]. For data concerning health drivers, please refer to the Scorecard.

Community Input – what do community stakeholders think about the issue of HIV/AIDS?

"It is like what it was 20 years ago: clients are facing discrimination, living in secrecy among peers in the community, and now back to family as well. As a result, they are facing emotional and mental issues, in addition to physical issues."
(CEO, Community Based Foundation)

Stakeholders stated that there have been fewer newly diagnosed HIV/AIDS cases and improvements in care management though there is still a need for more education and prevention services and other measures around HIV/AIDS including family-based programming and services, mental health services (to alleviate the depression and anxiety experienced by those with HIV/AIDS), and more collaboration from hospitals.

Health Need Profile – Hypertension

About Hypertension– why is it important?

Hypertension, defined as a blood pressure reading of 140/90 or higher, affects one in three adults in the United States[1]. With no symptoms or warning signs and the ability to cause serious damage to the body, the condition has been called a silent killer. If untreated, high blood pressure can lead to heart failure, blood vessel aneurysms, kidney failure, heart attack, stroke, and vision changes or blindness[2]. High blood pressure can be controlled through medicines and lifestyle change, however, patient adherence to treatment regimens is a significant barrier to controlling high blood pressure[3].

Associated drivers and risk factors – what is driving the high rates of hypertension in the community?

Smoking, obesity, regular consumption of salt and fat, excessive drinking, and physical inactivity are risk factors for hypertension. People who have previously had a stroke, have high cholesterol, or have heart or kidney disease are also at higher risk of developing hypertension. For data concerning health drivers, please refer to the Scorecard.

Community Input – what do community stakeholders think about the issue of hypertension?

Stakeholders indicated that hypertension is closely related and linked to diabetes, obesity, stress, and lifestyle choices. Stakeholders added that people were not getting regular medical check-ups and were waiting until an emergency, often because the cost of seeking treatment is high and the lack of access to health care. Stakeholders also mentioned that effective management of such diseases remains a major hurdle given the shortage in programs and education.

Health Need Profile – Mental Health

About Mental Health– why is it important?

Mental illness is a common cause of disability. Untreated disorders may leave individuals at risk for substance abuse, self-destructive behavior, and suicide. Additionally, mental health disorders can have a serious impact on physical health and are associated with the prevalence, progression, and outcome of chronic diseases[1]. Suicide is considered a major preventable public health problem. In 2010, suicide was the tenth leading cause of death among Americans of all ages, and the second leading cause of death among people between the ages of 25 and 34[2]. An estimated 11 attempted suicides occur per every suicide death.

Research shows that more than 90% of those who die by suicide suffer from depression or other mental disorders or a substance-abuse disorder (often in combination with other mental disorders)[3]. Among adults, mental disorders are common, with approximately one-quarter of adults being diagnosed with one or more disorders[4]. Mental disorders are not only associated with suicide, but also with chronic diseases, a family history of mental illness, age, substance abuse, and life-event stresses[5].

Interventions to prevent suicide include therapy, medication, and programs that focus on both suicide risk and mental or substance-abuse disorders. Another intervention is improving primary care providers' ability to recognize and treat suicide risk factors, given the research indicating that older adults and women who die by suicide are likely to have seen a primary care provider in the year before their death[6].

Sub-populations experiencing the greatest impact (disparities)

Stakeholders identified battered women, the homeless, low-income, veterans, undocumented immigrants, men in gangs, prisoners released early coming out with psychiatric issues, and youth (foster youth aging out of the foster system and high school youth) as the most severely impacted.

"People who have lost their job recently and the newly homeless are the most affected. There is also a stigma about mental health and some people won't seek help, don't know about resources, how to get on Medicare or Medi-Cal, or get access to other health resources." (Vice President of Human Resources, Community Based Organization)

Stakeholders identified Skid Row in Downtown Los Angeles, East and Southeast Los Angeles and Chinatown as the most affected areas.

Associated drivers and risk factors – what is driving the high rates of mental health in the community?

Mental health is associated with many other health factors, including poverty, heavy alcohol consumption, and unemployment. Chronic diseases such as cardiovascular disease, diabetes, and obesity are also associated with mental health disorders such as depression and suicide[10]. For data concerning health drivers, please refer to the Scorecard.

Community Input – what do community stakeholders think about the issue of mental health?

Stakeholders stated that community members had a difficult time obtaining treatment for mental health issues because of strict insurance guidelines and the cost of treatment and medication. Transportation was also a barrier. Stakeholders identified multiple factors that contributed to poor mental health including stress caused by the economic downturn, unemployment, immigration status, stigma associated with mental health problems, abuse (emotional, physical, and sexual), bullying, and increasing violence.

"Mental and emotional health is the most difficult to promote because most are either in denial or embarrassed about having a health issue and so do not speak up or do anything about it."
(Resident Focus Group Participant)

Stakeholders also added that there has been a noted increase in psychiatric emergencies and the use of physical restraints on patients. There has also been an increase in demand for mental health services; however, this need remains unmet and there are often waiting lists for people who need immediate help.

Health Need Profile – Obesity/Overweight

About Obesity/Overweight– why is it important?

Obesity, a condition in which a person has an abnormally high and unhealthy proportion of body fat, has risen to epidemic levels in the United States; 68 percent of adults age 20 years and older are overweight or obese[1]. Excess weight is a significant national problem and indicates an unhealthy lifestyle that influences further health issues. Obesity reduces life expectancy and causes devastating and costly health problems, increasing the risk of coronary heart disease, stroke, high blood pressure, diabetes, and a number of other chronic diseases. Findings suggest that obesity also increases the risks for cancers of the esophagus, breast (postmenopausal), endometrium, colon and rectum, kidney, pancreas, thyroid, gallbladder, and possibly other cancer types[2].

Statistical data – how is obesity/overweight measured? What is the prevalence/incidence rate of obesity/overweight in the community?

Sub-populations experiencing the greatest impact (disparities)

Stakeholders identified Latinos, African-American, low-income, and adults and children as the most severely impacted.

Geographic areas of greatest impact (disparities)

Stakeholders also identified South Los Angeles, Inglewood, Compton, and Pasadena as the most impacted.

Associated drivers and risk factors – what is driving the high rates of obesity/overweight in the community?

Obesity is associated with factors such as poverty, inadequate consumption of fruits and vegetables, physical inactivity, and lack of access to grocery stores, parks, and open space. Obesity increases the risk of coronary heart disease, stroke, high blood pressure, diabetes, and a number of other chronic diseases. The condition also increases the risks of cancers of the esophagus, breast (postmenopausal), endometrium, colon and rectum, kidney, pancreas, thyroid, gallbladder, and possibly other cancer types[6]. For data concerning health drivers, please refer to the Scorecard.

Community Input – what do community stakeholders think about the issue of obesity/overweight?

Stakeholders attributed being obese and overweight to a lack of access to green space, living in food deserts, lack of access to healthy foods such as fruit and vegetables, lack of safety at parks,

> "Obesity is escalating at a high rate. This causes other chronic diseases and ailments which shortens a person's life span" (Health Professional, National Health Organization) and lifestyle choices such as a lack of physical activity. Stakeholders added that obesity and being overweight was closely linked to diabetes and hypertension and that these are a growing issue.

If you want to exercise in parks in South East LA, you would get shot. Safety is a major concern. (Business and Education Leader, Focus Group Participant)

Stakeholders also added that messaging would be important in countering the increase in obesity rates. One stakeholder added, "Most people are hearing this message from teachers at schools, from the doctor or nurse, from their priest, in programs at the library, etc. It's effective to educate all collaborators and partners to deliver a similar message over time."

Health Need Profile – Oral Health

About Oral Health– why is it important?

Oral health is essential to overall health, and is relevant as a health need because engaging in preventive behaviors decreases the likelihood of developing future oral health and related health problems. In addition, oral diseases such as cavities and oral cancer cause significant pain and disability for many Americans[1].

Statistical data – how is oral health measured? What is the prevalence/incidence rate of oral health in the community?

Sub-populations experiencing the greatest impact (disparities)

Stakeholders identified low-income adults, uninsured, the homeless (specifically veterans), Latinos, and those with diabetes as the most severely impacted.

Geographic areas of greatest impact (disparities)

Stakeholders identified Chinatown and Skid Row in Downtown Los Angeles as the most severely impacted.

Associated drivers and risk factors – what is driving the high rates of oral health in the community?

Poor oral health can be prevented by decreasing sugar intake and increasing healthy eating habits to prevent tooth decay and premature tooth loss; consuming more fruits and vegetables to protect against oral cancer; smoking cessation; decreased alcohol consumption to reduce the risk of oral cancers, periodontal disease, and tooth loss; using protective gear when playing sports; and living in a safe physical environment[5]. In addition, oral health conditions such as periodontal (gum) disease have been linked to diabetes, heart disease, stroke, and premature, low-weight births[6]. For data concerning health drivers, please refer to the Scorecard.

Community Input – what do community stakeholders think about the issue of oral health?

Stakeholders attributed poor oral health to the lack of affordable dental services, lack of access to dental services, and lack of education about health oral health behaviors such as brushing habits, when to visit doctors, etc. They also added that Medi-Cal phasing out dental coverage severely impacted adults.

Health Need Profile – Sexually Transmitted and Communicable Diseases

About Sexually Transmitted Diseases– why is it important?

Sexually Transmitted Diseases (STDs) are diseases transmitted primarily through sexual activity, including chlamydia, hepatitis C and gonorrhea. Despite cost and other consequences and complications and the fact that such diseases are preventable, STDs remain a significant health issue in the United States. Untreated STDs can lead to serious long-term health consequences, especially for adolescent girls and young women[1].

Associated drivers and risk factors – what is driving the high rates of sexually transmitted diseases in the community?

The spread of STDs is directly linked to race and ethnicity, poverty, access to care, substance abuse, and sexual behaviors[5]. For data concerning health drivers, please refer to the Scorecard.

Community Input – what do community stakeholders think about the issue of sexually transmitted diseases?

Stakeholders mentioned the increase in STD rates, specifically syphilis and chlamydia.

Health Need Profile – Substance Abuse

About Substance Abuse– why is it important?

Substance abuse has a major impact on individuals, families, and communities. The effects of substance abuse are cumulative, significantly contributing to costly social, physical, mental, and public health problems. In 2005, an estimated 22 million Americans struggled with a drug or alcohol problem and almost 95 percent of people with substance use problems are unaware of their problem. Of those who recognize their problem, 273,000 have been unsuccessful in obtaining treatment[1]. Substance abuse has a major impact on individuals, families, and communities, significantly contributing to social, physical, mental, and public health problems[2].

Stakeholders also identified Los Angeles and particularly Skid Row as the most impacted.

Associated drivers and risk factors – what is driving the high rates of substance abuse in the community?

Factors that influence the use of tobacco include race/ethnicity, age, education, and socioeconomic status. Significant disparities in tobacco use exist geographically and typically result from differences in smoke-free protections, tobacco prices, and program funding for tobacco prevention[6].

Tobacco use is linked to and associated with cancer, heart disease, lung disease (such as emphysema, bronchitis, and chronic airway obstruction), premature birth, low birth weight, stillbirth, and infant death[7]. In addition, secondhand smoke has been known to cause heart disease and lung cancer in adults and severe asthma attacks, respiratory infections, ear infections, and sudden infant death syndrome (SIDS) in infants and children[8]. For data concerning health drivers, please refer to the Scorecard.

Community Input – what do community stakeholders think about the issue of substance abuse?

Stakeholders mentioned the increased of new drugs on the streets which contribute to other health and mental health issues. Stakeholders also added that substance abuse often is associated with mental illness and poverty and attribute the prevalence of alcohol and substance abuse to the lack of access to treatment.

Health Need Profile – Vision

About Vision– why is it important?

People with diabetes are at an increased risk of vision problems as diabetes can damage the blood vessels of the eye, potentially leading to blindness. Diabetics are 40% more likely to suffer from glaucoma and 60% more likely to develop cataracts compared to people without diabetes. People who have had diabetes for a long time or whose blood glucose or blood pressure is not under control are also at risk of developing retinopathy[1]. These kinds of vision impairment cannot be corrected with glasses and typically require laser therapy or surgery[2]. Vision loss also makes it difficult for people to live independently. As diabetes rates continue to rise among all age groups, vision complications tied to the disease are expected to increase as well. Vision care providers should expect to see more complications in younger populations as more children and adolescents are diagnosed with diabetes[3]. Many eye problems are not evident until quite advanced, but early detection and treatment can be effective. For example, screening for people with diabetes can almost completely eliminate diabetes-related blindness. However, only about half of diabetics in the United States currently get regular eye exams[4].

Statistical data – how is vision status measured? What is the prevalence/incidence rate of vision problems in the community?

Associated drivers and risk factors – what is driving the rates of vision issues in the community?

Diabetes-related vision problems are linked to the length of time one has had diabetes, high blood glucose, and high blood pressure. For data concerning health drivers, please refer to the Scorecard.

Community Input – what do community stakeholders think about the issue of vision?

Stakeholders added that vision care services were not readily or easily accessible.

II. Summary of Key Findings (Executive Summary)

Community Health Needs Assessment Background and Findings

Nonprofit hospitals are required to conduct a community health needs assessment or CHNA every three years in order to maintain tax exempt status under California State Senate Bill 697 (SB 697) originally enacted in 1994. The requirement was expanded to the federal level thereafter and further solidified in 2010 under the Patient Protection and Affordable Care Act (ACA). As part of the CHNA, each hospital is required to collect and conduct analysis of extensive data from secondary data sources as well as input (primary data) from individuals in the community: public health experts; representatives of government and civic organizations; members, representatives or leaders of low-income, minority and medically underserved populations and populations with chronic conditions.

The CHNA process is designed to identify the health needs and resources in the hospital service area and inform the hospital's community benefit investments. As in previous years, three hospitals in metropolitan Los Angeles that together make up the Metro Hospital Collaborative — California Hospital Medical Center, Good Samaritan Hospital and Saint Vincent Medical Center — have come together to produce this CHNA.

The CHNA process represented in this report examined both upstream and downstream indicators of population health. Drawing from the County Health Rankings Model framework,[1] primary and secondary data were collected for both health drivers (social determinants of health) and health outcomes (indicators of morbidity and mortality). Together, health drivers and health outcomes are referred to as health needs for the purpose of this report.

Eighteen health needs were identified and prioritized through the CHNA process. The prioritized health needs are as follows:[2,3]

[1] County Health Rankings Model developed by the University of Wisconsin-Madison Population Health Institute: http://www.countyhealthrankings.org/our-approach.

[2] As a result of the prioritization process (described in the Community Ranking of Health Needs section of part IV of this report) some health needs (e.g. preventive care and food insecurity) were assigned equal priority.

The following sections of this report (Section III, IV and V) explain in details the process through which the above health needs were selected and prioritized. The body of the report (Section VI) provides more detail about the service area population and the health needs. Finally, the Appendices include the Health Needs Scorecard developed at the beginning of the CHNA process, the data gathering tools, a list of stakeholders who participated in the CHNA process, the data sources accessed to compile the secondary data used in this report, and a list of community assets relevant to the Metro Hospital Collaborative. At the end of this report in Appendix H, the Health Needs Profiles summarize the key health needs indicators for all three hospitals in the Collaborative, including Good Samaritan, California Hospital Medical Center, and Saint Vincent Medical Center.

[3] Note that hypertension, cardiovascular disease and high cholesterol were combined as a single Health Need after the prioritization exercise. Before combining these health needs, hypertension ranked as #9, cardiovascular disease as #11, and high cholesterol as #16.

III. Introduction and Background

Purpose of the Community Health Needs Assessment Report

In 1994, the California Legislature enacted Senate Bill 697 (SB 697) which required nonprofit hospitals to complete CHNAs every three years. As part of SB 697, hospitals are also required to annually submit a summary of their Community Benefit contributions, particularly those activities undertaken to address the community needs that arose during the CHNA.

The Patient Protection and Affordable Care Act (ACA), enacted on March 23, 2010, included new stipulations for hospital organizations to maintain their 501(c)(3) status. With regard to the CHNA, the ACA specifically requires nonprofit hospitals to collect and take into account input from public health experts as well as community leaders and representatives of high-need populations (including minority groups, low-income individuals, medically underserved populations, and those with chronic conditions); identify and prioritize community health needs; document a separate CHNA for each individual hospital; and make the CHNA report widely available to the public. In addition, each nonprofit hospital must adopt an implementation strategy to address the identified community health needs and submit a copy of the implementation strategy along with the organization's annual Form 990.[4]

California Hospital Medical Center

Established in 1887 by Dr. Walter Lindley, California Hospital Medical Center was originally a three-story building located at 315 W. Sixth Street in Los Angeles. Dr. Lindley conceived of a hospital owned and operated solely by physicians. The physicians in Lindley's building were "carriage trade" and were affiliated with the University of Southern California Medical School. Twenty-one physicians agreed to acquire property at the corner of 15th and Hope which was a quiet residential street of attractive homes. When the property on Hope Street had been acquired, the first physician-owned and operated hospital in Los Angeles was erected at 1414 S. Hope Street. It was the first building in California especially invented for medical purposes, a project that Walter Lindley supervised at every stage of its design and construction.

The mission of California Hospital Medical Center encompasses a commitment to furthering the healing ministry of Jesus as well as dedicating their resources to:

- Delivering compassionate, high-quality, affordable health services;
- Serving and advocating for our sisters and brothers who are poor and disenfranchised; and
- Partnering with others in the community to improve the quality of life.

A vibrant, national health care system known for service, chosen for clinical excellence, standing in partnership with patients, employees and physicians to improve the health of all communities served. Dignity Health and the California Hospital Medical Center are committed to providing high-quality, affordable health care to the communities they serve. Above all else they value:

- Dignity - Respecting the inherent value and worth of each person.

•Collaboration - Working together with people who support common values and vision to achieve shared goals.

•Justice - Advocating for social change and acting in ways that promote respect for all persons and demonstrate compassion for our sisters and brothers who are powerless.

•Stewardship - Cultivating the resources entrusted to us to promote healing and wholeness.

Saint Vincent Medical Center

Established in 1856 by the Daughters of Charity of Saint Vincent de Paul as the first hospital in Los Angeles, Saint Vincent Medical Center has both a strong history and a glorious future.

Saint Vincent Medical Center works continually to provide the safest and highest quality care to their patients, families, and the community in a manner consistent with their "Vincentian Values: Compassion, Respect, Simplicity, Advocacy and Inventiveness to Infinity." Saint Vincent's care plans and processes are built on evidence-based practices, and they hold themselves to the highest standards.

Saint Vincent Medical Center seeks to provide care that is safe, patient centered, effective, timely, efficient, and equitable. They measure their performance through a number of clinical process and outcome indicators and benchmark their performance against top performing medical centers within California and across the nation.

Dedicated to achieving excellent quality outcomes and to building a culture of patient safety, Saint Vincent Medical Center voluntarily participated in the CMS/Premier Hospital Quality Incentive Demonstration project, until the project's completion in September 2009. This past year, Saint Vincent Medical Center received eight top attainment and improvement awards in the clinical areas of Heart Failure, Coronary Artery Bypass Grafting (CABG), Pneumonia, and Hip and Knee.

Saint Vincent Medical Center reports their clinical care and patient experience performance data publicly through several venues: the Centers for Medicare and Medicaid (CMS), the Joint Commission and the California Hospital Compare.

Good Samaritan Hospital

Good Samaritan Hospital is a world-class academic medical center affiliated with both USC and UCLA Schools of Medicine. Each year, Good Samaritan Hospital admits approximately 12,500 patients (excluding newborns) and handles more than 74,000 outpatient visits. More than 3,400 deliveries and 6,500 surgeries are performed annually in 18 surgical suites. Good Samaritan Hospital also handles approximately 36,900 visits per year with the help of 1,300 staff members. Of those members, 625 are part of the medical staff, 450 serve as nurses, and 52 serving as residents/fellows.

Areas of Specialization at Good Samaritan Hospital include:

- Intensive Care
- Cardiac/Coronary Care/Cardiac Telemetry
- Orthopedic
- Perinatal and Neonatal Intensive Care

In addition, Good Samaritan Hospital has historically been affiliated with the Episcopalian Church. Pastoral Care services are available for several religions/denominations.

Metro Hospital Collaborative

The Metro Hospital Collaborative is comprised of three hospitals serving the Los Angeles community—California Hospital Medical Center, Good Samaritan Hospital, and Saint Vincent Medical Center. These hospitals joined together to conduct a joint data gathering process and one stakeholder engagement effort in order to better utilize resources and reduce the burden on community members who are called upon for input.

CHNA Consultants

The Center for Nonprofit Management (CNM) team has extensive experience through being involved in and conducting more than 30 Community Health Needs Assessments (CHNAs) for hospitals throughout Los Angeles County and San Diego County. In 2013, CNM conducted CHNAs for three Kaiser Foundation hospitals (Baldwin Park, Los Angeles and West Los Angeles), Citrus Valley Health Partners, the Glendale Hospitals Collaborative (Glendale Adventist Medical Center, Glendale Memorial Hospital and Verdugo Hills Hospital) and the Metro Hospitals Collaborative (California Hospital Medical Center, Good Samaritan Hospital and Saint Vincent Medical Center) and assisted an additional two Kaiser Foundation Hospitals (Panorama City and San Diego) in community benefit planning based on the needs assessments. In 2014, the CNM team conducted the CHNA for Casa Colina Hospital and Centers for Healthcare, and for Hope Street Family Center. The CNM team recently completed 2016 CHNAs for Children's Hospital Los Angeles, as well as two Kaiser Foundation Hospitals (West Los Angeles and Baldwin Park), the Glendale Hospitals Collaborative (Glendale Adventist Medical Center, Glendale Memorial Hospital and Verdugo Hills Hospital) and Citrus Valley Health Partners.

IV. Needs Assessment Methodology and Process

Secondary Data

The CHNA included the collection of over 200 data indicators that helped illustrate the health of the community. These secondary data were collected from a wide range of local, county, state and national sources to present demographics, mortality, morbidity, health behaviors, clinical care, social and economic factors, and physical environment (See Appendix D—Data Sources). These categories are based on the County Health Rankings Model.[5]

The County Health Rankings Model illustrates the relationship between health drivers (called Health Factors in the diagram) which include social and economic factors, health behaviors, clinical care and physical environment, and health outcomes (morbidity and mortality). Combined, health drivers and health outcomes are health needs.

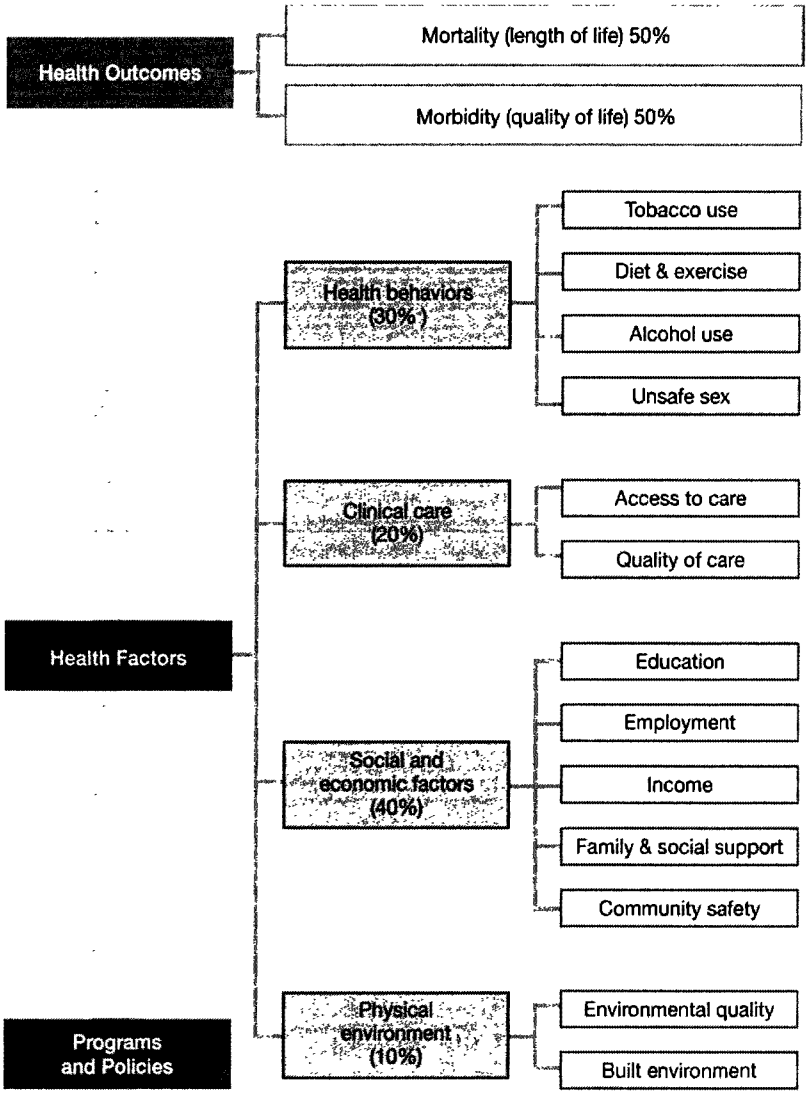
Mobilizing Action Toward Community Health (MATCH)



County Health Rankings model ©2010 UWPHI

Data available at the ZIP Code level were compiled for each hospital's service area. When not available by ZIP Code, then the data for the appropriate representative portion of the SPA was utilized.

A comprehensive data matrix, the "Scorecard" (See Appendix A—Scorecard), was created listing all identified secondary indicators. The Scorecard included for each hospital service area secondary data collected from regional, state and federal agencies, primary data mentions (focus groups and individual stakeholder interviews; see next section for details) as the issues emerged as priorities among community members. The Scorecard also included benchmark data in the form of Healthy People 2020 (HP2020) goals, which are nationally recognized. Additionally, the most recent county or state data source was also used as a comparison.

Primary Data—Community Input

Primary data were collected through interviews and focus groups with key stakeholders including patients, patient navigators, community liaisons and hospital administrators. Two community focus groups held on Tuesday August 16 and Tuesday August 30, 2016 were attended by a total of 21 people. Participants were invited by the Metro Hospital Collaborative. For a list of focus group questions please refer to Appendix B – Primary Data Gathering Tools and Appendix C—Stakeholders.

Focus group participants identified a list of most important health needs (comprised of health drivers and health outcomes, per the County Health Rankings Model). To begin to gain a sense for the perceived severity of each health need in the community, each participant was given a total of ten sticker dots and asked to vote for the five most severe health outcomes and the five most severe health drivers on a grid created during the focus group. For the purpose of the voting activity, severity was defined as the level to which a health outcome or health driver affected the health and lives of those in the community.

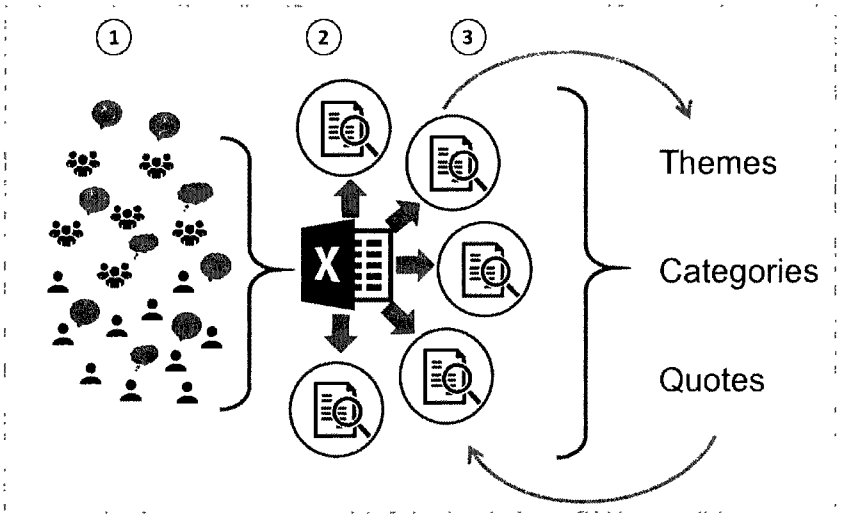
In addition to focus group interviews, in-depth semi-structured interviews were conducted with 5 key stakeholders in August 2016. Qualitative feedback from both the focus groups and individual interviews are incorporated in the Stakeholder Feedback sections below each Health Outcome.

The goal of the primary data collection component of the CHNA was to identify through the perceptions and knowledge of varied and multiple stakeholders health outcomes and drivers that are of particular concern to the service area community. Primary data collection also produced a list of community assets and information about gaps in resources. An inventory of existing community assets and resources was also compiled as a part of the CHNA process (Appendix E—Local Community Assets).

Analytical Methods Used To Identify Community Health Needs

The CNM consultant team used a modified content analysis to identify the main themes that emerged from community input through the focus groups. CNM used a three-step process for analyzing and interpreting primary data (community input): 1) all information gathered during focus groups and interviews were entered into Microsoft Excel, 2) spreadsheet data were reviewed multiple times using content analysis to begin sorting and coding the data, and 3) through the coding process, themes, categories and quotes were identified.

Analysis to Identify Main Themes Emerged Via Community Input



Analysis to Identify Main Themes Emerged Via Community Input

To help identify health needs, two requirements needed to be met: 1) a health need had to be mentioned in the primary data collection more than once and 2) a secondary data indicator associated with the need had to perform poorly against a designated benchmark (county averages, state averages, or Healthy People 2020 goals). Once a health need met both requirements, it was designated as an identified health need.

List of identified health needs, in alphabetical order:

- Access to Health Care
- Alcohol and Substance Abuse, and Tobacco use
- Cancer
- Cardiovascular disease (including Cholesterol)
- Cultural and Linguistic barriers
- Diabetes
- Food insecurity
- Healthy behavior (including Physical Activity)
- Homelessness
- Hypertension
- Mental health
- Obesity/overweight
- Oral health
- Poverty (including Unemployment)
- Preventive care
- Sexually transmitted diseases
- Transportation
- Violence and injury

Data Limitations and Gaps

The secondary data allows for an examination of the broad health needs within a community. However, there are some limitations with regard to this data, as is true with any secondary data. Data were not always available at the ZIP code level, so county-level data as well as SPA-level data were also utilized. Moreover, disaggregated data for age, ethnicity, race, and gender are not available for all data indicators, which limited the examination of disparities of health issues within the community. At times, a stakeholder-identified a health issue may not have been reflected by the secondary data indicators. In addition, data are not always collected on an annual basis, meaning that some data are several years old.

V. Prioritization of Health Needs

Once a list health needs was developed, a process was completed to prioritize the health needs. The steps to that process are outlined in the section that follows.

Community Ranking of Health Needs

A total of 28 community stakeholders convened by the Metro Hospital Collaborative on August 26, 2016 for a Prioritization Forum with the goal of ranking the identified health needs. Participants were provided the data Scorecard (Appendix A--Scorecard) and allowed time to review the data and discuss in small groups. CNM consultants were available in the room to answer data questions. To capture all groups' observations, each group was given a worksheet where they could provide input on: geographic areas impacted, specific populations, organizations and programs in the community and gaps in resources. After a full group discussion on their observations, they were given the opportunity to provide input via "dot voting" and completing a survey. For details, please see Appendix B – Primary Data Gathering Tools.

All participants were given sticker dots (10 sticker dots each) and asked to cast their sticker votes for the most severe health needs in the community.

Post-voting, they were asked to complete a written survey that asked them to score each identified health need based on the following criteria:

- MAGNITUDE- Does the issue affect a large portion of the population?
- SEVERITY- How severely does this health need impact the community?
- CHANGE OVER TIME - Has the health need improved or is it getting worse over time?
- RESOURCES - The availability of community resources and assets to address this health need.
- DISPARITIES- Does the issue disproportionately affect vulnerable population groups?

Participants were given a companion document that further explained the four criteria and the scoring system. Absent participants were allowed the opportunity to complete the survey online if they were not able to attend Prioritization forum. A total of 33 participants completed the survey in person and 13 online, for a total of 46 completed surveys. The survey and the companion document can be found in Appendix F – Prioritization Forum Survey.

Ranking: A Deeper Dive

During dot-voting, participants were allowed to put as many or as few stickers on a health need. If they so chose, they could put all 10 dot-stickers on a single health need, or spread them out throughout. The number of stickers allotted per participant was less than the total number of identified needs to compel participants' voting on the most pressing health needs in the community.

The survey asked participants to provide input for each health need on: (a) the magnitude, (b) the severity in the community, (c) change over time, (d) availability of resources, and (e) disparity, if the issue disproportionately affect vulnerable population groups. The possible scores ranged from 1 to 4 (to see the survey and scoring guide, please see Appendix F—Prioritization Forum Survey. To illustrate, a high score meant the health need was rated as very severe, getting worse, has a serious shortage of resources and the community has the capacity to address this need and thus focusing on that need would prove to be a good investment. Participants were allowed to mark "don't know" if they did not feel comfortable providing a score – and this response carried no scoring weight.

The results of dot-voting and survey scoring were combined to develop prioritized health needs. The needs were first prioritized by survey scores, and second by rank in dot-voting. In the case where multiple health needs received the same score, then ranking from the dot-voting was used to re-rank within the same score. For example, the following health needs all received a survey score of 3.6: obesity/overweight, homelessness, poverty and diabetes. We then took the scores from dot-voting to re-rank. In the case of poverty and diabetes, both received the same number of dots (16). Thus, these both occupy the same rank at #3.

Analysis of Survey Scores

The results of the dot-voting process and scores from the surveys were combined to develop a Prioritized Health Needs list (see below). The needs were first ranked based on the outcome of the scoring in the survey (i.e., highest scores meant a higher ranking) and second, ranked by the outcome of the dot votes. To view the outcome in dot-voting and scores from the survey please refer to Appendix G—Prioritization Forum Voting and Survey Outcomes. Below is the list of prioritized health needs, and their designation as a driver or an outcome:

Birth Weight

In the United States, the average newborn weighs about 8 pounds. Any baby born weighing less than 5 pounds, 8 ounces (2,500 grams) falls into the low birth weight category. A baby weighing less than 1500 grams falls into the very low birth weight category. Medical risk factors for having a low-birthweight baby include chronic health conditions like high blood pressure, diabetes and heart, lung and kidney problems and infections. Additional risk factors include smoking, drinking alcohol and substance abuse as well as mother's age and ethnicity. Low birth weight infants are more likely to have respiratory problems, feeding problems, bleeding in the brain and are more likely to die in the first year of life than normal birth weight infants. Low birth weight infants are also more likely to experience long-range developmental and physical health problems including: diabetes, heart disease, high blood pressure, metabolic syndrome and obesity.[6]

In 2011 in the SVMC service area, 6.3% of babies were born with low birth weight and another 1.3% with very low birth weight. ZIP codes 90007-South Los Angeles and 90008-Baldwin Hills/Crenshaw had the highest incidence of low birth weight (9.8% and 9.6% of all births, respectively), and ZIP codes 90043-View Park and 90008-Baldwin Hills/Crenshaw had the highest incidence of very low birth weight (2.6% and 2.2%, respectively).

Breastfeeding

There are numerous beneficial short-term and long-term health effects of breastfeeding for mothers and babies. Recent research has also demonstrated that breastfeeding carries potential economic and environmental benefits for communities. The short-term benefits of breastfeeding to babies include nutritionally balanced meals, some protection against common childhood infections and better survival during the first year of life.[7] With respect to health during the lifetime, recent research has demonstrated that breastfeeding during infancy has protective effects for the baby against chronic non-communicable diseases in adulthood, particularly hypertension, obesity, diabetes, hypercholesterolemia and cardiovascular disease.[8] Moreover, breastfeeding carries health benefits for mothers including lowering their risk of type 2 diabetes, certain kinds of breast cancer and ovarian cancer.[9] With respect to the economic benefits of breastfeeding, families purchasing infant formula during the first year of a child's life can save between $1,200 and $1,500 through breastfeeding instead.[10] This is a significant savings for low-income families.

Women who stop breastfeeding before their infant is three months old often do so because of breastfeeding management problems that are preventable and can be addressed through breastfeeding education and support. Hospitals can be designated as "baby-friendly" if they follow steps to promote breastfeeding.

Breastfeeding is an important element in the development of newborns. In 2015 in the SVMC service area, nearly half (49.7%) of mothers breastfed their babies for at least six months, a percentage equal to Los Angeles County (49.7%) but still lower than the Healthy People 2020 goal of >=60.6%.

Over a quarter (28.0%) of mothers in the SVMC service area breastfed their babies for at least twelve months, a higher percentage than in Los Angeles County (27.6%). A larger percentage (31.7%) of mothers in SPA 6 breastfed their babies at least twelve months—more than in Los Angeles County (27.6%).

Stakeholder Insights -- Breastfeeding

Stakeholders noted several reasons why breastfeeding rates are low in the service population. First, there are few organizations that educate women about and promote the benefits of breastfeeding over formula feeding. In addition, many employers do not provide supportive resources that would encourage continued breastfeeding once a woman returns to work. Finally, among the service population, formula feeding carries a high social value and is perceived as reflecting a high social status. For this reason, many women opt to formula feed even though breastfeeding is a viable option.

Disability

An umbrella term for impairments, activity limitations, and participation restrictions, disability is the interaction between individuals with a health condition (e.g., cerebral palsy, Down syndrome, depression) and personal and environmental factors (e.g., negative attitudes, inaccessible transportation and public buildings, and limited social supports).[11] Examples of disabilities include hearing, vision, movement, thinking, remembering, learning, communication, and/or mental health and social relationships. Disabilities can affect a person at any point in the life cycle.[12]

Over a billion people—corresponding to about 15% of the world population—are estimated to live with some form of disability. Between 110 million (2.2%) and 190 million (3.8%) people 15 years and older have significant difficulties functioning. In addition, rates of disability are increasing, in part as a result of aging populations and increases in chronic health conditions. People with disabilities typically have less access to health care services and consequently often do not have their health care needs met.[13]

In California alone, 5.7 million adults, or 23% of the adult population, have a disability. The proportion of the population with disabilities increases with age and among females and African-American, White, or American Indian/Alaskan native populations. People with disabilities are also more likely than others to be poorly educated, unemployed, and living below the poverty level. [14]

Prevalence

In 2014, the population living in the SVMC service area with disability status due to physical, mental or emotional conditions (33.2%) was higher than Los Angeles County (28.6%). In SPA 6 the percentage was significantly higher (39.4%).

Associated Drivers of Health

Disabilities may strike anyone at any point in time; however, disability rates are increasing in part as a result of aging populations and increases in chronic health conditions. People with disabilities typically have less access to health care services and often do not have their health care needs met.[15] People with disabilities are more likely to experience difficulties or delays in getting necessary health care in a timely manner, including visiting a dentist and getting mammograms and Pap smear tests, among other important diagnostic and preventive resources. In addition, they are more likely to smoke, to not engage in physical activity, to be overweight or obese, to have high blood pressure, to experience psychological distress, to receive less social/emotional support, and to have high unemployment rates.[16]

Deaths by Age Group

Compared to Los Angeles County averages, the incidence of mortality in the SVMC service area in 2010 is particularly high among children less than 1 year of age (2.1% of all deaths for the SVMC service area compared to 1.1% of all deaths for LA county), as well as among the following age groups: 25-34 years, 35-44 years, 45-54 years, and 55-64 years. Consequently, the probability of living to 85 years and older is much lower in the SVMC service area (24.4%) than in Los Angeles County (32.2%).

The following section of this report outlines key primary and secondary data pertaining to the health needs considered during the Community Health Needs Assessment (CHNA) and prioritization process. Of note, many of the health needs considered during the CHNA process appear in list of most common causes of death in the service area: these include cardiovascular disease, cancer, diabetes, hypertension and unintentional deaths. Some common causes of death listed above will not appear in the Key Findings – Health Needs section because they were not included in the CHNA and prioritization process in this cycle.

VII. Key Findings—Health Needs

This section presents an overview, analysis and summary of secondary data and stakeholder input for the health needs (outcomes and drivers) identified through the CHNA process and reviewed in the Summary of Key Findings (Executive Summary) of this report. This section presents multiple indicators for each health need. The health needs are presented in alphabetical order. The tables in this section reflect the most up-to-date population-level public health statistics from a variety of sources: a complete table of data sources can be found in Appendix D – Data Sources.

Access to Healthcare

Access to health care services is a concept that encompasses one's ability to afford health care, navigate the health care system, access a health care location where needed services are provided and find a health care provider with whom one can communicate and build truSaint[17] Access to health care impacts overall physical, social, and mental health status, the prevention of disease and disability, the detection and treatment of health conditions, quality of life, preventable death and life expectancy for individuals.[18]

Medicare Beneficiaries

Medicare is a Federal program administered by the Centers for Medicare & Medicaid Services (CMS) and provides health insurance for people age 65 or older, those under age 65 with certain disabilities or ALS (amyotrophic lateral sclerosis, or Lou Gehrig's disease), and people of any age with End-Stage Renal Disease (permanent kidney failure requiring dialysis or a kidney transplant).[19] The Medicare program provides insurance through various initiatives, including insurance for inpatient hospital, skilled nursing facility and home health services; coverage for physician services, outpatient hospital services, durable medical equipment and certain home health services; health plan options that are provided by Medicare-approved private insurance companies (e.g., HMOs, PPOs); and, insurance coverage for prescription drugs.[20] The Medicaid program is jointly funded by the federal and state government, and provides health insurance to eligible low-income adults, children, pregnant women, elderly adults and people with disabilities.

In 2014, the SVMC service area population had a lower percentage of individuals benefit from using Medicare (0.8%) than Los Angeles County (1.3%). In contrast, a higher percentage of the population living in SVMC's service area received Medicaid (26.9%) than in Los Angeles County (19.2%). In addition,

Medi-Cal and Healthy Families Programs

Medi-Cal, California's Medicaid program, is a public health insurance program that provides health care services at no or low cost to low-income individuals. The federal government mandates a set of basic services, which include but are not limited to physician, family nurse practitioner, nursing facility, hospital inpatient and outpatient, laboratory and radiology, family planning, early and periodic screening, diagnosis and treatment for children. In addition to these mandatory services, California provides optional benefits such as home- and community-based services (HCBS) waivers, and medical equipment.[21]

The Healthy Families Program offers low-cost insurance that provides health, dental and vision coverage to children who do not have insurance or who do not qualify for no-cost Medi-Cal.[22] However, starting January 1, 2013, no new enrollments of children into the Healthy Families Program were allowed and existing enrollees are being transitioned into the Medi-Cal program because of a change in state law.[23]

In 2011 in the SVMC service area, a total of 39.5% of the population is enrolled in Medical, and 1.7% of the families are enrolled in Healthy Families.

ZIP codes 90011-South Los Angeles (12.1%), 90044-Athens (10.0%), and 90003-South Los Angeles (7.7%) had a high percentage of Medi-Cal beneficiaries. ZIP codes 90011 (10.3%), 90044 (7.9%), and 90001 (7.1%) were areas with the highest percentage of Healthy Families enrollment in the SVMC service area.

Federally Qualified Health Centers

Federally Qualified Health Centers (FQHCs) are community-based and patient-directed organizations that serve populations with limited access to health care. They consist of public and private nonprofit health care organizations that meet certain criteria under the Medicare and Medicaid programs and receive funds under the Health Center Program (Section 330 of the Public Health Service Act).

In 2015, there were an estimated 747 health centers in the SVMC service area.

Stakeholder Input

In focus groups and interviews, stakeholders discussed the particular barriers to care faced by the large undocumented community in the service area. Stakeholders explained that fear of deportation discourages individuals from seeking health care, an issue compounded by the fact that the county is reducing the number of programs that offer care to undocumented residents.

The linguistic and cultural diversity of the service area presents particular challenges with respect to access to and utilization of care. One stakeholder explained that there may be up to 50 different languages spoken in the service area. Therefore, residents may experience frustration or intimidation when clinics and hospitals lack staff with whom they can communicate. Furthermore, the resident population lacks access to health care that is culturally appropriate. Stakeholders expressed a need for more resources that form a bridge between American medical culture and the health care cultures of the residents in the area: simply translating the language is insufficient, and evidence-based practices that work with patients from the dominant American culture do not always translate to patients from other cultures.

With respect to health care benefits and insurance, many stakeholders explained that the process of enrolling in services can be very confusing and overwhelming; therefore eligible individuals and families delay and stall out in the registration process. Often, clients do not have easy access to the internet or encounter challenges in navigating the internet sites where they can most readily access enrollment information, either because the sites are complex or because they have been poorly translated into the user's language. Furthermore, because of the complexity of the process, sick individuals may wait to apply for health care benefits while hoping their health will improve. Due to this delay, residents may not have access to benefits when health care is most needed.

Employment represents another challenge for many individuals seeking health care. Stakeholders expressed that members of their service area population often do not receive paid time off to go to the doctors. Because clinic hours are open during typical business hours only (8am to 5pm), it is difficult to access health care.

Finally, a specific area of concern with respect to health care access was the availability and accessibility of prenatal, maternal and child care, specifically for Latinas and African American women in the service area.

Alcohol and Substance Abuse and Tobacco Use

Substance abuse (defined as use of alcohol, tobacco, prescription or illicit substances) has a major impact on individuals, families and communities. Substance abuse is considered both a driver of poor health outcomes and an outcome in and of itself. Key determinants—or drivers—of alcohol and substance abuse and tobacco use outcomes include biological, social, economic and environmental factors. Drivers of individual and population substance use and abuse outcomes include gender, race and ethnicity, age, income level, educational attainment and sexual orientation. Substance abuse is also strongly influenced by interpersonal, household, and community dynamics including access to alcohol and drugs. Among adolescents, family, social networks, and peer pressure are key influencers of substance use.[24] Understanding the relationship between key substance abuse drivers in the SVMC service area and substance use and abuse patterns is important in improving substance abuse outcomes indicators.

Alcohol Use

In 2015, nearly half (53.0%) of adults (18+ years old) in the SVMC service area reported drinking alcohol at least once in the past month, while almost one in five (15.1%) adults reported engaging in binge drinking in the past month. Binge drinking is defined for females as consumption of four or more drinks and for males, consumption of five or more drinks on one occasion.

The density of alcohol outlets is associated with heavy drinking, drinking and driving, higher rates of motor vehicle-related pedestrian injuries, child abuse and neglect, and other violence.[25] In 2016, the average number of alcohol outlets per 1,000 persons in the SVMC service area was 1.8 per 1,000 persons, much higher than the Los Angeles County average (0.6 per 1,000 persons). The highest alcohol outlet rate was found in 90010-Wilshire (11.8 per 1,000).

Associated Drivers of Health

Substance abuse (defined as misuse of alcohol, tobacco, prescription or illicit substances) has a major impact on individuals, families, and communities. The effects of substance abuse contribute significantly to costly social, physical, mental and public health problems, including teenage pregnancy, HIV/AIDS, STDs, domestic violence, child abuse, motor vehicle accidents (unintentional injuries), physical fights, crime, homicide and suicide. Heavy alcohol consumption is an important determinant of future health outcomes, including cirrhosis, cancers, and untreated mental and behavioral health needs. In addition to considerable health implications, substance abuse has been a major focal point in discussions about social values: people argue over whether substance abuse is a disease with genetic and biological foundations or a matter of personal choice.[26]

Tobacco use is known to cause cancer, heart disease, lung disease (such as emphysema, bronchitis and chronic airway obstruction), premature birth, low birth weight, stillbirth and infant death.[27] Additionally, secondhand smoke has been known to cause heart disease and lung cancer in adults and severe asthma attacks, respiratory infections, ear infections, and sudden infant death syndrome (SIDS) in infants and children.[28] Smokeless tobacco use such as chewing tobacco can also cause a variety of oral health problems, like cancer of the mouth and gums, tooth loss, and periodontitis. In addition, cigar smoking may cause cancer of the larynx, mouth, esophagus and lung.[29]

Disparities

In 2015, most tobacco users in Los Angeles County were between the ages of 25 and 29 (18.9%). Another 14.9% were between the ages of 30 and 39 and another 13.8% were between the ages of 50

Stakeholder Input

Stakeholders identified the homeless as a population with a great need for alcohol and substance use services, particularly because homeless individuals cannot enter transitional housing if they are dealing with substance use issues.

Access to alcohol and substance use programs is a challenge in the service area: the community in general does not know where to go to seek treatment; beds are limited in inpatient facilities; the high cost of treatment makes it out of reach for most residents; specific populations, including transgender individuals, lack welcoming and responsive substance abuse and alcohol treatment facilities; and, the long wait list for low-cost treatment discourages potential patients.

Finally, stakeholders indicated that cultural shifts, including the increasing acceptance of vaping and marijuana smoking, are impacting access to, and use of, drugs and alcohol by teenagers.

Cancer

Cancer is the second leading cause of death in the United States, claiming the lives of more than half a million Americans every year[30]. In 2009, cancer incidence rates per 100,000 persons indicate that the three most common cancers among men in the United States are prostate cancer (137.7), lung cancer (64.3), and colorectal cancer (42.5). Among women, the leading causes of cancer deaths are breast cancer (123.1), lung cancer (54.1), and colorectal cancer (37.1).[31] Research has shown that early detection through regular cancer screenings can help reduce the number of new cancer cases and, ultimately, deaths.[32] Research has also shown that cancer is associated with certain diseases and behaviors including obesity, tobacco, alcohol, certain chemicals, some viruses and bacteria, a family history of cancer, poor diet, and lack of physical activity.[33]

Prevalence

In 2013 in Los Angeles County, the top invasive cancer incidence rates per 100,000 persons were female breast cancer (113.8), prostate cancer (92.6) and lung cancer (35.9).

Associated Drivers of Health

A primary method of preventing cancer is screening for cervical, colorectal, and breast cancers[34]. The most common risk factors for cancer include growing older, obesity, tobacco, alcohol, sunlight exposure, certain chemicals, some viruses and bacteria, family history of cancer, poor diet, and lack of physical activity[35].

Stakeholder Input

Stakeholders observed that there may be a lack of knowledge in the community about the causes of cancer and ways that individuals can reduce their likelihood of developing cancers through various activities. Stakeholders pointed out that a number of contextual factors in the community contribute to cancer incidence including lack of access to healthy food and poor air quality.

Stakeholders observed that they see less successful linkage to care and continuity in care—specifically for cancer--among low-income populations, populations that do not speak English and populations with cultural backgrounds that differ from the norm in the health care environment. Additionally, the LGBT community experiences unique challenges in accessing cancer screenings and care. Stakeholders recognize a need for greater cultural competency among care providers.

While gains made in coverage (through the Affordable Care Act and Medicaid) may have positively impacted individuals' ability to access screenings for prostate, breast and cervical cancer, providers have not seen an increase in clients' utilization of these screenings. Stakeholders explained this may be due to cutbacks in services or long waitlists for screenings that discourage patients from following up. Alternatively, it may be because patients don't know if or that their insurance covers screenings and cancer treatment. Additionally, stakeholders have observed a lack of community education on cancer screenings—and some stigma around screening providers like Planned Parenthood—that may be discouraging people from accessing preventive care.

Cardiovascular Disease, Including High Cholesterol

Cardiovascular disease—also called heart disease and coronary heart disease—includes several health conditions related to plaque buildup in the walls of the arteries, or atherosclerosis. As plaque builds up, the arteries narrow, restricting blood flow and creating the risk of heart attack. Currently, more than one in three adults (81.1 million) in the United States lives with one or more types of cardiovascular disease. In addition to being one of the leading causes of death in the United States, heart disease results in serious illness and disability, decreased quality of life, and hundreds of billions of dollars in economic loss every year.[36]

Cardiovascular disease encompasses and/or is closely linked to a number of health conditions that include arrhythmia, atrial fibrillation, cardiac arrest, cardiac rehab, cardiomyopathy, cardiovascular conditions in childhood, high cholesterol, congenital heart defects, diabetes, heart attack, heart failure, high blood pressure, HIV, heavy alcohol consumption, metabolic syndrome, obesity, pericarditis, peripheral artery disease (PAD) and stroke.[37]

Recent studies have suggested protective effects of breastfeeding against major risk factors of cardiovascular disease in adulthood including elevated cholesterol level, LDL (low-density lipoprotein) level, HDL (high-density lipoprotein) level and hypertension. Research suggests that the duration of breastfeeding is important in its protective role against cardiovascular disease risk.[38] For this reason, increasing breastfeeding rates and duration in the service area may be an effective strategy to reduce cardiovascular disease prevalence.

Prevalence and Management

In 2014, the percentage of the population in the SVMC service area diagnosed with heart disease (6.0%) was larger than in Los Angeles County (5.7%), with an even larger percentage in SPA 6 (8.6%).

Of those in the SVMC service area with heart disease, three out of five individuals (60.0%) receive assistance from a care provider in managing their disease. An even larger percentage of the population in service planning area 4 (61.5%) received assistance from a care provider. Los Angeles County had a slightly smaller percentage (55.5%) of its population receive heart disease management when compared to the SVMC service area.

Disparities

The burden of cardiovascular disease is disproportionately distributed across the population. Significant disparities are evident based on gender, age, race/ethnicity, geographic area, and socioeconomic status with regard to prevalence of risk factors, access to treatment, appropriate and timely treatment, treatment outcomes, and mortality.[39]

In 2015, nearly half (47.5%) of the population in Los Angeles County who were 65 or older had high cholesterol, as did those between the ages of 60 and 64 (41.2%). Over a third (34.5%) of those between the ages of 50 and 59 had high cholesterol, and approximately a quarter (24.8%) of those between the ages of 40 and 49.

and can often lead to stroke.[40] Smoking, obesity, excessive consumption of salt and fat, excessive drinking, and physical inactivity are risk factors for hypertension. People who have previously had a stroke, have high cholesterol, or have heart or kidney disease are also at higher risk of developing hypertension.

Stakeholder Input

Stakeholders called for efforts to expand education around the underlying causes of cardiovascular disease (diet, lack of physical exercise), to conduct outreach with subpopulations at higher risk (Latina women, young Black males) and to better educate the community about the disease process.

Community members discussed the influence of culture and tradition on the observed poor dietary practices that may introduce risk for cardiovascular disease in the service area. Stakeholders recommended the implementation of health education and healthy eating outreach campaigns via Spanish and Korean television and radio stations.

Additionally, community members observed that the built environment in the Metro collaborative communities serves as a constraint on dietary choices. For example, there are very few outlets selling affordable healthy ingredients compared to the number of fast food outlets and liquor stores selling high salt, high fat processed food ingredients. Additionally, lifestyle factors including long, stressful workdays make it difficult to allocate time for cooking dinner or engaging in exercise. Moreover, residents feel discouraged from exercising in their community due to fear of violence in the community, lack of safe green space in the community, lack of affordable/free indoor recreational facilities and a high incidence of pedestrian injury due to motor vehicles.

Cultural and Linguistic Barriers

According to the National Standards for Culturally and Linguistically Appropriate Services (CLAS), culture is defined in terms of racial, ethnic and linguistic groups, as well as geographical, religious and spiritual, biological and sociological characteristics[41]. With the Institute of Medicine's publication of Unequal Treatment in 2003, culturally and linguistically appropriate services gained recognition as an important way to help address the persistent disparities faced by our nation's diverse communities. There have also been rapid changes in demographic trends in the U.S. in the last decade. Additionally, national accreditation standards for professional licensure in the fields of medicine and nursing, and health care policies, such as the Affordable Care Act, have also helped to underscore the importance of cultural and linguistic competency as part of high quality health care and services[42].

The enhanced National CLAS Standards address these new developments and trends, and offer an even stronger framework to provide culturally and linguistically appropriate services. The enhanced National CLAS Standards are intended to advance health equity, improve quality, and help eliminate health care disparities.

In 2015, the percent of residents in the SVMC service area who spoke only English (32.5%) was considerably lower than in Los Angeles County (42.9%). In contrast, the percent of residents in the SVMC service area who spoke only Spanish at home (51.9%) was higher than in Los Angeles County (39.6%). The percentage of the SVMC service area population whose primary language was of Asian origin (13.0%) was similar to Los Angeles County (10.9%). The percentage of the SVMC population speaking a language of Indo-European origin (1.8%) was much lower than in Los Angeles County (5.6%). ZIP codes with high percentages of the population speaking Spanish at home are 90001-Los Angeles (86.8%) and 90011-South Los Angeles (87.5%). ZIP codes with high percentages of the population speaking an Asian/Pacific Islander language at home are 90020-Hancock Park (40.5%) and 90071 (38.5%).

Stakeholder Input

Stakeholders discussed a need for greater understanding among the health care community of the ways in which gender dynamics and social roles in non-majority cultures impact relationships between health care providers and patients, as well as the implementation of health care recommendations beyond the doctor visit. For example, among many new immigrant families, gender role norms dictate that the male is dominant in the family; this can complicate health behavior recommendations for women if the provider is not cognizant of the impact gender role norms might have on a woman's ability to treat a personal health issue or an issue affecting her child.

Diabetes

Diabetes affects an estimated 23.6 million people and is the seventh leading cause of death in the United States. Diabetes lowers life expectancy by up to 15 years, increases the risk of heart disease by two to four times, and is the leading cause of kidney failure, lower-limb amputations, and adult-onset blindness.[43] A diabetes diagnosis can also indicate an unhealthy lifestyle—a risk factor for further health issues—and is also linked to obesity.

Given the steady rise in the number of people with diabetes and the earlier onset of type 2 diabetes, there is growing concern about substantial increases in diabetes-related complications and their potential to impact and overwhelm the health care system. Evidence is emerging that diabetes is associated with other co-morbidities, including cognitive impairment, incontinence, fracture risk and cancer risk and prognosis.[44]

There is a clear need to take advantage of recent discoveries about the individual and societal benefits of improved diabetes management and prevention by bringing life-saving findings into wider practice, and complementing those strategies with efforts in primary prevention among those at risk for developing diabetes.[45]

Breastfeeding may be a principal diabetes prevention strategy. Recent research has demonstrated that breastfeeding during infancy may protect against the development of type 2 diabetes later in life through two pathways. First, the fatty acids found in breast milk contribute to the maintenance of healthy fasting blood glucose levels in infants. Artificial formulas lacking these fatty acids may contribute to insulin resistance and ultimately Type 2 diabetes. Second, research suggests that the protective effects of breastfeeding against obesity in adulthood might also influence the development of type 2 diabetes.[46]

Prevalence and Disease Management

In 2015, 11.8% of the population 18 years old and older in the SVMC service area had been diagnosed with diabetes, a larger percentage than in Los Angeles County (9.8%). In SPA 4, a similar percentage was diagnosed with diabetes (11.6%).

In 2015, about two-thirds (69.2%) of the diabetic population had met with their medical provider to develop a diabetes care plan, less than the percentage (77.8%) in Los Angeles County.

The diabetes hospitalization rate per 100,000 adults in the SVMC service area (241.1) was higher than California (142.6), and rates among adults were much higher in ZIP Codes 90047-Los Angeles (388), 90018-Jefferson Park (363.2), 90002-Los Angeles (357.7) and 90008-Baldwin Hills (353.5).

In 2012, the hospitalization rate per 100,000 persons resulting from uncontrolled diabetes in the SVMC service area (21.0) was over double the rate in California (8.6), and particularly high in ZIP Codes 90018-Jefferson Park (44.4) and 90047-Los Angeles (30.8).

Associated Drivers of Health

Factors associated with diabetes include being overweight; having high blood pressure, high cholesterol, high blood sugar (or glucose); physical inactivity, smoking, unhealthy eating, age, race, gender and having a family history of diabetes.[47]

Stakeholder Input

As with cardiovascular disease, diet is a principal determinant of diabetes. Diet is shaped by both the food environment (what is available for purchase in a community) and cultural practices. The service area is home to many cultures. Stakeholders called for the implementation of outreach and education efforts that illustrate strategies for healthier diets that reflect residents' cultural backgrounds. Additionally, stakeholders acknowledged that residents' access to healthy food is limited by cost, and acknowledged a need for affordable fruits and vegetables. Moreover, stakeholders observed that clients in the service area lack an understanding of the diabetes disease process. Stakeholders have called for greater education around the relationship between diet and diabetes as well as diabetes co-morbidities.

Stakeholders acknowledged that the costs of diabetes medication are prohibitive for lower-income residents, particularly the undocumented and uninsured populations. Additionally, individuals experiencing homelessness and housing instability face challenges in maintaining diabetes care because they do not have access to refrigeration for their medications.

Food Insecurity

According to the United States Department of Agriculture, food insecurity is explicitly defined as a household-level economic and social condition of limited or uncertain access to adequate food[48]. The defining characteristic of very low food security is that, at times during the year, the food intake of household members is reduced and their normal eating patterns are disrupted because the household lacks money and other resources for food. Very low food security can be characterized in terms of the conditions that households in this category typically report in the annual food security survey[49].

In 2015, nearly one third (32.0%) of households in the SVMC service area with income less than 300% of the poverty level were food insecure. This was slightly higher than Los Angeles County (29.2%).

Stakeholder Input

Stakeholders explained that food insecurity in the service area results from the compounded impact of low income and a lack of affordable healthy food.

Healthy Behavior (including Physical Activity)

The Nutrition and Weight Status objectives for Healthy People 2020 reflect strong science supporting the health benefits of eating a healthful diet and maintaining a healthy body weight. The objectives also emphasize that efforts to change diet and weight should address individual behaviors, as well as the policies and environments that support these behaviors in settings such as schools, worksites, health

Health Activities

A higher percentage (44.3%) of children drank at least one soda or sweetened beverage a day in the SVMC service area than in Los Angeles County (39.2%) in 2015. However, a lower percentage (38.4%) of children consumed fast food two or more times in a week in the SVMC service area than in Los Angeles. However, more teens (58.7%) and adults (46.4%) consumed fast food two or more times in one week in the SVMC service area than in Los Angeles County (49.7% and 41.7%, respectively).

A much lower percentage (9.9%) of teens ate five or more servings of fruits and vegetables in the past day in the SVMC service area than in Los Angeles County (19.7%).

Stakeholder Input

One focus group explained that Latinos are particularly impacted by poor health behaviors because their current diet does not provide as much nutrition as it could: the Latino communities in the service area could benefit from more information, more nutritional education and more knowledge about where to buy affordable healthy foods. A Latina mother explained that she has benefitted from classes offered at the Clínica de Control de Niños, an organization that helped her understand what her children should be eating to be healthy. Focus group participants also explained that Leichty Middle school provides parent classes, nutrition and cardiovascular classes for parents as well as child care: the school also brings in mobile dental care clinics.

Stakeholders explained that time constraints, costs of healthy food and medical care, and easy access to cheap, unhealthy food contribute to the poor eating behaviors. However, there is an observed growing interest in healthy foods and fitness, reflected in the growing popularity of farmers' markets and Zumba studios.

Homelessness

A homeless individual is defined as "an individual who lacks housing (without regard to whether the individual is a member of a family), including an individual whose primary residence during the night is a supervised public or private facility (e.g., shelters) that provides temporary living accommodations, and an individual who is a resident in transitional housing."[51] A homeless person is an individual without permanent housing who may live on the streets; stay in a shelter, mission, single room occupancy facilities, abandoned building or vehicle; or in any other unstable or non-permanent situation[52].

In addition, an individual may be considered to be homeless if that person is "doubled up," a term that refers to a situation where individuals are unable to maintain their housing situation and are forced to stay with a series of friends and/or extended family members. Furthermore, previously homeless individuals who are to be released from a prison or a hospital may be considered homeless if they do not have a stable housing situation to which they can return. A recognition of the instability of an individual's living arrangements is critical to the definition of homelessness[53].

Prevalence

The homeless counts used in this section are for the entire service planning areas (SPAs) that span the SVMC service area, and likely provide an overrepresentation of homelessness. In order to best approximate the SVMC service area, the estimated total number of homeless people was calculated by multiplying the number of homeless residents in each service planning area by the percentage of each planning area's population represented in SVMC's service area.

As of 2016, an estimated 43,854 homeless resided in Los Angeles County, most of whom (27.1%) were in SPA 4–Metro.

According to the Los Angeles Homeless Services Authority, homeless individuals include single adults, adult couples with no children, and groups of adults over the age of 18. In SPA 6-South, homeless families make up a large percentage of the homeless population (15.3%). Of the 125 homeless minors under the age of 18 in all SPAs, they are concentrated within SPA 4–Metro (where 0.3% of the homeless are homeless minors).

Associated Drivers

Housing instability is a primary driver of homelessness. Housing instability among poor families is the result of multiple overlapping factors ranging from number of income-earning adults in the home, education level of income-earning adults in the home, health of family members, domestic violence exposure, substance use patterns and access to social support and health care.[54] Although Los Angeles has the largest health and social services system available to homeless people, given the size of the very poor and homeless population it faces significant challenges to provide cost effective integrated care for those facing housing instability.[55]

Stakeholder Input

Stakeholders observed that a large proportion of the population in the service area are facing housing insecurity, and agencies should come together to support these individuals and families before they become homeless.

Hypertension

Hypertension, defined as a blood pressure reading of 140/90 or higher, affects one in three adults in the United States.[56] With no symptoms or warning signs and the ability to cause serious damage to the body, the condition has been called a silent killer. If untreated, high blood pressure can lead to heart failure, blood vessel aneurysms, kidney failure, heart attack, stroke, and vision changes or blindness.[57] High blood pressure can be controlled through medicines and lifestyle change; however, patient adherence to treatment regimens is a significant barrier to controlling high blood pressure.[58]

High blood pressure is associated with smoking, obesity, the regular consumption of salt and fat, excessive drinking, and physical inactivity. Those at higher risk of developing hypertension include people who have previously had a stroke and those who have high cholesterol or heart or kidney disease. African-Americans and people with a family history of hypertension are also at an increased risk of having hypertension.[59]

Prevalence and Management

In 2015, close to a quarter (23.1%) of the population in the SVMC service area was diagnosed with hypertension (or high blood pressure), slightly less than in Los Angeles County (23.5%). SPA 6-South had a higher percentage (24.5%).In 2014, more than half (62.3%) of the population with high blood pressure in the SVMC service area took medication to control their high blood pressure—not as many as in Los Angeles County (67.2%). The rate was higher in SPA 4-Metro (66.2%).

Associated Drivers of Health

Smoking, obesity, the regular consumption of salt and fat, excessive drinking, and physical inactivity are risk factors for hypertension. People who have previously had a stroke, have high cholesterol, or have heart or kidney disease are also at higher risk of developing hypertension.

Stakeholder Input

Stakeholders indicated that hypertension is one of the top health problems in the community, closely related and linked to diabetes and cardiovascular disease.

Mental Health

Mental illness is a common cause of disability. Untreated disorders may leave individuals at risk for substance abuse, self-destructive behavior, and suicide. Additionally, mental health disorders can have a serious impact on physical health and are associated with the prevalence, progression, and outcome of chronic diseases.[60] Suicide is considered a major preventable public health problem. In 2010, suicide was the tenth leading cause of death among Americans of all ages, and the second leading cause of death among people between the ages of 25 and 34.[61] An estimated 11 attempted suicides occur per every suicide death.

Research shows that more than 90% of those who die by suicide suffer from depression or other mental disorders, or a substance-abuse disorder (often in combination with other mental disorders).[62] Among adults, mental disorders are common, with approximately one-quarter of adults being diagnosable for one or more disorders.[63] Mental disorders are not only associated with suicide, but also with chronic diseases, a family history of mental illness, age, substance abuse, and life-event stresses.[64]

Interventions to prevent suicide include therapy, medication, and programs that focus on both suicide risk and mental or substance-abuse disorders. Another intervention is improving primary care providers' ability to recognize and treat suicide risk factors, given the research indicating that older adults and women who die by suicide are likely to have seen a primary care provider in the year before their death.[65]

Prevalence

In 2015, adults experienced an average of 2.6 days of poor mental health–related unhealthy days in the SVMC service area, which is slightly higher than Los Angeles County (2.3).

In 2014, a slightly smaller percentage (9.1%) of adults in the SVMC service area reported having serious psychological distress when compared to Los Angeles County (9.6%).

In 2015, a smaller percentage (59.1%) of the population in the SVMC service area reported having the necessary social and emotional support when compared to Los Angeles County (64.0%). Additionally, SPA 6-South (55.7%) had a lower percentage than either the SVMC service area or Los Angeles County.

In addition, the percentage of the population in the SVMC service area diagnosed with anxiety was higher (6.9%) than Los Angeles County (6.4%) in 2011.

Associated Drivers of Health

Mental health is associated with many other health factors, including poverty, heavy alcohol consumption, and unemployment. Chronic diseases such as cardiovascular disease, diabetes, and obesity are also associated with mental health disorders such as depression and suicide.[66]

Stakeholder Input

Stakeholders emphasized that stigma around accessing mental health--especially among communities of color--serves as an obstacle to accessing care. In some cases, individuals fear that they might lose their jobs if their employers learn they are seeking metal health care.

Stakeholders observed that mental health practitioners lack competency in providing effective mental health care to seniors, those who speak languages other than English, those with diverse cultural backgrounds. Additionally, cultural healers and indigenous religions and practices that may provide effective mental health support are not valued or leveraged in mental health care.

[66] Centers for Disease Control and Prevention. CDC Mental Illness Surveillance. Available at http://www.cdc.gov/mentalhealthsurveillance/. Accessed [August 2, 2016].

Finally, stakeholders addressed a severe shortage of mental health providers for a community with a high need for mental health care. For example, there is only one suicide responding team (PET team) for SPA 4. Overall, stakeholders identified long waiting list for mental health services and an overreliance on interns in mental health facilities. There are particularly few services available to language minority clients and undocumented clients. Finally, funding for mental health service screening and delivery is limited.

Obesity/Overweight

Obesity, a condition in which a person has an abnormally high and unhealthy proportion of body fat, has risen to epidemic levels in the United States; 68 percent of adults age 20 years and older are overweight or obese.[67] Excess weight is a significant national problem and indicates an unhealthy lifestyle that influences further health issues.

Obesity reduces life expectancy and causes devastating and costly health problems, increasing the risk of coronary heart disease, stroke, high blood pressure, diabetes and a number of other chronic diseases. Findings suggest that obesity also increases the risks for cancers of the esophagus, breast (postmenopausal), endometrium, colon and rectum, kidney, pancreas, thyroid, gallbladder, and possibly other cancer types.[68] Obesity is associated with factors including poverty, inadequate fruit/vegetable consumption, breastfeeding, and lack of access to grocery stores, parks, and open space.

Recent findings have demonstrated associations between breastfeeding and obesity in adulthood. Research suggests various behavioral, biological and psychological pathways for this association. For example, breastfeeding may improve infant feeding methods and infant satiety. In addition, high fat and protein contents in artificial formula may cause excess weight gain. Furthermore, breast milk contains hormones that may positively impact adiposity and metabolism over the lifetime.[69] For this reason, improving breastfeeding outcomes is an effective strategy for addressing obesity in the SVMC service area.

Prevalence

In 2009, the SVMC service area had a similar percentage of those who were overweight (31.0%) as all of Los Angeles County (29.7%). Similarly, a larger percentage of the population in the SVMC service area were obese (25.5%) than in Los Angeles County (21.2%).

Associated Drivers of Health

Obesity is associated with factors such as poverty, inadequate consumption of fruits and vegetables, physical inactivity, and lack of access to grocery stores, parks, and open space. Obesity increases the risk of coronary heart disease, stroke, high blood pressure, diabetes, and a number of other chronic diseases. The condition also increases the risks of cancers of the esophagus, breast (postmenopausal), endometrium, colon and rectum, kidney, pancreas, thyroid, gallbladder, and possibly other cancer types.[70]

Stakeholder Input

Stakeholders related the high rates of obesity and overweight to lack of physical activity, poor diet, and the health literacy. Most young people in the service area do not engage in physical education at schools and stay inside after school because of concerns about safety in their communities. The easy availability of fast foods and packaged foods, along with the lack of access to healthy fruits and vegetables and time for meal preparation leads families to consume more high-calorie and unhealthy food. Finally, health care providers recognize that there is a lack of awareness of the severity and importance of obesity as a precursor to other diseases. Stakeholders called for policies in schools and organizations that enforce the provision of healthy snacks and lunches.

Oral Health

Dental care is essential to overall health, and is relevant as a health need because engaging in preventive behaviors decreases the likelihood of developing future oral health and related health problems. In addition, oral diseases such as cavities and oral cancer cause pain and disability for many Americans.[71]

Behaviors that may lead to poor oral health include tobacco use, excessive alcohol consumption, and poor dietary choices. Barriers that prevent or limit a person's use of preventive intervention and treatments for oral health include limited access to and availability of dental services, a lack of awareness of the need, cost, and fear of dental procedures. Social factors associated with poor dental health include lower levels or lack of education, having a disability, and other health conditions such as diabetes.[72]

Access

In the SVMC service area, over half the population (60.6%) did not have dental insurance coverage in 2015, higher than the uninsured rate Los Angeles County (51.8%).

As of 2013, there were a a total of 8,417 dentists in Los Angeles County, making up over a quarter (26.7%) of dentists in California.

For an area to be determined a Dental Health Professional Shortage Area, it must have a population-to-dentist ratio of at least 5,000:1.[73] Los Angeles County does not meet this criterion, as its ratio is 2,484:1.

Affordability

Often, dental insurance is limited and coverage is minimal, so people have to pay high out-of-pocket costs. In addition, most don't have dental insurance coverage and the cost of dental services is too high and therefore unattainable for the average person.

In the SVMC service area, over a third (35.0%) of adults could not afford dental care in 2011—including regular check-ups—which is higher than the rate for Los Angeles County (30.3%). SPA 4 reported an even higher percentage (37.6%).

In Los Angeles County, a number of free or low-cost dental services are available for children through community clinics and state and county programs. However, many of those entities have fallen victim to budget cuts, which have significantly limited the availability of those services.

In 2015, the percentage of children in the SVMC service area (12.4%) who were unable to afford dental care was higher than Los Angeles County (11.5%). SPA 4-Metro's percentage (15.5%) was higher than both the service area and Los Angeles County.

Disparities

In 2015, the percentage of children in Los Angeles County who were unable to afford dental care doubled from the age range of 3-5 years old (7.4%) to 12-17 years old (15.1%). The trend increases with age, peaking at 25-29 years old (38.7%) and steadily declining after that for each age bracket. In particular, the lowest percentage of those unable to afford dental care over the age of 18 occurs with residents over the age of 65 (19.1%).

Upon examining differences in ethnicity among children in 2015, larger percentages of Latino (12.6%), White (10.6%), and African-American (10.1%) children had a difficult time obtaining dental care because they could not afford it, along with smaller percentages of Asian/Pacific Islander (7.3%) children. Furthermore, data for American Indian/Alaskan Native children were either unavailable or reflected numbers that were too small to report.

Associated Drivers of Health

Poor oral health can be prevented by decreasing sugar intake and increasing healthy eating habits to prevent tooth decay and premature tooth loss; consuming more fruits and vegetables to protect against oral cancer; smoking cessation; decreased alcohol consumption to reduce the risk of oral cancers, periodontal disease, and tooth loss; using protective gear when playing sports; and living in a safe physical environment.[74] In addition, oral health conditions such as periodontal (gum) disease have been linked to diabetes, heart disease, stroke, and premature, low-weight births.[75]

Stakeholder Input

Stakeholders explained that the separation between oral care and medical care both in terms of policy (health insurance coverage, permitted "sick time" off at work) and health literacy has a detrimental impact

Cost of services and insurance coverage are barriers to oral care. Stakeholders explained that dental care costs are prohibitive for those who lack insurance, and that dental services are often not covered for those who are insured. Additionally, dental care providers are very selective in the types of insurance they will accept, and they often don't take Medi-Cal because of Medi-Cal's historically low reimbursement rates.

Stakeholders reported that the high costs of dental care are compounded by high rates of dental fraud in the service area. Patients receive recommendations for unnecessary, expensive procedures that are not medically indicated. Additionally, stakeholders observed that some health care providers offer Care Credit packages to non-English speaking customers who most likely do not understand the terms explained in English in the Care Credit materials.

The service area lacks sufficient oral care resources for subpopulations including the elderly and indigent, children, and the homeless.

Poverty (including Unemployment)

In 2015, nearly double the percentage of families in the SVMC service area lived below poverty (27.6%) in comparison to families in Los Angeles County (14.9%). Similarly, the percentage of families living below poverty with children (22.4%) was nearly double that of Los Angeles County (11.7%). Several areas with a higher concentration of families with children living below poverty include zip codes 90007-South Los Angeles (38.3%), 90017-Downtown Los Angeles (35.0%) and 90016-West Adams (35.0%).

In the SVMC service area, a slightly lower percentage of families were at or above the poverty level (72.4%) than in Los Angeles County (85.2%). Only ZIP codes 90071-ARCO Towers (100.0%) and 90010-Wilshire (86.8%) had higher than average percentages of the population living at or above poverty. The percentage of families at or above poverty with children was lower in the SVMC service area (34.4%) than in the rest of the county (41.9%). Only ZIP code 90071-ARCO Tower had a higher percentage of families with children living at or above poverty (50.0%) than the County average.

Students Receiving Free or Reduced-Price Meals

Student eligibility for FRPM serves as a proxy measure of family poverty, as the federal poverty threshold tends to underestimate the extent of poverty, particularly in high cost areas. Research indicates that families in California can earn two or more times the federal poverty level and still struggle to meet their basic needs.[76]

A child's family income must fall below 130% of the federal poverty guidelines ($31,005 for a family of four in 2014-2015) to qualify for free meals, or below 185% of the federal poverty guidelines ($44,123 for a family of four in 2014-2015) to qualify for reduced price meals.

In 2015, the percentage of children eligible for the Free or Reduced Price School Meal (FRPM) program was 66.6%, which is an increase from 2011 (61.8%). Overall, these percentages are above that for California (58.6%).

Stakeholder Input

Poverty is a challenge in and of itself for residents of the service area, and as part of a chain of related factors it is the upstream determinant of multiple health outcomes.

[76] As cited on kidsdata.org, Self-Sufficiency Standard. (2015). Insight Center for Community Economic Development and Dr. Diana Pearce, California Family Economic Self-Sufficiency Standard. Center for Women's Welfare, School of Social Work, University of Washington. Accessed [August 1, 2016].

For residents of the service area, low income means lack of access to personal and public transportation, which impacts access to healthy food, access to health care, and even access to education. Residents' low income limits their access to stable and healthy housing and a clean living environment, as very low-income communities are most impacted by environmental pollution and lack of adequate garbage collection.

Stakeholders explained that residents living in poverty experience structural barriers to health care access including discrimination from service providers, increasingly overburdened social service offices, and lack of adequate educational and vocational programs.

Preventive Care

Along with access to health care, following preventive practices such as having a regular source of care and timely physical and medical tests is important. Adequate, regular primary care can prevent the development of health problems and maintain positive health conditions.

Health Check-Ups

In 2015, the percentage of residents in the SVMC service area who visited a doctor, nurse, or other health care professional was slightly lower (66.0%) than in Los Angeles County (70.7%). Similarly, there were a lower percentage of individuals residing in the SVMC service area who visited a dentist or a dental clinic (51.5%) than in Los Angeles County (59.3%). In SPA 4-Metro, 64.6% of the population visited a doctor, nurse or other health professional while 59.7% saw a dentist or visited a dental clinic in the past year. Similarly, in SPA 6, 65.1% of the population visited a doctor, nurse or other health professional while only 43.1% saw a dentist or visited a dental health clinic.

Preventable Hospitalizations

Potentially preventable hospitalizations are admissions to a hospital for certain acute illnesses (e.g., dehydration) or worsening chronic conditions (e.g., diabetes) that might not have required hospitalization had these conditions been managed successfully by primary care providers in outpatient settings. Although not all such hospitalizations can be avoided, admission rates in populations and communities can vary depending on access to primary care, care-seeking behaviors, and the quality of care available. Because hospitalization tends to be costlier than outpatient or primary care, potentially preventable hospitalizations often are tracked as markers of health system efficiency. The number and cost of potentially preventable hospitalizations also can be calculated to help identify potential cost savings associated with reducing these hospitalizations overall and for specific populations.[77]

In 2012, the rate at which preventable hospital events occurred (per 1,000) for individuals over the age of 18 in the SVMC service area (15.2) was higher than that of Los Angeles County (11.7). In particular, ZIP codes 90008-Baldwin Hills (24.4) and 90047-Los Angeles/West Athens (22.8) had much higher than average rates of preventable hospital events.

Stakeholder Input

Stakeholders identified a number of issues with linkage to care and continuity of care that negatively impact the implementation of preventive care. For example, with changes in insurance, people lose their medical home, which interrupts regular checkups and treatment. Residents are not readily connected with screenings for young children that could identify and address many issues early, before more serious issues arise. Additionally, stakeholders reported that residents do not often have access to paid time off for preventive care or early care for illness.

Sexual Health / Sexually Transmitted Diseases

Sexually transmitted diseases (STDs) refer to more than 25 infectious organisms that are transmitted primarily through sexual activity. STD prevention is an essential primary care strategy for improving reproductive health. Despite the burdens, costs, and complications—and their being preventable to a certain extent—STDs remain a significant public health problem in the United States, greatly under-recognized by the public, policymakers, and health care professionals. STDs have the potential to cause many harmful, often irreversible clinical complications, including having an impact on reproductive health, fetal and perinatal health problems and cancer, and the transmission of HIV. The spread of STDs is directly affected by social, economic, and behavioral factors. Obstacles to STD prevention include access to and provision of care, willingness to seek care, and social norms regarding sex and sexuality. Among certain vulnerable populations, a historical experience with segregation and discrimination exacerbates the influence of these factors. Many studies document the association of substance abuse with STDs. The introduction of illicit substances into communities often can alter sexual behavior drastically in high-risk sexual networks, leading to the spread of STDs.[78]

Adolescents ages 15 to 24 account for nearly half of the 20 million new cases of STDs each year in the United States. Today, four in 10 sexually active teen girls in the United States have had an STD with the potential to cause infertility and even death. Regular screenings are critical, as STDs often have no obvious signs or physical symptoms. Also, certain racial and ethnic groups (mainly African-American, Hispanic/Latino, and American Indian/Alaska Native populations) have high rates of STDs compared with Whites. Race and ethnicity in the United States are correlated with other determinants of health status such as poverty, limited access to health care, fewer attempts to get medical treatment, and living in communities with high rates of STDs.[79]

Prevalence

HIV incidence (48.7 per 100,000) and syphilis incidence (15.9 per 100,000) in the SVMC service area were both significantly higher than in Los Angeles County (24.9 and 8.1, respectively).

The rate of chlamydia incidence in the SVMC service area (789.8) was significantly higher than Los Angeles County (512.9), with SPA 4-Metro (587.7) and SPA 6-South (999.5) showing opposing incidence rates.

The prevalence of gonorrhea per 100,000 in the SVMC service area (207.3) was nearly twice as much as that of Los Angeles County (103.4). Others SPAs such as SPA 4 (204.7) and SPA 6 (231.9) also exceed the rate of incidence in the county (103.4).

Stakeholder Input

Stakeholders have observed an increase in STD incidence among teenagers, and called for preventive education.

Transportation

Transportation barriers are often cited as barriers to healthcare access. Transportation barriers can lead to rescheduled or missed appointments, delayed care, and missed or delayed medication use. These consequences may cause poorer management of chronic illness and thus poorer health outcomes.

However, the significance of these barriers is uncertain based on existing literature due to wide variability in both study populations and transportation barrier measures[80].

Personal Transportation

In 2015, the population of the SVMC service area was almost three times more likely to use public transportation than the total population of Los Angeles County (20.7% vs. 7.1%). The population of the SVMC service area was also more likely to walk or use a bicycle for transportation than the total population of Los Angeles County. At the same time, residents of the SVMC service area were much less likely than residents of Los Angeles County to drive alone (58.0% vs. 72.6%).

Stakeholder Input

Public transportation functions as a barrier to care for residents because of cost and extended travel times, particularly when assigned health care providers are very distant from residents' homes or workplaces.

Additionally, the elderly and the disabled face challenges in accessing transportation to health care providers as well as to healthy food outlets.

Violence/Injury/Safety

Injuries can result from many unintentional or intentional events including motor vehicle accidents, falls, job-related accidents, gunshot and blast wounds and sports injuries. Common diagnoses include brain injury, spinal cord injury, amputation, anoxia and muscular-skeletal injury.[81] Injuries affect everyone, regardless of age, gender, ethnicity or economic status.[82] Although injuries are often unavoidable, there are steps that can be taken to lessen the consequences of injuries, including wearing seat belts, violence prevention education, ignition interlock and in-car breathalyzers to prevent drunk driving, pro-active job site safety precautions and regular physical activity.[83]

Traumatic Brain Injuries. Traumatic brain injuries contribute to a significant number of deaths and cases of permanent disability each year. In 2010 alone, 2.5 million traumatic brain injuries occurred in the United States.[84] Traumatic brain injuries are caused by a bump or blow to the head or a penetrating injury that disrupts the normal function of the brain.[85] Traumatic brain injuries are often the result of falls, unintentional blunt traumas, motor vehicle crashes and physical assaults.[86] Traumatic brain injuries cause a range of short and long term changes that affect an individual's memory and reasoning functions, senses (i.e. touch, taste, and smell), ability to communicate and understand and overall emotional well-being.[87]

Unintentional Injury

In 2012, the SVMC service area experienced 224 unintentional injuries leading to death. This total accounted for 3.6% of deaths within the service area, a percentage slightly higher than that experienced in Los Angeles County (3.5%) and lower than that experienced in California (4.4%). In particular, ZIP codes 90011-South Los Angeles (7.0), 90005-Koreatown (6.6), 90007-South Los Angeles (6.4) had the highest rates within the SVMC service area.

Teens' Perception of Injury

In 2012, the number of teens who received threats of violence or physical harm from their peers was higher in the SVMC service area (17.2%) than in Los Angeles County (14.7%) and California (16.2%). Likewise, the percentage of teens in SPA 4-Metro (21.5%) who received threats was also higher than the county and state reports.

In the SVMC service area (20.9%) of teens feared being attacked at school, higher than in Los Angeles County (17.1%) and California (14.3%). SPA 6-South had the highest percentage of teens that feared being attacked at school (22.8%).

Stakeholder Input

Stakeholders highlighted the fact that the community is impacted by domestic violence because it is often underreported for fear of negative interpersonal, economic and legal repercussions, particularly among families with undocumented family members. Stakeholders observed that domestic violence is becoming more prevalent among younger residents, and explained there are a lack of community education around healthy relationships and very few safe spaces for victims given the very dense population in the service area.

Street violence continues to be a concern in the service area, and stakeholders noted that gangs particularly target young people. This is a particular concern because there is a current strained relationship with law enforcement.

Conclusion

This survey of secondary data combined with stakeholder insights pertaining to morbidity, mortality and the social determinants of health in the Saint Vincent Medical Center service area reveals the impact of several key underlying factors on all of the health needs identified in the CHNA process. These underlying factors include: poverty; homelessness and housing insecurity; limitations on healthy behaviors imposed by the built environment; barriers to health care access stemming from cultural and linguistic differences between patients and providers combined with an increasingly complex health insurance system; gaps in linkage and continuity of care; and, a need for nutrition, disease process and chronic disease maintenance education. In addition, this survey illustrates the magnitude and severity of poor health outcomes in the SVMC service area compared to benchmarks (Los Angeles County or California). Such comparison reveals that the service area has a higher diabetes prevalence, higher poor mental health rates and associated substance abuse rates, lower birthweights, higher sexually transmitted disease rates and higher obesity rates than found in the County or the State. These data have been collected here in order to inform the SVMC Community Benefits Plan. The Plan will take into account the findings of this report as well as the community assets and existing programs that, with investment, can make the greatest impact on the health needs of the service area.

Appendix F—Prioritization Survey

2016 Metro CHNA Prioritization Survey

The Center for Nonprofit Management (CNM) is conducting the 2016 Community Health Needs Assessment (CHNA) for the California Hospital Medical Center, Good Samaritan Hospital, and Saint Vincent Medical Center and we need your help.

CNM talked to a variety of individuals from the community to obtain their input on important local and regional health issues, gaining valuable insights about communities served by the three hospitals. After reviewing this input, in conjunction with a range of health indicators from public and private data sources, the CNM evaluation team developed the following list of prominent health needs and drivers. Please note the health needs and drivers are listed in alphabetical order, and NOT by order of importance.

We now need your input to help prioritize these identified health needs and drivers and determine which in your opinion represent the areas of greatest need. The following confidential survey should take about 10 minutes to complete. When considering your responses, please keep your specific service area and community in mind. If you believe some pertinent issues in your community are not included in the survey, please let us know about these in the final section of the survey.

Please refer to the Community Health Needs Assessment Prioritization Criteria Scale when completing this survey. (In the interest of space, this scale is not included on each page of the survey.)

The results from this survey will inform the hospitals in developing strategies for their Community Benefits Plans.

Thank you very much for your time and assistance!

Please contact Maura Harrington at mharrington@cnmsocal.org with any questions about this survey. Or if you have technical issues, please contact Gigi Nang at gnang@cnmsocal.org.

The following Health Needs Profile section reports on key health needs indicators for the three hospitals' service areas. The Health Needs Profiles are designed to provide a quick look at health drivers and outcomes in the combined service areas of the Metro Hospital Collaborative. The introductory tables in Section A summarize data that can be found in detail in Section B.

Section B – In-depth Analysis

Access to Care (Health Care, Dental Care, and Preventive Health Care)

About Access to Health Care

Access to health care directly impacts the physical, social, and mental health status of patients. Further, the prevention of disease and disability, the detection and treatment of health conditions, quality of life, preventable death and life expectancy for individuals are all directly impacted by access to health care.[88]

Along with access to health care, following preventive practices such as having a regular source of care and timely physical and medical tests is important. Adequate, regular primary care can prevent the development of health problems and maintain positive health conditions.

Community input

In focus groups and interviews, stakeholders discussed the particular barriers to care faced by the large undocumented community in the service area. Stakeholders explained that fear of deportation discourages individuals from seeking health care, an issue compounded by the fact that the county is reducing the number of programs that offer care to undocumented residents.

The linguistic and cultural diversity of the service area presents particular challenges with respect to access to and utilization of care. One stakeholder explained that there may be up to 50 different languages spoken in the service area. Therefore, residents may experience frustration or intimidation when clinics and hospitals lack staff with whom they can communicate. Furthermore, the resident population lacks access to health care that is culturally appropriate. Stakeholders expressed a need for more resources that form a bridge between American medical culture and the health care cultures of the residents in the area: simply translating the language is insufficient, and evidence-based practices that work with patients from the dominant American culture do not always translate to patients from other cultures.

With respect to health care benefits and insurance, many stakeholders explained that the process of enrolling in services can be very confusing and overwhelming, and therefore eligible individuals and families delay and stall out in the registration process. Often, clients do not have easy access to the internet, or encounter challenges in navigating the internet sites where they can most readily access enrollment information, either because the sites are complex or because they have been poorly translated into the user's language. Furthermore, because of the complexity of the process, sick individuals may wait to apply for health care benefits while hoping their health will improve. Due to this delay, residents may not have access to benefits when health care is most needed.

Employment represents another challenge for many individuals seeking health care. Stakeholders expressed that their service area population often do not receive paid time off to go to the doctors. Because clinic hours are open during typical business hours only (8am to 5pm), residents find it difficult to access health care outside of work hours.

Finally, a specific area of concern with respect to health care access was the availability and accessibility of prenatal, maternal and child care, specifically for Latinas and African American women in the service area.

Alcohol and Substance Abuse

About alcohol and substance abuse

Substance abuse (defined as use of alcohol, tobacco, prescription or illicit substances) has a major impact on individuals, families and communities. Substance abuse is considered both a driver of poor health outcomes and an outcome in and of itself. Substance use and abuse are key determinants of a number of downstream additional poor health outcomes. The effects of substance abuse contribute significantly to costly social, physical, mental, and public health problems, including teenage pregnancy, HIV/AIDS, STDs, domestic violence, child abuse, motor vehicle accidents (unintentional injuries), physical fights, crime, homicide, and suicide. [89] Heavy alcohol consumption is an important determinant of future health needs, including cirrhosis, cancers, and untreated mental and behavioral health needs.

Drivers of individual and population substance use and abuse outcomes include gender, race and ethnicity, age, income level, educational attainment and sexual orientation. Substance abuse is also strongly influenced by interpersonal, household, and community dynamics including access to alcohol and drugs.

Tobacco use is known to cause cancer, heart disease, lung disease (such as emphysema, bronchitis, and chronic airway obstruction), premature birth, low birth weight, stillbirth, and infant death.[90] Additionally, secondhand smoke has been known to cause heart disease and lung cancer in adults and severe asthma attacks, respiratory infections, ear infections, and sudden infant death syndrome (SIDS) in infants and children.[91] Smokeless tobacco use such as chewing tobacco can also cause a variety of oral health problems, like cancer of the mouth and gums, tooth loss, and periodontitis. In addition, cigar smoking may cause cancer of the larynx, mouth, esophagus, and lung.[92]

Heavy alcohol consumption is an important determinant of future health needs, including cirrhosis, cancers, and untreated mental and behavioral health needs. In addition to considerable health implications, substance abuse has been a major focal point in discussions about social values: people argue over whether substance abuse is a disease with genetic and biological foundations or a matter of personal choice.[93]

Community input

Stakeholders identified the homeless as a population with a great need for alcohol and substance use services, particularly because homeless individuals cannot enter transitional housing if they are dealing with substance use issues.

Access to alcohol and substance use programs is a challenge in the service area because the community in general does not know where to go to seek treatment and beds are limited in inpatient facilities. Moreover, the high cost of treatment makes it out of reach for most residents; specific populations, including transgender individuals, lack welcoming and responsive substance abuse and alcohol treatment facilities, and the long wait list for low-cost treatment discourages potential patients.

Finally, stakeholders indicated that cultural shifts, including the increasing acceptance of vaping and marijuana smoking, are influencing access to, and use of, drugs and alcohol by teenagers.

Cancer

About Cancer

Cancer is the second leading cause of death in the United States, claiming the lives of more than half a million Americans every year[94]. In 2009, cancer incidence rates per 100,000 persons indicate that the three most common cancers among men in the United States are prostate cancer (137.7), lung cancer (64.3), and colorectal cancer (42.5). Among women, the leading causes of cancer deaths are breast cancer (123.1), lung cancer (54.1), and colorectal cancer (37.1).[95] Research has shown that early detection through regular cancer screenings can help reduce the number of new cancer cases and, ultimately, deaths.[96] Research has also shown that cancer is associated with certain diseases and behaviors including obesity, tobacco, alcohol, certain chemicals, some viruses and bacteria, a family history of cancer, poor diet, and lack of physical activity.[97]

Associated drivers and risk factors

A primary method of preventing cancer is screening for cervical, colorectal, and breast cancers[98]. The most common risk factors for cancer include growing older, obesity, tobacco, alcohol, sunlight exposure, certain chemicals, some viruses and bacteria, family history of cancer, poor diet, and lack of physical activity[99].

Community input

Stakeholders observed that there may be a lack of knowledge in the community about the causes of cancer and ways that individuals can reduce their likelihood of developing cancers through various activities. Stakeholders pointed out that unfortunately, however, a number of contextual factors in the community contribute to cancer incidence, including lack of access to healthy food and poor air quality.

Stakeholders observed that they see less successful linkage to care and continuity in care—specifically for cancer--among low-income populations, populations that do not speak English, and populations with cultural backgrounds that differ from the norms in the health care environment. Additionally, the LGBT community experiences unique challenges in accessing cancer screenings and care. Stakeholders recognize a need for greater cultural competency among care providers.

While gains made in coverage (through ACA, Medicaid) may have positively impacted individuals' ability to access screenings for prostate, breast and cervical cancer, providers have not seen an increase in clients' utilization of these screenings. Stakeholders explained this may be due to cutbacks in services or long waitlists for screenings that discourage patients from following up. Alternatively, it may be because patients don't know if/that their insurance covers screenings and cancer treatment. Additionally, stakeholders have observed a lack of community education around cancer screenings, and some stigma around screening providers like Planned Parenthood, that may be discouraging people from accessing preventive care.

Cardiovascular Disease (including Hypertension and Cholesterol)

About cardiovascular disease–Why is it important?

Cardiovascular disease—also called heart disease and coronary heart disease—includes several health conditions related to plaque buildup in the walls of the arteries, or atherosclerosis. As plaque builds up, the arteries narrow, restricting blood flow and creating the risk of heart attack. Currently, more than one in three adults (81.1 million) in the United States lives with one or more types of cardiovascular disease. In addition to being one of the leading causes of death in the United States, heart disease results in serious illness and disability, decreased quality of life, and hundreds of billions of dollars in economic loss every year.[1]

Cardiovascular disease encompasses and/or is closely linked to a number of health conditions that include arrhythmia, atrial fibrillation, cardiac arrest, cardiac rehab, cardiomyopathy, cardiovascular conditions in childhood, high cholesterol, congenital heart defects, diabetes, heart attack, heart failure, high blood pressure, HIV, heavy alcohol consumption, metabolic syndrome, obesity, pericarditis, peripheral artery disease (PAD), and stroke.[2]

Associated drivers and risk factors

The leading risk factors for heart disease are high blood pressure, high cholesterol, smoking, diabetes, poor diet, physical inactivity, and overweight and obesity. Cardiovascular disease is closely linked with and can often lead to stroke.[3]

Community input

Stakeholders called for efforts to expand education around the underlying causes of cardiovascular disease (diet, lack of physical exercise), subpopulations at higher risk (Latina women, young Black males) and the disease process (slowly cumulative over time, manageable through diet and exercise). At the same time, community members discussed the influence of culture and tradition on diet which may influence cardiovascular disease risk. Stakeholders recommended the implementation of health education and outreach campaigns via Spanish and Korean television and radio stations

Stakeholders observed that the built environment in the Metro communities serves as a constraint on dietary choices. For example, there are very few outlets selling affordable healthy ingredients when compared to the number of fast food outlets and liquor stores. Additionally, lifestyle factors including long, stressful workdays make it difficult to allocate time for cooking dinner or engaging in exercise.

Multiple factors in addition to a lack of time limit residents' engagement in physical activity. Principally, the environment in their communities. Fear of violence in the community, lack of safe green space, lack of affordable/free indoor recreational facilities as well as the high incidence of pedestrian injury discourage people from exercising in the community.

Cultural and Linguistic Barriers

About Cultural and Linguistic Barriers

According to the National Standards for Culturally and Linguistically Appropriate Services, culture is defined in terms of racial, ethnic and linguistic groups, as well as geographical, religious and spiritual, biological and sociological characteristics[100]. With the Institute of Medicine's publication of Unequal Treatment in 2003, culturally and linguistically appropriate services gained recognition as an important way to help address the persistent disparities faced by our nation's diverse communities. There have also been rapid changes in demographic trends in the U.S. in the last decade. Additionally, national accreditation standards for professional licensure in the fields of medicine and nursing, and health care policies, such as the Affordable Care Act, have also helped to underscore the importance of cultural and linguistic competency as part of high quality health care and services[101].

Community Input

Stakeholders discussed a need for greater understanding among the health care community of the ways in which gender dynamics and social roles in non-majority cultures impact relationships between health care providers and patients, as well as the implementation of health care recommendations beyond the doctor visit. For example, among many new immigrant families, gender role norms dictate that the male is dominant in the family; this can complicate health behavior recommendations for women if the provider is not cognizant of the impact gender role norms might have on a woman's ability to treat a personal health issue or an issue affecting her child.

Diabetes

About diabetes

Diabetes affects an estimated 23.6 million people and is the seventh leading cause of death in the United States. Diabetes lowers life expectancy by up to 15 years, increases the risk of heart disease by two to four times, and is the leading cause of kidney failure, lower-limb amputations, and adult-onset blindness.[1] A diabetes diagnosis can indicate an unhealthy lifestyle—a risk factor for further health issues—and is also linked to obesity.

Given the steady rise in the number of people with diabetes, and the earlier onset of Type 2 diabetes, there is growing concern about substantial increases in diabetes-related complications and their potential to impact and overwhelm the health care system. There is a clear need to take advantage of recent discoveries about the individual and societal benefits of improved diabetes management and prevention by bringing life-saving findings into wider practice, and complementing those strategies with efforts in primary prevention among those at risk for developing diabetes.[2]

In addition, evidence is emerging that diabetes is associated with other co-morbidities, including cognitive impairment, incontinence, fracture risk, and cancer risk and prognosis.[3]

Associated drivers

Factors associated with diabetes include being overweight, having high blood pressure, high cholesterol, high blood sugar (or glucose), physical inactivity, smoking, unhealthy eating, age, race, gender, and having a family history of diabetes.[4]

Community input

As with cardiovascular disease, diet is a principal determinant of diabetes. Diet is shaped by both the food environment (what is available for purchase in a community) and cultural practices. The service area is home to many cultural communities. Stakeholders called for the implementation of outreach and education efforts that illustrate strategies for healthier diets that reflect residents' cultural backgrounds. Additionally, stakeholders acknowledged that residents' access to healthy food is limited by cost, and acknowledged a need for affordable fruits and vegetables. Moreover, stakeholders observed that clients in the service lack an understanding of the diabetes disease process. Stakeholders have called for greater education around the relationship between diet and diabetes, as well as diabetes co-morbidities.

Stakeholders acknowledged that the costs of diabetes medication are prohibitive for lower-income residents, particularly the undocumented and uninsured populations. Additionally, individuals experiencing homelessness and housing instability face challenges in maintaining diabetes care because they do not have access to refrigeration for their medications.

Food Insecurity

About Food Insecurity

According to the United States Department of Agriculture, food insecurity is explicitly defined as a household-level economic and social condition of limited or uncertain access to adequate food[102]. The defining characteristic of very low food security is that, at times during the year, the food intake of household members is reduced and their normal eating patterns are disrupted because the household lacks money and other resources for food.[103]

Healthy Behavior (includes Physical Activity)

About Healthy Behaviors

The Nutrition and Weight Status objectives for Healthy People 2020 reflect strong science supporting the health benefits of eating a healthful diet and maintaining a healthy body weight. The objectives also emphasize that efforts to change diet and weight should address individual behaviors, as well as the policies and environments that support these behaviors in settings such as schools, worksites, health care organizations, and communities. The goal of promoting healthful diets and healthy weight encompasses increasing household food security and eliminating hunger[104].

Community Input

One focus group identified that Latinos are particularly impacted by poor health behaviors. They listed that their current diet does not provide as much nutrition as it could, and that the community would benefit from more information, more nutritional education, and more knowledge about where to buy affordable healthy foods in the community. One woman explained that she has been taking advantage of the Clinica de Control de Ninos, an organization that helped her understand what her children should be eating to be healthy. They also explained that Leichty Middle school provides parent classes, nutrition and cardiovascular classes for parents, as well as child care. The school also brings in mobile dental care clinics."

Stakeholders explained that time constraints, costs of healthy food and medical care, and easy access to cheap, unhealthy food, contribute to the poor eating behaviors. However, there is an observed growing interest in healthy foods and fitness, reflected in the growing popularity of farmers' markets and Zumba studios.

Homelessness

About Homelessness

A homeless individual is defined as "an individual who lacks housing (without regard to whether the individual is a member of a family), including an individual whose primary residence during the night is a supervised public or private facility (e.g., shelters) that provides temporary living accommodations, and an individual who is a resident in transitional housing." More than 20 percent of the nation's homeless population is now living in California, an estimated 115,738 people. More than 43,000 of them live in Los Angeles County—the largest concentration in the United States [105][2].

Associated drivers and risk factors

Housing instability is a primary driver of homelessness. Housing instability among poor families is the result of multiple overlapping factors ranging from number of income-earning adults in the home, education level of income-earning adults in the home, health of family members, domestic violence exposure, substance use patterns and access to social support and health care.[106] Although Los Angeles is home to the largest health and social services system available to homeless people, given the size of the very poor and homeless population, it faces significant challenges to provide cost effective integrated care for those facing housing instability.[107]

Community input

Stakeholders associated homelessness in the service area with lack of affordable housing and poverty. They have observed that the only consistent source of care for the homeless population is emergency (911) service, which puts a burden on emergency services. Because the homeless population suffers disproportionately with mental health concerns, the reliance on emergency services fails to meet this long term health care need. The high cost of living puts an undue burden on low-income families that spend a large proportion of their incomes on rent (vs. greater investment in healthy food or recreation). Stakeholders have also noted an increase in the homeless population and a lack of shelters. Homeless families face unique challenges in accessing education and health care, and there are insufficient social service providers in place to connect these families with homeless services. In focus groups, stakeholders noted as well that veterans are an ever increasing proportion of the homeless population.

Mental Health

About mental health

Mental illness is a common cause of disability. Untreated disorders may leave individuals at risk for substance abuse, self-destructive behavior, and suicide. In 2010, suicide was the tenth leading cause of death among Americans of all ages, and the second leading cause of death among people between the ages of 25 and 34.[1] An estimated 11 attempted suicides occur per every suicide death.

Research shows that more than 90% of those who die by suicide suffer from depression or other mental disorders, or a substance-abuse disorder (often in combination with other mental disorders).[2] Among adults, mental disorders are common, with approximately one-quarter of adults being diagnosable for one or more disorders.[3] Mental disorders are associated not only with suicide, but also with chronic diseases, a family history of mental illness, age, substance abuse, and life-event stresses.[4]

Interventions to prevent suicide include therapy, medication, and programs that focus on both suicide risk and mental or substance-abuse disorders. Another intervention is improving primary care providers' ability to recognize and treat suicide risk factors, given the research indicating that older adults and women who die by suicide are likely to have seen a primary care provider in the year before their death.[5]

Associated drivers and risk factors

Mental health is associated with many other health factors, including poverty, heavy alcohol consumption, and unemployment. Chronic diseases such as cardiovascular disease, diabetes, and obesity are also associated with mental health disorders such as depression and suicide.[6]

Community input

Stakeholders emphasized that stigma around mental health/illness--especially among communities of color--serves as an obstacle to accessing care. In some cases, individuals fear that they might lose their jobs if their employers learn they are seeking metal health care.

Stakeholders observed that mental health practitioners lack competency in providing effective mental health care to seniors, those who speak languages other than English, those with diverse cultural backgrounds. Additionally, cultural healers and indigenous religions and practices that may provide effective mental health support are not valued or leveraged in mental health care.

Finally, stakeholders addressed a severe shortage of mental health providers for a community with a high need for mental health care. For example, there is only one suicide responding team (PET team) for SPA 4. Overall, stakeholders identified a long waiting list for mental health services and an overreliance on interns in mental health facilities. There are particularly few services available to language minority clients and undocumented clients. Finally, funding for mental health service screening and delivery is limited.

Obesity/Overweight

About obesity/overweight

Obesity, a condition in which a person has an abnormally high and unhealthy proportion of body fat, has risen to epidemic levels in the United States; 68 percent of adults age 20 years and older are overweight or obese.[108] Excess weight is a significant national problem and indicates an unhealthy lifestyle that influences further health issues.

Obesity reduces life expectancy and causes devastating and costly health problems, increasing the risk of coronary heart disease, stroke, high blood pressure, diabetes, and a number of other chronic diseases. Findings suggest that obesity also increases the risks for cancers of the esophagus, breast (postmenopausal), endometrium, colon and rectum, kidney, pancreas, thyroid, gallbladder, and possibly other cancer types.[109] Obesity is associated with factors including poverty, inadequate fruit/vegetable consumption, breastfeeding, and lack of access to grocery stores, parks, and open space.

Associated drivers and risk factors

Obesity is associated with factors such as poverty, inadequate consumption of fruits and vegetables, physical inactivity, and lack of access to grocery stores, parks, and open space. Obesity increases the risk of coronary heart disease, stroke, high blood pressure, diabetes, and a number of other chronic diseases. The condition also increases the risks of cancers of the esophagus, breast (postmenopausal), endometrium, colon and rectum, kidney, pancreas, thyroid, gallbladder, and possibly other cancer types.[110]

Community input

Stakeholders related the high rates of obesity and being overweight to a lack of physical activity, poor diet, and health literacy. Most young people in the service area do not engage in physical education at schools and stay inside after school because of concerns about safety in their communities. The easy availability of fast foods and packaged foods, compared to the lack of access to healthy fruits and vegetables and time for meal preparation leads families to consume more high-calorie and unhealthy food. Finally, health care providers recognize that there is a lack of awareness of the severity and importance of obesity as a precursor to other diseases. Stakeholders called for policies in schools and organizations that enforce the provision of healthy snacks and lunches.

About Oral Health

Dental care is a relevant health need because engaging in preventive behaviors decreases the likelihood of developing future oral health and related health problems. In addition, oral diseases such as cavities and oral cancer cause pain and disability for many Americans.[111] Behaviors that may lead to poor oral health include tobacco use, excessive alcohol consumption, and poor dietary choices. Barriers that prevent or limit a person's use of preventive intervention and treatments for oral health include limited access to and availability of dental services, a lack of awareness of the need, cost, and fear of dental procedures. Social factors associated with poor dental health include lower levels or lack of education, having a disability, and other health conditions such as diabetes.[112]

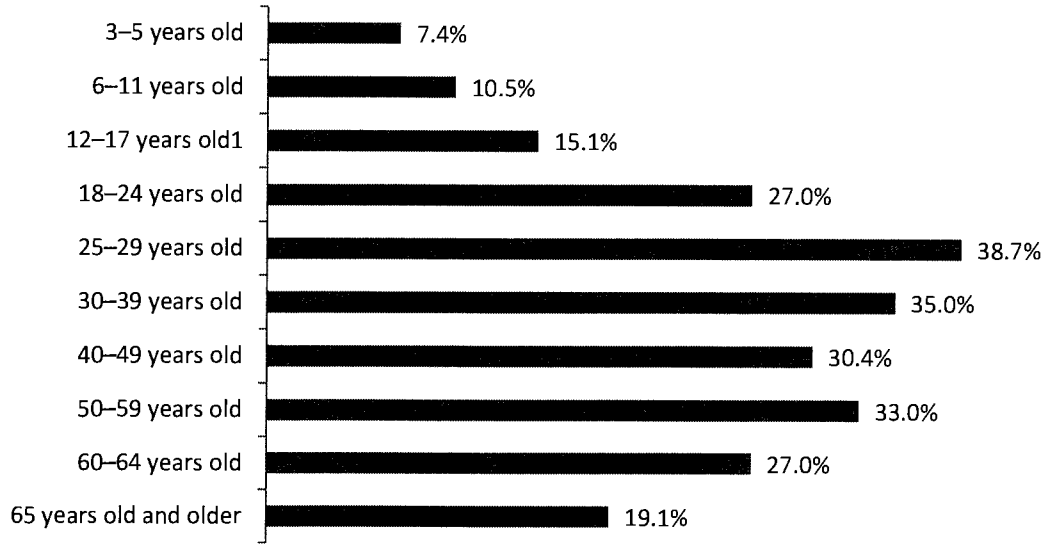
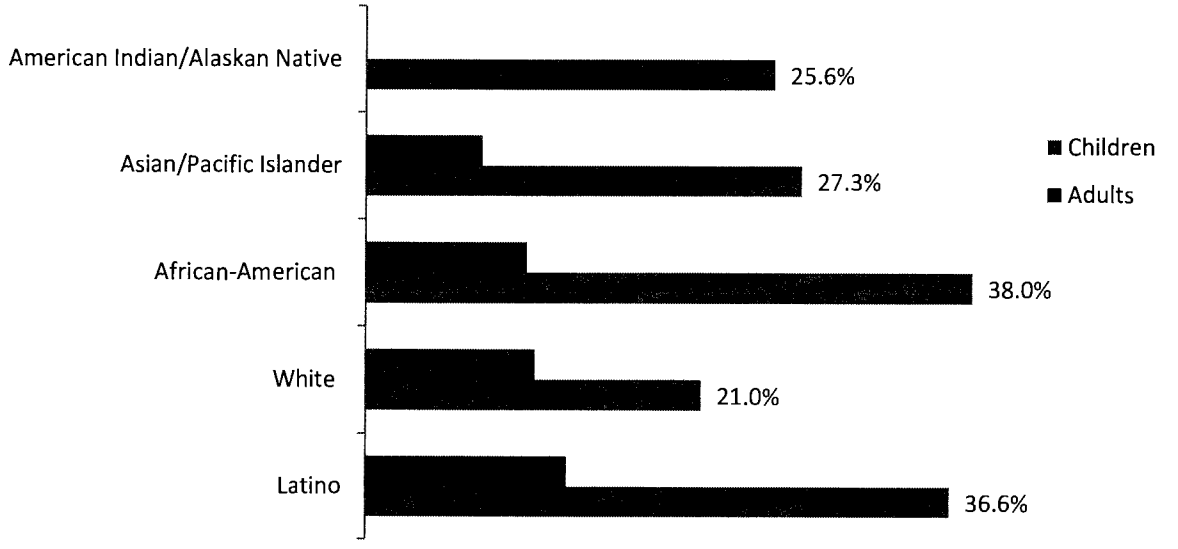
Unable to Afford Dental Care by Age



Unable to Afford Dental Care by Ethnicity



Associated drivers and risk factors

Poor oral health can be prevented by decreasing sugar intake and increasing healthy eating habits to prevent tooth decay and premature tooth loss; consuming more fruits and vegetables to protect against oral cancer; smoking cessation; decreased alcohol consumption to reduce the risk of oral cancers, periodontal disease, and tooth loss; using protective gear when playing sports; and living in a safe physical environment.[113] In addition, oral health conditions such as periodontal (gum) disease have been linked to diabetes, heart disease, stroke, and premature, low-weight births.[114]

Community input

Stakeholders explained that the separation between oral care and medical care both in terms of policy (health insurance coverage, permitted "sick time" off at work) and health literacy has a detrimental impact

Cost of services and insurance coverage are barriers to oral care. Stakeholders explained that dental care costs are prohibitive for those who lack insurance, and that dental services are often not covered for those who are insured. Additionally, dental care providers are very selective in the types of insurance they will accept, and they often don't take Medi-Cal because of Medi-Cal's historically low reimbursement rates.

Stakeholders reported that the high costs of dental care are compounded by high rates of dental fraud in the service area. Patients receive recommendations for unnecessary, expensive procedures that are not medically indicated. Additionally, stakeholders observed that some health care providers offer Care Credit packages to non-English speaking customers who most likely do not understand the terms explained in English in the Care Credit materials.

The service area lacks sufficient oral care resources for subpopulations including the elderly and indigent, children, and the homeless.

Poverty (Includes Housing Instability and Food Insecurity)

About Poverty, Housing Instability, and Food Insecurity

Housing instability among poor families is the result of multiple overlapping factors ranging from a number of income-earning adults in the home, education level of income-earning adults in the home, health of family members, domestic violence exposure, substance use patterns and access to social support and health care.[115] Families and individuals are much more likely to become unstably housed or homeless if they are shouldering a high housing cost burden, typically thought of housing costs that exceed 30% of monthly income.

According to the United States Department of Agriculture, food insecurity is explicitly defined as a household-level economic and social condition of limited or uncertain access to adequate food[116]. The defining characteristic of very low food security is that, at times during the year, the food intake of household members is reduced and their normal eating patterns are disrupted because the household lacks money and other resources for food.[117]

Sexually Transmitted Diseases

About communicable diseases including sexually transmitted diseases (STDs)

Sexually transmitted diseases (STDs) refer to more than 25 infectious organisms that are transmitted primarily through sexual activity. STD prevention is an essential primary care strategy for improving reproductive health. Despite the burdens, costs, and complications—and their being preventable to a certain extent—STDs remain a significant public health problem in the United States, greatly under-recognized by the public, policymakers, and health care professionals. STDs have the potential to cause many harmful, often irreversible clinical complications, including having an impact on reproductive health, fetal and perinatal health problems and cancer, and the transmission of HIV. The spread of STDs is directly affected by social, economic, and behavioral factors. Many studies document the association of substance abuse with STDs. The introduction of illicit substances into communities often can alter sexual behavior drastically in high-risk sexual networks, leading to the spread of STDs.[118]

Adolescents ages 15 to 24 account for nearly half of the 20 million new cases of STDs each year in the United States. Today, four in 10 sexually active teen girls in the United States have had an STD with the potential to cause infertility and even death. Regular screenings are critical, as STDs often have no obvious signs or physical symptoms. Also, certain racial and ethnic groups (mainly African-American, Hispanic/Latino, and American Indian/Alaska Native populations) have high rates of STDs compared with Whites. Race and ethnicity in the United States are correlated with other determinants of health status such as poverty, limited access to health care, fewer attempts to get medical treatment, and living in communities with high rates of STDs.[119]

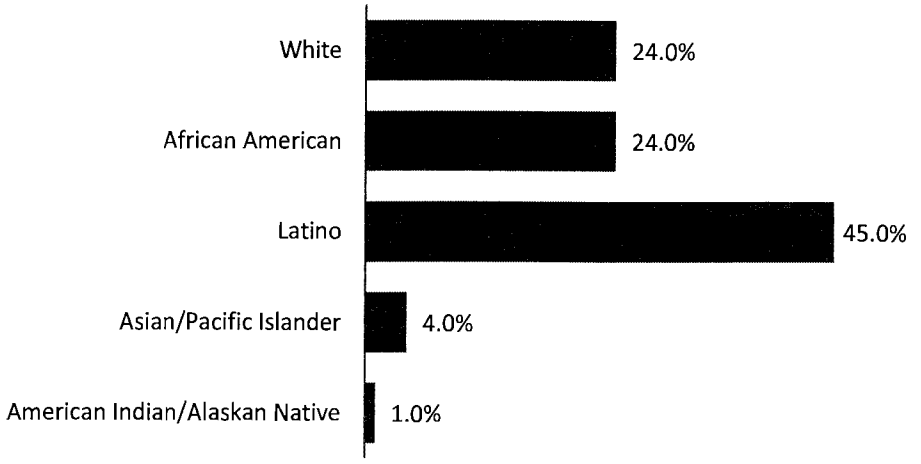
HIV Diagnoses by Race/Ethnicity, 2013



Data source: 2014 Annual HIV/STD Surveillance Report
Data year: 2013
Source geography: County

Associated drivers and risk factors

Different ethnicities see different patterns of HIV infection. The largest proportion of HIV diagnoses reported in 2013 in Los Angeles County occurred among Latinos (45%), and almost half of Stage 3 diagnoses in 2013 occurred among Latinos. HIV diagnosis rates also increased among Asian males by nearly 20% from 2010-2012[120]. Other sexually transmitted diseases including chlamydia and gonorrhea can increase the spread of HIV through various biological mechanisms.[121]

The spread of STDs is directly affected by social, economic, and behavioral factors. Obstacles to STD prevention include access to and provision of care, willingness to seek care, and social norms regarding sex and sexuality. Among certain vulnerable populations, a historical experience with segregation and discrimination exacerbates the influence of these factors. Many studies document the association of substance abuse with STDs. The introduction of illicit substances into communities often can alter sexual behavior drastically in high-risk sexual networks, leading to the spread of STDs.[122]

Community input

Stakeholders stated that there are a growing number of community members with tuberculosis. Many tuberculosis patients do not seek treatment early on, accelerating the transmission of the disease to others.

Transportation

About Transportation

Transportation barriers are often cited as barriers to healthcare access. Transportation barriers can lead to rescheduled or missed appointments, delayed care, and missed or delayed medication use. These consequences may cause poorer management of chronic illness and thus poorer health outcomes. However, the significance of these barriers is uncertain based on existing literature due to wide variability in both study populations and transportation barrier measures[123].

Community Input

Public transportation functions as a barrier to care for residents because of cost and extended travel times, particularly when assigned health care providers are very distant from residents' homes or workplaces.

Additionally, the elderly and the disabled face challenges in accessing transportation to health care providers as well as to healthy food outlets.

Violence/Injury/Safety

About Violence, Injury and Safety

Injuries can result from many unintentional or intentional events including motor vehicle accidents, falls, job-related accidents, gun shot and blast wounds and sports injuries. Common diagnoses include brain injury, spinal cord injury, amputation, anoxia, and muscular-skeletal injury[124]. Injuries affect everyone, regardless of age, gender, ethnicity, or economic status[125]. Although injuries are often unavoidable, there are steps that can be taken to lessen the consequences of injuries, including wearing seat belts, violence prevention education, ignition interlock and in-car breathalyzers to prevent drunk driving, pro-active job site safety precautions and regular physical activity[126].

Community input

Stakeholders highlighted the fact that the community is impacted by domestic violence because it is often underreported for fear of negative interpersonal, economic and legal repercussions, particularly among families with undocumented family members. Stakeholders observed that domestic violence is becoming more prevalent among younger residents, and explained there are a lack of community education around healthy relationships and very few safe spaces for victims given the very dense population in the service area.

Street violence continues to be a concern in the service area, and stakeholders noted that gangs particularly target young people. This is a particular concern because there is a current strained relationship with law enforcement.

Title 11, California Code of Regulations, § 999.5(d)(5)(B)

A description of all charity care provided in the last five years by each health facility that is a subject of the agreement or transaction

The costs of charity care for the last five years by facility are as follows:

St Francis Medical Center	Cost of Charity
FY2018	$ 8,727,203
FY2017	$ 7,598,575
FY2016	$ 11,033,912
FY2015	$ 13,510,492
FY2014	$ 16,028,855
Total	$ 56,899,037

St Vincent Medical Center	Cost of Charity
FY2018	$ 1,098,614
FY2017	$ 1,531,408
FY2016	$ 683,592
FY2015	$ 55,238
FY2014	$ 139,642
Total	$ 3,508,493

Seton Medical Center	Cost of Charity
FY2018	$ 935,405
FY2017	$ 617,322
FY2016	$ 836,632
FY2015	$ 853,474
FY2014	$ 2,051,846
Total	$ 5,294,678

Charity care costs are determined by identifying qualifying patients according to the Financial Assistance Policy, attached to this Section 999.5(d)(5)(B) as Exhibit 1. The general ledger captures the charges for each patient identified as a charity care patient. The aggregate charges for these patients are multiplied by the cost-to-charge ratio and totaled for all patients.

As reflected in the tables included above, charity care costs have generally been declining since closure of the BlueMountain Transaction due to a reduction in the number of uninsured patients following implementation of the Affordable Care Act ("ACA"). Specifically, as a result of implementation of ACA in California, more than 5 million individuals obtained health care coverage through either Medi-Cal expansion or the introduction of Covered California health plans. See California Hospital Association Letter to the Office of the Attorney General dated September 8, 2018, attached to this Section 999.5(d)(5)(B) as Exhibit 2. Over 90% of Californians are now insured, with the uninsured rate falling from somewhere between 15-17% in 2013 to 7% in 2017. The uninsured rate in Los Angeles County was 9% in 2017 while the uninsured rate in San Mateo County (where Seton Medical Center and Seton Medical Center Coastside are located) was just over 4%. Largely as a result of decreases in the number of uninsured, uncompensated care costs across California general acute care hospitals decreased 64% from $5.1 billion in 2013 to $1.6 billion in 2017.[5]

Notwithstanding the impact of ACA, charity care at St. Vincent started to increase in FY 2016 and has continued to increase since then. This increase is attributable to a material change in the patient volume and mix at St. Vincent Medical Center, after the hospital's emergency department became designated as a 9-1-1 receiving hospital by the Emergency Medical Services Agency effective April 1, 2015. After this designation, St. Vincent's emergency department began receiving adult patients by ambulance through the 9-1-1 system. This resulted in a steady increase in the volume of emergency department visits at St. Vincent along with a corresponding increase in charity care. Notwithstanding the increase in charity care at St. Vincent Medical Center, since FY 2018, charity care costs at these three hospitals in the aggregate has decreased by approximately 40% from $18,220,343 in 2014 to $10,761,222 in FY 2018. This trend is not unique to these hospitals.

We include below a more detailed listing of charity care expense by hospital for FY 2014-2018, breaking out costs by category of patient (i.e., inpatient, ED, and non-ED outpatient) with volumes attributable to each category of services.

FINANCIAL ASSISTANCE POLICY

I. Purpose

The purpose of this Financial Assistance Policy ("Policy") is to ensure that Verity's hospitals provide health care services and equal access to emergency and other medically necessary diagnostic and therapeutic treatments, regardless of the financial status of the patient and in a manner that respects the dignity of patients and their families.

II. Policy

Verity Health System of California, Inc. ("Verity"), through its affiliate hospitals referenced in Attachment A ("Hospital" or if plural "Hospitals") will provide Charity Care or Discounted Payment to eligible low income, uninsured and underinsured patients who meet certain eligibility requirements, as set forth herein. This Policy is adopted in accordance with the mission of Verity's hospitals, the requirements set forth in California Health & Safety Code, the pertinent conditions issued by the state of California Attorney General on December 3, 2015 as reflected in the "Restructuring and Support Agreement", and Section 501(r) of the Internal Revenue Code, together with applicable regulations implementing such requirements. This policy does not apply to physicians or other medical providers, including emergency room physicians, anesthesiologists, radiologists, hospitalists, pathologists, etc., whose services are not included in a Hospital's bill. (See Attachment E for list of Hospital departments covered by this policy).

III. Definitions

"Amount Generally Billed" (AGB) means the maximum charge that may be billed to a patient who is eligible for Financial Assistance under this Financial Assistance Policy. No patient eligible for Financial Assistance will be charged more than the AGB for the eligible service(s) (as defined below) provided to the patient. Verity Health calculates the AGB on a facility-by-facility basis using the "look-back" method by multiplying the "Gross Charges" (as defined below) for any Eligible Services that it provides by AGB percentages, which are based upon past claims allowed under Medicare fee for services (FFS). Verity Health's AGB percentage and how the AGB percentages were calculated are reflected in the AGB Calculation methodology, Attachment B1.

"Charity Care" means Medically Necessary Services provided at no cost to a Financially Qualified Patient whose income is at or below 200 percent of the Federal Poverty Level.

"Discounted Payment" means that a Hospital shall limit the expected payment for Medically Necessary Services to a discounted rate for Financially Qualified Patients whose income is between 201 and 350 percent, inclusive, of the Federal Poverty Level.

"Essential Living Expenses" means expenses for any of the following: rent or house payment and maintenance; food and household supplies; utilities and telephone; clothing; medical and dental payments; insurance; school or child care; child or spousal support; transportation and auto expenses, including insurance, gas and repairs; installment payments; laundry and cleaning; and other extraordinary expenses.

"Federal Poverty Level" (FPL) is defined by the poverty guidelines updated annually in the Federal Register by the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services. Current Verity FPL guidelines are reflected in Attachment B2. The Verity Revenue Cycle Management ("RCM") Department will update the FPL guidelines annually upon publication of updated poverty guidelines in the Federal Register.

"Financially Qualified Patient" means a patient who is both of the following: 1. A patient who is a Self-Pay Patient, as defined in Section III.L, or a Patient with High Medical Costs, as defined in Section III.J; and

2. A patient whose family income does not exceed 350 percent of the Federal Poverty Level.

"Gross Charges" are total charges on a patient account for all services provided.

"Hospital" when capitalized means one of the Verity Affiliated Hospitals listed on Attachment A.

"Income" includes, but is not limited to, wages, salaries, Social Security payments, public assistance, unemployment and workers' compensation, veterans' benefits, child support, alimony, pensions, regular insurance and annuity payments, income from estates and trusts, assets drawn down as withdrawals from a bank, sale of property or liquid assets and one-time insurance or compensation payments.

"Medically Necessary Service" means a service or treatment provided or billed by a hospital that is either an emergency service or is otherwise necessary to treat or diagnose a patient and could adversely affect the patient's condition, illness or injury if it were omitted, and the service or treatment is not considered an elective or cosmetic surgery service or treatment.

"Patient with High Medical Costs" means a patient who meets all of the following requirements:

1. A patient with third party coverage (i.e., not a Self-Pay Patient);
2. A patient whose family income does not exceed 350 percent of the Federal Poverty Level; and,
3. A patient whose annual out-of-pocket costs incurred by the individual at the Hospital exceed 10 percent of the patient's family income in the prior 12 months; or whose annual out-of-pocket medical expenses exceed 10 percent of the patient's family income, if the patient provides documentation of the patient's medical expenses paid by the patient or the patient's family in the prior 12 months.

"Patient's Family" means the following:

    a. Spouse;
    b. Domestic partner, as defined in Section 297 of the California Family Code; and
    c. Dependent children under 21 years of age, whether living at home or not.
2. For persons under 18 years of age:
    a. Parent;
    b. Caretaker relative; and
    c. Other children under 21 years of age of the parent or caretaker relative.

"Self-Pay Patient" means a patient who does not have third-party coverage from a health insurer, health care service plan, Medicare or Medi-Cal, and whose injury is not a compensable injury for purposes of workers' compensation, automobile insurance or other insurance, as determined and documented by the Hospital.

IV. Eligibility

A. Eligibility Service

1. Charity Care and Discounted Payment Programs apply to all types of hospital services provided at or billed by the Hospital, including but not limited to Medically Necessary Services, subject to the terms of this Section. Services not provided at or billed by the Hospitals are not covered by this Policy.
2. Non-Medically Necessary Services are not covered by this Policy unless the service or procedure has been ordered by a physician who is a member of the medical staff of a Verity Affiliated Hospital.
3. Emergency physicians who provide emergency medical services in a Hospital that provides emergency care are required by law to provide discounts to Self-Pay Patients and Patients with High Medical Costs who are at or below 350 percent of the Federal Poverty Level. Patients must contact the emergency physician's billing office for further information regarding financial assistance programs for emergency services.

B. General Eligibility

1. Eligibility for the Charity Care or Discounted Payment under the Policy will be determined on an individual basis and evaluated on an assessment of the patient's and/or family's need, financial resources, and all financial obligations including medical expenses.
2. Charity Care and Discounted Payment will be provided to Financially Qualified Patients without regard to race, religion, color, creed, age, gender, sexual orientation, national origin or immigration status.
3. Monetary assets reviewed for purposes of determining eligibility for Charity Care or Discounted Payment shall not include retirement or deferred-compensation plans qualified under the Internal Revenue Code or nonqualified deferred compensation plans. Also, the first $10,000 of the patient's monetary assets shall not be counted in determining eligibility, nor shall 50 percent of a patient's monetary assets over the first $10,000 be counted in determining eligibility. The Hospital may, nonetheless, require waivers or releases from the patient or the patient's family authorizing the Hospital to obtain verifying information from financial or commercial institutions, or other entities that hold or maintain the monetary assets.
4. Before a patient may be eligible for the Charity Care Program or the Discounted Payment Program, all available resources must first be applied, including, but not limited to, private health insurance (including coverage offered through the California Health Benefit Exchange), Medicare, Medi-Cal, the Healthy Families Program, the California Children's Services Program, or other state- or county-funded programs designed to provide health coverage.
5. Patients who are currently eligible for Medicaid in a state other than California will qualify for a 100 percent financial discount under this Policy, in the event that Hospital has not enrolled the patient's state's Medicaid plan.

6. Determining eligibility for the Charity Care Program and Discounted Payment Program requires the full cooperation of patients and their families, who must provide and complete required documents and information on a timely basis. If a person requesting a determination of eligibility under this Policy fails to provide information that is reasonable and necessary for the Hospital to determine eligibility, the Hospital may consider that failure in making its determination.

C. Specific Eligibility. Patients may apply for financial assistance under Section C.1 or Section C.2, as described below.

1. Discounted Payment Program. Both Self-Pay Patients and Patients with High Medical Costs are eligible to apply for the Discounted Payment Program.

a) Self-Pay Patients: For Self-Pay Patients whose family income is between 201 percent and 350 percent, inclusive, of the Federal Poverty Level, each Hospital shall limit the expected payment for services provided by the Hospital to the lesser of (A) the AGB, as calculated by the Hospital using the "Look-back Method" as defined in applicable regulations implementing Section 501(r) of the Internal Revenue Code, or (B) the highest amount of payment the Hospital would expect, in good faith, to receive for providing services from Medicare, Medi-Cal, the Healthy Families Program, or another government-sponsored health program of health benefits in which the Hospital participates. See Attachment B1 for the Amount Generally Billed and Attachment B2 for the Financial Assistance Sliding Scale.

b) Patients with High Medical Costs: For Patients with High Medical Costs whose documented income is between 201 percent and 350 percent, inclusive, of the Federal Poverty Level, each Hospital shall limit the expected payment for services provided by the Hospital to the amount of payment to the lesser of (i) the balance after any insurance payments are applied or (ii) the rate calculated in accordance with Section C.1.a above.

(1) After determining the applicable rate, the Hospital will apply the sliding scale set forth in Attachment B2.

(2) Patients seeking Discounted Payment must make reasonable efforts to provide the Hospital with documentation of income (limited to recent pay stubs or income tax returns) and health benefits coverage. Patients with High Medical Costs also must provide documentation of medical expenses paid by such patients or their families in the prior 12 months.

(3) Following a determination that an individual is eligible for the Discounted Payment Program, an individual may not be charged more than the amounts generally billed to individuals who have insurance covering emergency or other medically necessary care.

2. Charity Care Program. Hospitals will provide Charity Care (i.e., care at no cost) to Financially Qualified Patients who are unable to pay, provided that the patient's income is at or below 200 percent of the Federal Poverty Level. Patients seeking Charity Care must make reasonable efforts to provide the Hospital with documentation of income, monetary assets (including all liquid and non-liquid assets owned, less liabilities and claims against such assets) and health benefits coverage.

V. Application Procedures

A. Notice Requirements

1. Posted Notice. Each Hospital will post information about the availability of Charity Care and Discounted Payment under this Policy, as set forth on Attachment C, at all locations with high patient volume, including admission and registration areas, emergency departments, outpatient settings and PFS offices.

2. Written Notice. Each Hospital will provide patients with written notice containing information about availability of the Charity Care and Discounted Payment Programs, including information about eligibility, as well as contact information for a hospital employee or office from which the person may obtain additional information about this Policy. This written notice also will be provided to patients who receive emergency and/or outpatient care and who may be billed for that care, but were not admitted as an inpatient. The notice shall be available in English and other languages, as determined by each Hospital's primary service area and in accordance with applicable federal and state law. Each Hospital shall retain written acknowledgement of a patient's receipt of such notice.

   a) This Policy, the Application Form and a Plain Language Summary of this Policy shall be made widely available on websites and by informing members of the community served by each Hospital as required by the regulations under Section 501(r) of the Code.

3. Billing Statements. Hospital billing statements will communicate the availability of government sponsored programs and Charity Care and Discounted Payment Programs for eligible patients and for any patient who has not provided proof of coverage at the time of billing. Each Hospital shall provide the following information with a patient's bill:

   a) A statement of charges for services provided by the Hospital;

   b) A request that the patient inform the Hospital if the patient has health insurance coverage, including Medicare, Healthy Families, Medi-Cal or other coverage;

   c) A statement indicating how patients may obtain applications for government sponsored coverage and that the Hospital will provide these applications; and

d) The name and telephone number of the Hospital representative from whom, or office from which, a patient may obtain information about the Hospital's financial assistance policies, and how to apply for assistance under those policies, along with the direct website address for the facility webpage which contains links to copies of this policy, a plain language summary of this policy and the application form for financial assistance under this policy.

B. Identification of Financially Qualified Patients.

1. Financial counselors or Health Benefits Resource Center (HBRC) staff at each Hospital will make reasonable efforts to obtain from the patient or his/her representative information about whether private or public health insurance or sponsorship may fully or partially cover the charges for care rendered by the Hospital to the patient.

2. Financial counselors and HBRC staff at each Hospital will assist patients in understanding and applying for government sponsored programs and for Charity Care or Discounted Payment.

3. Each Hospital will provide information about and applications for Medi-Cal, the Healthy Families Program, the California Health Benefit Exchange, and other state- or county-funded health coverage to uninsured patients in registration areas as well as in the PFS Department office. If the patient does not indicate coverage by a third-party payer or requests a discounted price, then each Hospital will provide the patient with an application for applicable government programs. Such applications will be made available prior to discharge (if the patient has been admitted) or to patients receiving emergency or outpatient care.

4. If a patient applies, or has a pending application, for another health coverage program at the same time s/he applies for Charity Care or Discount Payment under this Policy, neither application shall preclude eligibility for the other program.

C. Application Process.

1. A Financial Assistance Application, set forth on Attachment D, is provided to patients to begin assessment of a patient's qualifications for the Charity Care or Discounted Payment under this Policy. Patients may be referred to the Charity Care or Discounted Payment Programs by the patient's physician, family members, community or religious groups, social services or hospital personnel.

2. Eligibility for the Charity Care and Discounted Payment Programs requires the patient, the patient's guarantor or the patient's legal representative to provide accurate information and use reasonable efforts to provide all documentation necessary. If a person requesting a determination of eligibility under this Policy fails to provide the information that is reasonable and necessary for the Hospital to determine eligibility, the Hospital may consider that failure in making its determination.

3. Incomplete Financial Applications will not be denied due to insufficient information until the patient has been sent a letter requesting identifying the additional and/or missing information that is needed to complete the application, and stating a deadline after which the application will be denied if the requested information has not been received. Such deadline must constitute a reasonable period of time after that notice within which to provide the referenced information.

4. If the patient fails to complete an application or the application contains insufficient information and the patient does not comply with requests as noted in Sections V.C.2 and V.C.3, the Hospital will utilize a risk assessment scoring software algorithm to determine presumptive eligibility prior to sending patient account to pre-collection status. The software will be an industry-wide accepted product that has been validated by external audit.

5. Hospital HBRC staff will provide presumptive Medi-Cal eligibility for financial assistance applicants during hospital visit.

6. Eligibility for Charity Care or Discounted Payment is valid by individual admission. Eligible patients will be requested to attest to absence of changes in financial status for subsequent admissions or to furnish updated information reflecting changes in financial status, as applicable.

7. Documents used for verification of a patient's financial resources and household income in the Financial Assistance Application may include, but are not limited to:

    a) Copies of current paystubs, Social Security, disability or unemployment checks or award letters;

    b) A copy of any Medi-Cal Decision/Denial Notice;

    c) Household income of the patient and, if the patient is 18 years or older, the patient's spouse or domestic partner, and any dependent children under age 21, whether living at home or not; if the patient is under age 18, consider income of the patient, the patient's parents, guardians or caretaker relatives, and other children under age 21, whether living at home or not.

8. Collection activities will be suspended upon receipt of an application (including an incomplete application) and remain suspended during the eligibility determination process.

9. Hospitals will keep all applications and supporting documentation confidential in accordance with the VHS Policy/Procedure 11.0, Compliance with the Health Insurance Portability and Accountability Act of 1996.

10. Eligibility for Charity Care or Discounted Payment may be determined at any time by the Hospital as information on the patient's eligibility becomes available. Applications received after 240 days from the first patient bill must be approved by the Vice President for Revenue Cycle.

D. Notification of Charity Care or Discounted Payment Determination.

1. The Hospital's HBRC Department will provide an eligibility determination to the patient or his/her representative within thirty (30) days after receipt of a completed Financial Assistance Application, including all required documentation.

2. A notification regarding the Charity Care or Discounted Payment determination will be mailed to the patient or his/her representative. This notification will identify the amount due from the patient and the amount of payment discount, if any, applied to the patient's account.

3. A patient or his/her representative(s) may appeal a determination by providing additional information, such as income verification or an explanation of extenuating circumstances, to the HBRC Director within thirty (30) days of notification of the Hospital's determination. The Hospital HBRC Director will review and decide all appeals. The patient or his/her representative will be notified of the outcome.

E. Extended Payment Plan.

1. A patient who qualifies for Discounted Payment shall cooperate with the Hospital in establishing an Extended Payment plan. If the Hospital and the patient cannot agree on an Extended Payment plan, then the Hospital shall create a Reasonable Payment plan. Such payment plan shall be interest-free and negotiable and will be based upEon the chart, below.

Account Balance	Number of Months
Less than $250	4 months
$250.01-$500	6 months
$500.01-$1,000	10 months
$1,000.01-$2,500	12 months
$2,500.01-$5000	24 months
Greater than $5,000.01	36 months

2. A patient who qualifies for a Discounted Payment must make good-faith efforts to honor the payment plan. Patients are responsible for communicating to the PFS Department any time an agreed upon payment plan may be broken.

3. A Hospital may declare an Extended Payment plan (including a Reasonable Payment plan) inoperative if the patient fails to make all consecutive payments during a 90-day period. Before declaring an Extended Payment plan inoperative, the Hospital, collection agency or assignee shall make a reasonable attempt to contact the patient by telephone, give written notice that the Extended Payment plan may become inoperative, and inform the patient that s/he may renegotiate the terms of the payment plan.

4. Any variation in or deviation from an agreed upon payment plan must be approved by the VHS Vice President for Revenue Cycle.

VI. Collection Practices for Financially Qualified Patients

A. Each Hospital will maintain a written billing and collections policy stating when and under whose authority patient debt is advanced for collection, and whether the collection activity is conducted by the Hospital, an affiliate or a subsidiary of the Hospital, or by an external collection agency. Each Hospital will make copies of such billing and collections policy available to the public without charge by calling the Hospital's Customer Service Department, or by viewing your Verity Hospital's website information by visiting www.Verity.org.

B. Any written agreement between a Hospital and an agency that collects such Hospital's receivables shall require the affiliate, subsidiary or external collection agency of the Hospital that collects the debt to comply with the Hospital's definition and application of a Reasonable Payment plan, as set forth in this Policy. Furthermore, collections agencies used by Hospitals must follow fair debt and collection practices according to this Policy, and must further act in a manner that treats individuals with dignity, respect and compassion.

C. Prior to commencing collection activities, each Hospital or its assignee shall provide the patient with written notice containing (1) a statement that nonprofit credit counseling services may be available in the area, and (2) a plain language summary of the patient's rights pursuant to California Health and Safety Code Section 127430(a), with the following summary being sufficient if it appears in substantially the following form:

1. State and federal law require debt collectors to treat you fairly and prohibit debt collectors from making false statements or threats of violence, using obscene or profane language, and making improper communications with third parties, including your employer. Except under unusual circumstances, debt collectors may not contact you before 8:00 a.m. or after 9:00 p.m. In general, a debt collector may not give information about your debt to another person, other than your attorney or spouse. A debt collector may contact another person to confirm your location or to enforce a judgment. For more information about debt collection activities, you may contact the Federal Trade Commission by telephone at 1-877-FTC-HELP (382-4357) or online at www.ftc.gov.

2. Each Hospital also will provide this notice to patients along with any document indicating that the commencement of collection activities may occur.

D. No Hospital will pursue legal action for nonpayment of bills against any household where the primary wage earner(s) is unemployed or there are not significant income sources.

E. Financially Qualified Patients meeting an agreed upon monthly payment plan will not be assigned to a collection agency or reported to credit bureaus.

F. Each Hospital expects its external collection agencies to receive approval from the VHS Vice President for Revenue Cycle before pursuing any legal action against an individual who meets the requirements for a Financially Qualified Patient under this Policy.

G. Each Hospital or its assignee that is an affiliate or subsidiary of the Hospital will not, in dealing with patients eligible under any portion of this Policy, use wage garnishments or liens on primary residences as a means of collecting unpaid hospital bills of Financially Qualified Patients.

H. In dealing with patients eligible under any portion of this Policy, a collection agency or other assignee that is not a subsidiary or affiliate of a Hospital shall not use a wage garnishment (except by court order) or notice or conduct a sale of the patient's primary residence as means of collecting unpaid hospital bills.

I. Neither Section VI.G nor Section VI.H of this Policy shall preclude a Hospital, a collection agency or other assignee from pursuing reimbursement or any enforcement remedy or remedies from third-party liability settlements, tortfeasors or other legally responsible parties.

J. If a patient is attempting to qualify for eligibility under the Charity Care Program or Discounted Payment Program and is attempting in good faith to settle an outstanding bill with a Hospital by negotiating an extended payment plan or by making regular partial payments of a reasonable amount, then the Hospital shall not send the unpaid bill to any collection agency or other assignee, unless that entity has agreed to comply with this Policy.

K. Neither a Hospital nor any Hospital assignee or collection agency will report adverse information to a consumer credit reporting agency or commence civil action against a Financially Qualified Patient under the Discounted Payment Program for nonpayment of any patient debt at any time prior to 150 days after the initial billing. This period shall be extended if the patient has a pending appeal for coverage of the services until a final determination of the appeal is made.

1. A Hospital will not engage in Extraordinary Collection Actions against any individual to obtain payment for care before the Hospital has made reasonable efforts, in accordance with this Policy and applicable law, to determine whether the individual is eligible for financial assistance under this Policy.

2. "Extraordinary Collections Actions" are any of the following actions in order to collect an amount due for care: (i) deferring or denying further care, (ii) reporting debt to a credit bureau, (iii) selling bad debt to a third party unless certain requirements are met, or (iv) any activity including legal or judicial process (such as filing suit, property liens, garnishment, etc.).

L. No information collected by any Hospital for the purpose of determining eligibility for Charity Care or Discounted Payment shall be used for collections activities. However, the Hospital, collection agency or assignee may use information obtained independently of the eligibility process for the Charity Care Program or the Discounted Payment Program.

AMOUNT GENERALLY BILLED CALCULATION

Verity Health System provides financial assistance and charity care to patients meeting the eligibility criteria outlined in the Financial Assistance Policy (FAP). After the patient's account(s) is reduced by the financial assistance adjustment based on the policy, the patient/guarantor is responsible for the remainder of their outstanding liability which shall be no more than the amounts generally billed (AGB) to individuals who have insurance for emergency or medically necessary care. Verity Health System determines AGB by utilizing the "look-back" method. The AGB percentage is calculated by using claims allowed by Medicare fee for services (FFS) with a discharge date from the previous fiscal year (July – June). For these claims, the sum of all allowable reimbursement amounts is divided by the associated gross charges. The AGB percentage is applicable as of July 1st of each year.

SUBJECT: California Hospital Association Proposal – Request of Attorney General's Office for Modification of Charity Care Cost Conditions

Dear Melanie:

The California Hospital Association (CHA) has convened a group of hospitals to develop a proposal that provides flexibility to the Attorney General (AG) when determining the Charity Care conditions. The represented group numbers nine individual hospitals and two systems for a total of 32 hospitals. This unique group of hospitals has undergone a sale or transfer of not-for-profit facilities during a window of time experiencing tremendous change that has affected the entire healthcare industry and California in particular.

The AG's Office determines charity care requirements as part of a set of conditions established during the sale and transfer of not-for-profit hospitals. Those conditions state that if a hospital does not incur the specified cost in a specified amount, then the hospital must pay cash equal to any "deficiency" to a non-profit public benefit entity.

CHA believes that the required level of charity care should not be based on a period of time prior to the implementation of the coverage provisions of the Affordable Care Act (ACA). The implementation of the ACA in California resulted in the expansion of Medi-Cal and the development of the Covered California Marketplace, resulting in new coverage for more than 5 million individuals. CHA is proposing a modification of the approach to determining the charity care requirement that would consider the changing environment, yet preserves the State's interest in maintaining a commensurate level of charity care to the local communities served by hospitals.

Under the ACA, California has achieved the following:

- Over 5 million Californians have insurance as a result of the ACA — roughly a quarter of all Americans covered under the law.

- 91 percent of Californians are now insured. The uninsured rate in California fell from 17 percent in 2013 to a historic low of 8.5 percent in 2015.

Given the unforeseen impact of the ACA on charity care costs, the hospitals propose that the minimum charity care costs amount, as required by the AG's Office, be modified in the following manner:

1. Using Hospital Annual Financial Disclosure reports from the Office of Statewide Health Planning and Development (OSHPD) for fiscal years ended 2013 through 2015 (the latest information available), calculate the charity care costs for each fiscal year for all not-for-profit hospitals within the community served by the hospital. Costs are determined by applying the charity care write-offs, multiplied by the hospital's cost-to-charge ratio.

2. Document the percentage change from 2013 to 2015 for these hospitals in the community and apply the percentage change to the AG specified charity care cost target to compute a community-wide reduction amount.

3. Deduct the reduction amount from the AG specified charity care cost target to determine a modified minimum charity cost target.

4. Below is an example:

AG Required Charity Cost Target (a)	Community-based Reduction Percentage (b)	Reduction Amount (a * b = c)	Modified Minimum Charity Cost Target (a+c)
$15,000,000	(40.0%)	($6,000,000)	$9,000,000

5. The modified minimum charity cost target would be applicable for a hospital's fiscal year ended in 2015 and future subsequent fiscal years would adhere to conditions pursuant to the Consent Letter between the AG's Office and the hospital.

This request for revision is consistent with the regulations at Title 11, Chapter 15, Section 999.5(h)(1), which state that an entity may request approval of any amendment of their terms and conditions of any agreement or transaction for which the AG has given consent or conditional consent, based solely on "a change in circumstances that could not have reasonably been foreseen at the time of the Attorney General's action."

The impact of the ACA on charity care costs is, most certainly, a "change in circumstances that could not have reasonably been foreseen at the time of the Attorney General's action." The spirit and intent of charity care at these hospitals has not changed, and the reasons for the originally imposed conditions remain valid. What has changed, however, is the number of patients for whom each of these hospitals can provide this charity care, and this change remains outside of the control of these providers. While this proposal relates to a finite group of hospitals, should unforeseen yet substantial changes occur in the shifting future of healthcare, this proposal may provide a starting point for the AG to contemplate the appropriate response.

The hospitals reiterate that they remain committed to providing a level of charity care and services to patients at levels responsive to the needs of their headier communities.

CHA appreciates the opportunity to work with the AG and staff to ensure those commitments are achieved. We would like to request a meeting with the AG's Office in early September to further discuss the proposal.

Sincerely,

Anne McLeod

Seton serves the North County/Coastal service area in which the U.S. Census counted a population of 284,838 in 2013. Fewer than one quarter (20%) of the residents in service area are under the age of 18, while one third (37%) are between the ages of 18 and 44. Fourteen percent are 65 years or older. The North County/Coastal service area cities have a diverse race/ethnic profile. The two largest racial subpopulations in the service area are White (41%) and Asian (39%). Across all racial groups, more than a quarter (26%) reported being of Hispanic/ Latino descent (the US Census Bureau does not consider Hispanic/ Latino to be a racial category). Data also indicate that nearly 8% of residents in the service area are living in poverty (100% of Federal Poverty Level, or FPL), similar to the proportion across San Mateo County as a whole. Nearly one in five North County/Coastal service area residents (19%) live below 200% of the FPL, and more than two in five (44%) households are overburdened by housing costs (i.e., housing costs exceed 30% of total household income).

Community Needs Assessment

In 2016, Seton Medical Center participated in the Community Health Needs Assessment (CHNA) conducted by the San Mateo County Community Benefits Coalition. The CHNA report and the plan to address those needs (Implementation Strategy Report) may be found on the hospital website: www.seton.verity.org

Seton Medical Center's Focus

Seton Medical Center acknowledges there are many pressing community needs. We have chosen to focus our efforts on activities that build upon the foundation set by our previous community benefit initiatives (serving the poor, minority populations, elderly and children). The activities Seton focused on during fiscal year 2018 fall into two reporting areas: Access to Care and Community Health Education. The programs and activities we support are based on the following:

- Serving the sick and those living in poverty who lack basic resources.
- Developing and implementing community-based programs targeted towards improving health and lifestyle behaviors and illness prevention.
- Promoting and sponsoring events that offer healthcare services and education to the community at large.
- Providing information and advocating for low-income, uninsured or underinsured people to gain access to medical insurance, government assistance programs, health care services and continuum of care.

For the purpose of this report, the activities Seton Medical Center prioritized in fiscal year 2017 will be reported and categorized by benefits for persons living in poverty and benefits for the broader community.

Benefits for Persons Living in Poverty

In fiscal year 2018, Seton provided more than $800K in community benefit activities. The activities that fall into this category intend to improve access to care for low-income individuals, the medically underserved and other vulnerable populations. These activities include providing health care services to the underinsured and uninsured community members, operating the Health Benefits Resource Center, and partnering with community programs that care for the homeless.

Health Benefits Resource Center

The Seton Medical Center Health Benefits Resource Center (HBRC) is a one-stop informational and referral service that advocates for those living in poverty. The center helps low-income individuals with health insurance enrollment assistance, CalFresh (food stamps) enrollment and reporting and linkage to additional community resources. Services are provided in English, Spanish and Vietnamese. In fiscal year 2018, the net cost for Seton to operate the program which provided health insurance enrollment assistance was $180,415.

Benefits for the Broader Community

Seton Medical Center supports a wide range of programs and activities that provide information and resources to improve the health and welfare of the broader community, providing more than $500,000 in community benefit activities in fiscal year 2018. Activities included presenting community health education classes, participating in community health fairs and screenings, providing health professions education, and partnerships with community organizations.

Community Health Education

In fiscal year 2018, individuals attended one of Seton's no - cost health education classes. The classes address a wide range of health topics including preventative care, hazmat, cardiovascular care, physical activity, nutrition, and more.

Support Groups

Seton Medical Center also provides a variety of support groups with a safe, healing environment where community members can gather together to cope with their illness or learn about an illness in support of a loved one. In fiscal year 2018, support groups met at Seton Medical Center, including Diabetes Support Group and Weight Loss Program.

Community Health Fairs and Screenings

Each year, Seton Medical Center is pleased to partner with and participate in community events and health fairs by providing health education information and screenings. Our community health team provided a variety of health screenings at multiple hospital events.

Partnerships with Community Organizations

Seton Medical Center believes in community-based collaboration and is committed to working with partners to build a healthier community. We work with the American Cancer Society, American Heart Association/American Stroke Association, Hep B Free San Mateo County, Stroke Awareness Foundation and many more organizations to achieve goals that are greater than what the hospital or organization can accomplish alone.

Seton Medical Center Community Benefit Strategy for Fiscal Years 2017- 2019

This report summarizes the plans for Seton Medical Center to sustain and develop new community benefit programs that address prioritized needs from the 2016 Community Health Needs Assessment (CHNA) conducted by Seton Medical Center and the San Mateo County Community Benefits Coalition. More details can be found in the 2016 Implementation Strategy Report posted to our website.

Target Area

Seton Medical Center's service area includes, but is not limited to, the cities of South San Francisco, Daly City, Colma, Brisbane, San Bruno, Pacifica, Montara, Moss Beach, Half Moon Bay and certain areas of San Francisco. Seton serves the North County/Coastal service area in which the U.S. Census counted a population of 284,838 in 2013.

Health Needs and How Priorities Were Established

Seton Medical Center (Seton) conducted a Community Health Needs Assessment (CHNA) in 2015-2016 to meet the federal requirements of the Patient Protection and Affordable Care Act (ACA), and to inform Seton's investments into the health of its service area in the northern and coastal regions of North San Mateo County (SMC). The CHNA was approv¬ed by Seton Medical Center's Board of Directors on June 14, 2016, and in accordance with federal requirements, it is widely available to the public on Seton's website at www.seton.verity.org.

Seton conducted the CHNA in partnership with the Healthy Community Collaborative of San Mateo County (HCC), which consists of representatives from nonprofit hospitals, the County Health Department and Human Services, public agencies, and community-based organizations. The HCC was formed to identify and address the shared health needs of the community. The goals of the 2016 CHNA were to provide insight into the health of the community, prioritize local health needs, and identify areas for improvement. Secondary data on health indicators in Seton's service area were analyzed along with the results of focus groups that were held with community members and health experts. An initial set of health needs were identified and then Seton's Community Benefit Advisory Council ranked each health need using multiple criteria, including:

1. Community's prioritization of the need (number of times ranked as top need by community respondents)

2. Expert's prioritization of the need (urgency of need in the eyes of Community Benefit Advisory Members)
3. Seton Medical Center's capacity to impact the need

Seton Medical Center Priority Health Needs

The Seton Medical Center Community Benefit Advisory Council reviewed the priorities and determined that the five listed below are of highest concern for North County resident.

1. Obesity/Diabetes (including fitness, nutrition)
2. Access & Delivery
3. Behavioral Health
4. Heart Disease & Stroke
5. Cancer

Obesity/Diabetes (including fitness, nutrition). There is a higher rate of diabetes among adults in the county compared to the HP2020 target. Blacks and low-income county residents disproportionately report having been diagnosed with diabetes. Diabetes is the eighth leading cause of death in the county. The rate of youth who are overweight in the North County/Coastal service area is higher in the county compared to California. Childhood obesity disproportionately affects Latino and Black children in the county. The percentage of county adults who exhibit healthy behaviors has dropped over time.

Access & Delivery. Latino residents and residents of "some other race" in the North County/Coastal service area are more likely to be uninsured than state residents. The proportion of county residents who report visiting a doctor for a routine checkup has been trending downward. Providers reported that more individuals are enrolled in health insurance, although they continue to use the ER or community clinics. Community members indicated that patients need help navigating the healthcare system.

Behavioral Health. The percentage of North County/Coastal service area adults who self-report excessive consumption of alcohol is higher than the state. In SMC, the percentage of adults who report mental and emotional problems is rising, and binge drinking among young adult males is trending up. In addition, suicide is one of the top 10 leading causes of death in the county. Community members expressed concern about a lack of resources, and youth focus group participants in South San Francisco indicated that substance abuse is a more pressing issue in their community than any other health need. The stigma associated with behavioral health continues to exist.

Heart Disease & Stroke. Mortality rates for heart disease and stroke in the North County/Coastal service area are higher than HP2020 targets. Diseases of the heart are the leading cause of death in the county, and stroke is the fourth leading cause of death. Rising percentages of county adults report high cholesterol.

Cancer. Rates of breast cancer incidence and prostate cancer incidence in the North County/Coastal service area are higher than the state. In addition, the rate of colorectal cancer incidence in the North County/Coastal service area is higher than the Healthy People 2020 (HP2020) target. Certain ethnic groups (i.e., Blacks and Whites) in the service area are most affected by cancer and have incidence rates that fail or equal the state or HP2020 target. Cancer is the second leading cause of death in the county.

St. Francis Medical Center (SFMC)
Community Benefit Programs FY14-FY18
Program Descriptions

Affordable Care Act Education
St. Francis Medical Center provided ACA education to the community in FY14 as many of the ACA provisions took effect Jan. 1, 2014.

Bet Tzedek Legal Support Services

Legal Support Services through the Right to Health Project were provided as a medical-legal partnership with the non-profit organization Bet Tzedek. Legal support services were provided at no cost to Health Benefits Resource Center clients who needed assistance or guidance on issues such as Landlord/Tenant Law, Kinship Care, and Power of Attorney for Health Care. Medical-legal partnerships recognize that social and legal factors can have a major impact on health outcomes, particularly for low-income families.

Children's Counseling Center School-Based Counselor

The Children's Counseling Center was established in 1984 in response to the lack of intervention and treatment services available for abused and neglected children in Southeast Los Angeles. The Center provides behavioral health services for children, adolescents and their parents that range from intervention and treatment for the victims of child abuse to comprehensive prevention education programs. In an effort to extend the Children's Counseling Center's reach and to improve access to counseling services for families in need, the school-based counselor was established to provide counseling and educational services on the campuses of four Daughters of Charity Schools and public schools within the SFMC service area. The school-based counselor addresses emotional and behavioral distress, focusing on the issues that affect students at school and at home. Through early intervention, the counselor can help to reduce a significant barrier to successful learning.

Health Benefits Resource Center
The Health Benefits Resource Center (HBRC) is a full-service, one-stop hub that effectively links individuals and families to health care and social services, as well as health care education and resources to meet essential needs. HBRC provides health benefits enrollment assistance, physician referral, and community education registration. On site collaboration with the LA County Department of Public Social Services enables SFMC to support eligible clients through the enrollment process into the Medi-Cal and CalFresh programs. HBRC is a certified Covered California enrollment entity.

Healthy Community Initiatives (HCI)
Healthy Community Initiatives (HCI) brings health screenings, immunizations, and health education directly to area schools, churches, businesses and community organizations via its HCI nurse, staff, collaborative partners and mobile unit. For individuals and families without access to primary care, HCI provides them with important preventive services and health care resources.

HCI - "Escape Fire" Community Screening/Panel Discussion on Health Care

"Escape Fire" was a documentary released in FY14 that provided a compelling look at the broken state of health care and what community leaders could do to transform it into a true system of prevention and healing. St. Francis Medical Center co-sponsored a community screening and panel discussion to build upon the ideas and issues set forth in the movie and to gain insights from some of the hospital's community experts.

Support Groups

Support Groups were offered by SFMC's Spiritual Care Services team, including the Gabriel Support Group (Sudden Infant Death Syndrome), Mothers of AIDS Patients, and Bereavement Support Group, in addition to post-traumatic spiritual counseling. Support groups facilitated emotional healing for patients and family members who were facing illness, working through recovery, or adapting to life changes following sickness, death, or traumatic experience. Financial assistance was also provided to community members in need of food, meals, transportation, fuel, and parking. When the Support Groups were discontinued in FY16, Spiritual Care's Support Services were continued and included as a separate community benefit line item beginning FY17.

Injury Prevention Program
St. Francis Medical Center dedicates a full-time Injury Prevention Coordinator to developing and coordinating trauma and injury prevention programs, representing SFMC at coalition meetings, and organizing school-based programs that engage and empower students to develop peer-to-peer teaching formats, such as You Tube videos. The Injury Prevention Coordinator also serves as the program director for Southern California Crossroads, one of SFMC's program partners for injury prevention.

Patient Transportation - Taxi Vouchers and SFMC Public Safety Van
Patient Transportation is provided to individuals without any means of transportation for outpatient care and treatment. This includes appointments for imaging services, radiation therapy, and physical therapy. Transportation is also arranged for individuals receiving inpatient behavioral health services at SFMC who may need transportation for court appearances or following discharge from the hospital. When the Patient Safety van was discontinued, Taxi Vouchers were continued and Bus Tokens were added to the community benefit report.

Casa de Esperanza
Casa de Esperanza provided temporary shelter, housing and support services to assist homeless families achieve stability and self-sufficiency and transition into safe homes. Families were referred by Catholic Charities of Long Beach and the Department of Health and Human Services Multi-Service Center in Long Beach. Casa de Esperanza housed up to four families at a time for up to five months. During their stay, families were required to meet regularly with the Casa Esperanza director, a Spiritual Care chaplain, for counseling and support sessions. The director provided employment counseling and linked families to social service agencies and community resources that helped to ensure that the heads of households were on track to transition successfully to a stable home environment within the five-month time frame. The program ended in FY14.

Footprints Shoe and Clothing Program
Footprints reached out to help disadvantaged children in the community. The program was created when it was discovered that children in surrounding neighborhoods were being turned away from school because they had no shoes. Children were also found to be wearing second-hand shoes and clothing that were in poor condition or ill-fitting. This impacted the children's self-esteem and self-confidence. Through Footprints, children and families received properly fitting new shoes, new clothing and school uniforms, toiletries and food items. The program concluded in FY14.

Vincentian Fund (Support Services)
In keeping with SFMC's commitment to meeting our patients' health care needs -- body, mind, and spirit -- many individuals are assisted each year through the Vincentian Fund, which provides resources outside of the clinical setting. Food, clothing, emergency housing, baby burials, and some transportation, medications, and medical equipment are made available to patients and families in need through the Vincentian Fund. Funding is provided through philanthropic support.

Vincentian Service Corps

The Vincentian Service Corps volunteer program places recent college graduates for a one-year period into organizations throughout the nation that provide services to the poor and underserved. SFMC partnered with the program from FY05 through FY14. Volunteers' training and interests were matched with needs throughout the medical center, and they were then assigned to clinical, community services, and ancillary services departments.

Community Health Clinics (uncompensated expense)

SFMC operated Community Health Clinics in Lynwood, Compton, Downey, and Huntington Park. The mission of these clinics was to bring primary health care services to children and families who had limited access to the main SFMC campus and essential health care services. The clinics provided general family practice and pediatric health care services. They also offered Child Health Disability Program (CHDP) Examinations and Immunizations (i.e., TB, Hepatitis B, polio, diphtheria, and hepatitis) for newborns and children up to 18 years old. The amount of uncompensated expense for clinic operations was reported as community benefit.

Emergency Department (uncompensated expense)

SFMC subsidizes its Emergency Department to help ensure that critical health care is available around the clock to the community. SFMC's Emergency Department, in conjunction with its Trauma Center, is especially crucial to the Southeast Los Angeles area, as Trauma and Emergency Services have closed at many surrounding hopsitals within the last decade. SFMC is a designated Paramedic Base Station. Its Emergency Department provides the coordination and direction of medical treatment for LA County pre-hospital care providers and first responders, including LA County Fire Departments within the service area.

Emergency/Trauma Services Stipends necessitated by community need
SFMC's Emergency/Trauma Center provides essential services to the community. To ensure that all critical services are available 24/4, stipends are provided to emergency/trauma physicians for on-call coverage. This expense was no longer included as community benefit after FY14, following further clarification of what programs/services counted as communty benefit.

California Health Foundation and Trust (CHFT) Pledge
Hospitals that benefit from the Hospital Provider Fee program pay a contribution to the CHFT. Hospitals that have a loss from the Provider Fee program are eligible to apply for CHFT grant funds. The CHFT helps ensure that hospitals pay and receive a fair share of funding. As a beneficiary of the Provider Fee program, SFMC contributes to the CHFT. SFMC began including the CHFT Pledge as a financial/in-kind donation in its community benefit report in FY16.

Spiritual Care Support Services

In addition to the daily support SFMC's Spiritual Care team provides to patients, it also extends support services through the provision of meals, grocery vouchers, transportation tokens and money for fuel and parking to community members in need. When Spiritual Care's support groups concluded in FY16 (which included the cost of support services), the cost of support services was reported as a separate line item beginning in FY17.

Brown Bag Lunches fo the Homeless
The Brown Bag Lunch Drive provided bagged lunches to homeless individuals in downtown Los Angeles. Bags were assembled by SFMC associates and included sandwiches, chips, nuts, cookies, bottled water, and fresh fruit. The majority of the lunch items were donated by employees. The cost of any water/food needed to complete the lunches and the cost to coordinate the program was included as community benefit. Lunches were delivered to Our Lady of Angels Church, the Cardinal Manning Center, and La Placita Church in Los Angeles for homeless individuals who received assistance through these centers.

Thanksgiving Food Baskets to Families in Need
Thanksgiving Food Baskets were prepared and donated each year to low income families who did not have the financial resources to celebrate the holiday with a traditional Thanksgiving meal. The baskets included a store gift card for a fresh turkey and food items for a full family dinner donated by employees. Beginning in FY17, SFMC transitioned to a Thanksgiving monetary collection to purchase grocery store gift cards for families. SFMC works with local schools and the hospital staff to identify families in need. Families are from local schools and clients/patients in SFMC's Health Benefits Resource Center, Healthy Community Initiatives, Children's Counseling Center, Pediatrics, Emergency Department, Patient Financial Services, and Spiritual Care Services. The cost of coordination is included as community benefit.

Christmas Toy Drive
The Christmas Toy Drive collects new toys, clothing, sports equipment and gift cards for children of families with limited resources. The drive is coordinated by SFMC Foundation. Donations are received from businesses, organizations, community members, and SFMC physicians and associates. Toys and gifts are given to families in the community, including patients and family members in SFMC's Pediatrics Unit and Children's Counseling Center, families identified through the hospital's Spiritual Care Services and Health Benefits Resource Center, Lynwood Unified School District families, children attending Daughters of Charity schools, and children in foster care.

Communities United to End Homelessness

SFMC provided financial donations to support LA County's plan to prevent and combat homelessness for 45,000 people across LA County, including women and children, veterans, seniors, fouster youth, and the disabled.

Southern California Crossroads (SFMC's Injury Prevention Program partner)
Collaborative partnerships have strengthened SFMC's ability to reach at-risk youth and young adults to prevent trauma and injury. The hospital joined efforts with Southern California Crossroads (Crossroads) to establish an education and work skills program in our community. Crossroads is a non-profit organization committed to assisting underprivileged individuals living in violence-plagued neighborhoods lead healthy, peaceful and productive lives through prevention, intervention, and re-entry into society. The program was organized by SFMC's Injury Prevention Coordinator, who also serves as the program director. Crossroads provides GED preparation, job training and placement, and support services, with the goal of helping young men and women ages 18 to 24 transform their lives and achieve positive, productive lifestyles. The program reaches out to the hospital's trauma patients who are victims of violence, ex-offenders and high school drop-outs, and other patients identified as "at risk." SFMC provides dedicated work space and facilities for the program in a nearby professional office building.

Baby-Friendly Breastfeeding Education and Support
In 2012, St. Francis Medical Center was awarded a three-year grant from First 5 LA to support its transition to become a Baby-Friendly designated hospital. Baby-Friendly hospitals are recognized for providing an "optimal level of care for breastfeeding mothers and their babies. On October 27, 2014, SFMC was awarded Baby-Friendly designation by Baby-Friendly USA, the U.S. authority for the implementation of the Baby-Friendly Hospital Initiative, a global program sponsored by the World Health Organization and the United Nations Children's Fund (UNICEF). The program's goal is to increase breastfeeding rates through education of health care providers and maternity patients and programs and practices that support exclusive breastfeeding. Breastfeeding supports the health and well-being of mothers and babies, with a demonstrated link to lower rates of illness and chronic conditions in babies and children.

Senior Dinners/Senior Luncheons (Senior Circle Wellness Program)
The Senior Circle Wellness Program offers activities and educational sessions that are tailored for seniors. Monthly dinners (now luncheons) on SFMC's main campus are for local senior citizens 55 years and older and offer nutritious and balanced meals and health education/presentations. The monthy events provide health education and socialization for older adults.

Senior Wellness Activities (Senior Circle Wellness Program)
Wellness programs throughout the year address health concerns specific to seniors. Programs include flu immunization clinics, health fairs, and health education sessions. In FY19, a new Living Well, Healthy Future program targeting seniors and brain health was initiatied.

Sidewalk CPR
As part of a county-wide recognition of National CPR Week and the hospital's efforts to reduce deaths from heart attacks, St. Francis Medical Center hosts "Sidewalk CPR" each year. Sessions provide instruction to community members on hands-only CPR. This technique is rapidly growing as a way to empower bystanders to save a life when someone suffers sudden cardiac arrest. Sidewal CPR gives a patient a much better chance of survival once responders arrive.

Welcome Baby

Welcome Baby offers personalized prenatal, post-partum, and hospital visits with a professionally trained Parent Coach, from pregnancy through the baby's first 9 months for families living within First 5 LA's Best Start Communities. Families residing outside of the Best Start Communities are eligible for the Welcome Baby hospital visit and up to three additional home visits, if needed. Available at no cost to all maternity patients, the Welcome Baby continuum of care also includes breastfeeding support from Welcome Baby staff (who are all Certified Lactation Educators), referrals to community resources, and an in-home visit by a registered nurse within the first week following mom and baby's discharge from the hospital. First 5 LA and partner hospitals work together to focus on health and wellness before a baby's birth and continuing through a child's first critical months. Using Parent Coaches, Welcome Baby addresses prenatal testing, home planning/safety, labor signs, breastfeeding, depression screening, family nutrition, observation for jaundice and hydration, infant assessments, and growth and development milestones. Through both prenatal and postpartum hospital and home-based visits, Parent Coaches develop a relationship with the families and provide education in a convenient and comfortable setting, and help to ensure parents are connected to appropriate health care services. SFMC is a partner hospital that works with First 5 LA and SHIELDS for Families.

COPE Health Scholars

The COPE Health Scholars Program provides training to young, bright, and motivated student health professionals from area colleges, universities, and trade schools. The program is provided by COPE Health Solutions at SFMC. The program builds and sustains a competent workforce that is committed to the care of the community and reflects the community's culture and demographics. The scholars gain valuable work experience as they support SFMC's patient care, ancillary, administrative, and support services. Students' duties include patient care support, data collection, presentation preparation, patient menu collection, and post discharge phone calls, among others. The program concluded in FY19.

Central Service Tech Course

The 18-week Central Service Technician Training Course prepared individuals to become certified central service technicians. Students included SFMC associates working toward advancing their careers; others were unemployed individuals affected by reductions in force at their workplace or who desired a change in career. The course provided important skills training for new careers in health care. The course conducted at SFMC was offered privately and taught by the manager of the SFMC Materials Management department. Students received weekly classroom instruction and course work on standard precautions, safety, disinfection, and sterilization procedures of supplies and equipment that support surgery, obstetrics, emergency services, and other patient care areas. SFMC provided the facility and offered opportunities for on-the-job volunteer service hours, a requisite for course completion and certification.

Paramedic Education

Paramedic Education is provided as part of the Emergency Department's pre-hospital care coordination. It is available to MICNs, RNs, paramedics, and Emergency Medical Technicians (EMT) throughout the community to facilitate coordinated care between health care professionals in the field and in the hospital. The education also helps to keep first responders up to date on evidence-based best practices and to ensure the consistent delivery of the highest standards of treatment across the health care continuum. Education includes Emergency Medical Services updates, field care audits, paramedic base station updates, and CPR review. Quarterly STEMI Receiving Center meetings on American College of Cardiology/American Heart Association (ACC/AHA) STEMI practice guidelines for first medical contact to device education and performance improvement reviews are also offered. The program affords health care first responders the opportunity to complete required education hours for license renewal. Collaborative partners include LA County Fire Department; LA City Fire Department; Downey Fire Department; Montebello Fire Department; Santa Fe Springs Fire Department; additional county and city fire departments and private paramedic and ambulance services coordinating the care of critically ill or injured patients in our service area.

CMEs (Continuing Medical Education offered to the community)

Some of SFMC's continuing medical education sessions and Medical Grand Rounds are extended to outside community health care providers. Topics in FY18 included Spiders, Bee Stings, Ants and Plants; Wound Care; Quality for Diabetes Complications; and Procalcitonin (PCT): Assisting in Patient Management. The cost to coordinate sessions that are available to outside health care providers is included as community benefit.

Clinical Affiliations
SFMC provides a clinical setting for nursing students enrolled in outside nursing school programs. Nursing students complete their clinical rotations on various SFMC nursing units as part of their training. Through SFMC's collaboration with accredited nursing schools, the hospital is helping to build a qualified future workforce, and for many students, the opportunity to care for patients within their own community.

Cash Donations
SFMC makes cash and in-kind donations to other non-profit organizations that promote health and wellness to the broader community within the hospital's service area.

Community Board & Organizational Memberships to Promote Community Health
Community Board Participation encompasses SFMC representation on boards and coalitions of community agencies and organizations. Through the ongoing collaboration of SFMC with organizations which share a commitment to meeting the community's health care needs and to addressing the issues that affect overall health and well-being, resources are strengthened and best practices are optimized, resulting in outreach programs with the greatest positive impact.

School/Student Tours - Introduction to Health Care Careers
St. Francis Medical Center coordinates tours for schools and community organizations that introduce students to a variety of health care careers. The tours give students a first-hand look at the functions of various departments and the roles of the doctors, nurses, and staff in each unit. Tour groups have included elementary school groups, high school health and safety classes, international medical students, law students studying medical-legal partnerships, girl and boy scout troops, and girls and boys clubs.

Community Events Supporting Health, Wellness, and Overcoming Barriers to Health
St. Francis Medical Center supports local community health fairs and health education events by providing health screenings such height/weight, blood pressure, and cholesterol; health education on various topics such as stroke prevention, diabetes management, and nutrition; and health insurance enrollment education and assistance.

Volunteer Services
The Volunteer Services Program delivers orientation, training, and supervision to volunteers who support SFMC's day-to-day operations. The program benefits student volunteers by introducing them to future health care careers and providing job skills training as they bring administrative and customer service support to the hospital. The program also helps students fulfill community service hours required for high school graduation. Adult and senior volunteers benefit from interpersonal interaction that supports their mental, emotional, and spiritual well-being while they contribute their talent and experience to various programs and departments. While imparting and improving customer service and support service skills, the Volunteer Services Program also enhances service delivery to patients, patients' families, visitors, and SFMC employees.

Naseau Reading Program
The Naseau Reading Program was a remedial reading program designed for elementary school students whose reading, spelling and comprehension skills were two or more levels below their current grade level. The after-school program provided one-on-one instruction to participants and accommodated 20-36 students per year. Instructors from surrounding private and public schools referred students to the program. The program's high level of individualized attention enabled children to dramatically improve their English language and reading skills, thus eliminating a significant obstacle to their development into self-sufficient, productive adults. The program concluded in FY14.

Community Benefit Planning & Reporting/Comm Ben Software/Comm Health Needs Assessment

Community Benefit Planning and Reporting includes staff time dedicated to planning and reporting the organization's community benefit programs and to facilitating the Community Health Needs Assessment and Implementation Plan. Lyon Software was used to track people served and program expenses for reporting purposes. The SFMC Community Health Needs Assessment is completed every three years and used as a basis for the development of community benefit programs that target priority community health needs.

Foundation Fund-Raising to Support Community Benefit Programs

Key SFMC Foundation staff are dedicated to securing funding for community benefit programs at St. Francis Medical Center. The Foundation submits grant applications, manages grant award dispursements and reporting, conducts fund-raising special events, and secures major gifts from corporations and individuals in support of community benefit programs.

Our Service Area

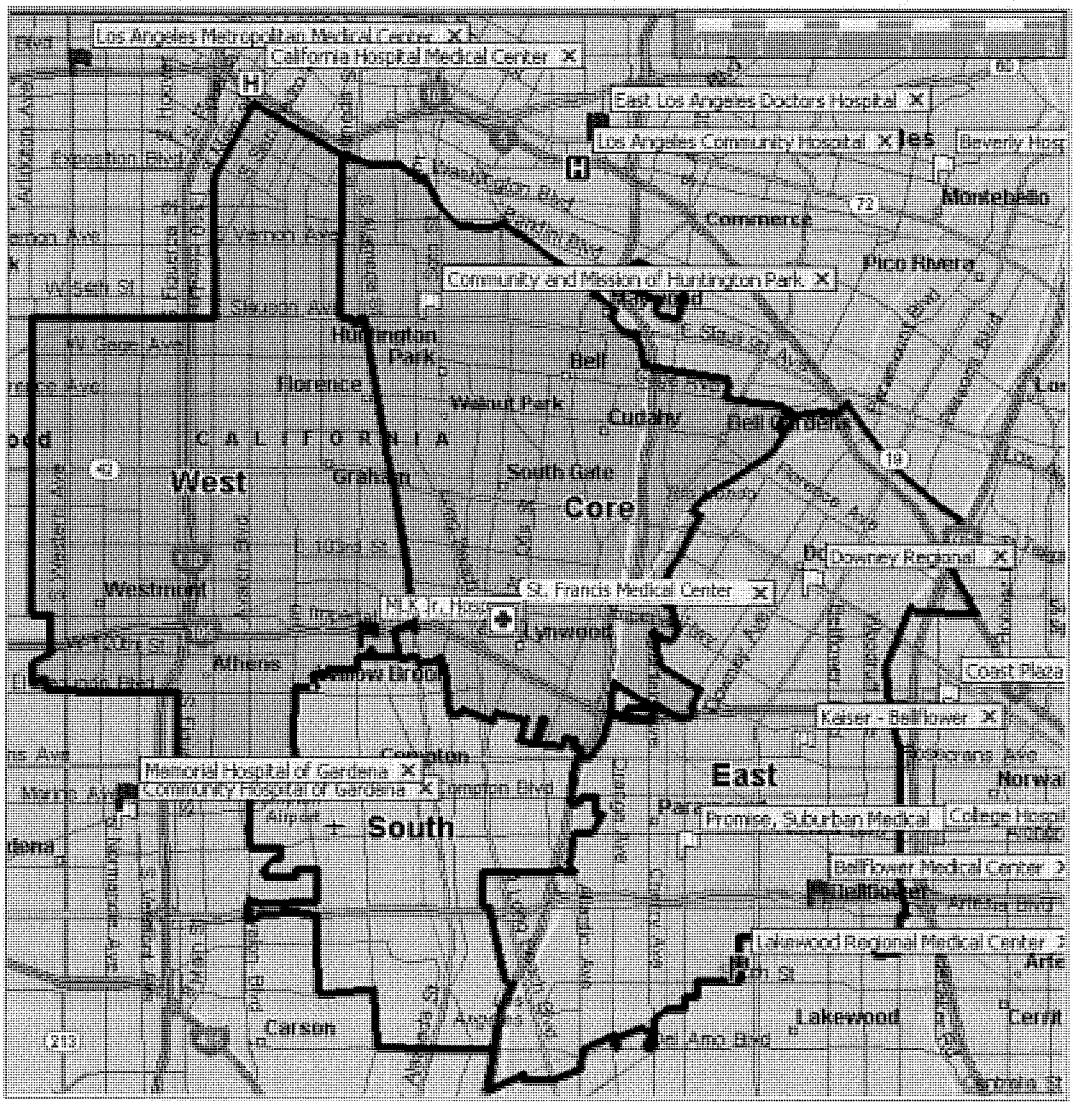
St. Francis Medical Center serves approximately one million residents within Southeast Los Angeles.

Hospitals Within the Surrounding Service Area



St. Francis Medical Center is one of the few hospitals serving the South LA region. When Martin Luther King, Jr. Hospital closed in 2007, St. Francis Medical Center remained committed in its role as part of the Los Angeles County Emergency/Trauma network. With the doors of Martin Luther King, Jr. Community Hospital now open, SFMC continues to work collaboratively with the County of Los Angeles to ensure the accessibility of emergency and trauma services for residents and to meet the critical health care needs of the community.

Assessing the Needs of Our Community

Community Health Needs Assessment*

In an effort to identify the most critical health care needs in St. Francis Medical Center's (SFMC) service area, a Community Health Needs Assessment (CHNA) is conducted every three years. The most recent assessment was completed in 2016. St. Francis Medical Center's CHNA was completed independently, utilizing the consultative services of Humanus Research and Evaluation. The CHNA targeted the Los Angeles County Service Planning Areas (SPAs) supported by SFMC and which include the primary and secondary cities served by SFMC.

Community Health Needs Assessment Methodology

To ensure differing perspectives and thoroughness, the Community Health Needs Assessment used a variety of methods to collect information about health, social and demographic characteristics of the community served by SFMC. The assessment drew primarily from the information sources noted below. For the purposes of the 2016 report, the SFMC service area corresponds to Service Planning Areas (SPAs) 6, 7, and 8, which include communities directly served by SFMC.

County of Los Angeles SPAs

SPA 6: Athens, Compton, Crenshaw, Florence, Hyde Park, Lynwood, Paramount, and Watts.

SPA 7: Artesia, Bell, Bellflower, Bell Gardens, Cerritos, City of Commerce, City Terrace, Cudahy, Downey, East Los Angeles, Hawaiian Gardens, Huntington Park, La Habra Heights, Lakewood, La Mirada, Los Nietos, Maywood, Montebello, Norwalk, Pico Rivera, Santa Fe Springs, Signal Hill, South Gate, Vernon, Walnut Park, Whittier, and others.

SPA 8: Athens, Avalon, Carson, Catalina Island, El Segundo, Gardena, Harbor City, Hawthorne, Inglewood, Lawndale, Lennox, Long Beach, Hermosa Beach, Manhattan Beach, Palos Verdes Estates, Rancho Dominguez, Rancho Palos Verdes, Redondo Beach, Rolling Hills, Rolling Hills Estates, San Pedro, Wilmington, and others.

 City of Long Beach has its own Health Department

General Note

The data in the Community Health Needs Assesment should be interpreted cautiously. Although the health indicator data may appear to suggest changes in one particular direction, there are likely several conflicting, demographic processes affecting observed patterns. For example, this report notes that there will be an increasingly elderly (age 65+) population in California over the next decade (2014-2024), at the same time that the state will continue to absorb flows of migration (which are predominantly a young adult population). Because health profiles vary among different age and race groups, health indicator data should also be interpreted carefully. Health indicator data should be analyzed in consideration of the state's shifting racial and age dynamics.

Mortality Indicators

The data for the mortality indicators are compiled from the Los Angeles County Department of Public Health, as well as the California Department of Public Health Assessment & Policy Section/Data Analysis Reporting Unit, and can be compared across years to observe trends over time.

Indicators and Projections

Health Indicators

The data for the health indicators are compiled from the Key Indicator of Health reports from 2007, 2009 and 2013 as well as from the Los Angeles County Department of Public Health, Office of Health Assessment and Epidemiology. Due to changes in indicator criteria from one survey to the next, these data cannot be compared across years. The California data are from the California Health Interview Survey from 2005, 2007, 2009 and 2015.

Demographic Projections

The data for the population projections are compiled from the U.S. Census Bureau, American Community Survey 2014, Public Use Microdata Sample. The data for the community profiles are compiled from the U.S. Census Bureau, American Community Survey 2014 one-year estimates.

Community Health Needs Assessment Focus Groups

Supplementary data are included throughout this report from the transcripts of four focus groups that were conducted at SFMC on June 21, 2016. The groups were comprised of key stakeholders, service providers and two groups of beneficiaries (one in English and one in Spanish).

The purpose of the focus groups was to collect qualitative information on health care issues that could elaborate on and enhance information gleaned from secondary data sources. Participants were identified and recruited by SFMC staff. The groups were mixed by age, race/ethnicity, and gender. Thirty-six individuals participated in four separate focus groups, including:

Beneficiaries – Individuals from the community who received care or participated in programs provided by SFMC. Separate groups were conducted for English-speaking (N=7) and Spanish-speaking (N=7) beneficiaries, with a moderator fluent in Spanish conducting the latter.

Providers – Representatives from public agencies and private organizations that provide health care and social services to the community on a daily basis at SFMC and in the community (N=11).

Stakeholders – Representatives from local elected officials' offices, and community, education, and health care leaders representing a city Health and Education Commissions, South LA universities, area school districts, and charitable foundations with a healthcare focus. (N=11).

The focus group discussions assessed:

- The most important current health care concerns in the community that SFMC serves.
- Barriers to accessing health care.
- Community resources including health care services available locally and services that support health and wellness.
- Way to improve health care access and health care resources needed.

Health and Wellness: Housing and Health

Housing has been shown to be an important social determinant of physical and mental health and well-being among adults and children. A 2015 study 2 by the Center for Housing Policy highlights these benefits:

- Affordable Housing Can Improve Health Outcomes by Freeing Up Family Resources for Nutritious Food and Health Care Expenditures.
- By Providing Families with Greater Residential Stability, Affordable Housing Can Reduce Stress and Related Adverse Health Outcomes.
- Affordable Homeownership May Positively Impact Mental Health; However, Unsustainable Forms of Homeownership May Negatively Impact Health.
- Well-Constructed and Well-Maintained Affordable Housing Can Reduce Health Problems Associated with Poor-Quality Housing.
- Stable, Affordable Housing May Improve Health Outcomes for Individuals With Chronic Illnesses by Providing an Efficient Platform for Health Care Delivery.
- Access to Neighborhoods of Opportunity Can Reduce Stress, Increase Access to Amenities, and Lead to Important Health Benefits.
- By Alleviating Crowding, Affordable Housing Can Reduce Exposure to Stressors and Infectious Disease.
- Access to Affordable Housing Allows Survivors of Domestic Violence to Escape Abusive Homes, Which Can Improve Mental Health and Physical Safety.

Families who pay more than 30% of their income for housing are considered cost burdened, which can reduce an individual or family's ability to meet other necessities such as food, clothing, transportation and medical care.[1] In LA County, 52% of households pay 30% or more of their income on housing.

Using 2008-2012 ACS 5-year estimates, SPA 6 had the most cost burdened households (64%).[3]

Homelessness creates additional obstacles of providing care and tracking individuals for continuity of services:

- The total estimated number of people experiencing homelessness in Los Angeles County was 46,874, an overall increase of 2,515 people or 5.7% from 2015 (44,359).[4]
- However, there was an 18% decrease in homeless family members from 2015 to 2016 and unsheltered family members decreased 35%.[4]
- African-Americans comprise 39% of the homeless population.[4]
- Since 2013, there has been a 55% increase in the number of females experiencing homelessness in the LA CoC.[4]
- Females make up 61% of the overall homeless population increase since 2013 [4].
- There was a 12% increase in people ages 18 to 24 and in people ages 25 to 54 from 2015 [4].
- 18% of the total population (7,868 people) had a history of physical or sexual abuse, including domestic or intimate partner violence and/or stalking.[4]
- Females and transgender individuals experience higher rates of violence and/or abuse.[4]
- SPA 6 had the 2nd largest homeless population in 2016 (7,459), a decrease of 0.7% since 2015.[4]
- SPA 8 had the 4th largest homeless population in 2016 (5,913), an increase of 10.5% since 2015.[4]

Health and Wellness: Comorbid Depression and Substance Abuse

Depression and substance abuse are common and tend to co-occur creating unique challenges for diagnosis and treatment. A recent RAND study[1] investigated this phenomenon among safety-net clients in Los Angeles, specifically examining "characteristics and service use among depressed, low-income persons from minority groups in under-resourced communities who did and did not have a substance abuse history."

The authors concluded that "Clients with depression and a substance abuse history had significant psychosocial stressors and high rates of service use, which suggests that communitywide approaches may be needed to address both depression and substance abuse in this safety-net population." The following were key findings:

- Of the 957 depressed clients, 217 (23%) were from substance abuse programs; 269 (28%) clients from other sectors had a substance abuse history, and 471 (49%) did not.
- Most clients from substance abuse programs or with a substance abuse history were unemployed and impoverished, lacked health insurance, and had high rates of arrests and homelessness.
- Clients from substance abuse programs or with a substance abuse history were also more likely than clients without a substance abuse history to have depression or anxiety disorders, psychosis, and mania and to use emergency rooms.

Stakeholder focus group participants highlighted mental heath and substance abuse issues and major concerns in their communities:

"...regarding mental health in the homeless community that have diseases, such as or diabetes, cardiovascular, working in tandem with depression and/or anxiety, we see overdoses from substance abuse in the emergency department. We need to have the behavioral issues addressed, as we see our Hospitals dealing with increased volume in the ED and overall in various departments."
—Stakeholder focus group participant

"We had a nonprofit mental health agencies health collaborative for nine years to address the mental health issues for our students in grades k-12. This year we had 590 referrals, they are all on Medi-Cal, so now we have a gap in servicing all our students who have insurance... I concur with the issues regarding mental health and substance abuse in our community/schools. We have a lot of suicidal referrals...we see a lot of homelessness in our community and foster situations. ."—Stakeholder focus group participant

"When it comes to having a doctor treating a patient that has a behavioral problem, we are not actually curing the patient, we are just putting a band aid on it."—Stakeholder focus group participant

Health and Wellness: Park Use in Los Angeles

Safe and accessible local parks are considered to be a key resource for health/wellness both for physical activity and community outreach, so it is important to gain a better understanding of park use tendencies within the communities we serve. A 2015 RAND study on park use and physical activity among racial-ethnic groups in the City of Los Angeles[1] highlighted numerous differences in racial-ethnic group park use and levels of physical activity. The following were key findings:

- Blacks and English-speaking Latinos were less likely than whites to report being physically active, exercising in the park, and exercising outside the park.
- Spanish-speaking Latinos were equally likely as whites to report exercising in park but less likely to report exercising outside the park and more likely to report using the parks for social interactions.
- Asians/Pacific Islanders (PI)/others were more likely than whites to report visiting the park in the past 7 days and using the parks for social interactions.
- Urban parks appear to be an important resource for physical activity and socialization, in particular among Spanish-speaking Latino and Asians/PI groups.

Beneficiary focus group participants highlighted the importance of local parks for both physical activity and community outreach:

> "...a lot of people hang at the park including the homeless. Where my mom lives in Ontario there's a program that cooks up some food like hot dogs, hamburgers for the community. Once the people get there they can then offer, you know why you are here let me check your blood pressure, and maybe even provided some medication."
> —Beneficiary focus group participant

> "Some people may not want to travel too far to receive these resources. Services that are free, people want and like to receive things that are free. I've started a group that focuses on fitness. I pass out flyers to help people get in shape, showing them simple stretches and exercise with advice on healthy eating. I come every Sunday at the park by the basketball courts."

What the Data Says – Summary of Some Key Findings

Health and Wellness: Parks and Senior Preferences in Los Angeles

Numerous studies have established the physiological and psychological benefits of safe and accessible parks to seniors' quality of life and longevity. As projections show, the 65+ population will increase greatly (between 22% and 27%) from 2014 to 2019, and increase again (between 18% and 31%) from 2019 to 2024 in the state, county and SFMC Area. Thus, ensuring that parks remain safe, enjoyable, and accessible for older adults will be a critical factor in helping to mitigate potential healthcare costs and social isolation over the next decade.

A recent study of senior experiences in local park use in Los Angeles[1] investigated the following questions:

- What are the needs, preferences, and aspirations that low-income, inner-city seniors have for neighborhood parks. Do seniors of different races and ethnicities indicate different preferences?
- What are the challenges and impediments that decrease these seniors' access to and use of neighborhood parks?
- What are some lessons for planners wishing to develop senior-friendly parks in inner cities?

The following were key findings:

- Perceptions of lack of safety and security are important deterrents to visiting parks.
- Focus group participants expressed fear of unsupervised youth at the parks, especially when skateboarding, bouncing balls, or running around.
- Crime was also a concern for many participants, who described being victims of robbery, attempted robbery, theft, and "disrespectful behaviors" from youth in public spaces.
- Seniors also convey concerns about homeless people, drunkards, gang members, drug dealers, and people simply loitering in parks.
- These perceptions often deter many seniors from visiting nearby parks, while lack of private transportation is a barrier to visiting more distant parks that are perceived as safer.
- There were six desirable park characteristics highlighted: 1) security, 2) good accessibility, 3) presence of natural elements (greenery, wildlife), 4) age-friendly park design and programming, 5) opportunities for walking and physical activity, and 6) settings and programs that encourage social interaction.

The study also highlighted potential preference differences between ethnic and cultural backgrounds:[1]

- Whites and Latinos were more open to age-integrated parks than are Korean elders.
- Many Korean women insisted that the park should be fenced and gated and have constant monitoring, and also suggested the use of different types of materials or facilities to increase its safety.
- Korean men were more concerned than other groups about their safety from falls, worrying about uneven sidewalks and hilly walking paths and recommending handrails.
- Korean participants were also the most critical of the lack of cleanliness in existing parks.
- Latinos focused more on the visibility and lighting at the park.
- White participants commented more on the facilities they use at parks, such as having picnic tables big enough for a group of seniors or a water fountain easily accessible to seniors with walkers or in wheelchairs.
- All Asian-American participants (i.e., Koreans, Indians, and Filipinos) were particularly sensitive to disrespectful younger people.
- Korean participants prefer straight walking trails, while other elders prefer winding ones.

Health and Wellness: LGBTQ Access

A recent national study focused on LGB health examined the associations between sexual orientation and barriers to health care.[1] Five barrier-to-care outcomes were assessed:

- Delayed or did not receive care because of cost.
- Did not receive specific services because of cost.
- Delayed care for non-cost reasons.
- Trouble finding a provider.
- No usual source of care.

The authors concluded that "members of sexual minority groups, especially bisexual women, are more likely to encounter barriers to care than their straight counterparts." The following were key findings:

- Relative to straight adults, gay or lesbian and bisexual adults had higher odds of delaying or not receiving care because of cost.
- Bisexual adults had higher odds of delaying care for non-cost reasons, and gay men had higher odds than straight men of reporting trouble finding a provider.
- By contrast, gay or lesbian women had lower odds of delaying care for non-cost reasons than straight women.
- Bisexual women had higher odds than gay or lesbian women of reporting 3 of the 5 barriers investigated.

A recent study examined the effects of the cumulative victimization experienced by LGBT youths on mental disorders. In the study's sample of LGBT youths, 10.3% experienced significant increases in victimization, and 5.1% maintained high levels across development from baseline (mostly in high school) to follow-up four years later.

The authors concluded that youths with steadily high or increasing levels of victimization from adolescence to early adulthood are at higher risk for depression and post-traumatic stress disorder.[2]

Stakeholder focus group participants acknowledged that the LGBT population, in particular, experiences multiple barriers to health/wellness and that in order to overcome those barriers it is essential to partner with other community organizations that work with LGBT community members:

> "For the LGBT (community members) we rely heavily on the community organization, who we view as the experts (in serving that population), and those populations find solace in receiving information from this venue. So we rely on those organizations to help (LGBT community members) access care or receive information."—Stakeholder focus group participant

Focus Group – Related Comments and Observations

[In reference to the importance of community gardens] "My neighbor has a variety garden and often times when I don't have enough money to buy produce at the grocery store I buy different vegetables from her. It would be a good idea for people with yard space to plant gardens. That way people are eating healthier and know what they are eating."
—Beneficiary focus group participant

"It's easier to get a $0.69 burger at Tom's then get a vegetable. Give a kid $2.00 that's what's they are going to go and buy."
—Beneficiary focus group participant

"I've been going out to certain meetings within the community and what is hard for the community is that they want to know how to have access to healthier inexpensive food. You can tell anyone what they can buy in order to eat healthier and educate them, But if they don't have higher paying jobs, food is expensive...at least make the food affordable for them to be able to eat to really tackle the challenge of obesity, diabetes and hypertension."

Other Findings

Environment and Neighborhood—Adults who perceived their neighborhood is safe from crime was consistently lower in SPA 6 (40.3%) compared to other areas. LA County (84.0%); SPA 7 (85.0%); SPA 8 (87.8%).

Access to Fresh Produce—A much smaller percent of residents in SPA 6 (54.8%) reported that they have easy access to fresh fruits and vegetables compared to LA County (75.0%), SPA 7 (70.8%), and SPA 8 (77.1%).

Health Status—SPA 6 (30.6%) also had a higher percentage of residents who reported fair/poor heath status compared to LA County (21.5%), SPA 7 (22%), and SPA 8 (21%). This pattern has not changed from 2011—2015.

Health Insurance—SPA 6 had the highest percentage of adults who do not have health insurance (17.9%), compared to LA County (11.7%), SPA 7 (11.3%), SPA 8 (9.6%). However, in general, the percent of LA County adults who do not have health insurance decreased noticeably from 2005 (21.8%) to 2015 (11.7%), a 46% decrease, possibly attributable to the Affordable Care Act , with coverage for eligible participants beginning in 2014.

Access to Care—Adults who had difficulty accessing medical care was highest in SPA 6 (32.5%).

Chronic Conditions—Compared to LA County (23.5%), the reported percentages of adults who are obese were higher in SPAs 6, 7, and 8 (34.1%, 28%, and 24.1%, respectively. For SPAs 6 and 7, the trend has remained consistent over the years.

Environment—Percent of children who have easy access to a park of playground was lowest in SPA 6 (78.5%), compared to LA County (86.8%), SPA 7 (90.8%), and SPA 8 (87.7%). The highly disproportionate trend has remained consistent over the years.

Breastfeeding—Percent of children who were breastfed by their biological mothers for at least six months was lowest in SPA 6 (44.7%), compared to LA County (49.7%), SPA 7 (45.0%), and SPA 8 (52.4%).

Childcare—Percent of children whose primary caretaker reported it is very or somewhat difficult to find childcare on a regular basis was highest in SPA 6 (43.1%), compared to LA County (31.6%), SPA 7 (26.7%), and SPA 8 (26.8%).

Overall Results and Priority Needs

All data showed that the needs of children and families in the SFMC service area are great, and in fact often greater than most segments of Los Angeles County.

The most prominent health care issues and concerns highlighted in the Needs Assessment are that residents in SFMC's service area continue to face significant barriers in accessing needed health care. SFMC has been designated as a Disproportionate Share Hospital because of the high number of patients who are uninsured and underinsured. As previously noted, 76.1% of SFMC's reimbursements for services are derived from Medi-Cal, Medicare, and LA County. In addition, communities within SFMC's service area have been designated as Medically Underserved Areas and Health Profession Shortage Areas by the Federal Government.

Prioritizing Community Health Needs

Based on the collected data and findings from the Community Health Needs Assessment, SFMC's Management Council (the executive leadership team) used the following criteria to help identify the priority health care needs that the hospital will address this year:

- Does the health issue fall within the scope of the hospital's mission?
- What is the hospital's goal/purpose in addressing this need?
- What resources does the medical center have available to address the need? Is there staff currently in place who could develop and implement or continue programs that address the need?
- Who are potential collaborators?
- Are there grant opportunities to help fund programs that address this issue?
- What resources are necessary to sustain the program?

Responses from key focus group participants were also factored into the prioritization of needs as many are actively involved in community wellness and social service programs within SFMC's service area and hold leadership roles in the development and implementation of health improvement initiatives within the South LA region.

Following the prioritization of health care needs by SFMC's Management Council, the hospital's Community Benefit Plan was developed in conjunction with the medical center's Budgeting and Strategic Planning process. During the annual update of the medical center's strategic plan, data derived from the Community Health Needs Assessment, input gathered informally at community meetings, and the prioritization of needs process was integrated with the external environment analysis and the organizational analysis.

The resulting Community Benefit Plan is integrated into the medical center's long-range planning, as well as program-specific planning.

As highlighted under Our Mission and Vision in the opening pages of this report, St. Francis Medical Center and Verity Health System are committed to providing community benefit through a variety of community-based outreach programs and wellness activities.

"...what is hard for the community is that they want to know how to have access to healthier inexpensive food... make the food affordable for them to be able to eat, to really tackle the challenge of obesity, diabetes, and hypertension."

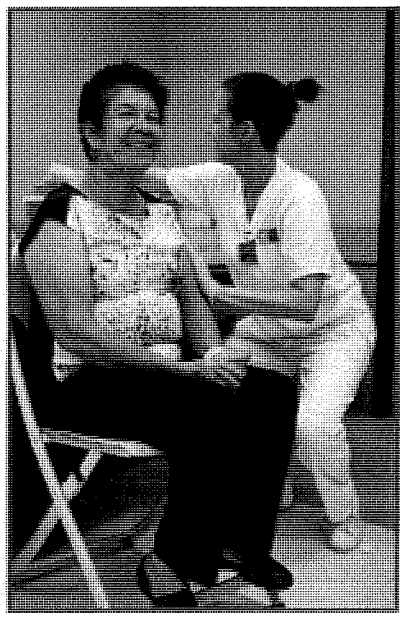
Priority Needs Addressed By SFMC



In 2018, SFMC's Community Benefit Plan targets the following priority health care needs:

Access to Care

Coronary Heart Disease

Stroke

Diabetes

Obesity

Low Breastfeeding Rates

Environment and Neighborhood

These issues are addressed through specific hospital services and community outreach programs developed in direct response to current needs.

Many of the priority needs identified this year are among those that SFMC assessed as high priorities in previous years; therefore, the medical center has ongoing programs in place to target these specific health care concerns.

SFMC's 2018 Community Benefit Plan specifies the continuance of many of the programs which have proven successful in reaching SFMC's target populations and improving overall community health and wellness.

Due to limited resources, SFMC is not developing a specific community benefit strategy to address Lung Cancer, Chronic Obstructive Pulmonary Disease (COPD), Sexually Transmitted Diseases, Allergies/Influenza, Homelessness, and Lack of Access to Affordable Childcare; however, some of these issues are addressed indirectly through SFMC's current and planned community benefit programs which promote overall health improvement and wellness. For example, the hospital's Healthy Community Initiatives program coordinates and participates in various community and senior health fairs. Free health screenings, childhood immunizations, and flu shots are provided, along with health education that promotes healthy lifestyles, prevention, and a holistic approach to overall wellness.

SFMC also has strong relationships with public and private agencies with programs addressing the health needs that are not identified as those that will be addressed by SFMC in 2018. Our Health Benefits Resource Center (HBRC) provides linkages and referrals to these health and social services. Los Angeles County has a Sexually Transmitted Disease hotline and program for screening and treatment. The County also has resources and referrals for affordable childcare and homeless shelters.

In addition, the HBRC can refer people to physicians specializing in the treatment of lung cancer and COPD, help with making doctor appointments, and provide enrollment assistance into health plans for which they qualify.

The hospital's 2018 Community Benefit Plan outlines the programs developed in direct response to the priority health care needs that SFMC is targeting this year. Some of these programs are continuations of activities established in previous years. To help provide a better understanding of their impact, the most recent outcomes and accomplishments are included in this report.

Health Benefits Resource Center

The Health Benefits Resource Center (HBRC) is a one-stop information and referral service center that links families to essential private and government-sponsored health benefits and social services to promote healthy families, such as Covered California, Medi-Cal, Medicare, Kaiser Child Health Program, Healthy Kids, Medi-Cal Access Program (MAP), and CalFresh (formerly known as the Food Stamp Program). In addition to providing assistance with the application process, HBRC offers ongoing case management and support for families who may experience any type of difficulty related to their enrollment, utilization, retention and/or access to their benefits. The center performs ongoing outreach to educate the community about benefits and safeguards that come with participation in private and government-sponsored programs. HBRC provides a dependable, trusted referral mechanism to social services and resource agencies for individuals, families, schools, churches and community-based organizations.

On site collaboration with the LA County Department of Public Social Services enables SFMC to support eligible clients through the enrollment process into the Medi-Cal and CalFresh programs.

HBRC enrollment specialists are bilingual and culturally sensitive to both the English- and Spanish -speaking populations. They work one-on-one with families to establish a trusting relationship and to provide a safe and supportive environment. To reach more residents, HBRC provides an Emergency Department-based enrollment specialist who can respond to Emergency patients at the bedside. HBRC also partners with the LA County Office of Education and coordinates informational sessions at LA County schools for faculty, staff, and parents to increase awareness of HBRC's services.

Covered California

As part of St. Francis Medical Center's efforts to improve health care access, the St. Francis Medical Center Foundation applied for and received a grant from Covered California, the state's health insurance marketplace, on behalf of the Daughters of Charity Health System (DCHS)* in July 2013. The grant enabled St. Francis Medical Center to work collaboratively with Covered California to provide culturally and linguistically relevant outreach to millions of Californians who became newly-eligible for health insurance under the Affordable Care Act. St. Francis Medical Center was one of the first 48 organizations to receive this funding.

St. Francis Medical Center's outreach efforts were part of an integrated program with member hospitals of DCHS. The system-wide project known as HealthFirst! partnered St. Francis Medical Center, St. Vincent Medical Center, O'Connor Hospital, Seton Medical Center, and Saint Louise Regional Hospital to reach more than 99,000 individuals in Los Angeles, San Mateo and Santa Clara Counties during the July 1, 2013 through December 2014 grant period.

HealthFirst! utilized the best-practice model of each hospital's Health Benefits Resource Center (HBRC) to deliver information on California's new health benefit exchange to their communities. Using certified, trained Promotoras, or Community Health Educators, who were from the local area and had a connection to residents, the program reached out to individuals and families through their work, faith-based organizations, schools, community meetings and events, and popular locations for shopping and recreation. Certified staff provided and continue to provide outreach and education to individuals.

Through this collaboration with Covered California, St. Francis Medical Center has increased the number of residents with health insurance, with the goal of improving the quality of health care, reducing health care coverage costs, and ensuring the region's diverse community has fair and equal access to quality health coverage.

In an underserved community where many people face significant challenges, including limited English proficiency and lack of health insurance coverage or loss of coverage due to loss of work, this grant gave SFMC the opportunity to reach out to these individuals and include them in the important health care conversation that helped to lead them to make an informed health plan choice for themselves and their family.

To provide eligible individuals with a full continuum of support, SFMC's Health Benefits Resource Center applied for and was approved as a Covered California Certified Enrollment Entity. The certification enabled HBRC staff to undergo specialized training to become Certified Enrollment Counselors. Through our participation with Covered California, our Certified Enrollment Counselors have been able to link more individuals and families to expanded health and social service resources.

Special Recognition

In our first year, Covered California executive director Peter Lee recognized SFMC as one of Covered Californania's best collaborators at its March 13, 2014 Olvera Street Community Rally to encourage enrollment.

In May 2014 at the Covered CA regional meeting hosted at SFMC, the office of California Assembly Member Anthony Rendon presented a Certificate of Recognition to St. Francis Medical Center and the hospital's Health Benefits Resource Center for contributing to the success of Covered CA's outreach, education, and enrollment.

Following the conclusion of the initial grant in December 2014, SFMC was awarded a new Navigator Grant through Covered California for the period of October 2014 through June 2015 to facilitate health benefit enrollment in year 2 of the Affordable Care Act. In July 2015, SFMC was again selected as a grant partner for the period of August 1, 2015 through July 30, 2016. The grant supported our efforts through the Health Benefits Resource Center to provide assistance with new applications and renewals to Covered California as well as outreach, utilization, and retention.

St. Francis Medical Center continues its collaboration with the state's health benefit exchange. As the hospital's grant funding for the period of September 1, 2016 through August 31, 2017, concluded, Covered California again renewed its grant to the St. Francis Medical Center Foundation. This enables our Certified Enrollment Counselors to extend ongoing outreach, education, and enrollment assistance to individuals eligible for health insurance under the Affordable Care Act for the term of September 1, 2017 through August 31, 2018.

Welcome Baby

Initiated through a grant from First 5 LA in 2013, Welcome Baby is a key component of a multi-faceted approach to providing primary health prevention, parent education, and linkage to social services for St. Francis Medical Center's maternity patients.

Welcome Baby offers personalized prenatal, post-partum, and hospital visits with a professionally trained Parent Coach, from pregnancy through the baby's first 9 months for families living within First 5 LA's Best Start Communities. Families residing outside of the Best Start Communities are eligible for the Welcome Baby hospital visit and up to three additional home visits, if needed.

Available at no cost to all maternity patients, the Welcome Baby continuum of care also includes breast-feeding support from Welcome Baby staff (who are all Certified Lactation Educators), referrals to community resources, and an in-home visit by a registered nurse within the first week following mom and baby's discharge from the hospital.

Welcome Baby addresses the First 5 LA goal areas: 1) That children maintain a healthy weight; 2) That children are safe from abuse and neglect; and 3) That children are ready for kindergarten. First 5 LA and partner hospitals work together to reach these goals by focusing on health and wellness before a baby's birth and continuing through a child's first critical months.

Using Parent Coaches, Welcome Baby addresses prenatal testing, home planning/safety, labor signs, breastfeeding, depression screening, family nutrition, observation for jaundice and hydration, infant assessments, and growth and development milestones. Through both prenatal and postpartum hospital and home-based visits, Parent Coaches develop a relationship with the families and provide education in a convenient and comfortable setting, and help to ensure parents are connected to appropriate health care services.

St. Francis has partnered with SHIELDS for Families to provide hospital and home-based services to participating Welcome Baby patients. Serving more than 10,000 families each year, SHIELDS is a nonprofit organization with a mission of developing, delivering, and evaluating culturally sensitive, comprehensive service models that empower and advocate for high-risk families in South Los Angeles.

In celebration of St. Francis Medical Center's program achievements in its initial year, First 5 LA hosted an event on Sept. 2, 2014, at the medical center to promote awareness of the Welcome Baby/Intensive Home Visitation program among elected officials and community leaders.

Congresswoman Lucille Roybal-Allard D-Calif (40th CD) and Assemblyman Anthony Rendon (D -Lakewood) were among the program participants.

As a result of the program's ongoing success, St. Francis Medical Center received subsequent grant funding awards from First 5 LA. Its current grant continues through FY 2020.

Welcome Baby regularly collaborates with other SFMC programs and local entities. In May, the Welcome Baby team again participated in the annual Young Parent and Pregnancy Fair at Bateman Hall in Lynwood, sponsored by the Lynwood Unified School District, City of Lynwood, and SFMC. The goal was to help prepare young expectant mothers and fathers for what to expect before, during, and after childbirth, and to provide them with avenues to complete their education. A variety of workshops were offered including Self-esteem and Motivation; Academics and Your Future; Healthy Parenting and Nutrition, Post-Partum, and Breastfeeding taught by the Welcome Baby team; Motivational/ Encouragement/Life Skills as a Father; and My Options Now as a Father (Academics/Job Training/ Work). Approximately 40 vendors also participated to provide additional resources to the young parents and teens.

In FY 2017, Welcome Baby collaborated with the County of Los Angeles Department of Public Health for the period of September 2016 - July 2017 to provide Car Seat Safety Workshops to eligible parents. The monthly classes held in English and Spanish discussed California laws on passenger transportation, how to choose the appropriate car seat for your baby or child, and how to secure your child properly. Upon completing

In addition, the Welcome Baby program manager was actively involved in various community groups, serving as a steering committee member for El Nido Community Center in Compton, which offers a teen mom support group; a steering committee member for Service Planning Area 6; a leadership member for Compton/East Compton Best Start Partnership; a regular participant at the LA Care Community Center in Lynwood; a conference planning committee member for the Young Parent and Pregnancy Fair; and a community advisory board member for South LA Health Projects through the Lynwood Unified School District.

In FY 2018, Welcome Baby will continue to collaborate with SFMC and external organizations at hospital-based and community-based events to promote healthy practices from birth to beyond.

Dental/Oral Care for Special Needs Patients

Dental and Oral Care is available at no cost to individuals who do not have insurance or the financial means to cover the cost of major dental procedures. A key objective of this program is to provide oral and dental care services to patients with special needs -those with physical, medical, developmental, or cognitive conditions.

Studies suggest that oral health may be linked to overall health. Some research suggests that oral health may affect, be affected by, or contribute to conditions such as endocarditis, cardiovascular disease, premature and low birth weight, diabetes, osteoporosis, and other health issues. Through this program, the dental services provided by experienced, compassionate dentists to children and adults with special needs and/or limitations helps to ensure that they receive the treatment they require and the comprehensive benefits good oral care supports.

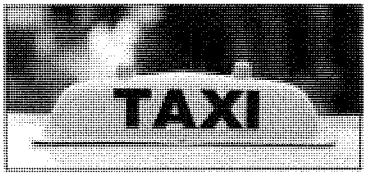
Patient Transportation



Patient Transportation is provided to individuals without any means of transportation following discharge, and to parents of infants receiving care in the hospital's Neonatal Intensive Care Unit who do not have a way of traveling to and from the medical center to visit their baby. Transportation is also arranged for individuals receiving inpatient behavioral health services at SFMC who may need transportation for court appearances or following hospital discharge.

The goal is to ensure that 1) patients have safe, reliable transportation upon discharge from the hospital, 2) parents of sick and fragile newborns are able to visit their babies so that they may bond, breastfeed, and promote their child's healing, and 3) Behavioral Health inpatients meet their court appearance requirements.

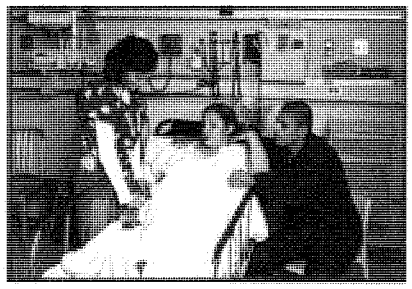
Charity Care, Unreimbursed Cost of Care, Emergency/Trauma



St. Francis Medical Center also helps to improve access to health care through its commitment to provide Charity Care for patients who do not qualify for public health insurance or have the means to afford private insurance. SFMC follows the practices outlined in the Verity Health System Charity Care and Financial Discount Policy.

In Fiscal Year 2017, SFMC provided 5,880 people with $7.6 million in Charity Care. The medical center has experienced a decrease in overall Charity Care over the past three years, which coincides with the enactment of the Affordable Care Act (ACA). With the ACA, more people have become eligible for Medi-Cal and health insurance coverage through the state's health benefit exchange, Covered California. SFMC anticipates these lower numbers in our Charity Care community benefit expense in FY 2018 as increased numbers of eligible individuals enroll into Covered California health plans.

St. Francis Medical Center continues to serve a substantial number of patients who are insured through Medi-Cal. In FY 2017, SFMC served 128,843 Medi-Cal patients. Reimbursement rates are variable. They are not always paid out on a regular schedule, and at times, they do not cover the full cost of services provided. This year, the Hospital Provider Fee funds helped to cover the unreimbursed cost of Medi-Cal.

Note: The Hospital Provider Fee is crucial to the preservation of California's entire safety net. The program uses fees assessed by the state on hospitals to draw down federal matching funds, which are then issued as supplemental payments to hospitals. The Hospital Provider Fee is an integral element to improving access to health care for some of California's most vulnerable residents.

Source: California Hospital Association

In addition, SFMC subsidizes its Emergency Department to help ensure that critical health care is available around the clock to the community. SFMC's Emergency Department, in conjunction with its Trauma Center, is especially crucial to the Southeast Los Angeles area, as Trauma and Emergency Services have closed at many surrounding hospitals within the last decade. The uncompensated costs for direct expenses absorbed by the hospital totaled $1.9 million in FY 2017.

SFMC is a designated Paramedic Base Station. Its Emergency Department provides the coordination and direction of medical treatment for LA County pre-hospital care providers and first responders, including LA County Fire Departments within the service area.

Programs Targeting Our Community's Priority Health Needs
High Rates of Heart Disease, Stroke, Diabetes, Obesity

Healthy Community Initiatives

In recent years, particularly in light of growing disparities in health status among various socio-economic and cultural groups, there has been a greater interest in understanding the impact that environment—where we are born, live and work and the conditions that exist there—has on our physical and mental health and life expectancy. Social determinants of health have emerged as arguably some of the most important and powerful factors in determining our susceptibility to chronic conditions and potentially fatal disease. The area served by St. Francis Medical Center has been characterized by poverty, high unemployment, educational deficiencies, high teen pregnancy rates, high rates of crime and violence, a lack of health insurance coverage, and racial and ethnic disparities in health—social factors that have been shown to contribute to poor health outcomes.

Yet the effects of these social factors can be mitigated. Healthy Community Initiatives actively seeks to alleviate the social determinants of health that place so many Southeast Los Angeles residents at a distinct disadvantage in terms of achieving and maintaining optimal health and wellness.

Healthy Community Initiatives (HCI) brings health screenings, immunizations, and health education directly to area schools, churches, businesses and community organizations via its HCI nurse/nurse educator and promotoras staff. For individuals and families without access to primary care, HCI provides them with important preventive services and health care resources.

With data showing high incidences of heart disease, stroke, diabetes, obesity, and chronic illness in our service area, HCI health screenings for blood pressure, cholesterol, glucose, body fat (BMI), and height and weight provide the first step in identifying health conditions and linking individuals to essential follow-up care and treatment.

Screenings are integrated with health education, fitness activities, wellness and healthy lifestyle programs, and community collaborations that engage children, adults, and seniors.

In FY2017, funding for some of HCI's collaborative programs drew to a close, including the Choose Health LA Kids (CHLAK)grant and Nutrition Education Obesity Prevention-Los Angeles (NEOP-LA) grant, both awarded by the Los Angeles County Department of Public Health. Following the completion of the grants, several members of the HCI team transitioned to community health positions outside the medical center.

Since then, the remaining HCI program director, school nurse/ nurse educator, and promotora have explored new ways to partner with cities, agencies, and organizations which share the goal of building healthier communities to maximize limited resources. The HCI team became more active in wellness planning within the hospital's service area, particularly in its home city of Lynwood, and helped to establish the Healthy Lynwood Partnership (HLP) in April 2017 in collaboration with the Los Angeles County Department of Health.

HLP was developed to help move forward a number of health policy efforts in the City of Lynwood and provide a community voice in improving residents' health. It was initially convened by St. Francis Medical Center with the goal of building a strong stakeholder coalition and sense of shared community leadership.

Its first tasks will be to provide feedback and recommendations to the City of Lynwood on the plans and policies it has in development to promote community health. They included the City's Health Element, Connectivity Plan, and Healthy Parks Resolution. The HLP community stakeholders will help to identify high priority action steps for moving the plans forward. The HLP's objectives are to understand the City of Lynwood's priorities and identify a pathway to ensure the City is supported and has the capacity to adopt and implement timely and relevant health policies.

The HLP is well underway as fiscal year 2018 has begun. It has been involved in reviewing the Lynwood Youth Focus Group, which identified community safety as one of the priority issues to address. This encompassed walking safety, safety in parks at night, safety for women, lighting, and reckless driving. It recommended improved lighting, walking escorts, emergency buttons in parks, and increased police presence.

The HLP also is involved in discussions about the City of Lynwood Transit Area Specific Plan, which identifies a 315-acre area for the development of future transit-oriented communities. In addition to being designed to encourage revitalization of commercial and residential areas while prioritizing compact urban land use, the plan will foster community and economic growth. It also integrates community safety, bicycle/pedestrian access, and a mobility strategy with bike/car share programs, and addresses the safety issue highlighted in the Youth Focus Group.

Other key topics on which the HLP's input is being sought by the City is the next steps for the Healthy Parks Resolution. One of its major discussion items is consideration of a smoke-free parks ordinance. The HLP will be involved in engaging the community, understanding elected officials' position on the proposed ordinance, and serving as a source for public comment.

The HLP will also be instrumental in planning and supporting events such as the City's participation in National Walk/Bike to School Day each year to raise awareness for safe streets and the benefits of physical activity. It will also make recommendations to the City on ways to improve community health and wellness. Initial recommendations include 1) Improving access to healthier foods and beverages, 2) Offering cooking demonstrations and lessons, 3) Implementing a farmer's market with fresh fruits and vegetables, 4) Creating safer more walkable streets, and 5) Reducing human trafficking in the city.

As part of the community benefit plan for FY2018, HCI will continue to participate in the HLP to provide feedback and direction on community health initiatives.

Choose Health LA Kids

Choose Health LA Kids was a component of the hospital's HCI program. As previously discussed, the CHLAK grant ended in December 2016. During the course of the six months that fell within the FY2017 reporting period, many objectives were accomplished. The most recent outcomes are included in the FY2017 chart following. However, to provide a more comprehensive perspective of how much was achieved by the CHLAK team at St. Francis across the full grant period, the previous year's outcomes are included as well, along with the initial background on the program.

Background

In 2014, St. Francis Medical Center Foundation was awarded a Choose Health LA Kids (CHLAK) grant. CHLAK is part of a local, four-year Early Childhood Obesity Prevention Initiative of the Los Angeles County Department of Public Health (DPH), funded by First 5 LA. Choose Health LA Kids complemented the hospital's recently concluded Vida Sana/ Healthy Life community wellness program as it strives to promote healthy eating and active living in community settings. St. Francis received funding to implement a community-based public education and skills-building program focused on reducing the prevalence of obesity among children ages 0-5 in LA County. This obesity prevention program also promotes physical activity and provides resources to families with children ages 0-5 to build healthy lifestyles.

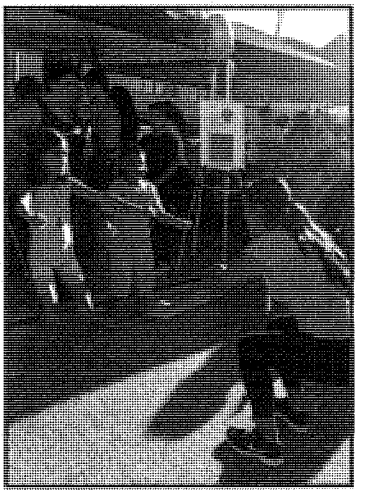
CHLAK activities include:

- Providing nutrition education and skills-building to parents at community organizations serving young children and their families.
- Organizing grocery store tours and food demonstrations that provide nutrition education and skills-building learning opportunities to parents and other care providers of children ages 0-5 in local food stores and/or markets.
- Convening a parent collaborative that disseminates nutrition and physical activity resources and build support for civic engagement goals among parents/caregivers of children ages 0-5.



- Disseminating countywide public education campaign material to promote specific nutrition and physical activity-related behaviors among children.
- Promoting LA County Department of Public Health's recognition program for restaurants that provide healthy options for children, including a public education campaign to disseminate nutrition messages.

The program focuses on Lynwood, Compton, Watts, Willowbrook, and Paramount, in communities with the highest prevalence of childhood obesity and highest percentage of people living below the Federal Poverty Level.

SFMC met or exceeded all of the CHLAK goals, and the fiscal year 2017, 2016, and 2015 achievements are listed on the succeeding pages.

Through the work accomplished by the hospital's HCI/CHLAK team, they have helped to lay a firm foundation of collaboration to sustain the program's forward progress and empowered the community to take an active role in their own future health and well-being.

Activity	FY2017 Totals	Description	Significance
Nutrition classes conducted at St. Philip Neri School in Lynwood, CA	6 classes conducted 119 children age 5-10 in grades K-5 participated 25 of the children were age 5	The children were introduced to healthy eating through the concept of "MyPlate" and the five food groups that comprise a balanced meal. After reviewing the good groups, the instructor asked the students to identify and give examples of the each. Using photos of various foods, the students then built a plate with all five food groups and shared the contents of their plate with the class. To reinforce the lesson and encourage them to continue eating a balanced meal from all food groups, each child was given a MyPlate to take home.	Healthy eating and physical activity begin in early childhood. Pre-school and elementary school years are an important time for developing healthy habits for life. The MyPlate concept offers credible science-based evidence to help kids build healthy meals and maintain or achieve a healthy weight. MyPlate provides a tool for children to use that will help them make wise choices in a fun and appealing way. The ultimate goal of the nutrition classes was to teach nutrition, water consumption, and the importance of play.

Vida Sana Community Wellness (concluded in FY17)

The Vida Sana/Healthy Life Community Wellness Program promotes healthier communities through a six-month, coordinated program that advances heart health, diabetes, and obesity awareness; disease prevention and education; diet and nutrition classes; stress reduction; and physical fitness activities to establish healthy lifestyle habits.

The purpose of Vida Sana is to create a community and family environment that promotes and supports family participants to adopt healthier lifestyles. The program uses the Healthy People 2020 goals which move the community toward becoming the change agents for physical, emotional, and spiritual well-being.

Led by promotoras recruited from the community, the program includes health screenings, exercise sessions, and nutrition and health education. Trained instructors lead activities which integrate cardiovascular exercise, strength, and flexibility. Healthy eating classes teach participants how to maintain their traditional dishes with minor healthy alterations.

Because the traditional Latino cultural values prioritize the well-being of the family over the well-being of the individual, the program focuses on the participation of the entire family. Family Health screenings are conducted at the beginning, middle, and end of the program. Regular fitness activities accommodate all levels and ages.

Web-based data collection has been established in partnership with the National Health Foundation. The system allows SFMC to record baseline data on health indicators such as height, weight, glucose, cholesterol, blood pressure, and BMI (body mass index). In fiscal year 2013, the Vida Sana program was integrated into the hospital's Health Community Initiatives' community wellness program.

As grant funding ended in September 2016, management of the Vida Sana activities have been transitioned to the individual participating churches.

NEOP Program

In 2014, St. Francis Medical Center Foundation was awarded a three-year grant from the Los Angeles County Department of Public Health (LACDPH) for the Nutrition Education Obesity Prevention-Los Angeles (NEOP-LA) project. The NEOP program was integrated into the Vida Sana community wellness program, and utilized the promotora model. NEOP's promotoras lead education classes to empower and enable low-income residents to select healthy foods and beverages and to increase physical activity. Participants are recruited from neighborhoods surrounding the Vida Sana program's partner churches. Its goal is to empower and enable Supplemental Nutrition Assistance Program-eligible participants to select healthy foods and beverages and to increase physical activity.

NEOP-LA core activities include:

Collaborating with the County Nutrition Action Plan (CNAP), sharing best practices and providing input during quarterly meetings, for the purpose of developing the CNAP.

Assessing "walkability" and/or the food environment of target neighborhoods.

Participating in the implementation of a Food/ Beverage Strategy and healthy food program, led by LA County DPH, to increase access and consumption of healthy foods, and/ or reduce the consumption of sugary beverages; assisting with the dissemination of materials; and meeting with local leadership to promote healthy changes for their constituencies.

Participating in and promoting nutrition education media events led by LACDPH.

with DPH to develop of a list of environmental support strategies that increase and promote access to healthy beverages; and participating with LACDPH to advance and market strategies and conduct evaluations.

The NEOP grant term ended in September 2016. With the conclusion of the program at St. Francis, the NEOP team transitioned key projects to community collaborators who will continue to advance NEOP's goals. The NEOP team trained 15 community members to be ongoing fitness instructors. The NEOP team also empowered participants in the Lynwood Healthy Living Coalition, which was established by NEOP, to keep city leaders accountable for commitments made to advance the well-being of the community. Many of the coalition members are long-time residents, with a vested interest in the health and welfare of the community. In support of the Coalition, the City of Lynwood has made available to its members and to the community a phone app that enables individuals to dial any city department directly to report health and safety issues.

Although the program concluded in the first quarter of fiscal year 2017, the outcomes shown below and on the next page for the Vida Sana/NEOP and CHLAK programs in fiscal year 2016 outcomes are worth noting in this year's report since much of what was accomplished in fiscal year 2017 to address heart disease, stroke, diabetes, and obesity was built upon the achievements of previous years.

School-based Nurse

HCI's school-based nurse provides preventive health services and education to private elementary schools that lack the resources to retain a staff school nurse.

Care and services include health screenings for dental health, lice, scoliosis, and body mass index; childhood immunizations; and audio and vision screenings. The nurse also conducts immunization and TB assessments, follows up on student histories of illness and allergies, ensures student compliance with state immunization requirements, develops care plans for students with special needs, issues parent notifications for food allergies, medication forms, and any immediate health concerns, reviews and maintains updated emergency cards, provides translated communication for non-native English speaking parents/ families, conducts faculty and staff educations and parent educations, and receives health visits from students.

This past year, health education addressed Asthma management, anaphylaxis (food allergy) management, dental health, diabetes, growth and development, lice prevention and management, abstinence, immunizations, hand-foot-mouth disease, nutrition, scoliosis, tuberculosis, seizure management, hands-only CPR, stroke, and hypertension.

Heart Disease and Stroke Awareness and Prevention

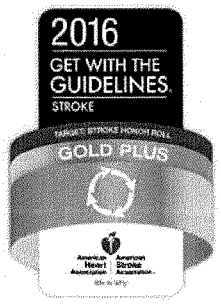
Coronary Heart Disease and Stroke are the leading and second leading causes of death in Service Planning Areas 6, 7, and 8. In response to these critical health issues as well as the lack of designated STEMI (heart attack) and stroke centers in the community, SFMC dedicated a comprehensive array of resources integrated with long-range planning and partnerships to become an approved STEMI Receiving Center and an approved Primary Stroke Center for Los Angeles County.

SFMC successfully attained status as an approved STEMI Receiving Center in March 2014, and an approved Primary Stroke Center in August 2014 by the LA County Emergency Medical Services Agency.

Within the first year the Stroke Center was established, SFMC received the Stroke Bronze Quality Achievement Award from the American Heart Association and American Stroke Association. The award recognized the hospital for achieving at least 90 consecutive days of 85% or higher adherence to all Get With The Guidelines® program quality indicators to improve quality of patient care and outcomes.

In May 2015, SFMC received the Stroke Silver Plus quality achievement award for attaining 85% or higher compliance with all Get With The Guidelines® - Stroke Quality Measures for 12 consecutive months to improve quality of patient care and outcomes.

In May 2016, St. Francis Medical Center earned the Get With The Guidelines® - Stroke Gold Plus Quality Achievement Award, for achieving 85% or higher compliance with all Get With The Guidelines® - Stroke Achievement Measures and 75% or higher compliance with five or more Get With The Guidelines® - Stroke Quality Measures for two or more consecutive years and achieving Time to Intravenous Thrombolytic Therapy $\leq$ 60 minutes in 50% or more or applicable acute ischemic stroke patients to improve quality of patient outcomes.



St. Francis also qualified for recognition on the Target: Stroke Honor Roll. This award recognizes St. Francis Medical Center's commitment and success in implementing a high standard of stroke care by ensuring that their stroke patients receive treatment that meets nationally accepted, evidence-based standards and recommendations.

The American Heart Association and American Stroke Association recognize this hospital for achieving 85% or higher compliance with all Get With The Guidelines®-Stroke Achievement Measures and 75% or higher compliance with five or more Get With The Guidelines®-Stroke Quality Measures for two or more consecutive years and achieving Time to Intravenous Thrombolytic Therapy ≤ 60 minutes in 50% or more of applicable acute ischemic stroke patients to improve quality of patient care and outcomes.

As part of the hospital's coordinated effort, Healthy Community Initiatives and Senior Circle wellness programs integrated specific classes and seminars on stroke awareness and prevention and heart health into their ongoing health education series.

Classes featured health care professionals and promotoras explaining the causes and symptoms of stroke, heart attack, and coronary heart disease, and how a person can identify and respond to life-threatening episodes and conditions.

In FY2018, SFMC has plans to advance its level of care and will move toward becoming a comprehensive stroke center. The hospital has a good start. In September 2017, SFMC earned a place in the American Heart Association/American Stroke Association's Gold Plus - Honor Roll Elite status, and a place in the organization's U.S. News and World Report (2018 edition) "Best Hospitals" listing of medical facilities that have the resources needed to accurately and consistently make time-critical decisions in the treatment of stroke patients.

The care and treatment provided through SFMC's Stroke Center and STEMI Center preserve life and quality of life for patients and their families.

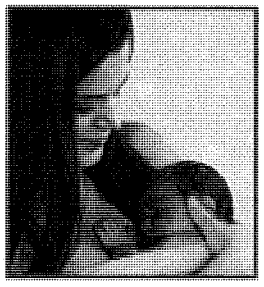
Baby-Friendly



In 2012, St. Francis Medical Center was awarded a three-year grant from First 5 LA to support its transition to become a Baby-Friendly designated hospital. Baby-Friendly hospitals are recognized for providing an "optimal level of care for breastfeeding mothers and their babies.

On October 27, 2014, SFMC was awarded Baby-Friendly designation by Baby-Friendly USA, the U.S. authority for the implementation of the Baby-Friendly Hospital Initiative, a global program sponsored by the World Health Organization and the United Nations Children's Fund (UNICEF).

The Baby-Friendly designation is given after a rigorous onsite survey is completed. The award recognizes SFMC for successfully implementing the Ten Steps to Successful Breastfeeding:

Having a written breastfeeding policy that is routinely communicated to all health care staff.

Training all health care staff in skills necessary to implement the policy.

Informing all pregnant women about the benefits and management of breastfeeding.

Helping mothers initiate breastfeeding within one hour of birth.

Showing mothers how to breastfeed and how to maintain lactation even if they are separated from their infants.

Giving newborn infants no food or drink other than breast milk, unless medically indicated.

Practicing "room in" – allowing mothers and infants to remain together 24 hours a day.

Encouraging breastfeeding on demand.

Giving no pacifiers or artificial nipples to breastfeeding infants.

Fostering the establishment of breastfeeding support groups and referring mothers to them on discharge from the hospital or clinic.

Breastfeeding has many proven benefits for babies, including a reduced risk for obesity and diabetes, meaning healthier children and adults in the long term. Breast-feeding is therefore aligned with SFMC's mission of building community wellness. In addition, breast-feeding nurtures the important bond between mother and baby, supporting both emotional health and well-being.

There are more than 20,000 designated Baby-Friendly hospitals and birth centers worldwide, with 467 active Baby-Friendly facilities in the U.S. and its territories. The award is maintained by continuing to practice the Ten Steps.

Before its Baby-Friendly initiative, SFMC had among the lowest Exclusive Breastfeeding Rates in Los Angeles County, with only an 8.9 percent rate in 2010. In fiscal year 2016, SFMC achieved an exclusive breastfeeding rate of 42%. In fiscal year 2017, the hospital's exclusive breastfeeding rate dipped to 26.4%; however, its rate for mothers initiating breastfeeding in the hospital increased by 7.8% over the previous year. Through ongoing evaluation of its program and continued education of doctors, nurses, and patients, SFMC is dedicated to increasing both the breastfeeding initiation and exclusive breastfeeding rates in FY2018.

FY 2018 Goal:

Increase breastfeeding rates through education of health care providers and maternity patients and programs and practices that support exclusive breastfeeding.

FY 2018 Objectives:

Continue to practice the Ten Steps as demonstrated by quality processes. The Baby-Friendly Hospital Initiative's emphasis is on practicing the Ten Steps, rather than setting percentage targets. Through consistent practice of the steps, the expectation is that exclusive breastfeeding rates will increase correspondingly.

Injury Prevention Program

The Injury Prevention Program works with schools, hospitals, and other public and private organizations to help prevent traumatic injury. The program addresses safety, suicide, bullying, domestic and gang violence, and self-esteem.

With firsthand knowledge of the devastating effects of violence and injury on patients and family members, SFMC's Trauma Team of physicians, nurses, and staff serve as presenters at violence prevention conferences, organize safety and injury prevention programs for students and youth, and work with elected officials and community groups to coalesce prevention efforts.

St. Francis Medical Center dedicates a full-time staff member, its Injury Prevention Coordinator, to developing and coordinating trauma and injury prevention programs, representing SFMC at coalition meetings, and organizing school-based programs that engage and empower students to develop peer-to-peer teaching formats, such as You Tube videos.

Collaborative partnerships have strengthened SFMC's ability to reach at-risk youth and young adults. In 2013, the hospital joined efforts with Southern California Crossroads (SCC) to establish an education and work skills program in our community. SCC is a non-profit organization committed to assisting underprivileged individuals living in violence-plagued neighborhoods lead healthy, peaceful and productive lives through prevention, intervention, and re-entry into society.

SCC received a "Work and Gain Education & Employment Skills (WAGEES) project grant in 2013 from The Latino Coalition, through A Better LA, to initiate SCC's violence intervention program. The program was organized by SFMC's Injury Prevention Coordinator, who also serves as the SCC program director. SFMC provides dedicated work space and facilities for the program in a nearby professional office building.

The Southern California Crossroads program provides GED preparation, job training and placement, and support services, with the goal of helping young men and women ages 18 to 24 transform their lives and achieve positive, productive lifestyles. The program reaches out to the hospital's trauma patients who are victims of violence, including ex-offenders and high school drop-outs, and other patients identified as "at risk."

Participants engage in a variety of comprehensive services that enable them to continue their education and receive training and skills for future employment, and that help to prepare them to successfully compete in the labor market.

The program also develops linkages between the services of state correctional agencies, local parole offices, local drug and alcohol treatment centers, and area workforce investment boards, and coordinates and leverages resources between other project grantees and training service providers.

In its first year, SCC's objective was to enroll 78 participants. Actual enrollment totaled 84. Due to its success, SCC was awarded a year two grant to continue the program.

In the second year, 228 participants were involved with SCC's programs.

A major component of SFMC's Injury Prevention Program is the expanded After-school Film Project. The project was established three years ago by the hospital's Injury Prevention Coordinator in partnership with Tribeca Film Institute, the nonprofit arts organization founded by Robert De Niro, Jane Rosenthal, and Craig Hatkoff. The program teaches students the art of filmmaking. Under the guidance of a teaching artist, the students write, shoot, act in, direct, and edit the films, which are produced as public service announcements and aired on YouTube. The films address bullying, teen suicide, domestic and gang violence, and other issues directly affecting kids in the community.

to future careers in the film industry and features visits from actors, directors, writers, musicians, and other artists who share their personal experiences. Students learn to use filmmaking as a source of self-expression and a tool to facilitate awareness and understanding of personal struggles and systemic obstacles which confront them.

In the film project's inaugural year, the Lynwood High School filmmakers' talents and efforts were recognized at the East Los Angeles Film Festival 2013, where their debut short film entitled, "Our First Movie," received an Outstanding Achievement by Youth Filmmakers award.

With the achievements of the first year, the project was expanded in fiscal year 2014 to include Hosler Middle School in Lynwood.

In June 2014, the After-school Film Project hosted its first community film screening at St. Francis Medical Center. More than 100 students, family members, SFMC Trauma team members, hospital leadership and staff, school officials, city officials, and media came in support of the students, and left feeling moved by the films' powerful messages. The event was covered by The Los Angeles Times.

SCC held its second annual youth film screening at the St. Francis Medical Center auditorium, in partnership with the hospital and Lynwood Unified School District. Parents, teachers, family members, medical staff, public officials, and supporters attended to honor more than 40 young film makers and to screen their 16 short films.

In the program's second year, 94 student film makers participated. In fiscal year 2016, the After-school Film Project expanded to include Cesar Chavez Middle School, Lynwood Middle School, Hosler Middle School, Firebaugh/Lynwood High School, and Advance Path Academy. In FY2017, 98 students were involved with the program.

A new activity in FY 2015 was the production of The Brick and the Rose, an anti-drug play produced in partnership with Academy Award winner Bobby Moresco (Hollywood screenwriter whose film credits include Crash and Million Dollar Baby), Paul Carrillo (SCC program director), and Southern California Crossroads. The play featured SCC film students and professional actors from Moresco's Actor's Gym. The play was a production of Whitefire Theatre and Dolly Frank Productions, in association with SCC and the Actor's Gym. Proceeds benefited SCC and its youth arts mentoring program.

In fiscal year 2015, SCC projects included a collaboration with "Boot Camp for New Dads." As summarized on the program's webpage, "Boot Camp for New Dads® (aka Daddy Boot Camp®) is a unique father-to-father, community-based workshop that inspires and equips men of different economic levels, ages and cultures to become confidently engaged with their infants, support their mates and personally navigate their transformation into dads."

The program includes a "dads-only" session for dads-to-be, and a follow-up session for dads and baby a couple months after the birth. Sessions are led by experienced fathers who teach what to expect and how to be a responsible and involved parent.

To promote awareness and raise funding for the Boot Camps program that was held that year at St. Francis Medical Center in collaboration with SCC and the hospital's Welcome Baby program, St. Francis served as the first stop for the 21st Century Dads Honor Ride 2015. The event involved a 21-day, 2,100-mile bike ride from LA to Chicago concluding on Father's Day, June 21. A team of intrepid cyclists kicked off their marathon journey at St. Francis Medical Center.

Helmeted and spandex-wearing dads and supporters of 21st Century Dads Foundation pedaled up to the Family Life Center at St. Francis for a family-friendly send-off before embarking on their 100+ mile first-day ride to Palm Springs.

Community supporters, hospital staff, the SFMC Trauma Services team, members of SCC and Welcome Baby, and new dads assembled in front of the hospital's parent-child statue to salute the cyclists who braved desert heat, mountain climbs and distracted drivers to raise funds for Bootcamps and other local programs that improve the lives of children, fathers, and families.

Children from father-absent homes are more likely to drop out of school, have problems with drugs and alcohol, get involved with crime and become incarcerated, become teen parents, have psychological problems and commit suicide.

This first-ever Dads Honor Ride provided support for local charities that help dads become more active in their children's lives.

Fiscal Year 2017

In fiscal year 2017, some of the projects in which the Injury Prevention Program was involved included classroom presentations on drug prevention to elementary school students during Red Ribbon week, an annual national campaign which focuses on drug prevention education and advocacy.

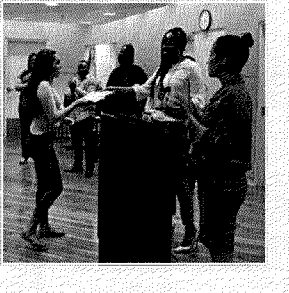
Southern California Crossroads also continued its After-school Film Project, culminating with the production of three short films. The films' student creators were able to travel to the Tribeca Film Festival in New York to screen and

Summer Youth Program Gives Students a Safe Place to Go and Grow

Twenty-six middle school students received more than just their certificates of promotion as they completed the Southern California Crossroad Summer Youth Program. They gained new skills that laid the groundwork for positive self-worth and a successful future.

The Summer Youth Program is a seven-week program available at no cost to 6th-8th grade students attending Lynwood middle schools. It engages students in extracurricular activities that promote social and life skills and includes workshops on healthy relationships, conflict resolution, bullying, healing and forgiveness, self-discovery and personal and career goal-setting. Students attend twice a week from noon to 4 p.m. at Lynwood High School. Each session starts with a healthy lunch.

The program is offered through Southern California Crossroads (SCC), a non-profit organization committed to assisting young people living in at-risk neighborhoods lead healthy, peaceful, productive lives through prevention and intervention. St. Francis Medical Center partners with SCC as part of the hospital's trauma and injury prevention efforts.



Cinthya Pasallo, program coordinator for SCC, was involved with the Summer Youth Program this past year and saw its benefits first-hand. She said, "Giving students the chance to be exposed to different communication as well as life skills and social skills makes such a strong impact on them. I was really excited to see their growth in just a few short weeks."

As the new school year begins, students have the opportunity to participate in SCC's Youth Mentoring Program. It offers additional life skills workshops either during the school day or after hours at the students' home schools. An SCC mentor is assigned to each school location to coordinate the program.

When asked what makes the youth program special, Pasallo responded, "It gives students space to express themselves. It's a safe place to go, and something to look forward to."

represent their work. A member of the SFMC Trauma Services team funded the trip for the students and attended with them.

SCC worked with students during the summer months as well, offering them a safe place to learn and grow through its Summer Youth Program (see story on previous page).

The Injury Prevention Program also again collaborated in the planning and execution of the 2017 Los Angeles Gang Violence Prevention and Intervention Conference. Now in its sixth year, the conference is hosted by SFMC Trauma Services and the organization Hospitals Against Violence Empowering Neighborhoods (HAVEN), of which SFMC is an original member. St. Francis Medical Center's Physician-in-Chief of Trauma Services founded HAVEN, and both he and the Injury Prevention Coordinator are key planners of the conference.

According to HAVEN, the conference focuses on youth and gang violence and how communities in cities here and abroad are impacted. The event brings together experts and practitioners from the fields of health, social services, and law enforcement along with civic and community leaders to share expertise and data-proven models to improve violence reduction services, practices and policies. The conference emphasizes collaboration and cross-sector partnerships, with a goal of changing the structure of gang prevention, intervention and suppression practice to incorporate a comprehensive model.

The 2017 conference topics addressed:

- Gang prevention

South LA Trauma Recovery Center (TRC)

Last year, St. Francis Medical Center Foundation was awarded a grant by the California Victim Compensation Board to fund a Trauma Recovery Center, for the grant term of Sept. 1, 2016 through June 30, 2018.

The South LA Trauma Recovery Center is a collaborative effort to coordinate services and resources for crime victims in South Los Angeles, helping to mitigate the long-term physical, mental and emotional trauma associated with violent crime. The TRC – implemented by St. Francis Medical Center, Southern California Crossroads, and other partners – use key hospital staff and additional internal personnel, and utilize outside human resources to provide a multidisciplinary continuum of care not previously available to victims.

Program Partners:

St. Francis Medical Center provides a full-time project director, grant administration and access to licensed professionals in its Behavioral Health Unit and

Children's Counseling Center.

Southern California Crossroads (SCC) houses the headquarters for the South LA TRC. SCC provides victim advocates and an office manager who coordinates day-to-day activities of the TRC and assists with program evaluation.

Jenesse Center, Inc., offers a comprehensive program to domestic violence victims and their children, including a victim advocate to provide services to domestic violence victims and consultation to clinicians on aspects of treatment.

Pepperdine University: The Pepperdine University Graduate School of Education and Psychology provides master's and doctoral students who serve as clinical case managers (CCMs) and one licensed clinical psychologist. The CCMs offer the mental health treatment services to TRC clients, supervised and overseen by the licensed clinical psychologist.

University of Southern California (USC) dedicates an Associate Professor of Psychology to supervise evaluation.

YWCA Greater Los Angeles provides counseling and support to TRC clients who are victims of sexual assault.

Journey Out supplies counseling and support to TRC clients who are victims of human trafficking, which includes sex trafficking and commercial sexual exploitation.

Project Services:

The South LA Trauma Recovery Center provides fundamental integrated services.

1) Outreach to hard to reach populations is conducted by victim advocates. Informational pamphlets, flyers, and public service announcements are made available at neighborhood liquor stores, corner markets, parks, and other places that residents congregate or have been identified as high-crime areas. In addition, the Health Benefits Resource Center (HBRC) at St. Francis provides referrals to the TRC and assists TRC clients in applying for health insurance, CalFresh benefits, and other basic needs.

2) Training for law enforcement agencies, community-based agencies and other health care practitioners is provided by SCC, Jenesse, YWCA and Journey Out. Quarterly training session topics include identifying crime, understanding the impact of crime on behavior and health and the importance of treating trauma arising from victimization.

3) Direct services for crime victims and family members of homicide victims is offered using an evidence-based treatment model.

The South LA TRC's direct services are primarily offered on site at SCC and at St. Francis, with partner agencies providing services at their sites or in victims' homes on an as needed basis. All crime victims and families of homicide victims are eligible for services.

Direct services, customized for each individual and taking into account the type of crime experienced, fall into the following three categories:

Medical Care: Follow up on injuries, rehabilitation, medication management, physical therapy and healthy living programs.

Mental Health: Short term counseling, crisis intervention, assessment and safety planning; long term therapy, group therapy, psychiatric follow up (as needed), counseling for children (as needed), advocacy (includes completing the application for victim compensation funds, providing information on grief and trauma, navigating the criminal justice system, and assisting with victim impact statements) and clinical case management.

Information and referrals for non-direct services: Legal services, benefits enrollment, vocational/educational support, job placement, transitional housing, transportation (including bus tokens and/or taxi vouchers), substance abuse, referrals to emergency shelters, etc.

Additional services provided to sexual assault victims include medical examinations, treatment, testing for HIV and sexually transmitted illness; transfer to a local SART (Sexual Assault Response Team) if needed; advocacy and support during interactions with law enforcement; court accompaniment; and referrals and crisis hotlines.

Projected Number of Clients:

The South LA TRC anticipates it will provide application assistance for 1,833 clients seeking crime victim compensation over the 22-month grant period, and will provide 917 victims with access to physical and mental health services, including emergency psychiatric services as needed.

Geographic Area:

The South LA TRC serves areas with high levels of poverty and criminal activities – physical assault, rape, domestic violence and homicide – including Lynwood, Florence-Graham, Compton, South Gate, Watts, Willowbrook, South Central, Athens and adjacent communities. The TRC estimates service hours of approximately 370 hours in year one and 550 in year two. St. Francis is located just over one mile from Compton, 1.25 miles from Watts, 1.35 miles from Willowbrook, and 1.6 miles from the Florence-Graham area.

In the FY2017 period, as part of the program's plan to identify individuals who could benefit from the TRC's services, the collaborative TRC team from Southern California Crossroads conducted cognitive behavioral intervention for trauma in schools (CBITS). This encompassed issuing a pre- and post-test, scoring for stress and depression. To provide some perspective on the need for TRC services, test scores over 11 are considered clinically significant and indicate the need for therapy. The students tested by the TRC team in the SFMC service area scored an average of 19. In response to the results, the TRC team began the process of obtaining consent from parents to provide counseling to the students.

St. Francis Medical Center's Injury Prevention Program is predicated on the principle that saving lives begins before the gurney, and should injury occur, compassionate intervention can promote the process of healing and recovery. Through these programs, SFMC endeavors to lay a promising path for residents within our community, and especially for young people ages 14-24 — the most critical and impressionable years — and to educate and equip the community's youth with the tools and knowledge that will give them alternatives to actions and attitudes that perpetuate violence. Every person deserves the chance to feel safe and supported, and to lead a healthy, productive life.

Programs Targeting Overall Improved Health and Community Building Meeting the Needs of Body, Mind, and Spirit

St. Francis Medical Center provides numerous community outreach programs which support overall improved health. Going beyond the priority needs identified in the Community Health Needs Assessment, St. Francis Medical Center lives out its mission by addressing the needs of body, mind, and spirit – those which make a person whole and help them to reach their full human potential.

Through specialized programs which are offered as part of SFMC's outreach to the community, SFMC helps to foster healing of the spirit, education and empowerment, and a heart for community service.

Senior Circle Wellness Program

Projections show the 65+ population will greatly increase (between 22% and 27 %) from 2014 to 2019, and increase again (between 18% and 31% from 2019 to 2024, in the state, county, and St. Francis Medical Center service area. The Senior Circle Wellness Program offers activities and educational sessions that are tailored for seniors. Monthly dinners on SFMC's main campus are for local senior citizens 55 years and older and offer nutritious and balanced meals and entertainment. Wellness programs address health concerns specific to seniors. Flu immunization clinics are also held. Through these activities, seniors benefit from opportunities for regular socialization and health education.

Children's Counseling Center–School-based Counselor

The Children's Counseling Center (CCC) was established in 1984 in response to the lack of intervention and treatment services available for abused and neglected children in Southeast Los Angeles. Today, the center provides behavioral health services for children, adolescents and their parents that range from intervention and treatment for the victims of child abuse to comprehensive prevention education programs.

CCC has developed a family-focused approach to providing services intended to foster healing and restore the dignity, trust and self-esteem of abused children and their families. It provides outpatient-based mental health services through individual, family and group counseling sessions and parent education classes at both its SFMC site and satellite office in South Gate and sessions on school campuses. In addition, mental health services and educational presentations are provided to area schools and organizations. Services are delivered in a culturally-sensitive, multi-ethnic manner.

In an effort to extend the Children's Counseling Center's reach and to improve access to counseling services for families in need, a school-based counselor was established to provide counseling and educational services on the campuses of four private schools within the SFMC service area that lacked counseling resources. The school-based counselor addresses emotional and behavioral distress, focusing on the issues that affect students at school and at home. Through early intervention, the counselor can help to reduce a significant barrier to successful learning.

The goal is to decrease symptoms of emotional and behavioral distress in elementary school-aged children, which can be obstacles to learning and to future self-sufficiency. The counselor's objectives include:

Providing personalized counseling for elementary school students who display emotional and behavioral distress.

Restoring dignity, self-esteem, and trust to distressed children.

Providing education to promote mental health awareness to children, parents, school faculty and staff.

Providing counseling and education services in a culturally-sensitive environment.

In keeping with SFMC's commitment to meeting our patients' health care needs -- body, mind, and spirit -- many individuals are assisted each year through the Support Services Fund, which provides resources outside of the clinical setting. Food, clothing, emergency housing, transportation, medications, and medical equipment are made available to patients and families in need. The provision of these resources supports personal health, well-being, and dignity. Funding is provided through philanthropic support.

Spiritual Care Services

St. Francis Medical Center recognizes that faith and spirituality are integral to wellness and healing. Our chaplains are available to assist patients and their family members with questions about spirituality and faith during times of crisis and illness, as well as to discuss quality and end-of-life issues. They also provide information on advance directives and palliative care. Upon request, the hospital chaplains will inform a patient's own minister of his or her hospitalization and will welcome the cleric to visit the patient here at the hospital. Our Spiritual Care team is also available for Catholic patients wishing to receive the Sacraments.

There are chapels located on the first floor of the Patient Tower and Family Life Center. Mass is held Monday through Friday and on Saturdays. Chapel services also can be viewed on the inpatient television channel.

In addition to the daily support SFMC's Spiritual Care team provides to all patients, it also extends additional support services through the provision of meals, grocery vouchers, transportation, fuel, and parking to community members in need.

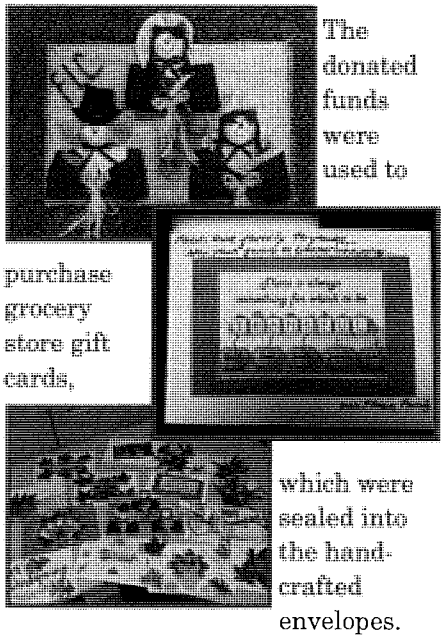
Thanksgiving Collection/Christmas Toy Drive

Last year, a Thanksgiving Collection was coordinated by the Spiritual Care team to provide families who lacked the financial resources to purchase groceries for a holiday dinner with a gift card to buy the food items needed to prepare a traditional Thanksgiving feast. Employees donated personal funds to the collection, and each department delivered its contribution in an envelope decorated by members of its team.



The donated funds were used to purchase grocery store gift cards, which were sealed into the hand-crafted envelopes. The specially-made envelopes were then presented by the Spiritual Care chaplains to local families identified by the hospital's Health Benefits Resource Center, Children's Counseling Center, and Emergency Department. 76 families received Thanksgiving gift cards, which provided holiday meals for approximately 380 family members.

The annual SFMC Christmas Toy Drive collects new toys, gift cards, and clothing for children of families with limited resources. The drive is coordinated by the SFMC Foundation. Donations are received from businesses, organizations, community members, and SFMC physicians and employees. Last year, about 1,000 toys, gift cards, and items of clothing were collected and presented as Christmas gifts to families in our community, including patients and family members in SFMC's Pediatrics Unit and Children's Counseling Center, families identified through the hospital's Spiritual Care Services and Health Benefits Resource Center, and children in Lynwood Unified School District schools and three private schools in the local area.

We thank the many businesses, organizations, board members, SFMC Foundation trustees, members of our health care team, and community members for their generous donations. Special thanks to Dr. Michael Stephen, Emergency Department physician, for coordinating a toy drive at his home house of worship, Lifeway Church in Glendale, Calif. His congregation collected more than 300 toys and gifts on behalf of St. Francis Medical Center's toy drive. We also thank the Watts Bears, an organization established by officers of the Los Angeles Police Department, Southeast Division. Their group provides coaching and mentorship to student athletes and fosters positive values and leadership. The Watts Bears donated more than 120 toys and gifts and delivered them personally to the medical center.

Volunteer Services

The Volunteer Services Program delivers orientation, training, and supervision to volunteers who support SFMC's day-to-day operations. The program benefits student volunteers by introducing them to future health care careers and providing job skills training as they bring administrative and customer service support to the hospital. The program also helps students fulfill community service hours required for high school graduation.

Adult and senior volunteers benefit from interpersonal interaction that supports their mental, emotional, and spiritual well-being while they contribute their talent and experience to various programs and departments. While imparting and improving customer service and support service skills, the Volunteer Services Program also enhances service delivery to patients, patients' families, visitors, and SFMC employees.

This past year, the Volunteer Services Program was able to provide 10 high school senior volunteers $3,000 in scholarships through contributions from the hospital, SFMC Foundation, and private donors.

A Volunteer Services Success Story... continues!

Last year, three volunteers were highlighted for being accepted into Clinical Laboratory Science (CLS) programs following their volunteer tenure in our hospital's Lab.

One of the volunteers was Blessy Centeno, who began volunteering at SFMC in 2010. She worked in the Lab in the 2015-16 school year. She graduated from Cal State Dominguez Hills in June 2016 and began her CLS program in the summer at Kaiser Permanente Reference Laboratories, North Hollywood.

She recently completed the program and was hired by SFMC as a full-time Clinical Laboratory Scientist.

Cathy Lazaran-McKee, Laboratory Director, said, "I'm thrilled to have Blessy back in the Lab. She is a talented young woman with a great future ahead of her. She is a wonderful asset to our team."

St. Francis Medical Center Receives AYE Community Service Award

St. Francis Medical Center received the Community Service Award at the 23rd Annual Awards Benefit Dinner of the Archdiocesan Youth Employment Services of Catholic Charities of Los Angeles (AYE). Presented on Oct. 5, 2017, the award recognized the hospital's leadership and dedicated service to the well-being of the community and expressly acknowledged the long-standing partnership between AYE and St. Francis' Volunteer Services program.

The hospital's Volunteer Services program has collaborated with AYE for 15 years. It works with the organization to match and place young men and women in volunteer positions at the medical center, where they can learn interview and job skills, gain work experience, and explore future health care careers. Since the partnership began, 200 AYE youths age 14-24 have secured placement after completing the hospital's instructive application and interview process. The youths have provided valuable volunteer support services in departments such as Case Management, Nutrition Services, and Human Resources, as well as in the Orthopedics Clinic and on patient floors.

Gilda Acosta, director, Community Health Initiatives and Volunteer Services, accepted the award on behalf of St. Francis. She said, "Our partnership with AYE has enabled us to connect with young men and women who are bright, hard-working, and eager to learn, but who may lack the confidence and training to seek and secure employment. Through our organizations' joint mentorship, we have been able to provide a pathway of empowerment for our community's youth so that they can build the skills and self-assurance they need to pursue a fulfilling career."

The event was attended by church, school, business and community leaders, as well as by representatives from companies that also received recognition awards, including Union Bank, College of the Canyons, and Warehouse Shoe Sale. Four past students were honored as Exemplary Alumni for overcoming extreme social, economic and personal barriers. They are now on their way to achieving their academic and career goals.

City, county and federal representatives were also on hand to acknowledge the collaborative work of AYE and its partners. St. Francis was presented with a Certificate of Special Congressional Recognition by the office of Karen Bass, member of Congress, 37th District of California, for our shared mission with AYE to provide resources and opportunities for young people to achieve self-sufficiency. In addition the hospital received a Commendation from the County of Los Angeles for its dedicated service and contributions to the community, presented by the office of Mark Ridley-Thomas, Chairman of the Board, Los Angeles County Supervisor, 2nd District.

Acosta said these awards will be hung prominently in the Volunteer Services department to inspire past, present, and future volunteers. She noted the event's theme, "Building Bridges to Success," and nodded firmly in agreement stating, "Many of our former AYE volunteers are now furthering their education and training in the health care field. We are so proud of these students and will be on the lookout for them as our future medical professionals working within these walls, standing right beside us serving our community."

Paramedic Education

Paramedic Education is provided to SFMC mobile intensive care nurses (MICN) as part of the Emergency Department's pre-hospital care coordination. This training is open to MICNs, RNs, paramedics, and Emergency Medical Technicians (EMT) throughout the community to ensure consistent delivery of the highest standards of quality care by health care professionals. Education includes Emergency Medical Services updates, field care audits, paramedic base station updates, and CPR review. The program affords health care first responders the opportunity to complete required education hours for license renewal.

Sidewalk CPR Day

As part of a county-wide recognition of National CPR Week, St. Francis Medical Center hosted "Sidewalk CPR" on June 1. According to the American Heart Association, 70 percent of cardiac arrests occur at home. Only about 10 percent of cardiac arrest victims outside the hospital setting survive. Immediate and effective CPR can more than double a victim's chance of survival. Administering CPR could save the life of a family member or other loved one.

The session gave instruction on hands-only CPR. This technique is rapidly growing as a way to empower bystanders to save a life when someone suffers sudden cardiac arrest. With each chest compression using this method, ordinary citizens can easily provide the ongoing blood flow needed to give a patient a much better chance of survival once responders arrive.

The hospital's Non-Clinical Educator & Affiliation Coordinator for Learning, Education, Research and Development, coordinated the event. Classes were held in both English and Spanish, with 35 community members participating. CPR instructors included SFMC RNs, who demonstrated the proper method of hands-only CPR. They then worked with participants to help them practice and perfect techniques on mannequins.

When asked why it is important to learn hands-only CPR, our coordinator replied, "We hope that hands- only training will inspire and teach everyone how to perform compressions and save a life."

School and Community Tours, Community Events

Throughout the year, St. Francis Medical Center receives requests from various schools and community organizations for tours of the hospital. The Marketing and Communications Department and the SFMC Foundation respond to these requests and coordinate tours that educate students and community members on the functions of various departments and the roles of the doctors, nurses, and staff in each unit. The tours also introduce students to a variety of health care career options. Tour groups have included elementary school groups, high school health and safety classes, international medical students, girl and boy scout troops, and girls and boys clubs.

SFMC also receives request to participate in school-based and community-based activities coordinated by outside organizations. Staff from our Healthy Community Initiatives, Children's Counseling Center, Business Development, Health Benefits Resource Center, Volunteer Services and Welcome Baby teams have had the opportunity to represent the hospital and collaborate with local schools and agencies that share our commitment to improving community health. Through these activities, our teams provide health education and resources that promote health prevention and wellness.

Last year, tours were coordinated for the following groups:

Lynwood High School - A collaboration with American Career College at St. Francis, this tour provided 41 high school students with an introduction to health care career options, a review of the educational requirements, and a tour of SFMC's Laboratory, Neonatal Intensive Care Unit, Wound Care Center, and Hyperbaric Oxygen Treatment. Doctors, nurses, and unit leaders provided overviews of their departments, along with treatment demonstrations and close-up views of slides and specimens. Many of the students expressed interest in pursuing a career in medicine.

Huntington Park Institute of Applied Medicine Community Health Fair - SFMC's Children's Counseling Center and Volunteer Services department provided information and resources to the more than 1,500 attendees. The fair helped to raise awareness of community health care issues and the services available to address them. The primary outreach was to families living in the lower socioeconomic regions of South and Southeast Los Angeles, which often suffer from chronic health care concerns.

Delegation of Chinese Health Care Professionals - A tour of the medical center was coordinated for a delegation of physicians and other health care professionals from China. The group visited various departments including Surgery, NICU, and Credentialing. The delegation had the opportunity to learn about the U.S. health care delivery system, and both the SFMC and Chinese health care teams shared best practices.

COPE Health Scholars Program

Initiated in 2010, the COPE Health Scholars Program provides training to young, bright and motivated student health professionals from area colleges, universities, and trade schools. The program is provided by COPE Health Solutions at SFMC.

The program builds and sustains a competent workforce that is committed to the care of the community and reflects the community's culture and demographics. The scholars gain valuable work experience as they support SFMC's patient care, ancillary, administrative, and support services. Students' duties include patient care support, data collection, presentation preparation, patient menu collection, and post discharge phone calls, among others.

Program Structure - Best-fit, pre-health professions students, graduates, and those in "career transitions" are recruited to engage in a hands-on educational experience by providing comfort care and administrative support within a health care setting. The program links health care providers with tomorrow's pipeline of health professionals, engages youth in improving the health and well-being of their communities, and inspires new models of patient care.

The program draws from committed students in health professions pathways, and those enrolled in an experiential course certified by the University of California, Los Angeles, Fielding School of Public Health.

The COPE-UCLA partnership was established in 2015. The collaboration provides certificates to the students through the Fielding School of Public Health.

All applicants are pre-screened via application, interview, health clearance, and 30-hour training.

The program includes a 280-hour commitment, requiring a minimum of one 4-hour shift/week. It provides hands-on learning in a different department every three months.

Health scholars benefit in numerous ways. They are engaged in key initiatives targeted to improve the patient experience, such as post-discharge calls and community health projects. They receive professional development and mentoring and are connected with entry-level hospital and health system jobs. In addition, they develop health leadership skills.

Asian Pacific Liver Center (APLC)
Asian Americans are disproportionately affected by chronic hepatitis B (CHB) infection, accounting for more than half of the estimated 2 million Americans with CHB. While Asian Americans make up less than 5% of the total US population, they account for more than 50% of Americans living with CHB. Approximately 1 in 12 Asian Americans are living with CHB, yet one-third or more are unaware of their hepatitis B status. Additionally, up to 30% of individuals with CHB will die of its complications such as cirrhosis and/or liver cancer if left untreated. In fact, the death rate due to CHB complications is seven times greater among Asian Americans than it is for whites. Effective treatments and vaccinations are currently available for CHB, which can prevent disease progression. However, more than 60% of CHB cases are undiagnosed since most persons with Our targeted population is the Asian Pacific Islander (API) communities in Los Angeles and Orange Counties, particularly in the cities of Los Angeles and Long Beach in Los Angeles County and communities in northern Orange County, where the concentration of foreign-born individuals from hepatitis B virus endemic countries is one of the highest in the nation. According to the 2013 U.S. Census, among the approximately 10 million residents of Los Angeles County, 14% are API, and of those, 35% are foreign-born. Depending on their country of origin, 5 to 15% of API immigrants have CHB. In some Pacific Rim countries, as much as 20% of the population may be chronically infected with hepatitis B, and more Pacific Rim immigrants pass through southern California than any other entry point in the United States. Overall, the rate of hepatitis B infection is 30 to

I. Introduction

St. Vincent Medical Center (SVMC) is a 366-bed, short-term acute care, general hospital located in the downtown area of Los Angeles. SVMC specializes in tertiary level services with a long-standing reputation in cardiac care, organ transplantation, oncology services, orthopedic services and the treatment of hearing disorders. SVMC has an extensive and rich tradition of serving the residents of Los Angeles along with patients from other states and from countries throughout the world. Founded in 1856 by the Daughters of Charity of St. Vincent de Paul and Los Angeles' first hospital, SVMC has been serving the community for over 155 years. In December 2015, SVMC became part of Verity Health System.

II. Organizational Structure

A Community Benefit Committee chaired by a member of senior management, meets monthly to address and discuss how the medical center is fulfilling its role in the community. This group comprised of staff whose departments or programs are involved in a wide-range of community benefit activities and projects:

- reviews and monitors activities spelled out in the plan;
- discusses, initiates and prioritizes plans for future projects in response to community needs;
- ensures proper reporting and tracking of community benefit activities;
- determines and assesses the financial value of certain hospital resources for community benefit purposes, as appropriate; and
- ensures quarterly and annual community benefit reports are submitted to the State.

III. Community Needs Assessment

Background and Purpose

In 1994, the California State Legislature enacted Senate Bill 697 (SB 697) requiring non-profit hospitals to conduct a needs assessment every three years. The needs and priorities identified in the tri-annual assessment served as the basis for our annual community benefit plan. In order to complete the 2016 Community Needs Assessment and consistent with previous needs assessments, SVMC and two other hospitals pooled resources to collect information about the health and well-being of residents in their service community. This group, called the Los Angeles Metropolitan Hospital Collaborative, includes:

- California Hospital Medical Center
- Good Samaritan Hospital
- St. Vincent Medical Center

Methodology and Process

Metro Collaborative CHNA Framework and Process

The Metro Hospital Collaborative is comprised of three hospitals serving the Los Angeles community— California Hospital Medical Center, Good Samaritan Hospital, and Saint Vincent Medical Center. These hospitals joined together to conduct a joint data gathering process and one stakeholder engagement effort in order to better utilize resources and reduce the burden on community members who are called upon for input.

This section outlines the steps taken to identify the 2016 community health needs, via data indicators (secondary data), and community input (primary data).

Secondary Data

The CHNA included the collection of over 200 data indicators that helped illustrate the health of the community. These secondary data were collected from a wide range of local, county, state and national sources to present demographics, mortality, morbidity, health behaviors, clinical care, social and economic factors, and physical environment. These categories are based on the County Health Rankings Model.

The County Health Rankings Model illustrates the relationship between health drivers (called Health Factors in the diagram) which include social and economic factors, health behaviors, clinical care and physical environment, and health outcomes (morbidity and mortality). Combined, health drivers and health outcomes are health needs.

Data available at the ZIP Code level were compiled for each hospital's service area. When not available by ZIP Code, then the data for the appropriate representative portion of the SPA was utilized.

A comprehensive data matrix, the "Scorecard", was created listing all identified secondary indicators. The Scorecard included for each hospital service area secondary data collected from regional, state and federal agencies, primary data mentions (focus groups and individual stakeholder interviews; see next section for details) as the issues emerged as priorities among community members. The Scorecard also included benchmark data in the form of Healthy People 2020 (HP2020) goals, which are nationally recognized. Additionally, the most recent county or state data source was also used as a comparison.

Primary Data—Community Input

Primary data were collected through interviews and focus groups with key stakeholders including patients, patient navigators, community liaisons and hospital administrators. Two community focus groups held on Tuesday August 16 and Tuesday August 30, 2016 were attended by a total of 21 people. Participants were invited by the Metro Hospital Collaborative.

Focus group participants identified a list of most important health needs (comprised of health drivers and health outcomes, per the County Health Rankings Model). To begin to gain a sense for the perceived severity of each health need in the community, each participant was given a total of ten sticker dots and asked to vote for the five most severe health outcomes and the five most severe health drivers on a grid created during the focus group. For the purpose of the voting activity, severity was defined as the level to which a health outcome or health driver affected the health and lives of those in the community.

In addition to focus group interviews, in-depth semi-structured interviews were conducted with 5 key stakeholders in August 2016. Qualitative feedback from both the focus groups and individual interviews are incorporated in the Stakeholder Feedback sections below each Health Outcome.

The goal of the primary data collection component of the CHNA was to identify through the perceptions and knowledge of varied and multiple stakeholders health outcomes and drivers that are of particular concern to the service area community. Primary data collection also produced a list of community assets and information about gaps in resources. An inventory of existing community assets and resources was also compiled as a part of the CHNA process.

Analytical Methods Used To Identify Community Health Needs

The CNM consultant team used a modified content analysis to identify the main themes that emerged from community input through the focus groups. CNM used a three-step process for analyzing and interpreting primary data (community input): 1) all information gathered during focus groups and interviews were entered into Microsoft Excel, 2) spreadsheet data were reviewed multiple times using content analysis to begin sorting and coding the data, and 3) through the coding process, themes, categories and quotes were identified.

Analysis to Identify Main Themes Emerged Via Community Input

To help identify health needs, two requirements needed to be met: 1) a health need had to be mentioned in the primary data collection more than once and 2) a secondary data indicator associated with the need had to perform poorly against a designated benchmark (county averages, state averages, or Healthy People 2020 goals). Once a health need met both requirements, it was designated as an identified health need.

List of identified health needs, in alphabetical order:

- Access to Health Care
- Alcohol and Substance Abuse, and Tobacco use
- Cancer
- Cardiovascular disease (including Cholesterol)
- Cultural and Linguistic barriers
- Diabetes
- Food insecurity
- Healthy behavior (including Physical Activity)
- Homelessness
- Hypertension
- Mental health
- Obesity/overweight
- Oral health
- Poverty (including Unemployment)
- Preventive care
- Sexually transmitted diseases
- Transportation
- Violence and injury

Data Limitations and Gaps

The secondary data allows for an examination of the broad health needs within a community. However, there are some limitations with regard to this data, as is true with any secondary data. Data were not always available at the ZIP code level, so county-level data as well as SPA-level data were also utilized. Moreover, disaggregated data for age, ethnicity, race, and gender are not available for all data indicators, which limited the examination of disparities of health issues within the community. At times, a stakeholder-identified a health issue may not have been reflected by the secondary data indicators. In addition, data are not always collected on an annual basis, meaning that some data are several years old.

I. Prioritization of Health Needs

Once a list health needs was developed, a process was completed to prioritize the health needs. The steps to that process are outlined in the section that follows.

Community Ranking of Health Needs

A total of 28 community stakeholders convened by the Metro Hospital Collaborative on August 26, 2016 for a Prioritization Forum with the goal of ranking the identified health needs. Participants were provided the data Scorecard and allowed time to review the data and discuss in small groups. CNM consultants were available in the room to answer data questions. To capture all groups' observations, each group was given a worksheet where they could provide input on: geographic areas impacted, specific populations, organizations and programs in the community and gaps in resources. After a full group discussion on their observations, they were given the opportunity to provide input via "dot voting" and completing a survey.

All participants were given sticker dots (10 sticker dots each) and asked to cast their sticker votes for the most severe health needs in the community.

Post-voting, they were asked to complete a written survey that asked them to score each identified health need based on the following criteria:

- MAGNITUDE- Does the issue affect a large portion of the population?
- SEVERITY- How severely does this health need impact the community?
- CHANGE OVER TIME - Has the health need improved or is it getting worse over time?
- RESOURCES - The availability of community resources and assets to address this health need.
- DISPARITIES- Does the issue disproportionately affect vulnerable population groups?

Participants were given a companion document that further explained the four criteria and the scoring system. Absent participants were allowed the opportunity to complete the survey online if they were not able to attend Prioritization forum. A total of 33 participants completed the survey in person and 13 online, for a total of 46 completed surveys.

Natality

Births

In 2012, there were a total of 132,608 births in California, of which 4.4% (n=5,888) took place in the SVMC service area. Within the service area, the greatest number of births was in ZIP codes 90011-South Los Angeles (12.1%), 90044-Athens (8.7%) and 90003-South Los Angeles (6.3%).

Births by Mother's Age

In 2012, most births in the SVMC service area were to women between the ages of 20 and 29 (47.8%), followed by those between the ages of 30 and 34 (24.7%), and 35 years and older (17.8%). Overall, mothers in the service area were younger at the time of their child's birth than mothers in Los Angeles County, where 21.2% of mothers were 35 years of age and older and 27.3% of mothers were between the ages of 30 and 35.

In contrast, the percentage (3.2%) of White mothers who gave birth in the SVMC service area was significantly lower than Los Angeles County (17.4%).

Birth Weight

In the United States, the average newborn weighs about 8 pounds. Any baby born weighing less than 5 pounds, 8 ounces (2,500 grams) falls into the low birth weight category. A baby weighing less than 1500 grams falls into the very low birth weight category. Medical risk factors for having a low-birthweight baby include chronic health conditions like high blood pressure, diabetes and heart, lung and kidney problems and infections. Additional risk factors include smoking, drinking alcohol and substance abuse as well as mother's age and ethnicity. Low birth weight infants are more likely to have respiratory problems, feeding problems, bleeding in the brain and are more likely to die in the first year of life than normal birth weight infants. Low birth weight infants are also more likely to experience long-range developmental and physical health problems including: diabetes, heart disease, high blood pressure, metabolic syndrome and obesity.

In 2011 in the SVMC service area, 6.3% of babies were born with low birth weight and another 1.3% with very low birth weight. ZIP codes 90007-South Los Angeles and 90008-Baldwin Hills/Crenshaw had the highest incidence of low birth weight (9.8% and 9.6% of all births, respectively), and ZIP codes 90043- View Park and 90008-Baldwin Hills/Crenshaw had the highest incidence of very low birth weight (2.6% and 2.2%, respectively).

Breastfeeding

There are numerous beneficial short-term and long-term health effects of breastfeeding for mothers and babies. Recent research has also demonstrated that breastfeeding carries potential economic and environmental benefits for communities. The short-term benefits of breastfeeding to babies include nutritionally balanced meals, some protection against common childhood infections and better survival during the first year of life. With respect to health during the lifetime, recent research has demonstrated that breastfeeding during infancy has protective effects for the baby against chronic non- communicable diseases in adulthood, particularly hypertension, obesity, diabetes, hypercholesterolemia and cardiovascular disease. Moreover, breastfeeding carries health benefits for mothers including lowering their risk of type 2 diabetes, certain kinds of breast cancer and ovarian cancer. With respect to the economic benefits of breastfeeding, families purchasing infant formula during the first year of a child's life can save between $1,200 and $1,500 through breastfeeding instead. This is a significant savings for low-income families.

Women who stop breastfeeding before their infant is three months old often do so because of breastfeeding management problems that are preventable and can be addressed through breastfeeding education and support. Hospitals can be designated as "baby-friendly" if they follow steps to promote breastfeeding.

Breastfeeding is an important element in the development of newborns. In 2015 in the SVMC service area, nearly half (49.7%) of mothers breastfed their babies for at least six months, a percentage equal to Los Angeles County (49.7%) but still lower than the Healthy People 2020 goal of >=60.6%.

Over a quarter (28.0%) of mothers in the SVMC service area breastfed their babies for at least twelve months, a higher percentage than in Los Angeles County (27.6%). A larger percentage (31.7%) of mothers in SPA 6 breastfed their babies at least twelve months—more than in Los Angeles County (27.6%).

Mortality

Deaths

In 2012, ZIP codes accounting for the most deaths in the SVMC service area include 90044-Athens (8.1%) and 90047-Los Angeles/West Athens (7.7%)

Deaths by Age Group

Compared to Los Angeles County averages, the incidence of mortality in the SVMC service area in 2010 is particularly high among children less than 1 year of age (2.1% of all deaths for the SVMC service area compared to 1.1% of all deaths for LA county), as well as among the following age groups: 25-34 years, 35-44 years, 45-54 years, and 55-64 years. Consequently, the probability of living to 85 years and older is much lower in the SVMC service area (24.4%) than in Los Angeles County (32.2%).

Cause of Death

In 2012, heart disease (26.1%) was the leading cause of death in the SVMC service area, which was slightly less than Los Angeles County (27.9%). Cancer (23.0%) was the second leading cause of death in the SVMC service area and reflected a slightly lower percentage than Los Angeles County (24.6%).

The SVMC service area sees a much higher proportion of deaths to influenza/pneumonia and diabetes (5.0% and 4.9%, respectively) than Los Angeles County (3.5% and 3.4%, respectively). Conversely, a lower than average proportion of residents in the SVMC service area died as a result of chronic lower respiratory disease and cancer.

Access to Healthcare

Access to health care services is a concept that encompasses one's ability to afford health care, navigate the health care system, access a health care location where needed services are provided and find a health care provider with whom one can communicate and build trust. Access to health care impacts overall physical, social, and mental health status, the prevention of disease and disability, the detection and treatment of health conditions, quality of life, preventable death and life expectancy for individuals.

Medicare Beneficiaries

Medicare is a Federal program administered by the Centers for Medicare & Medicaid Services (CMS) and provides health insurance for people age 65 or older, those under age 65 with certain disabilities or ALS (amyotrophic lateral sclerosis, or Lou Gehrig's disease), and people of any age with End-Stage Renal Disease (permanent kidney failure requiring dialysis or a kidney transplant). The Medicare program provides insurance through various initiatives, including insurance for inpatient hospital, skilled nursing facility and home health services; coverage for physician services, outpatient hospital services, durable medical equipment and certain home health services; health plan options that are provided by Medi- care-approved private insurance companies (e.g., HMOs, PPOs); and, insurance coverage for prescription drugs.[20] The Medicaid program is jointly funded by the federal and state government, and provides health insurance to eligible low-income adults, children, pregnant women, elderly adults and people with disabilities.

In 2014, the SVMC service area population had a lower percentage of individuals benefit from using Medicare (0.8%) than Los Angeles County (1.3%). In contrast, a higher percentage of the population living in SVMC's service area received Medicaid (26.9%) than in Los Angeles County (19.2%). In addition, the service area population had a higher percentage of individuals using both Medicare and Medicaid (4.8%) than the rest of Los Angeles County (3.5%).

Medi-Cal and Healthy Families Programs

Medi-Cal, California's Medicaid program, is a public health insurance program that provides health care services at no or low cost to low-income individuals. The federal government mandates a set of basic services, which include but are not limited to physician, family nurse practitioner, nursing facility, hospital inpatient and outpatient, laboratory and radiology, family planning, early and periodic screening, diagnosis and treatment for children. In addition to these mandatory services, California provides optional benefits such as home- and community-based services (HCBS) waivers, and medical equipment.[21]

The Healthy Families Program offers low-cost insurance that provides health, dental and vision coverage to children who do not have insurance or who do not qualify for no-cost Medi-Cal. However, starting January 1, 2013, no new enrollments of children into the Healthy Families Program were allowed and existing enrollees are being transitioned into the Medi-Cal program because of a change in state law.[23]

In 2011 in the SVMC service area, a total of 39.5% of the population is enrolled in Medical, and 1.7% of the families are enrolled in Healthy Families.

ZIP codes 90011-South Los Angeles (12.1%), 90044-Athens (10.0%), and 90003-South Los Angeles (7.7%) had a high percentage of Medi-Cal beneficiaries. ZIP codes 90011 (10.3%), 90044 (7.9%), and 90001 (7.1%) were areas with the highest percentage of Healthy Families enrollment in the SVMC service area.

Federally Qualified Health Centers

Federally Qualified Health Centers (FQHCs) are community-based and patient-directed organizations that serve populations with limited access to health care. They consist of public and private nonprofit health care organizations that meet certain criteria under the Medicare and Medicaid programs and receive funds under the Health Center Program (Section 330 of the Public Health Service Act).

In 2015, there were an estimated 747 health centers in the SVMC service area.

Uninsured

In the SVMC service area in 2014, 26.1% of adults did not have health insurance (or were uninsured) — which is higher than the percentage of uninsured adults in the County (16.1%).

In 2011, 3.9% of children in the SVMC service area did not have health insurance (or were uninsured), lower than the uninsured rate for children in Los Angeles County (6.4%).
Specifically, in 2014, a substantially larger percentage (28.4%) of the SVMC service area population was uninsured when compared to Los Angeles County (21.5%). Higher percentages in ZIP Codes 90057- Westlake (33.4%), 90006-Pico Heights (33.4%), and 90011-South Los Angeles (33.1%) were uninsured when compared to the SVMC service area (28.4%).

Lack of Consistent Source of Care

In 2015, the SVMC service area had a similar percentage of adults (19.5%) who lacked a consistent source of primary care when compared with Los Angeles County (19.7%).

Difficulty Accessing Care

In 2015, the SVMC service area population had a similar percentage of adults (23.5%) experience difficulty in accessing medical care to that of Los Angeles County (23.6%). Again, a similar percentage (11.2%) of children in the SVMC service area had difficulty accessing medical care to those of Los Angeles County (11.0%).

Foreign-Born Residents and U.S. Citizen Status

In 2011, half of the residents in Los Angeles County were born outside of the United States and had not become U.S. Citizens (54.5%) similar to the percentage in California (54.4%).

Language

In 2015, the percent of residents in the SVMC service area who spoke only English (32.5%) was considerably lower than in Los Angeles County (42.9%). In contrast, the percent of residents in the SVMC service area who spoke only Spanish at home (51.9%) was higher than in Los Angeles County (39.6%).

The percentage of the SVMC service area population whose primary language was of Asian origin (13.0%) was similar to Los Angeles County (10.9%). The percentage of the SVMC population speaking a language of Indo-European origin (1.8%) was much lower than in Los Angeles County (5.6%). ZIP codes with high percentages of the population speaking Spanish at home are 90001-Los Angeles (86.8%) and 90011-South Los Angeles (87.5%). ZIP codes with high percentages of the population speaking an Asian/Pacific Islander language at home are 90020-Hancock Park (40.5%) and 90071 (38.5%).

In 2014, 3.6% of residents in the SVMC service area experienced a difficulty understanding their doctor during doctor visits. This was slightly higher than Los Angeles County (3.2%).

Poverty (including Unemployment)

In 2015, nearly double the percentage of families in the SVMC service area lived below poverty (27.6%) in comparison to families in Los Angeles County (14.9%). Similarly, the percentage of families living below poverty with children (22.4%) was nearly double that of Los Angeles County (11.7%). Several areas with a higher concentration of families with children living below poverty include zip codes 90007- South Los Angeles (38.3%), 90017-Downtown Los Angeles (35.0%) and 90016-West Adams (35.0%).

In the SVMC service area, a slightly lower percentage of families were at or above the poverty level (72.4%) than in Los Angeles County (85.2%). Only ZIP codes 90071-ARCO Towers (100.0%) and 90010- Wilshire (86.8%) had higher than average percentages of the population living at or above poverty. The percentage of families at or above poverty with children was lower in the SVMC service area (34.4%) than in the rest of the county (41.9%). Only ZIP code 90071-ARCO Tower had a higher percentage of families with children living at or above poverty (50.0%) than the County average.

Employment Status

In 2015, a majority of the SVMC service area population was employed (55.4%), a slightly higher rate than in Los Angeles County (57.0%). At the same time, 8.2% of the population in the SVMC service area was unemployed, slightly higher than Los Angeles County's 7.6% unemployment rate. In particular, ZIP codes 90004-Hancock Park (9.9%), 90043-View Park-Windsor Hills (9.7%) and 90026-Echo Park (9.5%) reflected areas with the highest percentage of unemployed residents in the SVMC service area. The remaining 36.3% of the population in the SVMC service area were classified as currently not in the labor force.

Employment Status

ZIP Code	In Armed Forces	Employed	Unemployed	Not in Labor Force
SVMC Service Area	0.1%	55.4%	8.2%	36.3%
Los Angeles County	0.0%	57.0%	7.6%	35.3%

Students Receiving Free or Reduced-Price Meals

Student eligibility for FRPM serves as a proxy measure of family poverty, as the federal poverty threshold tends to underestimate the extent of poverty, particularly in high cost areas. Research indicates that families in California can earn two or more times the federal poverty level and still struggle to meet their basic needs.

A child's family income must fall below 130% of the federal poverty guidelines ($31,005 for a family of four in 2014-2015) to qualify for free meals, or below 185% of the federal poverty guidelines ($44,123 for a family of four in 2014-2015) to qualify for reduced price meals.

In 2015, the percentage of children eligible for the Free or Reduced Price School Meal (FRPM) program was 66.6%, which is an increase from 2011 (61.8%). Overall, these percentages are above that for California (58.6%).

Oral Health

Dental care is essential to overall health, and is relevant as a health need because engaging in preventive behaviors decreases the likelihood of developing future oral health and related health problems. In addition, oral diseases such as cavities and oral cancer cause pain and disability for many Americans.

Behaviors that may lead to poor oral health include tobacco use, excessive alcohol consumption, and poor dietary choices. Barriers that prevent or limit a person's use of preventive intervention and treatments for oral health include limited access to and availability of dental services, a lack of awareness of the need, cost, and fear of dental procedures. Social factors associated with poor dental health include lower levels or lack of education, having a disability, and other health conditions such as diabetes.

Access

In the SVMC service area, over half the population (60.6%) did not have dental insurance coverage in 2015, higher than the uninsured rate Los Angeles County (51.8%).

As of 2013, there were a a total of 8,417 dentists in Los Angeles County, making up over a quarter (26.7%) of dentists in California.

For an area to be determined a Dental Health Professional Shortage Area, it must have a population-to- dentist ratio of at least 5,000:1. Los Angeles County does not meet this criterion, as its ratio is 2,484:1.

Although the population-to-dentist ratio is not high enough in Los Angeles County to be considered critical, there is still an issue with access to dental care.

Affordability

Often, dental insurance is limited and coverage is minimal, so people have to pay high out-of-pocket costs. In addition, most don't have dental insurance coverage and the cost of dental services is too high and therefore unattainable for the average person.

In the SVMC service area, over a third (35.0%) of adults could not afford dental care in 2011—including regular check-ups—which is higher than the rate for Los Angeles County (30.3%). SPA 4 reported an even higher percentage (37.6%).

In Los Angeles County, a number of free or low-cost dental services are available for children through community clinics and state and county programs. However, many of those entities have fallen victim to budget cuts, which have significantly limited the availability of those services.

In 2015, the percentage of children in the SVMC service area (12.4%) who were unable to afford dental care was higher than Los Angeles County (11.5%). SPA 4-Metro's percentage (15.5%) was higher than both the service area and Los Angeles County.

Summary of Key Findings

The CHNA process represented in this report examined both upstream and downstream indicators of population health. Drawing from the County Health Rankings

St. Vincent Medical Center's Response to Community Needs

In accordance with its resources and expertise, St. Vincent Medical Center has prioritized from among the priority health needs and drivers identified in the community health needs assessment the areas it can have the greatest impact: (1) obesity/overweight, (2) diabetes, (3) preventive care, (4) cardiovascular disease including hypertension and high cholesterol risk factors, (5) access to care, (6) healthy behaviors, (7) cultural and linguistic barriers, (8) physical activity, (9) transportation, and (10) cancer.

High priority community health needs and drivers not addressed in St. Vincent Medical Center's Community Benefit Plan include programs on homelessness, poverty, mental health, violence and injury, oral health, food insecurity, substance abuse, Alcoholism, STDs and HIV/AIDS. The primary factors contributing to this decision include:
(1) lack of expertise (mental health and dental care services; HIV and STD education);
(2) limited resources; and, (3) the availability of other providers in the community with more capacity/expertise to address these needs.

IV. Progress Report: 2016–2017

A. Information, Enrollment and Referral – Health Benefits Resource Center (HBRC)

HBRC is a major initiative designed to increase access to health care through enrollment in public and low-cost insurance and related benefit programs and referral for medical and social services. HBRC provides individuals and families with enrollment assistance for health insurance through the state exchanges Covered CA and Medi-Cal. HBRC program closed April 2015. After the closure of the full program, the Medi-cal eligibility process continued under the Patient Access department until the Conifer Eligibility Enrollment Services assumed oversight from August 2016 through August 2017. The HBRC program was recently reopened as of September 2017. This program also facilitates access to the patients of St. Vincent Medical Center by working directly with the emergency room and inpatient admission departments and walk in referrals.

B. Hepatitis Education/Detection/Treatment – Asian Pacific Liver Center

Asian Pacific Islander (API)s are disproportionately affected by chronic hepatitis B (CHB) infection, accounting for more than half of the estimated 2 million Americans with CHB. While Asian Americans make up less than 5% of the total US population, they account for more than 50% of nearly one million Americans living with CHB. Approximately 1 in 12 Asian Americans are living with CHB, yet one-third or more are unaware of their hepatitis B status. Additionally, up to 30% of individuals with CHB will die of its complications such as cirrhosis and/or liver cancer if left untreated. In fact, the death rate due to CHB complications is seven times greater among Asian Americans than it is for whites. Effective treatments and vaccinations are currently available for CHB, which can prevent disease progression. However, more than 60% of CHB cases are undiagnosed since most persons with CHB are asymptomatic until the onset of complications, making it a "silent killer" in the Asian American community. Therefore, early diagnosis of CHB is critical so that appropriate medical management can be initiated.

Our targeted population is API communities in Los Angeles and Orange Counties, particularly in the cities of Los Angeles and Long Beach in Los Angeles County and communities in northern Orange County, where the concentration of foreign-born individuals from hepatitis B virus endemic countries is one of the highest in the nation. According to the 2013 U.S. Census, among the approximately 10 million residents of Los Angeles County, 14% are API, and of those, 35% are foreign-born. Depending on their country of origin, 5 to 15% of API immigrants have CHB. In some Pacific Rim countries, as much as 20% of the population may be chronically infected with hepatitis B, and more Pacific Rim immigrants pass through Southern California than any other entry point in the United States. Overall, the rate of hepatitis B infection is 30 to 40 times higher among API populations than the general US population.

According to the US Department of Health and Human Services, up to 65% of infected Americans are unaware of their infection and are not receiving care or treatment. Since hepatitis B is often without symptoms, it is then passed on to others who also remain unaware that they are infected. For that reason, providing education, screening, and treatment is essential to stop the spread of the disease and the premature deaths.

The barriers to accessing medical care and treatment for the API population include a variety of factors. Lack of awareness of hepatitis B in the community and among primary care physicians is responsible for under-diagnosis of hepatitis B. This obstacle is being addressed directly by Asian Pacific Liver Center (APLC) through education events given in English and native languages targeted to the lay community, as well as free screenings which are offered to the public. In addition, the physicians at APLC conduct regular education seminars and lectures for screening, diagnosis, and management of CHB for community physicians.

Fear of discrimination if diagnosed with hepatitis B is another barrier to overcome in Asian American communities. There is stigma and shame associated with hepatitis B, which many believe can only be contracted through intravenous drug use. This stigma further contributes to the silence surrounding hepatitis awareness in the community. APLC attempts to raise awareness and knowledge through educational events and workshops, encouraging community members to seek screening, diagnosis, and treatment.

APLC recognizes the importance of cultural differences across the different API communities. The prevalence of diverse languages and cultures present a challenge in terms of dissemination of information and acceptance of information and treatment. Among APLC's target population in Los Angeles between 2007 and 2014, 22% did not speak English, and only 27% could read and write English. The populations that we target mostly speak Korean, Mandarin, Cantonese, Vietnamese, Thai, and Cambodian, and prefer to receive information in their language. In response, the APLC staff creates resources in-language to deliver culturally appropriate interventions, information, and services tailored to the languages and concerns of patients. APLC also draws from agencies and organizations such as the CDC and American Cancer Society for language-appropriate educational material that are distributed to the community at screening and education events.

The most common obstacle preventing individuals with CHB from obtaining care is a lack of medical insurance or financial means. This is especially the case for follow-up care among the low-income and newly-immigrated populations, who are the most likely to carry the infection. Less than 21% of people screened by APLC between 2007 and 2014 had medical insurance, and of those who did not seek follow-up, 63% cited lack of financial means or medical insurance as the reason. Coupled with a lack of urgency due to the asymptomatic nature of CHB, this is a significant obstacle. The APLC can provide an opportunity for infected individuals to obtain treatment through the Patient Assistance Program at various pharmaceutical companies. The implementation of the Affordable Care Act has somehow lowered this barrier, but the APLC will keep working with patients to ensure that they receive proper coverage.

Through the years, APLC has developed partnerships and collaborations with a variety of organizations, agencies, and community groups throughout Southern California to address the needs of API populations. Through these partnerships, we were able to extend our outreach into communities with large and even majority API populations such as Alhambra, Rosemead, Monterey Park, and the City of San Gabriel, as well as cities in Orange County such as Westminster, Garden Grove, and Irvine, cities which the latest US Census has identified as having the highest concentration of API residents.

Since its inception in 2007, the APLC has screened nearly 26,000 individuals at risk by conducting over 300 free hepatitis screening events and providing hepatitis and liver cancer education to several thousand in API communities. Through these events, over 1,300 individuals were diagnosed with CHB, 99.2% were foreign-born APIs. Approximately 750 of these individuals have been linked to care and additional treatment services. In addition to community partnerships, the APLC collaborates with state and county agencies to implement strategic plans to control the spread of hepatitis B in Southern California. APLC's name has a strong online presence that brings in a multitude of patients. On our website, visitors can view the schedule for upcoming screenings, community lectures, and education events.

The hepatitis C virus (HCV) is the most common chronic blood-borne viral infection and the most common cause of chronic liver disease in the United States. An estimated 4 million Americans are infected with HCV and are thus at risk of developing cirrhosis and liver cancer. In Los Angeles County alone, an estimated 180,000 people are infected with HCV. Like CHB, many who have HCV are not aware or experience no symptoms. While anyone can get hepatitis C, baby boomers, or those born between 1945 and 1965, are five times more likely to get the disease. Hepatitis C is responsible for 8,000-10,000 deaths in the United States every year.

The APLC is committed to providing comprehensive education, screening, and vaccination services for the identification and prevention of hepatitis and linkages to care and treatment for those infected. In October 2010, the APLC started selectively adding hepatitis C testing to hepatitis B screenings in Cambodian, Vietnamese, and Chinese communities, as they are at higher risk for chronic hepatitis C (CHC) among APIs. In 2014, a larger shift to include hepatitis C testing at all screening events was implemented. HCV viral load test was automatically added for the HCV Ab positives to diagnose CHC. Reflex studies including genotype, complete blood count (CBC), and hepatic function panel (HFP) were performed to assess the liver condition for the confirmed CHC patients. So far 185 persons have been found to be positive for HCV Ab with 50% of those diagnosed with CHC by viral load test and linked to further treatment and care.

Due to the lack of symptoms, chronic hepatitis may go undetected for years, leading to complications such as liver damage, cirrhosis, or liver cancer. Furthermore, without awareness of its presence, hepatitis can be spread unknowingly through close personal contact. Education, screening, diagnosis, and treatment such as those offered by the APLC greatly reduce the risk of both complications and the spread of the infection to other individuals. By and large, challenges to the efforts to enhance viral hepatitis prevention and control include several factors that the APLC can address. As the APLC continues to grow and develop, these goals are at the forefront of our mission to serve the community.

APLC SUCCESS STORY

The APLC continues to conduct several vital hepatitis B studies to collect information for research publication. The study findings are used to develop abstracts for conferences as well as manuscripts for medical journals to share with the medical community. Most recently, using data collected from hepatitis B patients, Dr. Ho Bae, the APLC Medical Director, and Dr. Tse-Ling Fong, the APLC Program Director, authored the abstract, Improvement Of Bone Mineral Density And Markers Of Proximal Renal Tubular Function In 12 Weeks In Chronic Hepatitis B Patients Who Switched From Tenofovir Disoproxil Fumarate To Tenofovir Alafenamide. It is our plan to present the findings at the 2017 American Association for the Study of Liver Diseases in Washington D.C. The manuscript of the study will be submitted to the Journal of Viral Hepatitis in November 2017. In addition, APLC launched hepatitis B research protocols GS-US-283-1062 and GS-US-320-3018. These studies are particularly important as we have been offering treatment opportunities to screened chronic hepatitis B (CHB) persons who cannot afford medical care. To date we have been able to enroll 29 eligible subjects for these protocols and APLC became one of the highest enrollers internationally.

The APLC also continues finding new and innovative ways to expand the range of our services to the community at large as well as working on a linkage program for positively screened community members. Our free screenings and seminars have targeted an expanded range of Asian Pacific Islander communities in Los Angeles and Orange counties. The database system at the center is utilized to learn more about hepatitis B, to facilitate linkage-to-care, and to report cases to county public health surveillance. We understand that linkage to follow-up care is still a huge barrier for these communities to overcome; thus we have put more effort in closing gaps in the healthcare system for underserved communities at risk of hepatitis B. As the number of those reached grows, we will make progresses in improving general health outcomes of the population with CHB in Southern California.

C. Job Training/Career Development for Youth – Volunteer Services

During fiscal year 2016-2017, SVMC continued to participate in both government- and privately-sponsored programs that provide career development for high school and college students. A total of 14,380 hours were donated by these students to SVMC.

SVMC has developed relationships with New Village Girls Academy, Los Angeles School of Global Studies, Western University, Cal State LA and USC. Loyola High School has been a partner of St. Vincent Medical Center for many years for their Senior Community Service Hours.

St. Vincent Medical Center also participated in the following job training programs: The Archdiocese of Los Angeles Youth Employment Program and Miguel Contreras Learning Center. These high school students were placed in areas such as the information desk, patient floors, as well as other departments throughout the medical center.

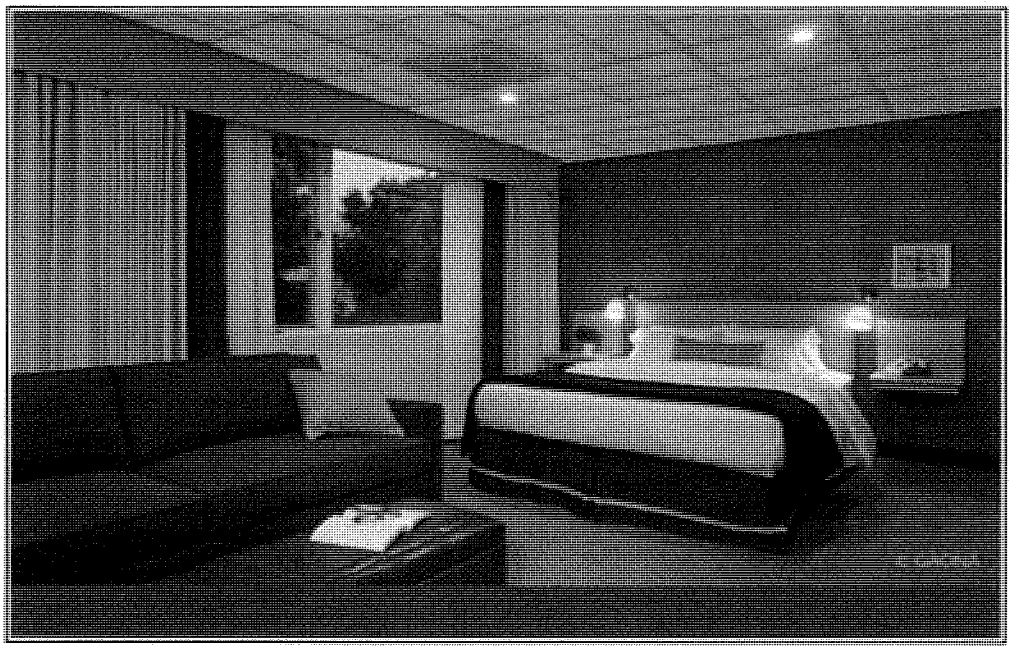
These programs assist students in acquiring competencies necessary for entry-level employment and also provide valuable instructional experience in an actual work environment with mentoring and teaching from business/industry volunteers. In addition, students interested in healthcare-related careers gain valuable access to health care professionals. A total of 8,885 hours of training were provided to students in professional training programs under the direct or indirect supervision of SVMC healthcare professionals. SVMC also participates in many community service fairs at various schools.

D. Donated Space for Community Use

SVMC has maintained a long tradition of offering free or discounted space for the use of community groups and organizations, including conference rooms and parking facilities, offices, residential property and lodging accommodations for the families of patients. Some examples of discounted spaces include but not exclusive to St. Vincent Senior Citizen Nutrition Program, AHMC Healthcare, St. Vincent IPA, Community Member Yo Soy El Chapo Rehearsal, Business Development Community, Daughters of Charity Foundation, Los Angeles Fire Department, City of Los Angeles Election Polling, Community Basketball, House Clinic: Facial Nerve Symposium, LA Society of Otolaryngology, LA Cochlear Implant Group and Mendez National Institute of Transplantation Foundation. In addition, parking was provided for these groups.

Seton Guest Center

Located on the campus of St. Vincent Medical Center, the Seton Guest Center, which resembles a hotel, first opened its doors in 1994. Extensively renovated and enhanced during 2013, the center has 32 private hotel-like rooms which can accommodate up to four people. Each room has a queen-size bed and a queen-size sofa bed, television, a small refrigerator and private bath. The community kitchen has a refrigerator/freezer, a microwave and a toaster oven. A laundry room is available with washer and dryer. The Seton Guest Center also has available computers with Internet access and some areas have wireless Wi-Fi available.



Recovery times are as individual as each patient, and their hospital stays can sometimes be lengthy. Families can remain close to their loved one for as long as necessary by staying at the SVMC's Seton Guest Center. Once a patient is discharged but must remain close to the hospital and their physicians, they can stay at the Seton Guest Center as long as a family member or friend is present to care for the patient.

The patients and family members served are generally from Northern, Central and Southern California; however, families from across the U.S. and from around the world including England, Hong Kong, Egypt, Australia and Israel to name a few were also served. On average, the guest center serves approximately 100 patients per month. No one is turned away for their inability to pay. During FY2016–2017, the Seton Guest Center provided discounted lodging for 288 people valued at $19,099.

E. Transportation Services

Lack of access to transportation is a major barrier to health care for many residents living in SVMC's primary service area. This problem is being addressed through the provision of patient shuttle vans directly operated by SVMC between the patient's residence and the hospital.

Service is provided at no charge within a 15-mile radius of SVMC. When use of the shuttle vans is not feasible, patients in need of transportation are issued taxi vouchers. These transportation resources are funded in part by generous grants from QueensCare. During 2016–2017, a total of 2,323 patients were provided transportation services.

V. Community Benefit Plan: 2017–2018

The sale of St. Vincent Medical Center to Verity Health System was finalized in December 2015. From August 2016 through August 2017, Health Benefits Resource Center, HBRC, was replaced with Conifer MECS to provide Medi-cal application services to patients. In July 2017, Verity Health System went through a management change. The new management has re-opened the Health Benefits Resource Center on the St. Vincent Medical Center Campus.

St. Vincent Medical Center will continue to implement programs and services during 2017-2018 that address access to primary and specialty care, chronic disease prevention and management, and transportation based on community need priorities, available institutional resources and established partnerships with a broad array of agencies, programs, providers and faith- and school-based organizations. The plan for the remaining programs identify the respective community needs, goals and objectives to accomplish during the year, evaluation indicators used to measure impact and collaborating partners.

Benefit/Activity: Information, Enrollment & Referral – Health Benefits Resource Center (HBRC)

Goal: Medi-Cal Benefits shall be provided during a presumptive period to patients who are determined eligible on the basis of preliminary information to be presumptively eligible.

Objectives:

1. 95% of patients will receive an insurance affordability application prior to release from the hospital.
2. 100% of presumptive Medi-Cal applicants will receive a paper copy of their Hospital PE eligibility determination
3. Meet all Hospital PE determination performance standards as specified in provider instructions or regulations.
4. Attempt to contact 100% of self-pay referrals made to the HBRC.

Evaluation Indicators:

1. Number of insurance affordability applications distributed to patients.
2. Number of Hospital PE eligibility determination copies distributed to patients.
3. Number of self-pay patient contacts.
4. Number of approved Presumptive Medi-Cal applications.
5. Number of denied Presumptive Medi-Cal applications.
6. Number of insured patients post self-pay screening.

Benefit/Activity: Hepatitis B and C Education/Screening/Treatment – Asian Pacific Liver Center (APLC)

Community Need:

1. Education and screening for individuals at risk for chronic hepatitis.
2. Follow-up care and treatment for individuals who are already infected with hepatitis to prevent disease progression.
3. Prevention by vaccinations for individuals who are susceptible to hepatitis B.

Goal:

To provide free education and screening for those at risk of hepatitis B and/or C, and vaccinations for those who are susceptible to hepatitis B and to provide culturally-sensitive follow-up care, treatment and surveillance measures for those already affected.

5. Educate 50 clinicians who see API patients in the targeted cities on the importance of hepatitis screenings and treatment through roundtable dinner meetings hosted by the APLC hepatologists. Clinician education will also involve how to diagnose chronic liver disease due to viral hepatitis, how to manage patients who will likely progress to cirrhosis and liver cancer, and the availability of several antiviral therapeutic agents.
6. Screen 1500 APIs by conducting 15 screening events.
7. Vaccinate 100 hepatitis B susceptible individuals.
8. Ensure that at least 99% of cases identified are reported to surveillance within 6 months of diagnosis date.
9. Ensure that at least 95% of persons testing positive for hepatitis B or C receive their test results.

Policy

Seton Medical Center/Seton Medical Center Coastside has established a grievance procedure for non-contractual employees to provide them with an opportunity to address and resolve concerns that they may have regarding the terms and conditions of their employment, and/or working conditions. This policy does not apply to claims involving sexual or other forms of unlawful harassment. Such claims should be filed immediately with the Human Resources Office Pursuant to the Medical Center policy against unlawful harassment. Those claims will be addressed in the accordance with the provisions of that policy. It is the policy of the organization to treat employees fairly and equitably and to insure that employees have the opportunity to adequately discuss and resolve work related issues.

Procedure

Employees are encouraged to utilize this procedure without fear or reprisal. No associate will be discriminated or retaliated against because the associate has elected to utilize this policy.

Grievance Steps

The following procedure is designed to ensure that the associate receives a fair and prompt response to issues raised in the grievance. Welcome

We make every effort to employ qualified individuals, without regard to race, color, religion, national origin, race, sex, gender identity, disability or sexual orientation. This policy is consistent with our mission of providing the highest quality care to our patients.

Our Employees are one of the most valuable resources we offer to our patients and other customers. Your skills and compassions with patients and the community guarantee that the caring tradition established by our founders will continue to flourish.

We have designated this Handbook to clarify for you our philosophy, policies and benefits. Please refer to SMC/SMCC Human Resources Policy and Procedure Manual for a complete description or contact the Human Resources Department if you have any questions.

Our Mission

We promote healthy families, responsible stewardship of the environment, and a just society through value-based relationships and community-based collaboration.

What is Verity Health System?

Composed of four hospitals in Northern California and two in Southern California and Verity's physician network and Verity Medical Foundation, our health system partners with our community physicians to provide quality, compassionate care to our patients and their family members.

Together we are Verity Health.

Verity Health System Values:

Respect
We demonstrate that we value others and ourselves through our words and actions.

Caring
We provide our patients and their families with compassionate, quality care, treating them and each other with kindness.

Integrity
We act with honesty and transparency and do the right thing.

Passion
We are dedicated to making a difference in the health of our communities and in the lives of those we serve.

Stewardship
We are committed to being wise stewards of our resources, creative in our approach to challenges and opportunities, and accountable for the results we want to achieve as a charitable organization.

Our Affiliated Groups

Each of our facilities has affiliated groups who donate their time on an unpaid basis to support our organization in various ways. These separate lay groups include the Auxiliary, Employees, Volunteers and are affiliated with one of our facilities. The primary function of these groups is fund raising and support for facility programs.

Customer Service

To our patients and visitors, you are SMC/SMCC. Your relationship with them should be courteous, friendly and thoughtful. Your attitude and helpfulness at a time when they may be in pain, frightened or worried, will long be remembered in connection with our facilities.

Our Ethics

Our ethics include an obligation to keep in strict confidence all that pertains to patients and their affairs. This obligation extends to every Employee. If you are offered gifts or money from patients, please refuse them politely. It is part of your job to render the best care and service to all we serve. Accepting gratuities or breaching patient confidentiality is inappropriate and may be grounds for termination of employment.

Statement of Understanding

This handbook summarizes the general Human Resources Policies, which applies to all Employees, except where varied for Employees covered by collective bargaining agreements. This handbook does not contain all the details of our Human Resources Policies, and if there is any conflict, the provisions of the Human Resources Policy and Procedure Manual will take precedence. You are encouraged to familiarize yourself with the contents of both the Employee Handbook and the Human Resources Policy and Procedure Manual. Verbal commitments made by managers should not be construed as policy. This Handbook is not and should not be construed as a contract of employment.

Employment is "at will" and is not guaranteed for any period of time. Either you or SMC/SMCC may end employment at any time or without advance notice or cause. SMC/SMCC reserve the right to make changes in policies and practices.

OUR COMMITMENT TO YOU

Employee Relations Philosophy

We believe Employees want an organization of which they can be proud, where they contribute to a common good, where they enjoy their work and are empowered to apply their energy, talent and ideas to grow and to continuously improve. We believe Employees (employees) also want an organization where they may participate in decisions, are listened to, and fairly treated; where honesty, teamwork and diversity in the workforce are valued; where people have the knowledge, authority and resources to do their work and where everyone shares in the reward of a job well done.

The commitment of SMC/SMCC is to provide a caring environment where these needs can be filled. Recognizing that our activities and service often take place in an atmosphere of intensity and high demand, the environment will also encourage support from the medical staff, management, and co-workers.

As we move into the future, we want to build on our values and develop new ways to continue to provide the best patient care services.

Equal Employment Opportunity

We pride ourselves in our long-standing policy to offer fair and equal employment opportunity for qualified individuals, without regard to race, color, national origin, age, sex, marital status, sexual orientation, gender identity, religion, veteran, status, or disability defined by law. This policy is consistent with our mission of providing the highest quality care to our patients.

Additionally it is our policy to maintain an environment free of sexual harassment. Employee conduct, whether intentional or unintentional, verbal or physical, that results in harassment of other Employees because of their gender, or other reasons, will not be tolerated.

The foregoing policy will continue to apply to hiring, placement, promotion, transfer, recruitment, layoff, compensation, benefits, and selection for training and all other aspects of employment.

Questions regarding this policy should be directed to the Human Resources Department. All such questions will be held in strictest confidence with no fear of reprisal or job jeopardy.

All Employees are expected to support these policies and to bring management's attention any instance where these policies are not followed.

Drug Free Workplace

Our policies prohibit Employees from using, distributing, or being under the influence of illegal drugs in the work place. Strict disciplinary action, including termination, will be imposed on any Employee violating the drug abuse policy. Additionally, all Employees are encouraged to notify the Director of Human Resources or the Manager of Employee Health of any Employee suspected of committing a drug offense in the work place.

Employment of Relatives

Relatives are likely to make good Employees. However, the potential for preferential treatment may exist. To ensure equal opportunity for all candidates, applicants who are relatives of an Employee will be considered for employment upon the approval of Human Resources, and with the provision that there is no direct or indirect supervisory relationship between the Employee and the relative, or where there is no influence affecting employment of the relative. A relative is defined as a spouse, parent, in-law, sibling, child, stepchild, other close relative of the Employee, legally domiciled adult* or significant other.

*Legally domiciled adult is someone who is not an eligible dependent child, and is over 18, who, during the calendar year has as his/her principal place of residence and Employee's home, is a member of the Employee household, and for whom the Employee provides more than 50% support, or is the Employee's domestic partner.

EMPLOYMENT EXPECTATIONS AND STANDARDS

Physical Assessments

Physical assessments are required of Employees prior to employment with us. These are provided at no cost to you. Certain departments, because of the type of work performed, may require annual lab testing or other exams.

Appearance

Every Employee is a representative of our facilities and thereby becomes a part of our public image. Personal cleanliness, neatness, and appropriate adherence to the dress code enhance your professional appearance and inspire confidence in your ability. Good judgment in grooming should be exercised at all times and appropriate business attire should be worn. Employees working in certain job classifications may be required to wear uniforms. If you have any questions regarding appropriate work attire, please ask your supervisor.

New Employee Orientation

As an introduction to SMC/SMCC and the workplace, all new Employees are required to attend an orientation program during the first month of employment. The purpose of the program is to familiarize you with our history, mission, organization, services and resources, workplace safety, policies and benefits. You will also have the opportunity to ask questions.

Each department will conduct a more detailed orientation regarding specific department policies and job assignments.

Name Badges

All Employees are issued photograph/name identification cards. Please wear your name badge at all times while on duty. It is important that patients and visitors are able to identify you. Your name badge may be needed and shown to civil authorities as identification in the event of a disaster.

Employee Classifications

PERFORMANCE EXPECTATIONS

Introductory Period

The first ninety days of your employment are considered a "get acquainted" period. During this period you will have the opportunity to demonstrate your ability, interest in the job, and compatibility with coworkers. The introductory period allows your supervisor to determine whether you will satisfactorily fulfill the requirements of your job, and you will decide whether you wish to remain in this position. A performance evaluation will occur at the end of this period. A per diem Employee's introductory period will end after the Employee has completed 135 days of employment.

Performance Review

Your performance will normally be reviewed annually with your supervisor. During this evaluation, goals are set for the next year, responsibilities are clarified and job performance is reviewed and noted. This is your opportunity to find out how well you are meeting expectations and in what areas you may need to improve. Your progress and involvement with us is important, so we encourage you to participate actively in these evaluations.

You are entitled to know what criteria are used in judging performance and are encouraged to obtain this information at the beginning of your employment. We want you to be an active and effective part of our organization and this can occur only if mutual expectations are thoroughly communicated and agreed upon.

Confidentiality

As an Employee, you may have access to personal, medical or financial information regarding patients and/or SMC/SMCC Employees. You have a legal and ethical responsibility to observe the confidentiality of such information.

If you are approached by a representative or a reporter from a newspaper, magazine, television, radio station, or any other form of media, please refer the party to the Communications Department. Representatives from Communications are responsible for responding to all inquiries regarding SMC/SMCC and specific patients. Any inquiries regarding an Employee should be referred to Human Resources.

Absence and Tardiness

Employees need time away from work for rest, relaxation, recuperation from illness, and personal and family needs. For this reason, regular Employees are offered considerable time away from work in the forms of Paid Time Off (vacation and sick leave), Bereavement Leave, Jury Duty and several types of unpaid leaves of absence.

It is equally important, however, for managers to be able to rely upon regular and consistent attendance by Employees. Unexcused or excessive absences must be avoided in the interest of all Employees (employees) and patients.

The following definitions are used as guidelines for absences and tardiness.

Excused Absence – When an Employee has sought and been granted in advance time off from work by his/her supervisor.

Unexcused Absence – When an Employee has failed to report to work when scheduled, and/or has failed to remain at work for the duration of the shift, and without supervisory approval.

Tardiness – When an Employee reports or returns to his/her designated work area after the scheduled starting time, breaks, or lunch period.

Reporting Illness – If you are unable to report for work due to illness, injury, or other emergencies, or if you are unable to report to work on time, you are required to notify your supervisor before the start of the shift. We request that you let your supervisor know as early as possible. The minimum requirement is 60 minutes prior to the start of your shift. If your department is closed a message may be left with the Nursing Supervisor in charge. You must contact your immediate supervisor once your department is open to report your illness. Nursing staff should make an attempt to contact their direct supervisor; if unable to do so, please contact the Staffing Office or House Supervisor as early as possible so that a replacement can be found.

You may be asked to provide written verification of your illness or emergency. In addition, written verification from your attending physician or health care provider is required for absences of more than three consecutive days.

Standards of Conduct

To provide an environment conductive to the delivery of quality patient care, all Employees must maintain professional standard of conduct and performance. Failure to adhere to these standards will result in disciplinary action and/or immediate discharge. Any disciplinary action taken by SMC/SMCC will be guided by these principles:

- Falsifying or altering employment applications, physical examination questionnaires, work records, time cards or other official records;
- Theft, deliberate damage, unauthorized removal or possession of SMC/SMCC property or property of any person/patient whose property is within our facilities;
- Deliberate failure to observe safety rules and regulations;
- Gambling, gross misconduct in the discharge of standards of work behavior; insubordination, refusal to perform work within an Employee (employee)'s classification, or carry out a reasonable directive;
- Excessive tardiness and absenteeism or abuse of benefits and privileges; feigning illness or the misrepresentation of reasons in applying for a leave of absence, sick leave or other time off from work;
- Use of alcohol or drugs during working hours or immediately in advance of coming to work (where the Employee is, while at work, still under the effect of such consumption);
- Conduct endangering the life, safety or health of others; fighting, disruptive or other inappropriate conduct while on SMC/SMCC premises;
- Possessing any firearms or weapons in or on facility premises;
- Unauthorized verbal or written disclosure or release of information and/or records regarding our patients and/or operations;
- Smoking in any facility by Employees;
- Posting or removal of literature, handbills or petitions on facility premises without authorization from a department manager or appropriate management official;
- Sleeping on the job, wasting time (loafing), intentional slowdown of productivity or intentional disruption of the workplace;
- Excessive performance of personal or business on organizational premises without proper authorization, to include, but not limited to, the following:
  a. The use of SMC/SMCC equipment for personal reasons
  b. Improper or unauthorized use of SMC/SMCC property or facilities

- Other actions, which, in the judgment of Management, could result in serious adverse consequences to SMC/SMCC, the department, another Employee or the welfare of a patient.

Problems can often be corrected through informal discussion with your supervisor, department manager, or a member of the Human Resources Department, but you should familiarize yourself with the procedures for the administration of disciplinary action. We reserve the right to use any level of discipline we deem appropriate when implementing disciplinary actions.

Accommodation Staff Requests

Employees may request that they not be required to participate in an aspect of patient care, including treatment, where there is perceived conflict with the staff member's cultural values, ethics, or religious beliefs. Our policy ensures that patient care will not be compromised while the Employee's request is being evaluated.

If an Employee perceives that participation in the care of a patient conflicts with personal cultural values, ethics, or religious beliefs, he/she should immediately contact his/her supervisor or the Nursing Supervisor. The supervisor will immediately assign another Employee, if available, to care for the patient while the issue is being resolved. This will ensure that the patient's care is not negatively affected. This may require that two Employees trade patient responsibilities or that an additional Employee is called to assume the assignment. If another Employee is not readily available, attempts will be made to find another qualified Employee to assume the assignment. At no time shall the care of the patient be compromised.

The supervisor/manager will evaluate the Employee's request based upon the following considerations:

The request is deemed valid and can be accommodated within the Employee's (employee's) current department without compromising patient care or placing undue hardship on the departmental operations. This accommodation may be made on a long-term or short-term basis.

The request is deemed valid but cannot be accommodated within the Employee current department. In this situation, the manager/supervisor will refer the Employee to Human Resources in an effort to seek another position within the organization. This may be a permanent or temporary transfer. If such a position is not available, the Employee may request an unpaid leave of absence or be separated from the organization as a voluntary resignation.

The request is deemed invalid and therefore not granted.

Once the supervisor/manager has evaluated the situation, a decision will be made whether or not such an accommodation can be granted. In most cases the decision will be made within 24 hours following notification.
Failure of an Employee to participate in patient care as directed or failure to provide an acceptable level of care will result in disciplinary action.

Gratuities/Solicitations

Every patient and customer is entitled to the best care and service you can provide without partiality of any kind. Accordingly, Employees may not accept tips or other gratuities from patients, their relatives, and friends or from firms with which we do business. If you are offered gifts or money from patients, please refuse them politely. Accepting gratuities is inappropriate and may be grounds for termination of employment.

Solicitation is not permitted for any purpose except with the authorization of the Director of Human Resources or other management official.

Conflict Resolution Process

When a group of people work together, job-related conflicts are apt to surface occasionally. If a conflict should arise and cannot be resolved through open discussion with your supervisor, a conflict resolution process is available for you to utilize. Details are outlined in the Human Resources Policies and Procedure Manual or in the applicable collective bargaining agreement.

Personnel Records

The Human Resources Department maintains all permanent records for Employees. You are asked to inform Human Resources in writing of any change in name, address, and telephone number, marital status or number of dependents, so that these records remain accurate. Please also note that Human Resources needs to know if any changes in the name of the person to be notified in case of emergency or changes in beneficiary information.
You must make an appointment with Human Resources if you wish to review your file. Appointments will generally be made within 24 hours.

Resignation

SMC/SMCC realize that there are situations when Employees may resign from their employment to follow other interests. Non-management Employees (employees) are requested to give at least a two-week written resignation notice. Management Employees are requested to provide a 30-day notice. Failure to provide the requested advance notice may make an employee ineligible for rehire.
When you terminate employment, you are entitled to be paid for all accrued Paid Time Off hours to date, except extended sick leave hours (contractual Employees (should refer to their collective bargaining agreement). It is advisable to contact Human Resources regarding your benefits before your last day of work.

COMPENSATION

Wage and Salary Administration

We normally review the salary ranges of all positions annually. Our pay practices provide incentives for maximum contribution to SMC/SMCC for retention of skill and experience, and for self-improvement. Therefore, each job classification is assigned a broad salary range to appropriately compensate different levels of job responsibility and experience. Salaries of non-contractual Employees are reviewed annually, and depending upon job market factors, an across the board increase may be granted. For contractual Employees, the terms of the collective bargaining agreement determine wage adjustments.

Human Resources is responsible for conducting salary surveys and assuring that our salary ranges and actual pay rates remain competitive. As necessary, wage adjustments may be made from time to time to maintain market competitiveness and equity.

Hours of Work

Our facilities provide care to patients every day of the year, 24 hours per day. Therefore, our work force is scheduled to work over the entire 24-hour period every day of the week. Our official workweek begins at 12:01 a.m. Sunday and ends at midnight the following Saturday. Most pf the nursing shifts are from 7:00 a.m. to 3:30 p.m., 3:00 p.m. to 11:30 p.m. and 11:00 p.m. to 7:30 a.m. Departments other than nursing may have different schedules, and your work schedule will be explained to you at your time of hire.

Shift Differential

Shift differentials are intended to provide additional compensation for inconvenience due to working hours outside the normal workday. Compensation for shift differentials is explained in the Human Resources Policy and Procedure Manual and in applicable collective bargaining agreements.

Meal and Rest Periods

A regularly scheduled shift is normally eight and one-half hours long, including an unpaid 30-minute meal period. If you work a shift of more than 5 hours, you will be provided with a thirty-minute unpaid meal period unless:

- You complete your shift I six hours, and both you and your supervisor agree to waive the meal period, or
- You are required to work a shift of eight hours within eight consecutive hours and are authorized to have your meal at your workstation, in which case you will be paid for the on-half hour meal period.
- You are an "exempt" employee. Please contact your supervisor if you have any questions regarding this status.

You will receive two 15-minute paid rest breaks per shift unless the total work shift is less than four hours. Meal periods and rest breaks cannot be combined and will be scheduled by your supervisor.

Work Schedules

Regular full-time Employees generally work eight hours per day five days a week. Days off are generally two consecutive days in the week and remain fixed. Other alternative work schedules may exists to meet staffing needs in various departments and, if utilized, will be explained to you by your supervisor. Contractual Employees should refer to their collective bargaining agreement.

Overtime

If overtime work is necessary, your department manager or supervisor must provide you with advance authorization. Overtime is defined as any time worked in excess of eight hours in a pay period, depending on work schedules and collective bargaining agreements.

Non-exempt Employees are those covered by the provision of the Fair Labor Standards Act and state wage and hour requirements. Non-exempts Employees are compensated for overtime at one and one-half times their regular hourly rate of pay, and double time after 12 hours worked in one day. Double time is also paid for time worked on the seventh consecutive day of work in one workweek.

Exempt Employees are those who are exempt from overtime pay and whose duties are defined as executive, administrative, management, professional, or supervisory.

On-Call Pay

Certain departments hire Employees in an on-call capacity. Payment in this category differs depending on the needs of the department and applicable collective bargaining agreement.

Paychecks are obtained by the supervisor of each department, or his/her designee, for distribution and may not be given out to anyone other than the employee to whom the check is issued, without prior written consent.

EMPLOYEE BENEFITS

Health Insurance, Dental Insurance, Vision Care, Life Insurance and Long Term Disability

These comprehensive benefits are available on the first of the month following 30 days of continuous employment. (Contractual Employees (employees) should refer to their collective bargaining agreement for eligibility dates and specific provisions).

State Disability Insurance

The purpose of the California State Disability Insurance (SDI) is to provide income in the event you are unable to work as a result of any non-work related injury or illness. You are required by law to pay for this insurance through automatic payroll deduction. SDI becomes available on the eighth calendar day of injury or illness or on the first day of hospitalization.
Disability benefits are not paid automatically. You must submit a claim to the State in accordance with instructions on the claim form. Human Resources can provide you the forms and assistance in applying for SDI benefits. If you are disabled for eight or more calendar days, your sick leave or paid time off/extended sick leave will be calculated on the assumption that you have applied for SDI benefits.

Worker's Compensation Benefits

Should you become injured on the job or become ill as a result of work, you may be eligible to receive Worker's Compensation benefits. These benefits, which are designed to provide you with income protection and medical treatment in the event of a work-related injury, are paid for entirely by SMC/SMCC.

If you are injured while on duty, regardless of how minor the injury may seem, you must report this to you supervisor and Employee Health. Employee Health is open Monday through Friday. Injured Employees (employees) should report to the Emergency Room during hours when Employee Health is closed. Failure to report an injury immediately may result in disciplinary action.

Blood Bank

As a service to our Employees (employees) and their families, our facilities sponsor a blood bank or participate in blood drives periodically. Blood donations are encouraged.

Employee Recognition

Throughout the year, several events are held to provide formal recognition to our Employees (employees). In recognition of long-term service, a special event is held each year honoring Employees (employees) who attain five or more years of service. Awards are presented at five-year intervals starting at the fifth year of employment.

Retirement/Pension Plan

SMC/SMCC provide a pension plan for its eligible Employees (employees) through the Retirement Plan for Hospital Employees (RPHE). Employees (employees) become fully vested after 5 years of service. A year of service is defined at least 1000 hours of paid time within a calendar year. When combined with Tax Sheltered Annuities and Social Security, pension plan benefits will help you prepare for you living needs at the time of your retirement.

Details of the pension plan are available from the Human Resources, RPHE, or in applicable union agreements.

Tax Sheltered Annuities

Tax Sheltered Annuity programs are provided for SMC/SMCC Employees (employees). Regular full-time, part-time and limited part-time Employees (employees) are eligible to participate starting the first day of employment. For additional information and provider names, please contact Human Resources.

Paid Time Off Program (PTO) and Extended Sick Leave (ESL)

Each eligible Employee is provided with two time off accounts and begins accruing time on the first day of employment. These accounts are:

- Paid Time Off (PTO)
  PTO is an Employee benefit program designed to provide regular full or part-time non-contractual Employees (employees) with paid personal time away from work. PTO can be used for vacations, holidays, religious observances, personal or family business, maternity, disability or illness, health or dental appointments, or any other reason deemed appropriate to you, the Employee (employee), as approved by your supervisor. PTO may also be used when the department reduces operations or closes for the day. PTO should be scheduled and approved in advance whenever possible.

- Extended Sick Leave (ESL)
  ESL hours are to help compensate for sever or long-term illness; i.e., when hospitalized for one or more days, following a surgery performed at an outpatient surgery center or hospital, or when absent from work for a single illness for a period of time in excess of 3 scheduled work days or in excess of twenty-four hours of scheduled work time.

Additional information regarding PTO/ESL accruals and usage is available in the Human Resources Policy and Procedures Manual and the union contract.

Holidays

Because it is necessary to continually provide care to our patients, it is not possible for all Employees (employees) to be off work on a holiday. We will pay you from your PTO bank if you do not work on a scheduled holiday.

SMC/SMCC recognizes the following holidays for this plan:

- New Year's Day
- Martin Luther King, Jr.'s Birthday
- President's Day
- Memorial Day
- Independence Day
- Labor Day
- Thanksgiving Day
- Christmas Day

Contractual Employees should refer to their collective bargaining agreement regarding time off provisions, sick leave and holidays.

Leave of Absence (LOA)

There are several types of leaves of absence to which an Employee may be entitled. Generally, leaves of absence are available to regular full time and regular part time Employees following 12 months of continuous employment. This one-year provision may be waived based upon departmental needs and operations, State and Federal law, and approval of the department manager and Human Resources. In all cases a leave of absence request form must be completed and approved. Please refer to the Human Resources Policies and Procedure Manual for details.

Family and Medical LOA (FMLA)

FMLA requires covered employers to provide up to 12 weeks of unpaid, job-protected leave to eligible Employees for certain family and medical reasons in a 12-month period.

You are eligible for such a leave if you have worked at SMC/SMCC for at least one year and worked 1,250 hours over the previous 12 months and apply for a leave for any of the following reasons:

- Birth or adoption of a child or placement of a foster child
- Serious illness of a spouse or legally domiciled adult, child, or partner
- Your own serious illness

During this leave time any accrued time must first be exhausted. The remaining amount of the leave will be unpaid. Ordinarily you must provide 30 days advance notice when applying for the leave.
Medical certification is required when requesting a leave as a result of your own serious health condition, and we may require a second or third opinion (at our expense), and a fitness for duty report to work. Leave may be denied if requirements for the leave of absence are not met.

For up to 12 weeks, we will maintain your health benefits whether the time is paid or unpaid. You will be responsible for paying only the same portion of the contribution for health benefits as you do as an active Employee. Upon return from FMLA leave, in most cases you will be restored to the same or equivalent position with equivalent pay, benefits, and other employment terms.

Personal LOA

Personal Leaves of Absence may be granted to Employees at the discretion of management in consultation with Human Resources under certain circumstances. Any regular full-time and part-time Employees may apply for Personal Leave of Absence of up to 30 days following one year of continuous employment, extended absences must be approved by your manager and the Director of Human Resources. Your department manager must balance your request against the operational needs of the department. Therefore, a Personal Leave is considered a privilege and not a right.

Workers' Compensation LOA

Workers Compensation Leaves of Absence are available to Employees who are injured or become ill as a result of work.

Medical/Pregnancy LOA

Medial Leaves/Pregnancy Leaves of Absence are available to Employees who are unable to work as verified by their physicians' recommendations (see Family and Medical Leave of Absence).

Military LOA

If you are a member of the National Guard or Military Reserve, you are eligible to receive a leave without pay to attend required training programs. You must submit a copy of your military orders with your Leave of Absence Request.

Jury Duty

All regular full-time or part-time Employees are eligible for time off to serve on jury duty. If you are selected for jury duty, you will be paid the difference between your jury duty pay and your regular pay. To be eligible for jury duty pay, you must submit to your supervisor the court clerk's statement indicating the time you served.

Jury duty pay does not apply if you are summoned as a witness. Paid time off (PTO or vacation time) must be used for this purpose. Contractual Employees should refer to their collective bargaining agreement for specifics.

Voting Time Off

Although SMC/SMCC anticipates that most Employees have sufficient time to vote, some Employees, due to their work schedules, may require time off from work. If you are a registered voter and wish to vote in any general, direct primary, or presidential primary election, and you do not have sufficient time to vote because of your work schedule, you may request the necessary time off to allow you to vote. You may be granted up to two hours of Paid Time Off (PTO or vacation time) or unpaid time for voting purposes. You must give your supervisor two days advance notice time is required, with complete justification in writing.

School Conferences

You must provide your supervisor advance notice in writing of time needed for this purpose. Employees may take time off without pay or use accrued PTO or Vacation time.

We recognize that it is important for Employees to have the opportunity to upgrade their skills and knowledge through training and education. In learning new and better ways to work, Employee experience increased job satisfaction and are better equipped for future positions within the organization. Patients, in turn, benefit from Employees' increased ability and expertise.

Educational Time Off

Employees are encouraged to advance professionally by attending classes or workshops related to their jobs. Although you are responsible for identifying educational opportunities related to your job, you are encouraged to discuss your needs and eligibility with your supervisor (please refer to the applicable collective bargaining agreement if you are a contractual Employee.

Tuition Assistance

Tuition Assistance for successfully completed job-related courses is available to regular full-time or regular part-time Employees. Tuition is paid for courses at fully accredited institutions on either a quarter or semester basis. Funds are distributed on a first come, first served basis and the program's funding status will be reviewed each year at the end of the fiscal budget cycle. Applications are available from Nursing Administration. Contractual Employees should refer to their collective bargaining agreement for details.

SMC/SMCC encourages internal mobility. After six months in your current position you are eligible to apply for a transfer or promotion provided: 1) you are not currently and have not been under counseling or disciplinary action for the previous six months, and 2) you are qualified for the position. Typically, the most qualified candidate will be hired for the position regardless of seniority or current SMC/SMCC employment (contractual Employees should refer to their collective bargaining agreement).

We publish a weekly job vacancy listing, posted on facility bulletin boards and in Human Resources, to facilitate this process. To apply for a position, please complete a "Transfer Request" form and submit it to Human Resources.
Promoted or transferred Employees will be released within a time frame mutually agreed upon by the affected department managers, not to exceed 30 days. The same applies to the acceptance or continuance of employment and any SMC/SMCC policy, procedures, or practice. Your employment can be ended by the employer or SMC/SMCC reasons, which either the Employee or SMC/SMCC consider sufficient.

TITLE: ASSOCIATES RIGHTS

D. Should changes be instituted that impact an associate's responsibilities once employment has begun, the associate shall determine if a conflict shall result. If so, a decision shall be made as to how to address the conflict (e.g., accommodate, transfer, etc.), as specified in Section 3.

2. Associate Rights Education

A. Information regarding Associate Rights is provided as a part of the Orientation for all the new associates at SMC/SC, as well as any individual who accepts a new position within the organization.

B. The Associate Rights Policy in this manual is available for associates to review at any time.

3. Requesting Exemption from Participation in an Aspect of a Patient's Care:

A. At such time that an associate perceives that participation in the care of a given patient is in conflict with personal culture values, ethics or religious beliefs, he or she shall immediately contact his/her director/manager/supervisor, or the Administrative Nurse Supervisor or designee.

B. The management shall immediately assign another associate, if available, to care for the patient while the issue is being resolved. This shall ensure assignment. If another associate is not readily available, all attempts shall be made to find another qualified associate to assume the assignment. This may require that two associates trade patient responsibilities until the issue is resolved or may require that an additional associate be called to assume the assignment, but at no time shall the care of the patient be compromised.

C. Management shall evaluate the associate's request based on the following, although not exclusively, and a decision shall most often be made within 24 hours following notification:

1) Whether or not the associate is requesting that an exception be made to the requirement that associates shall accept "certain circumstances" (Section 1-A) that can be expected to be encountered in a health care setting.

2) The extent to which disapproval of the request would result in undue physical or emotional hardship on the associate.

3) The extent to which accommodating the associate's request would place hardship on the department's operation and negatively impact patient care.

TITLE: ASSOCIATES RIGHTS

4) The anticipated duration of the request e.g., for a particular patient only; expected to repeat itself for a period of time; or shall continue indefinitely.

D. Once management has evaluated the situation, a decision shall be made as to whether or not to accommodate the request. This decision shall be made in collaboration with the Director of Human Resources or designee, if available, or the Administrator-on-Call. If there is any question as to the validity of the request or the consistency with which the policy is being applied, the decision shall fall into one of the following categories:

1) The request is deemed valid and can be accommodated within the associate's current department without compromising patient care or placing undue hardship on departmental operations; this may be on a long-term or short-term basis;

2) The request is deemed valid but cannot be accommodated within the associate's current department. In this situation, management shall refer the associate to Human Resources in order to seek another position within the organization; this may be a temporary or permanent transfer. If such a position is not available, the associate may go on leave of absence or be separated for non-disciplinary reasons.

The request is deemed invalid and therefore not granted. Failure of the associate to participate in patient care shall result in disciplinary action. The associate may initiate the grievance process, if so desired.

POLICY # 943

TITLE: DISCIPLINARY PROCEDURES
Date Effective: 7/83	Date Revised: October 1, 2012 Date Reviewed: July 2, 2015	Revision # 16
Originating Signature: VICKI DEL CASTILLO, EXECUTIVE DIRECTOR, HUMAN RESOURCE SERVICES	Approving Signature: GERALD T. KOZAI, PRESIDENT/CEO
Reference/Key Words:

SECTION 1. PURPOSE

1.1 To reinforce behavioral change required for satisfactory work performance and to insure associate knowledge of job related duties and expectations.

SECTION 2. POLICY

2.1 To provide guidelines for the handling of associate disciplinary problems. This policy serves as a management guideline and does not supercede SFMC at will status or create contractual rights.

SECTION 3. APPLICABILITY & SCOPE

3.1 Managers and supervisors are responsible for disciplinary functions. They must, therefore, take such action as deemed appropriate to correct work performance or behaviors that prove problematic or disruptive to the work environment.

3.2 These guidelines apply to all associates. Specific steps to be used for associates covered under a collective bargaining unit should be referenced in the current union contract.

SECTION 4. PROCEDURES

4.1 Disciplinary action should be uniformly administered in accord with the degree of seriousness of the problem and is within the sole discretion of SFMC. The following constitute examples of disciplinary measures, which may be taken in individual cases as circumstances so dictate.

4.1.1 Verbal warning.

4.1.2 Written warning.

4.1.3 Final written warning.

4.1.4 Suspension.

4.1.5 Disciplinary probation period.

4.1.6 Discharge.

4.2 All warnings should be specific; the nature of the infraction and events must be related to the associate. Names of witnesses, patients or associates, should be retained in anecdotal notes, not on the warning form. Movements through these levels of discipline may or may not be related to the same type of offense. Management reserves the right to implement various levels of discipline in conjunction with one another. Multiple infractions of differing medical center/department policies may also constitute grounds for discharge. The immediate supervisor must maintain written records on verbal warnings and counseling. Copies of warnings (see Exhibit 1) shall be given to the associate and Human Resource Services.

4.3 The discipline will be implemented at appropriate level given the severity of the infraction. There are certain violations of Policy or Practices that are so detrimental to the welfare of patients, other associates, or the Medical Center that immediate discharge without notice may be appropriate. In such instances, the associate may be discharged immediately or will be advised of his/her immediate suspension pending investigation. Immediate action will be taken to process the discharge when concurrence is obtained from the Department Manager, Executive Director, Human Resources and the President/CEO. In the event that they are not available they shall be immediately notified by telephone and the associate may be advised to leave the grounds to initiate the investigation and will be placed on investigatory suspension. The associate will then be contacted as soon as practical.

4.4 It is impossible to identify every type of possible misconduct, infraction or performance deficiency.

4.5 The following are some examples of actions which may constitute cause for immediate discharge:

4.5.1 Conduct endangering life, safety or the health of others.

4.5.2 Deliberate damage to patient, associate, visitor, contractor or Medical Center materials and property.

TITLE:
DISCIPLINARY PROCEDURES

4.5.3 Conduct unbecoming an associate of the Medical Center contrary to Standards of Behavior, i.e., discourteous treatment of a patient, sexual harassment, usage of profanity, etc.

4.5.4 Falsifying, altering, removing, destroying or the unauthorized disclosure of confidential records or information pertaining to a patient, associate, vendor, contractor or the Medical Center.

4.5.5 Falsifying personal or Medical Center records, including but not limited to employment application, physical examination questionnaire and time records.

4.5.6 Unauthorized possession or removal of Medical Center, associate, or patient property.

4.5.7 Violation of substance abuse policy.

SECTION 1. PURPOSE

1.1 St. Francis Medical Center's compensation package is considered payment in full for services rendered and no additional cost or commitment should be incurred by patients. The Medical Center's wish to protect both the associates and the patient from potential charges of conflict of interest.

SECTION 2. POLICY

2.1 It is the policy of St. Francis Medical Center that associates not accept gifts or gratuities from patients or their families, physicians or vendors. This does not include the acceptance of items of nominal value (typically not to exceed $25.00) that are clearly tokens of thanks and are not related to any particular transaction or activity of the Medical Center.

With certain exceptions any cash, check, gift certificate or tangible personal property awarded to an associate for meritorious performance, productivity, or other reasons connected with their employment are considered taxable compensation. This would include an award to "Associate of the Month" and awards to boost associate morale. Below are guidelines regarding exceptions to this rule.

2.2.1 Length of Service and Retirement Awards
The following length of service and retirement award guidelines have been developed according to the Internal Revenue Services (IRS) regulations. Awards which adhere to the following parameters and are given to eligible associates are not subject to taxes:

2.2.1.1. Timing - the length of service or retirement award may not be made within the employee's first five years of service or more frequently than every five years.

2.2.1.2. Dollar Limit – the value or cost of the award should not exceed $400.00. Also, it is recommended that the value or cost of the award be commensurate with the number of years of service being recognized (e.g., the 15-year service award is greater than the 10-year service award). Length of service or retirement awards with a value or cost over $400.00 will be taxable to the extent the value or cost exceeds the dollar limit. If the associate chooses to retire the same year he or she becomes eligible for a length of service award, then the maximum value of cost of the award(s) should not exceed $400.00 for the award(s) to be nontaxable.

2.2.1.3. Form of the Award – Awards in the form of tangible personal property (such as briefcase, watch, pen) are not subject to tax reporting as income. According to IRS guidelines, awards in the form of gift certificates or cash are not tangible personal property and are therefore treated as additional wages and subject to taxation.

2.2.1.4. Meaningful Presentation – the award must be presented as part of a special event or celebration that marks the occasion, such as a department or LHM wide meeting, party of luncheon. To avoid tax liabilities to attendees, LHM's should ensure that special presentation events occur only on an occasional basis (such as annually) and that the costs of the events are reasonable.

2.2.1.5. Taxable Income – any award presented before five years of service or with a value over $400.00 should be reported to the LHM Controller and be subject to tax reporting as income.

2.2 Other Work-Related Achievement Gifts or Awards

2.21 Recognition may take the form of celebratory events such as a department-wide luncheon, dinner or party. Appropriate circumstances for such recognition include:

- To mark achievement of a major departmental goal
- To honor an associate in connection with a work-related associate recognition program
- To honor a retiree
- Costs for such events should be reasonable and treated consistent with St. Francis Medical Center's business expense reimbursement.

2.3.2 Recognition may be in the form of a gift, which may take the form of tickets to the theatre or a sporting event, or tangible personal property such as a watch, pen or briefcase. Appropriate circumstances for recognition by gifts include:

- To honor a long-service associate outside the LHM-wide recognition program
- To honor an employee departing the LHM or department
- To honor a retiree (other than the LHM-wide recognition program)

2.3.3 Gifts or awards received by associates that are not related to length of service are taxable and must be reported as additional earnings if their value exceeds the following thresholds:

- Gift certificates of any amount
- Gifts or awards of tangible personal property with a value greater than $100
- Gifts should be given on only an occasional basis (no more than once a year). Gifts given to associates on a regular basis do not qualify for nontaxable treatment and must be reported as taxable income.

2.3.4 De minimis fringe benefits gifts or awards to associates of a value so small that accounting for the gift or award (of either property or services) would be unreasonable. De minimis fringe benefits are not considered taxable and not included in associates' gross income. Examples include but are not limited to:

- Traditional holiday gifts with a small fair market value
- Coffee and snacks furnished to associates

2.4 Unallowable Gifts and Awards

- Gifts or awards of cash
- Holiday, birthday, shower, housewarming or other gift to honor an individual for personal reasons
- Lavish or extravagate expenses
- Expenses not substantiated with appropriate documentation

2.5 Tax considerations

Under IRS regulations, an award or gift will be considered taxable income to an associate if:

- The award/gift is presented to the same employee on a regular or routine basis
- The award/gift is cash
- The award/gift is a gift certificate
- The award/gift is not provided within an established recognition program

SECTION 3. APPLICABILITY & SCOPE

3.1 Department leaders are responsible for informing all associates in their department of this policy and informing the area Vice President of any potential conflict of interest situations. Department leaders shall also inform associates of appropriate donation methods through the Foundation office.

3.2 Associates are responsible for reporting to their immediate supervisors any offer made to them of gifts or gratuities that they believe are intended to influence decision making related to business transactions.

TITLE: MEAL AND REST PERIODS
Date Effective: 7/83	Date Revised: November 1, 2009 Date Reviewed: June 26, 2015	Revision # 11
Originating Signature: VICKI DEL CASTILLO, EXECUTIVE DIRECTOR, HUMAN RESOURCE SERVICES	Originating Signature: GERALD T. KOZAI, PRESIDENT/CEO
Reference/Key Words:

SECTION 1. PURPOSE

1.1 Meal and rest periods are essential to maintaining a comfortably alert and productive staff. These periods are provided so associates may meet biological and psychological needs away from the work environment. The purpose of this policy is to provide the parameters of the rest period and meal break benefits for Associates. As used in the Policy, the term "Associate" refers to a non-exempt Associate, all of whom are paid on an hourly basis.

DEFINITIONS:

Rest Period: A 15 minute period during which the Associate is relieved of all duties. Rest periods are counted as hours worked and are paid for.

Meal Period: A period of not less than 30 minutes during which the Associate is relieved of all duties, and during which the Associate normally eats a meal. Meal periods are not counted as hours worked and, accordingly, are not paid for.

On-Duty Meal Period: A meal period that takes place during working time when the nature of the Associate's work prevents the Associate from being relieved of all duty. On-duty meal periods are counted as hours worked and are paid for. As described below, on-duty meal periods can be used only in very limited circumstances.

AFFECTED DEPARTMENT/SERVICES:

All Non-exempt Associates in all Departments.

TITLE:
MEAL AND REST PERIODS

SECTION 2. POLICY

2.1 Rest Periods

2.1.1 For the convenience and well being of Associates, one 15 minute rest period (break) is authorized and permitted per each four hours worked, or major fraction thereof. A rest period need not be authorized for Associates whose total daily work time is less than 3½ hours.

2.1.2 For associates working 12-hour shifts, three rest periods will be authorized and permitted.

2.1.3 Rest periods must be counted as hours worked and, insofar as practicable, be in the middle of each four hour work period and taken on Medical Center grounds.

2.1.4 Rest periods are not to be accumulated, used to leave work early, or to extend the meal period unless permitted by an applicable collective bargaining agreement.

2.2 Meal Periods

2.2.1 An associate may not work a work period of more than five hours without a meal period of not less than 30 minutes, with the following three exceptions:

2.2.2 An associate may voluntarily agree in writing to waive the associate's right to a meal period when a work period of not more than six hours will complete the day's work. The associate will be required to complete the Six Hour Meal Period Waiver, which will be kept in the Associate's personnel file. The associate will be compensated for all working time.

2.2.3 An associate who works shifts in excess of eight total hours in a workday and is entitled to a second meal period may voluntarily waive their right to the second meal period.[1] The associate will be required to complete Second Meal Period Waiver Form, which will be kept in the associates personnel file. The associate shall be fully compensated for all working time.

2.2.4 If scheduled to work more than six hours, an associate may voluntarily agree to an on-duty meal period. The associate will be required to complete On-Duty Meal Period Agreement Form, which will be kept in the Associate's personnel file. An on-duty meal period (i.e., one in which the associate is not relieved of all duty) is permissible only when the nature of the work prevents the associate from being relieved of all duty.

[11] These meal period waivers may only be obtained from Associates who provide direct patient care, work in a clinical or medical department, including pharmacists dispensing prescriptions in any practice setting, or associates working primarily or regularly as a member of a patient care delivery team. These waivers cannot be obtained from associates primarily engaged in providing meals, performing maintenance or cleaning services, doing business office or other clerical work, or performing a combination of these duties.

2.3 Time Keeping System

2.3.1 The medical center's timekeeping system requires associates to record their time at the beginning of the workday, the end of the workday, and at the beginning and end of each meal period. Associates will be provided an opportunity to choose between two options regarding meal period clocking. The associate will be given the opportunity each shift to select which option they want to use for that shift at the time the associate clocks out for their first meal. The choice of which option to use should be made voluntarily, and no action will be taken against an associate for selecting one option over the other.

2.3.2 Under the first option, associates need only record the beginning of their meal period and the time keeping system will automatically record a 30-minute meal period. This first option is based on the assumption that most meal periods are 30 to 35 minutes long. It also takes into account that an associate may forget to record the end of the meal period or does not want to take the time to record it. If an associate chooses the automatic clocking option, and the associate's actual meal period was less than 30 minutes or longer than 35 minutes, the associate should complete an associate Timekeeping Exemption Form at the end of the meal period, but this should be done by the of the pay period. Associates who discover inaccurate recordings after the end of the pay period can correct these recordings by contacting their supervisor. Supervisors will receive instruction on how to assist associates who need to change their time records.

2.3.3 Under the second option, the associate must record both the beginning and the end of their meal period.

SECTION 3. RESPONSIBILITY

3.1 Associate Responsibility

3.1.1 Read, execute and return for filing the Meal and Rest Period Policy Acknowledgement Form.

3.1.2 Associates are responsible for taking their rest/meal periods as outlined in this policy.

3.1.3 If an associate believes they will not be able to take a required rest or meal period, it is the associate's responsibility to inform their supervisor in time for the supervisor to attempt to arrange for the rest/meal period. This notification should be given as far in advance of the rest/meal period as practicable.

3.1.4 If a meal period to which an associate is entitled was not timely provided/made available, the associate must promptly inform his or her supervisor and complete and submit a Timekeeping Exception Form before the end of the pay period. Associates should also report if they were discouraged, dissuaded or prevented from taking a full, timely meal period. However, associates should not report instances in which a 30-minute meal was timely provided but the associate voluntarily decided to take a short meal, take it later, or not take a meal period at all.

3.1.5 Accurately record all work and meal periods. If the automatic clocking is not correct because the associate took a meal period of less than 30 minutes or more than 35 minutes, the associate should complete an associate timekeeping exception form at the end of the meal period, but this should be done by the end of the pay period. Associates who discover inaccurate recordings after the end of the pay period can correct these recordings by contacting their supervisor.

3.1.6 If a rest period to which an employee is entitled was not authorized or permitted, the associate must promptly inform his or her supervisor and complete and submit a timekeeping exception form before the end of the pay period.

3.2 Supervisor Responsibility

3.2.1 Supervisors have overall responsibility for compliance with this policy, including taking steps to make sure that meal periods are provided/made available, and rest periods authorized and permitted in accordance with this Policy. This will require that appropriate training be provided to non-exempt associates.

3.2.2 When notified that any associate may not be able to take their meal or rest period, the supervisor should attempt to take steps to allow the associate to take the meal/rest periods.

3.2.3 Where necessary, the supervisor may authorize associates to continue working through their meal or rest periods.

3.2.4 Make sure that all applicable forms have been executed and sent to Human Resources, and that all associate time records are accurate.

3.2.5 Monitor reports to make sure that the extra compensation provided for by this policy is justified by staffing, workload, and patient care considerations.

3.3 Medical Center Responsibility

3.3.1 Provide training for managers and supervisors regarding the appropriate implementation of this policy.

3.3.2 Ensure that the timekeeping system functions in a manner that allows for implementation of this policy, including the payment of the extra compensation payable in the event that full meal periods are not provided/made available, or rest periods are not authorized and permitted, in accordance with the applicable provisions of the Labor Code and the Wage Order.

SECTION 1. PURPOSE

1.1 St. Francis Medical Center is committed to maintaining a work environment that promotes the interests of associate safety, efficiency, health, and productivity. It also recognizes that associate involvement with drugs and alcohol can be extremely disruptive and harmful to associates, patients, and the public. It can adversely affect the quality of work and the performance of associates, pose serious safety and health risks to the user and others, and have a negative impact on work efficiency and productivity.

In keeping with the long-standing commitment to provide an environment that is free of drug and alcohol abuse, SFMC has formulated the following policy regarding substance abuse.

SECTION 2. POLICY

2.1 This policy applies to all associates and contract service providers. All job applicants receiving offers of employment shall be required to submit to a post-offer drug-screening test as a condition of employment.

SECTION 3. APPLICABILITY & SCOPE

3.1 "Alcohol" means any alcoholic beverage, including wine, beer, and all forms of distilled liquor.

3.2 "Drug" means any substance that has known mind or function-altering effects on a human, specifically including psychoactive substances and including, but not limited to, substances controlled, regulated or prohibited by state and federal law.

3.3 "Under the influence" means that the associate is affected by a drug or alcohol or the combination of a drug or drugs and alcohol in any detectable manner. The symptoms of influence are not confined to those consistent with misbehavior, nor to obvious impairment of physical or mental ability, such as slurred speech or difficulty in maintaining balance. A determination of influence can be established by a professional opinion, a scientifically valid test and, by a lay person's reasonable opinion based on reasonable suspicion of a violation of this policy. AN ASSOCIATE WILL BE PRESUMED TO BE UNDER THE INFLUENCE WHENEVER THE PRESENCE OF DRUGS OR ALCOHOL IN AMOUNTS EXCEEDING ESTABLISHED THRESHOLDS ARE DETECTED IN A SUBSTANCE ABUSE TEST ADMINISTRATED UNDER THE TERMS OF THIS POLICY.

SECTION 4. PROCEDURE

4.1 SFMC prohibits the unlawful use, possession, transportation, transfer, manufacture, distribution, dispensation, or sale or purchase of drugs or paraphernalia while on duty or while on Medical Center property or while operating any vehicle or potentially dangerous equipment. SFMC also prohibits associates from reporting for work or working under the influence of any drug, alcohol or other substance that may in any way affect work performance, alertness, coordination or response, or the safety of the associate or others.

SECTION 5. MEDICALLY AUTHORIZED DRUGS

5.1 The use of prescribed drugs, or possession incident to such use, is not prohibited by this policy if:

5.1.1 The drug has been legally obtained and is being properly used for the purpose for which it was prescribed; and

5.1.2 The use of the drug is not inconsistent with the safe and efficient performance of the associate's duties.

5.1.3 An associate who is using or intends to use a prescribed or over-the-counter drug (such as pain medication, anti-depressants or other drugs), who has been informed or has reason to believe that the use of any such drug may limit his/her ability to perform any job duties safely and/or efficiently, is required to advise the associate's supervisor, before reporting to work, that he/she is using a prescribed drug, and that the use of such drug may affect the associate's ability to perform his/her job duties safely and/or efficiently. Any supervisor so notified shall immediately consult with Human Resource Services/Employee Health in order to consider what accommodations, if any, can be made to facilitate employment without risk to the safety of the associate or other individuals or loss of efficiency. Every effort should be made to treat information concerning an associate's use of prescribed medications confidentially. Accordingly, only those persons who have a need or right to know should have access to such information.

SECTION 6. FITNESS FOR DUTY EXAMINATION AND TESTING

6.1 SFMC may require that an associate submit to a physical examination and/or clinical testing designed to detect the presence of drugs and/or alcohol if there is a reasonable suspicion that the associate either possesses, controls or is under the influence of a drug and/or alcohol in violation of this policy, and/or has been involved in the use, transportation, transfer, sale, purchase, manufacture, possession, dispensation, and/or distribution of drugs in violation of this policy. Failure to cooperate in fitness for duty examinations and/or clinical testing when requested may result in disciplinary action, up to and including possible termination, for a first offense or any subsequent offense.

SECTION 7. DRUG TEST PROCEDURE

7.1 Tests shall be accomplished through analysis or urine, blood, breathalyzer, hair sample, or other recognized testing technique, prior to the collection of the sample; the associate shall be notified that the Medical Center is requesting that the associate be tested for the presence of drugs and/or alcohol. The Medical Center will then obtain the sample to be identified and tested for the presence of drugs and/or alcohol.

If the test of the sample is positive for any drug (or metabolite[s]) or alcohol, the sample shall be tested a second time by another reliable method.

The Medical Center will notify the associate of the results of any test. In the case of a positive result, the Medical Center will provide the associate with an opportunity to explain the presence of the identified substance prior to taking any disciplinary action. Associates testing positive may also request a second confirmation test of the original sample, at their own expense.

SECTION 8. REPORTING

8.1 Any associate who is convicted of criminal conduct related to drugs must notify the Executive Director of Human Resource Services within five (5) days of any such conviction.

SECTION 9. DISCIPLINARY ACTION

9.1 Associates who violate or who refuse to cooperate with any aspect of this policy will be subject to appropriate disciplinary action up to and including termination of employment. SFMC will discipline or terminate any associate who is convicted of an offense that involves the use, sale, purchase, transportation, transfer, manufacture, dispensation, distribution or possession of illegal drugs. Nothing in this policy shall be construed to conflict with the atwill nature of the employment relationship between associates and the Medical Center.

SECTION 10. EMPLOYEE ASSISTANCE

10.1 SFMC attempts to (intends to) maintain an Employee Assistant Program (EAP) which provides help to associates who suffer from alcoholism, drug abuse, and other personal or emotional problems. However, it is the responsibility of each associate to seek necessary assistance before alcohol or drug problems adversely affect performance or lead to disciplinary action. If a violation of this policy occurs, a subsequent attempt to seek and obtain assistance on a voluntary basis will not necessarily prevent or lessen disciplinary action and may, in fact, have no bearing on the determination of the appropriate disciplinary action. Eligible associates may request a leave of absence to participate/attend in a drug and/or alcohol rehabilitation program if they wish to do so. An associate's decision to seek assistance will not be used as a basis for disciplinary action and will not be used against the associate in any disciplinary proceeding. On the other hand, the mere fact that an associate has sought or intends to seek professional assistance will not be a defense to the imposition of disciplinary action where facts proving a violation of this policy, or other policy infractions or SFMC Policy/Procedures are obtained or the Medical Center determines that any associate's performance or conduct warrants disciplinary action. Accordingly, the purposes and practices of this policy and the EAP are not in conflict and are distinctly separate in their applications.

SECTION 11. RESPONSIBILITY

11.1 Any supervisor who notes objective symptoms of substance abuse or behavioral changes in an associate should:

11.1.1 Immediately arrange for the presence of another supervisor, manager, or Human Resources designee to act as a witness and interview the associate in a private, secluded area.

11.1.2 Advise the associate that you suspect he/she is under the influence of drugs or alcohol. Advise the associate that the observed symptoms are grounds for discharge. Advise the associate of the specific symptoms. If the associate denies being under the influence and cannot offer a satisfactory explanation for the evidence of impairment, advise the associate that as an alternative to discipline or discharge based on observed symptoms, the associate will be given the opportunity to submit to a drug or alcohol test to prove his/her innocence. Advise the associate that the examination will be the Medical Center's cost. Document the interview. If an associate asks for a union representative or co-worker to be present, allow it.

11.1.3 Give the associate the form authorizing release of medical information to sign.

11.1.4 Advise the associate that they will be escorted to the Industrial Clinic/ER and that the testing and transportation if necessary will be at the Medical Center's expense.

11.1.5 For concerns that emerge after 5:00 p.m., the House Supervisor must be notified and should facilitate the situation. The House Supervisor will contact Human Resources Management immediately.

11.1.6 Advise the associate that he/she will not lose pay as a result of taking the examination.

11.1.7 Advise the associate that if he/she fails to cooperate fully with the testing, the Medical Center will have no choice but to conclude, based on the observed symptoms, that he/she is under the influence and is in violation of the Medical Center's substance abuse policy. If the associate nevertheless, refuses to take the test, given him/her an opportunity to present any reasons for such refusal. Do not attempt to use physical force or threats to coerce the testing. If the associate refuses to take the test or refuses to sign the authorization, discipline should be imposed on the basis of observed symptoms, whenever possible, rather than solely for refusal to take the test.

11.1.8 If the associate agrees to be tested, call the Industrial Clinic/ER, advise them that you are sending an associate for testing. Ask to have the results telephoned, with a written verification to follow to Human Resource Services.

11.1.9 Arrange for Escort and/or transportation, if necessary to the testing sight. After the test, the associate should either be transported home or arrangements for transportation by a friend or relative should be made. Associates with signs of impairment should not be allowed to drive.

11.1.10 Pending test results, associates are considered on investigatory suspension.

11.1.11 Associates who pass should be returned to work as soon as possible with no loss of pay. The fact that a drug test was requested should be kept confidential.

11.1.12 Associates who are not returned to work shall not be eligible for pay during the investigatory suspension period.

11.2 Human Resource Services

11.2.1 If an associate fails the test and the positive result is confirmed, associates will be advised by Human Resource Services of the test results and be allowed to explain (i.e., prescription drug, etc.) and provide proof regarding such explanation. The discipline administered should be appropriate to the circumstances. The associate should remain suspended pending review. All disciplinary measures relating to violations of the drug/alcohol policy must be reviewed and approved by the Executive Director of Human Resource Services/designee before implementation. Discipline ranges from suspensions of varying lengths to discharge and may include notification to licensing board. Discipline can include mandatory participation in the Employee Assistance Program. All associates found to be impaired through observation or testing should be counseled regarding the Employee Assistance Program.

11.2.2 Written Report(s). In each and every case make a detailed written report of the date, time, and location of the occurrence, with a very specific description of all symptoms observed and description of all actions taken.

SECTION 1. PURPOSE

1.1 The use of personal electronic devices and other electronic devices has expanded rapidly in the workplace. SFMC does not wish to unreasonably constrain the use of these devices; however, it has a broader responsibility to: (1) ensure that they are used in an appropriate manner; (2) ensure the integrity of proprietary information; (3) preserve the privacy of associates and patients (4) ensure that unauthorized surveillance does not breach the reasonable expectation of privacy in the workplace.

SECTION 3. APPLICABILITY & SCOPE

3.1 Enforcement

3.1.1 Any person who engages in a threat or violent action on medical center property may be removed from the premises as quickly as safety permits and may be required, at St. Francis Medical Center's discretion, to remain off the premises pending the outcome of an investigation into the incident.

3.1.2 When threats are made or acts of violence are committed by a medical center associate, a judgment will be made by St. Francis Medical Center as to what actions are appropriate, including possible medical evaluation and/or possible disciplinary action.

3.1.3. Once a threat has been substantiated, it is St. Francis Medical Center's policy to put the threat maker on notice that he/she will be held accountable for his/her actions and then follow through with the implementation of a decisive and appropriate response.

3.1.4 Under this medical center policy, decisions may be needed to prevent a threat from being carried out, a violent act from occurring or a life-threatening situation from developing. No existing St. Francis Medical Center policy or procedure should be interpreted in a manner that prevents the above from occurring.

3.2 Temporary and Permanent Restraining Orders. Any associate who applies for a temporary or permanent protective or restraining order which lists any St. Francis Medical Center location as a protected area must provide to the Human Resources Department a copy of the petition and declarations used to apply for the order. Any associate who obtains a temporary or permanent protective or restraining order which lists any St. Francis location as a protected area must provide to the Human Resources Department a copy of the order. Such information will be kept confidential to the extent possible without compromising the safety and security of St. Francis Medical Center and its associates.

3.3 St. Francis Medical Center will make the sole determination of whether, and to what extent, threats or acts of violence will be acted upon by St. Francis Medical Center. In making this determination St. Francis Medical Center may undertake a case-by-case analysis in order to ascertain whether there is a reasonable basis to believe that workplace violence has occurred. No provision of this policy shall alter the at-will nature of employment at St. Francis Medical Center.

SUBJECT: Open Door and Problem Resolution	APPROVAL: Quality Committee of the Board

PURPOSE

POLICY

St. Vincent Medical Center is committed to providing a workplace conducive to open discussion of any work-related problem, concern, suggestion or question and is committed to complying with the laws and regulations to which we are subject, as well as with our Standards of Conduct.

Part of this commitment is encouraging an open and honest atmosphere in which any work-related problem, concern, suggestion or question receives a timely response from the Hospital's management or Human Resources.

The Hospital strives to treat all associates with dignity and respect and associates are encouraged to offer positive and constructive feedback.

If an associate disagrees with established rules of conduct, policies, procedures or practices, he or she can express the concern through the problem resolution procedure. There will be no retaliation, formally or informally, for voicing a concern with the Hospital in a reasonable, professional manner or for using the problem resolution procedure. The use of the problem resolution procedure does not relieve the associate from complying with established rules of conduct, policies, procedures or practices.

If a situation occurs where an associate believes that a decision affecting him or her or other associates is unjust or inequitable, the associate is encouraged to use the problem resolution procedure.

While not every problem can be resolved to everyone's total satisfaction; understanding and the discussion of problems between associates and/or members of management can develop trust and confidence between parties. The understanding and confidence is important to the operation of an efficient and effective work environment.

PROCEDURE

1. The associate must address his or her work-related concern with his or her immediate manager as soon as possible after the date of the event(s) upon which the concern is based. If the associate believes that his or her immediate manager is not the appropriate person with whom to raise such matters, the associate should bring the concern to the attention of the Human Resources Department.

2. The manager should respond to the problem during the discussion, or after consulting with Human Resources as soon as possible. The manager should document the discussion. Any concerns expressed to a manager that indicates a violation or potential violation of Hospital policies should promptly be brought to the attention of Human Resources. Human Resources will determine whether a formal or informal investigation is warranted based upon the associate's concern and how the investigation will be conducted.
3. To the extent possible, all concerns, all information gathered, and the terms of resolution in the investigation shall be treated as confidential as practicable, consistent with the situation, releasing such information only to those whom, in the Hospital's judgment, should be informed.
4. Should the associate still have concerns following the steps outlined above the associate may elevate the concern to the highest level of management in his or her chain of command and the Vice President, Human Resources. This level of management will review the concern, and find out what was done to address the concern prior, and render a final decision, in writing, endeavoring to resolve the situation. The decision at this level is final.

PURPOSE

To establish acceptable standards for conduct that help to create a positive and professional work environment at St. Vincent Medical Center.

POLICY

To ensure orderly operations and to provide the best possible work environment, the Medical Center expects associates to follow standards of conduct that will protect the interests and safety of all patients, associates and the Medical Center. Conduct that is offensive to patients or fellow associates, discredits the Medical Center, interferes with business operations, or any other conduct that any reasonable person would believe is adverse to the Medical Center's interests will not be tolerated.

Associates are subject to disciplinary action up to and including termination of employment at-will, for unsatisfactory performance on the job, failure to meet standards with regard to quality or quantity of work, or for breach of any of the Medical Center's Conduct Guidelines. These guidelines are designed to protect the interests of the Medical Center, its patients, and staff. Since there are a wide variety of unpredictable and individual situations, it should be recognized that these guidelines are not an all inclusive list, but merely examples.

Title 11, California Code of Regulations, § 999.5(d)(5)(F)

For each health facility that is the subject of the agreement or transaction, all existing documents setting forth any guarantees made by any entity that would be taking over operation or control of the health facilities subject to the transaction relating to employee job security and retraining, or the continuation of current staffing levels and policies, employee wages, salaries, benefits, working conditions and employment protections

Pursuant to the APA, SGM is obligated to make offers of employment to substantially all Hospital Employees (as defined in the APA), which includes employees of Applicants and Applicants' affiliates that employ individuals at the Hospitals and other employees as scheduled in the APA. See the Asset Purchase Agreement for additional details, which is attached to Section 999.5(d)(1)(B) as Exhibit 1.

The Transaction is not expected to have any impact on reproductive health care services.

Title 11, California Code of Regulations, § 999.5(d)(5)(H)

Statement describing all effects that the proposed agreement or transaction may have on health care services provided by the facility including, but not limited to, any changes in the types or levels of medical services that may be provided at the facility and a statement of how the proposed transaction may affect the availability and accessibility of health care in the affected communities

The proposed Transaction is expected to have a positive effect on the delivery of health care services in the communities served by the Hospitals. In fact, the parties believe that this Transaction will improve the availability and access to health care services in the affected communities.

As outlined in Schedule 8.6 to the APA, attached to this Section 999.5(d)(5)(H) as Exhibit 1, with limited exceptions and adaptations to conform to the present Transactions and parties, SGM has agreed to honor the applicable existing conditions contained in the Attorney General's Decision dated December 3, 2015, conditionally consenting to the proposed change in governance and control of Daughters of Charity Ministry Services Corporation and Daughters of Charity Health System (the "Prior Conditions") for a term that coincides with the remaining term applicable to each condition. The existing health care services provided at the Hospitals will remain largely unchanged as a result of this Transaction.

Importantly, by assuming most of the obligations described in the Prior Conditions, SGM is committing to maintain and improve the health care services provided in the communities the Hospitals serve. The Hospitals serve a critical role in their respective communities and the significant commitments being made by SGM will help to ensure the continued availability of these services. Following the expiration of the remaining term of the applicable Prior Condition, SGM will evaluate what operational changes, if any, may be required or recommended in connection with the future viability of each of the Hospitals and the services provided.

1. St. Francis Medical Center

With only limited exceptions, and adaptations to conform to the present Transactions and parties, SGM has agreed to accept the applicable Prior Conditions related to the delivery of health care services in connection with the future operation of St. Francis for the duration of their existing term. SGM does not believe any of these modifications will have a negative impact on the availability of health care services in the communities served by St. Francis.

The health care related exceptions include:

a. With respect to Prior Condition V of the St. Francis decision, SGM will not agree to maintain on-call coverage (or comparable contracts) with physicians necessary to ensure trauma coverage except to the extent required by applicable laws or regulations in order for the Hospital to retain its qualification as a trauma center. The modification to Prior Condition V is not intended to limit the obligations of Prior Condition VI pertaining to the availability of essential medical services.

b. With respect to Prior Condition VI of the St. Francis decision, SGM will not agree to maintain, provide and expand cancer care or to not suspend or surrender beds directly supporting such services. This is because SGM will not be eligible to participate in the Federal 340B Drug Pricing Program, meaning the cost of maintaining the current cancer care services at St. Francis would be substantially higher for SGM than it is currently. There are sufficient cancer care services available to the communities served by St. Francis that the parties do not believe this modification will have any material impact on patient access.

c. With respect to Prior Condition IX of the St. Francis decision, SGM will agree to provide an annual amount of charity care equal to or greater than Eight Million Dollars ($8,000,000). As contemplated by the last paragraph of Prior Condition IX of the St. Francis decision and described in the response to Section 999.5(d)(5)(B), the Affordable Care Act has resulted in a reduction in charity care needs in the communities served by St. Francis. The reduction is supported by available financial data and we do not believe it will have a negative impact on the services available in the community.

d. With respect to Prior Condition IV of the St. Francis decision, SGM will not accept the annual cap on the maximum hours of diversion as it has no practical control over the circumstances which may cause diversion to occur.

2. St. Vincent Medical Center

With only limited exceptions, and adaptations to conform to the present Transactions and parties, SGM has agreed to accept the applicable Prior Conditions related to the delivery of health care services in connection with the future operation of St. Vincent for the duration of their existing term. SGM does not believe any of these modifications will have a materially adverse impact on the availability of health care services in the communities served by St. Vincent.

The health care related exceptions include:

a. With respect to Prior Condition IV of the St. Vincent decision, SGM will not agree to maintain, provide and expand cancer care, including radiation therapy or to not suspend or surrender beds directly supporting such services, since SGM will not be eligible to participate in the Federal 340B Drug Pricing Program. There are sufficient cancer care services available to the communities served by St. Vincent that the parties do not believe this modification will have any material impact on patient access.

b. SGM will agree to provide an annual amount of charity care equal to or greater than Four Hundred Thirty Thousand Dollars and Three Hundred Eighty-Four Dollars ($430,384).

3. Seton Medical Center and Seton Coastside

With only limited exceptions, and adaptations to conform to the present Transactions and parties, SGM has agreed to accept Prior Conditions related to the delivery of health care services in connection with the future operation of Seton for the duration of their existing term. SGM does not believe any of these modifications will have a material impact on the availability of health care services in the communities served by Seton.

The health care related exceptions include:

a. With respect to Prior Condition VI of the Seton decision, SGM will not agree to maintain, provide and expand cancer care at either campus, including the inpatient oncology unit, interventional radiology, radiation therapy, and infusion services or to not suspend or surrender any beds directly supporting such services. As described above with respect to St. Francis and St. Vincent, this change is required because SGM will not be eligible to participate in the Federal 340B Drug Pricing Program. There are sufficient cancer care services available the communities served by Seton that the parties do not believe this modification will have any materially adverse impact on patient access.

b. With respect to Prior Condition IX of the Seton decision, SGM will agree to provide an annual amount of charity care equal to or greater than Nine Hundred Thirty-Five Thousand, Four Hundred and Five Dollars ($935,405). As contemplated by the last paragraph of Prior Condition IX of the Seton decision, the Affordable Care Act has resulted in a reduction in charity care needs in the communities served by Seton. The reduction is supported by available financial data and we do not believe it will have a materially adverse impact on the services available in the community.

c. With respect to Prior Condition XVII of the Seton decision, SGM will not agree to the current Attorney General requirements contained in the condition as written. After the publication of the Prior Conditions, VHS applied for and received an extension from OSHPD with respect to the requirements for seismic retrofitting for the patient tower. Pursuant to the approved extension, the retrofitting of the existing patient tower must commence by April 30, 2020 with a completion date of July 1, 2022. SGM shall otherwise address the retrofitting of the Patient Tower and related operational conditions in accordance with Schedule 8.6 to the APA.

Any legal defense pursuant to the Contractor's indemnification obligations under this Sub-paragraph 8.7 shall be conducted by the Contractor and performed by counsel selected by the Contractor and approved by the County. Notwithstanding the preceding sentence, the County shall have the right to participate in any such defense at its sole cost and expense, except that in the event the Contractor fails to provide the County with a full and adequate defense, as determined by the County in its sole judgment, the County shall be entitled to retain its own counsel, including, without limitation, County

8.8 COMPLIANCE WITH CIVIL RIGHTS LAWS- ANTI-DISCRIMINATION AND AFFIRMATIVE ACTION LAWS

8.8.1 The Contractor hereby assures that it will comply with Subchapter VI of the Civil Rights Act of 1964, 42 USC Sections 2000 (e) (1) through 2000 (e) (17); the Fair Employment & Housing Act, Government Code Section 12920-12922; and Affirmative Action in County Agreements, Chapter 4.32 of the Los Angeles County Code to the end that no person shall, on the grounds of race, color, religious creed, ancestry, national origin, sex, sexual orientation, age, physical or mental disability, medical condition, marital status, or political affiliation, be excluded from participation in, be denied the benefits of, or be otherwise subjected to discrimination under this Agreement or under any project, program, or activity supported by this Agreement.

8.8.2 The Contractor certifies and agrees that all persons employed by it, its affiliates, subsidiaries, or holding companies are and shall be treated equally without regard to or because of race, color, religious creed, ancestry, national origin, sex, sexual orientation, age, physical or mental disability, medical condition, marital status, or political affiliation, in compliance with all applicable Federal and State anti-discrimination laws and regulations.

8.8.3 The Contractor shall take affirmative action to ensure that applicants are employed, and that employees are treated during employment, without regard to race, color, religious creed, ancestry, national origin, sex, sexual orientation, age, physical or mental disability, medical condition, marital status, or political affiliation, in compliance with all applicable Federal and State anti-discrimination laws and regulations. Such action shall include, but is not limited to: employment, upgrading, demotion, transfer, recruitment or recruitment advertising, layoff or termination, rates of pay or other forms of compensation, and selection for training, including apprenticeship.

8.8.6 The Contractor shall allow County representatives access to the Contractor's employment records during regular business hours to verify compliance with the provisions of this Sub-paragraph 8.8 when so requested by the County.

8.8.7 If the County finds that any provisions of this Sub-paragraph 8.8 have been violated, such violation shall constitute a material breach of this Agreement upon which the County may terminate or suspend this Agreement. While the County reserves the right to determine independently that the anti-discrimination provisions of this Agreement have been violated, in addition, a determination by the California Fair Employment Practices Commission or the Federal Equal Employment Opportunity Commission that the Contractor has violated Federal or State anti-discrimination laws or regulations shall constitute a finding by the County that the Contractor has violated the anti-discrimination provisions of this Agreement.

8.8.8 The parties agree that in the event the Contractor violates any of the anti-discrimination provisions of this Agreement, the County shall, at its sole option, be entitled to the sum of Five Hundred Dollars ($500) for each such violation pursuant to California Civil Code Section 1671 as liquidated damages in lieu of terminating or suspending this Agreement.

This Agreement is subject to the provisions of the County's ordinance entitled Contractor Employee Jury Service ("Jury Service Program") as codified in Sections 2.203.010 through 2.203.090 of the Los Angeles County Code, a copy of which is attached as Exhibit H and incorporated by reference into and made a part of this Agreement.

8.9.2 Written Employee Jury Service Policy.

1. Unless the Contractor has demonstrated to the County's satisfaction either that the Contractor is not a "Contractor" as defined under the Jury Service Program (Section 2.203.020 of the County Code) or that the Contractor qualifies for an exception to the Jury Service Program (Section 2.203.070 of the County Code), the Contractor shall have and adhere to a written policy that provides that its Employees shall receive from the Contractor, on an annual basis, no less than five days of regular pay for actual jury service. The policy may provide that Employees deposit any fees received for such jury service with the Contractor or that the Contractor deduct from the Employee's regular pay the fees received for jury service.

2. For purposes of this Sub-paragraph, "Contractor" means a person, partnership, corporation or other entity which has a contract with the County or a subcontract with a County Contractor and has received or will receive an aggregate sum of $50,000 or more in any 12-month period under one or more County contracts or subcontracts. "Employee" means any California resident who is a full-time employee of the Contractor. "Full-time" means 40 hours or more worked per week, or a lesser number of hours if: 1) the lesser number is a recognized industry standard as determined by the County, or 2) the Contractor has a long-standing practice that defines the lesser number of hours as full-time. Full-time employees providing short-term, temporary services of 90 days or less within a 12-month period are not considered full-time for purposes of the Jury Service Program. If the Contractor uses any subcontractor to perform services for the County under the Agreement, the subcontractor shall also be subject to the provisions of this Sub-paragraph. The provisions of this Sub-paragraph shall be inserted into any such subcontract agreement and a copy of the Jury Service Program shall be attached to the Agreement.

3. If the Contractor is not required to comply with the Jury Service Program when this Agreement commences, the Contractor shall have a continuing obligation to review the applicability of its "exception status" from the Jury Service Program, and the Contractor shall immediately notify the County if the Contractor at any time either comes within the Jury Service Program's definition of "Contractor" or if the Contractor no longer qualifies for an exception to the Jury Service Program. In either event, the Contractor shall immediately implement a written policy consistent with the Jury Service Program. The County may also require, at any time during the Agreement and at its sole discretion, that the Contractor demonstrate, to the County's satisfaction that the Contractor either continues to remain outside of the Jury Service Program's definition of "Contractor" and/or that the Contractor continues to qualify for an exception to the Program.

4. The Contractor's violation of this Sub-paragraph of the Agreement may constitute a material breach of the Agreement. In the event of such material breach, County may, in its sole discretion, terminate the Agreement and/or bar the Contractor from the award of future County contracts for a period of time consistent with the seriousness of the breach.

8.10 CONFLICT OF INTEREST

8.10.1 No County employee whose position with the County enables such employee to influence the award or administration of this Agreement or any competing contract, and no spouse or economic dependent of such employee, shall be employed in any capacity by the Contractor or have any other direct or indirect financial interest in this Agreement. No officer or employee of the Contractor who may financially benefit from the performance of work hereunder shall in any way participate in the County's approval, or ongoing evaluation, of such work, or in any way attempt to unlawfully influence the County's approval or ongoing evaluation of such work.

8.10.2 The Contractor shall comply with all conflict of interest laws, ordinances, and regulations now in effect or hereafter to be enacted during the term of this Agreement. The Contractor warrants that it is not now aware of any facts that create a conflict of interest. If the Contractor hereafter becomes aware of any facts that might reasonably be expected to create a conflict of interest, it shall immediately make full written disclosure of such facts to the County. Full written disclosure shall include, but is not limited to, identification of all persons implicated and a complete description of all relevant circumstances. Failure to comply with the provisions of this Sub-paragraph shall be a material breach of this Agreement.

8.11 CONSIDERATION OF HIRING COUNTY EMPLOYEES TARGETED FOR LAYOFF/OR RE-EMPLOYMENT LIST

Should the Contractor require additional or replacement personnel after the effective date of this Agreement to perform the services set forth herein, the Contractor shall give first consideration for such employment openings to qualified, permanent County employees who are targeted for layoff or qualified, former County employees who are on a re-employment list during the life of this Agreement.

8.12 CONSIDERATION OF HIRING GAIN/GROW PARTICIPANTS

8.12.1 Should the Contractor require additional or replacement personnel after the effective date of this Agreement, the Contractor shall give consideration for any such employment openings to participants in the County's Department of Public Social Services (DPSS) Greater Avenues for Independence (GAIN) Program or General Relief Opportunity for Work (GROW) Program who meet the Contractor's minimum qualifications for the open position. For this purpose, consideration shall mean that the Contractor will interview qualified candidates. The County will refer GAIN/GROW participants by job category to the Contractor. The Contractors shall report all job openings with job requirements to: GAINGROW@dpss.lacounty.gov to obtain a list of qualified GAIN/GROW job candidates.

8.12.2 In the event that both laid-off County employees and GAIN/GROW participants are available for hiring, County employees shall be given first priority.

8.13 CONTRACTOR RESPONSIBILITY AND DEBARMENT

8.13.1 Responsible Contractor

A responsible Contractor is a Contractor who has demonstrated the attribute of trustworthiness, as well as quality, fitness, capacity and experience to satisfactorily perform the contract. It is the County's policy to conduct business only with responsible Contractors.

8.13.2 Chapter 2.202 of the County Code

The Contractor is hereby notified that, in accordance with Chapter 2.202 of the County Code, if the County acquires information concerning the performance of the Contractor on this or other contracts which indicates that the Contractor is not responsible, the County may, in addition to other remedies provided in the contract, debar the Contractor from bidding or proposing on, or being awarded, and/or performing work on County contracts for a specified period of time, which generally will not exceed five (5) years but may exceed five (5) years or be permanent if warranted by the circumstances, and terminate any or all existing contracts the Contractor may have with the County.

If there is evidence that the Contractor may be subject to debarment, the Department will notify the Contractor in writing of the evidence which is the basis for the proposed debarment and will advise the Contractor of the scheduled date for a debarment hearing before the Contractor Hearing Board.

2. The Contractor Hearing Board will conduct a hearing where evidence on the proposed debarment is presented. The Contractor and/or the Contractor's representative shall be given an opportunity to submit evidence at that hearing. After the hearing, the Contractor Hearing Board shall prepare a tentative proposed decision, which shall contain a recommendation regarding whether the Contractor should be debarred, and, if so, the appropriate length of time of the debarment. The Contractor and the Department shall be provided an opportunity to object to the tentative proposed decision prior to its presentation to the Board of Supervisors.

3. After consideration of any objections, or if no objections are submitted, a record of the hearing, the proposed decision, and any other recommendation of the Contractor Hearing Board shall be presented to the Board of Supervisors. The Board of Supervisors shall have the right to modify, deny, or adopt the proposed decision and recommendation of the Contractor Hearing Board.

4. If a Contractor has been debarred for a period longer than five (5) years, that Contractor may after the debarment has been in effect for at least five (5) years, submit a written request for review of the debarment determination to reduce the period of debarment or terminate the debarment. The County may, in its discretion, reduce the period of debarment or terminate the debarment if it finds that the Contractor has adequately demonstrated one or more of the following: (1) elimination of the grounds for which the debarment was imposed; (2) a bona fide change in ownership or management; (3) material evidence discovered after debarment was imposed; or (4) any other reason that is in the best interests of the County.

5. The Contractor Hearing Board will consider a request for review of a debarment determination only where (1) the Contractor has been debarred for a period longer than five (5) years; (2) the debarment has been in effect for at least five (5) years; and (3) the request is in writing, states one or more of the grounds for reduction of the debarment period or termination of the debarment, and includes supporting documentation. Upon receiving an appropriate request, the Contractor Hearing Board will provide notice of the hearing on the request. At the hearing, the Contractor Hearing Board shall conduct a hearing where evidence on the proposed reduction of debarment period or termination of debarment is presented. This hearing shall be conducted and the request for review decided by the Contractor Hearing Board pursuant to the same procedures as for a debarment hearing.

6. The Contractor Hearing Board's proposed decision shall contain a recommendation on the request to reduce the period of debarment or terminate the debarment. The Contractor Hearing Board shall present its proposed decision and recommendation to the Board of Supervisors. The Board of Supervisors shall have the right to modify, deny, or adopt the proposed decision and recommendation of the Contractor Hearing Board.

The Contractor's failure to maintain or to provide acceptable evidence that it maintains the Required Insurance shall constitute a material breach of the Agreement, upon which the County immediately may withhold payments due to the Contractor, and/or suspend or terminate this Agreement. The County, at its sole discretion, may obtain damages from the Contractor resulting from said breach. Alternatively, the County may purchase the Required Insurance, and without further notice to the Contractor, deduct the premium cost from sums due to the Contractor or pursue the Contractor reimbursement.

Such bond shall be executed by a corporate surety licensed to transact business in the State of California.

8.29.10 Claims Made Coverage

8.42 PUBLICITY

8.42.1 The Contractor shall not disclose any details in connection with this Agreement to any person or entity except as may

Subject to applicable law, the County shall make a reasonable effort to maintain the confidentiality of such audit report(s).

8.43.4 Failure on the part of the Contractor to comply with any of the provisions of this Sub-paragraph 8.43 shall constitute a material breach of this Agreement upon which the County may terminate or suspend this Agreement.

8.43.5 If, at any time during the term of this Agreement or within five (5) years after the expiration or termination of this Agreement, representatives of the County conduct an audit of the Contractor regarding the work performed under this Agreement, and if such audit finds that the County's dollar liability for any such work is less than payments made by the County to the Contractor, then the difference shall be either: a) repaid by the Contractor to the County by cash payment upon demand or b) at the sole option of the County's Auditor-Controller, deducted from any amounts due to the Contractor from the County, whether under this Agreement or otherwise. If such audit finds that the County's dollar liability for such work is more than the payments made by the County to the Contractor, then the difference shall be paid to the Contractor by the County by cash payment, provided that in no event shall the County's maximum obligation for this Agreement exceed the funds appropriated by the County for the purpose of this Agreement.

8.44 RECYCLED BOND PAPER

Consistent with the Board of Supervisors' policy to reduce the amount of solid waste deposited at the County landfills, the Contractor agrees to use recycled-content paper to the maximum extent possible on this Agreement.

8.45 RESTRICTIONS ON LOBBYING

If any Federal funds are to be used to pay for the Contractor's services under this Agreement, the Contractor shall fully comply with all certification and disclosure requirements prescribed by Section 319 of Public Law 101-121 (31 United States Code Section 1352) and any implementing regulations, and shall ensure that each of its subcontractors receiving funds provided under this Agreement also fully complies with all such certification and disclosure requirements.

8.46 SUBCONTRACTING

8.46.1 The requirements of this Agreement may not be subcontracted by the Contractor without the advance written approval of the County. Any attempt by the Contractor to subcontract without the prior consent of the County may be deemed a material breach of this Agreement.

8.46.2 If the Contractor desires to subcontract, the Contractor shall provide the following information promptly at the County's request:

- A description of the work to be performed by the subcontractor;
- A draft copy of the proposed subcontract; and
- Other pertinent information and/or certifications requested by the County.

8.46.3 The Contractor shall indemnify and hold the County harmless with respect to the activities of each and every subcontractor in the same manner and to the same degree as if such subcontractor(s) were the Contractor employees.

8.46.4 The Contractor shall remain fully responsible for all performances required of it under this Agreement, including those that the Contractor has determined to subcontract, notwithstanding the County's approval of the Contractor's proposed subcontract.

8.46.5 The County's consent to subcontract shall not waive the County's right to prior and continuing approval of any and all personnel, including subcontractor employees, providing services under this Agreement. The Contractor is responsible to notify its subcontractors of this County right.

8.46.6 The Director or his/her designee is authorized to act for and on behalf of the County with respect to approval of any subcontract and subcontractor employees. After approval of the subcontract by the County, the Contractor shall forward a fully executed subcontract to the County for its files.

8.46.7 The Contractor shall be solely liable and responsible for all payments or other compensation to all subcontractors and their officers, employees, agents, and successors in interest arising through services performed hereunder, notwithstanding the County's consent to subcontract.

8.46.8 The Contractor shall obtain certificates of insurance, which establish that the subcontractor maintains all the programs of insurance required by the County from each approved subcontractor. The Contractor shall ensure delivery of all such documents to:

Sub-paragraph 8.7 (Compliance with Applicable Laws, Rules and Regulations

Sub-paragraph 8.25 (Governing Law, Jurisdiction, and Venue)

Failure of the Contractor to maintain compliance with the requirements set forth in Sub-paragraph 8.16 - Contractor's Warranty of Adherence to County's Child Support Compliance Program, shall constitute default under this Agreement. Without limiting the rights and remedies available to the County under any other provision of this Agreement, failure of the Contractor to cure such default within ninety (90) calendar days of written notice shall be grounds upon which the County may terminate this Agreement pursuant to Sub-paragraph 8.51 - Termination for Default and pursue debarment of the Contractor, pursuant to County Code Chapter 2.202.

8.49 TERMINATION FOR BREACH OF WARRANTY TO MAINTAIN COMPLIANCE WITH COUNTY'S DEFAULTED PROPERTY TAX REDUCTION PROGRAM

Failure of the Contractor to maintain compliance with the requirements set forth in Sub-paragraph 8.17 - Contractor's Warranty of Compliance with County's Defaulted Property Tax Reduction Program shall constitute default under this Agreement. Without limiting the rights and remedies available to the County under any other provision of this Agreement, failure of the Contractor to cure such default within ten (10) days of notice shall be grounds upon which the County may terminate this Agreement and/or pursue debarment of the Contractor, pursuant to County Code Chapter 2.206.

8.50 TERMINATION FOR CONVENIENCE

8.50.1 This Agreement may be terminated, in whole or in part, from time to time, when such action is deemed by the County, in its sole discretion, to be in its best interest. Termination of work hereunder shall be effected by notice of termination to the Contractor specifying the extent to which performance of work is terminated and the date upon which such termination becomes effective. The date upon which such termination becomes effective shall be no less than ten (10) days after the notice is sent.

8.50.2 After receipt of a notice of termination and except as otherwise directed by the County, the Contractor shall:

- Stop work under this Agreement on the date and to the extent specified in such notice, and
- Complete performance of such part of the work as shall not have been terminated by such notice.

8.50.3 All material including books, records, documents, or other evidence bearing on the costs and expenses of the Contractor under this Agreement shall be maintained by the Contractor in accordance with Sub-paragraph 8.43, Record Retention and Inspection/Audit Settlement.

8.51 TERMINATION FOR DEFAULT

8.51.1 The County may, by written notice to the Contractor, terminate the whole or any part of this Agreement, if, in the judgment of the Director or his/her designee:

- Contractor has materially breached this Agreement; or
- Contractor fails to timely provide and/or satisfactorily perform any task, deliverable, service, or other work required either under this Agreement; or
- Contractor fails to demonstrate a high probability of timely fulfillment of performance requirements under this Agreement, or of any obligations of this Agreement and in either case, fails to demonstrate convincing progress toward a cure within five (5) working days (or such longer period as the County may authorize in writing) after receipt of written notice from the County specifying such failure.

8.51.2 In the event that the County terminates this Agreement in whole or in part as provided in Sub-paragraph 8.51.1, the County may procure, upon such terms and in such manner as the County may deem appropriate, goods and services similar to those so terminated. The Contractor shall be liable to the County for any and all excess costs incurred by the County, as determined by the County, for such similar goods and services. The Contractor shall continue the performance of this Agreement to the extent not terminated under the provisions of this Sub-paragraph.

8.51.3 Except with respect to defaults of any subcontractor, the Contractor shall not be liable for any such excess costs of the type identified in Sub-paragraph 8.51.2 if its failure to perform this Agreement arises out of causes beyond the control and without the fault or negligence of the Contractor. Such causes may include, but are not limited to: acts of God or of the public enemy, acts of the County in either its sovereign or Contractual capacity, acts of Federal or State governments in their sovereign capacities, fires, floods, epidemics, quarantine restrictions, strikes, freight embargoes, and unusually severe weather; but in every case, the failure to perform must be beyond the control and without the fault or negligence of the Contractor. If the failure to perform is caused by the default of a subcontractor, and if such default arises out of causes beyond the control of both the Contractor and subcontractor, and without the fault or negligence of either of them, the Contractor shall not be liable for any such excess costs for failure to perform, unless the goods or services to be furnished by the subcontractor were obtainable from other sources in sufficient time to permit the Contractor to meet the required performance schedule. As used in this Sub-paragraph, the term "subcontractor(s)" means subcontractor(s) at any tier.

8.51.4 If, after the County has given notice of termination under the provisions of this Sub-paragraph 8.51, it is determined by the County that the Contractor was not in default under the provisions of this Sub-paragraph 8.51, or that the default was excusable under the provisions of Sub-paragraph 8.51.3, the rights and obligations of the parties shall be the same as if the notice of termination had been issued pursuant to Sub-paragraph 8.50 - Termination for Convenience.

8.51.5 The rights and remedies of the County provided in this Sub-paragraph 8.51 shall not be exclusive and are in addition to any other rights and remedies provided by law or under this Agreement.

8.52 TERMINATION FOR IMPROPER CONSIDERATION

8.52.1 The County may, by written notice to the Contractor, immediately terminate the right of the Contractor to proceed under this Agreement if it is found that consideration, in any form, was offered or given by the Contractor, either directly or through an intermediary, to any County officer, employee, or agent with the intent of securing this Agreement or securing favorable treatment with respect to the award, amendment, or extension of this Agreement or the making of any determinations with respect to the Contractor's performance pursuant to this Agreement. In the event of such termination, the County shall be entitled to pursue the same remedies against the Contractor as it could pursue in the event of default by the Contractor.

8.52.2 The Contractor shall immediately report any attempt by a County officer or employee to solicit such improper consideration. The report shall be made either to the County manager charged with the supervision of the employee or to the County Fraud Hotline at (800) 544-6861 or www.lacountyfraud.org.

8.52.3 Among other items, such improper consideration may take the form of cash, discounts, service, the provision of travel or entertainment, or tangible gifts.

8.53 TERMINATION FOR INSOLVENCY

8.53.1 The County may terminate this Agreement forthwith in the event of the occurrence of any of the following:

- Insolvency of the Contractor. The Contractor shall be deemed to be insolvent if it has ceased to pay its debts for at least sixty (60) days in the ordinary course of business or cannot pay its debts as they become due, whether or not a petition has been filed under the Federal Bankruptcy Code and whether or not the Contractor is insolvent within the meaning of the Federal Bankruptcy Code;

- The filing of a voluntary or involuntary petition regarding the Contractor under the Federal Bankruptcy Code;
- The appointment of a Receiver or Trustee for the Contractor; or
- The execution by the Contractor of a general assignment for the benefit of creditors.

8.53.2 The rights and remedies of the County provided in this Sub-paragraph 8.53 shall not be exclusive and are in addition to any other rights and remedies provided by law or under this Agreement.

8.54 TERMINATION FOR NON-ADHERENCE OF COUNTY LOBBYIST ORDINANCE

The Contractor, and each County Lobbyist or County Lobbying firm as defined in County Code Section 2.160.010 retained by the Contractor, shall fully comply with the County's Lobbyist Ordinance, County Code Chapter 2.160. Failure on the part of the Contractor or any County Lobbyist or County Lobbying firm retained by the Contractor to fully comply with the County's Lobbyist Ordinance shall constitute a material breach of this Agreement, upon which the County may in its sole discretion, immediately terminate or suspend this Agreement.

8.55 TERMINATION FOR NON-APPROPRIATION OF FUNDS

Notwithstanding any other provision of this Agreement, the County shall not be obligated for the Contractor's performance hereunder or by any provision of this Agreement during any of the County's future fiscal years unless and until the County's Board of Supervisors appropriates funds for this Agreement in the County's Budget for each such future fiscal year. In the event that funds are not appropriated for this Agreement, then this Agreement shall terminate as of June 30 of the last fiscal year for which funds were appropriated. The County shall notify the Contractor in writing of any such non-allocation of funds at the earliest possible date.

8.56 TIME OFF FOR VOTING

The Contractor shall notify its employees, and shall require each subcontractor to notify and provide to its employees, information regarding the time off for voting law (Elections Code Section 14000). Not less than 10 days before every statewide election, every Contractor and subcontractors shall keep posted conspicuously at the place of work, if practicable, or elsewhere where it can be seen as employees come or go to their place of work, a notice setting forth the provisions of Section 14000.

8.57 UNLAWFUL SOLICITATION

The Contractor shall inform all of its officers and employees performing services hereunder of the provisions of Article 9 of Chapter 4 of Division 3 (commencing with section 6150) of Business and Professions Code of the State of California (i.e. State Bar Act provisions regarding unlawful solicitation as a runner or capper for attorneys) and shall take positive and affirmative steps in its performance hereunder to ensure that there is no violation of said provisions by its officers and employees. The Contractor agrees that if a patient requests assistance in obtaining the services of any attorney, it will refer the patient to the attorney referral service of all those bar associations within Los Angeles County that have such a service.

8.58 VALIDITY

If any provision of this Agreement or the application thereof to any person or circumstance is held invalid, the remainder of this Agreement and the application of such provision to other persons or circumstances shall not be affected thereby.

8.59 WAIVER

No waiver by the County of any breach of any provision of this Agreement shall constitute a waiver of any other breach or of such provision. Failure of the County to enforce at any time, or from time to time, any provision of this Agreement shall not be construed as a waiver thereof. The rights and remedies set forth in this Sub-paragraph 8.59 shall not be exclusive and are in addition to any other rights and remedies provided by law or under this Agreement.

8.60 WARRANTY AGAINST CONTINGENT FEES

8.60.1 The Contractor warrants that no person or selling agency has been employed or retained to solicit or secure this Agreement upon any agreement or understanding for a commission, percentage, brokerage, or contingent fee, excepting bona fide employees or bona fide established commercial or selling agencies maintained by the Contractor for the purpose of securing business.

8.60.2 For breach of this warranty, the County shall have the right to terminate this Agreement and, at its sole discretion, deduct from the Agreement price or consideration, or otherwise recover, the full amount of such commission, percentage, brokerage, or contingent fee.

8.61 COMPLIANCE WITH COUNTY'S ZERO TOLERANCE HUMAN TRAFFICKING

8.61.1 The Contractor acknowledges that the County has established a Zero Tolerance Human Trafficking Policy prohibiting Contractors from engaging in human trafficking.

8.61.2 If a Contractor or member of the Contractor's staff is convicted of a human trafficking offense, the County shall require that the Contractor or member of the Contractor's staff be removed immediately from performing services under this Agreement. The County will not be under any obligation to disclose confidential information regarding the offenses other than those required by law.

8.61.3 Disqualification of any member of the Contractor's staff pursuant to this Sub-paragraph shall not relieve the Contractor of its obligation to complete all work in accordance with the terms and conditions of this Agreement.

9.1 NO INTENT TO CREATE A THIRD PARTY BENEFICIARY CONTRACT

Notwithstanding any other provision of this Agreement, the parties do not in any way intend that any person shall acquire any rights as a third party beneficiary of this Agreement.

Title 2 ADMINISTRATION
Chapter 2.203.010 through 2.203.090
CONTRACTOR EMPLOYEE JURY SERVICE

2.203.010 Findings.

The board of supervisors makes the following findings. The county of Los Angeles allows its permanent, full-time employees unlimited jury service at their regular pay. Unfortunately, many businesses do not offer or are reducing or even eliminating compensation to employees who serve on juries. This creates a potential financial hardship for employees who do not receive their pay when called to jury service, and those employees often seek to be excused from having to serve. Although changes in the court rules make it more difficult to excuse a potential juror on grounds of financial hardship, potential jurors continue to be excused on this basis, especially from longer trials. This reduces the number of potential jurors and increases the burden on those employers, such as the county of Los Angeles, who pay their permanent, full-time employees while on juror duty. For these reasons, the county of Los Angeles has determined that it is appropriate to require that the businesses with which the county contracts possess reasonable jury service policies. (Ord. 2002-0015 § 1 (part), 2002)

Safely Surrendered Baby Law

What is the Safely Surrendered Baby Law?

California's Safely Surrendered Baby Law allows parents or other persons, with lawful custody, which means anyone to whom the parent has given permission to confidentially surrender a baby. As long as the baby is three days (72 hours) of age or younger and has not been abused or neglected, the baby may be surrendered without fear of arrest or prosecution.

How does it work?

A distressed parent who is unable or unwilling to care for a baby can legally, confidentially, and safely surrender a baby within three days (72 hours) of birth. The baby must be handed to an employee at a hospital or fire station in Los Angeles County. As long as the baby shows no sign of abuse or neglect, no name or other information is required. In case the parent changes his or her mind at a later date and wants the baby back, staff will use bracelets to help connect them to each other. One bracelet will be placed on the baby, and a matching bracelet will be given to the parent or other surrendering adult.

What if a parent wants the baby back?

Parents who change their minds can begin the process of reclaiming their baby within 14 days. These parents should call the Los Angeles County Department of Children and Family Services at 1-800-540-4000.

Can only a parent bring in the baby?

No. While in most cases a parent will bring in the baby, the Law allows other people to bring in the baby if they have lawful custody.

Does the parent or surrendering adult have to call before bringing in the baby?

No. A parent or surrendering adult can bring in a baby anytime, 24 hours a day 7 days a week, as long as the parent or surrendering adult surrenders the baby to someone who works at the hospital or fire station.

Does the parent or surrendering adult have to tell anything to the people taking the baby?

No. However, hospital or fire station personnel will ask the surrendering party to fill out a questionnaire designed to gather important medical history information, which is very useful in caring for the baby. The questionnaire includes a stamped return envelope and can be sent in at a later time.

What happens to the baby?

The baby will be examined and given medical treatment. Upon release from the hospital, social workers immediately place the baby in a safe and loving home and begin the adoption process.

What happens to the parent or surrendering adult?

Once the parent or surrendering adult surrenders the baby to hospital or fire station personnel, they may leave at any time.

Why is California doing this?

The purpose of the Safely Surrendered Baby Law is to protect babies from being abandoned, hurt or killed by their parents. You may have heard tragic stories of babies left in dumpsters or public bathrooms. Their parents may have been under severe emotional distress. The mothers may have hidden their pregnancies, fearful of what would happen if their families found out. Because they were afraid and had no one or nowhere to turn for help, they abandoned their babies. Abandoning a baby is illegal and places the baby in extreme danger. Too often, it results in the baby's death. The Safely Surrendered Baby Law prevents this tragedy from ever happening again in California.

A baby's story

Early in the morning on April 9, 2005, a healthy baby boy was safely surrendered to nurses at Harbor-UCLA Medical Center. The woman who brought the baby to the hospital identified herself as the baby's aunt and stated the baby's mother had asked her to bring the baby to the hospital on her behalf. The aunt was given a bracelet with a number matching the anklet placed on the baby; this would provide some identification in the event the mother changed her mind about surrendering the baby and wished to reclaim the baby in the 14-day period allowed by the Law. The aunt was also provided with a medical questionnaire and said she would have the mother complete and mail back in the stamped return envelope provided. The baby was examined by medical staff and pronounced healthy and full-term. He was placed with a loving family that had been approved to adopt him by the Department of Children and Family Services.

Ley de Entrega de Bebés Sin Peligro

¿Qué es la Ley de Entrega de Bebés sin Peligro?

La Ley de Entrega de Bebés sin Peligro de California permite la entrega confidencial de un recién nacido por parte de sus padres u otras personas con custodia legal, es decir cualquier persona a quien los padres le hayan dado permiso. Siempre que el bebé tenga tres días (72 horas) de vida o menos, y no haya sufrido abuso ni negligencia, puedan entregar al recién nacido sin temor de ser arrestados o procesados.

Cada recién nacido se merece la oportunidad de tener una vida saludable. Si alguien que usted conoce está pensando en abandonar a un recién nacido, infórmele que tiene otras opciones. Hasta tres días (72 horas) después del nacimiento, se puede entregar un recién nacido al personal de cualquier hospital o cuartel de bomberos del condado de Los Angeles.

¿Cómo funciona?

El padre/madre con dificultades que no pueda o no quiera cuidar de su recién nacido puede entregarlo en forma legal, confidencial y segura dentro de los tres días (72 horas) del nacimiento. El bebé debe ser entregado a un empleado de cualquier hospital o cuartel de bomberos del Condado de Los Ángeles. Siempre que el bebé no presente signos de abuso o negligencia, no será necesario suministrar nombres ni información alguna. Si el padre/madre cambia de opinión posteriormente y desea recuperar a su bebé, los trabajadores utilizarán brazaletes para poder vincularlos. El bebé llevará un brazalete y el padre/madre o el adulto que lo entregue recibirá un brazalete igual.

¿Qué pasa si el padre/madre desea recuperar a su bebé?

Los padres que cambien de opinión pueden comenzar el proceso de reclamar a su recién nacido dentro de los 14 días. Estos padres deberán llamar al Departamento de Servicios para Niños y Familias (Department of Children and Family Services) del Condado de Los Ángeles al 1-800-540-4000.

¿Sólo los padres podrán llevar al recién nacido?

No. Si bien en la mayoría de los casos son los padres los que llevan al bebé, la ley permite que otras personas lo hagan si tienen custodia legal.

¿Los padres o el adulto que entrega al bebé deben llamar antes de llevar al bebé?

No. El padre/madre o adulto puede llevar al bebé en cualquier momento, las 24 horas del día, los 7 días de la semana, siempre y cuando entreguen a su bebé a un empleado del hospital o cuartel de bomberos.

¿Es necesario que el padre/madre o adulto diga algo a las personas que reciben al bebé?

No. Sin embargo, el personal del hospital o cuartel de bomberos le pedirá a la persona que entregue al bebé que llene un cuestionario con la finalidad de recabar antecedentes médicos importantes, que resultan de gran utilidad para cuidar bien del bebé. El cuestionario incluye un sobre con el sello postal pagado para enviarlo en otro momento.

¿Qué pasará con el bebé?

El bebé será examinado y le brindarán atención médica. Cuando le den el alta del hospital, los trabajadores sociales inmediatamente ubicarán al bebé en un hogar seguro donde estará bien atendido, y se comenzará el proceso de adopción.

¿Qué pasará con el padre/madre o adulto que entregue al bebé?

Una vez que los padres o adulto hayan entregado al bebé al personal del hospital o cuartel de bomberos, pueden irse en cualquier momento.

¿Por qué se está haciendo esto en California? ?

La finalidad de la Ley de Entrega de Bebés sin Peligro es proteger a los bebés para que no sean abandonados, lastimados o muertos por sus padres. Usted probablemente haya escuchado historias trágicas sobre bebés abandonados en basureros o en baños públicos. Los padres de esos bebés probablemente hayan estado pasando por dificultades emocionales graves. Las madres pueden haber ocultado su embarazo, por temor a lo que pasaría si sus familias se enteraran. Abandonaron a sus bebés porque tenían miedo y no tenían nadie a quien pedir ayuda. El abandono de un recién nacido es ilegal y pone al bebé en una situación de peligro extremo. Muy a menudo el abandono provoca la muerte del bebé. La Ley de Entrega de Bebés sin Peligro impide que vuelva a suceder esta tragedia en California.

Historia de un bebé

A la mañana temprano del día 9 de abril de 2005, se entregó un recién nacido saludable a las enfermeras del Harbor-UCLA Medical Center. La mujer que llevó el recién nacido al hospital se dio a conocer como la tía del bebé, y dijo que la madre le había pedido que llevara al bebé al hospital en su nombre. Le entregaron a la tía un brazalete con un número que coincidía con la pulsera del bebé; esto serviría como identificación en caso de que la madre cambiara de opinión con respecto a la entrega del bebé y decidiera recuperarlo dentro del período de 14 días que permite esta ley. También le dieron a la tía un cuestionario médico, y ella dijo que la madre lo llenaría y lo enviaría de vuelta dentro del sobre con franqueo pagado que le habían dado. El personal médico examinó al bebé y se determinó que estaba saludable y a término. El bebé fue ubicado con una buena familia que ya había sido aprobada para adoptarlo por el Departamento de Servicios para Niños y Familias.

8.2.3 Any assumption, assignment, delegation, or takeover of any of the Contractor's duties, responsibilities, obligations, or performance of same by any entity other than the Contractor, whether through assignment, subcontract, delegation, merger, buyout, or any other mechanism, with or without consideration for any reason whatsoever without County's express prior written approval, shall be a material breach of the Master Agreement which may result in the termination of this Master Agreement. In the event of such termination, County shall be entitled to pursue the same remedies against Contractor as it could pursue in the event of default by Contractor.

8.3 AUTHORIZATION WARRANTY

The Contractor represents and warrants that the person executing this Master Agreement for the Contractor is an authorized agent who has actual authority to bind the Contractor to each and every term, condition, and obligation of this Master Agreement and that all requirements of the Contractor have been fulfilled to provide such actual authority.

The Contractor is responsible to reimburse the County for all associated costs (repayment, fine and/or penalty) that may be incurred as a result of inappropriate claims submitted by or on behalf of one of their staff or vendors who was excluded or suspended. Any legal defense pursuant to the Contractor's indemnification obligations under this sub-paragraph 8.6 shall be conducted by the Contractor and performed by counsel selected by the Contractor and approved by the County. Notwithstanding the preceding sentence, the County shall have the right to participate in any such defense at its sole cost and expense, except that in the event the Contractor fails to provide the County with a full and adequate defense, as determined by the County in its sole judgment, the County shall be entitled to retain its own counsel, including, without limitation, County Counsel, and reimbursement from the Contractor for all such costs and expenses incurred by County in doing so. It is the responsibility of the Contractor to acquaint all persons who may provide services hereunder with such rules and regulations. Contractor agrees to immediately and permanently withdraw any of its employees or subcontractors from the provision of services hereunder upon receipt of written notice from the Director that: (1) such employee or subcontractor has violated such rules or regulations, or (2) such employee's or subcontractor's actions while on County premises, may adversely affect the delivery of health care services to County patients. The Director must submit with such notice a written statement of the facts supporting any such alleged violation or action.

employment, without regard to race, color, religious creed, ancestry, national origin, sex, sexual orientation, age, physical or mental disability, medical condition, marital status, or political affiliation, in compliance with all applicable federal and State anti-discrimination laws and regulations. Such action shall include, but is not limited to: employment, upgrading, demotion, transfer, recruitment or recruitment advertising, layoff or termination, rates of pay or other forms of compensation, and selection for training, including apprenticeship.

8.7.7 If the County finds that any provisions of this sub-paragraph 8.7 have been violated, such violation shall constitute a material breach of this Master Agreement upon which the County may terminate or suspend this Master Agreement. While the County reserves the right to determine independently that the anti-discrimination provisions of this Master Agreement have been violated, in addition, a determination by the California Fair Employment Practices Commission or the Federal Equal Employment Opportunity Commission that the Contractor has violated federal or State anti-discrimination laws or regulations shall constitute a finding by the County that the Contractor has violated the anti-discrimination provisions of this Master Agreement.

8.7.8 The parties agree that in the event the Contractor violates any of the anti-discrimination provisions of this Master Agreement, the County shall, at its sole option, be entitled to the sum of five hundred dollars ($500) for each such violation pursuant to California Civil Code Section 1671 as liquidated damages in lieu of terminating or suspending this Master Agreement.

8.7.9 Anti-discrimination in Services

The Contractor shall not discriminate in the provision of services hereunder because of race, color, religious creed, national origin, ethnic group identification, ancestry, age, sex, sexual orientation, medical condition, marital status, political affiliation, or physical or mental disability in accordance with requirements of federal and State laws. through 2.203.090 of the Los Angeles County Code, a copy of which is attached as Exhibit F and incorporated by reference into and made a part of this Master Agreement.

8.8.2 Written Employee Jury Service Policy.

1. Unless the Contractor has demonstrated to the County's satisfaction either that the Contractor is not a "Contractor" as defined under the Jury Service Program (Section 2.203.020 of the County Code) or that the Contractor qualifies for an exception to the Jury Service Program (Section 2.203.070 of the County Code), the Contractor shall have and adhere to a written policy that provides that its Employees shall receive from the Contractor, on an annual basis, no less than five (5) days of regular pay for actual jury service. The policy may provide that Employees deposit any fees received for such jury service with the Contractor or that the Contractor deduct from the Employee's regular pay the fees received for jury service.

2. For purposes of this sub-paragraph, "Contractor" means a person, partnership, corporation or other entity which has a contract with the County or a subcontract with a County Contractor and has received or will receive an aggregate sum of $50,000 or more in any 12-month period under one or more County contracts or subcontracts. "Employee" means any California resident who is a full-time employee of the Contractor. "Full-time" means 40 hours or more worked per week, or a lesser number of hours if: 1) the lesser number is a recognized industry standard as determined by the County, or 2) Contractor has a long-standing practice that defines the lesser number of hours as full-time. Full-time employees providing short-term, temporary services of 90 days or less within a 12-month period are not considered full-time for purposes of the Jury Service Program. If the Contractor uses any subcontractor to perform services for the County under the Master Agreement, the subcontractor shall also be subject to the provisions of this sub-paragraph. The provisions of this sub-paragraph shall be inserted into any such subcontract agreement and a copy of the Jury Service Program shall be attached to the Master Agreement.

3. If the Contractor is not required to comply with the Jury Service Program when the Contract commences, the Contractor shall have a continuing obligation to review the applicability of its "exception status" from the Jury Service Program, and the Contractor shall immediately notify the County if the Contractor at any time either comes within the Jury Service Program's definition of "Contractor" or if the Contractor no longer qualifies for an exception to the Jury Service Program. In either event, the Contractor shall immediately implement a written policy consistent with the Jury Service Program. The County may also require, at any time during the Contract and at its sole discretion, that the Contractor demonstrate, to the County's satisfaction that the Contractor either continues to remain outside of the Jury Service Program's definition of "Contractor" and/or that the Contractor continues to qualify for an exception to the Program.

4. The Contractor's violation of this sub-paragraph of the Master Agreement may constitute a material breach of the Master Agreement. In the event of such material breach, County may, in its sole discretion, terminate the Master Agreement and/or bar the Contractor from the award of future County contracts for a period of time consistent with the seriousness of the breach.

8.9 CONFLICT OF INTEREST

8.9.1 No County employee whose position with the County enables such employee to influence the award or administration of this Master Agreement or any competing Contract, and no spouse or economic dependent of such employee, shall be employed in any capacity by the Contractor or have any other direct or indirect financial interest in this Master Agreement. No officer or employee of the Contractor who may financially benefit from the performance of work hereunder shall in any way participate in the County's approval, or ongoing evaluation, of such work, or in any way attempt to unlawfully influence the County's approval or ongoing evaluation of such work.

8.9.2 The Contractor shall comply with all conflict of interest laws, ordinances, and regulations now in effect or hereafter to be enacted during the term of this Master Agreement. The Contractor warrants that it is not now aware of any facts that create a conflict of interest. If the Contractor hereafter becomes aware of any facts that might reasonably be expected to create a conflict of interest, it shall immediately make full written disclosure of such facts to the County. Full written disclosure shall include, but is not limited to, identification of all persons implicated and a complete description of all relevant circumstances. Failure to comply with the provisions of this sub-paragraph shall be a material breach of this Master Agreement.

8.10 CONSIDERATION OF HIRING COUNTY EMPLOYEES TARGETED FOR LAYOFF/OR RE-EMPLOYMENT LIST

Should the Contractor require additional or replacement personnel after the effective date of this Master Agreement to perform the services set forth herein, the Contractor shall give first consideration for such employment openings to qualified, permanent County employees who are targeted for layoff or qualified, former County employees who are on a re-employment list during the life of this Master Agreement.

8.11 CONSIDERATION OF HIRING GAIN/GROW PROGRAM PARTICIPANTS

8.11.1 Should the Contractor require additional or replacement personnel after the effective date of this Master Agreement, the Contractor shall give consideration for any such employment openings to participants in the County's Department of Public Social Services Greater Avenues for Independence (GAIN) Program or General Relief Opportunity for Work (GROW) Program who meet the Contractor's minimum qualifications for the open position. For this purpose, consideration shall mean that the Contractor will interview qualified candidates. The County will refer GAIN/GROW participants by job category to the Contractor. Contractors shall report all job openings with job requirements to: GAINGROW@dpss.lacounty.gov to obtain a list of qualified GAIN/GROW job candidates.

8.11.2 In the event that both laid-off County employees and GAIN/GROW participants are available for hiring, County employees shall be given first priority.

8.12 CONTRACTOR RESPONSIBILITY AND DEBARMENT

8.12.1 Responsible Contractor

A responsible Contractor is a Contractor who has demonstrated the attribute of trustworthiness, as well as quality, fitness, capacity and experience to satisfactorily perform the contract. It is the County's policy to conduct business only with responsible Contractors.

8.12.2 Chapter 2.202 of the County Code

The Contractor is hereby notified that, in accordance with Chapter 2.202 of the County Code, if the County acquires information concerning the performance of the Contractor on this or other contracts which indicates that the Contractor is not responsible, the County may, in addition to other remedies provided in the Contract, debar the Contractor from bidding or proposing on, or being awarded, and/or performing work on County contracts for a specified period of time, which generally will not exceed five (5) years but may exceed five (5) years or be permanent if warranted by the circumstances, and terminate any or all existing contracts the Contractor may have with the County.

8.12.3 Non-responsible Contractor

The County may debar a Contractor if the Board of Supervisors finds, in its discretion, that the Contractor has done any of the following: (1) violated a term of a contract with the County or a nonprofit corporation created by the County, (2) committed an act or omission which negatively reflects on the Contractor's quality, fitness or capacity to perform a contract with the County, any other public entity, or a nonprofit corporation created by the County, or engaged in a pattern or practice which negatively reflects on same, (3) committed an act or offense which indicates a lack of business integrity or business honesty, or (4) made or submitted a false claim against the County or any other public entity.

8.12.4 Contractor Hearing Board

1. If there is evidence that the Contractor may be subject to debarment, the Department will notify the Contractor in writing of the evidence which is the basis for the proposed debarment and will advise the Contractor of the scheduled date for a debarment hearing before the Contractor Hearing Board.

2. The Contractor Hearing Board will conduct a hearing where evidence on the proposed debarment is presented. The Contractor and/or the Contractor's representative shall be given an opportunity to submit evidence at that hearing. After the hearing, the Contractor Hearing Board shall prepare a tentative/proposed decision, which shall contain a recommendation regarding whether the Contractor should be debarred, and, if so, the appropriate length of time of the debarment. The Contractor and the Department shall be provided an opportunity to object to the proposed decision prior to its presentation to the Board of Supervisors.

3. After consideration of any objections, or if no objections are submitted, a record of the hearing, the proposed decision, and any other recommendation of the Contractor Hearing Board shall be presented to the Board of Supervisors. The Board of Supervisors shall have the right to modify, deny, or adopt the proposed decision and recommendation of the Contractor Hearing Board.

4. If a Contractor has been debarred for a period longer than five (5) years, that Contractor may after the debarment has been in effect for at least five (5) years, submit a written request for review of the debarment determination to reduce the period of debarment or terminate the debarment. The County may, in its discretion, reduce the period of debarment or terminate the debarment if it finds that the Contractor has adequately demonstrated one or more of the following: (1) elimination of the grounds for which the debarment was imposed; (2) a bona fide change in ownership or management; (3) material evidence discovered after debarment was imposed; or (4) any other reason that is in the best interests of the County.

5. The Contractor Hearing Board will consider a request for review of a debarment determination only where (1) the Contractor has been debarred for a period longer than five (5) years; (2) the debarment has been in effect for at least five (5) years; and (3) the request is in writing, states one or more of the grounds for reduction of the debarment period or termination of the debarment, and includes supporting documentation. Upon receiving an appropriate request, the Contractor Hearing Board will provide notice of the hearing on the request. At the hearing, the Contractor Hearing Board shall conduct a hearing where evidence on the proposed reduction of debarment period or termination of debarment is presented. This hearing shall be conducted and the request for review decided by the Contractor Hearing Board pursuant to the same procedures as for a debarment hearing.

6. The Contractor Hearing Board's proposed decision shall contain a recommendation on the request to reduce the period of debarment or terminate the debarment. The Contractor

Hearing Board shall present its proposed decision and recommendation to the Board of Supervisors. The Board of Supervisors shall have the right to modify, deny, or adopt the proposed decision and recommendation of the Contractor Hearing Board.

The Contractor will also encourage its subcontractors, if any, to post this poster in a prominent position in the subcontractor's place of business. The County's Department of Children and Family Services will supply the Contractor with the poster to be used. Agreement will maintain compliance, with Los Angeles Code Chapter 2.206.

8.17 COUNTY'S QUALITY ASSURANCE PLAN

The report to the Board will include improvement/corrective action measures taken by the County and the Contractor. If improvement does not occur consistent with the corrective action measures, the County may terminate this Master Agreement or impose other penalties as specified in this Master Agreement.

8.18 INTENTIONALLY OMITTED

8.20 FACSIMILE REPRESENTATIONS

The County and the Contractor hereby agree to regard facsimile representations of original signatures of authorized officers of each party, when appearing in appropriate places on the Amendments prepared pursuant to sub-paragraph 8.1, and received via communications facilities, as legally sufficient evidence that such original signatures have been affixed to Amendments to this Agreement, such that the parties need not follow up facsimile transmissions of such documents with subsequent (non-facsimile) transmission of "original" versions of such documents.

8.21 FAIR LABOR STANDARDS

The Contractor shall comply with all applicable provisions of the Federal Fair Labor Standards Act and shall indemnify, defend, and hold harmless the County and its agents, officers, and employees from any and all liability, including, but not limited to, wages, overtime pay, liquidated damages, penalties, court costs, and attorneys' fees arising under any wage and hour law, including, but not limited to, the Federal Fair Labor Standards Act, for work performed by the Contractor's employees for which the County may be found jointly or solely liable.

The Contractor recognizes that health care Facilities maintained by County provide care essential to the residents of the communities they serve, and that these services are of particular importance at the time of a riot, insurrection, civil unrest, natural disaster, or similar event. Notwithstanding any other provision of this Master Agreement, full performance by Contractor during any riot, insurrection, civil unrest, natural disaster or similar event is not excused if such performance remains physically possible. Failure to comply with this requirement shall be considered a material breach by Contractor for which County may immediately terminate this Master Agreement.

8.24 GOVERNING LAW, JURISDICTION, AND VENUE

This Master Agreement shall be governed by, and construed in accordance with, the laws of the State of California. The Contractor agrees and consents to the exclusive jurisdiction of the courts of the State of California for all purposes regarding this Master Agreement and further agrees and consents that venue of any action brought hereunder shall be exclusively in the County of Los Angeles.

8.28 GENERAL PROVISIONS FOR ALL INSURANCE COVERAGE

Without limiting Contractor's indemnification of County, and in the performance of this Master Agreement and until all of its obligations pursuant to this Master Agreement have been met, Contractor shall provide and maintain at its own expense insurance coverage satisfying the requirements specified in Sections 8.28 and 8.29 of this Master Agreement. These minimum insurance coverage terms, types and limits (the "Required Insurance") are in addition to and separate from any other contractual obligation imposed upon the Contractor pursuant to this Master Agreement. 8.28.4 Failure to Maintain Insurance

The Contractor's failure to maintain or to provide acceptable evidence that it maintains the Required Insurance shall constitute a material breach of this Master Agreement, upon which the County immediately may withhold payments due to the Contractor, and/or suspend or terminate this Master Agreement. The County, at its sole discretion, may obtain damages from the Contractor resulting from said breach. Alternately, the County may purchase the Required Insurance, and without further notice to the Contractor, deduct the premium cost from sums due to the Contractor or pursue Contractor reimbursement.

The Contractor shall be responsible for verifying each subcontractor complies with the Required Insurance provisions herein, and shall require that each subcontractor name the County and Contractor as additional insureds on the subcontractor's General Liability policy. The Contractor shall obtain the County's prior review and approval of any subcontractor request for modification of the Required Insurance.

8.28.9 Deductibles and Self-Insured Retentions (SIRs)

The Contractor's policies shall not obligate the County to pay any portion of any Contractor deductible or SIR. The County retains the right to require the Contractor to reduce or eliminate policy deductibles and SIRs as respects the County, or to provide a bond guaranteeing Contractor's payment of all deductibles and SIRs, including all related claims investigation, administration and defense expenses. Such bond shall be executed by a corporate surety licensed to transact business in the State of California.

8.28.10 Claims Made Coverage

8.31.3 The action noted in sub-paragraph 8.31.2 shall not be construed as a penalty, but as adjustment of payment to the Contractor to recover the County cost due to the failure of the Contractor to complete or comply with the provisions of this Master Agreement.

8.31.4 This sub-paragraph shall not, in any manner, restrict or limit the County's right to damages for any breach of this Master Agreement provided by law or as specified in the PRS or sub-paragraph 8.31.2, and shall not, in any manner, restrict or limit the County's right to terminate this Master Agreement as agreed to herein.

The Contractor shall notify and provide to its employees, and shall require each subcontractor to notify and provide to its employees, a fact sheet regarding the Safely Surrendered Baby Law, its implementation in Los Angeles County, and where and how to safely surrender a baby. The fact sheet is set forth in Exhibit I of this Master Agreement and is also available on the Internet at www.babysafela.org for printing purposes.

8.37 NOTICES

8.37.1 All notices or demands required or permitted to be given or made under this Master Agreement shall be in writing and shall be hand delivered with signed receipt or mailed by first-class registered or certified mail, postage prepaid, addressed to the parties as identified in Exhibit C – County's Administration and Exhibit D - Contractor's Administration. 8.37.2 Electronic Notice: In addition, and in lieu of written notification, the Director, or his designee, shall have the authority to issue any notice to Contractor electronically via e-mail at the designated E-mail address as identified in Exhibit D – Contractor's Administration. This includes all notices or demands required or permitted by the County under this Master Agreement.

8.38 PROHIBITION AGAINST INDUCEMENT OR PERSUASION

Notwithstanding the above, the Contractor and the County agree that, during the term of this Master Agreement and for a period of one (1) year thereafter, neither party shall in any way intentionally induce or persuade any employee of one party to become an employee or agent of the other party. No bar exists against any hiring action initiated through a public announcement.

8.39 PUBLIC RECORDS ACT

8.39.1 Any documents submitted by the Contractor; all information obtained in connection with the County's right to audit and inspect the Contractor's documents, books, and accounting records pursuant to sub-paragraph 8.41 - Record Retention and Inspection/Audit Settlement of this Master Agreement; as well as any documents that may have been submitted in response to a solicitation process for this Master Agreement, become the exclusive property of the County. All such documents become a matter of public record and shall be regarded as public records. Exceptions will be those elements in the California Government Code Section 6250 et seq. (Public Records Act) and which are marked "trade secret", "confidential", or "proprietary". The County shall not in any way be liable or responsible for the disclosure of any such records including, without limitation, those so marked, if disclosure is required by law, or by an order issued by a court of competent jurisdiction.

8.39.2 In the event the County is required to defend an action on a Public Records Act request for any of the aforementioned documents, information, books, records, and/or contents of a solicitation response marked "trade secret", "confidential", or "proprietary", the Contractor agrees to defend and indemnify the County from all costs and expenses, including reasonable attorney's fees, in action or liability arising under the Public Records Act.

8.40 PUBLICITY

8.40.1 The Contractor shall not disclose any details in connection with this Master Agreement to any person or entity except as may be otherwise provided hereunder or required by law. However, in recognizing the Contractor's need to identify its services and related clients to sustain itself, the County shall not inhibit the Contractor from publishing its role under this Master Agreement within the following conditions:

- The Contractor shall develop all publicity material in a professional manner; and

- During the term of this Master Agreement, the Contractor shall not, and shall not authorize another to, publish or disseminate any commercial advertisements, press releases, feature articles, or other materials using the name of the County without the prior written consent of the Director or his designee. The County shall not unreasonably withhold written consent.

8.40.2 The Contractor may, without the prior written consent of County, indicate in its proposals and sales materials that it has been awarded this Master Agreement with the County of Los Angeles, provided that the requirements of this sub-paragraph 8.40 shall apply.

8.41 RECORD RETENTION AND INSPECTION/AUDIT SETTLEMENT

8.41.1 The Contractor shall maintain, and provide upon request by County, accurate and complete financial records of its activities and operations relating to this Master Agreement in accordance with generally accepted accounting principles. The Contractor shall also maintain accurate and complete employment and other records relating to its performance of this Master Agreement.

8.41.2 The Contractor agrees that the County, or its authorized representatives, shall have access to and the right to examine, audit, excerpt, copy, or transcribe any pertinent transaction, activity, or record relating to this Master Agreement. All such material, including, but not limited to, all financial records, bank statements, cancelled checks or other proof of payment, timecards, sign-in/sign-out sheets and other time and employment records, and proprietary data and information, shall be kept and maintained by the Contractor and shall be made available to the County during the term of this Master Agreement and for a period of ten (10) years thereafter unless the County's written permission is given to dispose of any such material prior to such time. All such material shall be maintained by the Contractor at a location in Los Angeles County, provided that if any such material is located outside Los Angeles County, then, at the County's option, the Contractor shall pay the County for travel, per diem, and other costs incurred by the County to examine, audit, excerpt, copy, or transcribe such material at such other location.

8.41.3 In the event that an audit of the Contractor is conducted specifically regarding this Master Agreement by any federal or State auditor, or by any auditor or accountant employed by the Contractor or otherwise, including audits conducted by the Medicare and Medi-Cal programs, or both, then the Contractor shall file a copy of each such audit report, including Service Organization Controls (SOCI) Reports, with the County's Auditor-Controller within thirty (30) days of the Contractor's receipt thereof, unless otherwise provided by applicable federal or State law or under this Master Agreement. Subject to applicable law, the County shall make a reasonable effort to maintain the confidentiality of such audit report(s).

8.41.4 Failure on the part of the Contractor to comply with any of the provisions of this sub-paragraph 8.41 shall constitute a material breach of this Master Agreement upon which the County may terminate or suspend this Master Agreement.

8.41.5 If, at any time during the term of this Master Agreement or within ten (10) years after the expiration or termination of this Master Agreement, representatives of the County conduct an audit of the Contractor regarding the work performed under this Master Agreement, and if such audit finds that the County's dollar liability for any such work is less than payments made by the County to the Contractor, then the difference shall be either: a) repaid by the Contractor to the County by cash payment upon demand or b) at the sole option of the County's Auditor-Controller, deducted from any amounts due to the Contractor from the County, whether under this Master Agreement or otherwise. If such audit finds that the County's dollar liability for such work is more than the payments made by the County to the Contractor, then the difference shall be paid to the Contractor by the County by cash payment, provided that in no event shall the County's maximum obligation for this Master Agreement exceed the funds appropriated by the County for the purpose of this Master Agreement.

8.41.6 Patient Records

The Contractor shall prepare all appropriate medical records for County patients receiving services hereunder. If a County patient receives services from the Contractor at Contractor's private office, then the Contractor shall also maintain such records on any such patient. Such records shall include, but are not limited to, progress notes and records of services provided in sufficient detail to permit the evaluation of services rendered pursuant to this Master Agreement. All patient records for patients seen in Contractor's office shall be retained by the Contractor for a period of ten (10) years following the expiration or earlier termination of this Master Agreement, unless otherwise required under State law. During such ten (10) year period, as well as during the term of this Master Agreement, all such records shall be retained by the Contractor at a location in Los Angeles County and shall be made available upon ten (10) working days prior written notice to authorized representatives of the County designated by the Director or by the County's Auditor-Controller, or both, for purposes of inspection and audit.

8.41.7 Audit/Compliance Review

In the event County representatives conduct an audit/ compliance review of the Contractor, the Contractor shall fully cooperate with County's representatives. Contractor shall allow County representatives access to all financial reports, medical records, and reports pertaining to this Master Agreement and shall allow photocopies to be made of these documents utilizing Contractor's photocopier, for which County shall reimburse Contractor its customary charge for record copying services, if requested. Director shall provide Contractor with at least ten (10) working days prior written notice of any audit/compliance review.

The County may conduct a statistical audit/compliance review of all claims paid by the County during a specified period. The sample shall be determined in accordance with generally accepted auditing standards. An exit conference shall be held following the performance of any such audit/ compliance review at which time the results shall be discussed with the Contractor. The Contractor shall be provided with a copy of any resultant written evaluation report(s).

The Contractor shall have the opportunity to review the County's findings for the Contractor, and the Contractor shall have thirty (30) calendar days after receipt of County's audit/compliance review results to provide documentation to the County representatives to resolve audit exceptions. If, at the end of the thirty (30) day period there remain audit exceptions which have not been resolved to the satisfaction of the County's representatives, then the exception rate found in the audit or sample results shall be applied to the total County payments made to the Contractor for all claims paid during the audit/ compliance review period to determine the Contractor's liability to the County.

8.42 RECYCLED BOND PAPER

Consistent with the Board of Supervisors' policy to reduce the amount of solid waste deposited at the County landfills, the Contractor agrees to use recycled-content paper to the maximum extent possible on this Master Agreement.

8.43 RESTRICTIONS ON LOBBYING

If any federal funds are to be used to pay for the Contractor's services under this Master Agreement, the Contractor shall fully comply with all certification and disclosure requirements prescribed by Section 319 of Public Law 101-121 (31 United States Code Section 1352) and any implementing regulations, and shall ensure that each of its subcontractors receiving funds provided under this Master Agreement also fully complies with all such certification and disclosure requirements.

8.44 SUBCONTRACTING

8.44.1 The requirements of this Master Agreement may not be subcontracted by the Contractor without the advance written approval of the County. Any attempt by the Contractor to subcontract without the prior consent of the County may be deemed a material breach of this Master Agreement.

8.44.2 If the Contractor desires to subcontract, the Contractor shall provide the following information promptly at the County's request:

- A description of the work to be performed by the subcontractor;
- A draft copy of the proposed subcontract; and
- Other pertinent information and/or certifications requested by the County.

8.44.3 The Contractor shall indemnify and hold the County harmless with respect to the activities of each and every subcontractor in the same manner and to the same degree as if such subcontractor(s) were the Contractor employees.

8.44.4 The Contractor shall remain fully responsible for all performances required of it under this Master Agreement, including those that the Contractor has determined to subcontract, notwithstanding the County's approval of the Contractor's proposed subcontract.

8.44.5 The County's consent to subcontract shall not waive the County's right to prior and continuing approval of any and all personnel, including subcontractor employees, providing services under this Master Agreement. The Contractor is responsible to notify its subcontractors of this County right.

8.44.6 The Director or his designee is authorized to act for and on behalf of the County with respect to approval of any subcontract and subcontractor employees. After approval of the subcontract by the County, Contractor shall forward a fully executed subcontract to the County for their files.

8.44.7 The Contractor shall be solely liable and responsible for all payments or other compensation to all subcontractors and their officers, employees, agents, and successors in interest arising through services performed hereunder, notwithstanding the County's consent to subcontract.

8.44.8 The Contractor shall obtain certificates of insurance, which establish that the subcontractor maintains all the programs of insurance required by the County from each approved subcontractor. The Contractor shall ensure delivery of all such documents to:

County of Los Angeles

Failure of the Contractor to maintain compliance with the requirements set forth in sub-paragraph 8.15 - Contractor's Warranty of Adherence to County's Child Support Compliance Program, shall constitute default under this Master Agreement. Without limiting the rights and remedies available to the County under any other provision of this Master Agreement, failure of the Contractor to cure such default within ninety (90) calendar days of written notice shall be grounds upon which the County may terminate this Master Agreement pursuant to sub-paragraph 8.49 - Termination for Default and pursue debarment of the Contractor, pursuant to County Code Chapter 2.202.

8.47 TERMINATION FOR BREACH OF WARRANTY TO MAINTAIN COMPLIANCE WITH COUNTY'S DEFAULTED PROPERTY TAX REDUCTION PROGRAM

Failure of the Contractor to maintain compliance with the requirements set forth in sub-paragraph 8.16 - Contractor's Warranty of Compliance with County's Defaulted Property Tax Reduction Program shall constitute default under this Master Agreement. Without limiting the rights and remedies available to County under any other provision of this Master Agreement, failure of Contractor to cure such default within ten (10) days of notice shall be grounds upon which the County may terminate this Master Agreement and/or pursue debarment of the Contractor, pursuant to County Code Chapter 2.206.

8.48 TERMINATION FOR CONVENIENCE

8.48.1 This Master Agreement may be terminated, in whole or in part, from time to time, when such action is deemed by the County, in its sole discretion, to be in its best interest. Termination of work hereunder shall be effected by notice of termination to the Contractor specifying the extent to which performance of work is terminated and the date upon which such termination becomes effective. The date upon which such termination becomes effective shall be no less than ten (10) days after the notice is sent.

8.48.2 After receipt of a notice of termination and except as otherwise directed by the County, the Contractor shall:

- Stop work under this Master Agreement on the date and to the extent specified in such notice, and
- Complete performance of such part of the work as shall not have been terminated by such notice.

8.48.3 All material including books, records, documents, or other evidence bearing on the costs and expenses of the Contractor under this Master Agreement shall be maintained by the Contractor in accordance with sub-paragraph 8.41, Record Retention and Inspection/Audit Settlement.

8.49 TERMINATION FOR DEFAULT

8.49.1 The County may, by written notice to the Contractor, terminate the whole or any part of this Master Agreement, if, in the judgment of the Director or his designee.

- Contractor has materially breached this Master Agreement; or
- Contractor fails to timely provide and/or satisfactorily perform any task, deliverable, service, or other work required either under this Master Agreement; or
- Contractor fails to demonstrate a high probability of timely fulfillment of performance requirements under this Master Agreement, or of any obligations of this Master Agreement and in either case, fails to demonstrate convincing progress toward a cure within five (5) working days (or such longer period as the County may authorize in writing) after receipt of written notice from the County specifying such failure.

8.49.2 In the event that the County terminates this Master Agreement in whole or in part as provided in sub-paragraph 8.49.1, the County may procure, upon such terms and in such manner as the County may deem appropriate, goods and services similar to those so terminated. The Contractor shall be liable to the County for any and all excess costs incurred by the County, as determined by the County, for such similar goods and services. The Contractor shall continue the performance of this Master Agreement to the extent not terminated under the provisions of this sub-paragraph.

8.49.3 Except with respect to defaults of any subcontractor, the Contractor shall not be liable for any such excess costs of the type identified in sub-paragraph 8.49.2 if its failure to perform this Master Agreement arises out of causes beyond the control and without the fault or negligence of the Contractor. Such causes may include, but are not limited to: acts of God or of the public enemy, acts of the County in either its sovereign or Contractual capacity, acts of federal or State governments in their sovereign capacities, fires, floods, epidemics, quarantine restrictions, strikes, freight embargoes, and unusually severe weather; but in every case, the failure to perform must be beyond the control and without the fault or negligence of the Contractor. If the failure to perform is caused by the default of a subcontractor, and if such default arises out of causes beyond the control of both the Contractor and subcontractor, and without the fault or negligence of either of them, the Contractor shall not be liable for any such excess costs for failure to perform, unless the goods or services to be furnished by the subcontractor were obtainable from other sources in sufficient time to permit the Contractor to meet the required performance schedule. As used in this sub-paragraph, the term "subcontractor(s)" means subcontractor(s) at any tier.

8.49.4 If, after the County has given notice of termination under the provisions of this sub-paragraph 8.49, it is determined by the County that the Contractor was not in default under the provisions of this sub-paragraph 8.49, or that the default was excusable under the provisions of sub-paragraph 8.50.3, the rights and obligations of the parties shall be the same as if the notice of termination had been issued pursuant to sub-paragraph 8.48 - Termination for Convenience.

8.49.5 The rights and remedies of the County provided in this sub-paragraph 8.49 shall not be exclusive and are in addition to any other rights and remedies provided by law or under this Master Agreement.

8.50 TERMINATION FOR IMPROPER CONSIDERATION

8.50.1 The County may, by written notice to the Contractor, immediately terminate the right of the Contractor to proceed under this Master Agreement if it is found that consideration, in any form, was offered or given by the Contractor, either directly or through an intermediary, to any County officer, employee, or agent with the intent of securing this Master Agreement or securing favorable treatment with respect to the award, amendment, or extension of this Master Agreement or the making of any determinations with respect to the Contractor's performance pursuant to this Master Agreement. In the event of such termination, the County shall be entitled to pursue the same remedies against the Contractor as it could pursue in the event of default by the Contractor.

8.50.2 The Contractor shall immediately report any attempt by a County officer or employee to solicit such improper consideration. The report shall be made either to the County manager charged with the supervision of the employee or to the County Fraud Hotline at (800) 544-6861 or www.lacountyfraud.org.

8.50.3 Among other items, such improper consideration may take the form of cash, discounts, service, the provision of travel or entertainment, or tangible gifts.

8.51 TERMINATION FOR INSOLVENCY

8.51.1 The County may terminate this Master Agreement forthwith in the event of the occurrence of any of the following:

- The filing of a voluntary or involuntary petition regarding the Contractor under the Federal Bankruptcy Code;

- The appointment of a Receiver or Trustee for the Contractor; or

- The execution by the Contractor of a general assignment for the benefit of creditors.

8.51.2 The rights and remedies of the County provided in this sub-paragraph 8.51 shall not be exclusive and are in addition to any other rights and remedies provided by law or under this Master Agreement.

8.52 TERMINATION FOR NON-ADHERENCE OF COUNTY LOBBYIST ORDINANCE

The Contractor, and each County Lobbyist or County Lobbying firm as defined in County Code Section 2.160.010 retained by the Contractor, shall fully comply with the County's Lobbyist Ordinance, County Code Chapter 2.160. Failure on the part of the Contractor or any County Lobbyist or County Lobbying firm retained by the Contractor to fully comply with the County's Lobbyist Ordinance shall constitute a material breach of this Master Agreement, upon which the County may in its sole discretion, immediately terminate or suspend this Master Agreement.

8.53 TERMINATION FOR NON-APPROPRIATION OF FUNDS

Notwithstanding any other provision of this Master Agreement, the County shall not be obligated for the Contractor's performance hereunder or by any provision of this Master Agreement during any of the County's future fiscal years unless and until the County's Board of Supervisors appropriates funds for this Master Agreement in the County's Budget for each such future fiscal year. In the event that funds are not appropriated for this Master Agreement, then this Master Agreement shall terminate as of June 30 of the last fiscal year for which funds were appropriated. The County shall notify the Contractor in writing of any such non-allocation of funds at the earliest possible date.

8.54 TIME OFF FOR VOTING

The Contractor shall notify its employees, and shall require each subcontractor to notify and provide to its employees, information regarding the time off for voting law (Elections Code Section 14000). Not less than ten (10) days before every statewide election, every Contractor and subcontractor shall keep posted conspicuously at the place of work, if practicable, or elsewhere where it can be seen as employees come or go to their place of work, a notice setting forth the provisions of Elections Code Section 14000.

8.55 UNLAWFUL SOLICITATION

The Contractor shall inform all of its officers and employees performing services hereunder of the provisions of Article 9 of Chapter 4 of Division 3 (commencing with section 6150) of Business and Professions Code of the State of California (i.e. State Bar Act provisions regarding unlawful solicitation as a runner or capper for attorneys) and shall take positive and affirmative steps in its performance hereunder to ensure that there is no violation of said provisions by its officers and employees. Contractor agrees that if a patient requests assistance in obtaining the services of any attorney, it will refer the patient to the attorney referral service of all those bar associations within Los Angeles County that have such a service.

8.56 VALIDITY

If any provision of this Master Agreement or the application thereof to any person or circumstance is held invalid, the remainder of this Master Agreement and the application of such provision to other persons or circumstances shall not be affected thereby.

8.57 WAIVER

No waiver by the County of any breach of any provision of this Master Agreement shall constitute a waiver of any other breach or of such provision. Failure of the County to enforce at any time, or from time to time, any provision of this Master Agreement shall not be construed as a waiver thereof. The rights and remedies set forth in this sub-paragraph 8.57 shall not be exclusive and are in addition to any other rights and remedies provided by law or under this Master Agreement.

8.58 WARRANTY AGAINST CONTINGENT FEES

8.58.1 The Contractor warrants that no person or selling agency has been employed or retained to solicit or secure this Master Agreement upon any agreement or understanding for a commission, percentage, brokerage, or contingent fee, excepting bona fide employees or bona fide established commercial or selling agencies maintained by the Contractor for the purpose of securing business.

8.58.2 For breach of this warranty, the County shall have the right to terminate this Master Agreement and, at its sole discretion, deduct from the Master Agreement price or consideration, or otherwise recover, the full amount of such commission, percentage, brokerage, or contingent fee.

8.59 COMPLIANCE WITH COUNTY'S ZERO TOLERANCE HUMAN TRAFFICKING POLICY

8.59.1 The Contractor acknowledges that the County has established a Zero Tolerance Human Trafficking Policy prohibiting Contractors from engaging in human trafficking.

8.59.2 If a Contractor or member of the Contractor's staff is convicted of a human trafficking offense, the County shall require that the Contractor or member of the Contractor's staff be removed immediately from performing services under this Master Agreement. The County will not be under any obligation to disclose confidential information regarding the offenses other than those required by law.

8.59.3 Disqualification of any member of the Contractor's staff pursuant to this sub-paragraph shall not relieve the Contractor of its obligation to complete all work in accordance with the terms and conditions of this Master Agreement.

9.0 UNIQUE TERMS AND CONDITIONS

9.1 NO INTENT TO CREATE A THIRD PARTY BENEFICIARY CONTRACT

Notwithstanding any other provision of this Master Agreement, the parties do not in any way intend that any person shall acquire any rights as a third party beneficiary of this Master Agreement.

9.2 REPORTING OF CHILD/ELDER AND DEPENDENT ADULT ABUSE

9.2.1 The Contractor staff working on this Master Agreement shall comply with California Penal Code (hereinafter "PC") Section 11164 et seq. and shall report all known and suspected instances of child abuse to an appropriate child protective agency, as mandated by these Code sections and shall submit all required information, in accordance with the PC Sections 11166 and 11167.

9.3 CONTRACTOR'S CHARITABLE ACTIVITIES COMPLIANCE

The Supervision of Trustees and Fundraisers for Charitable Purposes Act regulates entities receiving or raising charitable contributions. The "Nonprofit Integrity Act of 2004" (SB 1262, Chapter 919) increased Charitable Purposes Act requirements. By requiring Contractors to complete the Charitable Contributions Certification, Exhibit I, the County seeks to ensure that all County contractors which receive or raise charitable contributions comply with California law in order to protect the County and its taxpayers. A Contractor which receives or raises charitable contributions without complying with its obligations under California law commits a material breach subjecting it to either contract termination or debarment proceedings or both. (County Code Chapter 2.202).

Title 2 ADMINISTRATION
Chapter 2.203.010 through 2.203.090
CONTRACTOR EMPLOYEE JURY SERVICE

2.203.010 Findings.

The board of supervisors makes the following findings. The county of Los Angeles allows its permanent, full-time employees unlimited jury service at their regular pay. Unfortunately, many businesses do not offer or are reducing or even eliminating compensation to employees who serve on juries. This creates a potential financial hardship for employees who do not receive their pay when called to jury service, and those employees often seek to be excused from having to serve. Although changes in the court rules make it more difficult to excuse a potential juror on grounds of financial hardship, potential jurors continue to be excused on this basis, especially from longer trials. This reduces the number of potential jurors and increases the burden on those employers, such as the county of Los Angeles, who pay their permanent, full-time employees while on juror duty. For these reasons, the county of Los Angeles has determined that it is appropriate to require that the businesses with which the county contracts possess reasonable jury service policies. (Ord. 2002-0015 § 1 (part), 2002)

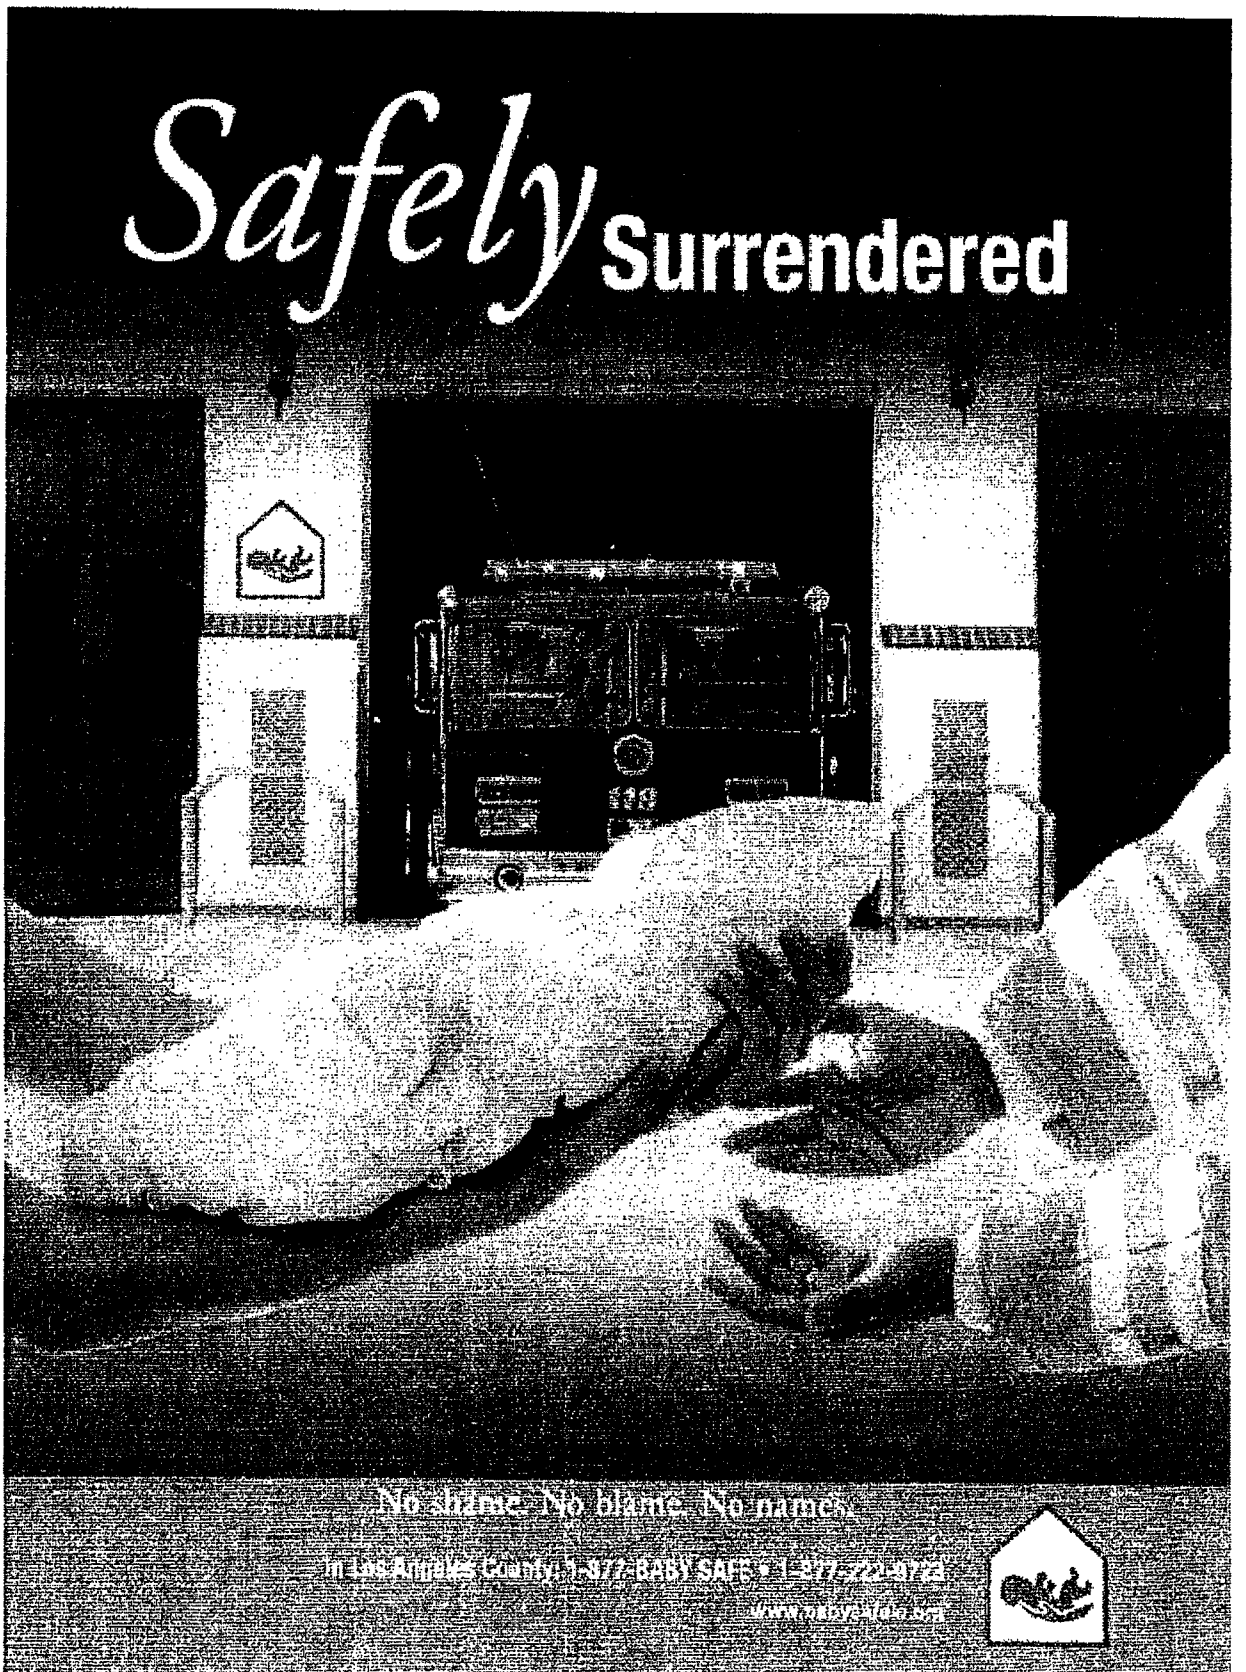
SAFELY SURRENDERED BABY LAW



Safely surrendered

Safely Surrendered Baby Law

In Los Angeles County: 1-877-BABY SAFE • 1-877-222-9723
www.babysafela.org

What is the Safely Surrendered Baby Law?
California's Safely Surrendered Baby Law allows parents or other persons with lawful custody, which means anyone to whom the parent has given permission to confidentially surrender a baby, as long as the baby is three days (72 hours) of age or younger and has not been abused or neglected, the baby may be surrendered without fear of arrest or prosecution.

How does it work?
A distressed parent who is unable or unwilling to care for a baby can legally, confidentially, and safely surrender a baby within three days (72 hours) of birth. The baby must be handed to an employee at a hospital or fire station in Los Angeles County. As long as the baby shows no sign of abuse or neglect, no name or other information is required. In case the parent changes his or her mind at a later date and wants the baby back, staff will use bracelets to help connect them to each other. One bracelet will be placed on the baby, and a matching bracelet will be given to the parent or other surrendering adult.

What if a parent wants the baby back?
Parents who change their minds can begin the process of reclaiming their baby within 14 days. These parents should call the Los Angeles County Department of Children and Family Services at 1-800-540-4000.

Can only a parent bring in the baby?
No. While in most cases a parent will bring in the baby, the Law allows other people to bring in the baby if they have lawful custody.

Does the parent or surrendering adult have to call before bringing in the baby?
No. A parent or surrendering adult can bring in a baby anytime, 24 hours a day, 7 days a week, as long as the parent or surrendering adult surrenders the baby to someone who works at the hospital or fire station.

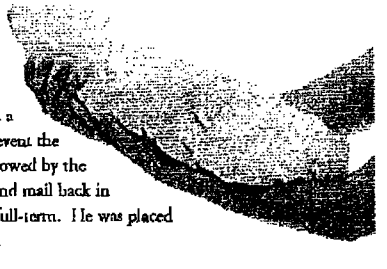
Does the parent or surrendering adult have to tell anything to the people taking the baby?
No. However, hospital or fire station personnel will ask the surrendering party to fill out a questionnaire designed to gather important medical history information, which is very useful in caring for the baby. The questionnaire includes a stamped return envelope and can be sent in at a later time.

What happens to the baby?
The baby will be examined and given medical treatment. Upon release from the hospital, social workers immediately place the baby in a safe and loving home and begin the adoption process.

What happens to the parent or surrendering adult?
Once the parent or surrendering adult surrenders the baby to hospital or fire station personnel, they may leave at any time.

Why is California doing this?
The purpose of the Safely Surrendered Baby Law is to protect babies from being abandoned, hurt or killed by their parents. You may have heard tragic stories of babies left in dumpsters or public bathrooms. Their parents may have been under severe emotional distress. The mothers may have hidden their pregnancies, fearful of what would happen if their families found out. Because they were afraid and had no one or nowhere to turn for help, they abandoned their babies. Abandoning a baby is illegal and places the baby in extreme danger. Too often, it results in the baby's death. The Safely Surrendered Baby Law prevents this tragedy from ever happening again in California.

A baby's story



Early in the morning on April 9, 2005, a healthy baby boy was safely surrendered to nurses at Harbor-UCLA Medical Center. The woman who brought the baby to the hospital identified herself as the baby's aunt and stated the baby's mother had asked her to bring the baby to the hospital on her behalf. The aunt was given a bracelet with a number matching the anklet placed on the baby; this would provide some identification in the event the mother changed her mind about surrendering the baby and wished to reclaim the baby in the 14-day period allowed by the Law. The aunt was also provided with a medical questionnaire and said she would have the mother complete and mail back in the stamped return envelope provided. The baby was examined by medical staff and pronounced healthy and full-term. He was placed with a loving family that had been approved to adopt him by the Department of Children and Family Services.

La Ley de Entrega de Bebés sin Peligro de California permite la entrega confidencial de un recién nacido por parte de sus padres o cualquier persona con custodia legal, es decir cualquier persona a quien los padres le haya dado permiso. Siempre que el bebé tenga no más de tres días (72 horas) de vida o menos y no haya sufrido abuso ni negligencia, pueden entregarlo en forma confidencial y segura dentro de los tres días (72 horas) del nacimiento. El bebé debe ser entregado a un empleado de cualquier hospital o cuartel de bomberos del Condado de Los Ángeles. Siempre que el bebé no presente signos de abuso o negligencia, no será necesario suministrar nombres ni información alguna. Si el padre/madre cambia de opinión posteriormente y desea recuperar a su bebé, los trabajadores utilizarán brazaletes para poder vincularlos. El bebé llevará un brazalete y el padre/madre o el adulto que lo entregue recibirá un brazalete igual.

Cada recién nacido se merece la oportunidad de tener una vida saludable. Si alguien que usted conoce está pensando en abandonar a un recién nacido, infórmele que tiene otras opciones. Hasta tres días (72 horas) después del nacimiento, se puede entregar un recién nacido al personal de cualquier hospital o cuartel de bomberos del condado de Los Ángeles.

¿Cómo funciona?

El padre/madre con dificultades que no pueda o no quiera cuidar de su recién nacido puede entregarlo en forma legal, confidencial y segura dentro de los tres días (72 horas) del nacimiento. El bebé debe ser entregado a un empleado de cualquier hospital o cuartel de bomberos del Condado de Los Ángeles. Siempre que el bebé no presente signos de abuso o negligencia, no será necesario suministrar nombres ni información alguna. Si el padre/madre cambia de opinión posteriormente y desea recuperar a su bebé, los trabajadores utilizarán brazaletes para poder vincularlos. El bebé llevará un brazalete y el padre/madre o el adulto que lo entregue recibirá un brazalete igual.

¿Qué pasa si el padre/madre desea recuperar a su bebé?

Los padres que cambien de opinión pueden comenzar el proceso de reclamar a su recién nacido dentro de los 14 días. Estos padres deberán llamar al Departamento de Servicios para Niños y Familias (Department of Children and Family Services) del Condado de Los Ángeles al 1-800-540-4000.

¿Sólo los padres podrán llevar al recién nacido?

No. Si bien en la mayoría de los casos son los padres los que llevan al bebé, la ley permite que otras personas lo hagan si tienen custodia legal.

¿Los padres o el adulto que entrega al bebé deben llamar antes de llevar al bebé?

No. El padre/madre o adulto puede llevar al bebé en cualquier momento, las 24 horas del día, los 7 días de la semana, siempre y cuando entreguen a su bebé a un empleado del hospital o cuartel de bomberos.

¿Es necesario que el padre/madre o adulto diga algo a las personas que reciben al bebé?

No. Sin embargo, el personal del hospital o cuartel de bomberos le pedirá a la persona que entregue al bebé que llene un cuestionario con la finalidad de recabar antecedentes médicos importantes, que resultan de gran utilidad para cuidar bien del bebé. El cuestionario incluye un sobre con el sello postal pagado para enviarlo en otro momento.

¿Qué pasará con el bebé?

El bebé será examinado y le brindarán atención médica. Cuando le den el alta del hospital, los trabajadores sociales inmediatamente ubicarán al bebé en un hogar seguro donde estará bien atendido, y se comenzará el proceso de adopción.

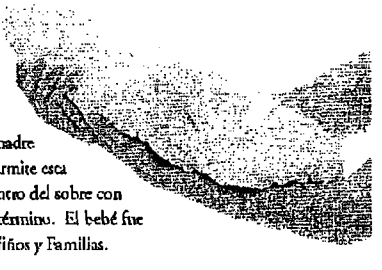
¿Qué pasará con el padre/madre o adulto que entregue al bebé?

Una vez que los padres o adulto hayan entregado al bebé al personal del hospital o cuartel de bomberos, pueden irse en cualquier momento.

¿Por qué se está haciendo esto en California? ?

La finalidad de la Ley de Entrega de Bebés sin Peligro es proteger a los bebés para que no sean abandonados, lastimados o muertos por sus padres. Usted probablemente haya escuchado historias trágicas sobre bebés abandonados en basureros o en baños públicos. Los padres de esos bebés probablemente hayan estado pasando por dificultades emocionales graves. Las madres pueden haber ocultado su embarazo, por temor a lo que pasaría si sus familias se enteraran. Abandonaron a sus bebés porque tenían miedo y no tenían nadie a quien pedir ayuda. El abandono de un recién nacido es ilegal y pone al bebé en una situación de peligro extremo. Muy a menudo el abandono provoca la muerte del bebé. La Ley de Entrega de Bebés sin Peligro impide que vuelva a suceder esta tragedia en California.

Historia de un bebé



A la mañana temprano del día 9 de abril de 2005, se entregó un recién nacido saludable a las enfermeras del Harbor-UCLA Medical Center. La mujer que llevó el recién nacido al hospital se dio a conocer como la tía del bebé, y dijo que la madre le había pedido que llevara al bebé al hospital en su nombre. Le entregaron a la tía un brazalete con un número que coincidía con la pulsera del bebé; esto serviría como identificación en caso de que la madre cambiara de opinión con respecto a la entrega del bebé y decidiera recuperarlo dentro del período de 14 días que permite esta ley. También le dieron a la tía un cuestionario médico, y ella dijo que la madre lo llenaría y lo enviaría de vuelta dentro del sobre con franqueo pagado que le habían dado. El personal médico examinó al bebé y se determinó que estaba saludable y a término. El bebé fue ubicado con una buena familia que ya había sido aprobada para adoptarlo por el Departamento de Servicios para Niños y Familias.

COUNTY OF LOS ANGELES – DEPARTMENT OF MENTAL HEALTH

DESIGNATION AGREEMENT

Agreement Between the County of Los Angeles Department of Mental Health (LAC-DMH) and a Facility Designated and Approved as a 72-Hour Evaluation and Intensive Treatment Facility Pursuant to California Welfare and Institutions Code Section 5000 et seq.

Facility Designated: St. Francis Medical Center Designation ID #: 52

Terms of Facility Designation

I. INTENT OF AGREEMENT

This agreement is intended to memorialize the responsibilities of the Designated Facility ("Designated Facility" or "Facility") and the authority of the Department of Mental Health (DMH) of the County of Los Angeles as a consequence of the delegation by DMH to the designated facility of the authority to involuntarily detain and treat patients pursuant to the Lanterman-Petris-Short Act (Division 5 of the California Welfare and Institutions Code), hereinafter referred to as "designation." This agreement is not for the purchase of goods or services by, and does not create an obligation to perform on the part of, DMH. By signing this agreement, facility acknowledges and agrees that designation is entirely discretionary with DMH and that DMH may revoke or modify the designation at any time with or without cause.

Further, this agreement identifies the responsibilities of the Designated Facility for serving individuals who require acute inpatient psychiatric care. Facility Designation authority is limited to detentions initiated within the County of Los Angeles and to the Designated Facility listed above.

II. AUTHORITY OF LOS ANGELES COUNTY DEPARTMENT OF MENTAL HEALTH

1. LAC-DMH may, at the Designated Facility's request, authorize Facility to utilize the services of qualified, designated professional staff who have admitting privileges, who have attended a DMH-approved LPS Training Course and passed a DMH-approved written examination, to complete preadmission evaluations and to initiate Application[s] for Placement for Evaluation and Treatment. for 72-Hour Detention. Facility will not utilize the services of any professional staff for these purposes unless so authorized by LAC-DMH. Facility remains solely responsible for all of its professional and other staff, and LAC-DMH's authorization and training program do not create any legal relationship or obligation of any kind between LAC-DMH and the individual professionals regarding Facility's professional or other staff.

2. LAC-DMH has approved the LAC-DMH Patients' Rights Bureau as the County patients' rights advocate pursuant to Welfare and Institutions Code Section 5500 et seq. The Designated Facility shall comply with all applicable laws and LAC-DMH "LPS Designation Guidelines and Process for Facilities Within Los Angeles County" ("LPS Designation Guidelines") (including any revisions thereafter adopted) relating to access by LAC-DMH Patients' Rights Advocates and representatives of the Local Mental Health Director to the Designated Facility premises and staff, and to mental health patients and their records.

3. LAC-DMH is responsible for monitoring the integrity of the Designated Facility's professional staff processes for assessing individual staff qualifications and granting of involuntary detention privileges, and for reviewing individual staff 5150-related performance as determined by the Facility's professional staff proctoring and monitoring processes and DMH-gathered community data.

4. LAC-DMH will conduct regular Designation Reviews to determine whether the Designated Facility is complying with the terms of this Agreement. The product of this review may be continued designation or may be modification or termination of designation.

5. The LPS Designation Coordinator for LAC-DMH is responsible for the overall coordination of this Agreement.

III. RESPONSIBILITIES OF A DESIGNATED FACILITY

1. The Facility and all professional staff shall comply with all laws, regulations, and designation standards while exercising the authority conferred by this Designation.

2. The Facility and all professional staff shall comport with the requirements of the Lanterman-Petris-Short Act and Title IX of the California Code of Regulations while exercising the authority conferred by this Designation to detain.

3. The Facility shall maintain all applicable current licenses and accreditation, and shall ensure that its Attending staff, as defined in the California Code of Regulations, Title 9, Section 823, maintain all professional licenses and Attending Staff privileges.

4. The facility and all professional staff shall show no gross violations of clinical practice or safety precautions relevant to the class of persons for whom the designation applies, and shall meet or exceed the applicable professional and clinical standards of care in all actions taken under the authority of this Designation.

5. The Designated Facility shall comply with all Policies and Procedures of the LAC-DMH related to exercising the authority conferred by this designation to detain, inclusive of the "LPS Designation Guidelines". Facility understands that LAC-DMH may update or revise these guidelines from time to time, and acknowledges that the most current version of such will govern in any matter or proceeding, as long as Facility has previously been provided a copy of such. Attached to this Agreement and Incorporated herein by reference is a copy of this document, in effect as of March 1, 2016 (revised February 2016).

6. The Designated Facility is responsible for arranging and paying for transportation as necessary to the Designated Facility of individuals involuntarily detained under the authority conferred by this Designation.

7. Individuals detained to a Designated Facility under WIC 5150 must be advised of specified information at the time and place where they are detained, pursuant to WIC 5150 (f)-(h).

8. When a LAC-DMH client is hospitalized, the Designated Facility's staff must notify the client's Single Fixed Point of Responsibility (SFPR) within one working day of admission and involve the SFPR in creating a discharge plan for the client.

9. The Designated Facility must comply with laws requiring the treatment of patients under emergency circumstances, regardless of the individual's ability to pay.

10. The Designated Facility will hold no individual against his/her wishes unless he/she meets the criteria for the appropriate involuntary detention, certification, post-certification, temporary conservatorship or conservatorship and the required Application, Notice of Certification, or Petition has been completed. At such time as an individual no longer meets the criteria for involuntary detention, he/she shall be provided evaluation, crisis intervention, or other inpatient or outpatient services on a voluntary basis. At the time of voluntary admission to the Designated Facility and during the course of voluntary hospitalization, services shall be provided pursuant to California Welfare and Institutions Code Section 6000 et seq., and related provisions of Title 9, California Code of Regulations and all other applicable law.

11. The Designated Facility will maintain a physical environment to ensure the safety of recipients of mental health services.

12. The Designated Facility shall maintain 24-hour, 7 day a week assessment, evaluation, referral, admission, and treatment capabilities.

13. Individuals admitted to a Designated Facility must be evaluated by the attending practitioner with admitting privileges, or a psychiatric resident, who must complete a comprehensive mental health assessment within 24 hours of admission.

14. The Designated Facility must follow the procedures and provisions of law as required by Title 9, California Code of Regulations (CCR), Sections 850-857 and California Welfare and Institutions Code Sections 5332 et seq. governing the treatment of voluntary patients with anti-psychotic medication(s) and the provision of psychotropic medications to involuntarily detained patients, including complying with informed consent and emergency medication requirements.

15. The Designated Facility shall submit monthly and quarterly reports as required by WIC 5326.1, 5326.15, CCR, Title 9, Section 866, Title 22 regarding involuntary detentions, patients' rights denials, seclusion and restraints, electroconvulsive treatment and psychosurgery, to LAC-DMH, and report data collected as specified in the "LPS Designation Guidelines", including information about adverse events (deaths and critical incidents), by established deadlines.

16. The Designated Facility must notify LAC-DMH of any changes that may significantly affect the Facility's conformance with the criteria for designation, including modifications of physical structure, number of beds, demographic or diagnostic aspects of patient population, therapeutic services, or policy or procedure concerning staffing, program, or operations. Based upon receipt and analysis of such information, DMH may require a focused review as a condition of continued Facility Designation.

17. The Designated Facility shall participate in regular LAC-DMH Designation Reviews to determine whether the Designated Facility is complying with the terms of this Agreement.

IV INDEMNIFICATION

The Facility agrees to indemnify, defend, and hold harmless the Los Angeles County Board of Supervisors, the State Department of Health Care Services, and their (County and State) officers, agents and employees, from and against any and all claims, losses, liabilities, or damages arising out of, or resulting from the Facility's or its designees' exercise of County-granted LPS authority to evaluate, detain and treat patients on an involuntary basis.

V. REVOCATION

Designation is entirely discretionary with DMH. DMH may revoke or modify the designation at any time with or without cause.

VI. TERM

This designation expires at the end of the designation period indicated below, unless earlier terminated by either party, or unless exigent/emergent circumstances exist, as determined by the Local Mental Health Director in his or her sole discretion, which would warrant temporary suspension or cancellation of the Agreement.

This Agreement supersedes all prior agreements related to the subject matter addressed herein and does not create an obligation to perform on the part of DMH or the County of Los Angeles. If either party cancels this Agreement, the Facility will be deemed to no longer be a Designated Facility under Welfare and Institutions Code Section 5000, et seq.

NOW, THEREFORE, Contractor and County agree as follows:

1. TERM: The term of this Agreement shall commence on the date first hereinabove written and shall continue in full force and effect through the next following June 30. This Agreement shall thereafter be automatically renewed for successive one year periods without further action by the parties hereto unless the desire of either party to terminate this Agreement is given in writing to the other party on or before May 31 of any County fiscal year (July 1 through June 30) in which this Agreement is in effect. In any event, either party may at any time terminate this Agreement for any reason by giving at least ninety days' written notice to the other party. In the event of any interruption of either party's operations by war, fire, insurrection, labor troubles, riots, the natural elements, acts of God, or, without limiting the foregoing, any other cause beyond either party's control which substantially interferes with such party's ability to fulfill any obligation under this Agreement, such party shall immediately inform the other party and this Agreement may be terminated immediately by either party by giving written notice to the other party. In the event either party loses its accreditation by the Joint Commission on Accreditation of Healthcare Organizations or accreditation of the physician postgraduate training program(s) by the Accreditation Council for Graduate Medical Education, such party shall immediately inform the other party and this Agreement may be terminated immediately by either party by giving written notice to the other party. Additional termination provisions are found in Paragraphs 20 (Audit Reports), 24 (Reimbursement Program Changes), and 29 (County's Obligation for Future Fiscal Years).

To the extent that Sending Party or such Residents have medical insurance, workers' compensation, or other coverage which will pay Receiving Party for such services, Receiving Party shall be entitled to bill and collect payment for all services rendered pursuant to this Paragraph 8.

9. RESTRICTION, TERMINATION, AND CERTIFICATION OF RESIDENT TRAINING:

Receiving Party shall send written reasons for such training restriction to Sending Party within ten days after the date any such restriction is imposed. The requirement of written notice and written reasons described in this Subparagraph A shall not limit the right of Receiving Party to impose immediate restrictions upon the clinical activities of such Residents when required in the interests of patient care.

B. Termination: Receiving Party may terminate the training of any of Sending Party's Residents by giving written notice of such termination to Sending Party. Receiving Party shall send written reason for such termination to Sending Party within thirty days after the date of termination.

C. Certification of Training Completion: Receiving Party shall have the right to refuse to certify that a Resident of Sending Party has successfully completed Receiving Party's training program. D. Procedures for Resident Disputes: Resolution of any dispute by any of Sending Party's Residents against Sending Party or Receiving Party as a result of any action taken by Sending Party or Receiving Party under Subparagraphs A, B, or C above or otherwise, shall be the sole responsibility of Sending Party and shall be in accordance with the policies and procedures, if any, established by Sending Party. Upon written request of Sending Party, Receiving Party shall cooperate and assist in such resolution by providing non-confidential records or information pertinent to such dispute and otherwise as appropriate and necessary.

10. Sending Party shall also ensure that each such Resident maintains all such licenses, permits, registrations, and certificates in effect during such Resident's affiliation at Receiving Party's facility.

11. NONDISCRIMINATION IN SERVICES AND EMPLOYMENT: Contractor shall not discriminate in the provision of services hereunder because of race, religion, national origin, ancestry, sex, age, or physical or mental handicap, marital status or political affiliation, in accordance with all applicable requirements of Federal and State law. Contractor's employment practices and policies shall also meet all applicable Federal and State nondiscrimination requirements. This Agreement is exempt from the provisions of Chapter 4.32 of the Los Angeles County Code, pursuant to Section 4.32.040(D) thereof.

12. RESIDENT COMPENSATION: Each Resident, during his affiliation at Receiving Party's facility, shall receive his regular compensation (including all salary and other compensation and fringe benefits, except as otherwise expressly provided by other provisions of this Agreement) from Sending Party.

13. BILLING AND PAYMENT: Sending Party shall bill Receiving Party monthly, in arrears, for the time actually spent by each of its Residents at Receiving Party's facility during such resident's exchange disregarding any time which may be spent by any Resident in excess of forty hours per week (Sunday through Saturday). Such bill shall cover and itemize each Resident's current salary and shall also cover all other compensation and fringe benefits normally provided for such Resident's benefit, prorated by the amount of time during the calendar month that such Resident actually spends under such exchange. For purposes of this Agreement, "other compensation and fringe benefits" for any Resident shall also include an administration cost and shall be computed at thirty percent of such Resident's current salary, provided that such percentage for County's Residents may be changed by County at any time in order to conform to County ordinances, memoranda of understanding, and policies. Upon receipt of a complete and correct billing, Receiving Party shall make payment to Sending Party within thirty days.

14. INDEPENDENT CONTRACTOR STATUS: This Agreement is by and between the County of Los Angeles and Contractor and is not intended, and shall not be construed, to create the relationship of agent, servant, employee, partnership, joint venture, or association, as between County and Contractor. Sending Party understands and agrees that all persons furnishing services to Receiving Party pursuant to this Agreement are, for purposes of worker's compensation liability, employees solely of Sending Party and not of Receiving Party. Sending Party Shall bear the sole responsibility and liability for furnishing workers' compensation benefits to its employees for injuries arising from or connected with this Agreement.

15. WORKERS' COMPENSATION: Contractor and County shall maintain a policy of workers' compensation insurance, in an amount and form to meet all applicable requirements of the California Labor Code or be self-insured with respect to such workers' compensation liability, in accordance with the law.

16. INDEMNIFICATION: Receiving Party shall indemnify, defend, and hold harmless Sending Party, its officers, employees, agents, and Residents, from and against any and all liability, expense, including defense costs and legal fees, and claims for damages of any nature whatsoever, including, but not limited to, bodily injury, death, personal injury or property damage, arising from negligent acts, errors or omissions of Sending Party's Residents under its training and supervision, pursuant to the performance of this Agreement. To the extent that Receiving Party is obligated to provide indemnification hereunder, Receiving Party shall provide all claims administration (e.g., claims investigation) and legal defense on behalf of Sending Party.

17. EMPLOYER OBLIGATIONS: Receiving Party shall not be, or be construed to be, the employer of Sending Party's Residents for any purpose whatsoever. Except as otherwise provided in Paragraph 13 (Billing and Payment), Sending Party shall be solely liable and responsible for all employer obligations, if any, with respect to such Residents. Such obligations shall include, but are not limited to: payment of salary and all other compensation and fringe benefits; responsibility for Federal and State withholding taxes and Social Security taxes; compliance with and responsibility for all applicable Federal and State wage/hour obligations; unemployment benefits; disability benefits; and all other applicable taxes, benefits, and contributions to employment-related insurance and similar programs. In the event that Receiving Party is for any reason required to pay any such obligations, Sending Party shall reimburse Receiving Party for any and all amounts paid by Receiving Party to meet such obligations.

18. STATUS OF RESIDENTS: Notwithstanding any other provision of this Agreement, the parties agree that each Resident shall at all times remain the Resident of Sending Party. In this connection, and except as otherwise provided in Paragraph 9 (Restriction, Termination, and Certification of Resident Training), Subparagraph D (Procedures for Resident Disputes), Sending Party's Residents shall at all times be subject to Sending Party's administrative rules, regulations, and benefits, including disciplinary actions, vacation, sick leave, health insurance, and all other rights applicable to Sending Party's employees. Each Resident shall, however, be expected to comply with all rules, regulations, and standards of Receiving Party's facility unless specifically in conflict, as mutually agreed by County and Contractor, with those to which he is subject under his contract or agreement of employment with Sending Party. The parties shall cooperate to acquaint Residents with the rules and regulations of Receiving Party's facility.

19. RECORDS: All records of each party in any way concerning the performance of this Agreement shall be available during normal business hours for inspections and audit by the other party and shall be maintained at a location in Southern California. Such records shall include, but are not limited to:

A. Daily account of the number of person-hours spent by each of Sending Party's Residents at Receiving Party's facility (e.g., Resident timecards).

B. Resident's signature and Resident's supervisor's signature on each Resident timecard or other documentation evidencing Resident's time spent at Receiving Party.

C. Monthly summaries of:

(1) The name of each Resident involved in each exchange during the particular calendar month.

(2) The postgraduate year of training of each such Resident during the exchange.

(3) The total number of person-hours each such Resident spent at Receiving Party's facility during the exchange.

D. Documentation to support each Resident's salary and all other compensation and fringe benefits which were in effect during each calendar month of each exchange.

20. AUDIT REPORTS: In the event that an audit is conducted of Contractor by a Federal or State auditor, or by any auditor or accountant employed by Contractor or otherwise, and such audit results in a final report which contains information or conclusions relating to Contractor's performance of this Agreement, Contractor shall file a copy of any such audit report, or such portion thereof which is adequate to fully disclose such information or conclusions, with County's Department of Auditor-Controller within thirty days after receipt thereof. County shall make a reasonable effort to maintain the confidentiality of any such audit report. Failure of Contractor to comply with the provisions of this Paragraph 20 shall constitute a material breach of this Agreement upon which County may terminate or suspend this Agreement.

21. COUNTY AUDIT SETTLEMENTS: If, at any time during the term of this Agreement or at any time after the expiration or prior termination of this Agreement, representatives of County conduct an audit of Contractor regarding this Agreement and if such audit finds that County's dollar liability hereunder is less than payments made by County to Contractor, then the difference shall be either repaid by Contractor to County by cash payment upon demand or, at Director's option, deducted from any amounts due to Contractor from County. If such audit finds that County's dollar liability hereunder is more than payments made by County to Contractor, then the difference shall be paid to Contractor by County by cash payment.

22. UNLAWFUL SOLICITATION: Contractor shall inform all of its employees of the provisions of Article 9 of Chapter 4 of Division 3 (commencing with Section 6150) of the California Business and Professions Code (i.e., State Bar Act provisions regarding unlawful solicitation as a runner or capper for attorneys) and shall take positive and affirmative steps in its performance hereunder to ensure that there is no violation of such provisions by its employees. Contractor agrees to utilize the attorney referral services of all those bar associations within the County of Los Angeles that have such a service.

23. INFORMATION FOR THIRD-PARTY PAYERS:

A. Reports: Each party shall provide assistance to the other party with respect to the provision of financial and other information as may be required by the other party in preparation of cost and other financial reports required by the California Office of Statewide Health Planning and Development, the California Department of Health Services, the Medicare and Medi-Cal intermediaries, and other carriers or other third-party payers requesting such information. The party requesting such assistance shall reimburse the other party for the cost of such assistance as reasonably determined or approved by County.

B. Federal Access to Records: If, and to the extent that, Section 1861(v)(1)(I) of the Social Security Act (42 United States Code Section 1395x(v)(1)(I) is applicable, the parties agree that for a period of five years following the furnishing of services under this Agreement, each party shall maintain and make available, upon written request, to the Secretary of the United States Department of Health and Human Services, to the Comptroller General of the United States, or to any of their duly authorized representatives, the contracts, books, documents and records of the party which are necessary to verify the nature and extent of the cost of services provided hereunder. Further, if either party carries out any of the services provided hereunder through any subcontract with a value or cost of Ten Thousand Dollars ($10,000) or more over a twelve-month period with a related organization (as that term is defined under Federal law), such party agrees that each such subcontract shall provide for such access to the subcontract, books, documents and records of the subcontractor.

C. Rights of the Parties: This Paragraph 23 pertains solely to the maintenance and disclosure of specified records and shall have no effect on the right of the parties to make assignments.

24. REIMBURSEMENT PROGRAM CHANGES: Either party may terminate this Agreement upon sixty days written notice to the other party if compliance with the provisions of this Agreement has any significant adverse effect, as determined in the sole discretion of the party providing such notice, on the reimbursement available to such party from any reimbursement program, whether public or private, resulting from any changes which may occur in the Medi-Cal program, the Medicare program, and/or other public or private health and/or hospital care insurance programs or policies in which a significant number of patients receiving medical services incident to this Agreement are enrolled and which affect coverage, payment, or other aspects of such programs or policies. The party providing such notice shall indicate such change and the basis upon which it has determined that such a significant adverse effect will result. 8.5 CERTIFICATION REGARDING DEBARMENT, SUSPENSION, INELIGIBILITY AND VOLUNTARY EXCLUSION – LOWER TIER COVERED TRANSACTIONS (2 C.F.R. PART 376)

The Contractor hereby acknowledges that the County is prohibited from contracting with and making sub-awards to parties that are suspended, debarred, ineligible, or excluded or whose principals are suspended, debarred, ineligible, or excluded from securing federally funded contracts. By executing this Agreement, the Contractor certifies that neither it nor any of its owners, officers, partners, directors, other principals, employees, or independent contractors is currently suspended, debarred, ineligible, or excluded from securing federally funded contracts. Further, by executing this Agreement, the Contractor certifies that, to its knowledge, none of its subcontractors, at any tier, or any owners, officers, partners, directors, other principals, employees, or independent contractors of any subcontractor is currently suspended, debarred, ineligible, or excluded from securing federally funded contracts. The Contractor shall immediately notify the County in writing, during the term of this Agreement, should it or any of the aforementioned parties either be suspended, debarred, ineligible, or excluded from securing federally funded contracts. The Contractor is responsible to reimburse the County for all associated costs (repayment, fine and/or penalty) that may be incurred as a result of inappropriate claims submitted by or on behalf of one of their staff or vendors who was excluded or suspended regardless of the Contractor's prior knowledge of such exclusion or suspension. Failure of the Contractor to comply with this provision shall constitute a material breach of this Agreement upon which the County may immediately terminate or suspend this Agreement.

8.7 COMPLIANCE WITH APPLICABLE LAWS, RULES AND REGULATIONS

8.7.1 In the performance of this Agreement, the Contractor shall comply with all current and applicable Federal, State and local laws, rules, regulations, ordinances, directives, guidelines, policies and procedures, including, but not limited to standards of The Joint Commission, its National Patient Safety Goals, California Code of Regulations, Title 22, Division 5 regulations and all other applicable industry best practices standards. All provisions required thereby to be included in this Agreement are incorporated herein by reference.

8.7.2 The Contractor shall indemnify, defend, and hold harmless the County, its officers, employees, and agents, from and against any and all claims, demands, damages, liabilities, losses, administrative penalties and fines assessed, costs, and expenses, including, without limitation, defense costs and legal, accounting and other expert, consulting or professional fees, arising from, connected with, or related to any failure by the Contractor, its officers, employees, agents, or subcontractors, to comply with any such laws, rules, regulations, ordinances, directives, guidelines, policies, or procedures, as determined by the County in its sole judgment. Any legal defense pursuant to the Contractor's indemnification obligations under this Sub-paragraph 8.7 shall be conducted by the Contractor and performed by counsel selected by the Contractor and approved by the County. Notwithstanding the preceding sentence, the County shall have the right to participate in any such defense at its sole cost and expense, except that in the event the Contractor fails to provide the County with a full and adequate defense, as determined by the County in its sole judgment, the County shall be entitled to retain its own counsel, including, without limitation, County Counsel, and reimbursement from the Contractor for all such costs and expenses incurred by the County in doing so the Contractor shall not have the right to enter into any settlement, agree to any injunction or other equitable relief, or make any admission, in each case, on behalf of the County without the County's prior written approval.

8.8 COMPLIANCE WITH CIVIL RIGHTS LAWS-ANTI-DISCRIMINATION AND AFFIRMATIVE ACTION LAWS

8.8.1 The Contractor hereby assures that it will comply with Subchapter VI of the Civil Rights Act of 1964, 42 USC Sections 2000 (e) (1) through 2000 (e) (17); the Fair Employment & Housing Act, Government Code Section 12920-12922; and Affirmative Action in County Agreements, Chapter 4.32 of the Los Angeles County Code to the end that no person shall, on the grounds of race, color, religious creed, ancestry, national origin, sex, sexual orientation, age, physical or mental disability, medical condition, marital status, or political affiliation, be excluded from participation in, be denied the benefits of, or be otherwise subjected to discrimination under this Agreement or under any project, program, or activity supported by this Agreement.

8.8.2 The Contractor certifies and agrees that all persons employed by it, its affiliates, subsidiaries, or holding companies are and shall be treated equally without regard to or because of race, color, religious creed, ancestry, national origin, sex, sexual orientation, age, physical or mental disability, medical condition, marital status, or political affiliation, in compliance with all applicable Federal and State anti-discrimination laws and regulations.

8.8.3 The Contractor shall take affirmative action to ensure that applicants are employed, and that employees are treated during employment, without regard to race, color, religious creed, ancestry, national origin, sex, sexual orientation, age, physical or mental disability, medical condition, marital status, or political affiliation, in compliance with all applicable Federal and State anti-discrimination laws and regulations. Such action shall include, but is not limited to: employment, upgrading, demotion, transfer, recruitment or recruitment advertising, layoff or termination, rates of pay or other forms

8.8.4 The Contractor certifies and agrees that it will deal with its subcontractors, bidders, or vendors without regard to or because of race, color, religious creed, ancestry, national origin, sex, sexual orientation, age, physical or mental disability, medical condition, marital status, or political affiliation.

8.8.5 The Contractor certifies and agrees that it, its affiliates, subsidiaries, or holding companies shall comply with all applicable Federal and State laws and regulations to the end that no person shall, on the grounds of race, color, religious creed, ancestry, national origin, sex, sexual orientation, age, physical or mental disability, medical condition, marital status, or political affiliation, be excluded from participation in, be denied the benefits of, or be otherwise subjected to discrimination under this Agreement or under any project, program, or activity supported by this Agreement.

8.8.6 The Contractor shall allow County representatives access to the Contractor's employment records during regular business hours to verify compliance with the provisions of this Sub-paragraph 8.8 when so requested by the County.

8.8.7 If the County finds that any provisions of this Sub-paragraph 8.8 have been violated, such violation shall constitute a material breach of this Agreement upon which the County may terminate or suspend this Agreement. While the County reserves the right to determine independently that the anti-discrimination provisions of this Agreement have been violated, in addition, a determination by the California Fair Employment Practices Commission or the Federal Equal Employment Opportunity Commission that the Contractor has violated Federal or State anti-discrimination laws or regulations shall constitute a finding by the County that the Contractor has violated the anti-discrimination provisions of this Agreement.

8.8.8 The parties agree that in the event the Contractor violates any of the anti-discrimination provisions of this Agreement, the County shall, at its sole option, be entitled to the sum of Five Hundred Dollars ($500) for each such violation pursuant to California Civil Code Section 1671 as liquidated damages in lieu of terminating or suspending this Agreement.

8.8.9 Anti-discrimination in Services:

The Contractor shall not discriminate in the provision of services hereunder because of race, color, religious creed, national origin, ethnic group identification, ancestry, age, sex, sexual orientation, medical condition, marital status, political affiliation, or physical or mental disability in accordance with requirements of Federal and State laws. For the purpose of this Sub-paragraph, discrimination in the provision of services may include, but is not limited to, the following: Denying any person any service or benefit or the availability of a facility; providing any service or benefit to a person which is not equivalent or is provided in a non-equivalent manner or at a non-equivalent time, from that provided to others; subjecting any person to segregation or separate treatment in any manner related to the receipt of any service; restricting any person in any way in the enjoyment of any advantage or privilege enjoyed by others receiving any service or benefit; and treating any person differently from others in determining admission, enrollment quota, eligibility, membership, or any other requirements or conditions which persons must meet in order to be provided any service or benefit. The Contractor shall take affirmative action to ensure that intended beneficiaries of this Agreement are provided services without regard to race, color, religious creed, national origin, ethnic group identification, ancestry, sex, sexual orientation, age, medical condition, marital status, political affiliation, physical or mental disability.

8.8.10 The Contractor shall certify to, and comply with, the provisions of Exhibit D - Contractor's EEO Certification.

8.9 COMPLIANCE WITH THE COUNTY'S JURY SERVICE PROGRAM

8.9.1 Jury Service Program:

This Agreement is subject to the provisions of the County's ordinance entitled Contractor Employee Jury Service ("Jury Service Program") as codified in Sections 2.203.010 through 2.203.090 of the Los Angeles County Code, a copy of which is attached as Exhibit H and incorporated by reference into and made a part of this Agreement.

8.9.2 Written Employee Jury Service Policy.

1. Unless the Contractor has demonstrated to the County's satisfaction either that the Contractor is not a "Contractor" as defined under the Jury Service Program (Section 2.203.020 of the County Code) or that the Contractor qualifies for an exception to the Jury Service Program (Section 2.203.070 of the County Code), the Contractor shall have and adhere to a written policy that provides that its Employees shall receive from the Contractor, on an annual basis, no less than five days of regular pay for actual jury service. The policy may provide that Employees deposit any fees received for such jury service with the Contractor or that the Contractor deduct from the Employee's regular pay the fees received for jury service.

2. For purposes of this Sub-paragraph, "Contractor" means a person, partnership, corporation or other entity which has a contract with the County or a subcontract with a County Contractor and has received or will receive an aggregate sum of $50,000 or more in any 12-month period under one or more County contracts or subcontracts. "Employee" means any California resident who is a full-time employee of the Contractor. "Full-time" means 40 hours or more worked per week, or a lesser number of hours if: 1) the lesser number is a recognized industry standard as determined by the County, or 2) the Contractor has a long-standing practice that defines the lesser number of hours as full-time. Full-time employees providing short-term, temporary services of 90 days or less within a 12-month period are not considered full-time for purposes of the Jury Service Program. If the Contractor uses any subcontractor to perform services for the County under the Agreement, the subcontractor shall also be subject to the provisions of this Sub-paragraph. The provisions of this Sub-paragraph shall be inserted into any such subcontract agreement and a copy of the Jury Service Program shall be attached to the Agreement.

3. If the Contractor is not required to comply with the Jury Service Program when this Agreement commences, the Contractor shall have a continuing obligation to review the applicability of its "exception status" from the Jury Service Program, and the Contractor shall immediately notify the County if the Contractor at any time either comes within the Jury Service Program's definition of "Contractor" or if the Contractor no longer qualifies for an exception to the Jury Service Program. In either event, the Contractor shall immediately implement a written policy consistent with the Jury Service Program. The County may also require, at any time during the Agreement and at its sole discretion, that the Contractor demonstrate, to the County's satisfaction that the Contractor either continues to remain outside of the Jury Service Program's definition of "Contractor" and/or that the Contractor continues to qualify for an exception to the Program.

4. The Contractor's violation of this Sub-paragraph of the Agreement may constitute a material breach of the Agreement. In the event of such material breach, County may, in its sole discretion, terminate the Agreement and/or bar the Contractor from the award of future County contracts for a period of time consistent with the seriousness of the breach.

8.10 CONFLICT OF INTEREST

8.10.1 No County employee whose position with the County enables such employee to influence the award or administration of this Agreement or any competing contract, and no spouse or economic dependent of such employee, shall be employed in any capacity by the Contractor or have any other direct or indirect financial interest in this Agreement. No officer or employee of the Contractor who may financially benefit from the performance of work hereunder shall in any way participate in the County's approval, or ongoing evaluation, of such work, or in any way attempt to unlawfully influence the County's approval or ongoing evaluation of such work.

8.10.2 The Contractor shall comply with all conflict of interest laws, ordinances, and regulations now in effect or hereafter to be enacted during the term of this Agreement. The Contractor warrants that it is not now aware of any facts that create a conflict of interest. If the Contractor hereafter becomes aware of any facts that might reasonably be expected to create a conflict of interest, it shall immediately make full written disclosure of such facts to the County. Full written disclosure shall include, but is not limited to, identification of all persons implicated and a complete description of all relevant circumstances. Failure to comply with the provisions of this Sub-paragraph shall be a material breach of this Agreement.

8.11 CONSIDERATION OF HIRING COUNTY EMPLOYEES TARGETED FOR LAYOFF/OR RE-EMPLOYMENT LIST

Should the Contractor require additional or replacement personnel after the effective date of this Agreement to perform the services set forth herein, the Contractor shall give first consideration for such employment openings to qualified, permanent County employees who are targeted for layoff or qualified, former County employees who are on a re-employment list during the life of this Agreement.

8.12 CONSIDERATION OF HIRING GAIN/GROW PARTICIPANTS

8.12.1 Should the Contractor require additional or replacement personnel after the effective date of this Agreement, the Contractor shall give consideration for any such employment openings to participants in the County's Department of Public Social Services (DPSS) Greater Avenues for Independence (GAIN) Program or General Relief Opportunity for Work (GROW) Program who meet the Contractor's minimum qualifications for the open position. For this purpose, consideration shall mean that the Contractor will interview qualified candidates. The County will refer GAIN/GROW participants by job category to the Contractor. The Contractors shall report all job openings with job requirements to: GAINGROW@dpss.lacounty.gov to obtain a list of qualified GAIN/GROW job candidates.

8.12.2 In the event that both laid-off County employees and GAIN/GROW participants are available for hiring, County employees shall be given first priority.

8.13 CONTRACTOR RESPONSIBILITY AND DEBARMENT

8.13.1 Responsible Contractor

A responsible Contractor is a Contractor who has demonstrated the attribute of trustworthiness, as well as quality, fitness, capacity and experience to satisfactorily perform the contract. It is the County's policy to conduct business only with responsible Contractors.

8.13.2 Chapter 2.202 of the County Code

The Contractor is hereby notified that, in accordance with Chapter 2.202 of the County Code, if the County acquires information concerning the performance of the Contractor on this or other contracts which indicates that the Contractor is not responsible, the County may, in addition to other remedies provided in the contract, debar the Contractor from bidding or proposing on, or being awarded, and/or performing work on County contracts for a specified period of time, which generally will not exceed five (5) years but may exceed five (5) years or be permanent if warranted by the circumstances, and terminate any or all existing contracts the Contractor may have with the County.

8.13.3 Non-responsible Contractor

The County may debar a Contractor if the Board of Supervisors finds, in its discretion, that the Contractor has done any of the following: (1) violated a term of a contract with the County or a nonprofit corporation created by the County, (2) committed an act or omission which negatively reflects on the Contractor's quality, fitness or capacity to perform a contract with the County, any other public entity, or a nonprofit corporation created by the County, or engaged in a pattern or practice which negatively reflects on same, (3) committed an act or offense which indicates a lack of business integrity or business honesty, or (4) made or submitted a false claim against the County or any other public entity.

8.13.4 Contractor Hearing Board

1. If there is evidence that the Contractor may be subject to debarment, the Department will notify the Contractor in writing of the evidence which is the basis for the proposed debarment and will advise the Contractor of the scheduled date for a debarment hearing before the Contractor Hearing Board.

2. The Contractor Hearing Board will conduct a hearing where evidence on the proposed debarment is presented. The Contractor and/or the Contractor's representative shall be given an opportunity to submit evidence at that hearing. After the hearing, the Contractor Hearing Board shall prepare a tentative proposed decision, which shall contain a recommendation regarding whether the Contractor should be debarred, and, if so, the appropriate length of time of the debarment. The Contractor and the Department shall be provided an opportunity to object to the tentative proposed decision prior to its presentation to the Board of Supervisors.

3. After consideration of any objections, or if no objections are submitted, a record of the hearing, the proposed decision, and any other recommendation of the Contractor Hearing Board shall be presented to the Board of Supervisors. The Board of Supervisors shall have the right to modify, deny, or adopt the proposed decision and recommendation of the Contractor Hearing Board.

4. If a Contractor has been debarred for a period longer than five (5) years, that Contractor may after the debarment has been in effect for at least five (5) years, submit a written request for review of the debarment determination to reduce the period of debarment or terminate the debarment. The County may, in its discretion, reduce the period of debarment or terminate the debarment if it finds that the Contractor has adequately demonstrated one or more of the following: (1) elimination of the grounds for which the debarment was imposed; (2) a bona fide change in ownership or management; (3) material evidence discovered after debarment was imposed; or (4) any other reason that is in the best interests of the County.

5. The Contractor Hearing Board will consider a request for review of a debarment determination only where (1) the Contractor has been debarred for a period longer than five (5) years; (2) the debarment has been in effect for at least five (5) years; and (3) the request is in writing, states one or more of the grounds for reduction of the debarment period or termination of the debarment, and includes supporting documentation. Upon receiving an appropriate request, the Contractor Hearing Board will provide notice of the hearing on the request. At the hearing, the Contractor Hearing Board shall conduct a hearing where evidence on the proposed reduction of debarment period or termination of debarment is presented. This hearing shall be conducted and the request for review decided by the Contractor Hearing Board pursuant to the same procedures as for a debarment hearing.

6. The Contractor Hearing Board's proposed decision shall contain a recommendation on the request to reduce the period of debarment or terminate the debarment. The Contractor Hearing Board shall present its proposed decision and recommendation to the Board of Supervisors. The Board of Supervisors shall have the right to modify, deny, or adopt the proposed decision and recommendation of the Contractor Hearing Board.

The Contractor will also encourage its subcontractors, if any, to post this poster in a prominent position in the subcontractor's place of business. The Contractor, and its subcontractors, can access posters and other campaign material at www.babysafela.org.

taken by any agency of the Federal or State governments against any of the aforementioned parties' barring these parties from participating in a Federally funded health care program, whether such bar is direct or indirect, or whether such bar is in whole or in part.

8.15.2 The Contractor shall indemnify and hold the County harmless against any and all loss or damage the County may suffer arising from any exclusion or suspension of the Contractor or its Subcontractors' owners, officers, partners, directors, other principals, employees or independent contractors from such participation in a Federally funded health care program.

8.15.3 Failure by the Contractor to meet the requirements of this Sub-paragraph shall constitute a material breach of contract upon which the County may immediately terminate or suspend this Agreement.

8.16 CONTRACTOR'S WARRANTY OF ADHERENCE TO COUNTY'S CHILD SUPPORT COMPLIANCE PROGRAM

8.16.1 The Contractor acknowledges that the County has established a goal of ensuring that all individuals who benefit financially from the County through contract are in compliance with their court-ordered child, family and spousal support obligations in order to mitigate the economic burden otherwise imposed upon the County and its taxpayers.

8.17.1 The Contractor acknowledges that the County has established a goal of ensuring that all individuals and businesses that benefit financially from the County through contract are current in paying their property tax obligations (secured and unsecured roll) in order to mitigate the economic burden otherwise imposed upon the County and its taxpayers.

8.17.2 Unless the Contractor qualifies for an exemption or exclusion, the Contractor warrants and certifies that to the best of its knowledge it is now in compliance, and during the term of this Agreement will maintain compliance, with Los Angeles Code Chapter 2.206.

8.18 COUNTY'S QUALITY ASSURANCE PLAN

8.21 FACSIMILE REPRESENTATIONS

The County and the Contractor hereby agree to regard facsimile representations of original signatures of authorized officers of each party, when appearing in appropriate places on the Amendments prepared pursuant to Sub-paragraph 8.1, and received via communications facilities, as legally sufficient evidence that such original signatures have been affixed to Amendments to this Agreement, such that the parties need not follow up facsimile transmissions of such documents with subsequent (non-facsimile) transmission of "original" versions of such documents.

8.43.5 If, at any time during the term of this Agreement or within five (5) years after the expiration or termination of this Agreement, representatives of the County conduct an audit of the Contractor regarding the work performed under this Agreement, and if such audit finds that the County's dollar liability for any such work is less than payments made by the County to the Contractor, then the difference shall be either: a) repaid by the Contractor to the County by cash payment upon demand or b) at the sole option of the County's Auditor-Controller, deducted from any amounts due to the Contractor from the County, whether under this Agreement or otherwise. If such audit finds that the County's dollar liability for such work is more than the payments made by the County to the Contractor, then the difference shall be paid to the Contractor by the County by cash payment, provided that in no event shall the County's maximum obligation for this Agreement exceed the funds appropriated by the County for the purpose of this Agreement.

8.44 RECYCLED BOND PAPER

8.46.5 The County's consent to subcontract shall not waive the County's right to prior and continuing approval of any and all personnel, including subcontractor employees, providing services under this Agreement. The Contractor is responsible to notify its subcontractors of this County right.

8.46.6 The Director or his/her designee is authorized to act for and on behalf of the County with respect to approval of any subcontract and subcontractor employees. After approval of the subcontract by the County, the Contractor shall forward a fully executed subcontract to the County for its files.

Failure of the Contractor to maintain compliance with the requirements set forth in Sub-paragraph 8.16 - Contractor's Warranty of Adherence to County's Child Support Compliance Program, shall constitute default under this Agreement. Without limiting the rights and remedies available to the County under any other provision of this Agreement, failure of the Contractor to cure such default within ninety (90) calendar days of written notice shall be grounds upon which the County may terminate this Agreement pursuant to Sub-paragraph 8.51 - Termination for Default and pursue debarment of the Contractor, pursuant to County Code Chapter 2.202.

8.49 TERMINATION FOR BREACH OF WARRANTY TO MAINTAIN COMPLIANCE WITH COUNTY'S DEFAULTED PROPERTY TAX REDUCTION PROGRAM

Failure of the Contractor to maintain compliance with the requirements set forth in Sub-paragraph 8.17 - Contractor's Warranty of Compliance with County's Defaulted Property Tax Reduction Program shall constitute default under this Agreement. Without limiting the rights and remedies available to the County under any other provision of this Agreement, failure of the Contractor to cure such default within ten (10) days of notice shall be grounds upon which the County may terminate this Agreement and/or pursue debarment of the Contractor, pursuant to County Code Chapter 2.206.

8.50 TERMINATION FOR CONVENIENCE

8.50.1 This Agreement may be terminated, in whole or in part, from time to time, when such action is deemed by the County, in its sole discretion, to be in its best interest. Termination of work hereunder shall be effected by notice of termination to the Contractor specifying the extent to which performance of work is terminated and the date upon which such termination becomes effective. The date upon which such termination becomes effective shall be no less than ten (10) days after the notice is sent.

- Contractor has materially breached this Agreement; or
- Contractor fails to timely provide and/or satisfactorily perform any task, deliverable, service, or other work required either under this Agreement; or
- Contractor fails to demonstrate a high probability of timely fulfillment of performance requirements under this Agreement, or of any obligations of this Agreement and in either case, fails to demonstrate convincing progress toward a cure within five (5) working days (or such longer period as the County may authorize in writing) after receipt of written notice from the County specifying such failure.

8.51.2 In the event that the County terminates this Agreement in whole or in part as provided in Sub-paragraph 8.51.1, the County may procure, upon such terms and in such manner as the County may deem appropriate, goods and services similar to those so terminated. The Contractor shall be liable to the County for any and all excess costs incurred by the County, as determined by the County, for such similar goods and services. The Contractor shall continue the performance of this Agreement to the extent not terminated under the provisions of this Sub-paragraph.

8.51.3 Except with respect to defaults of any subcontractor, the Contractor shall not be liable for any such excess costs of the type identified in Sub-paragraph 8.51.2 if its failure to perform this Agreement arises out of causes beyond the control and without the fault or negligence of the Contractor. Such causes may include, but are not limited to: acts of God or of the public enemy, acts of the County in either its sovereign or Contractual capacity, acts of Federal or State governments in their sovereign capacities, fires, floods, epidemics, quarantine restrictions, strikes, freight embargoes, and unusually severe weather; but in every case, the failure to perform must be beyond the control and without the fault or negligence of the Contractor. If the failure to perform is caused by the default of a subcontractor, and if such default arises out of causes beyond the control of both the Contractor and subcontractor, and without the fault or negligence of either of them, the Contractor shall not be liable for any such excess costs for failure to perform, unless the goods or services to be furnished by the subcontractor were obtainable from other sources in sufficient time to permit the Contractor to meet the required performance schedule. As used in this Sub-paragraph, the term "subcontractor(s)" means subcontractor(s) at any tier.

8.51.4 If, after the County has given notice of termination under the provisions of this Sub-paragraph 8.51, it is determined by the County that the Contractor was not in default under the provisions of this Sub-paragraph 8.51, or that the default was excusable under the provisions of Sub-paragraph 8.51.3, the rights and obligations of the parties shall be the same as if the notice of termination had been issued pursuant to Sub-paragraph 8.50 - Termination for Convenience.

In the event of such termination, the County shall be entitled to pursue the same remedies against the Contractor as it could pursue in the event of default by the Contractor.

8.52.2 The Contractor shall immediately report any attempt by a County officer or employee to solicit such improper consideration. The report shall be made either to the County manager charged with the supervision of the employee or to the County Fraud Hotline at (800) 544-6861 or www.lacountyfraud.org.

8.52.3 Among other items, such improper consideration may take the form of cash, discounts, service, the provision of travel or entertainment, or tangible gifts.

8.55 TERMINATION FOR NON-APPROPRIATION OF FUNDS

Notwithstanding any other provision of this Agreement, the County shall not be obligated for the Contractor's performance hereunder or by any provision of this Agreement during any of the County's future fiscal years unless and until the County's Board of Supervisors appropriates funds for this Agreement in the County's Budget for each such future fiscal year. The Contractor agrees that if a patient requests assistance in obtaining the services of any attorney, it will refer the patient to the attorney referral service of all those bar associations within Los Angeles County that have such a service.

8.58 VALIDITY

If any provision of this Agreement or the application thereof to any person or circumstance is held invalid, the remainder of this Agreement and the application of such provision to other persons or circumstances shall not be affected thereby.

8.59 WAIVER

No waiver by the County of any breach of any provision of this Agreement shall constitute a waiver of any other breach or of such provision. Failure of the County to enforce at any time, or from time to time, any provision of this Agreement shall not be construed as a waiver thereof. The rights and remedies set forth in this Sub-paragraph 8.59 shall not be exclusive and are in addition to any other rights and remedies provided by law or under this Agreement.

8.60.1 The Contractor warrants that no person or selling agency has been employed or retained to solicit or secure this Agreement upon any agreement or understanding for a commission, percentage, brokerage, or contingent fee, excepting bona fide employees or bona fide established

Chapter 2.203.010 through 2.203.090
CONTRACTOR EMPLOYEE JURY SERVICE

2.203.010 Findings.

The board of supervisors makes the following findings. The county of Los Angeles allows its permanent, full-time employees unlimited jury service at their regular pay. Unfortunately, many businesses do not offer or are reducing or even eliminating compensation to employees who serve on juries. This creates a potential financial hardship for employees who do not receive their pay when called to jury service, and those employees often seek to be excused from having to serve. Although changes in the court rules make it more difficult to excuse a potential juror on grounds of financial hardship, potential jurors continue to be excused on this basis, especially from longer trials. This reduces the number of potential jurors and increases the burden on those employers, such as the county of Los Angeles, who pay their permanent, full-time employees while on juror duty. For these reasons, the county of Los Angeles has determined that it is appropriate to require that the businesses with which the county contracts possess reasonable jury service policies. (Ord. 2002-0015 § 1 (part), 2002)

3. Is not an affiliate or subsidiary of a business dominant in its field of operation.

What is the Safely Surrendered Baby Law?

California's Safely Surrendered Baby Law allows parents or other persons, with lawful custody, which means anyone to whom the parent has given permission to confidentially surrender a baby. As long as the baby is three days (72 hours) of age or younger and has not been abused or neglected, the baby may be surrendered without fear of arrest or prosecution.

How does it work?

A distressed parent who is unable or unwilling to care for a baby can legally confidentially, and safely surrender a baby within three days (72 hours) of birth. The baby must be handed to an employee at a hospital or fire station in Los Angeles County. As long as the baby shows no sign of abuse or neglect, no name or other information is required. In case the parent changes his or her mind at a later date and wants the baby back, staff will use bracelets to help connect them to each other. One bracelet will be placed on the baby and a matching bracelet will be given to the parent or other surrendering adult.

What if a parent wants the baby back?

Parents who change their minds can begin the process of reclaiming their baby within 14 days. These parents should call the Los Angeles County Department of Children and Family Services at 1-800-540-4000.

Can only a parent bring in the baby?

No. While in most cases a parent will bring in the baby, the Law allows other people to bring in the baby if they have lawful custody.

Does the parent or surrendering adult have to call before bringing in the baby?

No. A parent or surrendering adult can bring in a baby anytime, 24 hours a day, 7 days a week, as long as the parent or surrendering adult surrenders the baby to someone who works at the hospital or fire station.

Does the parent or surrendering adult have to tell anything to the people taking the baby?

No. However, hospital or fire station personnel will ask the surrendering party to fill out a questionnaire designed to gather important medical history information, which is very useful in caring for the baby. The questionnaire includes a stamped return envelope and can be sent in at a later time.

What happens to the baby?

The baby will be examined and given medical treatment. Upon release from the hospital, social workers immediately place the baby in a safe and loving home and begin the adoption process.

What happens to the parent or surrendering adult?

Once the parent or surrendering adult surrenders the baby to hospital or fire station personnel, they may leave at any time.

Why is California doing this?

The purpose of the Safely Surrendered Baby Law is to protect babies from being abandoned, hurt or killed by their parents. You may have heard tragic stories of babies left in dumpsters or public bathrooms. Their parents may have been under severe emotional distress. The mothers may have hidden their pregnancies, fearful of what would happen if their families found out. Because they were afraid and had no one or nowhere to turn for help, they abandoned their babies. Abandoning a baby is illegal and places the baby in extreme danger. Too often, it results in the baby's death. The Safely Surrendered Baby Law prevents this tragedy from ever happening again in California.

A baby's story

Early in the morning on April 9, 2005, a healthy baby boy was safely surrendered to nurses at Harbor-UCLA Medical Center. The woman who brought the baby to the hospital identified herself as the baby's aunt and stated the baby's mother had asked her to bring the baby to the hospital on her behalf. The aunt was given a bracelet with a number matching the anklet placed on the baby; this would provide some identification in the event the mother changed her mind about surrendering the baby and wished to reclaim the baby in the 14-day period allowed by the Law. The aunt was also provided with a medical questionnaire and said she would have the mother complete and mail back in the stamped return envelope provided. The baby was examined by medical staff and pronounced healthy and full-term. He was placed with a loving family that had been approved to adopt him by the Department of Children and Family Services.

Ley de Entrega de Bebés Sin Peligro

¿Qué es la Ley de Entrega de Bebés sin Peligro?

La Ley de Entrega de Bebés sin Peligro de California permite la entrega confidencial de un recién nacido por parte de sus padres u otras personas con custodia legal, es decir cualquier persona a quien los padres le hayan dado permiso. Siempre que el bebé tenga tres días (72 horas) de vida o menos, y no haya sufrido abuso ni negligencia, pueden entregar al recién nacido sin temor de ser arrestados o procesados.

Cada recién nacido se merece la oportunidad de tener una vida saludable. Si alguien que usted conoce está pensando en abandonar a un recién nacido, infórmele que tiene otras opciones. Hasta tres días (72 horas) después del nacimiento, se puede entregar un recién nacido al personal de cualquier hospital o cuartel de bomberos del condado de Los Ángeles.

¿Cómo funciona?

El padre/madre con dificultades que no puede o no quiere cuidar de su recién nacido puede entregarlo en forma legal, confidencial y segura dentro de los tres días (72 horas) del nacimiento. El bebé debe ser entregado a un empleado de cualquier hospital o cuartel de bomberos del Condado de Los Ángeles. Siempre que el bebé no presente signos de abuso o negligencia, no será necesario suministrar nombres ni información alguna. Si el padre/madre cambia de opinión posteriormente y desea recuperar a su bebé, los trabajadores utilizarán brazaletes para poder vincularlos. El bebé llevará un brazalete y el padre/madre o el adulto que lo entregue recibirá un brazalete igual.

¿Qué pasa si el padre/madre desea recuperar a su bebé?

Los padres que cambien de opinión pueden comenzar el proceso de reclamar a su recién nacido dentro de los 14 días. Estos padres deberán llamar al Departamento de Servicios para Niños y Familias (Department of Children and Family Services) del Condado de Los Ángeles al 1-800-540-4000.

¿Sólo los padres podrán llevar al recién nacido?

No. Si bien en la mayoría de los casos son los padres los que llevan al bebé, la ley permite que otras personas lo hagan si tienen custodia legal.

¿Los padres o el adulto que entrega al bebé deben llamar antes de llevar al bebé?

No. El padre/madre o adulto puede llevar al bebé en cualquier momento, las 24 horas del día, los 7 días de la semana, siempre y cuando entreguen a su bebé a un empleado del hospital o cuartel de bomberos.

¿Es necesario que el padre/madre o adulto diga algo a las personas que reciben al bebé?

No. Sin embargo, el personal del hospital o cuartel de bomberos le pedirá a la persona que entregue al bebé que llene un cuestionario con la finalidad de recabar antecedentes médicos importantes, que resultan de gran utilidad para cuidar bien del bebé. El cuestionario incluye un sobre con el sello postal pagado para enviarlo en otro momento.

¿Qué pasará con el bebé?

El bebé será examinado y le brindarán atención médica. Cuando le den el alta del hospital, los trabajadores sociales inmediatamente ubicarán al bebé en un hogar seguro donde estará bien atendido, y se comenzará el proceso de adopción.

¿Qué pasará con el padre/madre o adulto que entregue al bebé?

Una vez que los padres o adulto hayan entregado al bebé al personal del hospital o cuartel de bomberos, pueden irse en cualquier momento.

¿Por qué se está haciendo esto en California? ?

La finalidad de la Ley de Entrega de Bebés sin Peligro es proteger a los bebés para que no sean abandonados, lastimados o muertos por sus padres. Usted probablemente haya escuchado historias trágicas sobre bebés abandonados en basureros o en baños públicos. Los padres de esos bebés probablemente hayan estado pasando por dificultades emocionales graves. Las madres pueden haber ocultado su embarazo, por temor a lo que pasaría si sus familias se enteraran. Abandonaron a sus bebés porque tenían miedo y no tenían nadie a quien pedir ayuda. El abandono de un recién nacido es ilegal y pone al bebé en una situación de peligro extremo. Muy a menudo el abandono provoca la muerte del bebé. La Ley de Entrega de Bebés sin Peligro impide que vuelva a suceder esta tragedia en California.

Historia de un bebé

A la mañana temprano del día 9 de abril de 2005, se entregó un recién nacido saludable a las enfermeras del Harbor-UCLA Medical Center. La mujer que llevó el recién nacido al hospital se dio a conocer como la tía del bebé, y dijo que la madre le había pedido que llevara al bebé al hospital en su nombre. Le entregaron a la tía un brazalete con un número que coincidía con la pulsera del bebé; esto serviría como identificación en caso de que la madre cambiara de opinión con respecto a la entrega del bebé y decidiera recuperarlo dentro del período de 14 días que permite esta ley. También le dieron a la tía un cuestionario médico, y ella dijo que la madre lo llenaría y lo enviaría de vuelta dentro del sobre con franqueo pagado que le habían dado. El personal médico examinó al bebé y se determinó que estaba saludable y a término. El bebé fue ubicado con una buena familia que ya había sido aprobada para adoptarlo por el Departamento de Servicios para Niños y Familias.

If the contractor is restricted from legally notifying the County of pending acquisitions/mergers, then it should notify the County of the actual acquisitions/mergers as soon as the law allows and provide to the County the legal framework that restricted it from notifying the County prior to the actual acquisitions/mergers.

8.2.2 The contractor shall not assign its rights or delegate its duties under this Contract, or both, whether in whole or in part, without the prior written consent of County, in its discretion, and any attempted assignment or delegation without such consent shall be null and void. For purposes of this paragraph, County consent shall require a written Amendment to the Contract, which is formally approved and executed by the parties. Any payments by the County to any approved delegatee or assignee on any claim under this Contract shall be deductible, at County's sole discretion, against the claims, which the contractor may have against the County.

8.2.3 Shareholders, partners, members, or other equity holders of contractor may transfer, sell, exchange, assign, or divest themselves of any interest they may have therein. However, in the event any such sale, transfer, exchange, assignment, or divestment is effected in such a way as to give majority control of contractor to any person(s), corporation, partnership, or legal entity other than the majority controlling interest therein at the time of execution of the Contract, such disposition is an assignment requiring the prior written consent of County in accordance with applicable provisions of this Contract.

8.2.4 Any assumption, assignment, delegation, or takeover of any of the contractor's duties, responsibilities, obligations, or performance of same by any person or entity other than the contractor, whether through assignment, subcontract, delegation, merger, buyout, or any other mechanism, with or without consideration any reason whatsoever without County's express prior written approval, shall be a material breach of the Contract which may result in the termination of this Contract. In the event of such termination, County shall be entitled to pursue the same remedies against contractor as it could pursue in the event of default by contractor.

8.3 Authorization Warranty

8.3.1 The contractor represents and warrants that the person executing this Contract for the contractor is an authorized agent who has actual authority to bind the contractor to each and every term, condition, and obligation of this Contract and that all requirements of the contractor have been fulfilled to provide such actual authority.

8.4 Intentionally Omitted

8.5 Complaints

8.5.2 Complaint Procedures

8.5.2.1 Within 30 business days after the Contract effective date, the contractor shall provide the County with the contractor's policy for receiving, investigating and responding to user complaints.

8.5.2.3 If the County requests changes in the contractor's policy, the contractor shall make such changes and resubmit the plan within 30 business days for County approval.

8.5.2.4 If, at any time, the contractor wishes to change the contractor's policy, the contractor shall submit proposed changes to the County for approval before implementation.

8.5.2.5 The contractor shall preliminarily investigate all complaints and notify the County's Project Manager of the status of the investigation within 10 business days of receiving the complaint.

Notwithstanding the preceding sentence, County shall have the right to participate in any such defense at its sole cost and expense, except that in the event contractor fails to provide County with a full and adequate defense, as determined by County in its sole judgment, County shall be entitled to retain its own counsel, including, without limitation, County Counsel, and to reimbursement from contractor for all such costs and expenses incurred by County in doing so. Where applicable, Contractor shall utilize the attorney referral services of all those bar associations within the County of Los Angeles that have such a service.

8.8 Compliance with the County's Jury Service Program

8.8.1 Jury Service Program:

This Contract is subject to the provisions of the County's ordinance entitled Contractor Employee Jury Service ("Jury Service Program") as codified in Sections 2.203.010 through 2.203.090 of the Los Angeles County Code, a copy of which is attached as Exhibit H and incorporated by reference into and made a part of this Contract.

8.8.2 Written Employee Jury Service Policy

1. Unless the contractor has demonstrated to the County's satisfaction either that the contractor is not a "contractor" as defined under the Jury Service Program (Section 2.203.020 of the County Code) or that the contractor qualifies for an exception to the Jury Service Program (Section 2.203.070 of the County Code), the contractor shall have and adhere to a written policy that provides that its Employees shall receive from the contractor, on an annual basis, no less than five days of regular pay for actual jury service. The policy may provide that Employees deposit any fees received for such jury service with the contractor or that the contractor deduct from the Employee's regular pay the fees received for jury service.

2. For purposes of this paragraph, "contractor" means a person, partnership, corporation or other entity which has a contract with the County or a subcontract with a County contractor and has received or will receive an aggregate sum of fifty thousand dollars ($50,000) or more in any twelve (12) month period under one or more County contracts or subcontracts. "Employee" means any California resident who is a full-time employee of the contractor. "Full-time" means forty (40) hours or more worked per week, or a lesser number of hours if: 1) the lesser number is a recognized industry standard as determined by the County, or 2) contractor has a long-standing practice that defines the lesser number of hours as full-time. Full-time employees providing short-term, temporary services of ninety (90) days or less within a twelve (12) month period are not considered full-time for purposes of the Jury Service Program. If the contractor uses any subcontractor to perform services for the County under the Contract, the subcontractor shall also be subject to the provisions of this paragraph. The provisions of this paragraph shall be inserted into any such subcontract contract and a copy of the Jury Service Program shall be attached to the contract.

3. If the contractor is not required to comply with the Jury Service Program when the Contract commences, the contractor shall have a continuing obligation to review the applicability of its "exception status" from the Jury Service Program, and the contractor shall immediately notify the County if the contractor at any time either comes within the Jury Service Program's definition of "contractor" or if the contractor no longer qualifies for an exception to the Jury Service Program. In either event, the contractor shall immediately implement a written policy consistent with the Jury Service Program. The County may also require, at any time during the Contract and at its sole discretion, that the contractor demonstrate, to the County's satisfaction that the contractor either continues to remain outside of the Jury Service Program's definition of "contractor" and/or that the contractor continues to qualify for an exception to the Program.

4. Contractor's violation of this paragraph of the Contract may constitute a material breach of the Contract. In the event of such material breach, County may, in its sole discretion, terminate the Contract and/or bar the contractor from the award of future County contracts for a period of time consistent with the seriousness of the breach.

8.9 Conflict of Interest

8.9.1 No County employee whose position with the County enables such employee to influence the award of this Contract or any competing Contract, and no spouse or economic dependent of such employee, shall be employed in any capacity by the contractor or have any other direct or indirect financial interest in this Contract. No officer or employee of the contractor who may financially benefit from the performance of work hereunder shall in any way participate in the County's approval, or ongoing evaluation, of such work, or in any way attempt to unlawfully influence the County's approval or ongoing evaluation of such work.

8.9.2 The contractor shall comply with all conflict of interest laws, ordinances, and regulations now in effect or hereafter to be enacted during the term of this Contract. The contractor warrants that it is not now aware of any facts that create a conflict of interest. If the contractor hereafter becomes aware of any facts that might reasonably be expected to create a conflict of interest, it shall immediately make full written disclosure of such facts to the County. Full written disclosure shall include, but is not limited to, identification of all persons implicated and a complete description of all relevant circumstances. Failure to comply with the provisions of this paragraph shall be a material breach of this Contract.

8.10 Consideration of Hiring County Employees Targeted for Layoff or Re-Employment List

8.10.1 Should the contractor require additional or replacement personnel after the effective date of this Contract to perform the services set forth herein, the contractor shall give first consideration for such employment openings to qualified, permanent County employees who are targeted for layoff or qualified, former County employees who are on a re-employment list during the life of this Contract.

For this purpose, consideration shall mean that the contractor will interview qualified candidates. The County will refer GAIN-GROW participants by job category to the contractor. Contractors shall report all job openings with job requirements to: GAINGROW@DPSS.LACOUNTY.GOV and BSERVICES@WDACS.LACOUNTY.GOV and DPSS will refer qualified GAIN/GROW job candidates.

8.11.2 In the event that both laid-off County employees and GAIN/GROW participants are available for hiring, County employees shall be given first priority.

8.12 Contractor Responsibility and Debarment

The following requirements set forth in the County's Non-Responsibility and Debarment Ordinance (Title 2, Chapter 2.202 of the County Code) are effective for this Contract, except to the extent applicable State and/or federal laws are inconsistent with the terms of the Ordinance.
