Status

This matter is currently being litigated.

CONCLUDED: On July 9, 2021, the Fifth Circuit affirmed the bankruptcy court's order confirming the Chapter 11 plan, concluding the appeal of plan injunction was moot [USCA Case No. 19-10847] Dee No. 00513501641

10847, Doc. No. 00515931634]

In a lengthy opinion, the Royal Court of Guernsey criticized CLOH (and Murphy, its co-director), dismissed the Guernsey action, and required CLOH to pay HCLOF's legal fees and costs.<sup>4</sup> The Dondero Entities asserted claims against HCLOF in New York that largely duplicated the claims in the Guernsey action. Case No. 12.1-ev-11059-GHW, DJ. 77 (S.D.N.Y. Mar. 30, 2023). The New York action was dismissed with prejudice.

1 SANC. FED LAW OF LIT. ABUSE § 17[B][3]	20
20 Moore's Fed. Prac – Civil § 303.32[1]	20

HCMLP,<sup>1</sup> by and through its undersigned counsel, files this reply in opposition<sup>2</sup> to the objections filed by (i) the Funds [D.I. 166] (the "Funds Objection"); (ii) DAF and CLOH [D.I. 167] (the "DAF Objection"); (iii) Nancy Dondero ("Nancy") [D.I. 168] (the "Nancy Objection"); (iv) Hunter Mountain Investment Trust ("HMIT") [D.I. 171] (the "HMIT Objection"); and (v) Dondero, HCMFA, NPA, Highland Capital Management Services, Inc. ("HCMS"), HCRE, Dugaboy, Strand Advisors, Inc. ("Strand"), and Get Good [D.I. 173] (the "Dondero Objection," and, collectively, the "Objections"). In furtherance thereof, HCMLP respectfully states as follows:

PRELIMINARY STATEMENT

1. In their Objections, the Dondero Entities attempt to re-litigate settled matters; ignore or blatantly mischaracterize the record in the long-running HCMLP bankruptcy case; and erect a series of strawmen to deflect from their obvious pattern of irrational and harassing litigation brought solely to interfere with the execution of HCMLP's Plan and extract revenge. Read fairly, the Objections are further evidence of the Dondero Entities' vexatiousness and highlight the urgent need for additional protections.

2. Indeed, recent developments demonstrate that the Dondero Entities will never voluntarily curb their wasteful and bitter litigation crusade:

• In November, Dondero and Strand moved for leave to sue HCMLP's long-time bankruptcy counsel on the absurd theory that the firm owed them (not just HCMLP) fiduciary duties but were forced to withdraw the motion in the face of a robust response and threat of sanctions;

- In December, following a full evidentiary hearing, the Royal Court of Guernsey dismissed claims brought by certain Dondero Entities alleging HCMLP colluded with HCLOF to unfairly prejudice them by settling with Acis and Terry rather than suing them and granted the defendants an award of attorneys' fees;
- In January, HMIT sought leave to commence an action in Delaware to remove HCMLP's Claimant Trustee—disregarding the governing documents and prior judicial determinations that HMIT's unvested, contingent, and subordinated interests in the Claimant Trust confer no substantive rights;
- In February, the U.S. District Court for the Southern District of New York recognized the Royal Court of Guernsey's judgment and dismissed with prejudice a series of related claims brought by the DAF Entities; and
- Just this week, the Dondero Entities pressed their efforts in the U.S. Court of Appeals for the Fifth Circuit to eviscerate the "Gatekeeper" (arguing, without irony, that the Gatekeeper was unnecessary because HCMLP could seek a vexatious finding) so they can sue HCMLP and its fiduciaries anywhere, without oversight or restraint.

Like virtually all of the motions, objections, claims, and actions that preceded them, the Dondero

Entities' recent actions are meritless; are interfering with the implementation of the Plan; are wasting estate and judicial resources; and serve no legitimate purpose.<sup>3</sup> Nevertheless, the

Dondero Entities disingenuously argue they are not vexatious but defiantly contend that, even if they are, this Court is powerless to stop them. The Dondero Entities are wrong on both counts.

3. Based on prior judicial determinations and the substantial record, the Dondero Entities are indisputably acting in concert to derail HCMLP's Plan, harass its fiduciaries, and exact revenge by pursuing meritless claims based on fabricated or speculative allegations. Moreover, as the Fifth Circuit expressly noted in this case, authority exists to declare the Dondero Entities "vexatious" and curtail their abusive conduct. Contrary to the Dondero Entities' assertions, (i) this Court has jurisdiction to deem each of them "vexatious" and (ii) the relief requested is entirely appropriate under the circumstances.

4. For the reasons set forth in the Motion and below, HCMLP urges the Court to exercise its authority to deem each of the Dondero Entities "vexatious" and grant the relief requested. The alternative is to give judicial imprimatur to the Dondero Entities' wrongful conduct to the detriment of HCMLP, its Claimant Trust Beneficiaries, and the judiciary.

ADDITIONAL BACKGROUND

A. Each Dondero Entity Is Controlled by or Acting in Concert with Dondero

5. To distance themselves from their collective vexatious conduct, the Dondero Entities disclaim their affiliation with Dondero and argue that they are not individually vexatious. But as found by multiple court orders and by their own admissions, each Dondero Entity is controlled by or acting in concert with Dondero and, since August 2020, has participated in his scheme to impede the execution of HCMLP's confirmed Plan through harassing and vexatious litigation.

i. The Dondero Entities' Scheme Utilizes a Revolving Cast of Attorneys Serving Dondero's Interests

6. In December 2020, Dondero directed his long-time general counsel, Scott Ellington (who was then HCMLP's general counsel), to coordinate various law firms representing the Dondero Entities in litigation against HCMLP.<sup>4</sup> Consistent with Dondero's modus operandi, the Dondero Entities—pretending to be independent corporate entities with independent legal counsel—have acted in concert to harass HCMLP's estate.<sup>5</sup>

7. The Dondero Entities' coordinated action is highlighted by the use of common legal counsel in litigation against HCMLP, depending on the circumstances:

Law Firm	Dondero Entity Represented
K&L Gates, LLP	NPA, HCMFA, Funds
Crawford, Wishnew & Lang PLLC	Dondero, HCRE, HCMFA, Dugaboy, Get Good
Stinson, LLP	Dondero, Nancy, HCMS, HCRE, HCMFA, Dugaboy, HMIT, NPA
DLA Piper, LLP/Reichman Jorgensen Lehman & Feldberg LLP <sup>6</sup>	Dondero, Dugaboy, Get Good, Strand, SE Multifamily
Munsch Hardt Kopf & Harr, LLP	HCMFA, NPA, NSOF
Heller Draper & Horn, LLC	Dugaboy, Get Good
Baker & McKenzie LLP	Ellington, Leventon, Waterhouse, Patrick
Ross & Smith, PC	Ellington, Leventon, Waterhouse, CPCM
Parson McEntire McCleary PLLC	HMIT, CLOH, DAF
Sbaiti & Co. PLLC	DAF, CLOH, Dugaboy, Patrick, NSOF, Dondero
Kelly Hart Pitre	DAF, CLOH, Patrick
Hoge & Gameros, LLP	HCRE

As set forth herein, the Dondero Entities and their law firms are an integral part of Dondero's conspiracy to harass HCMLP and derail the Plan.

ii. Dondero Controls Dugaboy, Get Good, Strand, NPA, HCMFA, HCMS, HCRE, and PCMG

8. Dondero admits he controls (i) Strand; (ii) NPA; (iii) HCMFA; (iv) the Get Good

Trust; (v) Dugaboy; (vi) HCRE; and (vii) PCMG.7 Dondero controls HCMS through his 75% ownership stake and his position as President.<sup>8</sup>

iii. Dondero Controls the Funds

9. While the Funds insist they are independent,<sup>9</sup> the Fifth Circuit has specifically affirmed the Bankruptcy Court's factual determination that Dondero controls them:<sup>10</sup>

The bankruptcy court found that, despite their purported independence, the Funds are entities "owned and/or controlled by [Dondero]." The Funds ask the court to vacate the factual finding because it threatens the Funds' compliance with federal law and damages their reputations and values. According to the Funds, the characterization is unfair, as they are not litigious like Dondero and are completely independent from him. ... Here, the bankruptcy court drew its factual finding from the testimony of Jason Post, the Advisors' chief compliance officer, and Dustin Norris, an executive vice president for the Funds and the Advisors. Post testified that the Funds have independent board members that run them. But the bankruptcy court found Post not credible because "he abruptly resigned" from Highland Capital at the same time as Dondero and is currently employed by Dondero. Norris testified that Dondero "owned and/or controlled" the Funds and Advisors. The bankruptcy court found Norris credible and relied on his testimony. The bankruptcy court also observed that none of the Funds' board members testified in the bankruptcy case and all "engaged with the Highland complex for many years." ... [W]e leave the bankruptcy court's factual finding undisturbed.<sup>11</sup>

10. The Funds ignore NexPoint and argue Lanotte proves their independence. But Lanotte concerned just one Fund<sup>12</sup> and does not implicate NexPoint or this case. Lanotte simply found an unrelated plaintiff failed to prove the Retail Board lacked independence with respect to one specific derivative suit.<sup>13</sup> Under NexPoint, Dondero controls the Funds.<sup>14</sup>

iv. Dondero Controls and Directs the DAF and CLOH

11. DAF and CLOH (together, the "DAF Entities") allege (i) CLOH is controlled by its directors (Mark Patrick and Paul Murphy); (ii) DAF is controlled by Patrick as the holder of its management shares; and (iii) neither "Dondero nor any of his affiliates ... have a direct or indirect ability or right to control or direct" the DAF Entities.<sup>15</sup> The DAF Entities hide behind the corporate form and, like the Funds, ignore settled orders.

12. In particular, the Bankruptcy Court held Patrick—a long-time Dondero employee—abdicated responsibility for the DAF Entities to Dondero and initiated litigation as Dondero directed.<sup>16</sup> This Court affirmed, holding "ample evidence supports the bankruptcy court's factual findings," including:

- "Dondero has had a significant role in DAF for over a decade" and "DAF's assets come in part from Dondero and his 'family trusts.""
- "Dondero 'was DAF's managing member until 2012,' and he remains 'DAF's informal investment advisor.""
- Dondero appointed Grant Scott, his "long-time friend, college housemate, and best man at his wedding" to replace him as managing member.
- Grant Scott resigned "due to 'disagreements with ... Dondero" and was replaced by Patrick just before the DAF Entities sued HCMLP for misconduct.
- Despite having "no reason to believe HCMLP or Seery had done anything wrong," Patrick authorized the DAF Entities' lawsuit based solely on what Dondero told him.
- Patrick "abdicated responsibility to Mr. Dondero with regard to … executing the litigation strategy," and Dondero managed the DAF Entities' litigation against HCMLP.<sup>17</sup>

Dondero, the DAF Entities, and others appealed this Court's order; however, they did not appeal the factual findings regarding Dondero's control.<sup>18</sup> Those findings are final and binding.

v. Dondero Controls and Directs HMIT

13. Like DAF and CLOH, HMIT hides behind Patrick<sup>19</sup> while ignoring (i) the Bankruptcy Court's factual finding that Patrick administers HMIT at Dondero's direction and for his benefit<sup>20</sup> and (ii) the Dondero Entities' prior disclosures on the topic.<sup>21</sup>

14. HMIT appealed the Bankruptcy Court's decision but cannot avoid Patrick's dispositive admissions, including, among other things, that: (i) HMIT has no employees or revenue and no assets except its unvested, contingent interest in HCMLP's Claimant Trust; (ii) HMIT is the obligor on a $60 million (plus) promissory note in favor of Dugaboy; (iii) HMIT can only satisfy its obligation to Dugaboy by recovering on its contingent interest in the Claimant Trust; (iv) Dugaboy is funding HMIT's suit against HCMLP; and (v) Patrick had no personal knowledge of any "facts" alleged in HMIT's proposed Complaint and relied solely on Dondero when he caused HMIT to seek leave to sue HCMLP and Seery.<sup>22</sup>

15. HMIT's disclosures about its corporate structure are also misleading.<sup>23</sup> The DAF—a Dondero Entity—controls HMIT through its ownership of Rand Advisors, LLC.<sup>24</sup>

vi. Nancy Dondero Acts as Directed by Dondero

16. Dondero's sister, Nancy, tries to minimize her involvement as Dugaboy's trustee, contending she is "the target, not the instigator, of the litigation process."<sup>25</sup> But Nancy voluntarily inserted herself into this litigation by joining her brother in fabricating a series of absurd defenses to HCMLP's attempts to collect on simple promissory notes.<sup>26</sup> The Bankruptcy

Court found those defenses failed the "straight face" test and were so devoid of factual support that "no reasonable jury could find that there was truly an 'oral agreement' to forgive these loans ...."<sup>27</sup> This Court affirmed the findings about Nancy in all respects.<sup>28</sup> But for her decision to conspire with her brother, Nancy would not be a party.<sup>29</sup>

17. Further, Dondero now admits he controls Dugaboy. Dugaboy can only act through its trustees. To control Dugaboy, Dondero therefore must control Dugaboy's trustees, i.e., Nancy and Grant Scott.<sup>30</sup>

B. The Dondero Entities Are Individually and Collectively Vexatious

18. The Dondero Entities, directed and coordinated by Dondero, are individually and collectively vexatious and litigate to harass and threaten Dondero's enemies, including HCMLP and its fiduciaries.<sup>31</sup> The Dondero Entities' vexatious conduct is harming both HCMLP and the larger judicial system.<sup>32</sup> The facts speak for themselves:

• Other than the Dondero Entities, no party has filed litigation against, or objected to any action taken by, HCMLP since the Plan was confirmed in February 2021.

&lt;sup>27</sup> Id., at *38-46. The Bankruptcy Court made other findings concerning Nancy. Id., at *45-46 (finding Nancy was "simply not capable" of entering into any agreement with Dondero because of her lack of knowledge or understanding about HCMLP, its business, executive compensation, or any other matter pertinent to the alleged agreements).

&lt;sup>29</sup> At her deposition, Nancy effectively conceded her willing participation in Dondero's conspiracy, admitting she did not retain Dugaboy's counsel, did not know what legal work was done on Dugaboy's behalf, and had no basis to enter into the alleged "oral agreements" that supposedly bound HCMLP. Adv. And that's not even counting Reports and Recommendations .... there were something like 55 appeals. ... this is not just about the parties .... This is about judicial efficiency. This is overwhelming to the system, so to speak.") (emphasis added).

- The Dondero Entities filed 52 proofs of claim and then withdrew every one after forcing HCMLP to defend them.
- No Dondero Entity has an allowed claim against the estate.<sup>33</sup>
- The Dondero Entities' only interests in HCMLP are HMIT's and Dugaboy's contingent, unvested, and subordinated interests in the Claimant Trust that will vest only if all senior claims, including indemnification claims, are paid in full.<sup>34</sup>
- Because of Dondero's litigation onslaught, significant amounts must be reserved to cover litigation costs and indemnification claims, yet Dondero refuses to exchange general and unconditional releases that would end all litigation as part of a global settlement.
- Dugaboy's contingent, unvested, and subordinated interest is so speculative and de minimis that the Fifth Circuit thrice denied Dugaboy standing to appeal.<sup>35</sup>
- Despite having no legally cognizable interest in the estate, since October 2019, the Dondero Entities have filed over 85 motions, 80 objections, caused the filing of 9 adversary proceedings, appealed over 20 Bankruptcy Court orders to this Court and over 15 orders to the Fifth Circuit, and filed actions against HCMLP with regulators.
- The Dondero Entities filed a third petition for writ of mandamus seeking to recuse Judge Jernigan, which Judge Scholer recently stated would be denied in a forthcoming order.
- The Dondero Entities continue to challenge the Gatekeeper with the evident intent to file more vexatious litigation in different forums and without limitation if they are successful.

An updated chart showing the litigation caused by the Dondero Entities since 2002, is attached as Exhibit 1 to the Declaration.<sup>36</sup>

19. The Dondero Entities' frivolous contention that they are not vexatious is based on material distortions or omissions of settled facts and court orders.

i. The Dondero Objection

20. Dondero admits he became frustrated in August 2020 when the Committee would not cave to his demands and that he thereafter embarked on a litigation crusade to "fix" the bankruptcy and protect "his company" from its court-appointed fiduciaries.<sup>37</sup> But that is exactly backwards. The Bankruptcy Court appointed independent fiduciaries to protect the estate from Dondero. Nevertheless, by his own admission, Dondero, acting alone and with no interest in HCMLP, will continue to litigate until he "saves" HCMLP (i.e., regains control or burns it down).

21. To defend his indefensible conduct, Dondero attempts to re-litigate the (affirmed) factual findings in the Confirmation Order. His most egregious misstatements include:

Dondero	Confirmation Order
Assertion
HCMLP did not have a prepetition "culture of litigation" or history of litigiousness	"The Committee in this case has referred to the Debtor—under its former chief executive, Mr. Dondero—as a 'serial litigator.' The Bankruptcy Court agrees with that description." ¶ 8.
	"Given the experiences in Acis and the Debtor's culture of constant litigation, it was not easy to get such highly qualified persons to serve as independent board members Naturally, they were worried about getting sued no matter how defensible their efforts—given the litigation culture that enveloped Highland historically." ¶ 14.
	"Based on the record of this case and the proceedings in the Acis chapter 11 case, it seemed as though everything always ended in litigation at Highland." ¶ 14
	"[P]rior to the commencement of the Debtor's bankruptcy case, and while under the direction of Mr. Dondero, the Debtor had been involved in a myriad of litigation, some of which had gone on for years and, in some cases, over a decade." ¶ 77
HCMLP only faced one litigation judgment prior to filing <sup>38</sup>	"[T]he Debtor filed for Chapter 11 protection due to a myriad of massive, unrelated, business litigation claims that it faced—many of which had finally become liquidated (or were about to become liquidated) after a decade or more of contentious litigation in multiple forums all over the world." $\P$ 8.
	"Substantially all the creditors in this case are either parties who were engaged in litigation with the Debtor, parties who represented the Debtor in connection with such litigation and had not been $<sup>^{37}</sup>$  See, e.g., Dondero Obj. at 10 ("As he took a back seat, the Independent Board began acting in manner that Dondero perceived as harmful. The first blow came on August 12, 2020, when the Debtor filed its initial plan of reorganization and disclosed for the first time its intention to terminate substantially all employees by the end of 2020 and to liquidate and wind down HCMLP's businesses."); Id., at 12 ("Having built HCMLP from the bottom up and managed a successful enterprise for 35 years, Dondero eventually was forced to take a more active role in the bankruptcy in an effort to salvage his company."); Id., at 23 ("In short, Dondero and the entities affected have acted primarily to salvage the business enterprise that Dondero built.").

<sup>38</sup> Dondero argues the "one judgment" facing HCMLP could have been reduced to $75 million. His only support is an objection filed by UBS that was overruled. B.D.I. 1273 ¶ 3 ("The UBS Objection is overruled in its entirety.") paid, or trade creditors who provided litigation-related services to the Debtor." ¶ 77.

Dondero voluntarily entered into the January 2020 settlement in a show of good faith	"[T]he Committee (and later, the United States Trustee) expressed its then-desire for the appointment of a chapter 11 trustee due to its concerns over and distrust of Mr. Dondero, his numerous conflicts of interest, and his history of alleged mismanagement (and perhaps worse)." ¶ 11 "[The January settlement] and the appointment of the independent directors changed the entire trajectory of the case and saved the Debtor from the appointment of a trustee." ¶ 13
99.8% of creditors supported the Plan because HCMLP misled them on solvency	"The Bankruptcy Court rejects the arguments of the [sic] Mr. Dondero and certain Dondero Related Entities that the changes made to certain assumptions and projections from the Liquidation Analysis require resolicitation of the Plan. The Bankruptcy Court heard credible testimony from Mr. Seery regarding the changes to the Liquidation Analysis Such changes were entirely foreseeable The Bankruptcy Court therefore finds that holders of Claims and Equity Interests were not misled or prejudiced by the Amended Liquidation Analysis/Financial Projections" ¶ 47.
Dondero's pre-confirmation litigation was filed in good faith	"[T]he bankruptcy court questions the good faith of Mr. Dondero' and the Dondero Related Entities' objections [to the Plan]. In fact, the Bankruptcy Court has good reason to believe that these parties are not objecting to protect economic interests they have in the Debtor but to be disruptors." ¶ 17.
	"The Bankruptcy Court questions [the Dondero Entities'] good faith. Specifically, the Bankruptcy Court considers them all to be marching pursuant to the orders of Mr. Dondero The Bankruptcy Court merely mentions this as one of many reasons that the Bankruptcy Court has to question the good faith of Mr. Dondero and his affiliates in raising objections to confirmation of the Plan." ¶ 19.
	"During the last several months, Mr. Dondero and the Dondero Related Entities have harassed the Debtor, which has resulted in further substantial, costly, and time-consuming litigation" ¶ 77.
	"The Bankruptcy Court finds that the Dondero Post-Petition Litigation was a result of Mr. Dondero failing to obtain creditor support for his plan proposal and consistent with his comments that if Mr. Dondero's plan proposal was not accepted, he would 'burn down the place."" ¶ 78.
	"[T]he Gatekeeper Provision is necessary and appropriate in light of the history of the continued litigiousness of Mr. Dondero and his related entities in this Chapter 11 Case" ¶ 79.

22. Dondero seeks to justify the Dondero Entities' post-confirmation conduct but, again, ignores or distorts the facts:<sup>39</sup>

24. Appeals. The Dondero Entities filed over 35 total appeals. Only two were partially affirmed. They were not, however, "wins."<sup>44</sup>

25. HCRE/Bad Faith. Dondero caused HCRE to file a baseless claim seeking to divest HCMLP of its interest in a valuable asset. After taking HCMLP's depositions but before subjecting its own witnesses to questioning, HCRE abruptly attempted to withdraw the claim and preserve it for future litigation. Concerned, the Bankruptcy Court denied HCRE's motion to withdraw.<sup>45</sup>

26. Sentinel. In early 2021, HCMLP discovered Dondero had caused the HCMLP-controlled defendants in the UBS action to secretly transfer more than $300 million in face amount of assets to Sentinel Reinsurance Ltd. (a Cayman Island company owned by Dondero and Ellington) to make them judgment proof. Dondero and his loyalists hid the transfer from the Independent Directors, HCMLP, UBS, and the Bankruptcy Court. After its disclosure, UBS enjoined HCMLP from transferring additional assets to Sentinel and subsequently recovered a material amount of the fraudulent transferred assets through subsequent litigation.<sup>46</sup> Despite his fraud (so serious the Bankruptcy Court considered a criminal referral),<sup>47</sup> Dondero bizarrely cites Sentinel as support for his contention that HCMLP is the litigious party.

27. Solvency: Dondero argues—with no evidence or support—the estate has always been solvent and HCMLP hid its solvency to disenfranchise Dondero.<sup>48</sup> Despite his best efforts, no court or governmental agency, including the U.S. Trustee, has accepted Dondero's arguments regarding the 2015.3 reports or lack of transparency.<sup>49</sup> The Bankruptcy Court recently rejected HMIT's argument that HCMLP's balance sheet proved its solvency.<sup>50</sup> And, importantly, no actual HCMLP creditor or Claimant Trust Beneficiary has raised concerns about HCMLP's disclosures or management (or any concerns for that matter).

&lt;sup>48</sup> Despite objecting to the Plan, the Dondero Entities never challenged the Plan's financial projections despite (i) Dondero intimately knowing HCMLP's assets (he purchased them) and (ii) HCMLP's extensive disclosures of its assets and finances as required by applicable rules that were prepared and signed by Frank Waterhouse—an officer of both HCMLP and numerous other Dondero Entities, including the Advisors and Funds.

28. Select Debtors. HCMLP caused the Select Debtors to file for bankruptcy and moved to consolidate their cases before Judge Jernigan as related cases. HCMLP and Dugaboy were the only meaningful creditors.<sup>51</sup> HCMLP offered to resolve the bankruptcies on terms objectively favorable to Dugaboy, but Dugaboy refused.<sup>52</sup> Instead, Dugaboy objected to consolidation alleging Judge Jernigan was "biased" and stating that, if consolidated, Dugaboy would file another recusal motion. After HCMLP successfully struck Dugaboy's "expert" opinion in support of Judge Jernigan's recusal,<sup>53</sup> it responsibly withdrew its consolidation motions after Dugaboy confirmed it would comply with the Plan, including the Gatekeeper, and not attempt to litigate actions properly before Judge Jernigan in the Select Debtors' bankruptcy cases.<sup>54</sup> After causing havoc, Dugaboy recently agreed in principle to resolve the Select Debtors' cases on the terms previously offered by HCMLP.

29. Contempt Appeal. The Dondero Entities appealed the order holding DAF, CLOH, Dondero, and others in contempt for violating the Gatekeeper. The Dondero Entities ignore the prior orders and instead cite some out-of-context questions from the Fifth Circuit.<sup>55</sup>

30. Ellington Contempt. Ellington sued Daugherty for stalking in state court.<sup>56</sup> Like the 202 petitions, Ellington used his action as a pretext to pursue claims against HCMLP and Seery<sup>57</sup> in violation of the Gatekeeper.<sup>58</sup> To resolve the matter, HCMLP asked Ellington to agree

ii. The DAF Entities' Objection

31. To deflect from their own vexatious litigation tactics, the DAF Entities project their own conduct onto HCMLP,64 citing two supposed examples of HCMLP's vexatiousness.65

32. Committee Action. The DAF Entities cite actions taken by the Committee to prevent the release of funds from the Court registry. The Committee is a U.S. Trustee-appointed statutory fiduciary independent of HCMLP;66 its actions were not controlled by, or coordinated with, HCMLP,<sup>67</sup> and its actions are irrelevant.

33. Kirschner Adversary. The Plan created a litigation sub-trust and appointed Marc Kirschner to prosecute the estate's claims. In the Kirschner Adversary, the Dondero Entities filed numerous motions to withdraw the reference and to dismiss; served more than 40 third-party subpoenas, and moved yet again to recuse Judge Jernigan. Tellingly, while driving up estate costs, the Dondero Parties never produced a single document in discovery (in contrast, Kirschner produced over 7 million pages of documents) and never sought a stay of this proceeding. Rather, Kirschner was the responsible party who sought and obtained a stay. Under the circumstances, the Dondero Entities' complaints ring hollow.

34. Finally, the DAF Entities contend they are not vexatious because they are now supposedly complying with the Gatekeeper after having been held in contempt for violating it. While CLOH did seek leave to sue HCLOF in Guernsey,<sup>68</sup> that suit is also vexatious. It was premised on, inter alia, HCLOF's directors and HCMLP allegedly colluding to unfairly prejudice CLOH by settling with Terry and Acis instead of suing them. In a lengthy opinion, the Royal Court of Guernsey criticized CLOH, dismissed the action, and required CLOH to pay HCLOF's legal fees and costs.<sup>69</sup> The Guernsey opinion is not subject to appeal.<sup>70</sup>

Less than a month later, CLOH sought the release of the money. B.D.I. 590. Understandably, the Committee opposed CLOH's motion. B.D.I. 624.

iii. HMIT's Objection

35. HMIT seeks to minimize its conduct by falsely alleging it never sought damages from HCMLP. At Dondero's direction,<sup>71</sup> HMIT filed a Rule 202 petition in Texas state court that was nearly identical to the petition Dondero filed and that sought information to be used to sue Seery for alleged insider trading and breach of fiduciary duty. After its Rule 202 petition was denied,<sup>72</sup> HMIT moved for leave to sue Seery in the Bankruptcy Court (the "Motion for Leave")<sup>73</sup> alleging the same "conspiracy theories" espoused in HMIT and Dondero's Rule 202 petitions and the Dondero Entities' libelous letters to the U.S. Trustee.<sup>74</sup> In the Motion for Leave, HMIT asserted direct,<sup>75</sup> derivative, and double-derivative claims against HCMLP, Seery, Farallon, and Stonehill based on its false allegations that Seery provided inside information to Farallon and Stonehill to induce them to purchase claims against HCMLP in exchange for rubberstamping Seery's compensation.

36. On August 25, 2023, the Bankruptcy Court denied the Motion for Leave, finding HMIT's allegations "unsubstantiated," "conclusory," "pure speculation," and entirely lacking legal and factual support<sup>76</sup> and finding, inter alia, HMIT lacked standing because it was not a beneficiary (i.e., a "Claimant Trust Beneficiary").<sup>77</sup> After roundly criticizing HMIT and Dondero, the Bankruptcy Court found the Motion for Leave "was without merit, and appear[s] to be motivated by the improper purposes of vexatiousness and harassment."<sup>78</sup>

37. Undeterred, on September 8, 2023, HMIT filed a motion for reconsideration alleging HCMLP's adjusted pro forma balance sheet filed in aid of mediation<sup>79</sup> proved HCMLP was solvent and that HMIT should therefore be deemed a "Claimant Trust Beneficiary" with standing to sue HCMLP and Seery (notwithstanding the language of the Claimant Trust Agreement and the Plan).<sup>80</sup> On October 4, 2023, the Bankruptcy Court denied HMIT's request finding that HMIT had completely misread and misinterpreted the balance sheet.<sup>81</sup>

38. Since October, HMIT has continued to allege it is a "Claimant Trust Beneficiary."

- December 29, 2023: In response to a motion to dismiss their complaint seeking disclosure of information about Claimant Trust assets, HMIT and Dugaboy alleged they were entitled to information as "beneficiaries" of the Claimant Trust.<sup>82</sup>
- January 1, 2024: HMIT moved for leave to petition to remove Seery as Claimant Trustee based on its alleged status as a Claimant Trust "beneficiary" (the "Motion to Remove").<sup>83</sup>
- January 23, 2024: HMIT opposed HCMLP's request to stay the Motion to Remove pending final resolution of HMIT's status as a "Claimant Trust Beneficiary," arguing the Bankruptcy Court should ignore the unambiguous terms of the Claimant Trust Agreement and somehow—once again—deem it a "Claimant Trust Beneficiary" and afford it standing.
- January 24, 2024: The Bankruptcy Court granted the stay finding judicial efficiency precluded ruling on HMIT's status as a Claimant Trust Beneficiary for a third time.<sup>84</sup>

As found by the Bankruptcy Court, that Dondero controlled HMIT and HMIT, at Dondero's behest, was pursuing vexatious litigation. HMIT's wrongful conduct continues unabated.

iv. The Funds' Objection

39. The Funds argue they "have [no] appetite to litigate, let alone [to] become embroiled in" this action; are not vexatious because they are "not currently prosecuting any litigation against HCMLP";<sup>85</sup> and their prior actions were in good faith. The Funds ignore final and settled facts: (i) the Funds have no claims against, and have never been in contractual privity with, HCMLP; (ii) the Bankruptcy Court found the Funds' previous litigation was in bad faith;<sup>86</sup> and (iii) the Funds sought to overturn the Gatekeeper while alleging significant claims arising from HCMLP's alleged mismanagement of Fund investments.<sup>87</sup> Notably, HCMLP offered to exchange mutual releases and leave the Funds out of the Motion, but the Funds declined. HCMLP's offer to the Funds remains outstanding if they truly wish to stop litigating.

v. The Nancy Dondero Objection

40. Like the Funds, Nancy alleges she was dragged into this case. As discussed, that is false. Nancy also ignores that she is Dugaboy's trustee—ostensibly with control over its actions. Dugaboy has been consistently vexatious.

LEGAL ARGUMENT

41. The Dondero Entities argue this Court cannot grant the Motion because (i) it lacks jurisdiction, (ii) the Dondero Entities are not vexatious, and (iii) the requested relief is overbroad.

A. This Court Has Jurisdiction Over This Matter and the Dondero Entities

42. This Court has the inherent authority to "sanction a party or attorney when necessary to achieve the orderly and expeditious disposition of its docket" and can exercise that power under the All Writs Act and, if the conduct arises in a bankruptcy, 11 U.S.C. § 105.<sup>88</sup> The Dondero Entities, however, argue this Court lacks jurisdiction to deem them vexatious because it (i) lost jurisdiction with the appeal of its order granting HCMLP judgment on the Notes; (ii) lacks federal question or diversity jurisdiction; and (iii) has no jurisdiction over the Dondero Entities who are not parties to the Notes litigation. The Dondero Entities are wrong.

i. Appeal of the Notes Litigation Does Not Deprive This Court of Jurisdiction

43. The Dondero Entities do not contest this Court has jurisdiction to sanction them under Schum "in aid of its appellate jurisdiction" over the Bankruptcy Court.<sup>89</sup> Instead, they argue this Court lost jurisdiction with the appeal of its order granting HCMLP judgment on the Notes.<sup>90</sup> The Dondero Entities misapply the "divestiture doctrine."

44. The "divestiture doctrine" holds "that filing a timely notice of appeal immediately transfers jurisdiction ... and divests the district court of jurisdiction over all matters relating to the appeal."<sup>91</sup> But it is not absolute. "One well-recognized exception is that even though the judgment on the merits has been properly appealed … the district court retains jurisdiction to entertain and resolve a motion requesting attorney's fees or sanctions. The basis for this exception is that attorney's fees/sanctions are matters collateral to the merits of the action."<sup>92</sup> "[T]he divestiture doctrine is not intended to 'cede control of the conduct of a … case to disappointed litigants. This cannot be, and is not, the law."<sup>93</sup> "Therefore, a district court has [sanctions] available in its quiver where a party 'unreasonably and vexatiously' 'multiples [judicial] proceedings' … even if the subject matter of the suit has already been decided, and, indeed, even if the court constitutionally lacks jurisdiction over the principal dispute."<sup>94</sup> The exception makes sense. If the Dondero Entities were right (and they are not), vexatious litigants could avoid sanctions by filing vexatious appeals. But they cannot. This Court retains jurisdiction to deem the Dondero Entities vexatious litigants.

&lt;sup>90</sup> See, e.g., Dondero Obj. at 30-31 ("[A] federal court may only issue a writ ... in a case that is active before the court. The appeal of the Notes Cases before this Court is complete, and the cases are now on appeal to the Fifth Circuit. That divests this Court of jurisdiction to act.")

45. The Dondero Entities' reliance on Rohe is misplaced. Rohe does not address the divestiture doctrine and is factually inapposite. In Rohe, Rohe essentially sought a writ of mandamus by asking the district court to compel the bankruptcy court to enforce the automatic Restrepo, 2015 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 29346, at *4-8 (W.D. Tex. Jan. 8, 2015) (finding court had jurisdiction to review vexatious litigant order following remand to state court); 1 SANC. FED LAW OF LIT. stay. Rohe did so without ever having moved for such relief in the bankruptcy court.<sup>95</sup> The Eleventh Circuit held Rohe did not satisfy the standards for a writ of mandamus because Rohe had "adequate means to attain the relief"—Rohe could simply have asked the bankruptcy court to enforce the stay.<sup>96</sup> Unlike Rohe, HCMLP is not asking this Court to compel the Bankruptcy Court to do anything; HCMLP asks this Court to protect HCMLP and the judicial system from the Dondero Entities' vexatious litigation tactics.

ii. This Court Has Original Jurisdiction Over the Motion

46. The Dondero Entities argue that, because this Court lost its jurisdiction upon appeal, it can only exercise jurisdiction if it has federal question or diversity jurisdiction, which it does not have.<sup>97</sup> Pursuant to 28 U.S.C. § 1334, Congress conferred original jurisdiction over "all civil proceedings arising under title 11, or arising in or related to cases under title 11," on federal district courts.<sup>98</sup> Here, the Dondero Entities' vexatious litigation is impeding the Plan and harming the estate. The Motion, at minimum, "relates to" the implementation of the Plan;<sup>99</sup> this Court has original jurisdiction.<sup>100</sup>

<sup>100</sup> Under 28 U.S.C. § 157(a) and Miscellaneous Order No.33, all cases arising under, arising in, and related to title 11 are referred to the "Bankruptcy Judges of this district for consideration and resolution...." The Dondero Entities withdrew the reference to adjudicate the Notes litigation in this Court. If this Court determines it should not hear the Motion, HCMLP requests it enforce the order of reference and refer the Motion to the Bankruptcy Court.

&lt;sup>98</sup> A proceeding (i) "arises under" title 11 if it is a "cause of action created or determined by a statutory provision of title 11" (Wood v. Wood (In re Wood), 825 F.2d 90, 96 (5th Cir. 1987)); (ii) "arises in" title 11 if it addresses "administrative matters that arise only in bankruptcy cases" (Id., at 96 (emphasis in original)); and (iii) "relates to" title 11 if "the outcome of … could conceivably have any effect on the estate being administered in bankruptcy" (Burch v. Freedom Mortg. Corp. (In re Burch), 835 Fed. Appx. 741, 748 (5th Cir. 2021)); see also Celotex Corp. v. Edwards, 514 U.S. 300, 308 (1995) ("Congress intended to grant comprehensive jurisdiction to the bankruptcy courts so that they might deal. . . with all matters connected with the bankruptcy estate"); Wood, 825 F.2d at 94 (finding a postpetition action "relates to" title 11 if it "it affects the estate, not just the debtor").

iii. This Court Has Jurisdiction Over Each Dondero Entity

47. Citing no legal authority, the Dondero Entities contend this Court lacks jurisdiction to sanction certain Dondero Entities because they are not parties in the underlying action.<sup>101</sup> But, as stated in Rohe:

[T]he [All Writs] Act supplies authority to issue orders directed, "under appropriate circumstances, to persons who, though not parties to the original action or engaged in wrongdoing, are in a position to frustrate the implementation of a court order or the proper administration of justice" and "even those who have not taken any affirmative action to hinder justice."<sup>102</sup>

The Dondero Entities—acting in concert with, and at Dondero's direction<sup>103</sup>—are "frustrat[ing] the implementation of a court order [and] the proper administration of justice." This Court has authority to sanction all of them for their conduct.

B. The Dondero Entities Are Vexatious Litigants

48. The Fifth Circuit applies a four-part test to determine whether to impose a pre-filing injunction: (a) the party's history of litigation; (b) whether the party had a good faith basis for pursuing the litigation; (c) the extent of the burden on the courts and other parties; and (d) the adequacy of alternative sanctions.<sup>104</sup> Notwithstanding the clear factual record, the Dondero Entities' dispute any of the foregoing elements are satisfied.

i. The Dondero Entities Are Vexatious

49. Directed by Dondero, the Dondero Entities, acting together and individually, have engaged in a coordinated conspiracy to harass HCMLP and its fiduciaries through litigation in the Bankruptcy Court, this Court, and other courts and regulatory agencies. As stated by the Bankruptcy Court, the Dondero Entities' conduct is so egregious it "is overwhelming … the system" and is a burden on both HCMLP and the judiciary.<sup>105</sup> The Dondero Entities are vexatious and will "burn down the place" unless Dondero gets what he wants.<sup>106</sup>

ii. The Requested Sanction Is Necessary and Appropriate

50. The Dondero Entities argue that the Motion should be denied because HCMLP has an adequate remedy to prevent the Dondero Entities' harassment—the Gatekeeper. The Dondero Entities further argue that, even if relief is warranted, the requested relief is overbroad.

1. No Adequate Means Prevent the Dondero Entities' Harassment

51. The Dondero Entities contend the Motion should be denied because they are complying with the Gatekeeper and the Gatekeeper provides sufficient protection to prevent their harassment. The Fifth Circuit disagreed; it suggested a vexatious litigant injunction could be imposed while upholding the Gatekeeper.<sup>107</sup> Further, the Dondero Entities are actively trying to overturn the Gatekeeper so they can file litigation in multiple forums without limitation or colorability review. The Dondero Entities cannot argue the Gatekeeper is adequate while actively trying to tear it down so they can flood the court system with harassing, meritless litigation.<sup>108</sup>

52. The Motion seeks broader relief than the protection provided by the Gatekeeper in that it asks this Court to, among other things, (a) find the Dondero Entities vexatious litigants and require them to provide notice thereof; and (b) protect parties left unprotected by the Gatekeeper but who the Dondero Entities are harassing (e.g., HCLOF, Stonehill, and Farallon). Finally, the Bankruptcy Court cannot levy criminal sanctions; this Court can.

2. The Relief Requested Is Not Overbroad

53. The Dondero Entities contend the relief requested is overbroad as it precludes filings in any forum, stops the prosecution of currently pending actions, and prevents appeals. The Dondero Entities also contend that approving the Motion would create conflicting gatekeepers and an untenable procedural situation.

54. As an initial matter, HCMLP acknowledges that "a district court's pre-filing injunction may not extend to filings in any federal appellate court"<sup>109</sup> and cannot enjoin pending actions.<sup>110</sup> Accordingly, HCMLP does not seek to enjoin current proceedings or appeals.

55. However, in this disturbing situation, a broad injunction is required and supported by the case law. This Court may enjoin filings in any court or agency if necessary to protect its and the Bankruptcy Court's jurisdiction. In Newby, after a federal court had denied relief, a litigant (represented by a law firm) moved in state court for substantially the same relief. The Fifth Circuit held that conduct—making an end run around a federal order—justified a pre-filing injunction prohibiting filings in state court related to the pending federal action.<sup>111</sup> As in Newby, the Dondero Entities have used state and federal courts and agencies and the Royal Court of Guernsey to pursue actions that interfere with the implementation of the confirmed Plan.

56. Finally, the Dondero Entities allege approval of the Motion will create competing gatekeepers and confusion about where the Dondero Entities must go for approval to sue HCMLP. That can be solved. If the Gatekeeper applies, the request should be brought in the Bankruptcy Court. If, for any reason, it does not, the request should be brought in this Court.

CONCLUSION

WHEREFORE, HCMLP respectfully requests that the Court grant the Motion and such other and further relief as the Court deems just and proper.
