26. TelexFree, LLC is a Nevada limited liability company with its principal place of business at the same address in Marlborough as TelexFree, Inc. 27. TelexFree Financial, Inc. is a corporation duly organized under the laws of the State of Florida and having a principal place of business in Marlborough as the other Debtors.

28. On April 13, 2014, the Debtors filed for bankruptcy under Chapter 11 with the United States Bankruptcy Court for the District of Nevada. The cases were transferred to this Court by Order dated May 23, 2014.

Jurisdiction

29. This adversary proceeding is brought pursuant to §§ 547, 548, 550 and 551 of Title 11 of the United States Code for the avoidance and recovery of fraudulent conveyances and preferential transfers.

30. This Court has jurisdiction over the adversary proceeding pursuant to 28 U.S.C. §§ 157, 1334, this adversary proceeding being a core proceeding pursuant to 28 U.S.C. § 157(b)(2)(A), (F), (H), and (O).

31. Venue in this district is proper under 28 U.S.C. § 1409.

Defendant Class Allegations

32. The Trustee brings this action as a defendant class action pursuant to Federal Rules of Civil Procedure 23(a), (b)(1)(A), and (b)(1)(B) against a class (the “Net Winner Class”) consisting of all persons or entities who, as a result of their participation in the Debtors, were “Net Winners” (as defined below) and who reside within the United States.¹

33. For the purposes of inclusion in the Net Winner Class, a “Net Winner” is a person who received more money from the Debtors (as “profit payments,” “commissions,” “bonuses” or any other payments) and from other persons in connection with the purchase of membership plans or VoIP Packages, than that person paid to the Debtors or to other persons in connection with the purchase of membership plans or VoIP Package (“Net Winner Payment”) as determined based upon an aggregation of a Participant’s User Accounts. Determination of the Net Winner Payment shall not include unredeemed credits, as described below.

34. The members of the Net Winner Class are so numerous that joinder of all members is impracticable. There are approximately 15,000 persons who are members of the Net Winner Class.²

35. There are questions of law and fact that are common to the Net Winner Class. These questions include, but are not limited to, the following: (i) what transfers should be included in the determination of a Net Winner; (ii) whether Net Winners should be determined by an aggregation of Related User Accounts; (iii) whether the Net Winner Payments are avoidable as fraudulent transfers because the Debtors had the actual intent to hinder, delay, or defraud creditors; (iv) whether the Net Winner Payments are avoidable as fraudulent transfers because the transfers were made for less than fair consideration while the Debtors were insolvent, undercapitalized, or unable to pay debts as they became due; (v) whether the Net Preference Payments may be recovered as preferential transfers; (vi) whether the Court’s finding that the Debtors engaged in a Ponzi and pyramid scheme may be applied, along with any applicable presumptions, in determining the Trustee’s claims.

² Additionally, there are approximately 78,000 persons who are net winners and reside outside of the United States and who will be subject to a separate action by the Trustee.

36. The named Defendants are Net Winners in the following amounts:

Named Defendant	Net Winner Payment	Net Preference Payment³
Benjamin Argueta	$4,014,207	$2,257,301
Alexandro Rocha	$3,115,717	$1,738,331
Jose Neto	$2,604,994	$ 877,963
Julio C. Paz	$2,401,578	$1,182,816
Euzebio Sudre Neto	$1,677,831	$1,116,774
Hugo Alvarado	$1,343,234	$ 414,092
Ana R. Ramos	$1,325,909	$ 578,697
Linda Suzanne Hackett	$1,208,132	$ 185,283
Ruddy Abreau	$1,184,460	$ 354,861
Marco Almeida	$1,082,464	$ 665,647
Rodrigo Montemor	$1,006,856	$ 589,179
Laureano Arellano	$ 859,545	$ 435,150
Aaron Ataide	$ 855,234	$ 524,036
Rosane Cruz	$ 819,327	$ 468,264
Omar Quinonez	$ 739,057
Carlos C. Dejesus	$ 736,061	$ 194,353
Bilkish Sunesara	$ 633,692	$ 234,022
Andres Bolivar Estevez	$ 609,258	$ 584,991
Jose Lopez	$ 564,454	$ 255,728
Ana Rosa Lopez	$ 523,495	$ 53,316
Frantz Balan	$ 516,875	$ 315,572
Marcelo Dasilva	$ 430,469	$ 351,356
Gladys Alvarado	$ 259,764

37. The named individual defendants were among the largest Net Winners of the Debtors’ scheme and should be appointed, without cost to the Estates, as representatives of the Net Winner Class (the “Class Representatives”).

38. The Class Representatives will be adequate and appropriate representatives of the Net Winner Class in the course of and by virtue of their own defense to the same claims.

³ Net Preference Payment is defined in paragraph 77 and is a subset of Net Winner Payment.

Because they have substantially more (or certainly at least as much) incentive to vigorously defend against the Trustee's claims as any unnamed class member, these Defendants will fairly and adequately protect and represent the interests of the unnamed members of the Net Winner Class.

39. The claims against and anticipated defenses of the Class Representatives are typical of the claims against and anticipated defenses of the unnamed members of the Net Winner Class. Like the Class Representatives, each of the unnamed members of the Net Winner Class participated in the Debtors' Ponzi and pyramid scheme and received more money than they paid during the course of their participation. The claims for return of "net winnings" against all the Net Winners are the same and should be calculated the same way for all class members.

40. The nature of the defenses that may be asserted by the Class Representatives also would be the same, as liability for repayment of the fraudulent transfers made by the Debtors to the Net Winner Class does not depend on the personal circumstances of particular individuals (other than in the mathematical calculation of the amount of their liability, which will be resolved independently of the determination of liability).

41. Prosecuting separate actions against individual class members would create a risk of inconsistent judgments with respect to individual class members.

Statement of Facts

42. The Debtors operated a massive Ponzi and pyramid scheme, which involved as many as 1,900,000 participants ("Participants") from multiple countries under the guise of a "multi-level marketing" company with its headquarters in Marlborough, Massachusetts. The Debtors represented themselves as being in the business of selling telephone service plans that use “voice over Internet” (“VoIP”) technology. However, the sale of VoIP constituted only a minor portion of their business; the Debtors’ actual business was the recruitment of Participants.

43. From April 2012 to April 2014, individuals throughout the world, including many Participants of the Brazilian and Dominican immigrant communities in the United States, purchased membership plans with a transaction value of approximately $3,000,000,000. The memberships promised substantial returns – 200% per year or more – for becoming “promoters” of the business. The Debtors promised to pay Participants for placing ads on obscure classified ad sites on the internet and recruiting other Participants to do the same.

44. The basic features of the Debtors’ membership program had all the hallmarks of a Ponzi and pyramid scheme: (1) Participants were promised unusually high returns – over 200% per year – for doing virtually nothing except posting meaningless internet ads; (2) Participants were promised bonuses if they recruited new Participants, who would do virtually nothing except post ads and recruit new Participants (and so on and so on); and (3) while there were some VoIP plans sold, Participants did not have to sell the plans in order to receive redeemable credits. Because Participants were strongly encouraged to recruit new Participants and were not required to sell the VoIP plans, the Debtors were using funds from later Participants to pay earlier Participants.

45. The membership fees from Participants constituted more than ninety-nine percent (99%) of the monies taken in by the Debtors. Prior to March 9, 2014, the Debtors did not require Participants to sell the VoIP service in order to qualify for credits which could be monetized.

46. The revenues from retail VoIP sales were only a tiny fraction of the money the Debtors promised to pay to Participants. Credit card and banking transactions indicate that, from August 2012 to March 2014, the Debtors received approximately $6,600,000 from the retail sale of monthly VoIP contracts. During the same period, the Debtors received more than $340,000,000 from Participants who purchased contracts. Through the sale of those one-year contracts, the Debtors effectively promised to pay more than $5,000,000,000 to the Participants on account of the guaranteed return for posting internet advertisements. In other words, the revenues from retail VoIP sales covered barely 0.1% of the Debtors' obligations to pay Participants for placing advertisements, without taking into account obligations to pay Participants the commissions associated with recruiting other Participants. As a result, the Debtors paid earlier Participants not with revenues from selling the VoIP services but with money received from later Participants.

47. On November 25, 2015, the Court, on motion by the Trustee and after notice and hearing, entered an Order, as amended on December 21, 2015, finding that the Debtors were engaged in a Ponzi scheme and that this ruling was the law of the case in each of the jointly administered cases.

User Accounts

48. Each time that a Participant purchased a membership plan or VoIP Package, the Participant established an account with the Debtors (the "User Account") that recorded the Participant's transactions with the Debtors, including payments of invoices, accumulation of credits, bonuses, and commissions, use of credits to satisfy invoices, and cash receipts.

49. At the time a User Account was established, the Participant was directed to provide his/her name, address, email address, phone numbers, passcodes, and other identifying information (the "Common Identifiers").

50. A Participant could establish more than one User Account and, in practice, many Participants had multiple User Accounts.

51. The User Accounts tracked credits issued to Participants for placing advertisements, selling membership plans and VoIP Packages, and the activities of certain other affiliated Participants. These credits could be redeemed by a Participant for cash, transferred by a Participant to another User Account, or applied by a Participant in satisfaction of an invoice for another User Account in exchange for cash payment from a recruited Participant.

Types of Transactions

52. Invoices issued by the Debtors to Participants for the purchase of a membership plan could be satisfied in one of two ways. Participants could satisfy the invoice by payment in cash to the Debtors, or Participants could use their accumulated credits in one User Account to satisfy an invoice for a membership plan sold to a new User Account, for themselves or for another Participant.

53. In the case of a Participant satisfying his/her own invoice by payment in cash to the Debtors, the process worked, generally, as follows:

- (i) The Participant established an online account;
- (ii) The Debtors' database recorded the data entered by the new Participant and the identity of the recruiting Participant, and assigned an identification number to the new User Account;
- (iii) The Debtors recorded the purchase, issued a numbered invoice, and marked the invoice as 'pending';
- (iv) A Participant could pay the invoice by cash, check, cashier's check, wire transfer, or through a third-party online payment processing account. When the invoice was paid, the Debtors would update the invoice;
- (v) The new Participant could then start building a pyramid underneath the newly created User Account by recruiting other members (or by purchasing new User Accounts themselves) and generating bonuses and commissions.

54. A Participant could monetize accumulated credits by recruiting a new Participant using his/her accumulated credits to satisfy the invoice issued by the Debtors to the new Participant for the purchase of a membership plan, and the new Participant paid the membership fee to the recruiting member, rather than to the Debtors (hereinafter a “Triangular Transaction”).

55. In the case of a new User Account being opened with the use of accumulated credits in another User Account, the process worked, generally, as follows:

- (i) A Participant created his/her online account, or used their existing account information, to establish a new User Account;
- (ii) The Debtors’ database recorded the details entered by the new Participant and assigned an identification number to the new User Account;
- (iii) The Debtors recorded the purchase, issued an invoice to the new User Account, and marked the invoice as ‘pending’;
- (iv) The new Participant forwarded the invoice to the recruiting Participant, who satisfied the invoice with accumulated credits in the existing User Account;
- (v) The new Participant paid the invoice amount to the recruiting Participant (in those cases where there were two separate Participants involved).

56. The substantive result of the Triangular Transaction is that funds otherwise payable to the Debtors from Participants for the purchase of membership plans were paid to the recruiting Participants, who in turn satisfied the invoice issued by the Debtors to the new Participant by reducing the recruiting Participant’s accumulated credits.

60. The Trustee is entitled to a judgment declaring that a Net Winner is determined by aggregating Related User Accounts.

INSTRUCTIONS

The filing of a bankruptcy case creates an "estate" under the jurisdiction of the bankruptcy court which consists of all of the property of the debtor, wherever that property is located. Because the bankruptcy estate is so extensive and the jurisdiction of the court so broad, there may be lawsuits over the property or property rights of the estate. There also may be lawsuits concerning the debtor's discharge. If such a lawsuit is filed in a bankruptcy court, it is called an adversary proceeding.

A party filing an adversary proceeding must also must complete and file Form 104, the Adversary Proceeding Cover Sheet, unless the party files the adversary proceeding electronically through the court's Case Management/Electronic Case Filing system (CM/ECF). (CM/ECF captures the information on Form 104 as part of the filing process.) When completed, the cover sheet summarizes basic information on the adversary proceeding. The clerk of court needs the information to process the adversary proceeding and prepare required statistical reports on court activity.

The cover sheet and the information contained on it do not replace or supplement the filing and service of pleadings or other papers as required by law, the Bankruptcy Rules, or the local rules of court. The cover sheet, which is largely self-explanatory, must be completed by the plaintiff's attorney (or by the plaintiff if the plaintiff is not represented by an attorney). A separate cover sheet must be submitted to the clerk for each complaint filed.

Plaintiffs and Defendants. Give the names of the plaintiffs and defendants exactly as they appear on the complaint.

Attorneys. Give the names and addresses of the attorneys, if known.

Party. Check the most appropriate box in the first column for the plaintiffs and the second column for the defendants.

Demand. Enter the dollar amount being demanded in the complaint.

Signature. This cover sheet must be signed by the attorney of record in the box on the second page of the form. If the plaintiff is represented by a law firm, a member of the firm must sign. If the plaintiff is pro se, that is, not represented by an attorney, the plaintiff must sign.
