Adversary Proceeding
No.16-4025-MSH

MOTION BY THE TRUSTEE TO STAY PROCEEDINGS IN THE ABOVE-CAPTIONED ADVERSARY PROCEEDING PENDING RESOLUTION OF THE CRIMINAL ACTION AGAINST JAMES MERRILL

Stephen B. Darr, as he is Trustee (the “Trustee”) of the Chapter 11 Estates of TelexFree, LLC, TelexFree, Inc., and TelexFree Financial, Inc. (collectively, the “Debtors”), moves that this Court enter an order staying any further proceedings in this Adversary Proceeding (the “Adversary Proceeding”) pending a resolution of the Criminal Action brought by The United States of America against James Merrill and another,¹ captioned United States v. Merrill, 14-CR-

¹ The other defendant is Carlos Wanzeler, who is currently a fugitive living in Brazil, and he has not appeared in the Criminal Action.

40028-TSH (the "Criminal Action"). The Criminal Action is currently scheduled for trial in the fall of 2016. The Trustee seeks this stay at the request of the United States so as not to interfere with the proper administration and prosecution of the Criminal Action.

In further support of his motion, the Trustee states as follows:

1. The Adversary Proceeding arises from the TelexFree Ponzi scheme that was perpetrated on thousands of mostly working class investors, domestic and worldwide, by James Merrill and Carlos Wanzeler and assisted by various individuals including those named in the Adversary Proceeding.

2. James Merrill and Carlos Wanzeler have been indicted by the United States Government and the Criminal Action against Mr. Merrill, as noted, is scheduled for trial in the fall of this year. Mr. Wanzeler is currently a fugitive living in Brazil, and his case has not been scheduled for trial. The Trustee was required to commence the Adversary Proceeding before the Criminal Action could be resolved because the expiration of the Statute of Limitation relevant to these actions was approaching and was clearly going to expire before the Criminal Action was resolved. However, in commencing these actions, the Trustee does not intend to interfere with the proper administration of the Criminal Actions nor prejudice the Government's prosecution of those actions.

3. Potentially, areas of interference or prejudice would be to permit the targets of the Criminal Action to use the Adversary Proceeding to conduct discovery, which could result in the premature and broad disclosure of the essentials of the Government's case in chief, allowing the defense to tailor its presentation to meet that anticipated proof. Additionally, the use of discovery in the Adversary Proceeding could be used to harass or intimidate potential witnesses for the Government, some of whom are also named as Defendants in the Adversary Proceeding.

4. In considering the appropriateness of granting a stay, the courts generally consider certain factors, including (a) the extent to which the civil and criminal cases overlap; (b) the public interest; (c) any potential prejudice to the civil parties if the matter is stayed; (d) the court's interest in managing the docket and resources; and (e) the current status of the criminal case. See United States v. Mellon Bank, 545 F.2d 869, 872-873 (3rd Cir. 1976); and Micro Financial, Inc. v. Premier Holidays Int'l, 385 F.3d 72, 77 (1st Cir 2004).

5. Consideration of each of these factors weights in favor of granting the stay. In particular, the degree to which the issues in the Adversary Proceeding overlap those in the Criminal Action.

6. Both the Adversary Proceeding and the Criminal Action rest upon the same basic factual allegations that James Merrill and Carlos Wanzeler, through the vehicle of TelexFree, created a pyramid/Ponzi scheme, pursuant to which they defrauded thousands of individuals for millions of dollars. In such situations the stay is ordinarily granted. One 1964 Cadillac DeVille, 41 F.R.D. 352, 353 (S.D.N.Y. 1966).

7. While there is substantial potential for harm to be done to the prosecution of the Criminal Action, there is little prejudice to the Defendants in the Adversary Proceeding if the stay is granted. The Criminal Action is scheduled for trial this fall; therefore, it is anticipated the stay will be short lived. Further, the stay will not inhibit the parties in the Adversary Proceeding to continue any discussions towards a resolution of the various claims.

WHEREFORE, Stephen B. Darr, as he is the Trustee of the Chapter 11 Estates of TelexFree, LLC, TelexFree, Inc., and TelexFree Financial, Inc., respectfully prays that his motion be allowed and that this Court enter an order staying the Adversary Proceeding pending the earlier of the resolution of the Criminal Action or December 1, 2016; and for such other and further relief as this Court deems just and proper.
