RESPONSE OF THE CHARITABLE DAF FUND, L.P., CLO HOLDCO, LTD., AND SBAITI & COMPANY PLLC TO SHOW CAUSE ORDER

I. INTRODUCTION

We are deeply concerned by this Court’s adoption of the name-calling initiated by Movants. Identifying Respondents as the “Violators” in the order to show cause suggests that this Court has prejudged the issues before it and creates the appearance of impropriety. We are equally concerned that the show-cause order was communicated to us by Debtor’s counsel, verbatim, three days before this Court actually issued that order, as if Debtor’s counsel speaks for the Court and has special, advance access to its pronouncements. This also creates the appearance of impropriety.

We are especially concerned that any prejudgment this Court may have made is based solely on the deliberately misleading statements in Movants’ brief. Respondents respectfully submit that the issue before the Court here is not whether Mr. Seery has been sued in violation of an order of this Court, as Movants want this Court to believe. Seery has not been sued at all.

The issue here is whether Respondents should be held in contempt for asking permission from the district court, which has original jurisdiction over the action, to sue Seery. Movants claim this Court has stripped the district court of jurisdiction—construing this Court’s reference to “sole jurisdiction” as excluding the district court from which this Court derives its jurisdiction. Not only did we not violate this Court’s orders by filing a motion for leave in the district court, we complied with them. And even were it otherwise, no case cited in the Motion, and no case we could find, has issued sanctions as a result of a party asking a court for leave to do something, even if it was the wrong court.

<sup>1</sup> The undersigned do not represent the other persons required by this Court’s order to appear in person on June 8, 2021, and therefore, this Response is on behalf of the named respondents.

Finally, we respectfully ask this Court to expunge from its docket any order prejudging Respondents, or anyone for that matter, by referring to us as the “Violators.” Justice requires no less.

II. PROCEEDINGS IN THE DISTRICT COURT

The DAF is a charitable organization that invests some of its funds as part of its long-term mission to provide financial assistance, primarily in the Dallas/Ft. Worth area to such notable causes as:

- Committing several millions of dollars to support a facility that helps the victims of domestic violence in North Texas—the new facility has, since 2016, supported over 2000 victims each year;
- Supporting children’s advocacy centers, as well as education initiatives for underserved children, in addition to education programs to help in things like job training and adult education in underserved populations;
- Supporting organizations that care for homeless military veterans and other institutions that help retrain and support veterans’ reintegration, into;
- Supporting the arts in DFW such as proving funding the Perot Museum and the Dallas Zoo; and
- Funding medical research, among other things.

All in, the DAF has helped fund over $32 million in in grants and committed millions more in prospective funding. To meet these commitments, the DAF has an obligation to generate the funds through its investing activities. Doing so marries the charitable mission with the benefits of our market economy.

For that reason as well, the DAF dutifully safeguards its investments and protects its rights when it has been damaged. Hence the underlying lawsuit in the district court. Without the ability to safeguard its investments, the DAF’s ability to fund public causes would be severely hampered, costing the people of Dallas/Ft. Worth millions in benefits given to area families and children in need.

A. Respondents' Complaint in District Court Raises Significant, Recently Discovered Issues

The basis of the DAF's action pending in the district court—the action in which Respondents filed their Motion for Leave to Amend to Add James Seery<sup>2</sup>—can be summed up in three simple bullets:

- The defendants, including Debtor, had duties under the Investment Advisers Act of 1940 (“Advisers Act”) to the DAF and its subsidiary, CLO Holdco. Those duties arise by operation of law as a result of the defendants’ role as a registered investment adviser to the plaintiffs. And those duties are unwaivable.
- The Harbourvest settlement was predicated on a valuation of the HCLOF assets at $22.5 million, which Seery testified was the value of those interests. That statement was not true—but it was relied upon by the plaintiffs at the time—there would be no justification for spending $22.5 million in cash to get $22.5 million in contingent assets. It was only in March 2021, two months after Seery’s testimony, that another HCLOF investor brought to light the fact that the interests were worth almost double the amount testified to, and that Seery knew or should have known about that differential, in his role as a registered investment advisor.<sup>3</sup>
- Seery’s duty under the Adviser’s Act required him to disclose that differential to the DAF and disclose the opportunity to the DAF to purchase the interests. By not doing so, the defendants violated those unwaivable federal duties in connection with the Harbourvest settlement that this Court approved earlier this year.

The DAF and CLO Holdco to file their Original Complaint in the district court to protect their investment. That Complaint, however, purposefully did not name Seery as a defendant. And the Complaint does not ask to void, undo, or reverse, the Harbourvest Settlement. Nor is reversing the releases or the “allowed claims” as consideration between Harbourvest and the debtor a necessary predicate to relief in the Complaint. For example, one avenue would be for the defendants to simply sell the Harbourvest interests to the DAF for $22.5 million—which should be net-neutral to the debtor, and would actually give the debtor $22.5 million more in cash now than what it received under the Harbourvest settlement.<sup>4</sup>

Because of the Orders limiting suits against Seery, Respondents did not name him, but instead filed their Motion for Leave to Amend to Add James Seery on April 19, 2021 (the “Motion for Leave”), informing the district court (1) that this Court had entered orders limiting suits against Seery, (2) attaching the orders to the motion, and (3) briefing several good-faith, statutorily-based reasons why those orders should not prohibit what we were asking the district court to allow. This Motion for Leave is what Movants contend merits holding us in contempt.

Respondents submit that a fair recitation of the Motion for Leave cannot support a contempt finding.

B. Movants Make Deliberately Misleading Statements About Us

Movants’ brief makes no argument that Respondents’ suit in the district court violates any order. Their argument focuses solely on the Motion for Leave, which the district court denied without prejudice on the basis that it was premature.<sup>5</sup> To support their argument, Movants’ brief misstates the record in several ways, the highlights of which we identify here:

1. Movants Misrepresent Respondents’ Prior Knowledge of the Key Facts Underlying the Harbourvest Settlement

The Movants have misrepresented that “CLO Holdco knew of all aspects of the [Harbourvest settlement, which is the transaction at issue in Respondents’ action in the district court] before [this] Court granted the Debtor’s Settlement Motion.”<sup>6</sup>

<sup>4</sup> The proposed $22.5 million would add liquidity to the estate and obviate the need for a questionable exit loan.

This representation is false in a significant and material way. As noted above, the Harbourvest settlement was predicated on, among other things, the debtor purchasing Harbourvest's interests in Highland CLO Funding, Ltd. for $22,500,000 in consideration.

As alleged in the Original Complaint, the value of Harbourvest's interest was equal to, roughly, 49.98% of the net asset value of the assets of Highland CLO Funding, Ltd. ("HCLOF"). The net asset values were calculated internally at Highland Capital Management, LP (HCMLP or the debtor)—the registered investment advisor for both Highland CLO Funding, Ltd. and for the DAF/CLO Holdco. In the quarter ending December 31, 2020, the net asset value of HCLOF was almost double what Seery represented it to be. But those internal values were never communicated prior to the hearing. Seery's self-serving denials are of no moment because he was a registered investment advisor to the DAF; thus, he should have calculated those values properly and represented them to the DAF, the failure to do either of which is equally a breach of duties imposed by federal law. It was only in March 2021 that another HCLOF investor brought to light the fact that the interests were worth their true value. As a registered investment advisor to the DAF, Seery knew or should have known otherwise and should have disclosed it.<sup>7</sup>

Thus, the DAF has alleged that Seery, as the person in the middle of these transactions, and one who is cloaked with heightened federally-imposed fiduciary duties under the Advisers Act, concealed material information from the very advisee he owed fiduciary duties to, and consummated a self-dealing transaction at the expense of an advisee to benefit himself, to benefit the debtor, and to benefit its creditors. This Court's orders do not immunize him from the consequences of these acts and omissions.

Unsurprisingly, no case has held that someone in the position of Seery, as a registered investment advisor subject to the federal Advisers Act’s rules and regulations, can shirk federally-imposed fiduciary duties to its advisees for the mere expediency of enriching its wealthy creditors—whether in bankruptcy or not. No case has held that being insolvent is an exception to the Advisers Act either.

2. Movants Misrepresent Respondents’ Communications About This Court’s Orders

Movants represent in their brief that Respondents “simply ignored,” “intentionally flout[ed],” and “willfully disregard[ed]” this Court’s orders,<sup>8</sup> when they know full well that was not the case. The record is clear on this fact.

Before Respondents filed the motion for leave that provides the basis of Movants’ motion here, Respondents reached out to Debtor’s counsel to confer regarding that motion:

Mr. Pomerantz,

Mazin [Sbaiti] and I intend to move for leave today in the district court seeking permission to amend our complaint to add claims against Mr. Seery. They are the same causes of action. We believe we are entitled to amend as a matter of course. But we will also raise and brief the bankruptcy court’s orders re the same.

Can we put your client down as unopposed?

We appreciate your prompt reply.<sup>9</sup>

Plainly this communication does not support Movant’s representation that we ignored or disregarded this Court’s orders. Their brief selectively quotes only the third paragraph of this email—“Can we put your client down as unopposed?”—while omitting the context. Apparently only the one line fit the narrative that Movants wished to present to this Court.

Counsel responded by informing us that this Court’s gatekeeper orders<sup>10</sup> prohibited us from filing our motion. We responded as follows:

Mr. Pomerantz,

Thank you for sending the orders and for keeping in mind that we’re new to a matter that, in the bankruptcy court, has over 2,000 filings. We may well have missed something. But we have seen and carefully studied the orders that you sent. And we do not believe they prohibit the motion we are filing, which briefs them and explains why we don’t believe they prohibit our motion.

We also don’t think the district court will both decide that we’re wrong about this and nonetheless grant our motion. As I read the orders, that’s the only theoretical way that a motion for leave could violate them.

And if the district court does grant our motion for the reasons we ask—because it finds that the bankruptcy court exceeded its jurisdiction or because it finds that our motion for leave (which can be referred) complies with the bankruptcy court orders—then we don’t think the bankruptcy court can or will overrule the district court.

So please know that we are not willfully violating those orders, as your email suggests. Quite the contrary, we are giving them careful attention. Which is why we are seeking leave rather than amending as of right.<sup>11</sup>

Separately, counsel also explained:

Jeff,

Our meet and confer is for our motion for leave to amend to add [James Seery]. I believe, per those orders’ language, we are following the court’s instruction.

We are not unilaterally adding him.

I take it you want us to put you down as “opposed” on the certificate of conference?<sup>12</sup>

Movants attempt to gloss over their own apparent ex parte communications by gaslighting the Court and Respondents with a preemptive accusation. Movants misrepresented in their brief that Respondents attempted to get a ruling on the Motion for Leave “effectively on an ex parte basis.”<sup>13</sup> This is deceitful. Movants obviously knew that we had conferred with them in advance before filing our motion. And they knew we had filed it as an “opposed” motion, guaranteeing that it would not be granted without an opportunity for them to submit a brief. Indeed, the district court denied the motion specifically because not all defendants had yet been served. The minute order states that the denial is without prejudice to refiling once all defendants have been served.<sup>14</sup>

4. Movants Misrepresent Respondents' District Court Action

A. This Court's Orders Do Not Immunize Seery from All Actions

Thus, it is not surprising that Movants make no argument here that the Original Complaint Respondents filed in the district court action violates any order of this Court. Although that Complaint mentions Seery and his acts and omissions, in detail, it does not name him as a defendant and therefore is not the commencement or pursuit of “a claim or cause of against” him, which is all that the orders say is prohibited.

for asking for permission to sue Seery. And for doing so in the district court, which Movants say this Court has stripped of its statutorily granted original jurisdiction.

This is a remarkable request. Our research uncovered no precedent of any kind for a finding of contempt as a result of a motion for leave or any other kind of request for permission. Neither have we found any cases holding a party or its counsel in contempt for making a request in the wrong court. Perhaps this is why Movants' argument is so short and devoid of authority.

Moreover, Movants seem to have assumed that the Motion for Leave would be granted, and that the proposed amended complaint naming Seery would therefore be automatically filed. That is not what was intended, and is not what happened,. To the contrary, Respondents expected that the motion for leave would likely be referred to this Court for a report and recommendation. And Respondents planned, if necessary, to move to withdraw the reference under 28 U.S.C. § 157(d). In addition, Respondents carefully avoided asking to have our proposed amended complaint "deemed filed," going so far as to submit an amended proposed order when we realized that we had inadvertently used such terminology in our initial proposed order.<sup>16</sup>

All of these acts are legal and have a sound basis in the statutes and in the case law. None of them can be said to be in "bad faith."

B. Respondents' Action in District Court Is Not Prohibited by This Court's Orders

Movants fail to identify the provision in this Court's gatekeeper orders that they claim Respondents have violated. Instead, they summarily declare the orders "definite and specific," and assert that Respondents violated them "by filing the Seery Motion."<sup>17</sup> Of course, the "Seery Motion" is merely Respondents' Motion for Leave. So Respondents are left to decipher precisely how Movants think that asking for permission to sue Seery constitutes a violation of any provision of the gatekeeper orders, which provide, in relevant part,

No entity may commence or pursue a claim or cause of action of any kind against Mr. Seery relating in any way to his role as the chief executive officer and chief restructuring officer of the Debtor without the Bankruptcy Court (i) first determining after notice that such claim or cause of action represents a colorable claim of willful misconduct or gross negligence against Mr. Seery, and (ii) specifically authorizing such entity to bring such claim. The Bankruptcy Court shall have sole jurisdiction to adjudicate any such claim for which approval of the Court to commence or pursue has been granted.<sup>18</sup>

First, Respondents submit that asking for permission to do a thing does not equate to doing a thing. School children asking for permission to go to the restroom are not, obviously, going to the restroom by the mere act of asking. In the same way, our motion for leave to commence an action against Seery cannot, as a matter of law, constitute commencing an action. An alternative interpretation would render the order void for vagueness.

Second, Respondents submit that pursuing a claim or cause of action can only follow—not precede—commencing such action. That commencement must happen first is inherent in the term “commence.” Therefore, as a matter of law, our motion for leave cannot amount to pursuing an action.

Third, Respondents submit that the terms of the order saying that “this Court shall have sole jurisdiction” necessarily means the Northern District of Texas, to which this Court is an adjunct. Because that is so, filing the motion for leave in the Northern District of Texas cannot violate the order because it necessarily complies with it. The alternative interpretation requires this

<sup>18</sup> Cite July order. This Court’s January Order includes similar language except that it applies only to matters related to Seery’s conduct as a director of Strand. Respondents do not believe their cause of action is related to Seery’s director role, but that point seems immaterial here because the two orders are so similarly worded.

Court to have meant to strip the district courts of the Northern District of Texas of original jurisdiction. And Respondents do not believe this Court intended to do any such thing.

The reasoning behind this conclusion is not complex. This Court well knows the jurisdictional framework in which it operates, resulting from the Supreme Court's opinion in N. Pipeline Constr. Co. v. Marathon Pipe Line Co. opinion.<sup>19</sup> That framework is established by 28 U.S.C. § 151: "In each judicial district, the bankruptcy judges in regular active service shall constitute a unit of the district court to be known as the bankruptcy court for that district."<sup>20</sup>

The Second Circuit, in United States v. Guariglia, made precisely this point, holding that an order of the bankruptcy court constitutes an order of the district court it is a unit of:

In each judicial district, the bankruptcy judges in regular active service shall constitute a unit of the district court to be known as the bankruptcy court for that district. Under this provision, much of the autonomy has been stripped from the bankruptcy courts, now labeled 'units' of the district courts. By definition, under the statutory scheme, the bankruptcy court Order restraining Guariglia from gambling was issued by a 'unit' of the district court. As an Order originating from a unit of the district court, it necessarily follows that the Order constitutes an Order of both the bankruptcy court and the district court for the district encompassing the bankruptcy court from which the Order emanated.<sup>21</sup>

Tex. 2006) ("When Congress reconstructed the jurisdiction of the bankruptcy courts with the 1984 Act, it made those courts 'a unit of the district courts' and classified bankruptcy judges as 'judicial officers of the district court.' Both of these statutes reinforce the current placement of the bankruptcy courts in the federal judicial scheme as a subset of federal district courts that derive their jurisdiction from the primary branch of the district court. . . . [T]he bankruptcy court as such no longer exists as a distinct jurisdictional entity, but is subsumed within the district court apparatus. Hence, removing a case to a bankruptcy court is the functional equivalent of removing it to the federal district court."); Thomas v. U.S. Bank, 2010 Bankr. LEXIS 986 at *8-9 (Bankr. D. Or. 2010) ("[B]ecause this court is part of the District Court, both tribunals should be considered the same court and debtors should have asked the District Court to decide the contempt issue at the same time as their other claims."). In sum, "the Bankruptcy Court is the District Court." In re North Am. Funding Corp., 64 B.R. 795, 796 (Bankr. S.D. Tex. 1986) (emphasis added); accord

Respondents filed a Motion for Relief from this Court's gatekeeper orders contemporaneously with Movant's show-cause motion. There, we briefed the proper scope of this Court's jurisdiction with regard to the gatekeeper orders and Movants' position that those orders have stripped the district court of jurisdiction. Respondents incorporate that briefing here by reference. But the gist of the argument bears repeating.

Onewoo Corp. v. Hampshire Brands Inc., 566 B.R. 136, 144-45 (Bankr. S.D.N.Y. 2017) (holding that party may not remove case from district court to its bankruptcy court because “[a] court cannot remove a case to itself . . . the bankruptcy court is the district court”); In re Mitchell, 206 B.R. 204, 211 (Bankr. C.D. Cal. 1997) (labeling argument that a case can be removed from the district court to its bankruptcy court as “logically idiotic” since it would be a removal “from the district court where it is already pending to that very same court”).

in light of the separation of powers doctrine and the Supreme Court’s recent decision in Stern v. Marshall.<sup>23</sup>

The only conceivable ground for contending, as Movants do, that this Court’s jurisdiction could be somehow “exclusive”—a term of art not used in the gatekeeper orders—is the Barton doctrine. Respondents respectfully submit that applying the Barton doctrine to Seery here—after this Court granted Movants’ motion asking the Court to defer to their business judgment in approving Seery’s appointment<sup>24</sup>—would be both unprecedented and nonsensical.

Moreover, Respondents’ action in the district court—whether or not Seery is ultimately joined by amendment—is beyond the reach of bankruptcy-court jurisdiction.

To begin with, 28 U.S.C. § 157(b) states that “district courts shall have original but not exclusive jurisdiction of all civil proceedings arising under title 11, or arising in or related to cases under title 11.”<sup>25</sup> This principle is stated even more directly in 28 U.S.C. § 1409(a), which provides that an action that is “related to a case under title 11 may be commenced in the district court.” Plainly Respondents’ action in the district court is related to Debtor’s bankruptcy case here. That action therefore “may be commenced in the district court” under § 1409(a).

Bankruptcy courts are not Article III courts. They are created under Congress’s Article I authority, and they do not have original jurisdiction over non-bankruptcy matters.<sup>26</sup> The only reason bankruptcy courts can ever hear such matters is because of the ability of the district courts to refer them under 28 U.S.C. § 157(a). Because of this framework, it necessarily follows that the district court here never gave up jurisdiction over cases related to the Debtor’s bankruptcy case.

Respondents’ action in the district court is such a case. But more to the point, that action falls outside of the reach of this Court’s jurisdiction because, in 28 U.S.C. § 157(d), Congress requires district courts to withdraw the reference to bankruptcy courts in a particular proceeding “if the court determines that resolution of the proceeding requires consideration of both title 11 and other laws of the United States regulating organizations or activities affecting interstate commerce.” Plainly Respondents’ district court action involves such considerations, since the Advisers Act was passed under Congress’ power to regulate interstate commerce and regulates the investment markets of the United States. Withdrawal of the reference is mandatory in such circumstances.<sup>27</sup>

As a result, this Court lacks jurisdiction to preside over Respondents’ district court action and the district court is the appropriate place to bring it. And Movants’ attempt to describe this Court’s jurisdiction as “exclusive” is both misguided and unsupportable.

D. The Punitive Relief Requested by Movants Exceeds This Court’s Powers

Movants also overreach with the relief they request. There is no statutory basis for that relief. And although their motion states that they are seeking civil sanctions, that is pretext. The relief they seek would be highly punitive in effect, and thus it is in excess of this Court’s subject matter jurisdiction.

<sup>27</sup> In re Am. Freight Sys., Inc., 150 B.R. 790, 793 (D. Kan. 1993) (“Withdrawal is required if the bankruptcy court would be called upon to make a significant interpretation of a non-Code federal statute.”).

Bankruptcy court jurisdiction is expressly limited to “civil proceedings” by 28 U.S.C. § 1334(b). The Fifth Circuit, in fact, expressly held in In re Hipp, Inc. “that bankruptcy courts do not have inherent criminal contempt powers, at least with respect to the criminal contempt not committed in (or near) their presence.”<sup>28</sup> Even as to civil sanctions, the standard for imposing them is a high one.<sup>29</sup> The Fifth Circuit holds that a court’s inherent power to sanction “must be exercised with restraint and discretion,”<sup>30</sup> must be accompanied by “a specific finding that the [sanctioned party] acted in ‘bad faith,’”<sup>31</sup> id. at 236, and “must comply with the mandates of due process, both in determining that the requisite bad faith exists and in assessing fees.”<sup>32</sup>

Here, this Court’s order requiring Respondents to show cause already names them “violators,” suggesting that they have been prejudged before they even had a chance to be heard. Notice from opposing counsel accurately informed Respondents that this Court had deemed them “violators” and ordered them to appear in person and show cause three days before the order actually issued, suggesting that ex parte communications may have taken place in violation of Rule 9003(a). These circumstances raise serious due process concerns.

ORIGINAL COMPLAINT

I.

INTRODUCTION

Additionally, Defendants are liable for a pattern of conduct that gives rise to liability for their conduct of the enterprise consisting of HCM in relation to HCFA and HCLOF, through a pattern of concealment, misrepresentation, and violations of the securities rules. In the alternative, HCFA and HCM, are guilty of self-dealing, violations of the Advisers Act, and tortious interference by (a) not disclosing that Harbourvest had agreed to sell at a price well below the current NAV, and (b) diverting the Harbourvest opportunity to themselves.

JURISDICTION AND VENUE

8. Personal jurisdiction is proper over the Defendants because they reside and/or have continual contacts with the state of Texas, having regularly submitted to jurisdiction here. Jurisdiction is also proper under 18 U.S.C. § 1965(d).

9. Venue is proper in this Court under 28 U.S.C. § 1391(b) and (c) because one or more Defendants reside in this district and/or a substantial part of the events or omissions giving rise to the claim occurred or a substantial part of property that is the subject of the action is situated in this district. ## RELEVANT BACKGROUND

HClO<sub>2</sub> IS FORMED

10. Plaintiff DAF is a charitable fund that helps several causes throughout the country, including providing funding for humanitarian issues (such as veteran’s welfare associations and women’s shelters), public works (such as museums, parks and zoos), and education (such as specialty schools in underserved communities). Its mission is critical.

11. Since 2012, DAF was advised by its registered investment adviser, Highland Capital Management, L.P., and its various subsidiaries, about where to invest. This relationship was governed by an Investment advisory Agreement.

17. The debtor, HCM, made an omnibus response to the proofs of claims, stating they were duplicative of each other, overstated, late, and otherwise meritless.

18. Harbourvest responded to the omnibus objections on September 11, 2020. See Cause No. 19-bk-34054, Doc. 1057.

19. Harbourvest represented that it had invested in HCLOF, purchasing 49.98% of HCLOF's outstanding shares.

20. Plaintiff CLO Holdco was and is also a 49.02% holder of HCLOF's member interests.

21. In its Omnibus Response, Harbourvest explained that its claims included unliquidated legal claims for fraud, fraud in the inducement, RICO violations under 18 U.S.C. 1964, among others (the "Harbourvest Claims"). See Cause No. 19-bk-34054, Doc. 1057.

22. The Harbourvest Claims centered on allegations that when Harbourvest was intending to invest in a pool of Collateralized Loan Obligations, or CLOs, that were then-managed by Acis Capital Management ("Acis"), a subsidiary of HCM, HCM failed to disclose key facts about ongoing litigation with a former employee, Josh Terry.

23. Harbourvest contended that HCM never sufficiently disclosed the underlying facts about the litigation with Terry, and HCM's then-intended strategy to fight Terry caused HCLOF to incur around $15 million in legal fees and costs. It contended that had it known the nature of the lawsuit and how it would eventually turn out, Harbourvest never would have invested in HCLOF. See Cause No. 19-bk-34054, Doc. 1057.

24. HCLOF's portfolio manager is HCFA. HCM is the parent of HCFA and is managed by its General Partner, Strand Management, who employs Seery and acts on behalf of HCM.

34. HCM and Seery rationalized the settlement value by allocating $22.5 million of the net value of the $45 million in unsecured claims as consideration to purchase Harbourvest’s interests in HCLOF, meaning, if 70% of the unsecured claims—i.e., $31.5 million—was realized, because $22.5 million of that would be allocated to the purchase price of the Harbourvest interests in HCLOF, the true “settlement” for Harbourvest’s legal claims was closer to $9 million.

36. At the core of this lawsuit is the fact that HCM purchased the Harbourvest interests in HCLOF for $22.5 million knowing that they were worth far more than that.

38. On November 30, 2020, which was less than a month prior to the filing of the Motion to Approve the Settlement, the net asset value of those interests was over $34.5 million. Plaintiffs were never made aware of that.

those procedures were scrapped in recent months, it can only assume that they were either overridden improperly or circumvented wholesale.

47. Upon finalizing the Harbourvest Settlement Agreement and making representations to the Bankruptcy Court to the Plaintiffs about the value of the Harbourvest Interests, Seery and HCM had a duty to use current values and not rely on old valuations of the assets or the HCLOF interests.

48. Given Defendants' actual or constructive knowledge that they were purchasing Harbourvest's Interests in HCLOF for a less than 50% of what those interests were worth—Defendants owed Plaintiff a fiduciary duty not to purchase them for themselves.

49. Defendants should have either had HCLOF repurchase the interests with cash, or offer those interests to Plaintiff and the other members pro rata, before HCM agreed to purchase them all lock, stock and barrel, for no up-front cash.

50. Indeed, had Plaintiff been offered those interests, it would have happily purchased them and therefore would have infused over $20 million in cash into the estate for the purpose of executing the Harbourvest Settlement.

51. That Defendants (and to perhaps a lesser extent, the Unsecured Creditors Committee (the "UCC")) agreed to pay $22.5 million for the HCLOF assets, where they had previously not consented to any such expenditure by the estate on behalf of HCLOF, strongly indicates their awareness that they were purchasing assets for far below market value.

52. The above is the most reasonable and plausible explanation for why Defendants and the UCC forwent raising as much as $22.5 million in cash now in favor of hanging on to the HCLOF assets.

53. Indeed, in January 2021 Seery threatened Ethen Powell that “[Judge Jernigan] is laughing at you” and “we are coming after you” in response to the latter’s attempt to exercise his right as beneficial holder of the CLO, and pointing out a conflict of interest in Seery’s plan to liquidate the funds.

54. HCM’s threat, made by Seery, is tantamount to not only a declaration that he intends to liquidate the funds regardless of whether the investors want to do so, and whether it is in their best interests, but also that HCM intends to leverage what it views as the Bankruptcy Court’s sympathy to evade accountability.

CAUSES OF ACTION

FIRST CAUSE OF ACTION Breaches of Fiduciary Duty

55. Plaintiffs respectfully incorporate the foregoing factual averments as if fully set forth herein and further alleges the following:

56. HCM is a registered investment advisor and acts on behalf of HCFA. Both are fiduciaries to Plaintiffs.

57. The Advisers Act establishes an unwaivable federal fiduciary duty for investment advisers.<sup>5</sup>

<sup>5</sup> See e.g., SEC v. Capital Gains Research Bureau, Inc., 375 U.S. 180, 194 (1963); Transamerica Mortg. Advisors (tama) v. Lewis, 444 U.S. 11, 17 (1979) (“§ 206 establishes ‘federal fiduciary standards’ to govern the conduct of investment advisers.”); Santa Fe Indus. v. Green, 430 U.S. 462, 471, n.11 (1977) (in discussing SEC v. Capital Gains, stating that the Supreme Court’s reference to fraud in the “equitable” sense of the term was “premised on its recognition that Congress intended the Investment Advisers Act to establish federal fiduciary standards for investment advisers”). See also Investment Advisers Act Release No. 3060 (July 28, 2010) (“Under the Advisers Act, an adviser is a fiduciary whose duty is to serve the best interests of its clients, which includes an obligation not to subrogate clients’ interests to its own”) (citing Proxy Voting by Investment Advisers, Investment Advisers Act Release No. 2106 (Jan. 31, 2003)).

58. HCM and the DAF entered into an Amended and Restated Investment Advisory Agreement, executed between them on July 1, 2014 (the “RIA Agreement”). It renews annually and continued until the end of January 2021.

59. In addition to being the RIA to the DAF, HCM was appointed the DAF’s attorney-in-fact for certain actions, such as “to purchase or otherwise trade in Financial Instruments that have been approved by the General Partner.” RIA Agreement ¶ 4.

60. The RIA Agreement further commits HCM to value financial assets “in accordance with the then current valuation policy of the Investment Advisor [HCM], a copy of which will provided to the General Partner upon request.” RIA Agreement ¶ 5.

61. While HCM contracted for the recognition that it would be acting on behalf of others and could be in conflict with advice given the DAF, (RIA Agreement ¶ 12), nowhere did it purport to waive the fiduciary duties owed to the DAF not to trade as a principal in a manner that harmed the DAF.

62. HCFA owed a fiduciary duty to Holdco as an investor in HCLOF and to which HCFA was the portfolio manager. HCM owed a fiduciary duty to the DAF (and to Holdco as its subsidiary) pursuant to a written Advisory Agreement HCM and the DAF had where HCM agreed to provide sound investment advice and management functions.

63. As a registered investment adviser, HCM’s fiduciary duty is broad and applies to the entire advisor-client relationship.

64. The core of the fiduciary duty is to act in the best interest of their investors—the advisor must put the ends of the client before its own ends or the ends of a third party.

65. This is manifested in a duty of loyalty and a duty of utmost care. It also means that the RIA has to follow the terms of the company agreements and the regulations that apply to the investment vehicle.

66. The fiduciary duty that HCM and Seery owed to Plaintiff is predicated on trust and confidence. Section 204A of the Advisers Act requires investment advisors (whether SEC-registered or not) to establish, maintain, and enforce written policies and procedures reasonably designed to prevent the RIA from trading on material, non-public information. See 17 C.F.R. § 275.206(4)-7. That means that Plaintiff should be able to take Defendants at their word and not have to second guess or dig behind representations made by them.

67. The simple thesis of this claim is that Defendants HCFA and HCM breached their fiduciary duties by (i) insider trading with Harbourvest and concealing the rising NAV of the underlying assets—i.e., trading with Harbourvest on superior, non-public information that was neither revealed to Harbourvest nor to Plaintiff; (ii) concealing the value of the Harbourvest Interests; and (iii) diverting the investment opportunity in the Harbourvest entities to HCM (or its designee) without offering it to or making it available to Plaintiff or the DAF.

68. HCM, as part of its contractual advisory function with Plaintiffs, had expressly recommended the HCLOF investment to the DAF. Thus, diverting the opportunity for returns on its investment was an additional breach of fiduciary duty.

69. This violated a multitude of regulations under 27 C.F.R. part 275, in addition to Rules 10b-5 and 10b5-1. 17 CFR 240.10b5-1 (“Rule 10b5-1”) explains that one who trades while possessing non-public information is liable for insider trading, and they do not necessarily have to have used the specific inside information.

70. It also violated HCM’s own internal policies and procedures.

71. Also, the regulations impose obligations on Defendants to calculate a current valuation when communicating with an investor, such as what may or may not be taken into account, and what cannot pass muster as a current valuation. Upon information and belief, these regulations were not followed by the Defendants.

72. HCM's internal policies and procedures, which it promised to abide by both in the RIA Agreement and in its Form ADV SEC filing, provided for the means of properly calculating the value of the assets.

73. HCM either did not follow these policies, changed them to be out of compliance both with the Adviser Act regulations and its Form ADV representations, and/or simply misrepresented or concealed their results.

74. In so doing, because the fiduciary duty owed to Plaintiff is a broad one, and because Defendants' malfeasance directly implicates its relationship with Plaintiff, Defendants have breached the Advisers Act's fiduciary duties owed to Plaintiff as part of their fiduciary relationship.<sup>6</sup>

75. At no time between agreeing with Harbourvest to the purchase of its interests and the court approval did Defendants disclose to either Harbourvest or to Plaintiff (and the Bankruptcy Court for that matter) that the purchase was at below 50% the current net asset value as well, and when they failed to offer Plaintiff (and the other members of HCLOF) their right to purchase the interests pro rata at such advantageous valuations. Plaintiff's lost opportunity to purchase has harmed Plaintiff. Plaintiff had been led to believe by the Defendants that the value of what was being purchased in the Harbourvest settlement by HCM (or its designee) was at fair market value. This representation, repeated again in the Bankruptcy Court during the Harbourvest confirmation, implicitly suggested that a proper current valuation had been performed.

76. Defendant's principal, Seery, testified in January 2021 that the then-current fair market value of Habourvests's 49.98% interest in HCLOF was worth around $22.5 million. But by then, it was worth almost double that amount and has continued to appreciate. Seery knew or should have known that fact because the value of some of the HCLOF assets had increased, and he had a duty to know the current value. His lack of actual knowledge, while potentially not overtly fraudulent, would nonetheless amount to a breach of fiduciary duty for acting without proper diligence and information that was plainly available.

77. Furthermore, HCLOF holds equity in MGM Studios and debt in CCS Medical via various CLO positions. But Seery, in his role as CEO of HCM, was made aware during an advisors meeting in December 2020 that Highland would have to restrict its trading in MGM because of its insider status due to activities that were likely to apply upward pressure on MGM's share price.

78. Furthermore, Seery controlled the Board of CCS Medical. And in or around October 2020, Seery was advocating an equatization that would have increased the value of the CCS securities by 25%, which was not reflected in the HCM report of the NAV of HCLOF's holdings.

79. Seery's knowledge is imputed to HCM.

80. Moreover, it is a breach of fiduciary duty to commit corporate waste, which is effectively what disposing of the HCLOF assets would constitute in a rising market, where there is no demand for disposition by the investors (save for HCM, whose proper 0.6% interest could easily be sold to the DAF at fair value).

81. As holder of 0.6% of the HCLOF interests, and now assignee of the 49.98% Harbourvest Interests), HCM has essentially committed self-dealing by threatening to liquidate HCLOF now that it may be compelled to do so under its proposed liquidation plan, which perhaps inures to the short term goals of HCM but to the pecuniary detriment of the other holders of HCLOF whose upside will be prematurely truncated.

82. Seery and HCM should not be allowed to benefit from the breach of their fiduciary duties because doing so would also cause Plaintiffs irreparable harm. The means and methods of disposal would likely render the full scope of damages to the DAF not susceptible to specific calculation—particularly as they would relate to calculating the lost opportunity cost. Seery and HCM likely do not have the assets to pay a judgment to Plaintiffs that would be rendered, simply taking the lost appreciation of the HCLOF assets.

83. Defendants are thus liable for diverting a corporate opportunity or asset that would or should have been offered to Plaintiff and the other investors. Because federal law makes the duties invoked herein unwaivable, it is preposterous that HCM, as a 0.6% holder of HCLOF, deemed itself entitled to the all of the value and optionality of the below-market Harbourvest purchase.

84. Defendants cannot rely on any contractual provision that purports to waive this violation. Nothing in any agreement purports to permit, authorize or otherwise sanitize Defendants' self-dealing. All such provisions are void.

85. In the fourth quarter of 2020, Seery and HCM notified staff that they would be terminated on December 31, 2020. That termination was postponed to February 28, 2021.

Purchasing the Harbourvest assets without staffing necessary to be a functioning Registered Investment Advisor was a strategic reversal from prior filings that outlined canceling the CLO management contracts and allowing investors to replace Highland as manager.

86. Seery's compensation agreement with the UCC incentivizes him to expedite recoveries and to prevent transparency regarding the Harbourvest settlement.

87. What is more, Seery had previously testified that the management contracts for the funds—HCLOF included—were unprofitable, and that he intended to transfer them. But he later rejected offers to purchase those management contracts for fair value and instead decided to continue to manage the funds—which is what apparently gave rise to the Harbourvest Settlement, among others. He simultaneously rejected an offer for the Harbourvest assets of $24 million, stating that they were worth much more than that.

88. Because of Defendants' malfeasance, Plaintiffs have lost over $25 million in damages—a number that continues to rise—and the Defendants should not be able to obtain a windfall.

89. For the same reason, Defendants' malfeasance has also exposed HCLOF to a massive liability from Harbourvest since the assignment of those interests is now one that is likely unenforceable under the Advisers Act, Section 47(b), if there was unequal information.

90. HCM and HCFA are liable as principals for breach of fiduciary duty, as are the principals and compliance staff of each entity.

91. Plaintiffs seek disgorgement, damages, exemplary damages, attorneys' fees and costs. To the extent the Court determines that this claim had to have been brought derivatively on behalf of HCLOF, then Plaintiffs represent that any pre-suit demand would have been futile since asking HCM to bring suit against its principal, Seery, would have been futile.

SECOND CAUSE OF ACTION
Breach of HCLOF Company Agreement
(By Holdco against HCLOF, HCM and HCFA)

92. Plaintiffs respectfully incorporate the foregoing factual averments as if fully set forth herein and further alleges the following:

93. On November 15, 2017, the members of HCLOF, along with HCLOF and HCFA, executed the Members Agreement Relating to the Company (the “Company Agreement”).

94. The Company Agreement governs the rights and duties of the members of HCLOF.

95. Section 6.2 of HCLOF Company Agreement provides that when a member “other than ... CLO Holdco [Plaintiff] or a Highland Affiliate,” intends to sell its interest in HCLOF to a third party (i.e., not to an affiliate of the selling member), then the other members have the first right of refusal to purchase those interests pro rata for the same price that the member has agreed to sell.

96. Here, despite the fact that Harbourvest agreed to sell its interests in HCLOF for $22.5 million when they were worth more than double that, Defendants did not offer Plaintiff the chance to buy its pro rata share of those interests at the same agreed price of $22.5 million (adjusted pro rata).

97. The transfer and sale of the interests to HCM were accomplished as part of the Harbourvest Settlement which was approved by the Bankruptcy Court.

98. Plaintiff was not informed of the fact that Harbourvest had offered its shares to Defendant HCM for $22.5 million—which was under 50% of their true value.

99. Plaintiff was not offered the right to purchase its pro rata share of the Harbourvest interests prior to the agreement being struck or prior to court approval being sought.

100. Had Plaintiff been allowed to do so, it would have obtained the interests with a net equity value over their purchase price worth in excess of $20 million.

101. No discovery or opportunity to investigate was afforded Plaintiff prior to lodging an objection in the Bankruptcy Court.

102. Plaintiff is entitled to specific performance or, alternatively, disgorgement, constructive trust, damages, attorneys' fees and costs.

THIRD CAUSE OF ACTION
Negligence
(By the DAF and CLO Holdco against HCM and HCFA)

103. Plaintiffs respectfully incorporate the foregoing factual averments as if fully set forth herein, and further alleges the following:

104. Plaintiffs incorporate the foregoing causes of action and note that all the foregoing violations were breaches of the common law duty of care imposed by law on each of Seery, HCFA and HCM.

105. Each of these Defendants should have known that their actions were violations of the Advisers Act, HCM's internal policies and procedures, the Company Agreement, or all three.

106. Seery and HCM owed duties of care to Plaintiffs to follow HCM's internal policies and procedures regarding both the propriety and means of trading with a customer [Harbourvest], the propriety and means of trading as a principal in an account but in a manner adverse to another customer [the DAF and Holdco], and the proper means of valuing the CLOs and other assets held by HCLOF.

107. It would be foreseeable that failing to disclose the current value of the assets in the HCLOF would impact Plaintiffs negatively in a variety of ways.

108. It would be reasonably foreseeable that failing to correctly and accurately calculate the current net asset value of the market value of the interests would cause Plaintiffs to value the Harbourvest Interests differently.

109. It would be reasonably foreseeable that referring to old and antiquated market quotations and/or valuations of the HCLOF assets or interests would result in a mis-valuation of HCLOF and, therefore, a mis-valuation of the Harbourvest Interests.

110. Likewise, it would have been foreseeable that Plaintiff's failure to give Plaintiff the opportunity to purchase the Harbourvest shares at a $22.5 million valuation would cause Plaintiff damages. Defendants knew that the value of those assets was rising. They further knew or should have known that whereas those assets were sold to HCM for an allowance of claims to be funded in the future, selling them to Plaintiff would have provided the estate with cash funds.

111. Defendants' negligence foreseeably and directly caused Plaintiff harm.

112. Plaintiff is thus entitled to damages.

FOURTH CAUSE OF ACTION
Racketeering Influenced Corrupt Organizations Act
(CLO Holdco and DAF against HCM)

113. Plaintiffs respectfully incorporate the foregoing factual averments as if fully set forth herein, and further alleges the following:

114. Defendants are liable for violations of the Racketeer Influenced and Corrupt Organizations ("RICO") Act, 18 U.S.C. § 1961 et seq., for the conduct of an enterprise through a pattern of racketeering activity.

115. HCLOF constitutes an enterprise under the RICO Act. Additionally, or in the alternative, HCM, HCLA, and HCLOF constituted an association-in-fact enterprise. The purpose of the association-in-fact was the perpetuation of Seery's position at HCM and using the

Harbourvest settlement as a vehicle to enrich persons other than the HCLOF investors, including Holdco and the DAF, and the perpetuation of HCM's holdings in collateralized loan obligations owned by HCLOF, while attempting to deny Plaintiffs the benefit of its rights of ownership.

116. The association-in-fact was bound by informal and formal connections for years prior to the elicited purpose, and then changed when HCM joined it in order to achieve the association's illicit purpose. For example, HCM is the parent and control person over HCFA, which is the portfolio manager of HCLOF pursuant to a contractual agreement—both are registered investment advisors and provide advisory and management services to HCLOF.

117. Defendants injured Plaintiffs through their continuous course of conduct of the HCM-HCLA-HCLOF association-in-fact enterprise. HCM's actions (performed through Seery and others) constitute violations of the federal wire fraud, mail fraud, fraud in connection with a case under Title 11, and/or securities fraud laws, pursuant to 18 U.S.C. § 1961(1)(B) and (D).

118. HCM operated in such a way as to violate insider trading rules and regulations when it traded with Harbourvest while it had material, non-public information that it had not supplied to Harbourvest or to Plaintiffs.

119. In or about November 2020, HCM and Harbourvest entered into discussions about settling the Harbourvest Claims. Seery's conduct of HCLOF and HCLA on behalf of HCM through the interstate mails and/or wires caused HCM to agree to the purchase of Harbourvest's interests in HCLOF.

120. On or about each of September 30, 2020, through December 31, 2020, Seery, through his conduct of the enterprise, utilized the interstate wires and/or mails to obtain or arrive at valuations of the HCLOF interests. Seery's conduct of the enterprise caused them to cease sending the valuation reports to Plaintiffs, which eventually allowed Plaintiffs to be misled into believing that Seery had properly valued the interests.

121. On or about September 30, 2020, Seery transmitted or caused to be transmitted though the interstate wires information to HCLOF investors from HCM (via HCFA), including Harbourvest, regarding the value of HCLOF interests and underlying assets.

122. Additionally, Seery operated HCM in such a way that he concealed the true value of the HCLOF interests by utilizing the interstate wires and mails to transmit communications to the court in the form of written representations on or about December 23, 2020, and then further transmitted verbal representations of the current market value (the vastly understated one) on January 14, 2021, during live testimony.

123. However, Harbourvest was denied the full picture and the true value of the underlying portfolio. At the end of October and November of 2020, HCM had updated the net asset values of the HCLOF portfolio. According to sources at HCM at the time, the HCLOF assets were worth north of $72,969,492 as of November 30, 2020. Harbourvest's share of that would have been $36,484,746.

124. The HCLOF net asset value had reached $86,440,024 as of December 31, 2021, which means that by the time Seery was testifying in the Bankruptcy Court on January 14, 2021, the fair market value of the Harbourvest Assets was $22.5 million, when it was actually closer to $43,202,724. Seery, speaking on behalf of HCM, knew of the distinction in value.

125. On January 14, 2021, Seery also testified that he (implying HCM, HCLA and HCLOF) had valued the Harbourvest Assets at their current valuation and at fair market value. This was not true because the valuation that was used and testified to was ancient. The ostensible purpose of this concealment was to induce Plaintiff and other interest holdings to take no action.

126. In supporting HCM’s motion to the Bankruptcy Court to approve the Harbourvest Settlement, Seery omitted the fact that HCM was purchasing the interests at a massive discount, which would violate the letter and spirit of the Adviser’s Act.

127. Seery was informed in late December 2020 at an in-person meeting in Dallas to which Seery had to fly that HCLOF and HCM had to suspend trading in MGM Studios’ securities because Seery had learned from James Dondero, who was on the Board of MGM, of a potential purchase of the company. The news of the MGM purchase should have caused Seery to revalue the HCLOF investment in MGM.

128. In or around October 2020, Seery (who controls the Board of CSS Medical) was pursuing “equitization” of CSS Medical’s debt, which would have increased the value of certain securities by 25%. In several communications through the U.S. interstate wires and/or mails, and with Plaintiffs, and the several communications with Harbourvest during the negotiations of the settlement, Seery failed to disclose these changes which were responsible in part for the ever-growing value of the HCLOF CLO portfolio.

130. This series of related violations of the wire fraud, mail fraud, and securities fraud laws, in connection with the HCM bankruptcy, constitute a continuing pattern and practice of racketeering for the purpose of winning a windfall for HCM and himself--a nearly $30,000,000 payday under the confirmation agreement.

131. The federal RICO statute makes it actionable for one’s conduct of an enterprise to include “fraud in connection with a [bankruptcy case]”. The Advisers’ Act antifraud provisions require full transparency and accountability to an advisers’ investors and clients and does not require a showing of reliance or materiality. The wire fraud provision likewise is violated when,

as here, the interstate wires are used as part of a “scheme or artifice ... for obtaining money or property by means of false ... pretenses, [or] representations[.]”

132. Accordingly, because Defendants’ conduct violated the wire fraud and mail fraud laws, and the Advisers’ Act antifraud provisions, and their acts and omissions were in connection with the HCM Bankruptcy proceedings under Title 11, they are sufficient to bring such conduct within the purview of the RICO civil action provisions, 18 U.S.C. § 1964.

133. Plaintiffs are thus entitled to damages, treble damages, attorneys’ fees and costs of suit, in addition to all other injunctive or equitable relief to which they are justly entitled.

FIFTH CAUSE OF ACTION
Tortious Interference
(CLO Holdco against HCM)

134. Plaintiff respectfully incorporates the foregoing factual averments as if fully set forth herein and further alleges the following:

135. At all relevant times, HCM owned a 0.6% interest in HCLOF.

136. At all relevant times, Seery and HCM knew that Plaintiff had specific rights in HCLOF under the Company Agreement, § 6.2.

137. Section 6.2 of HCLOF Company agreement provides that when a member “other than ... CLO Holdco [Plaintiff] or a Highland Affiliate,” intends to sell its interest in HCLOF to a third party (i.e., not an affiliate of the member), then the other members have the first right of refusal to purchase those interests pro rata for the same price that the member has agreed to sell.

138. HCM, through Seery, tortiously interfered with Plaintiff’s contractual rights with HCLOF by, among other things, diverting the Harbourvest Interests in HCLOF to HCM without giving HCLOF or Plaintiff the option to purchase those assets at the same favorable price that HCM obtained them.

139. HCM and Seery tortiously interfered with Plaintiff's contractual rights with HCLOF by, among other things, misrepresenting the fair market value as $22.5 million and concealing the current value of those interests.

140. But for HCM and Seery's tortious interference, Plaintiff would have been able to acquire the Harbourvest Interests at a highly favorable price. HCM and Seery's knowledge of the rights and intentional interference with these rights has caused damage to Plaintiff CLO Holdco.

141. Plaintiff is therefore entitled to damages from HCM and Seery, as well as exemplary damages.

VI.

JURY DEMAND

142. Plaintiff demands trial by jury on all claims so triable.

VII.

PRAYER FOR RELIEF

143. Wherefore, for the foregoing reasons, Plaintiffs respectfully pray that the Court enter judgment in its favor and against Defendants, jointly and severally, for:

- a. Actual damages;
- b. Disgorgement;
- c. Treble damages;
- d. Exemplary and punitive damages;
- e. Attorneys' fees and costs as allowed by common law, statute or contract;
- f. A constructive trust to avoid dissipation of assets;
- g. All such other relief to which Plaintiff is justly entitled.

PLAINTIFFS' MOTION FOR LEAVE TO FILE FIRST AMENDED COMPLAINT

I.

NECESSITY OF MOTION

Plaintiffs submit this Motion under Rule 15 of the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure for one purpose: to name as defendant one James P. Seery, Jr., the CEO of Defendant Highland Capital Management, L.P. (“HCM”), and the chief perpetrator of the wrongdoing that forms the basis of Plaintiffs’ causes of action.

Seery is not named in the Original Complaint. But this is only out of an abundance of caution due to the bankruptcy court, in HCM's pending Chapter 11 proceeding, having issued an order prohibiting the filing of any causes of action against Seery in any way related to his role at HCM, subject to certain prerequisites. In that order, the bankruptcy court also asserts "sole jurisdiction" over all such causes of action.

Plaintiffs respectfully submit that, to the extent the bankruptcy court order prohibits the filing of an action in this Court, whose jurisdiction the bankruptcy court's jurisdiction is wholly derivative of, that order exceeds the bankruptcy court's powers and is unenforceable. Alternatively, Plaintiffs submit that filing this Motion satisfies the prerequisites provided in the bankruptcy court's order. Either of these reasons provides sufficient grounds to grant this Motion.

The proposed First Amended Complaint is attached as Exhibit 1.

II.

BACKGROUND

On June 23, 2020, counsel for HCM filed a motion in HC's bankruptcy proceedings asking the bankruptcy court to defer to the "business judgment" of the board's compensation committee and approve the terms of its appointment of Seery as chief executive officer and chief restructuring officer at HCM, retroactive to March.<sup>1</sup> Counsel also asked the bankruptcy court to declare that it had exclusive jurisdiction over any claims asserted against Seery in this role.

On July 16, 2020, the bankruptcy court granted that motion and stated as follows:

No entity may commence or pursue a claim or cause of action of any kind against Mr. Seery relating in any way to his role as the chief executive officer and chief restructuring officer of the Debtor without the Bankruptcy Court (i) first determining after notice that such claim or cause of action represents a colorable claim of willful misconduct or gross negligence against Mr. Seery, and (ii) specifically authorizing such entity to bring such claim. The Bankruptcy Court shall have sole jurisdiction to adjudicate any such claim for which approval of the Court to commence or pursue has been granted.<sup>2</sup>

<sup>2</sup> Order Approving Debtor's Motion Under Bankruptcy Code Sections 105(a) and 363(b) Authorizing Retention of James P. Seery, Jr., as Chief Executive Officer, Chief Restructuring Officer, and Foreign Representative Nunc Pro Tunc to March 15, 2020 [Doc 854]. A related order dated January 9, 2020, contains a similar provision with regard to Seery's role as an "Independent Director." Order Approving Settlement with Official Committee of Unsecured Creditors Regarding Governance of the Debtor and Procedures for Operations in the Ordinary Course [Doc 339]. These orders are attached, respectively, as Exhibits 3 and 4.

On March 22, 2021, the bankruptcy court entered an order confirming HCM's reorganization plan.<sup>3</sup> That order purports to extend the prohibitions on suits against Seery, and it also prohibits certain actions against HCM and its affiliates. By its own terms, however, that order is not effective due to a pending appeal.

On April 12, 2021, Plaintiffs filed their Original Complaint in this action, alleging that HCM and related entities are liable as a result of insider trading and other violations of the antifraud provisions of the Investment Company Act of 1940, among other causes of action. The Original Complaint does not name Seery as a defendant. But the action is based on Seery's misrepresentations, omissions, and other breaches of duty committed in his role as HCM's CEO, which are sufficient to demonstrate his willful misconduct or gross negligence, though Plaintiffs submit that mere negligence and breach of fiduciary duty also form sufficient bases for his personal liability.

III.

ARGUMENT

This Court should grant leave to amend because the liberal policies behind Rule 15 require it and because leave is not prohibited by the bankruptcy court's order.

A. Rule 15(a) Allows Plaintiffs' Amendment As a Matter of Course

Rule 15(a) instructs the Court to "freely give leave [to amend] when justice so requires." FED. R. CIV. P. 15(a). The Fifth Circuit, in Martin's Herend Imports, Inc. v. Diamond & Gem Trading United States Co., 195 F.3d 765 (5th Cir. 1999), interpreted the rule as "evin[ing] a bias in favor of granting leave to amend." Id. at 770. Thus the Court must possess a "substantial reason" to deny a request for leave to amend. Lyn-Lea Travel Corp. v. Am. Airlines, Inc., 283 F.3d 282, 286 (5th Cir. 2002); Jamieson v. Shaw, 772 F.2d 1205, 1208 (5th Cir. 1985); cf. Foman v. Davis, 371 U.S. 178, 182 (1962) (explaining that leave should be granted “[i]n the absence of any apparent or declared reason—such as undue delay, bad faith or dilatory motive on the part of the movant, repeated failure to cure deficiencies by amendments previously allowed, undue prejudice to the opposing party by virtue of allowance of the amendment, futility of amendment, etc.”).

Moreover, one amendment, filed within 21 days of service of the pleading it seeks to amend or before a responsive pleading is filed, is allowed “as a matter of course.” Fed. R. Civ. P. 15(a)(1); Zaidi v. Ehrlich, 732 F.2d 1218, 1220 (5th Cir. 1984) (“When, as in this case, a plaintiff who has a right to amend nevertheless petitions the court for leave to amend, the court should grant the petition.”); Galustian v. Peter, 591 F.3d 724, 729-30 (4th Cir. 2010) (holding that district court abused its discretion in denying timely motion to amend adding defendant because “[t]he plaintiff’s right to amend once is absolute”); Rogers v. Girard Tr. Co., 159 F.2d 239, 241 (6th Cir. 1947) (holding that complaint may be amended as matter of course where defendant has filed no responsive pleading, and leave of district court is not necessary, but it is error to deny leave when asked); Bancoult v. McNamara, 214 F.R.D. 5, 7-8 (D.D.C. 2003) (holding that plaintiff’s filing of a motion for leave to amend does not nullify plaintiff’s absolute right to amend once before responsive pleadings, even if the amendment would be futile).

Here, Plaintiffs did not name Seery as a defendant in the Original Complaint out of an abundance of caution in light of the bankruptcy court’s order of July 16, 2020 [Doc. 854]. Instead, Plaintiffs are seeking leave in this Motion to do so. Because the proposed amendment is their first, and because it comes within 21 days of service of the Original Complaint, as well as before any responsive pleadings, Plaintiffs respectfully submit that they are entitled to leave and their proposed First Amended Complaint should be allowed.

B. The Bankruptcy Court's Order Should Not Prohibit Plaintiffs' Amendment

Plaintiffs submit that the bankruptcy court order of July 16, 2020, does not prohibit the proposed amendment for two independent reasons.

1. The Bankruptcy Court's Order Exceeds Its Jurisdiction

a. The Bankruptcy Court Cannot Strip This Court of Jurisdiction

Because the bankruptcy court's jurisdiction derives from and is dependent upon the jurisdiction of this Court, its order declaring that it has "sole jurisdiction" is overreaching.

Congress provided for and limited the jurisdiction of bankruptcy courts in 28 U.S.C. § 1334 and 28 U.S.C. § 157. As a result, bankruptcy court jurisdiction derives from and is limited by statute. Celotex Corp. v. Edwards, 514 U.S. 300, 307 (1995) ("The jurisdiction of the bankruptcy courts, like that of other federal courts, is grounded in, and limited by, statute."); Williams v. SeaBreeze Fin., LLC (In re 7303 Holdings, Inc.), Nos. 08-36698, 10-03079, 2010 Bankr. LEXIS 2938 at \*7 (Bankr. S.D. Tex. Aug. 26, 2010) ("A bankruptcy court's jurisdiction is derivative of the district court's jurisdiction. The bankruptcy court does not have jurisdiction unless the district court could exercise authority over the matter . . . ."). The plain provisions of § 1334 grant to the district courts "original jurisdiction" over all bankruptcy cases and related civil proceedings. 28 U.S.C. § 1334\(a\)-\(b\). What Congress giveth, the bankruptcy courts cannot taketh away.

b. The Barton Doctrine Does Not Apply

The bankruptcy court's overreach seems to stem from a misapplication of the Barton doctrine. That doctrine protects receivers and trustees who are appointed by the bankruptcy court. Randazzo v. Babin, No. 15-4943, 2016 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 110465, at \*3 (E.D. La. Aug. 18, 2016)

(“While the Barton case involved a receiver in state court, the United States Court of Appeals for the Fifth Circuit has extended this principle, now known as the Barton doctrine, to lawsuits against bankruptcy trustees for acts committed in their official capacities.”). The doctrine does not apply to executives of a debtor, like Seery, who are not receivers or trustees, and who are stretching the truth to claim that they were “appointed” by the bankruptcy court after asking it merely to approve their appointment in deference to their discretion under the business judgment rule.<sup>4</sup>

c. The Order Exceeds the Constitutional Limits of the Bankruptcy Court’s Jurisdiction

Plainly the bankruptcy court does not have “sole jurisdiction” over all causes of action that might be brought against Seery related to his role as HCM’s CEO. But more to the point, the bankruptcy court does not even have concurrent jurisdiction over all such claims. The separation of powers doctrine does not allow that. See Stern v. Marshall, 564 U.S. 462, 499 (2011) (holding that Congress cannot bypass Article III and create jurisdiction in bankruptcy courts “simply because a proceeding may have some bearing on a bankruptcy case”); id. at 488 (quoting Murray’s Lessee v. Hoboken Land & Improvement Co., 59 U.S. 272, 284 (1856), for the proposition that “Congress cannot ‘withdraw from judicial [read Article III] cognizance any matter which, from its nature, is the subject of a suit at the common law, or in equity, or admiralty’” with the limited exception of matters involving certain public rights); id. at 494 (quoting the dissent’s quote of Thomas v. Union Carbide Agricultural Products Co., 473 U.S. 568, 584 (1985), for the proposition that “Congress may not vest in a non-Article III court the power to adjudicate, render final judgment, and issue binding orders in a traditional contract action arising under state law,” and then adding “tort” to the rule for purposes of the matter before it); cf. In re Prescription Home Health Care, 316 F.3d 542, 548 (5th Cir. 2002) (holding that trustee’s tax liability was not within the bankruptcy court’s related-to jurisdiction and rejecting “the theory that a bankruptcy court has jurisdiction to enjoin any activity that threatens the debtor’s reorganization prospects [because that] would permit the bankruptcy court to intervene in a wide variety of third-party disputes [such as] any action (however personal) against key corporate employees, if they were willing to state that their morale, concentration, or personal credit would be adversely affected by that action”). The bankruptcy court’s order asserting “sole jurisdiction” here is hardly even relevant since that court lacks the power to expand its jurisdiction or manufacture jurisdiction where none exists.

The proposed First Amended Complaint asserts common law and equitable contract and tort claims. For the reasons explained by the Supreme Court in Stern, such claims should not be deemed within the bankruptcy court’s jurisdiction.

d. The Order Exceeds the Bankruptcy Court’s Statutory Authorization

Not only are there constitutional issues with the scope of the bankruptcy court’s order, there is also the limitation of 28 U.S.C. § 157(d). See TMT Procurement Corp. v. Vantage Drilling Co. (In re TMT Procurement Corp.), 764 F.3d 512, 523 & n.40 (5th Cir. 2014) (noting bankruptcy court’s “more limited jurisdiction” as a result of its “limited power” under 28 U.S.C. § 157). In § 157(d), Congress prohibited the bankruptcy court, absent the parties’ consent, from presiding over cases or proceedings that require consideration of both Title 11 and other federal law regulating organizations or activities affecting interstate commerce.

The First Amended Complaint’s allegations against Seery—accusing him of insider trading, violations of the RICO statute (18 U.S.C. § 1961 et seq.), and violations of the antifraud provisions of the Investment Advisers Act of 1940—require precisely that. Even determining the “colorability” of such claims will require a close examination of both the proceedings that took place in the bankruptcy court under Title 11 and the Investment Advisers Act as well as the RICO statute. The bankruptcy court lacks the authority to make such determinations. This Court has that power.

Thus, at least as it applies to the proposed First Amended Complaint, the bankruptcy court’s order exceeds its authority under 28 U.S.C. § 157(d), and any determination of “colorability” should take place in this Court, which Rule 12(b)(6) of the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure already provides for. To hold otherwise would create unnecessary tension with the congressional aims of 28 U.S.C. § 959 (“Trustees, receivers or managers of any property, including debtors in possession, may be sued, without leave of the court appointing them, with respect to any of their acts or transactions in carrying on business connected with such property.”).

2. The Prerequisites in the Bankruptcy Court’s Order Are Satisfied by This Motion and the Detailed Allegations in the Proposed First Amended Complaint

Alternatively, or in addition, should this Court read the bankruptcy court’s order as prohibiting the filing of actions against Seery even in this Court, Plaintiffs submit that this Motion seeking leave provides the mechanisms required by that order and therefore satisfies it.

The bankruptcy court’s order requires only that any contemplated action must first be submitted to that court for a preliminary determination of colorability. Because that court only has derivative jurisdiction as a result of this Court’s jurisdiction—and only over matters referred to it by this Court—Plaintiffs submit that filing a motion for leave here is the correct procedure for complying with that order. This Court may refer this Motion to the bankruptcy court under Miscellaneous Order No. 33, as authorized by § 104 of the Bankruptcy Amendments and Federal Judgeship Act of 1984, codified at 28 U.S.C. § 157(a). Or it may instead decline to refer the Motion or withdraw the reference under 28 U.S.C. § 157(d), as Plaintiffs submit is appropriate for the reasons addressed above. Regardless, this Motion presents the issue in a manner that allows the bankruptcy court to address it, should this Court decide that the bankruptcy court is authorized to do so. Cf. Confirmation Order [Doc. 1943] at 77, ¶ AA (“The Bankruptcy Court will have sole and exclusive jurisdiction to determine whether a claim or cause of action is colorable and, only to the extent legally permissible and as provided for in Article XI of the Plan, shall have jurisdiction to adjudicate the underlying colorable claim or cause of action.”) (emphasis added).

Plaintiffs therefore submit that, by filing this Motion in this Court, they have complied with the bankruptcy court’s order.

IV.

CONCLUSION

Plaintiffs are entitled to amend as a matter of course. The bankruptcy court lacks jurisdiction to prohibit the proposed amendment. In these circumstances, Plaintiffs respectfully submit that the interests of justice support the granting of leave to amend, and Rule 15(a) requires that this Motion be granted.

FIRST AMENDED COMPLAINT

I.

INTRODUCTION

This action arises out of the acts and omissions of Defendant James P. Seery (“Seery”) in his conduct as chief executive officer and chief restructuring officer of Defendant Highland Capital Management, L.P. (“HCM”), which is the general manager of Highland HCF Advisor, Ltd. (“HCFA”), both of which are registered investment advisers under the Investment Advisers Act of 1940 (the “Advisers Act”),<sup>1</sup> and nominal Defendant Highland CLO Funding, Ltd. (“HCLOF”) (Seery, HCM, and HCFA each a “Defendant,” or together, “Defendants”). The acts and omissions which have recently come to light reveal breaches of fiduciary duty, a pattern of violations of the Advisers Act’s anti-fraud provisions, and concealed breaches of the HCLOF Company Agreement, among others, which have caused and/or likely will cause Plaintiffs damages, and which arise out of or are related to acts or omissions that constitute bad faith, fraud, gross negligence, or willful misconduct.

Seery negotiated a settlement with the several Harbourvest<sup>2</sup> entities who owned 49.98% of HCLOF. The deal had HCM (or its designee) purchasing the Harbourvest membership interests in HCLOF for $22.5 million. Recent revelations, however, show that the sale was predicated upon a sales price that was vastly below the Net Asset Value (“NAV”) of those interests. Upon information, the NAV of HCLOF’s assets had risen precipitously, but was not disclosed to Harbourvest nor to Plaintiffs.

Under the Advisers Act, Defendants have a non-waivable duty of loyalty and candor, which includes its duty not to inside trade with its own investors, i.e., not to trade with an investor to which HCM and Seery had access to superior non-public information. Upon information and belief, HCM’s internal compliance policies required by the Advisers Act would not generally have allowed a trade of this nature to go forward—meaning, the trade either was approved in spite of compliance rules preventing it, or the compliance protocols themselves were disabled or amended to a level that leaves Defendants HCM and HCLOF exposed to liability. Thus, Defendants have created an unacceptable perpetuation of exposure to liability.

Additionally, Defendants are liable for a pattern of conduct that gives rise to liability for their conduct of the enterprise consisting of HCM in relation to HCFA and HCLOF, through a pattern of concealment, misrepresentation, and violations of the securities rules. In the alternative, Seery, HCFA and HCM, are guilty of self-dealing, violations of the Advisers Act, and tortious interference by (a) not disclosing that Harbourvest had agreed to sell at a price well below the current NAV, and (b) diverting the Harbourvest opportunity to themselves.

For these reasons, judgment should be issued in Plaintiffs' favor.

IV.

RELEVANT BACKGROUND

HCLOF IS FORMED

10. Plaintiff DAF is a charitable fund that helps several causes throughout the country, including providing funding for humanitarian issues (such as veteran's welfare associations and women's shelters), public works (such as museums, parks and zoos), and education (such as specialty schools in underserved communities). Its mission is critical.

11. Since 2012, DAF was advised by its registered investment adviser, Highland Capital Management, L.P., and its various subsidiaries, about where to invest. This relationship was governed by an Investment advisory Agreement.

12. At one point in 2017, HCM advised DAF to acquire 143,454,001 shares of HCLOF, with HCFA (a subsidiary of HCM) serving as the portfolio manager. DAF did so via a holding entity, Plaintiff CLO Holdco, Ltd.

13. On November 15, 2017, through a Subscription and Transfer Agreement, the DAF entered into an agreement with others to sell and transfer shares in HCLOF, wherein the DAF retained 49.02% in CLO Holdco.

14. Pursuant to that agreement, Harbourvest acquired the following interests in the following entities:

Harbourvest Dover Street IX Investment, L.P., acquired 35.49%;

Harbourvest 2017 Global AIF, L.P., acquired 2.42%;

Harbourvest 2017 lobal Fund, L.P., acquired 4.85%;

HV International VIII Secondary, L.P., acquired 6.5%; and

for a total of 49.98% (altogether, the “Harbourvest interests”).

15. On or about October 16, 2019, Highland Capital Management filed for Chapter 11 bankruptcy in Delaware Bankruptcy Court, which was later transferred to the Northern District of Texas Bankruptcy Court, in the case styled In Re: Highland Capital Management, L.P., Debtor, Cause No. 19-34054, (the “HCM Bankruptcy” and the Court is the “Bankruptcy Court”).

16. HCLOF’s portfolio manager is HCFA. HCM is the parent of HCFA and is managed by its General Partner, Strand Management, who employs Seery and acts on behalf of HCM. Seery is the CEO of HCM which, upon information and belief, is the parent of HCFA.

17. Before acceding to the Harbourvest interests, HCM was a 0.6% holder of HCLOF interests.

The Harbourvest Settlement with Highland Capital Management in Bankruptcy

18. On April 8, 2020, Harbourvest submitted its proofs of claim in the HCM bankruptcy proceeding. Annexed to its proofs of claims was an explanation of the Proof of Claim and the basis therefor setting out various pre-petition allegations of wrongdoing by HCM. See, e.g., Case No. 19-bk-34054, Doc. 1631-5.

19. The debtor, HCM, made an omnibus response to the proofs of claims, stating they were duplicative of each other, overstated, late, and otherwise meritless.

20. Harbourvest responded to the omnibus objections on September 11, 2020. See Cause No. 19-bk-34054, Doc. 1057.

21. Harbourvest represented that it had invested in HCLOF, purchasing 49.98% of HCLOF's outstanding shares.

22. Plaintiff CLO Holdco was and is also a 49.02% holder of HCLOF's member interests.

23. In its Omnibus Response, Harbourvest explained that its claims included unliquidated legal claims for fraud, fraud in the inducement, RICO violations under 18 U.S.C. 1964, among others (the "Harbourvest Claims"). See Cause No. 19-bk-34054, Doc. 1057.

24. The Harbourvest Claims centered on allegations that when Harbourvest was intending to invest in a pool of Collateralized Loan Obligations, or CLOs, that were then-managed by Acis Capital Management ("Acis"), a subsidiary of HCM, HCM failed to disclose key facts about ongoing litigation with a former employee, Josh Terry.

25. Harbourvest claimed that it had lost over $100 million in the HCLOF transaction due to fraud, which, after trebling under the racketeering statute, it claimed it was entitled to over $300 million in damages.

26. Harbourvest contended that HCM never sufficiently disclosed the underlying facts about the litigation with Terry, and HCM's then-intended strategy to fight Terry caused HCLOF to incur around $15 million in legal fees and costs. It contended that had it known the nature of the lawsuit and how it would eventually turn out, Harbourvest never would have invested in HCLOF. See Cause No. 19-bk-34054, Doc. 1057.

27. While even assuming Harbourvest's underlying claims were valid as far as the lost $15 million went, the true damage of the legal fees to Harbourvest would have been 49.98% of the HCLOF losses (i.e., less than $7.5 million).

28. In truth, as of September 2020, Harbourvest had indeed lost some $52 million due to the alleged diminishing value of the HCLOF assets (largely due to the underperformance of the Acis entities<sup>3</sup>)—and the values were starting to recover.

29. HCM denied the allegations in the Bankruptcy Court. Other than the claim for waste of corporate assets of $15 million, HCM at all times viewed the Harbourvest legal claims as being worth near zero and having no merit.

30. On December 23, 2020, HCM moved the Court to approve a settlement between itself and Harbourvest. No discovery had taken place between the parties, and Plaintiff did not have any notice of the settlement terms or other factors prior to the motion's filing (or even during its pendency) in order to investigate its rights.

31. HCM set the hearing right after the Christmas and New Year's holidays, almost ensuring that no party would have the time to scrutinize the underpinnings of the deal.

32. On January 14, 2021, the Bankruptcy Court held an evidentiary hearing and approved the settlement in a bench ruling, overruling the objections to the settlement.

33. An integral part of the settlement was allowing $45 million in unsecured claims that, at the time of the agreement, were expected to net Harbourvest around 70 cents on the dollar. In other words, Harbourvest was expected to recover around $31,500,000 from the allowed claims.

34. As part of the consideration for the $45 million in allowed claims, Harbourvest agreed to transfer all of its interests in HCLOF to HCM.

35. HCM and Seery rationalized the settlement value by allocating $22.5 million of the net value of the $45 million in unsecured claims as consideration to purchase Harbourvest's interests in HCLOF, meaning, if 70% of the unsecured claims—i.e., $31.5 million—was realized, and $22.5 million of that would be allocated to the purchase price of the Harbourvest interests in HCLOF, the true “settlement” for Harbourvest's legal claims was closer to $9 million. Still $1.5 million over the reasonable damages amount that Harbourvest suffered.

36. Plaintiffs here are taking no position at this time about the propriety of settling the Harbourvest legal claims for $9 million. That is for another day.

37. At the core of this lawsuit is the fact that HCM purchased the Harbourvest interests in HCLOF for $22.5 million knowing that they were worth far more than that.

38. It has recently come to light that the Harbourvest interests, as of December 31, 2020, were worth in excess of $41,750,000, and they have continued to go up in value.

39. On November 30, 2020, which was less than a month prior to the filing of the Motion to Approve the Settlement, the net asset value of those interests was over $34.5 million. Plaintiffs were never made aware of that.

40. The change was due to how the net asset value, or NAV, was calculated. The means and methods for calculating the “net asset value” of the assets of HCLOF are subject to and governed by the regulations passed by the SEC pursuant to the Adviser’s Act, and by HCM’s internal policies and procedures.

41. Typically, the value of the securities are reflected by a market price quote.

42. However, the underlying securities in HCLOF are not liquid and had not been traded in a long while. Therefore, any market quotes were stale.

43. There not having been any contemporaneous market quotations that could be used in good faith to set the marks,<sup>4</sup> meant that other prescribed methods of assessing the value of the interests, such as the NAV, would have been the proper substitutes.

44. Seery testified that the fair market value of the Harbourvest HCLOF interests was $22.5 million. Even allowing some leeway there, it was off by a mile.

45. Given the artifice described herein, Seery and the entity Defendants had to know that the representation of the fair market value at $22.5 million was false because the NAV was so much higher.

46. But it does not appear that they disclosed that fact to Harbourvest to whom they owed fiduciary duties as the RIA in charge of HCLOF, and they certainly did not disclose the truth to the Plaintiff. One would expect HCM to disclose that its trade with Harbourvest—or someone in Harbourvest’s position—was sanitized by complete disclosure of the NAV of the interests, and noting Harbourvest’s acceptance of the trade notwithstanding that disclosure. The abject silence of the information’s disclosure—both in the Settlement Agreement and in the papers seeking to approval of the settlement and the testimony proffered in its support—strongly suggests its absence from the negotiations.

47. What it appears is that Seery used an old valuation, itself a reckless if not intentional misrepresentation of value. Thus, it is either the case that (i) Defendants conducted the proper analysis to obtain a current value of the assets but decided to use a far lower valuation in order to whitewash the settlement or enrich the bankruptcy estate; or (ii) Defendants never conducted the proper current valuation, and therefore baselessly represented what the current value of the assets was, despite knowingly having no reasonable basis for making such a claim.

48. For years HCM had internal procedures and compliance protocols to govern this not infrequent occurrence. Prior to Seery taking over as CEO, HCM's internal compliance policies, enforced by its compliance officers, prohibiting HCM from trading with an investor where HCM had superior knowledge about the value of the assets, for example. While Plaintiff has no reason to believe that those procedures were scrapped in recent months, it can only assume that they were either overridden improperly or circumvented wholesale.

49. Upon finalizing the Harbourvest Settlement Agreement and making representations to the Bankruptcy Court to the Plaintiffs about the value of the Harbourvest Interests, Seery and HCM had a duty to use current values and not rely on old valuations of the assets or the HCLOF interests.

50. Given Defendants' actual or constructive knowledge that they were purchasing Harbourvest's Interests in HCLOF for a less than 50% of what those interests were worth—Defendants owed Plaintiff a fiduciary duty not to purchase them for themselves.

51. Defendants should have either had HCLOF repurchase the interests with cash, or offer those interests to Plaintiff and the other members pro rata, before HCM agreed to purchase them all lock, stock and barrel, for no up-front cash.

52. Indeed, had Plaintiff been offered those interests, it would have happily purchased them and therefore would have infused over $20 million in cash into the estate for the purpose of executing the Harbourvest Settlement.

53. That Defendants (and to perhaps a lesser extent, the Unsecured Creditors Committee (the “UCC”)) agreed to pay $22.5 million for the HCLOF assets, where they had previously not consented to any such expenditure by the estate on behalf of HCLOF, strongly indicates their awareness that they were purchasing assets for far below market value.

54. The above is the most reasonable and plausible explanation for why Defendants and the UCC forwent raising as much as $22.5 million in cash now in favor of hanging on to the HCLOF assets.

55. Indeed, in January 2021 Seery threatened Ethen Powell that “[Judge Jernigan] is laughing at you” and “we are coming after you” in response to the latter’s attempt to exercise his right as beneficial holder of the CLO, and pointing out a conflict of interest in Seery’s plan to liquidate the funds.

56. HCM’s threat, made by Seery, is tantamount to not only a declaration that he intends to liquidate the funds regardless of whether the investors want to do so, and whether it is in their best interests, but also that HCM intends to leverage what it views as the Bankruptcy Court’s sympathy to evade accountability.

V.

CAUSES OF ACTION

FIRST CAUSE OF ACTION
Breaches of Fiduciary Duty

57. Plaintiffs respectfully incorporate the foregoing factual averments as if fully set forth herein and further alleges the following:

58. HCM is a registered investment advisor and acts on behalf of HCFA. Both are fiduciaries to Plaintiffs because HCM had a direct advisor agreement with the DAF at all relevant times, and HCM, through HCFA, advised CLO Holdco in the HCLOF venture.

59. The Advisers Act establishes an unwaivable federal fiduciary duty for investment advisers,<sup>5</sup> and its chief compliance officers.<sup>6</sup>

60. HCM and the DAF entered into an Amended and Restated Investment Advisory Agreement, executed between them on July 1, 2014 (the “RIA Agreement”). It renews annually and continued until the end of January 2021.

61. In addition to being the RIA to the DAF, HCM was appointed the DAF’s attorney-in-fact for certain actions, such as “to purchase or otherwise trade in Financial Instruments that have been approved by the General Partner.” RIA Agreement ¶ 4.

<sup>5</sup> See e.g., SEC v. Capital Gains Research Bureau, Inc., 375 U.S. 180, 194 (1963); Transamerica Mortg. Advisors (tama) v. Lewis, 444 U.S. 11, 17 (1979) (“§ 206 establishes ‘federal fiduciary standards’ to govern the conduct of investment advisers.”); Santa Fe Indus. v. Green, 430 U.S. 462, 471, n.11 (1977) (in discussing SEC v. Capital Gains, stating that the Supreme Court’s reference to fraud in the “equitable” sense of the term was “premised on its recognition that Congress intended the Investment Advisers Act to establish federal fiduciary standards for investment advisers”). See also Investment Advisers Act Release No. 3060 (July 28, 2010) (“Under the Advisers Act, an adviser is a fiduciary whose duty is to serve the best interests of its clients, which includes an obligation not to subrogate clients’ interests to its own”) (citing Proxy Voting by Investment Advisers, Investment Advisers Act Release No. 2106 (Jan. 31, 2003)).

<sup>6</sup> Advisers Act Rule 206(4)-7 (“An adviser’s chief compliance officer should be competent and knowledgeable regarding the Advisers Act and should be empowered with full responsibility and authority to develop and enforce appropriate policies and procedures for the firm.”).

62. The RIA Agreement further commits HCM to value financial assets “in accordance with the then current valuation policy of the Investment Advisor [HCM], a copy of which will be provided to the General Partner upon request.” RIA Agreement ¶ 5.

63. While HCM contracted for the recognition that it would be acting on behalf of others and could be in conflict with advice given the DAF, (RIA Agreement ¶ 12), nowhere did it purport to waive the fiduciary duties owed to the DAF not to trade as a principal in a manner that harmed the DAF.

64. HCFA owed a fiduciary duty to Holdco as an investor in HCLOF and to which HCFA was the portfolio manager. HCM owed a fiduciary duty to the DAF (and to Holdco as its subsidiary) pursuant to a written Advisory Agreement HCM and the DAF had where HCM agreed to provide sound investment advice and management functions.

65. As a registered investment adviser, HCM’s fiduciary duty is broad and applies to the entire advisor-client relationship.

66. The core of the fiduciary duty is to act in the best interest of their investors—the advisor must put the ends of the client before its own ends or the ends of a third party.

67. This is manifested in a duty of loyalty and a duty of utmost care. It also means that the RIA has to follow the terms of the company agreements and the regulations that apply to the investment vehicle.

68. Seery in controlling HCM, HCFA, and by extension, HCLOF, directly owed a fiduciary duty to Plaintiffs by virtue of his position, or is liable for aiding and abetting HCM’s and HCFA’s breaches of fiduciary duty by controlling them and either recklessly or intentionally causing them to breach their duties.

69. The fiduciary duty that HCM and Seery owed to Plaintiff is predicated on trust and confidence. Section 204A of the Advisers Act requires investment advisors (whether SEC-registered or not) to establish, maintain, and enforce written policies and procedures reasonably designed to prevent the RIA from trading on material, non-public information. See 17 C.F.R. § 275.206(4)-7. That means that Plaintiff should be able to take Defendants at their word and not have to second guess or dig behind representations made by them.

70. The simple thesis of this claim is that Defendants Seery, HCFA and HCM breached their fiduciary duties by (i) insider trading with Harbourvest and concealing the rising NAV of the underlying assets—i.e., trading with Harbourvest on superior, non-public information that was neither revealed to Harbourvest nor to Plaintiff; (ii) concealing the value of the Harbourvest Interests; and (iii) diverting the investment opportunity in the Harbourvest entities to HCM (or its designee) without offering it to or making it available to Plaintiff or the DAF.

71. HCM, as part of its contractual advisory function with Plaintiffs, had expressly recommended the HCLOF investment to the DAF. Thus, diverting the opportunity for returns on its investment was an additional breach of fiduciary duty.

72. This violated a multitude of regulations under 27 C.F.R. part 275, in addition to Rules 10b-5 and 10b5-1. 17 CFR 240.10b5-1 (“Rule 10b5-1”) explains that one who trades while possessing non-public information is liable for insider trading, and they do not necessarily have to have used the specific inside information.

73. It also violated HCM’s own internal policies and procedures.

74. Also, the regulations impose obligations on Defendants to calculate a current valuation when communicating with an investor, such as what may or may not be taken into account, and what cannot pass muster as a current valuation. Upon information and belief, these regulations were not followed by the Defendants.

75. HCM's internal policies and procedures, which it promised to abide by both in the RIA Agreement and in its Form ADV SEC filing, provided for the means of properly calculating the value of the assets.

76. HCM either did not follow these policies, changed them to be out of compliance both with the Adviser Act regulations and its Form ADV representations, and/or simply misrepresented or concealed their results.

77. In so doing, because the fiduciary duty owed to Plaintiff is a broad one, and because Defendants' malfeasance directly implicates its relationship with Plaintiff, Defendants have breached the Advisers Act's fiduciary duties owed to Plaintiff as part of their fiduciary relationship.<sup>7</sup>

78. At no time between agreeing with Harbourvest to the purchase of its interests and the court approval did Defendants disclose to either Harbourvest or to Plaintiff (and the Bankruptcy Court for that matter) that the purchase was at below 50% the current net asset value as well, and when they failed to offer Plaintiff (and the other members of HCLOF) their right to purchase the interests pro rata at such advantageous valuations. Plaintiff's lost opportunity to purchase has harmed Plaintiff. Plaintiff had been led to believe by the Defendants that the value of what was being purchased in the Harbourvest settlement by HCM (or its designee) was at fair market value. This representation, repeated again in the Bankruptcy Court during the Harbourvest confirmation, implicitly suggested that a proper current valuation had been performed.

79. Seery testified in January 2021 that the then-current fair market value of Habourvests's 49.98% interest in HCLOF was worth around $22.5 million.

80. But by then, it was worth almost double that amount and has continued to appreciate. Seery knew or should have known that fact because the value of some of the HCLOF assets had increased, and he had a duty to know the current value. His lack of actual knowledge, while potentially not overtly fraudulent, would nonetheless amount to a reckless breach of fiduciary duty for acting without proper diligence and information that was plainly available.

81. Furthermore, HCLOF holds equity in MGM Studios and debt in CCS Medical via various CLO positions. But Seery, in his role as CEO of HCM, was made aware during an advisors meeting in December 2020 that Highland would have to restrict its trading in MGM because of its insider status due to activities that were likely to apply upward pressure on MGM's share price.

82. Furthermore, Seery controlled the Board of CCS Medical. And in or around October 2020, Seery was advocating an equatization that would have increased the value of the CCS securities by 25%, which was not reflected in the HCM report of the NAV of HCLOF's holdings.

83. Seery's knowledge is and should be imputed to HCM and HCFA.

84. Moreover, it is a breach of fiduciary duty to commit corporate waste, which is effectively what disposing of the HCLOF assets would constitute in a rising market, where there is no demand for disposition by the investors (save for HCM, whose proper 0.6% interest could easily be sold to the DAF at fair value).

85. As holder of 0.6% of the HCLOF interests, and now assignee of the 49.98% Harbourvest Interests), HCM has essentially committed self-dealing by threatening to liquidate HCLOF now that it may be compelled to do so under its proposed liquidation plan, which perhaps inures to the short term goals of HCM but to the pecuniary detriment of the other holders of HCLOF whose upside will be prematurely truncated.

86. Seery and HCM should not be allowed to benefit from the breach of their fiduciary duties because doing so would also cause Plaintiffs irreparable harm. The means and methods of disposal would likely render the full scope of damages to the DAF not susceptible to specific calculation—particularly as they would relate to calculating the lost opportunity cost. Seery and HCM likely do not have the assets to pay a judgment to Plaintiffs that would be rendered, simply taking the lost appreciation of the HCLOF assets.

87. Defendants are thus liable for diverting a corporate opportunity or asset that would or should have been offered to Plaintiff and the other investors. Because federal law makes the duties invoked herein unwaivable, it is preposterous that HCM, as a 0.6% holder of HCLOF, deemed itself entitled to the all of the value and optionality of the below-market Harbourvest purchase.

88. Defendants cannot rely on any contractual provision that purports to waive this violation. Nothing in any agreement purports to permit, authorize or otherwise sanitize Defendants' self-dealing. All such provisions are void.

89. In the fourth quarter of 2020, Seery and HCM notified staff that they would be terminated on December 31, 2020. That termination was postponed to February 28, 2021. Purchasing the Harbourvest assets without staffing necessary to be a functioning Registered

Investment Advisor was a strategic reversal from prior filings that outlined canceling the CLO management contracts and allowing investors to replace Highland as manager.

90. Seery's compensation agreement with the UCC incentivizes him to expedite recoveries and to prevent transparency regarding the Harbourvest settlement.

91. What is more, Seery had previously testified that the management contracts for the funds—HCLOF included—were unprofitable, and that he intended to transfer them. But he later rejected offers to purchase those management contracts for fair value and instead decided to continue to manage the funds—which is what apparently gave rise to the Harbourvest Settlement, among others. He simultaneously rejected an offer for the Harbourvest assets of $24 million, stating that they were worth much more than that.

92. Because of Defendants' malfeasance, Plaintiffs have lost over $25 million in damages—a number that continues to rise—and the Defendants should not be able to obtain a windfall.

93. For the same reason, Defendants' malfeasance has also exposed HCLOF to a massive liability from Harbourvest since the assignment of those interests is now one that is likely unenforceable under the Advisers Act, Section 47(b), if there was unequal information.

94. Seery is liable as a principal and as an officer and control person under the regulations promulgated pursuant to Dodd-Frank and other laws.

95. HCM and HCFA are liable as principals for breach of fiduciary duty, as are the principals and compliance staff of each entity.

96. Plaintiffs seek disgorgement, damages, exemplary damages, attorneys' fees and costs. To the extent the Court determines that this claim had to have been brought derivatively on behalf of HCLOF, then Plaintiffs represent that any pre-suit demand would have been futile since asking HCM to bring suit against its principal, Seery, would have been futile.

SECOND CAUSE OF ACTION
Breach of HCLOF Company Agreement
(By Holdco against HCLOF, HCM and HCFA)

97. Plaintiffs respectfully incorporate the foregoing factual averments as if fully set forth herein and further alleges the following:

98. On November 15, 2017, the members of HCLOF, along with HCLOF and HCFA, executed the Members Agreement Relating to the Company (the “Company Agreement”).

99. The Company Agreement governs the rights and duties of the members of HCLOF.

100. Section 6.2 of HCLOF Company Agreement provides that when a member “other than ... CLO Holdco [Plaintiff] or a Highland Affiliate,” intends to sell its interest in HCLOF to a third party (i.e., not to an affiliate of the selling member), then the other members have the first right of refusal to purchase those interests pro rata for the same price that the member has agreed to sell.

101. Here, despite the fact that Harbourvest agreed to sell its interests in HCLOF for $22.5 million when they were worth more than double that, Defendants did not offer Plaintiff the chance to buy its pro rata share of those interests at the same agreed price of $22.5 million (adjusted pro rata).

102. The transfer and sale of the interests to HCM were accomplished as part of the Harbourvest Settlement which was approved by the Bankruptcy Court.

103. Plaintiff was not informed of the fact that Harbourvest had offered its shares to Defendant HCM for $22.5 million—which was under 50% of their true value.

104. Plaintiff was not offered the right to purchase its pro rata share of the Harbourvest interests prior to the agreement being struck or prior to court approval being sought.

105. Had Plaintiff been allowed to do so, it would have obtained the interests with a net equity value over their purchase price worth in excess of $20 million.

106. No discovery or opportunity to investigate was afforded Plaintiff prior to lodging an objection in the Bankruptcy Court.

107. Plaintiff is entitled to specific performance or, declaratory relief, and/or disgorgement, constructive trust, damages, attorneys' fees and costs.

THIRD CAUSE OF ACTION
Negligence
(By the DAF and CLO Holdco against Seery, HCM, and HCFA)

108. Plaintiffs respectfully incorporate the foregoing factual averments as if fully set forth herein, and further alleges the following:

109. Plaintiffs incorporate the foregoing causes of action and note that all the foregoing violations were breaches of the common law duty of care imposed by law on each of Seery, HCFA and HCM.

110. Each of these Defendants should have known that their actions were violations of the Advisers Act, HCM's internal policies and procedures, the Company Agreement, or all three.

111. Seery and HCM owed duties of care to Plaintiffs to follow HCM's internal policies and procedures regarding both the propriety and means of trading with a customer [Harbourvest], the propriety and means of trading as a principal in an account but in a manner adverse to another customer [the DAF and Holdco], and the proper means of valuing the CLOs and other assets held by HCLOF.

112. It would be foreseeable that failing to disclose the current value of the assets in the HCLOF would impact Plaintiffs negatively in a variety of ways.

113. It would be reasonably foreseeable that failing to correctly and accurately calculate the current net asset value of the market value of the interests would cause Plaintiffs to value the Harbourvest Interests differently.

114. It would be reasonably foreseeable that referring to old and antiquated market quotations and/or valuations of the HCLOF assets or interests would result in a mis-valuation of HCLOF and, therefore, a mis-valuation of the Harbourvest Interests.

115. Relying on stale valuations without updating them was reckless due to Seery's and HCM's knowledge that the values of the interests were not static and likely would have changed over time, such that old information had a high degree of probability of being inaccurate.

116. Seery's and HCM's failure to inform the DAF and Holdco of the updated valuations, and/or to misstate the value in January 2021 in support of the Harbourvest settlement was likewise reckless in the face of the known risk that Plaintiffs would be relying on those representations, as would Harbourvest and the Court.

117. Seery's and HCM's failure to offer the DAF and Holdco the right to purchase the Harboruvest Interests was likewise reckless in light of the obvious risk.

118. Likewise, it would have been foreseeable that Plaintiff's failure to give Plaintiff the opportunity to purchase the Harbourvest shares at a $22.5 million valuation would cause Plaintiff damages. Defendants knew that the value of those assets was rising. They further knew or should have known that whereas those assets were sold to HCM for an allowance of claims to be funded in the future, selling them to Plaintiff would have provided the estate with cash funds.

119. Defendants' negligence or gross negligence foreseeably and directly caused Plaintiff harm.

120. Plaintiff is thus entitled to damages.

FOURTH CAUSE OF ACTION
Racketeering Influenced Corrupt Organizations Act
(CLO Holdco and DAF against HCM and Seery)

121. Plaintiffs respectfully incorporate the foregoing factual averments as if fully set forth herein, and further alleges the following:

122. Defendants HCM and Seery are liable for violations of the Racketeer Influenced and Corrupt Organizations ("RICO") Act, 18 U.S.C. § 1961 et seq., for the conduct of an enterprise through a pattern of racketeering activity.

123. HCLOF constitutes an enterprise under the RICO Act. Additionally, or in the alternative, HCM, HCLA, and HCLOF constituted an association-in-fact enterprise. The purpose of the association-in-fact was the perpetuation of Seery's position at HCM and using the Harbourvest settlement as a vehicle to enrich persons other than the HCLOF investors, including Holdco and the DAF, and the perpetuation of HCM's holdings in collateralized loan obligations owned by HCLOF, while attempting to deny Plaintiffs the benefit of its rights of ownership.

124. The association-in-fact was bound by informal and formal connections for years prior to the illicit purpose, and then changed when HCM and Seery joined it in order to achieve the association's illicit purpose. For example, HCM is the parent and control person over HCFA, which is the portfolio manager of HCLOF pursuant to a contractual agreement—both are registered investment advisors and provide advisory and management services to HCLOF.

125. HCM and Seery injured Plaintiffs through their continuous course of conduct of the HCM-HCLA-HCLOF association-in-fact enterprise. Seery's actions (performed on behalf of HCM and the association-in-fact enterprise) constitute violations of the federal wire fraud, mail fraud, fraud in connection with a case under Title 11, and/or securities fraud laws, pursuant to 18 U.S.C. § 1961(1)(B) and (D).

126. Seery operated HCM in such a way as to violate insider trading rules and regulations when it traded with Harbourvest while it had material, non-public information that it had not supplied to Harbourvest or to Plaintiffs.

127. In or about November 2020, HCM and Harbourvest entered into discussions about settling the Harbourvest Claims. Seery's conduct of HCLOF and HCLA on behalf of HCM through the interstate mails and/or wires caused HCM to agree to the purchase of Harbourvest's interests in HCLOF.

128. On or about each of September 30, 2020, through December 31, 2020, Seery, through his conduct of the enterprise, utilized the interstate wires and/or mails to obtain or arrive at valuations of the HCLOF interests. Seery's conduct of the enterprise caused them to cease sending the valuation reports to Plaintiffs, which eventually allowed Plaintiffs to be misled into believing that Seery had properly valued the interests.

129. On or about September 30, 2020, Seery transmitted or caused to be transmitted through the interstate wires information to HCLOF investors from HCM (via HCFA), including Harbourvest, regarding the value of HCLOF interests and underlying assets.

130. Additionally, Seery operated HCM in such a way that he concealed the true value of the HCLOF interests by utilizing the interstate wires and mails to transmit communications to the court in the form of written representations on or about December 23, 2020, and then further transmitted verbal representations of the current market value (the vastly understated one) on January 14, 2021, during live testimony.

131. However, Harbourvest was denied the full picture and the true value of the underlying portfolio. At the end of October and November of 2020, HCM had updated the net asset values of the HCLOF portfolio. According to sources at HCM at the time, the HCLOF assets were worth north of $72,969,492 as of November 30, 2020. Harbourvest's share of that would have been $36,484,746.

132. The HCLOF net asset value had reached $86,440,024 as of December 31, 2021, which means that by the time Seery was testifying in the Bankruptcy Court on January 14, 2021, that the fair market value of the Harbourvest Assets was $22.5 million, it was actually closer to $43,202,724.

133. Seery, speaking on behalf of HCM, knew of the distinction in value and made the representations either knowingly or with reckless disregard for the truth.

134. On January 14, 2021, Seery also testified that he (implying HCM, HCLA and HCLOF) had valued the Harbourvest Assets at their current valuation and at fair market value. This was not true because the valuation that was used and testified to was at that time ancient. The ostensible purpose of this concealment was to induce Plaintiff and other interest holdings to take no action.

135. In supporting HCM's motion to the Bankruptcy Court to approve the Harbourvest Settlement, Seery omitted the fact that HCM was purchasing the interests at a massive discount, which would violate the letter and spirit of the federal Adviser's Act.

136. Seery was informed in late December 2020 at an in-person meeting in Dallas to which Seery had to fly that HCLOF and HCM had to suspend trading in MGM Studios' securities because Seery had learned from James Dondero, who was on the Board of MGM, of a potential purchase of the company. The news of the MGM purchase should have caused Seery to revalue

the HCLOF investment in MGM. Seery's failure to disclose this information which would have been germane to the valuation of the Harbourvest Interests was another incidence of wrongful omission in violation of the Advisers Act's antifraud provision and RICO.

137. In or around October 2020, Seery (who controls the Board of CSS Medical) was pursuing "equitization" of CSS Medical's debt, which would have increased the value of certain securities by 25%. In several communications through the U.S. interstate wires and/or mails, and with Plaintiffs, and the several communications with Harbourvest during the negotiations of the settlement, Seery failed to disclose these changes which were responsible in part for the ever-growing value of the HCLOF CLO portfolio. Seery's failure to disclose this information which would have been germane to the valuation of the Harbourvest Interests was another incidence of wrongful omission in violation of the Advisers Act's antifraud provision and RICO.

138. Seery's failure to disclose the information about the current valuation, which would have been material to the value of the Harbourvest Interest—and by extension, to Plaintiff's rights with respect to those as part of the Harbourvest Settlement was another incidence of wrongful omission in violation of the Advisers Act's antifraud provision and RICO.

139. The Harbourvest Settlement is not final and unwinding it could prove difficult—which Seery had to be counting on.

140. Seery was at all relevant times operating as an agent of HCM and its control person as CEO.

141. This series of related violations of the wire fraud, mail fraud, and securities fraud laws, in connection with the HCM bankruptcy, constitute a continuing pattern and practice of racketeering for the purpose of winning a windfall for HCM and himself--a nearly $30,000,000 payday under the confirmation agreement.

142. The federal RICO statute makes it actionable for one's conduct of an enterprise to include "fraud in connection with a [bankruptcy case]". The Advisers' Act antifraud provisions require full transparency and accountability to an advisers' investors and clients and does not require a showing of reliance or materiality. The wire fraud provision likewise is violated when, as here, the interstate wires are used as part of a "scheme or artifice ... for obtaining money or property by means of false ... pretenses, [or] representations[.]"

143. Accordingly, because Seery and HCM's conduct violated the wire fraud and mail fraud laws, and the Advisers' Act antifraud provisions, and their acts and omissions were in connection with the HCM Bankruptcy proceedings under Title 11, they are sufficient to bring such conduct within the purview of the RICO civil action provisions, 18 U.S.C. § 1964.

144. Plaintiffs are thus entitled to damages, treble damages, attorneys' fees and costs of suit, in addition to all other injunctive or equitable relief to which they are justly entitled.

FIFTH CAUSE OF ACTION
Tortious Interference
(CLO Holdco against HCM and Seery)

145. Plaintiff respectfully incorporates the foregoing factual averments as if fully set forth herein and further alleges the following:

146. At all relevant times, HCM owned a 0.6% interest in HCLOF.

147. At all relevant times, Seery and HCM knew that Plaintiff had specific rights in HCLOF under the Company Agreement, § 6.2.

148. Section 6.2 of HCLOF Company agreement provides that when a member "other than ... CLO Holdco [Plaintiff] or a Highland Affiliate," intends to sell its interest in HCLOF to a third party (i.e., not an affiliate of the member), then the other members have the first right of refusal to purchase those interests pro rata for the same price that the member has agreed to sell.

149. HCM, through Seery, tortiously interfered with Plaintiff's contractual rights with HCLOF by, among other things, diverting the Harbourvest Interests in HCLOF to HCM without giving HCLOF or Plaintiff the option to purchase those assets at the same favorable price that HCM obtained them.

150. HCM and Seery tortiously interfered with Plaintiff's contractual rights with HCLOF by, among other things, misrepresenting the fair market value as $22.5 million and concealing the current value of those interests.

151. But for HCM and Seery's tortious interference, Plaintiff would have been able to acquire the Harbourvest Interests at a highly favorable price. HCM and Seery's knowledge of the rights and intentional interference with these rights has caused damage to Plaintiff CLO Holdco.

152. Plaintiff is therefore entitled to damages from HCM and Seery, as well as exemplary damages.

VI.

JURY DEMAND

153. Plaintiffs demand trial by jury on all claims so triable.

VII.

PRAYER FOR RELIEF

154. Wherefore, for the foregoing reasons, Plaintiffs respectfully pray that the Court enter judgment in their favor and against Defendants, jointly and severally, for:

- a. Actual damages;
- b. Disgorgement;
- c. Treble damages;
- d. Exemplary and punitive damages;

- e. Attorneys' fees and costs as allowed by common law, statute or contract;
- f. A constructive trust to avoid dissipation of assets;
- g. All such other relief to which Plaintiff is justly entitled.

DEBTOR'S MOTION UNDER BANKRUPTCY CODE
SECTIONS 105(a) AND 363(b) FOR AUTHORIZATION TO RETAIN JAMES P. SEERY, JR., AS CHIEF EXECUTIVE OFFICER, CHIEF RESTRUCTURING OFFICER AND FOREIGN REPRESENTATIVE
*NUNC PRO TUNC TO MARCH 15, 2020

1. The United States Bankruptcy Court for the Northern District of Texas (the “Court”) has jurisdiction over this matter pursuant to 28 U.S.C. §§ 157 and 1334. This matter is a core proceeding within the meaning of 28 U.S.C. § 157(b)(2).

Background

3. On October 16, 2019 (the “Petition Date”), the Debtor filed a voluntary petition for relief under chapter 11 of the Bankruptcy Code in the Bankruptcy Court for the District of Delaware, Case No. 19-12239 (CSS) (the “Delaware Bankruptcy Court”).

the Delaware Bankruptcy Court entered an order transferring venue of the Debtor's chapter 11 case to this Court [Docket No. 186].<sup>1</sup>

5. The Debtor has continued in the possession of its property and has continued to operate and manage its business as a debtor-in-possession pursuant to sections 1107(a) and 1108 of the Bankruptcy Code. No trustee or examiner has been appointed in this chapter 11 case.

6. On December 4, 2019, the Debtor filed in the Delaware Bankruptcy Court its Motion of the Debtor Pursuant to 11 U.S.C. §§ 105(a) and 363(b) To Retain Development Specialists, Inc. to Provide a Chief Restructuring Officer, Additional Personnel, and Financial Advisory and Restructuring-Related Services, Nunc Pro Tunc, as of the Petition Date [Docket No. 74] (the "CRO Motion"). The CRO Motion sought, among other things, to appoint Bradley Sharp as the Debtor's chief restructuring officer and for DSI to provide financial advisory services to the Debtor in support of Mr. Sharp.

7. On December 27, 2019, the Debtor filed the Motion of the Debtor for Approval of Settlement with the Official Committee of Unsecured Creditors Regarding Governance of the Debtor and Procedures for Operations in the Ordinary Course [Docket No. 281] (the "Settlement Motion"). The Settlement Motion sought approval of the settlement between the Debtor and the Committee and provided for, among other things, the creation of a new independent board of directors of Strand Advisors, Inc.<sup>2</sup> (the "New Board") consisting of

James P. Seery, Jr., John S. Dubel, and Russell Nelms (collectively, the “Independent Directors”).

8. The order granting the Settlement Motion authorized the Debtor to guarantee Strand’s obligations to indemnify each Independent Director pursuant to the terms of any indemnification agreements entered into by Strand with each of the Independent Directors (the “Indemnification Agreements”).

9. The Court entered orders approving the Settlement Motion on January 9, 2020<sup>3</sup> and the DSI Approval Order on January 10, 2020.

10. The Settlement Order approved, among other things, a term sheet setting forth the agreement between the Debtor and the Committee. The final term sheet was attached to the Notice of Final Term Sheet filed in the Court on January 14, 2020 [Docket No. 354] (the “Final Term Sheet”). The Settlement Order also provided that no entity could commence or pursue a claim or cause of action against any Independent Director and/or his respective advisors and agents relating in any way to his role as an independent director of Strand unless authorized by this Court pursuant to the criteria set forth in the Settlement Order.<sup>4</sup>

11. The Settlement Motion and Final Term each provided that “[a]s soon as practicable after their appointments, the Independent Directors shall, in consultation with the

No entity may commence or pursue a claim or cause of action of any kind against any Independent Director, any Independent Director’s agents, or any Independent Director’s advisors relating in any way to the Independent Director’s role as an independent director of Strand without the Court (i) first determining after notice that such claim or cause of action represents a colorable claim of willful misconduct or gross negligence against Independent Director, any Independent Director’s agents, or any Independent Director’s advisors and (ii) specifically authorizing such entity to bring such claim. The Court will have sole jurisdiction to adjudicate any such claim for which approval of the Court to commence or pursue has been granted.

Committee, determine whether a CEO should be appointed for the Debtor. If the Independent Directors determine that appointment of a CEO is appropriate, the Independent Directors shall appoint a CEO acceptable to the Committee as soon as possible, which may be one of the Independent Directors.” Final Term Sheet, page 3; Settlement Motion, ¶ 13.

12. On February 18, 2020, the Court entered its Order (I) Authorizing Bradley D. Sharp to Act as Foreign Representative Pursuant to 11 U.S.C. § 1505 and (II) Granting Related Relief [Docket No. 461] (the “Foreign Representative Order”). The Foreign Representative Order authorized Mr. Sharp, as chief restructuring officer, to act as the Debtor’s foreign representative pursuant to section 1515 of the Bankruptcy Code (the “Foreign Representative”). The Foreign Representative specifically appointed Mr. Sharp to act as the Debtor’s foreign insolvency officeholder to seek appropriate relief in Bermuda pursuant to Bermudian common law (the “Bermuda Foreign Representative”) and the Cayman Islands pursuant to Section 241(1) of the Companies Law (2019 Revision) with respect to that British overseas territory (the “Cayman Foreign Representative”).

13. Since the appointment of the Independent Directors, it was apparent that it would be more efficient to have a traditional corporate management structure oversee the Debtor – i.e., a fully engaged chief executive officer supervised by the New Board – as contemplated by the Final Term Sheet. This need was driven by the complexity of the Debtor’s organization and business operations and the need for daily management and oversight of the Debtor’s personnel. The search for a chief executive officer, however, was delayed while the Independent Directors made initial efforts to learn the Debtor’s business and its day-to-day operations. It was further delayed with the onset of the COVID-19 global pandemic, which both had a serious impact on the Debtor's operations and assets and limited the Independent Directors' ability to search for an appropriate chief executive officer.

14. During this time, however, Mr. Seery integrated himself into the daily operations of the Debtor and became essential in stabilizing the Debtor's assets and trading accounts during the economic distress caused by COVID-19. While Mr. Dubel and Mr. Nelms were each spending on average approximately 140 hours a month addressing the operational issues facing the Debtor and certain of its fund entities, Mr. Seery's workload was at least 180 hours a month.

15. As such, it was readily apparent to the Independent Directors who would be the best fit for the role: Mr. Seery. Mr. Seery had the appropriate skill set, extensive relevant background, and was already carrying the responsibility of the role. Mr. Seery had been functionally operating as the Debtor's de facto chief executive officer since at least early March and was already overseeing the Debtor's ordinary course operations, including managing the Debtor's personnel and the daily interactions with the Debtor's bankruptcy professionals

16. The Independent Directors subsequently appointed a compensation committee consisting of Messrs. Dubel and Nelms (the "Compensation Committee") to negotiate the terms and conditions of the Agreement on behalf of the Debtor. And, on June 23, 2020, the Compensation Committee approved the appointment of Mr. Seery to serve as both the Debtor's chief executive officer and chief restructuring officer concurrently with his role as one of the Independent Directors pursuant to the terms of the Agreement. Because Mr. Seery has been fulfilling the role since March 2020, the Compensation Committee determined that it was appropriate to make Mr. Seery's appointment as the Debtor's chief executive officer and chief restructuring officer effective as of March 15, 2020.<sup>5</sup> The Independent Directors also authorized the Debtor to file this Motion.

A. The Chief Executive Officer and Chief Restructuring Officer Positions

17. Mr. Seery has agreed to, among other things, provide daily leadership and direction to the Debtor's employees on business and restructuring matters relating to the Debtor's chapter 11 case. In that capacity, he will direct the Debtor's day-to-day ordinary course operations, oversee the Debtor's personnel, make management decisions with respect to the Debtor's trading operations, direct the Debtor's reorganization efforts, monetize the Debtor's assets, oversee the claims objection and resolution process, and lead the process toward the hopeful consensual confirmation of a plan in this chapter 11 case in the capacities as chief executive officer and chief restructuring officer positions. Mr. Seery would report directly to the New Board and would continue to serve as an Independent Director, as provided under the Settlement Order.

18. Mr. Seery has extensive management and restructuring experience. Mr. Seery recently served as a Senior Managing Director at Guggenheim Securities, LLC, where he was responsible for helping direct the development of a credit business. Prior to joining Guggenheim, Mr. Seery was the President and a senior investing partner of River Birch Capital, LLC, where he was responsible for originating, executing, and managing stressed and distressed credit investments. Mr. Seery is also a long-time attorney licensed to practice in New York who

<sup>5</sup> The Committee has also agreed to Mr. Seery's appointment as chief executive officer and chief restructuring officer and to the amount of Mr. Seery's Base Compensation (as defined below). The Committee has not agreed, however, as to the amount and timing of the payment of the Restructuring Fee (defined below) and are continuing to discuss payment of the Restructuring Fee with the Compensation Committee.

19. The Compensation Committee negotiated the Agreement with Mr. Seery at arm's length. The additional material economic terms of the Agreement are as follows:<sup>6</sup>

(b) Roles: Mr. Seery shall serve as the chief executive officer and chief restructuring officer of the Debtor and shall be responsible for the overall management of the business of the Debtor during its chapter 11 case, including: directing the Debtor's day-to-day ordinary course operations, overseeing the Debtor's personnel, making management decisions with respect to the Debtor's trading operations, directing the reorganization and restructuring of the Debtor, the monetization of the Debtor's assets, resolution of claims, the development and negotiation of a plan of reorganization or liquidation, and the implementation of such plan. Mr. Seery shall remain a full member of the New Board and shall be entitled to vote on matters other than on those in which he is conflicted. Mr. Seery shall devote as much time to the engagement as he determines is required to execute his responsibilities as chief executive officer and chief restructuring officer. Mr. Seery will have no specific on-site requirements in Dallas, Texas, but shall be on site as much as he determines is necessary to execute his responsibilities as chief executive officer and chief restructuring officer, consistent with applicable COVID-19 orders, protocols and advice.

(c) Compensation for Services: Mr. Seery's compensation under the Agreement shall consist of the following:

(1) Base Compensation: $150,000 per month, which shall be due and payable at the start of each calendar month; plus

(2) Bonus Compensation; Restructuring Fee:

Subject to separate Bankruptcy Court approval, the Compensation Committee and Mr. Seery have reached agreement on the payment of a restructuring fee upon confirmation of either a Case Resolution Plan or a Monetization Vehicle Plan in each case as defined below (the "Restructuring Fee").<sup>7</sup> The Committee has not yet agreed to the amount, composition, and timing of the Restructuring Fee. The Compensation Committee and Mr. Seery have agreed to defer Court consideration of the Restructuring Fee until further development in the Case. The Restructuring Fee agreed to by Mr. Seery and the Compensation Committee is as follows:

Case Resolution Restructuring Plan

On confirmation of any plan or reorganization or liquidation based on resolution of a material amount of the outstanding claims and their respective treatment, even if such plan includes (x) a debtor/creditor trust or similar monetization and claims resolution vehicle, (y) post-confirmation litigation of certain of the claims, and (z) post-confirmation monetization of debtor assets (a "Case Resolution Plan"):

$1,000,000 on confirmation of the Case Resolution Plan;

$500,000 on the effective date of the Case Resolution Plan; and

<sup>7</sup> Although the Compensation Committee and Mr. Seery have agreed on the amount and timing of the Restructuring Fee, both the Compensation Committee and Mr. Seery understand that the Restructuring Fee is payable only upon order of this Court. The Compensation Committee is reserving the right to seek approval of the Restructuring Fee from this Court in connection with the confirmation hearing on a plan or as otherwise appropriate.

$750,000 on completion of cash or property distributions to creditors as contemplated by the Case Resolution Plan.

Debtor/Creditor Monetization Vehicle Restructuring Fee:

On confirmation of any plan or reorganization or liquidation based on a debtor/creditor trust or similar asset monetization and claims resolution vehicle that does not include agreement among the debtor and creditors on a material amount of the outstanding claims and their respective treatment at confirmation (a “Monetization Vehicle Plan”):

$500,000 on confirmation of the Monetization Vehicle Plan;

$250,000 on the effective date of the Monetization Vehicle Plan; and

A contingent restructuring fee to be determined by the board or oversight committee installed to oversee the implementation of any Monetization Vehicle Plan based on the CEO/CRO (or acting as trustee) based upon performance under the plan after all material distributions under the Monetization Vehicle Plan are made.

(e) Participation in Employee Benefit Plans: Mr. Seery shall act as an independent professional contractor and shall not be an employee of the Debtor. Mr. Seery will pay for his own benefits and will not participate under the Debtor’s existing employee benefit plans.

(f) Expenses: Reimbursement of actual and reasonable out-of-pocket expenses in connection with the services provided under the Agreement. Expenses will be generally consistent with expenses incurred to date as a member of the New Board.

(g) Conflicts and Other Engagements. Mr. Seery is not aware of any potential conflicts of interest based on his understanding of the various parties involved in the Debtor’s chapter 11 case to date. Mr. Seery shall not be precluded from representing or working with or for any other person or entity in matters not directly related to the services being provided to the Debtor under the Agreement. Mr. Seery shall not undertake any engagements directly adverse to the Debtor during the term of his engagement.

(h) Termination. The Agreement may be terminated at any time by either the Debtor or by Mr. Seery upon two weeks advance written notice given to the other party. The termination of the Agreement shall not affect Mr. Seery's right to receive, and the Debtor's obligation to pay, any and all Base Compensation and Expenses incurred (even if not billed) prior to the giving of any termination notice; provided however, that (1) if the Agreement is terminated by Mr. Seery, the amount of Base Compensation owed shall be calculated based on the actual number of days worked during the applicable month and Mr. Seery will return any Base Compensation received in excess of such amount, and (2) if the Agreement is terminated by the Debtor, Base Compensation shall be deemed fully earned as of the first day of any month. Bonus Compensation shall be earned by Mr. Seery immediately upon his termination by the Debtor; provided however, Mr. Seery shall not be entitled to Bonus Compensation if: (A) the Debtor's chapter 11 case is converted to chapter 7 or dismissed; (B) a chapter 11 trustee is appointed in the Debtor's chapter 11 case; (C) Mr. Seery is terminated by the Debtor for Cause;<sup>8</sup> or (D) Mr. Seery resigns prior to confirmation of a plan or court approval of a sale as described in the Fees and Expense/Compensation for Services section of the Agreement.

(j) Conditional Requirement to Seek Further Court Approval of Agreement. The Committee may, upon two weeks advance written notice to the Debtor, require the Debtor to file a motion with the Bankruptcy Court on normal notice seeking a continuation of the Agreement and if such motion is not filed, the Agreement will terminate at the expiration of such two week period. If the Debtor files such motion, Mr. Seery will be entitled to the Base Compensation through and including the date on which a final order is entered on such motion by this Court. Notwithstanding anything herein to the contrary, the Committee may not deliver such notice to the Debtor until a date which is more than ninety days following the date this Court enters an order approving the Agreement.

(j) Indemnification. the Debtor agrees (i) to indemnify and hold harmless Mr. Seery and any of his affiliates (the "Indemnified Party"), to the fullest extent lawful, from and against any and all losses, claims, costs, damages or liabilities (or actions in respect thereof), joint or several, arising out of or related to the Agreement, Mr. Seery's engagement under the Agreement, or any actions taken or omitted to be taken by Mr. Seery or the Debtor in connection with the Agreement and (ii) to reimburse the Indemnified Party for all expenses (including, without limitation, the reasonable fees and expenses of counsel) as they are incurred in connection with investigating, preparing, pursuing, defending, settling or compromising any action, suit, dispute, inquiry, investigation or proceeding, pending or threatened, brought by or against any person (including, without limitation, any shareholder or derivative action, or any fee dispute), arising out of or relating to the Agreement, or such engagement, or actions. However, the Debtor shall not be liable under the foregoing indemnity and reimbursement agreement for any loss, claim, damage or liability which is finally judicially determined by a court of competent jurisdiction to have resulted primarily from the willful misconduct or gross negligence of the Indemnified Party.

The Debtor has agreed to extend the indemnification and insurance currently covering Mr. Seery's role as a director to fully cover Mr. Seery in his roles as chief executive officer and chief restructuring officer. The Debtor is currently working to extend such coverage.

Mr. Seery is also entitled to any indemnification or other similar provisions under the Debtor's existing or future insurance policies, including any policy tails obtained (or which may be obtained in the future), by the Debtor.

Relief Requested

20. By this Motion, the Debtor seeks the entry of the Proposed Order authorizing the Debtor to retain Mr. Seery pursuant to the terms of the Agreement, nunc pro tunc to March 15, 2020. The Motion also seeks to amend the Foreign Representative Order to appoint Mr. Seery as the Debtor's Foreign Representative, Bermuda Foreign Representative and Cayman Foreign Representative in the stead of Mr. Sharp.

21. The Debtor believes that the Debtor's retention of a chief executive officer and chief restructuring officer constitutes an act in the ordinary course of business, and consequently, is permissible under Bankruptcy Code section 363(c) without Court approval. However, out of an abundance of caution, the Debtor seeks this Court's approval of the Agreement under Bankruptcy Code section 363(b).

Basis For Relief

B. The Debtor's Entry Into the Agreement is a Valid Exercise of the Debtor's Business Judgment and the Proposed Compensation is Appropriate Under the Circumstances and Within the Range of Similar Market Transactions

22. The Compensation Committee's decision for the Debtor to retain Mr. Seery pursuant to the terms of the Agreement should be approved pursuant to sections 363(b) and 105(a) of the Bankruptcy Code. Section 363(b)(1) of the Bankruptcy Code provides, in relevant part: "[t]he trustee, after notice and a hearing, may use, sell, or lease, other than in the ordinary course of business, property of the estate." 11 U.S.C. § 363(b)(1). In addition, section 105(a) of the Bankruptcy Code provides that the Court "may issue any order, process, or judgment that is necessary or appropriate to carry out the provisions of [the Bankruptcy Code]." 11 U.S.C. § 105(a).

23. The proposed use, sale, or lease of property of the estate may be approved under Bankruptcy Code section 363(b) if it is supported by sound business justification. See In re Montgomery Ward, 242 B.R. 147, 153 (D. Del. 1999) ("In determining whether to authorize the use, sale or lease of property of the estate under this section, courts require the debtor to show that a sound business purpose justifies such actions"). Although established in the context of a proposed sale, the "business judgment" standard has been applied in non-sale situations. See, e.g., Inst. Creditors of Cont'l Air Lines v. Cont'l Air Lines (In re Cont'l Air Lines), 780 F.2d 1223, 1226 (5th Cir. 1986) (applying the "business judgment" standard in context of proposed “use” of estate property). Moreover, pursuant to section 105, this Court has expansive equitable powers to fashion any order or decree which is in the interest of preserving or protecting the value of a debtor’s assets. 11 U.S.C. § 105(a).

24. It is well established that courts are unwilling to interfere with corporate decisions absent a showing of bad faith, self-interest, or gross negligence, and will uphold a board’s decisions as long as they are attributable to “any rational business purpose.” Unocal Corp. v. Mesa Petroleum Co., 493 A.2d 946, 954 (Del. 1985) (citing Sinclair Oil Corp. v. Levien, 280 A.2d 717, 720 (Del. 1971)). Whether or not there are sufficient business reasons to justify the use of assets of the estate depends upon the facts and circumstances of each case. See Comm. of Equity Sec. Holders v. Lionel Corp. (In re Lionel Corp.), 722 F.2d 1063, 1071 (2d Cir. 1983). In this case, the Debtor has ample justification to retain Mr. Seery as the Debtor’s chief executive officer and chief restructuring officer pursuant to the Agreement. The Final Term Sheet expressly contemplated that the New Board could appoint a chief executive officer and that the chief executive officer could also be one of the Independent Directors. Because Mr. Seery will also be serving as chief restructuring officer, it is not necessary to have two separate ranking chief restructuring officers, especially considering that Mr. Sharp (the current chief restructuring officer) and his firm has agreed to continue to provide financial advisory services on behalf of the Debtor.<sup>9</sup> Mr. Seery is well- qualified to serve as the Debtor’s chief executive officer and chief restructuring officer.

<sup>9</sup> See Amended Motion of the Debtor Pursuant to 11 U.S.C. §§ 105(a) and 363(b) to Employ and Retain Development Specialists, Inc. to Provide Financial Advisory and Restructuring-Related Services, Nunc Pro Tunc, to March 15, 2020 filed concurrently herewith

25. The Compensation Committee negotiated the Agreement in good faith and at arm's length. The Compensation Committee also worked with the Debtor's compensation consultant, Mercer (US) Inc., to determine the appropriate compensation for Mr. Seery as chief executive officer and chief restructuring officer. The Compensation Committee, therefore, believes that the terms of the Agreement are reasonable, are consistent with the market within the Debtor's industry, and are entirely appropriate given the scope of Mr. Seery's duties. Accordingly, entry into the Agreement is a sound exercise of the Debtor's business judgment.

26. Finally, the Debtor requests that the Court apply the same criteria by which parties in interest must first petition the Court prior to asserting claims against the Independent Director approved in the Settlement Order be extended to Mr. Seery in his capacity as chief executive officer and chief restructuring officer contemplated by this Motion. See Settlement Order, ¶ 10. The rationale for the Court to first determine whether or not a colorable claim or cause of action can be maintained against the Mr. Seery, as one of the Independent Directors, is equally applicable to Mr. Seery in his capacity as chief executive officer and chief restructuring officer, will further aid in the implementation of the Settlement Order, and discourage frivolous litigation. As was true in the Settlement Order with respect to the Independent Directors, no parties will be prejudiced by having to first apply to this Court to determine the propriety of any hypothetical claim that may be asserted against Mr. Seery in his officer capacities of the Debtor.

C. The Debtor Has Satisfied Bankruptcy Code Section 503(c)(3)

27. Bankruptcy Code section 503(c)(3) provides that “transfers or obligations that are outside the ordinary course of business . . . including transfers made to . . . consultants hired after the date of the filing of the petition” are not allowed if they are “not justified by the facts and circumstances of the case.” 11 U.S.C. § 503(c)(3). Courts generally use a form of the “business judgment” and the “facts and circumstances” standard. See In re Pilgrim’s Pride Corp., 401 B.R. 229, 236-37 (Bankr. N.D. Tex. 2009) (citing In re Dura Auto Sys., Inc., Case No. 06-11202 (Bankr. D. Del. June 29, 2007) and In re Supplements LT, Inc., Case No. 08-10446 (KJC) (Bankr. D. Del. Apr. 14, 2008)). Specifically, the court examines first, whether the transaction meets the Debtor’s business judgment standard, and second, whether the facts and circumstances justify the transaction. See In re Pilgrim’s Pride Corp., 401 B.R. at 237 (Bankr. N.D. Tex. 2009).

28. The Debtor submits that the proposed transaction is within the ordinary course of its business and thus that Bankruptcy Code section 503(c)(3) does not apply to the Agreement. Nevertheless, for the reasons stated above — the benefits from Mr. Seery’s leadership skills and industry experience — even if this were outside the ordinary course of business, entry into the Agreement is well within the Debtor’s business judgment as applied to the facts and circumstances of the Debtor. Further, the facts and circumstances of this case support entry into the relationship under the Agreement where the Debtor will benefit from the ability to retain Mr. Seery at a critical juncture to ongoing restructuring efforts.

29. For the reasons set forth above, the Debtor submits that the relief requested herein is in the best interest of the Debtor, its estate, creditors, stakeholders, and other parties in interest, and therefore, should be granted.

D. The Proposed Chief Executive Officer and Chief Restructuring Officer Should Also Serve as the Debtor's Foreign Representative

30. Bankruptcy Code section 1505 provides that:

A trustee or another entity (including an examiner) may be authorized by the court to act in a foreign country on behalf of an estate created under section 541. An entity authorized to act under this section may act in any way permitted by the applicable foreign law.

11 U.S.C. § 1505.

31. The Debtor respectfully submits that Mr. Seery is qualified and capable of representing the Debtor's estate as the Foreign Representative. The Debtor believes it is appropriate for Mr. Seery, as an officer of the Debtor, to replace Mr. Sharp as Foreign Representative inasmuch as Mr. Sharp will no longer be an officer of the Debtor if the Motion is granted. In order to avoid any possible confusion or doubt regarding this authority and to comply with the requirements of Part XVII of the Cayman Law, the Debtor seeks entry of an order, pursuant to section 1505 of the Bankruptcy Code, explicitly substituting Mr. Seery in the place of Mr. Sharp as the Debtor's Foreign Representative, including specifically to serve as the Bermuda Foreign Representative and Cayman Foreign Representative.

32. For the reasons set forth in the Foreign Representative Motion, authorizing Mr. Seery to act as the Foreign Representative on behalf of the Debtor's estate in Bermuda, the Cayman Islands or any other foreign proceeding will allow coordination of this chapter 11 case and each of the foreign proceedings and provide an effective mechanism to protect and maximize the value of the Debtor's assets and estate. Courts have routinely granted relief similar to that requested herein in other large chapter 11 cases where a debtor has foreign assets or operations requiring a recognition proceeding. See, e.g., In re CJ Holding Co., No. 16-33590 (Bankr. S.D.

Tex. July 21, 2016); ECF No. 59; In re CHC Group Ltd., No. 16-31854 (Bankr. N.D. Tex. Sept. 20, 2016), ECF No. 884; In re Ultra Petroleum Corp., No. 16-32202 (Bankr. S.D. Tex. May 3, 2016); In re Digital Domain Media Grp., Inc., No. 12-12568 (BLS) (Bankr. D. Del. Sept. 12, 2012); ECF No. 82; In re Probe Resources US Ltd., No. 10-40395 (Bankr. S.D. Tex. Mar. 21, 2011); ECF N. 320; In re Bigler LP, No. 09-38188 (Bankr. S.D. Tex. Jan. 12, 2010), ECF No. 159; In re Horsehead Holdings Corp., No. 16-10287 (CSS) (Bankr. D. Del. Feb. 4, 2016); In re Colt Holding Co. LLC, No. 15-11296 (LSS) (Bankr. D. Del. June 16, 2015). The Debtor believes it is appropriate for one of its officers to serve as the Foreign Representative. In several jurisdictions, an officer or someone acting in a similar capacity is a prerequisite to serve as a Foreign Representative.<sup>10</sup> As more fully explained in the Foreign Representative Motion, the Debtor has assets in jurisdictions other than the United States, including in Bermuda and the Cayman Islands. To the extent any disputes with respect to such assets arise, it is critical that the Foreign Representative be permitted to appear on behalf of the Debtor and its estate in any court in which a foreign proceeding may be pending.

Notice

33. Notice of this Motion shall be given to the following parties or, in lieu thereof, to their counsel, if known: (a) the Office of the United States Trustee; (b) the Office of the United States Attorney for the Northern District of Texas; (c) the Debtor's principal secured

<sup>10</sup> See e.g. Part XVII, Section 240 of the Companies Law (2018 Revision) of the Cayman Islands requiring that the foreign representative be "a trustee, liquidator or other official in respect of a debtor for the purposes of a foreign bankruptcy proceeding." In addition, and as more fully explained in the Foreign Representative Motion, Bermuda common law and conflict of laws principles will recognize the authority of a foreign insolvency officer appointed in proceedings in the jurisdiction of incorporation of a company (or, in the instant case, the jurisdiction of the establishment of a limited partnership) to act on behalf of and in the name of the company (or partnership) in Bermuda.

parties; (d)counsel to the Committee; and (e)parties requesting notice pursuant to Bankruptcy Rule 2002. The Debtor submits that, in light of the nature of the relief requested, no other or further notice need be given.

Conclusion

WHEREFORE, the Debtor respectfully requests that the Court enter an order, substantially in the form annexed hereto as Exhibit A, granting the relief requested in the Motion and such other and further relief as may be just and proper.

CONFIDENTIAL

The Board of Directors of Strand Advisors, Inc.
c/o Highland Capital Management, L.P.
300 Crescent Court, Suite 700
Dallas, Texas 75201

Re: Highland Capital Management L.P. (the “Company”)

Dear Fellow Board Members:

This letter agreement (“Agreement”) sets forth the terms and conditions of the engagement of the undersigned James P. Seery, Jr. (“I”, “me” or “my”), as Chief Executive Officer (“CEO”) and Chief Restructuring Officer (“CRO”), effective as of March 15, 2020 (the “Commencement Date”), by the Company and its affiliates to perform financial advisory services as detailed below.

I appreciate the trust you have placed in me by asking me to assume these roles and thank you for the opportunity to continue to work with you to restructure the Company.

Roles:

I will serve as the CEO and CRO of the Company during its Chapter 11 bankruptcy case (the “Bankruptcy Case”) currently pending in the United States Bankruptcy Court for the Northern District of Texas (the “Bankruptcy Court”).

In those roles, I will be responsible for overall management of the business of the Company in Chapter 11 including, directing the reorganization and restructuring of the Company, monetization of assets, resolution of claims, development and negotiation of a plan of reorganization or liquidation, and implementation of such a plan.

My direct reports will include the individuals at the Company that currently report to the Board of Directors of Strand Advisors, Inc. (the “Board”) or such other individuals employed by the Company as I determine should report to directly to me. In the event that the Board determines to restructure the reporting lines or functions of the Company, my direct reports will be amended in accordance with the Board approved restructuring.

At all times, I will remain a full member of the Board entitled to vote on all matters other than those on which I am conflicted.

I will devote as much time to this engagement as I determine is required to execute my responsibilities as CEO and CRO. I will have no specific on-site requirements in Dallas, but will be on site as much as I determine is necessary to execute my responsibilities as CEO and CRO, consistent with Covid-19 orders applicable to Dallas and New York City.

Limitations on Services

My services under this engagement are limited to those specifically noted in this Agreement and do not include legal, accounting, or tax-related assistance or advisory services. For the avoidance of doubt, I am not providing any legal services in connection with this engagement and will have not any duties as a lawyer to the Company, the Board, or any of the Company's employees. The accuracy and completeness of all information submitted to me by the Company are the sole responsibility of the Company, and I will be entitled to rely on such information without independent investigation or verification.

In my role as CEO and CRO, I will act as an independent professional contractor to the Company and will not be an employee of the Company. I will provide and pay for my own benefits, including medical benefits, by J.P Seery & Co. LLC or otherwise.

Fees and Expenses:

In consideration of my acceptance of this engagement and performance of the services pursuant to this Agreement, the Company shall pay the following:

1. Compensation for Services:

- a. Base Compensation: As compensation for my services as CEO and CRO of the Company, the Company shall pay me $150,000.00 per calendar month ("Base Compensation"). Base Compensation shall be due and payable at the start of each calendar month. Consistent with current Board compensation practice, invoices rendered by me to the Company are due and payable by the Company on receipt. Payment of the Base Compensation will be retroactive to March 15, 2020.
- b. Bonus Compensation/Restructuring Fee:
  - i. The Company has agreed to pay me a restructuring fee upon confirmation of either a Case Resolution Plan or a Monetization Vehicle Plan in each case as defined below (the "Restructuring Fee").
  - ii. Case Resolution Restructuring Plan
    1. On confirmation of any plan or reorganization or liquidation based on resolution of a material amount of the outstanding claims and their respective treatment, even if such plan includes (x) a debtor/creditor trust or similar monetization and claims resolution vehicle, (y) post-confirmation litigation of certain of the claims, and (z) post-confirmation monetization of debtor assets (a "Case Resolution Plan"):
      - a. $1,000,000 on confirmation of the Case Resolution Plan;
      - b. $500,000 on the effective date of the Case Resolution Plan; and
      - c. $750,000 on completion of cash or property distributions to creditors as contemplated by the Case Resolution Plan.

iii. Debtor/Creditor Monetization Vehicle Restructuring Fee:

1. On confirmation of any plan or reorganization or liquidation based on a debtor/creditor trust or similar asset monetization and claims resolution vehicle that does not include agreement among the debtor and creditors on a material amount of the outstanding claims and their respective treatment at confirmation (a “Monetization Vehicle Plan”):
  - a. $500,000 on confirmation of the Monetization Vehicle Plan;
  - b. $250,000 on the effective date of the Monetization Vehicle Plan; and
  - c. A contingent restructuring fee to be determined by the board or oversight committee installed to oversee the implementation of any Monetization Vehicle Plan based on the CEO/CRO (or acting as trustee) based upon performance under the plan after all material distributions under the Monetization Vehicle Plan are made.
2. Out-of-Pocket Expenses: In addition to the Base and Bonus Compensation, I shall be entitled to reimbursement for actual and reasonable out-of-pocket expenses (“Expenses”) incurred in connection with the provision of services hereunder. Expenses will be billed along with Base Compensation and shall be paid by the Company at the same time. Expenses will be generally consistent with expenses incurred to date as a member of the Board.

Bankruptcy Court Approval

Notwithstanding anything herein to the contrary, I understand that this Agreement is contingent, in all respects, on the approval of the Bankruptcy Court. I also understand that the Company will seek approval of this Agreement in stages and that the Company will first seek approval of my retention as CEO and CRO and the payment of the Base Compensation and will defer seeking Bankruptcy Court approval of the Restructuring Fee until there have been further developments in the Bankruptcy Case.

Conflicts and Other Engagements

I am not aware of any potential conflicts of interest based on my understanding of the various parties involved in this matter to date.

The Company is aware that this engagement is not an exclusive engagement of my time, and that I have and will continue to have other business engagements and investments unrelated to the Company. Nothing in this Agreement or otherwise precludes me from representing or working with or for any other person or entity in matters not directly related to the services being provided to the Company under this Agreement. However, I will not take on any engagements directly adverse to the Company during the term of this engagement.

Privilege

I understand that in the course of this engagement, I may become party to or my services may become part of work product of legal counsel to the Company (the Company's in-house and outside counsel are collectively referred to as "Counsel"), and all communications between Counsel and me relating to this engagement shall be protected from disclosure to third parties under the attorney work product doctrine and/or the attorney-client privilege, and, therefore, shall be treated by me as privileged and confidential. I further understand that the Company has the exclusive right to waive the attorney-client privilege, and Counsel has the exclusive right to waive the protections afforded under the attorney work-product doctrine.

Termination of Engagement

This Agreement may be terminated at any time by either the Company or by me upon two weeks advance written notice given to the other party. The termination of this Agreement shall not affect my right to receive, and the Company's obligation to pay, any and all Base Compensation and Expenses incurred (even if not billed) prior to the giving of the termination notice; provided, however, that (i) if this Agreement is terminated by me, the amount of Base Compensation owed shall be calculated based on the actual number of days worked during the applicable month and I will return any Base Compensation received in excess of such amount and (ii) if this Agreement is terminated by the Company, Base Compensation shall be deemed fully earned as of the first day of any month. Bonus Compensation shall be earned by me immediately upon termination of me by the Company; provided, however, I shall not be entitled to Bonus Compensation if (a) the Bankruptcy Case is converted to chapter 7 or dismissed; (b) a chapter 11 trustee is appointed in the Bankruptcy Case; (c) I am terminated by the Company for Cause; or (d) I resign prior to confirmation of a plan or court approval of a sale as described in the Fees and Expense/Compensation for Services section hereof. For purposes of this Agreement, "Cause" means any of the following grounds for termination of my engagement, in each case as reasonably determined by the Board within 60 days of the Board becoming aware of the existence of the event or circumstance: (A) fraud, embezzlement, or any act of moral turpitude or willful misconduct on my part; (B) conviction of or the entry of a plea of nolo contendere by me for any felony; (C) the willful breach by me of any material term of this Agreement; or (D) the willful failure or refusal by me to perform my duties to the Company, which, if capable of being cured, is not cured on or before fifteen (15) days after my receipt of written notice from the Company.

Conditional Requirement to Seek Further Bankruptcy Court Approval of Agreement

The official committee of unsecured creditors in the Bankruptcy Case (the "Committee") may, upon two weeks advance written notice to the Company, require the Company to file a motion with the Bankruptcy Court on normal notice seeking a continuation of this Agreement and if such motion is not filed, this Agreement will terminate at the expiration of such two week period. If the Company files such motion, I will be entitled to my Base Compensation through and including the date on which a final order is entered on such motion by the Bankruptcy Court. Notwithstanding anything herein to the contrary, the Committee may not deliver such notice to the Company until a date which is more than ninety days following the date the Bankruptcy Court enters an order approving this Agreement.

Indemnification

As a material part of the consideration to me under this Agreement, the Company agrees (i) to indemnify and hold harmless me and any of my affiliates (the “Indemnified Party”), to the fullest extent lawful, from and against any and all losses, claims, costs, damages or liabilities (or actions in respect thereof), joint or several, arising out of or related to this Agreement, my engagement under this Agreement, or any actions taken or omitted to be taken by me or the Company in connection with this Agreement and (ii) to reimburse the Indemnified Party for all expenses (including, without limitation, the reasonable fees and expenses of counsel) as they are incurred in connection with investigating, preparing, pursuing, defending, settling or compromising any action, suit, dispute, inquiry, investigation or proceeding, pending or threatened, brought by or against any person (including, without limitation, any shareholder or derivative action, or any fee dispute), arising out of or relating to this Agreement, or such engagement, or actions. However, the Company shall not be liable under the foregoing indemnity and reimbursement agreement for any loss, claim, damage or liability which is finally judicially determined by a court of competent jurisdiction to have resulted primarily from the willful misconduct or gross negligence of the Indemnified Party.

The indemnification and insurance currently covering my role as a director shall be extended to me and fully cover me as provided therein in my roles as CEO and CRO.

Miscellaneous

This Agreement (a) constitutes the entire agreement of the parties with respect to the subject matter hereof and supersedes any other communications, understandings or agreements among the parties with respect to the subject matter hereof, and (b) may be modified, amended or supplemented only by written agreement among all the parties hereto.

This Agreement is subject to approval by the Bankruptcy Court. As part of such approval the Company shall request that any such order approving this Agreement contain a provision extending the protections afforded to me as a Board Member pursuant to Paragraph 10 of the Order Approving Settlement with Official Committee of Unsecured Creditors Regarding Governance of the Debtor and Procedures for Operations in the Ordinary Course entered by the Bankruptcy Court on January 9, 2020 [Docket No. 339] to my role as CEO and CRO, which Order prohibits the commencement of any action against me without first obtaining Bankruptcy Court approval to initiate such action.

This Agreement and all controversies arising from or related to performance hereunder shall be governed by and construed in accordance with the laws of the State of New York. The parties hereby submit to the jurisdiction of and venue in the federal and state courts located in New York City and waive any right to trial by jury in connection with any dispute related to this Agreement.

This Agreement shall be binding upon the parties and their respective successors and assigns, and no other person shall acquire or have any right under or by virtue of this Agreement.

Failure of any party at any time to require performance of any provision of this Agreement shall not affect the right to require full performance thereof at any time thereafter, and the waiver by any party of a breach of such provisions shall not be taken as or held to be a waiver of any subsequent breach or as nullifying the effectiveness of such provision.

Notices provided for in this Agreement shall be in writing and shall be deemed to have been duly given when delivered by hand or overnight courier or three days after it has been mailed by United States registered mail, return receipt requested, postage prepaid, addressed to the respective address set forth above in this Agreement, or to such other address as either party may have furnished to the other in writing in accordance herewith.

This Agreement and my rights and duties hereunder shall not be assignable or delegable by me.

The Company may withhold from any amounts payable under this Agreement such Federal, state and local taxes as may be required to be withheld pursuant to any applicable law or regulation.

This Agreement may be executed (including by electronic execution) in any number of counterparts, each of which when so executed shall be deemed an original, but all such counterparts shall constitute one and the same instrument. Delivery of an executed counterpart of this Agreement by electronic mail shall have the same force and effect as the delivery of an original executed counterpart of this Agreement.

Please confirm the foregoing is in accordance with your understanding by signing and returning a copy of this Agreement, whereupon it shall become binding and enforceable in accordance with its terms.

Engagement Agreement

CONFIDENTIAL

Re: Highland Capital Management L.P. (the “Company”)

This letter agreement (“Agreement”) sets forth the terms and conditions of the engagement of the undersigned James P. Seery, Jr. (“I”, “me” or “my”), as Chief Executive Officer (“CEO”) and Chief Restructuring Officer (“CRO”), effective as of March 15, 2020 (the “Commencement Date”), by the Company and its affiliates to perform financial advisory services as detailed below.

Roles:

In those roles, I will be responsible for overall management of the business of the Company in Chapter 11 including, directing the reorganization and restructuring of the Company, monetization of assets, resolution of claims, development and negotiation of a plan of reorganization or liquidation, and implementation of such a plan.

At all times, I will remain a full member of the Board entitled to vote on all matters other than those on which I am conflicted.

I will devote as much time to this engagement as I determine is required to execute my responsibilities as CEO and CRO. I will have no specific on-site requirements in Dallas, but will be on site as much as I determine is necessary to execute my responsibilities as CEO and CRO, consistent with Covid-19 orders applicable to Dallas and New York City.

My services under this engagement are limited to those specifically noted in this Agreement and do not include legal, accounting, or tax-related assistance or advisory services. For the avoidance of doubt, I am not providing any legal services in connection with this engagement and will have not any duties as a lawyer to the Company, the Board, or any of the Company's employees. The accuracy and completeness of all information submitted to me by the Company are the sole responsibility of the Company, and I will be entitled to rely on such information without independent investigation or verification.

In my role as CEO and CRO, I will act as an independent professional contractor to the Company and will not be an employee of the Company. I will provide and pay for my own benefits, including medical benefits, by J.P Seery & Co. LLC or otherwise.

Fees and Expenses:

In consideration of my acceptance of this engagement and performance of the services pursuant to this Agreement, the Company shall pay the following:

1. Compensation for Services:

- a. Base Compensation: As compensation for my services as CEO and CRO of the Company, the Company shall pay me $150,000.00 per calendar month ("Base Compensation"). Base Compensation shall be due and payable at the start of each calendar month. Consistent with current Board compensation practice, invoices rendered by me to the Company are due and payable by the Company on receipt. Payment of the Base Compensation will be retroactive to March 15, 2020.
- b. Bonus Compensation/Restructuring Fee:
 - i. The Company has agreed to pay me a restructuring fee upon confirmation of either a Case Resolution Plan or a Monetization Vehicle Plan in each case as defined below (the "Restructuring Fee").
 - ii. Case Resolution Restructuring Plan
 1. On confirmation of any plan or reorganization or liquidation based on resolution of a material amount of the outstanding claims and their respective treatment, even if such plan includes (x) a debtor/creditor trust or similar monetization and claims resolution vehicle, (y) post-confirmation litigation of certain of the claims, and (z) post-confirmation monetization of debtor assets (a "Case Resolution Plan"):
 - a. $1,000,000 on confirmation of the Case Resolution Plan;
 - b. $500,000 on the effective date of the Case Resolution Plan; and
 - c. $750,000 on completion of cash or property distributions to creditors as contemplated by the Case Resolution Plan.

iii. Debtor/Creditor Monetization Vehicle Restructuring Fee:

1. On confirmation of any plan or reorganization or liquidation based on a debtor/creditor trust or similar asset monetization and claims resolution vehicle that does not include agreement among the debtor and creditors on a material amount of the outstanding claims and their respective treatment at confirmation (a “Monetization Vehicle Plan”):
 - a. $500,000 on confirmation of the Monetization Vehicle Plan;
 - b. $250,000 on the effective date of the Monetization Vehicle Plan; and
 - c. A contingent restructuring fee to be determined by the board or oversight committee installed to oversee the implementation of any Monetization Vehicle Plan based on the CEO/CRO (or acting as trustee) based upon performance under the plan after all material distributions under the Monetization Vehicle Plan are made.
2. Out-of-Pocket Expenses: In addition to the Base and Bonus Compensation, I shall be entitled to reimbursement for actual and reasonable out-of-pocket expenses (“Expenses”) incurred in connection with the provision of services hereunder. Expenses will be billed along with Base Compensation and shall be paid by the Company at the same time. Expenses will be generally consistent with expenses incurred to date as a member of the Board.

Bankruptcy Court Approval

Notwithstanding anything herein to the contrary, I understand that this Agreement is contingent, in all respects, on the approval of the Bankruptcy Court. I also understand that the Company will seek approval of this Agreement in stages and that the Company will first seek approval of my retention as CEO and CRO and the payment of the Base Compensation and will defer seeking Bankruptcy Court approval of the Restructuring Fee until there have been further developments in the Bankruptcy Case.

Conflicts and Other Engagements

I am not aware of any potential conflicts of interest based on my understanding of the various parties involved in this matter to date.

The Company is aware that this engagement is not an exclusive engagement of my time, and that I have and will continue to have other business engagements and investments unrelated to the Company. Nothing in this Agreement or otherwise precludes me from representing or working with or for any other person or entity in matters not directly related to the services being provided to the Company under this Agreement. However, I will not take on any engagements directly adverse to the Company during the term of this engagement.

Privilege

I understand that in the course of this engagement, I may become party to or my services may become part of work product of legal counsel to the Company (the Company's in-house and outside counsel are collectively referred to as "Counsel"), and all communications between Counsel and me relating to this engagement shall be protected from disclosure to third parties under the attorney work product doctrine and/or the attorney-client privilege, and, therefore, shall be treated by me as privileged and confidential. I further understand that the Company has the exclusive right to waive the attorney-client privilege, and Counsel has the exclusive right to waive the protections afforded under the attorney work-product doctrine.

This Agreement may be terminated at any time by either the Company or by me upon two weeks advance written notice given to the other party. The termination of this Agreement shall not affect my right to receive, and the Company's obligation to pay, any and all Base Compensation and Expenses incurred (even if not billed) prior to the giving of the termination notice; provided, however, that (i) if this Agreement is terminated by me, the amount of Base Compensation owed shall be calculated based on the actual number of days worked during the applicable month and I will return any Base Compensation received in excess of such amount and (ii) if this Agreement is terminated by the Company, Base Compensation shall be deemed fully earned as of the first day of any month. Bonus Compensation shall be earned by me immediately upon termination of me by the Company; provided, however, I shall not be entitled to Bonus Compensation if (a) the Bankruptcy Case is converted to chapter 7 or dismissed; (b) a chapter 11 trustee is appointed in the Bankruptcy Case; (c) I am terminated by the Company for Cause; or (d) I resign prior to confirmation of a plan or court approval of a sale as described in the Fees and Expense/Compensation for Services section hereof. For purposes of this Agreement, "Cause" means any of the following grounds for termination of my engagement, in each case as reasonably determined by the Board within 60 days of the Board becoming aware of the existence of the event or circumstance: (A) fraud, embezzlement, or any act of moral turpitude or willful misconduct on my part; (B) conviction of or the entry of a plea of nolo contendere by me for any felony; (C) the willful breach by me of any material term of this Agreement; or (D) the willful failure or refusal by me to perform my duties to the Company, which, if capable of being cured, is not cured on or before fifteen (15) days after my receipt of written notice from the Company.

Conditional Requirement to Seek Further Bankruptcy Court Approval of Agreement

The official committee of unsecured creditors in the Bankruptcy Case (the "Committee") may, upon two weeks advance written notice to the Company, require the Company to file a motion with the Bankruptcy Court on normal notice seeking a continuation of this Agreement and if such motion is not filed, this Agreement will terminate at the expiration of such two week period. If the Company files such motion, I will be entitled to my Base Compensation through and including the date on which a final order is entered on such motion by the Bankruptcy Court. Notwithstanding anything herein to the contrary, the Committee may not deliver such notice to the Company until a date which is more than ninety days following the date the Bankruptcy Court enters an order approving this Agreement.

Failure of any party at any time to require performance of any provision of this Agreement shall not affect the right to require full performance thereof at any time thereafter, and the waiver by any party of a breach of such provisions shall not be taken as or held to be a waiver of any subsequent breach or as nullifying the effectiveness of such provision.

Notices provided for in this Agreement shall be in writing and shall be deemed to have been duly given when delivered by hand or overnight courier or three days after it has been mailed by United States registered mail, return receipt requested, postage prepaid, addressed to the respective address set forth above in this Agreement, or to such other address as either party may have furnished to the other in writing in accordance herewith.

This Agreement and my rights and duties hereunder shall not be assignable or delegable by me.

The Company may withhold from any amounts payable under this Agreement such Federal, state and local taxes as may be required to be withheld pursuant to any applicable law or regulation.

This Agreement may be executed (including by electronic execution) in any number of counterparts, each of which when so executed shall be deemed an original, but all such counterparts shall constitute one and the same instrument. Delivery of an executed counterpart of this Agreement by electronic mail shall have the same force and effect as the delivery of an original executed counterpart of this Agreement.

Mr. Pomerantz,

Thank you for sending the orders and for keeping in mind that we're new to a matter that, in the bankruptcy court, has over 2,000 filings. We may well have missed something. But we have seen and carefully studied the orders that you sent. And we do not believe they prohibit the motion we are filing, which briefs them and explains why we don't believe they prohibit our motion.

We also don't think the district court will both decide that we're wrong about this and nonetheless grant our motion. As I read the orders, that's the only theoretical way that a motion for leave could violate them.

And if the district court does grant our motion for the reasons we ask—because it finds that the bankruptcy court exceeded its jurisdiction or because it finds that our motion for leave (which can be referred) complies with the bankruptcy court orders—then we don't think the bankruptcy court can or will overrule the district court.

So please know that we are not willfully violating those orders, as your email suggests. Quite the contrary, we are giving them careful attention. Which is why we are seeking leave rather than amending as of right.

I appreciate that you are new to the case but you need to be aware of the attached July 9, 2020 and July 16, 2020 Bankruptcy Court orders that prohibit Mr. Seery (among others) from being sued without first obtaining authority from the Bankruptcy Court. If you proceed to amend the complaint as you suggest below without first obtaining Bankruptcy Court approval we reserve all rights to take appropriate action and seek appropriate relief from the Bankruptcy Court.

Also please keep my partner John Morris copied on emails.

Mr. Pomerantz,

Mazin and I intend to move for leave today in the district court seeking permission to amend our complaint to add claims against Mr. Seery. They are the same causes of action. We believe we are entitled to amend as a matter of course. But we will also raise and brief the bankruptcy court's orders re the same.

Can we put your client down as unopposed?

We appreciate your prompt reply.

Highland Capital Management, L.P.

Chapter 11

Case No. 19-34054 (SGJ)

ANNEX TO PROOF OF CLAIM

1. This annex (the “Annex”) is part of and is incorporated by reference into the attached proof of claim (together with the Annex, the “Proof of Claim”) and describes in more detail the claims of HarbourVest 2017 Global Fund L.P. (the “Claimant”) against the debtor Highland Capital Management, L.P. (the “Debtor”).

2. The Claimant is a limited partner in one of the Debtor’s managed vehicles, Highland CLO Funding, Ltd. (“HCLOF”). Acis Capital Management GP, L.L.C. and Acis Capital Management L.P. (together, “Acis”), the portfolio manager for HCLOF, filed for chapter 11 in the United States Bankruptcy Court for the Northern District of Texas (the “Court”) on January 30, 2018. The Acis bankruptcy filing resulted from a dispute between Debtor and its former employee, Joshua Terry, who served as portfolio manager for Debtor’s collateral loan obligations funds (“CLO”) business. See, e.g., Findings of Fact and Conclusions of Law in Support of Orders for Relief Issued After Trial on Contested Involuntary Bankruptcy Petition (“Involuntary Petition Ruling”) [Case No. 18-30264 (SGJ), Dkt. No. 118]. As noted in more detail in the Court’s Bench Ruling and Memorandum of Law in Support of: (A) Final Approval of Disclosure Statement; and (B) Confirmation of Chapter 11 Trustee’s Third Amended Joint Plan (“Confirmation Ruling”) [Case No. 18-30264 (SGJ), Dkt. No 827] and related filings in the Acis bankruptcy cases, there has been extensive litigation regarding alleged improper conduct associated with the management of, and transactions relating to, Acis, including transactions with and related to HCLOF. See, e.g., id.; Second Amended Complaint [Case No. 18-03078(SGJ), Dkt. No. 157].

3. Due to the Acis bankruptcy and certain conduct alleged to have been undertaken by the Debtor (to whom Acis subcontracted its functions) and Debtor's employees (who were officers, employees, and agents of Acis), the Claimant has suffered significant harm. Such harm includes, but is not limited to, financial harm resulting from, among other things (i) court orders in the Acis bankruptcy that prevented certain CLOs in which HCLOF was invested from being refinanced or reset and court orders that otherwise regulated the activity of HCLOF; and (ii) significant fees and expenses related to the Acis bankruptcy that were charged to HCLOF. See, e.g., Involuntary Petition Ruling ¶ 27; see also Confirmation Ruling.

4. Claimant hereby files this Claim to assert any and all of its rights to payment, remedies, and other claims (including contingent or unliquidated claims) against the Debtor in connection with and relating to the foregoing harm, including for any amounts due or owed under the various agreements with the Debtor in connection with HCLOF (including, but not limited to, the Subscription and Transfer Agreement for Ordinary Shares Highland CLO Funding, Ltd., dated as of November 15, 2017, the Members Agreement Relating to the Company, dated as of November 15, 2017, the Highland CLO Funding, Ltd. Offering Memorandum dated November 15, 2017), and any and all legal and equitable claims or causes of action relating to the foregoing harm.

5. The Claimant has not attached the documentation supporting this Claim to this Proof of Claim because the documentation is voluminous and the Debtor has copies of such documents. However, any requested relevant documents will be provided to the Official Committee of Unsecured Creditors, the Court, the United States Trustee and the Debtor in the event of a dispute regarding this Proof of Claim and will be made available for review by other parties in interest as appropriate upon reasonable request and after consultation with the Debtor and execution of appropriate confidentiality agreements.

6. This Proof of Claim is filed with a full reservation of rights, including the right to amend, update, modify, supplement or otherwise revise this Proof of Claim in any respect at any time. The filing of this Proof of Claim is not and should not be construed to be: (a) a waiver or release of any of the Claimant's rights against any person, entity or property accruing to it against the Debtor and its estate; (b) a waiver of the Claimant's rights to assert that 28 U.S.C. § 157(b)(2)(C) is unconstitutional; (c) a consent or submission by the Claimant, or waiver of the Claimant's rights to object, to the jurisdiction of this Court with respect to the subject matter of any of the claims described herein, or any objection or other proceeding commenced with respect to any of the claims described herein, or any other proceeding commenced in the Debtor's chapter 11 case against or otherwise involving the Claimant; (d) a waiver or release of any right of the Claimant, or consent by the Claimant, to a trial by jury in this or any other court or proceeding; (e) a waiver or release of, or any limitation on, any right of the Claimant to have orders entered only after de novo review by a United States District Judge; (f) an election of remedies; or (g) a waiver of, or any other limitation on, any right of the Claimant to request withdrawal of the reference with respect to any matter, including, without limitation, any matter relating to this Proof of Claim.

7. Claimant's express reservation of all rights and causes of action, includes, without limitation, contingent or unliquidated rights that it or its affiliates may have against the Debtor, as well as defenses, offsets and counterclaims. This description and classification of claims by the Claimant is not a concession or admission as to the correct characterization or treatment of any such claims or a waiver of any rights of the Claimant.

8. Furthermore, the Claimant expressly reserves its rights to (a) file additional proofs of claim for additional claims that may be based on the same or additional documents or facts or other liability or indebtedness of the Debtor to the Claimant under contract or otherwise; (b) assert claims for cure of defaults in any agreement that the Debtor or any trustee appointed in this chapter 11 case may seek to assume; (c) assert any and all other claims, causes of action, defenses, offsets or counterclaims against the Debtor or any other parties; (d) file a request for payment of an administrative expense under 11 U.S.C. §§ 503 and 507 for any or all of the claims or rights of payment described above and any additional amounts; and (e) seek recovery through any relevant third parties, including any of the Debtor's insurance coverage providers.

9. This Proof of Claim does not encompass all claims that the Claimant or its affiliates may have that arise after the Petition Date and are entitled to administrative priority, and the Claimant expressly reserves its right to file such claim or any similar claim at the appropriate time, including any such post-petition claims arising under these service contracts.

10. This Proof of Claim is filed without prejudice to the filing by the Claimant of additional proofs of claim or requests for payment with respect to any other indebtedness, liability or obligation of the Debtor. The Claimant does not, by this Proof of Claim or any amendment or other action, waive any rights with respect to any scheduled claim.

11. The Claimant reserves the right to withdraw, amend, clarify, modify or supplement this Proof of Claim to assert additional claims, causes of action or additional grounds for this Proof of Claim (including adding any additional contracts, agreements, obligations or other relationships between the Claimant and the Debtor), as well as the right to file any separate or additional proofs of claim with respect to the claims set forth herein or otherwise, including for the purpose of fixing and liquidating any contingent or unliquidated claim set forth herein, or to file additional proofs of claim in respect of additional amounts or for any other reason.

12. In executing and filing this Proof of Claim, the Claimant does not submit to the jurisdiction of the Bankruptcy Court for the Northern District of Texas for any purpose other than with respect to this Proof of Claim against the Debtor, and does not waive or release any rights or remedies against any other person or entity that may be liable for all or part of this Proof of Claim.

13. The Claimant otherwise reserves its rights, and nothing herein shall prejudice the Claimant's rights, under any order of the Court previously entered in this chapter 11 case.

14. Payments on account of this Proof of Claim should be sent to the Claimant at the address specified for notices to the Claimant in Part 1.3 of the Proof of Claim.

Case No. 19-34054 (SGJ)

ANNEX TO PROOF OF CLAIM

1. This annex (the “Annex”) is part of and is incorporated by reference into the attached proof of claim (together with the Annex, the “Proof of Claim”) and describes in more detail the claims of HarbourVest 2017 Global AIF L.P. (the “Claimant”) against the debtor Highland Capital Management, L.P. (the “Debtor”).

2. The Claimant is a limited partner in one of the Debtor’s managed vehicles, Highland CLO Funding, Ltd. (“HCLOF”). Acis Capital Management GP, L.L.C. and Acis Capital Management L.P. (together, “Acis”), the portfolio manager for HCLOF, filed for chapter 11 in the United States Bankruptcy Court for the Northern District of Texas (the “Court”) on January 30, 2018. The Acis bankruptcy filing resulted from a dispute between Debtor and its former employee, Joshua Terry, who served as portfolio manager for Debtor’s collateral loan obligations funds (“CLO”) business. See, e.g., Findings of Fact and Conclusions of Law in Support of Orders for Relief Issued After Trial on Contested Involuntary Bankruptcy Petition (“Involuntary Petition Ruling”) [Case No. 18-30264 (SGJ), Dkt. No. 118]. As noted in more detail in the Court’s Bench Ruling and Memorandum of Law in Support of: (A) Final Approval of Disclosure Statement; and (B) Confirmation of Chapter 11 Trustee’s Third Amended Joint Plan (“Confirmation Ruling”) [Case No. 18-30264 (SGJ), Dkt. No 827] and related filings in the Acis bankruptcy cases, there has been extensive litigation regarding alleged improper conduct associated with the management of, and transactions relating to, Acis, including transactions with and related to HCLOF. See, e.g., id.; Second Amended Complaint [Case No. 18-03078(SGJ), Dkt. No. 157].

3. Due to the Acis bankruptcy and certain conduct alleged to have been undertaken by the Debtor (to whom Acis subcontracted its functions) and Debtor's employees (who were officers, employees, and agents of Acis), the Claimant has suffered significant harm. Such harm includes, but is not limited to, financial harm resulting from, among other things (i) court orders in the Acis bankruptcy that prevented certain CLOs in which HCLOF was invested from being refinanced or reset and court orders that otherwise regulated the activity of HCLOF; and (ii) significant fees and expenses related to the Acis bankruptcy that were charged to HCLOF. See, e.g., Involuntary Petition Ruling ¶ 27; see also Confirmation Ruling.

4. Claimant hereby files this Claim to assert any and all of its rights to payment, remedies, and other claims (including contingent or unliquidated claims) against the Debtor in connection with and relating to the foregoing harm, including for any amounts due or owed under the various agreements with the Debtor in connection with HCLOF (including, but not limited to, the Subscription and Transfer Agreement for Ordinary Shares Highland CLO Funding, Ltd., dated as of November 15, 2017, the Members Agreement Relating to the Company, dated as of November 15, 2017, the Highland CLO Funding, Ltd. Offering Memorandum dated November 15, 2017), and any and all legal and equitable claims or causes of action relating to the foregoing harm.

5. The Claimant has not attached the documentation supporting this Claim to this Proof of Claim because the documentation is voluminous and the Debtor has copies of such documents. However, any requested relevant documents will be provided to the Official Committee of Unsecured Creditors, the Court, the United States Trustee and the Debtor in the event of a dispute regarding this Proof of Claim and will be made available for review by other parties in interest as appropriate upon reasonable request and after consultation with the Debtor and execution of appropriate confidentiality agreements.

6. This Proof of Claim is filed with a full reservation of rights, including the right to amend, update, modify, supplement or otherwise revise this Proof of Claim in any respect at any time. The filing of this Proof of Claim is not and should not be construed to be: (a) a waiver or release of any of the Claimant's rights against any person, entity or property accruing to it against the Debtor and its estate; (b) a waiver of the Claimant's rights to assert that 28 U.S.C. § 157(b)(2)(C) is unconstitutional; (c) a consent or submission by the Claimant, or waiver of the Claimant's rights to object, to the jurisdiction of this Court with respect to the subject matter of any of the claims described herein, or any objection or other proceeding commenced with respect to any of the claims described herein, or any other proceeding commenced in the Debtor's chapter 11 case against or otherwise involving the Claimant; (d) a waiver or release of any right of the Claimant, or consent by the Claimant, to a trial by jury in this or any other court or proceeding; (e) a waiver or release of, or any limitation on, any right of the Claimant to have orders entered only after de novo review by a United States District Judge; (f) an election of remedies; or (g) a waiver of, or any other limitation on, any right of the Claimant to request withdrawal of the reference with respect to any matter, including, without limitation, any matter relating to this Proof of Claim.

7. Claimant's express reservation of all rights and causes of action, includes, without limitation, contingent or unliquidated rights that it or its affiliates may have against the Debtor, as well as defenses, offsets and counterclaims. This description and classification of claims by the Claimant is not a concession or admission as to the correct characterization or treatment of any such claims or a waiver of any rights of the Claimant.

8. Furthermore, the Claimant expressly reserves its rights to (a) file additional proofs of claim for additional claims that may be based on the same or additional documents or facts or other liability or indebtedness of the Debtor to the Claimant under contract or otherwise; (b) assert claims for cure of defaults in any agreement that the Debtor or any trustee appointed in this chapter 11 case may seek to assume; (c) assert any and all other claims, causes of action, defenses, offsets or counterclaims against the Debtor or any other parties; (d) file a request for payment of an administrative expense under 11 U.S.C. §§ 503 and 507 for any or all of the claims or rights of payment described above and any additional amounts; and (e) seek recovery through any relevant third parties, including any of the Debtor's insurance coverage providers.

9. This Proof of Claim does not encompass all claims that the Claimant or its affiliates may have that arise after the Petition Date and are entitled to administrative priority, and the Claimant expressly reserves its right to file such claim or any similar claim at the appropriate time, including any such post-petition claims arising under these service contracts.

10. This Proof of Claim is filed without prejudice to the filing by the Claimant of additional proofs of claim or requests for payment with respect to any other indebtedness, liability or obligation of the Debtor. The Claimant does not, by this Proof of Claim or any amendment or other action, waive any rights with respect to any scheduled claim.

11. The Claimant reserves the right to withdraw, amend, clarify, modify or supplement this Proof of Claim to assert additional claims, causes of action or additional grounds for this Proof of Claim (including adding any additional contracts, agreements, obligations or other relationships between the Claimant and the Debtor), as well as the right to file any separate or additional proofs of claim with respect to the claims set forth herein or otherwise, including for the purpose of fixing and liquidating any contingent or unliquidated claim set forth herein, or to file additional proofs of claim in respect of additional amounts or for any other reason.

12. In executing and filing this Proof of Claim, the Claimant does not submit to the jurisdiction of the Bankruptcy Court for the Northern District of Texas for any purpose other than with respect to this Proof of Claim against the Debtor, and does not waive or release any rights or remedies against any other person or entity that may be liable for all or part of this Proof of Claim.

13. The Claimant otherwise reserves its rights, and nothing herein shall prejudice the Claimant's rights, under any order of the Court previously entered in this chapter 11 case.

14. Payments on account of this Proof of Claim should be sent to the Claimant at the address specified for notices to the Claimant in Part 1.3 of the Proof of Claim.

In re:

Highland Capital Management, L.P.

Debtor.

Chapter 11

Case No. 19-34054 (SGJ)

ANNEX TO PROOF OF CLAIM

1. This annex (the “Annex”) is part of and is incorporated by reference into the attached proof of claim (together with the Annex, the “Proof of Claim”) and describes in more detail the claims of HarbourVest Dover Street IX Investment L.P. (the “Claimant”) against the debtor Highland Capital Management, L.P. (the “Debtor”).

2. The Claimant is a limited partner in one of the Debtor’s managed vehicles, Highland CLO Funding, Ltd. (“HCLOF”). Acis Capital Management GP, L.L.C. and Acis Capital Management L.P. (together, “Acis”), the portfolio manager for HCLOF, filed for chapter 11 in the United States Bankruptcy Court for the Northern District of Texas (the “Court”) on January 30, 2018. The Acis bankruptcy filing resulted from a dispute between Debtor and its former employee, Joshua Terry, who served as portfolio manager for Debtor’s collateral loan obligations funds (“CLO”) business. See, e.g., Findings of Fact and Conclusions of Law in Support of Orders for Relief Issued After Trial on Contested Involuntary Bankruptcy Petition (“Involuntary Petition Ruling”) [Case No. 18-30264 (SGJ), Dkt. No. 118]. As noted in more detail in the Court’s Bench Ruling and Memorandum of Law in Support of: (A) Final Approval of Disclosure Statement; and (B) Confirmation of Chapter 11 Trustee’s Third Amended Joint Plan (“Confirmation Ruling”) [Case No. 18-30264 (SGJ), Dkt. No 827] and related filings in the Acis bankruptcy cases, there has been extensive litigation regarding alleged improper conduct associated with the management of, and transactions relating to, Acis, including transactions with and related to HCLOF. See, e.g., id.; Second Amended Complaint [Case No. 18-03078(SGJ), Dkt. No. 157].

3. Due to the Acis bankruptcy and certain conduct alleged to have been undertaken by the Debtor (to whom Acis subcontracted its functions) and Debtor's employees (who were officers, employees, and agents of Acis), the Claimant has suffered significant harm. Such harm includes, but is not limited to, financial harm resulting from, among other things (i) court orders in the Acis bankruptcy that prevented certain CLOs in which HCLOF was invested from being refinanced or reset and court orders that otherwise regulated the activity of HCLOF; and (ii) significant fees and expenses related to the Acis bankruptcy that were charged to HCLOF. See, e.g., Involuntary Petition Ruling ¶ 27; see also Confirmation Ruling.

4. Claimant hereby files this Claim to assert any and all of its rights to payment, remedies, and other claims (including contingent or unliquidated claims) against the Debtor in connection with and relating to the foregoing harm, including for any amounts due or owed under the various agreements with the Debtor in connection with HCLOF (including, but not limited to, the Subscription and Transfer Agreement for Ordinary Shares Highland CLO Funding, Ltd., dated as of November 15, 2017, the Members Agreement Relating to the Company, dated as of November 15, 2017, the Highland CLO Funding, Ltd. Offering Memorandum dated November 15, 2017), and any and all legal and equitable claims or causes of action relating to the foregoing harm.

5. The Claimant has not attached the documentation supporting this Claim to this Proof of Claim because the documentation is voluminous and the Debtor has copies of such documents. However, any requested relevant documents will be provided to the Official Committee of Unsecured Creditors, the Court, the United States Trustee and the Debtor in the event of a dispute regarding this Proof of Claim and will be made available for review by other parties in interest as appropriate upon reasonable request and after consultation with the Debtor and execution of appropriate confidentiality agreements.

6. This Proof of Claim is filed with a full reservation of rights, including the right to amend, update, modify, supplement or otherwise revise this Proof of Claim in any respect at any time. The filing of this Proof of Claim is not and should not be construed to be: (a) a waiver or release of any of the Claimant's rights against any person, entity or property accruing to it against the Debtor and its estate; (b) a waiver of the Claimant's rights to assert that 28 U.S.C. § 157(b)(2)(C) is unconstitutional; (c) a consent or submission by the Claimant, or waiver of the Claimant's rights to object, to the jurisdiction of this Court with respect to the subject matter of any of the claims described herein, or any objection or other proceeding commenced with respect to any of the claims described herein, or any other proceeding commenced in the Debtor's chapter 11 case against or otherwise involving the Claimant; (d) a waiver or release of any right of the Claimant, or consent by the Claimant, to a trial by jury in this or any other court or proceeding; (e) a waiver or release of, or any limitation on, any right of the Claimant to have orders entered only after de novo review by a United States District Judge; (f) an election of remedies; or (g) a waiver of, or any other limitation on, any right of the Claimant to request withdrawal of the reference with respect to any matter, including, without limitation, any matter relating to this Proof of Claim.

7. Claimant's express reservation of all rights and causes of action, includes, without limitation, contingent or unliquidated rights that it or its affiliates may have against the Debtor, as well as defenses, offsets and counterclaims. This description and classification of claims by the Claimant is not a concession or admission as to the correct characterization or treatment of any such claims or a waiver of any rights of the Claimant.

8. Furthermore, the Claimant expressly reserves its rights to (a) file additional proofs of claim for additional claims that may be based on the same or additional documents or facts or other liability or indebtedness of the Debtor to the Claimant under contract or otherwise; (b) assert claims for cure of defaults in any agreement that the Debtor or any trustee appointed in this chapter 11 case may seek to assume; (c) assert any and all other claims, causes of action, defenses, offsets or counterclaims against the Debtor or any other parties; (d) file a request for payment of an administrative expense under 11 U.S.C. §§ 503 and 507 for any or all of the claims or rights of payment described above and any additional amounts; and (e) seek recovery through any relevant third parties, including any of the Debtor's insurance coverage providers.

9. This Proof of Claim does not encompass all claims that the Claimant or its affiliates may have that arise after the Petition Date and are entitled to administrative priority, and the Claimant expressly reserves its right to file such claim or any similar claim at the appropriate time, including any such post-petition claims arising under these service contracts.

10. This Proof of Claim is filed without prejudice to the filing by the Claimant of additional proofs of claim or requests for payment with respect to any other indebtedness, liability or obligation of the Debtor. The Claimant does not, by this Proof of Claim or any amendment or other action, waive any rights with respect to any scheduled claim.

11. The Claimant reserves the right to withdraw, amend, clarify, modify or supplement this Proof of Claim to assert additional claims, causes of action or additional grounds for this Proof of Claim (including adding any additional contracts, agreements, obligations or other relationships between the Claimant and the Debtor), as well as the right to file any separate or additional proofs of claim with respect to the claims set forth herein or otherwise, including for the purpose of fixing and liquidating any contingent or unliquidated claim set forth herein, or to file additional proofs of claim in respect of additional amounts or for any other reason.

12. In executing and filing this Proof of Claim, the Claimant does not submit to the jurisdiction of the Bankruptcy Court for the Northern District of Texas for any purpose other than with respect to this Proof of Claim against the Debtor, and does not waive or release any rights or remedies against any other person or entity that may be liable for all or part of this Proof of Claim.

13. The Claimant otherwise reserves its rights, and nothing herein shall prejudice the Claimant's rights, under any order of the Court previously entered in this chapter 11 case.

14. Payments on account of this Proof of Claim should be sent to the Claimant at the address specified for notices to the Claimant in Part 1.3 of the Proof of Claim.

Highland Capital Management, L.P.

Debtor.

Chapter 11

Case No. 19-34054 (SGJ)

ANNEX TO PROOF OF CLAIM

1. This annex (the “Annex”) is part of and is incorporated by reference into the attached proof of claim (together with the Annex, the “Proof of Claim”) and describes in more detail the claims of HV International VIII Secondary L.P. (the “Claimant”) against the debtor Highland Capital Management, L.P. (the “Debtor”).

2. The Claimant is a limited partner in one of the Debtor’s managed vehicles, Highland CLO Funding, Ltd. (“HCLOF”). Acis Capital Management GP, L.L.C. and Acis Capital Management L.P. (together, “Acis”), the portfolio manager for HCLOF, filed for chapter 11 in the United States Bankruptcy Court for the Northern District of Texas (the “Court”) on January 30, 2018. The Acis bankruptcy filing resulted from a dispute between Debtor and its former employee, Joshua Terry, who served as portfolio manager for Debtor’s collateral loan obligations funds (“CLO”) business. See, e.g., Findings of Fact and Conclusions of Law in Support of Orders for Relief Issued After Trial on Contested Involuntary Bankruptcy Petition (“Involuntary Petition Ruling”) [Case No. 18-30264 (SGJ), Dkt. No. 118]. As noted in more detail in the Court’s Bench Ruling and Memorandum of Law in Support of: (A) Final Approval of Disclosure Statement; and (B) Confirmation of Chapter 11 Trustee’s Third Amended Joint Plan (“Confirmation Ruling”) [Case No. 18-30264 (SGJ), Dkt. No 827] and related filings in the Acis bankruptcy cases, there has been extensive litigation regarding alleged improper conduct associated with the management of, and transactions relating to, Acis, including transactions with and related to HCLOF. See, e.g., id.; Second Amended Complaint [Case No. 18-03078(SGJ), Dkt. No. 157].

3. Due to the Acis bankruptcy and certain conduct alleged to have been undertaken by the Debtor (to whom Acis subcontracted its functions) and Debtor's employees (who were officers, employees, and agents of Acis), the Claimant has suffered significant harm. Such harm includes, but is not limited to, financial harm resulting from, among other things (i) court orders in the Acis bankruptcy that prevented certain CLOs in which HCLOF was invested from being refinanced or reset and court orders that otherwise regulated the activity of HCLOF; and (ii) significant fees and expenses related to the Acis bankruptcy that were charged to HCLOF. See, e.g., Involuntary Petition Ruling ¶ 27; see also Confirmation Ruling.

4. Claimant hereby files this Claim to assert any and all of its rights to payment, remedies, and other claims (including contingent or unliquidated claims) against the Debtor in connection with and relating to the foregoing harm, including for any amounts due or owed under the various agreements with the Debtor in connection with HCLOF (including, but not limited to, the Subscription and Transfer Agreement for Ordinary Shares Highland CLO Funding, Ltd., dated as of November 15, 2017, the Members Agreement Relating to the Company, dated as of November 15, 2017, the Highland CLO Funding, Ltd. Offering Memorandum dated November 15, 2017), and any and all legal and equitable claims or causes of action relating to the foregoing harm.

5. The Claimant has not attached the documentation supporting this Claim to this Proof of Claim because the documentation is voluminous and the Debtor has copies of such documents. However, any requested relevant documents will be provided to the Official Committee of Unsecured Creditors, the Court, the United States Trustee and the Debtor in the event of a dispute regarding this Proof of Claim and will be made available for review by other parties in interest as appropriate upon reasonable request and after consultation with the Debtor and execution of appropriate confidentiality agreements.

6. This Proof of Claim is filed with a full reservation of rights, including the right to amend, update, modify, supplement or otherwise revise this Proof of Claim in any respect at any time. The filing of this Proof of Claim is not and should not be construed to be: (a) a waiver or release of any of the Claimant's rights against any person, entity or property accruing to it against the Debtor and its estate; (b) a waiver of the Claimant's rights to assert that 28 U.S.C. § 157(b)(2)(C) is unconstitutional; (c) a consent or submission by the Claimant, or waiver of the Claimant's rights to object, to the jurisdiction of this Court with respect to the subject matter of any of the claims described herein, or any objection or other proceeding commenced with respect to any of the claims described herein, or any other proceeding commenced in the Debtor's chapter 11 case against or otherwise involving the Claimant; (d) a waiver or release of any right of the Claimant, or consent by the Claimant, to a trial by jury in this or any other court or proceeding; (e) a waiver or release of, or any limitation on, any right of the Claimant to have orders entered only after de novo review by a United States District Judge; (f) an election of remedies; or (g) a waiver of, or any other limitation on, any right of the Claimant to request withdrawal of the reference with respect to any matter, including, without limitation, any matter relating to this Proof of Claim.

7. Claimant's express reservation of all rights and causes of action, includes, without limitation, contingent or unliquidated rights that it or its affiliates may have against the Debtor, as well as defenses, offsets and counterclaims. This description and classification of claims by the Claimant is not a concession or admission as to the correct characterization or treatment of any such claims or a waiver of any rights of the Claimant.

8. Furthermore, the Claimant expressly reserves its rights to (a) file additional proofs of claim for additional claims that may be based on the same or additional documents or facts or other liability or indebtedness of the Debtor to the Claimant under contract or otherwise; (b) assert claims for cure of defaults in any agreement that the Debtor or any trustee appointed in this chapter 11 case may seek to assume; (c) assert any and all other claims, causes of action, defenses, offsets or counterclaims against the Debtor or any other parties; (d) file a request for payment of an administrative expense under 11 U.S.C. §§ 503 and 507 for any or all of the claims or rights of payment described above and any additional amounts; and (e) seek recovery through any relevant third parties, including any of the Debtor's insurance coverage providers.

9. This Proof of Claim does not encompass all claims that the Claimant or its affiliates may have that arise after the Petition Date and are entitled to administrative priority, and the Claimant expressly reserves its right to file such claim or any similar claim at the appropriate time, including any such post-petition claims arising under these service contracts.

10. This Proof of Claim is filed without prejudice to the filing by the Claimant of additional proofs of claim or requests for payment with respect to any other indebtedness, liability or obligation of the Debtor. The Claimant does not, by this Proof of Claim or any amendment or other action, waive any rights with respect to any scheduled claim.

11. The Claimant reserves the right to withdraw, amend, clarify, modify or supplement this Proof of Claim to assert additional claims, causes of action or additional grounds for this Proof of Claim (including adding any additional contracts, agreements, obligations or

NORTHERN DISTRICT OF TEXAS
DALLAS DIVISION

In re:

Highland Capital Management, L.P.

Debtor.

Chapter 11

Case No. 19-34054 (SGJ)

ANNEX TO PROOF OF CLAIM

1. This annex (the “Annex”) is part of and is incorporated by reference into the attached proof of claim (together with the Annex, the “Proof of Claim”) and describes in more detail the claims of HarbourVest Skew Base AIF L.P. (the “Claimant”) against the debtor Highland Capital Management, L.P. (the “Debtor”).

2. The Claimant is a limited partner in one of the Debtor’s managed vehicles, Highland CLO Funding, Ltd. (“HCLOF”). Acis Capital Management GP, L.L.C. and Acis Capital Management L.P. (together, “Acis”), the portfolio manager for HCLOF, filed for chapter 11 in the United States Bankruptcy Court for the Northern District of Texas (the “Court”) on January 30, 2018. The Acis bankruptcy filing resulted from a dispute between Debtor and its former employee, Joshua Terry, who served as portfolio manager for Debtor’s collateral loan obligations funds (“CLO”) business. See, e.g., Findings of Fact and Conclusions of Law in Support of Orders for Relief Issued After Trial on Contested Involuntary Bankruptcy Petition (“Involuntary Petition Ruling”) [Case No. 18-30264 (SGJ), Dkt. No. 118]. As noted in more detail in the Court’s Bench Ruling and Memorandum of Law in Support of: (A) Final Approval of Disclosure Statement; and (B) Confirmation of Chapter 11 Trustee’s Third Amended Joint Plan (“Confirmation Ruling”) [Case No. 18-30264 (SGJ), Dkt. No 827] and related filings in the Acis bankruptcy cases, there has been extensive litigation regarding alleged improper conduct associated with the management of, and transactions relating to, Acis, including transactions with and related to HCLOF. See, e.g., id.; Second Amended Complaint [Case No. 18-03078(SGJ), Dkt. No. 157].

3. Due to the Acis bankruptcy and certain conduct alleged to have been undertaken by the Debtor (to whom Acis subcontracted its functions) and Debtor's employees (who were officers, employees, and agents of Acis), the Claimant has suffered significant harm. Such harm includes, but is not limited to, financial harm resulting from, among other things (i) court orders in the Acis bankruptcy that prevented certain CLOs in which HCLOF was invested from being refinanced or reset and court orders that otherwise regulated the activity of HCLOF; and (ii) significant fees and expenses related to the Acis bankruptcy that were charged to HCLOF. See, e.g., Involuntary Petition Ruling ¶ 27; see also Confirmation Ruling.

4. Claimant hereby files this Claim to assert any and all of its rights to payment, remedies, and other claims (including contingent or unliquidated claims) against the Debtor in connection with and relating to the foregoing harm, including for any amounts due or owed under the various agreements with the Debtor in connection with HCLOF (including, but not limited to, the Subscription and Transfer Agreement for Ordinary Shares Highland CLO Funding, Ltd., dated as of November 15, 2017, the Members Agreement Relating to the Company, dated as of November 15, 2017, the Highland CLO Funding, Ltd. Offering Memorandum dated November 15, 2017), and any and all legal and equitable claims or causes of action relating to the foregoing harm.

5. The Claimant has not attached the documentation supporting this Claim to this Proof of Claim because the documentation is voluminous and the Debtor has copies of such documents. However, any requested relevant documents will be provided to the Official Committee of Unsecured Creditors, the Court, the United States Trustee and the Debtor in the event of a dispute regarding this Proof of Claim and will be made available for review by other parties in interest as appropriate upon reasonable request and after consultation with the Debtor and execution of appropriate confidentiality agreements.

6. This Proof of Claim is filed with a full reservation of rights, including the right to amend, update, modify, supplement or otherwise revise this Proof of Claim in any respect at any time. The filing of this Proof of Claim is not and should not be construed to be: (a) a waiver or release of any of the Claimant's rights against any person, entity or property accruing to it against the Debtor and its estate; (b) a waiver of the Claimant's rights to assert that 28 U.S.C. § 157(b)(2)(C) is unconstitutional; (c) a consent or submission by the Claimant, or waiver of the Claimant's rights to object, to the jurisdiction of this Court with respect to the subject matter of any of the claims described herein, or any objection or other proceeding commenced with respect to any of the claims described herein, or any other proceeding commenced in the Debtor's chapter 11 case against or otherwise involving the Claimant; (d) a waiver or release of any right of the Claimant, or consent by the Claimant, to a trial by jury in this or any other court or proceeding; (e) a waiver or release of, or any limitation on, any right of the Claimant to have orders entered only after de novo review by a United States District Judge; (f) an election of remedies; or (g) a waiver of, or any other limitation on, any right of the Claimant to request withdrawal of the reference with respect to any matter, including, without limitation, any matter relating to this Proof of Claim.

7. Claimant's express reservation of all rights and causes of action, includes, without limitation, contingent or unliquidated rights that it or its affiliates may have against the Debtor, as well as defenses, offsets and counterclaims. This description and classification of claims by the Claimant is not a concession or admission as to the correct characterization or treatment of any such claims or a waiver of any rights of the Claimant.

8. Furthermore, the Claimant expressly reserves its rights to (a) file additional proofs of claim for additional claims that may be based on the same or additional documents or facts or other liability or indebtedness of the Debtor to the Claimant under contract or otherwise; (b) assert claims for cure of defaults in any agreement that the Debtor or any trustee appointed in this chapter 11 case may seek to assume; (c) assert any and all other claims, causes of action, defenses, offsets or counterclaims against the Debtor or any other parties; (d) file a request for payment of an administrative expense under 11 U.S.C. §§ 503 and 507 for any or all of the claims or rights of payment described above and any additional amounts; and (e) seek recovery through any relevant third parties, including any of the Debtor's insurance coverage providers.

9. This Proof of Claim does not encompass all claims that the Claimant or its affiliates may have that arise after the Petition Date and are entitled to administrative priority, and the Claimant expressly reserves its right to file such claim or any similar claim at the appropriate time, including any such post-petition claims arising under these service contracts.

10. This Proof of Claim is filed without prejudice to the filing by the Claimant of additional proofs of claim or requests for payment with respect to any other indebtedness, liability or obligation of the Debtor. The Claimant does not, by this Proof of Claim or any amendment or other action, waive any rights with respect to any scheduled claim.

11. The Claimant reserves the right to withdraw, amend, clarify, modify or supplement this Proof of Claim to assert additional claims, causes of action or additional grounds for this Proof of Claim (including adding any additional contracts, agreements, obligations or other relationships between the Claimant and the Debtor), as well as the right to file any separate or additional proofs of claim with respect to the claims set forth herein or otherwise, including for the purpose of fixing and liquidating any contingent or unliquidated claim set forth herein, or to file additional proofs of claim in respect of additional amounts or for any other reason.

12. In executing and filing this Proof of Claim, the Claimant does not submit to the jurisdiction of the Bankruptcy Court for the Northern District of Texas for any purpose other than with respect to this Proof of Claim against the Debtor, and does not waive or release any rights or remedies against any other person or entity that may be liable for all or part of this Proof of Claim.

13. The Claimant otherwise reserves its rights, and nothing herein shall prejudice the Claimant's rights, under any order of the Court previously entered in this chapter 11 case.

14. Payments on account of this Proof of Claim should be sent to the Claimant at the address specified for notices to the Claimant in Part 1.3 of the Proof of Claim.

Acis Capital Management GP, L.L.C. and Acis Capital Management L.P. (together, “Acis”), the portfolio manager for HCLOF, filed for chapter 11 in the United States Bankruptcy Court for the Northern District of Texas (the “Court”) on January 30, 2018. The Acis bankruptcy filing resulted from a dispute between Debtor and its former employee, Joshua Terry, who served as portfolio manager for Debtor’s collateral loan obligations funds (“CLO”) business. See, e.g., Findings of Fact and Conclusions of Law in Support of Orders for Relief Issued After Trial on Contested Involuntary Bankruptcy Petition (“Involuntary Petition Ruling”) [Case No. 18-30264 (SGJ), Dkt. No. 118]. As noted in more detail in the Court’s Bench Ruling and Memorandum of Law in Support of: (A) Final Approval of Disclosure Statement; and (B) Confirmation of Chapter 11 Trustee’s Third Amended Joint Plan (“Confirmation Ruling”) [Case No. 18-30264 (SGJ), Dkt. No 827] and related filings in the Acis bankruptcy cases, there has been extensive litigation regarding alleged improper conduct associated with the management of, and transactions relating to, Acis, including transactions with and related to HCLOF. See, e.g., id.; Second Amended Complaint [Case No. 18-03078(SGJ), Dkt. No. 157].

3. Due to the Acis bankruptcy and certain conduct alleged to have been undertaken by the Debtor (to whom Acis subcontracted its functions) and Debtor’s employees (who were officers, employees, and agents of Acis), the Claimant has suffered significant harm. Such harm includes, but is not limited to, financial harm resulting from, among other things (i) court orders in the Acis bankruptcy that prevented certain CLOs in which HCLOF was invested from being refinanced or reset and court orders that otherwise regulated the activity of HCLOF; and (ii) significant fees and expenses related to the Acis bankruptcy that were charged to HCLOF. See, e.g., Involuntary Petition Ruling ¶ 27; see also Confirmation Ruling.

4. Claimant hereby files this Claim to assert any and all of its rights to payment, remedies, and other claims (including contingent or unliquidated claims) against the Debtor in connection with and relating to the foregoing harm, including for any amounts due or owed under the various agreements with the Debtor in connection with HCLOF (including, but not limited to, the Subscription and Transfer Agreement for Ordinary Shares Highland CLO Funding, Ltd., dated as of November 15, 2017, the Members Agreement Relating to the Company, dated as of November 15, 2017, the Highland CLO Funding, Ltd. Offering Memorandum dated November 15, 2017), and any and all legal and equitable claims or causes of action relating to the foregoing harm.

5. The Claimant has not attached the documentation supporting this Claim to this Proof of Claim because the documentation is voluminous and the Debtor has copies of such documents. However, any requested relevant documents will be provided to the Official Committee of Unsecured Creditors, the Court, the United States Trustee and the Debtor in the event of a dispute regarding this Proof of Claim and will be made available for review by other parties in interest as appropriate upon reasonable request and after consultation with the Debtor and execution of appropriate confidentiality agreements.

6. This Proof of Claim is filed with a full reservation of rights, including the right to amend, update, modify, supplement or otherwise revise this Proof of Claim in any respect at any time. The filing of this Proof of Claim is not and should not be construed to be: (a) a waiver or release of any of the Claimant's rights against any person, entity or property accruing to it against the Debtor and its estate; (b) a waiver of the Claimant's rights to assert that 28 U.S.C. § 157(b)(2)(C) is unconstitutional; (c) a consent or submission by the Claimant, or waiver of the Claimant's rights to object, to the jurisdiction of this Court with respect to the subject matter of any of the claims described herein, or any objection or other proceeding commenced with respect to any of the claims described herein, or any other proceeding commenced in the Debtor's chapter 11 case against or otherwise involving the Claimant; (d) a waiver or release of any right of the Claimant, or consent by the Claimant, to a trial by jury in this or any other court or proceeding; (e) a waiver or release of, or any limitation on, any right of the Claimant to have orders entered only after de novo review by a United States District Judge; (f) an election of remedies; or (g) a waiver of, or any other limitation on, any right of the Claimant to request withdrawal of the reference with respect to any matter, including, without limitation, any matter relating to this Proof of Claim.

7. Claimant's express reservation of all rights and causes of action, includes, without limitation, contingent or unliquidated rights that it or its affiliates may have against the Debtor, as well as defenses, offsets and counterclaims. This description and classification of claims by the Claimant is not a concession or admission as to the correct characterization or treatment of any such claims or a waiver of any rights of the Claimant.

8. Furthermore, the Claimant expressly reserves its rights to (a) file additional proofs of claim for additional claims that may be based on the same or additional documents or facts or other liability or indebtedness of the Debtor to the Claimant under contract or otherwise; (b) assert claims for cure of defaults in any agreement that the Debtor or any trustee appointed in this chapter 11 case may seek to assume; (c) assert any and all other claims, causes of action, defenses, offsets or counterclaims against the Debtor or any other parties; (d) file a request for payment of an administrative expense under 11 U.S.C. §§ 503 and 507 for any or all of the claims or rights of payment described above and any additional amounts; and (e) seek recovery through any relevant third parties, including any of the Debtor's insurance coverage providers.

9. This Proof of Claim does not encompass all claims that the Claimant or its affiliates may have that arise after the Petition Date and are entitled to administrative priority, and the Claimant expressly reserves its right to file such claim or any similar claim at the appropriate time, including any such post-petition claims arising under these service contracts.

10. This Proof of Claim is filed without prejudice to the filing by the Claimant of additional proofs of claim or requests for payment with respect to any other indebtedness, liability or obligation of the Debtor. The Claimant does not, by this Proof of Claim or any amendment or other action, waive any rights with respect to any scheduled claim.

11. The Claimant reserves the right to withdraw, amend, clarify, modify or supplement this Proof of Claim to assert additional claims, causes of action or additional grounds for this Proof of Claim (including adding any additional contracts, agreements, obligations or other relationships between the Claimant and the Debtor), as well as the right to file any separate or additional proofs of claim with respect to the claims set forth herein or otherwise, including for the purpose of fixing and liquidating any contingent or unliquidated claim set forth herein, or to file additional proofs of claim in respect of additional amounts or for any other reason.

12. In executing and filing this Proof of Claim, the Claimant does not submit to the jurisdiction of the Bankruptcy Court for the Northern District of Texas for any purpose other than with respect to this Proof of Claim against the Debtor, and does not waive or release any rights or remedies against any other person or entity that may be liable for all or part of this Proof of Claim.

13. The Claimant otherwise reserves its rights, and nothing herein shall prejudice the Claimant's rights, under any order of the Court previously entered in this chapter 11 case.

14. Payments on account of this Proof of Claim should be sent to the Claimant at the address specified for notices to the Claimant in Part 1.3 of the Proof of Claim.

APPENDIX 2

Highland Capital Management, L.P., the above-captioned debtor and debtor-in-possession (“Highland” or the “Debtor”), files this motion (the “Motion”) for entry of an order, substantially in the form attached hereto as Exhibit A, pursuant to Rule 9019 of the Federal Rules of Bankruptcy Procedure (the “Bankruptcy Rules”), approving a settlement agreement (the “Settlement Agreement”),² a copy of which is attached as Exhibit 1 to the *Declaration of John A. (collectively, “HarbourVest”). In support of this Motion, the Debtor represents as follows:

² All capitalized terms used but not defined herein shall have the meanings given to them in the Settlement Agreement.

RELEVANT BACKGROUND

A. Procedural Background

3. On October 16, 2019 (the “Petition Date”), the Debtor filed a voluntary petition for relief under chapter 11 of the Bankruptcy Code in the Bankruptcy Court for the District of Delaware, Case No. 19-12239 (CSS) (the “Delaware Court”).

4. On October 29, 2019, the official committee of unsecured creditors (the “Committee”) was appointed by the U.S. Trustee in the Delaware Court.

5. On December 4, 2019, the Delaware Court entered an order transferring venue of the Debtor’s case to this Court [Docket No. 186].³

6. On December 27, 2019, the Debtor filed that certain Motion of the Debtor for Approval of Settlement with the Official Committee of Unsecured Creditors Regarding Governance of the Debtor and Procedures for Operations in the Ordinary Course [Docket No. 281] (the “Settlement Motion”). This Court approved the Settlement Motion on January 9, 2020 [Docket No. 339] (the “Settlement Order”).

7. In connection with the Settlement Order, an independent board of directors was constituted at the Debtor’s general partner, Strand Advisors, Inc., and certain operating protocols were instituted.

8. On July 16, 2020, this Court entered an order appointing James P. Seery, Jr., as the Debtor’s chief executive officer and chief restructuring officer [Docket No. 854].

9. The Debtor has continued in the possession of its property and has continued to operate and manage its business as a debtor-in-possession pursuant to sections 1107(a) and 1108 of the Bankruptcy Code. No trustee or examiner has been appointed in this chapter 11 case.

³ All docket numbers refer to the docket maintained by this Court.

B. Overview of HarbourVest's Claims

10. HarbourVest's claims against the Debtor's estate arise from its $80 million investment in Highland CLO Funding, f/k/a Acis Loan Funding, Ltd. ("HCLOF"), pursuant to which HarbourVest obtained a 49 percent interest in HCLOF (the "Investment").

11. In brief, HarbourVest contends that it was fraudulently induced into entering into the Investment based on the Debtor's misrepresentations and omissions concerning certain material facts, including that the Debtor: (1) failed to disclose that it never intended to pay an arbitration award obtained by a former portfolio manager, (2) failed to disclose that it engaged in a series of fraudulent transfers for the purpose of preventing the former portfolio manager from collecting on his arbitration award and misrepresented the reasons changing the portfolio manager for HCLOF immediately prior to the Investment, (3) indicated that the dispute with the former portfolio manager would not impact investment activities, and (4) expressed confidence in the ability of HCLOF to reset or redeem the collateralized loan obligations ("CLOs") under its control.

12. HarbourVest seeks to rescind its Investment and claims damages in excess of $300 million based on theories of fraud, fraudulent inducement, fraudulent concealment, fraudulent misrepresentation, negligent misrepresentation, and breach of fiduciary duty (under Guernsey law), and on alleged violations of state securities laws and the Racketeer Influenced Corrupt Organization Act ("RICO").

13. HarbourVest's allegations are summarized below.⁴

⁴ Solely for purposes of this Motion, and not for any other reason, the facts set forth herein are adopted largely from the HarbourVest Response to Debtor's First Omnibus Objection to Certain (A) Duplicate Claims; (B) Overstated Claims; (C) Late-Filed Claims; (D) Satisfied Claims; (E) No-Liability Claims; and (F) Insufficient-Documentation Claims [Docket No. 1057] (the "Response").

C. Summary of HarbourVest's Factual Allegations

14. At the time HarbourVest made its Investment, the Debtor was embroiled in an arbitration against Joshua Terry ("Mr. Terry"), a former employee of the Debtor and limited partner of Acis Capital Management, L.P. ("Acis LP"). Through Acis LP, Mr. Terry managed Highland's CLO business, including CLO-related investments held by Acis Loan Funding, Ltd. ("Acis Funding").

15. The litigation between Mr. Terry and the Debtor began in 2016, after the Debtor terminated Mr. Terry and commenced an action against him in Texas state court. Mr. Terry asserted counterclaims for wrongful termination and for the wrongful taking of his ownership interest in Acis LP and subsequently had certain claims referred to arbitration where he obtained an award of approximately $8 million (the "Arbitration Award") on October 20, 2017.

16. HarbourVest alleges that the Debtor responded to the Arbitration Award by engaging in a series of fraudulent transfers and corporate restructurings, the true purposes of which were fraudulently concealed from HarbourVest.

17. For example, according to HarbourVest, the Debtor changed the name of the target fund from Acis Funding to "Highland CLO Funding, Ltd." ("HCLOF") and "swapped out" Acis LP for Highland HCF Advisor, Ltd. as portfolio manager (the "Structural Changes"). The Debtor allegedly told HarbourVest that it made these changes because of the "reputational harm" to Acis LP resulting from the Arbitration Award. The Debtor further told HarbourVest that in lieu of redemptions, resetting the CLOs was necessary, and that it would be easier to reset them under the "Highland" CLO brand instead of the Acis CLO brand.

18. In addition, HarbourVest also alleges that the Debtor had no intention of allowing Mr. Terry to collect on his Arbitration Award, and orchestrated a scheme to "denude"

- HCLOF's request was withdrawn on July 6, 2018, and on June 21, 2018, the Acis Trustee sought an injunction preventing Highland/HCLOF from seeking further redemptions (the "Preliminary Injunction").
- The Court granted the Preliminary Injunction on July 10, 2018, pending the Acis Trustee's attempts to confirm a plan or resolve the Acis Bankruptcy.
- On August 30, 2018, the Court denied confirmation of the First Amended Joint Plan for Acis, and held that the Preliminary Injunction must stay in place on the ground that the "evidence thus far has been compelling that numerous transfers after the Josh Terry judgment denuded Acis of value."
- After the Debtor made various statements implicating HarbourVest in the Transfers, the Acis Trustee investigated HarbourVest's involvement in such Transfers, including extensive discovery and taking a 30(b)(6) deposition of HarbourVest's managing director, Michael Pugatch, on November 17, 2018.
- On March 20, 2019, HCLOF sent a letter to Acis LP stating that it was not interested in pursuing, or able to pursue, a CLO reset transaction.

D. The Parties' Pleadings and Positions Concerning HarbourVest's Proofs of Claim

22. On April 8, 2020, HarbourVest filed proofs of claim against Highland that were subsequently denoted by the Debtor's claims agents as claim numbers 143, 147, 149, 150, 153, and 154, respectively (collectively, the "Proofs of Claim"). Morris Dec. Exhibits 2-7.

23. The Proofs of Claim assert, among other things, that HarbourVest suffered significant harm due to conduct undertaken by the Debtor and the Debtor's employees, including "financial harm resulting from (i) court orders in the Acis Bankruptcy that prevented certain CLOs in which HCLOF was invested from being refinanced or reset and court orders that otherwise relegated the activity of HCLOF [i.e., the Preliminary Injunction]; and (ii) significant fees and expenses related to the Acis Bankruptcy that were charged to HCLOF." See, e.g., Morris Dec. Exhibit 2 ¶3.

24. HarbourVest also asserted "any and all of its right to payment, remedies, and other claims (including contingent or unliquidated claims) against the Debtor in connection with and relating to the forgoing harm, including for any amounts due or owed under the various

26. On September 11, 2020, HarbourVest filed its Response. The Response articulated specified claims under U.S. federal and state and Guernsey law, including claims for fraud, fraudulent concealment, fraudulent inducement, fraudulent misrepresentation, negligent misrepresentation (collectively, the “Fraud Claims”), U.S. State and Federal Securities Law Claims (the “Securities Claims”), violations of the Federal Racketeer Influenced and Corrupt Organizations Act (“RICO”), breach of fiduciary duty and misuse of fund assets, and an unfair prejudice claim under Guernsey law (collectively, with the Proofs of Claim, the “HarbourVest Claims”).

E. Settlement Discussions

29. In November, the parties broadened the discussions in an attempt to reach a global resolution of the HarbourVest Claims. In the pursuit thereof, the parties and their counsel participated in several conference calls where they engaged in a spirited exchange of perspectives concerning the facts and the law.

30. During follow up meetings, the parties' interests became more defined. Specifically, HarbourVest sought to maximize its recovery while fully extracting itself from the Investment, while the Debtor sought to minimize the HarbourVest Claims consistent with its perceptions of the facts and law.

31. After the parties' interests became more defined, the principals engaged in a series of direct, arm's-length, telephonic negotiations that ultimately lead to the settlement, whose terms are summarized below.

F. Summary of Settlement Terms

32. The Settlement Agreement contains the following material terms, among others:

- HarbourVest shall transfer its entire interest in HCLOF to an entity to be designated by the Debtor;⁵
- HarbourVest shall receive an allowed, general unsecured, non-priority claim in the amount of $45 million and shall vote its Class 8 claim in that amount to support the Plan;
- HarbourVest shall receive a subordinated, allowed, general unsecured, non-priority claim in the amount of $35 million and shall vote its Class 9 claim in that amount to support the Plan;
- HarbourVest will support confirmation of the Debtor's Plan, including, but not limited to, voting its claims in support of the Plan;
- The HarbourVest Claims shall be allowed in the aggregate amount of $45 million for voting purposes;
- HarbourVest will support the Debtor's pursuit of its pending Plan of Reorganization; and
- The parties shall exchange mutual releases.

⁵ The NAV for HarbourVest's 49.98% interest in HCLOF was estimated to be approximately $22 million as of December 1, 2020.

See generally Morris Dec. Exhibit 1.

BASIS FOR RELIEF REQUESTED

33. Bankruptcy Rule 9019 governs the procedural prerequisites to approval of a settlement, providing that:

On motion by the trustee and after notice and a hearing, the court may approve a compromise or settlement. Notice shall be given to creditors, the United States trustee, the debtor, and indenture trustees as provided in Rule 2002 and to any other entity as the court may direct.

FED. R. BANKR. P. 9019(a).

34. Settlements in bankruptcy are favored as a means of minimizing litigation, expediting the administration of the bankruptcy estate, and providing for the efficient resolution of bankruptcy cases. See Myers v. Martin (In re Martin), 91 F.3d 389, 393 (3d Cir. 1996); Rivercity v. Herpel (In re Jackson Brewing Co.), 624 F.2d 599, 602 (5th Cir. 1980). Pursuant to Bankruptcy Rule 9019(a), a bankruptcy court may approve a compromise or settlement as long as the proposed settlement is fair, reasonable, and in the best interest of the estate. See In re Age Ref. Inc., 801 F.3d 530, 540 (5th Cir. 2015). Ultimately, “approval of a compromise is within the sound discretion of the bankruptcy court.” See United States v. AWECO, Inc. (In re AWECO, Inc.), 725 F.2d 293, 297 (5th Cir. 1984); Jackson Brewing, 624 F.2d at 602–03.

35. In making this determination, the United States Court of Appeals for the Fifth Circuit applies a three-part test, “with a focus on comparing ‘the terms of the compromise with the rewards of litigation.’” Official Comm. of Unsecured Creditors v. Cajun Elec. Power Coop. (In re Cajun Elec. Power Coop.), 119 F.3d 349, 356 (5th Cir. 1997) (citing Jackson Brewing, 624 F.2d at 602). The Fifth Circuit has instructed courts to consider the following factors: “(1) The probability of success in the litigation, with due consideration for the uncertainty of law and fact, (2) The complexity and likely duration of the litigation and any

37. First, although the Debtor believes that it has valid defenses to the HarbourVest Claims, there is no guarantee that the Debtor would succeed in its litigation with HarbourVest. Indeed, to establish its defenses, the Debtor would be required to rely, at least in part, on the credibility of witnesses whose veracity has already been called into question by this Court. Moreover, it will be difficult to dispute that the Transfers precipitated the Acis Bankruptcy, and, ultimately, the imposition of the Bankruptcy Court's TRO that restricted HCLOF's ability to reset or redeem the CLOs and that is at the core of the HarbourVest Claims.

issues including, among other things, the substance and materiality of the Debtor's alleged fraudulent statements and omissions and whether HarbourVest reasonably relied on those statements and omissions.

39. Third, approval of the Settlement Agreement is justified by the paramount interest of creditors. Specifically, the settlement will enable the Debtor to: (a) avoid incurring substantial litigation costs; (b) avoid the litigation risk associated with HarbourVest's $300 million claim; and (c) through the plan support provisions, increase the likelihood that the Debtor's pending plan of reorganization will be confirmed.

40. Finally, the Settlement Agreement was unquestionably negotiated at arm's-length. The terms of the settlement are the result of numerous, ongoing discussions and negotiations between the parties and their counsel and represent neither party's "best case scenario." Indeed, the Settlement Agreement should be approved as a rational exercise of the Debtor's business judgment made after due deliberation of the facts and circumstances concerning HarbourVest's Claims.

NO PRIOR REQUEST

41. No previous request for the relief sought herein has been made to this, or any other, Court.

NOTICE

42. Notice of this Motion shall be given to the following parties or, in lieu thereof, to their counsel, if known: (a) counsel for HarbourVest; (b) the Office of the United States Trustee; (c) the Office of the United States Attorney for the Northern District of Texas; (d) the Debtor's principal secured parties; (e) counsel to the Committee; and (f) parties requesting notice pursuant to Bankruptcy Rule 2002. The Debtor submits that, in light of the nature of the relief requested, no other or further notice need be given.

WHEREFORE, the Debtor respectfully requests entry of an order, substantially in the form attached hereto as Exhibit A, (a) granting the relief requested herein, and (b) granting such other relief as is just and proper.

APPENDIX 4

Rules of Bankruptcy Procedure (the “Bankruptcy Rules”). In support of this objection, Respondent respectfully represents as follows:

I. INTRODUCTION

1. Under Bankruptcy Rule 9019, the Bankruptcy Court is tasked with making an independent judgment on the merits of a proposed settlement to ensure that the proposed settlement is “fair, equitable, and in the best interest of the estate.”¹ While Respondent recognizes the Debtor’s efforts in arranging a settlement, there are at least three significant issues with the terms of the settlement that merit denial of the Motion: (i) the proposed settlement is not reasonable or in the best interest of the estate given the weakness of the HarbourVest Claim (as hereinafter defined); (ii) the proposed settlement is a blatant attempt to purchase votes in support of Debtor’s plan by giving HarbourVest a significant claim to which it would not otherwise be entitled; and (iii) the proposed settlement seeks to improperly classify the HarbourVest Claim² in two separate classes in order to gerrymander an affirmative vote on its reorganization plan. Moreover, the proposed settlement does not satisfy the factors for approval fixed by case law. On information and belief, Debtor’s CEO/CRO, Mr. Seery, has previously asserted on multiple occasions that the HarbourVest Claim had no value and that the Debtor could resolve such claim for no more than $5 million. While Respondent and Mr. Seery have had a number of disagreements in this case, Respondent agrees with Mr. Seery’s initial conclusion that the HarbourVest Claim is substantially without merit. Respondent understands that any settlement will not necessarily provide the best possible outcome for the Debtor, but in this instance the proposed settlement far exceeds the bounds of reasonableness and, on its face, is an attempt by the Debtor to purchase votes in favor of confirmation of its Plan. Given the Debtor's prior positions as to the merits of HarbourVest Claim it is necessary for the Court to closely scrutinize the settlement to determine why the Debtor now believes granting HarbourVest a net claim of nearly $60 million³ resulting from HarbourVest's investment in a non-debtor entity (which was and is managed by a non-debtor) to be in the best interest of the estate. Upon close scrutiny, Respondent believes the Court will find that the proposed settlement is not reasonable or in the best interest of the estate and the Motion therefore should be denied.

II. BACKGROUND

2. On October 16, 2019 (the "Petition Date"), the Debtor filed a voluntary petition for relief under chapter 11 of title 11 of the United States Code (the "Bankruptcy Code") in the U.S. Bankruptcy Court for the District of Delaware, Case No. 19-12239 (CSS) (the "Delaware Court").

3. On October 29, 2019, the Official Committee of Unsecured Creditors (the "Committee") was appointed by the U.S. Trustee in Delaware.

4. On December 4, 2019, the Delaware Court entered an order transferring venue of the Debtor's Bankruptcy Case to this Court [Docket No. 186].

5. On December 27, 2019, the Debtor filed that certain Motion of the Debtor for Approval of Settlement with the Official Committee of Unsecured Creditors Regarding Governance of the Debtor and Procedures for Operations in the Ordinary Course [Docket No. 281] (the "Settlement Motion"). This Court approved the Settlement Motion on January 9, 2020 [Docket No. 339] (the "Settlement Order").

³ The proposed settlement provides that HarbourVest shall receive an allowed general unsecured (Class 8) claim in the amount of $45 million and an allowed subordinated general unsecured (Class 9) claim in the amount of $35 million. As part of the settlement, HarbourVest will then transfer its entire interest in Highland CLO Funding, Ltd. ("HCLOF") to an entity to be designated by the Debtor. The Debtor states that the value of this interest is approximately $22 million as of December 1, 2020.

6. In connection with the Settlement Order, an independent board of directors was appointed on January 9, 2020, for the Debtor's general partner, Strand Advisors, Inc. (the "Board"). The members of the Board are James P. Seery, Jr., John S. Dubel, and Russell F. Nelms.

7. On July 16, 2020, this Court entered an order authorizing the Debtor to employ James P. Seery, Jr. as Chief Executive Officer and Chief Restructuring Officer of the Debtor. See Docket No. 854.

8. On April 8, 2020, HarbourVest filed Proofs of Claim Numbers 143, 149, 149, 150, 153, and 154 (collectively, the "HarbourVest Claim")⁴.

9. On July 30, 2020, the Debtor filed Debtor's First Omnibus Objection to Certain (A) Duplicate Claims; (B) Overstated Claims; (C) Late-Filed Claims; (D) Satisfied Claims; (E) No Liability Claims; and (F) Insufficient-Documentation Claims [Docket No. 906] (the "Debtor Objection"), which contained an objection to the HarbourVest Claim.

10. On September 11, 2020, HarbourVest filed HarbourVest Response to Debtor's First Omnibus Objection to Certain (A) Duplicate Claims; (B) Overstated Claims; (C) Late-Filed Claims; (D) Satisfied Claims; (E) No Liability Claims; and (F) Insufficient-Documentation Claims [Docket No. 1057] (the "HarbourVest Response").

11. On December 23, 2020, the Debtor filed the Motion seeking approval of a proposed settlement of the HarbourVest Claim under Rule 9019. Docket No. 1625.

III. LEGAL STANDARD

12. The merits of a proposed compromise should be judged under the criteria set forth in Protective Comm. for Indep. Stockholders of TMT Trailer Ferry, Inc. v. Anderson, 390 U.S. 414 (1968). TMT Trailer requires that a compromise must be "fair and equitable." TMT Trailer, 390

⁴ While HarbourVest has filed a number of claims, each filed claim is exactly the same except in the name of the claimant. See Claim Nos. 143, 147, 149, 150, 153, and 154.

- (i) the probabilities of ultimate success should the claim be litigated;
- (ii) the complexity, expense, and likely duration of litigating the claim;
- (iii) the difficulties of collecting a judgment rendered from such litigation; and,
- (iv) all other factors relevant to a full and fair assessment of the wisdom of the compromise.

14. In considering whether to approve a proposed compromise, the bankruptcy judge “may not simply accept the trustee’s word that the settlement is reasonable, nor may he merely ‘rubber stamp’ the trustee’s proposal.” In re Am. Res. Corp., 841 F.2d 159, 162 (7th Cir. 1987). “[T]he bankruptcy judge must apprise himself of all facts necessary to evaluate the settlement and make an informed and independent judgment about the settlement.” See TMT Trailer, 390 U.S. at 424, 434.

to the court, a debtor in possession must administer its case and conduct its business in a fashion amenable to the scrutiny to be expected from creditor and court oversight.”). The Court must conduct an “intelligent, objective and educated evaluation”⁵ of the proposed settlement “to ensure that the settlement is fair, equitable, and in the best interest of the estate and creditors.” See In re Mirant Corp., 348 B.R. 725, 739 (Bankr. N.D. Tex. 2006) (quoting Conn. Gen. Life Ins. Co. v. Foster Mortgage Corp. (In re Foster Mortgage Corp.), 68 F.3d 914, 917 (5th Cir. 1995)).

IV. ARGUMENT AND AUTHORITIES

16. As discussed in detail below, there are three significant issues with the terms of the settlement that merit denial of the Motion: (i) the proposed settlement is not reasonable or in the best interest of the estate given the weakness of the HarbourVest Claim; (ii) the proposed settlement is a blatant attempt to purchase votes in support of Debtor’s plan by giving HarbourVest a substantial claim to which it is not entitled; and (iii) the proposed settlement seeks to improperly classify HarbourVest’s one claim in two separate classes in order to gerrymander an affirmative vote on its reorganization plan. For these and certain additional reasons as discussed below, the Motion should be denied.

A. Through its Claim, HarbourVest Seeks to Revisit this Court’s Orders in the Acis Case

17. As an initial matter, through its proofs of claim, HarbourVest appears to be second guessing the Court’s judgment in the Chapter 11 case of Acis Capital Management, LP and Acis Capital Management GP, LLC (collectively, “Acis”) and seeking to revisit the Court’s orders entered in that case years ago. HarbourVest appears to be arguing that the TRO and injunction

⁵ In re Jackson Brewing Co., 624 F.2d 599, 602 (5th Cir. 1980) (“To assure a proper compromise the bankruptcy judge, must be apprised of all the necessary facts for an intelligent, objective and educated evaluation. He must compare the terms of the compromise with the likely rewards of litigation.”).

B. The HarbourVest Claim Lacks Merit and the Proposed Settlement is Not Reasonable

21. Based on the HarbourVest Claim and its filed response to the Debtor's objection, Respondent believes that the HarbourVest claim is meritless and the proposed settlement is not reasonable, fair and equitable, or in the best interest of the estate.

22. First, the proposed settlement is concerning particularly because HarbourVest's bare bones proof of claim contains very little in terms of allegations of specific conduct against the Debtor that would give rise to a $60 million claim against this estate. While HarbourVest's response to the Debtor's claim objection is lengthy, it contains very little in real substance supporting its right to such a claim against the estate. The response also omits a number of key facts that are relevant and potentially fatal to its claim for damages against the Debtor's estate. Among them is the fact that Acis (and thereafter Reorganized Acis), along with Mr. Joshua Terry, managed HarbourVest's investment for years after it was made.⁷ Despite this fact, HarbourVest's alleged damages appear to be based largely on the difference between the value of its initial investment at confirmation of Acis's Plan and the current value of the investment—which amount was directly determined by the performance of the CLOs that Acis managed during this time.⁸ Neither the claim nor the response directly address the implications of Acis's management of the CLOs during the period following HarbourVest's investment. Nor does HarbourVest address or discuss performance of the CLOs, the market forces that may have caused HarbourVest's investment to lose value, or other factors influencing the current value of its investment. The speculative nature of the damages and the lack of specificity of the HarbourVest Claim and the role of Acis in the loss of value to HarbourVest all call into question the reliability of the allegations and the legal basis for the claim amount awarded in the settlement.

⁷ See, e.g., HarbourVest Proof of Claim 143, p. 5 ("The Claimant is a limited partner in one of the Debtor's managed vehicles, Highland CLO Funding, Ltd. ("HCLOF"). Acis Capital Management GP, L.L.C. and Acis Capital Management L.P. (together, "Acis"), the portfolio manager for HCLOF, filed for chapter 11 in the United States Bankruptcy Court for the Northern District of Texas (the "Court") on January 30, 2018.").

⁸ See HarbourVest Response, Docket No. 1057, para. 40 ("HarbourVest has been injured from the Investment: not only has the Investment failed to accrue value, its value plummeted. The Investment's current value is far less than HarbourVest's initial contribution.").

23. Also absent from Harbourvest's papers is any discussion of any contract or agreement between (i) HarbourVest and the Debtor; and (ii) any agreement that was executed in conjunction with HarbourVest's initial investment. While the proof of claim references a number of agreements, there is no explanation in the claim or in HarbourVest's response to the Debtor's claim objection of how these agreements give rise to liability against the Debtor. For example, neither the claim nor the HarbourVest Response (which includes more than 600 pages of attachments) attach any written agreement between HarbourVest and any other party. While HarbourVest has alleged a number of claims sounding in tort, many of those claims cannot exist absent a contract or other express relationship between the parties. Moreover, the terms of the relevant contracts themselves likely contain a number of provisions that may call into question Debtor's liability or would be otherwise relevant to merits of the HarbourVest Claim. For example, HarbourVest in its papers appears to assert or imply that the Debtor made a number of false or fraudulent representations to solicit HarbourVest's investment, but then fails to discuss or even identify the applicable agreements it alleges it was induced into signing in connection with its investment (this despite the substantial value of the investment when the Acis plan was confirmed).

24. Given these issues, among many others, the HarbourVest Claim is unsustainable both from a liability and damages standpoint and there are many very high hurdles HarbourVest would have to clear in seeking to prove liability against the Debtor and in proving its damages. For a long period of time, its investment was managed by Acis and the investment's performance was directly tied to Acis's inadequate performance as portfolio manager. Further, the value of HarbourVest's investment is also directly tied to various market forces that may have impacted its value. The HarbourVest Claim is largely lacking in relevant facts and omits much salient information, such as who it contracted with in connection with its investment, the terms of such agreements, who controlled its investment during the entire period from November 2017 to the present, and the performance of its investment during the last two years. Given these issues, HarbourVest will be unable to demonstrate a causal connection between any conduct of the Debtor and the alleged damages it suffered from a reduction in value of its investment.

25. Because of the speculative nature of the HarbourVest Claim, and the fact that very little pleading or litigation has occurred, the proposed settlement in granting such a large claim is unreasonable, not fair and equitable, and not in the best interest of the estate. The lack of pending litigation, narrowing of threshold questions, and lack of detail in HarbourVest Claim make it impossible to determine whether the huge claim awarded under the proposed settlement is justified under the facts. Accordingly, the Motion should be denied.

C. The Proposed Settlement is an Improper Attempt by the Debtor to Purchase Votes in Support of its Plan and the Separate Classification of the HarbourVest Claim Constitutes Gerrymandering in Violation of 11 U.S.C. § 1122

26. The proposed settlement is a flagrant attempt by the Debtor to purchase votes in support of its Plan by giving HarbourVest a significant claim to which it has not shown itself entitled. Moreover, the separate classification of the HarbourVest Claim into two separate classes constitutes impermissible gerrymandering in violation of section 1122 of the Bankruptcy Code. The proposed settlement essentially gives HarbourVest a claim it is not entitled to in exchange for votes in two separate classes. This is not a proper basis for a settlement and the Court should deny the Motion.

27. Section 1122 of the Bankruptcy Code provides as follows:

(a) Except as provided in subsection (b) of this section, a plan may place a claim or an interest in a particular class only if such claim or interest is substantially similar to the other claims or interests of such class.

(b) A plan may designate a separate class of claims consisting only of every unsecured claim that is less than or reduced to an amount that the court approves as reasonable and necessary for administrative convenience.

11 U.S.C. § 1122.

28. “Chapter 11 requires classification of claims against a debtor for two reasons. Each class of creditors will be treated in the debtor's plan of reorganization based upon the similarity of its members' priority status and other legal rights against the debtor's assets. Proper classification is essential to ensure that creditors with claims of similar priority against the debtor's assets are treated similarly.” In re Greystone III Joint Venture, 995 F.2d 1274, 1277 (5th Cir. 1991).

29. “Section 1122 consequently must contemplate some limits on classification of claims of similar priority. A fair reading of both subsections suggests that ordinarily substantially similar claims, those which share common priority and rights against the debtor’s estate, should be placed in the same class.” Id. at 1278.

30. The Fifth Circuit has stated that there is “one clear rule that emerges from otherwise muddled caselaw on § 1122 claims classification: thou shalt not classify similar claims differently in order to gerrymander an affirmative vote on a reorganization plan.” Id. at 1279. The Court observed:

There must be some limit on a debtor’s power to classify creditors in such a manner. . . . Unless there is some requirement of keeping similar claims together, nothing would stand in the way of a debtor seeking out a few impaired creditors (or even one such creditor) who will vote for the plan and placing them in their own class.

In re Greystone III Joint Venture, 995 F.2d 1274, 1279 (5th Cir. 1991) (quoting In re U.S. Truck Co., 800 F.2d 581, 586 (6th Cir. 1986)).

31. Here, the HarbourVest settlement and the classification of the HarbourVest Claim under the Plan blatantly violate the Fifth Circuit’s “one rule” concerning the classification of claims under section 1122. To the extent that HarbourVest even has a legitimate claim, not only should its claim be classified together with other unsecured creditors, its claim should be classified solely in one class. To allow the Debtor to do otherwise as proposed is improper gerrymandering in order to obtain a consenting class in express violation of section 1122.

D. There Are Other Reasons for the Court to Closely Scrutinize the Proposed Settlement that May Warrant Denial of the Motion

32. There are a number of other reasons for the Court to closely scrutinize the proposed settlement that may warrant denial of the Motion.

33. First, the granting to HarbourVest of a claim in the total amount of $80 million potentially allows HarbourVest to achieve a significant windfall at the expense of other creditors and equity holders. The Debtor has asserted numerous times that the estate is solvent and, for this reason, the purported subordinated claim of $35 million (if allowed and approved) may be worth just as much as its general unsecured claim. This is a huge figure in this case, outshined only by the Redeemer Committee, which has an actual arbitration award obtained after lengthy litigation. By contrast, the HarbourVest Claim contains only a few paragraphs of generalized allegations that essentially argue that the Debtor’s alleged actions related to the Acis bankruptcy, and this Court’s orders in the Acis case, are a “but for” cause of the loss of its investment. While the HarbourVest Response is lengthy, it lacks necessary details for the Court to determine whether HarbourVest may be entitled to the relief requested by the Motion. The other significant creditors in this case—inter alia, Redeemer, UBS and Acis—all had pending claims that were litigated. Nor is HarbourVest a trade creditor, vendor, or other contract counter-party of the Debtor. The HarbourVest Claim is thus uniquely situated in this case and, given the size and the nature of its claims, should invite close scrutiny. Under these facts, the potential allowance of an $80 million claim (less the value of its share in HCLOF, which may suffer by continued management by Acis) against the estate for an investment which was not held or managed by the Debtor would be a huge undue windfall.

34. Second, the Motion states that HarbourVest will vote its proposed allowed Class 8 (proposed at $45 million) and Class 9 (proposed at $35 million) claims in support of confirmation. There are at least two potential issues with this proposal. First, the deadline for parties to submit ballots was January 5, 2021, and as of the close of business on January 5, the HarbourVest Claim has not been allowed for voting purposes.⁹ Second, the Motion and proposed settlement agreement state that the HarbourVest Claim will be allowed for voting purposes only as a general unsecured claim in the amount of $45 million. It is unclear how HarbourVest can, or would be authorized to, vote its purported Class 8 and 9 Claims in support of the Plan after the voting deadline and when the settlement provides only for a voting claim in Class 8.

35. Third, while the Motion addresses the factor of probability of success in the litigation, it does not discuss in detail the cost of doing so in relation to the amount to be paid to HarbourVest under the settlement or the likelihood that the Debtor will succeed in the litigation. In addition, unlike the claims filed by Acis and UBS, the HarbourVest Claim does not arise from pending litigation. At this point, relatively little litigation has occurred and the parties have not addressed threshold issues that might dramatically narrow the scope of the HarbourVest Claim. Rule 9019 requires an analysis as to whether the probability of success in litigation is outweighed by the consideration achieved under the settlement. See In re Jackson Brewing Co., 624 F.2d 599, 602 (5th Cir. 1980) (The Court must “compare the terms of the compromise with the likely rewards of litigation.”). Given the excessive amount to be paid under the settlement and the weakness of the HarbourVest Claim, this factor weighs in favor of denial of the Motion.

36. Fourth, it is unclear from the settlement papers whether the transfer by HarbourVest of its interest in HCLOF to the Debtor or an entity the Debtor designates will cause the value of the investment to be received by the Debtor’s estate. Further, the interest of HCLOF being conveyed under the proposed settlement may be subject to the Acis plan injunction, which could potentially prevent the Debtor’s estate from realizing the value of this interest. In the event the Court is inclined to approve the settlement, the order should make clear that the available value of the investment should be realized by the Debtor’s estate.

CONCLUSION

For the reasons set forth above, Respondent respectfully requests that the Court enter an order denying the Motion and providing Respondent such other and further relief to which he may be justly entitled.

6. On April 8, 2020, HarbourVest filed Proofs of Claim Numbers 143, 149, 149, 150, 153, and 154 (collectively, the “HarbourVest Claim”)¹.

7. On July 30, 2020, the Debtor filed Debtor’s First Omnibus Objection to Certain (A) Duplicate Claims; (B) Overstated Claims; (C) Late-Filed Claims; (D) Satisfied Claims; (E) No Liability Claims; and (F) Insufficient-Documentation Claims [Dkt. #906] (the “Debtor Objection”), which contained an objection to the HarbourVest Claim.

8. On September 11, 2020, HarbourVest filed HarbourVest Response to Debtor’s First Omnibus Objection to Certain (A) Duplicate Claims; (B) Overstated Claims; (C) Late-Filed Claims; (D) Satisfied Claims; (E) No Liability Claims; and (F) Insufficient-Documentation Claims [Dkt. #1057] (the “HarbourVest Response”).

9. The Debtor, in its Disclosure Statement for the Fifth Amended Plan of Reorganization of Highland Capital Management, L.P. [Dkt. #1473 pgs. 40-41], described its position relative to the HarbourVest Claim as follows:

The Debtor intends to vigorously defend the HarbourVest Claims on various grounds The HarbourVest Entities invested approximately $80,000,000.00 in HCLOF but seek an allowed claim in excess of 300 million dollars (after giving effect to treble damages for the alleged RICO violations)

10. On December 23, 2020, the Debtor filed the Motion seeking approval of a proposed settlement of the HarbourVest Claim under Rule 9019. [Dkt. # 1625].

11. The proposed settlement provides HarbourVest with the following:

- a. An allowed, general unsecured claim in the amount of $45,000,000.00 [Dkt. #1625 pg. 9 pp.f]; and b. A $35,000,000 claim in Class 9 [Dkt. #1625 pg. 9 pp.f].

12. An integral element of the settlement requires that HarbourVest will “support confirmation of the Debtor’s Plan including, but not limited to, voting its claims in support of the Plan.”

13. The settlement also contains a provision that HarbourVest will transfer its entire interest in HCLOF to an entity to be designated by the Debtor. It is unclear whether HarbourVest has a right to transfer the interest and secondly, what the Debtor will do with the interest [Dkt. #1625 pp.f].

14. The sole support for the Motion is the Declaration of John Morris [Dkt. #1631] which fails to account for the enormous change in the Debtor’s position between November 24, 2020 when the Disclosure Statement was approved and December 23, 2020 when the Motion was filed, a period of less than thirty (30) days.

15. The Declaration of John Morris [Dkt. #1631] also contains no information as to the potential cost of the litigation, whether HarbourVest can transfer the interest or reasons, other than conclusory reasons, as to why the settlement is beneficial to the estate. The Debtor makes the assertion that the interest it is acquiring was worth $22,000,000.00 as of December 1, 2020 without advising as to the basis for the valuation. Is it a book value and, if not, what was the methodology employed to arrive at the valuation? The Court has no basis to evaluate the settlement without essential information as to 1) how the asset being acquired is valued; 2) can the Debtor acquire the interest; and 3) how will the Debtor bring value to the estate in connection with the interest inasmuch as the Debtor has discretion as to where to place the asset to be acquired.

A. LEGAL STANDARDS

16. The law relative to approval of motions pursuant to BR 9019 is well settled. The settlement must be fair and equitable. See In re Jackson Brewing Co., 624 F.2d 599, 602 (5th Cir. 1980). The factors the Court should consider are the following:

- (i) the probabilities of ultimate success should the claim be litigated;
- (ii) the complexity, expense, and likely duration of litigating the claim;
- (iii) the difficulties of collecting a judgment rendered from such litigation; and,
- (iv) all other factors relevant to a full and fair assessment of the wisdom of the compromise.

Protective Comm. for Indep. Stockholders of TMT Trailer Ferry, Inc. v. Anderson, 390 U.S. 414 (1968).

17. Although the Debtor’s business judgment is entitled to a certain deference, “business judgment” is not alone determinative of the issue of court approval. See In re Endoscopy Ctr. of S. Nev., LLC, 451 B.R. 527, 536 (Bankr. D. Nev. 2011). However, notwithstanding the business judgment rule, a debtor does not have unfettered freedom to do what it wishes. See In re Pilgrim’s Pride Corp., 403 B.R. 413, 426 (Bankr. N.D. Tex. 2009) (“[A]s a fiduciary holding its estate in trust and responsible to the court, a debtor in possession must administer its case and conduct its business in a fashion amenable to the scrutiny to be expected from creditor and court oversight.”).

B. ISSUES WITH THE SETTLEMENT

18. Objectors believe that the following issues are not explained or addressed in the Motion and, thus, the Motion should be denied:

- a) The settlement represents a radical change in the Debtor's position that was set forth in its Disclosure Statement. While the Debtor asserts that its position is based on its fear of parties' oral testimony, the size of the transactions at issue make the case a document case, as opposed to who said what, when and how. A review of the applicable documents to determine whether they support the Debtor's initial position is warranted, as opposed to stating that the case is based upon the credibility of a witness. This settlement is not the settlement of an automobile accident where the parties are disputing who ran a red light;

- b) The settlement requires HarbourVest to support and vote in favor of the Debtor's Plan. On its face this appears to be vote buying. The settlement should not be conditioned upon HarbourVest's support or non-support of the Plan and its vote in favor or against the Plan; and
- c) No information is provided as to whether the Debtor can acquire the interest in HCLOF, liquidate the interest, who will receive the interest, or how will the estate benefit from the interest to be acquired.

CONCLUSION

The settlement with HarbourVest has too many questions to be approved on the record before this Court and the parties, due to the Notice of the Motion, the holidays and the press of other litigation in this case, do not have the time to adequately investigate the propriety of the settlement.

1. CLO Holdco owns 75,061,630.55 shares, or about 49.02% of Highland CLO Funding, Ltd. ("HCLOF"). Other shareholders include Harbourvest 2017 Global AIF L.P., Harbourvest Global Fund L.P., Harbourvest Dover Street IX Investment L.P., and Harbourvest Skew Base AIF L.P., and HV International VIII Secondary L.P. (collectively, "Harbourvest"). Harbourvest owns approximately 49.98% of HCLOF. The remaining 1% is owned by the Debtor and a five other investors.

2. HCLOF is governed by a Members Agreement Relating to the Company dated November 15, 2017 by and between each of the members of HCLOF, including Harbourvest, the Debtor, and CLO Holdco (the "Member Agreement"). A copy of that agreement is attached hereto as Exhibit A.

3. Section 6 of the Member Agreement addresses the "Transfer or Disposals of Shares." MEMBER AGREEMENT, § 6. The Member Agreement places strict restrictions on the sale or transfer of shares to entities other than the initial Member's own affiliates. See id. at §§ 6.1, 6.2. Before a Member can transfer its interests to a party other than its own affiliates it must: (i) obtain the prior written consent of the Portfolio Manager; and (ii) "offer to the other Members a right to purchase the Shares, on a pro rata basis with respect to their current Shares, at the same price (which must be cash) as such Shares are proposed to be purchased by the prospective third party purchaser pursuant to an irrevocable offer letter" (the "Right of First Refusal"). Id. As further stated in section 6.2 of the Member Agreement, "The other Members will have 30 days following receipt of the letter to determine whether to purchase their entire pro rata portion of the Shares proposed to be Transferred." Id. at § 6.2.

B. THE HARBOURVEST SETTLEMENT

4. On December 23, 2020, the Debtor filed the Harbourvest Settlement Motion. On the following day, the Debtor filed a copy of the Settlement Agreement referenced in the

6. As detailed below, CLO Holdco objects to the Harbourvest Settlement Motion because Harbourvest has no authority to transfer its interests in HCLOF without first complying with the Right of First Refusal. The only way to effectuate such a transfer without first providing other members the Right of First Refusal is an intentionally inaccurate interpretation of the Member Agreement's contractual provisions that would render specific passages redundant and meaningless. More simply put, the only way Harbourvest and the Debtor could effectuate the Settlement Agreement is by violating fundamental tenets of contract interpretation.

A. CONTRACT INTERPRETATION – AVOIDING REDUNDANCIES AND SURPLUS LANGUAGE

CLO HOLDCO, LTD.'S OBJECTION TO HARBOURVEST SETTLEMENT

B. ANALYZING THE MEMBER AGREEMENT

No Member shall sell, pledge, charge, mortgage, assign, assign by way of security, transfer, convey, exchange or otherwise dispose of its Shares or its commitment to settle purchases of Shares under the Subscription and Transfer Agreement (each a "Transfer"), other than to an Affiliate of an initial Member party hereto, without the prior written consent of the Portfolio Manager...

conveniently transferring its interests in HCLOF to an Affiliate of the Debtor, and that the Debtor is an initial Member listed in the Member Agreement.

10. Section 6.1, however, must be read in the context of the Member Agreement, and in conjunction with the transfer restrictions found in section 6.2. Read together it is clear that the consent exception allowing a transfer in 6.1 was intended to allow a Member to transfer its shares to its own Affiliate, without required consents and effectuating a Right of First Refusal. Doing so would allow inter-company transfers within a corporate structure without the need for complicated procedures. Applying Fifth Circuit precedent, this interpretation fits squarely within the agreement and gives weight to the terms of section 6.2 of the Member Agreement, as explained below.

(i) Surplusage – Specific Allowance of Transfers by CLO Holdco to Debtor Affiliates

11. Recall that both CLO Holdco and the Debtor are initial Members to the Member Agreement. MEMBER AGREEMENT, p. 3. Section 6.2 of the Member Agreement states, in pertinent part, that "Prior to making any Transfer of Shares (other than Transfers to Affiliates of an initial Member or, in the case of CLO Holdco or a Highland Principal, to Highland, its Affiliates or another Highland Principal) a Member must first..." comply with the Right of First Refusal. Id. at § 6.2 (emphasis added). The italicized language above is important for two reasons: (i) it specifically enumerates that CLO Holdco can transfer its interests to Debtor Affiliates without having to pursue the Right of First Refusal; and (ii) it allows only limited transfers between Members, as opposed to between a Member and an Affiliate of an initial Member.

12. If, as the Debtor and Harbourvest will likely argue, Members are allowed to transfer their interests to any Affiliates of any other initial Members, there is absolutely no need for the Member Agreement to specifically authorize CLO Holdco to transfer its interests to the Debtor's Affiliates. Per Fifth Circuit fundamentals of contract interpretation, that purported redundancy should not be discarded as mere surplusage, and the Member Agreement should be interpreted in a manner that gives weight to that provision. Hawthorne Land, 309 F.3d at 892-93.

13. If the Member Agreement is read to literally allow all "Transfers to Affiliates of an initial Member" there would be no reason to expressly set forth allowed transfers between specific Members and other Member's Affiliates. If the Member Agreement sought to list all allowed transfers between Members and their Affiliates, it should have similarly noted that any Member could transfer its interest to any Harbourvest Member entity, as each Harbourvest Member entity is an Affiliate of the other Harbourvest Member entities. Alternatively, if the specific enumeration of CLO Holdco and the Highland Principals' transfer rights was surplusage, it would presumably have listed other parties' rights, or had inclusive language such as "including but not limited to" or "for example." The Member Agreement lacks such language and, as a result, should be interpreted in a manner that both gives weight to the specific provision while reconciling other provisions of the contract.

(ii) Absurd Results – Disparate Transfer Rights Between Members

14. Note that the Member Agreement does not generally allow a transfer of interests from Member to Member unless specifically enumerated. Section 6.2 specifically allows only CLO Holdco and the Highland Principals to make transfers to other Members, but those other Members include only the Debtor or another Highland Principal. MEMBER AGREEMENT, § 6.2. It does not allow the Debtor to transfer interests to any Member, and does not expressly allow any Member, other than limited transfers by CLO Holdco and the Highland Principals, to transfer interests to any other Member. Id. For instance, if the Debtor wished to transfer its interests to CLO Holdco, it would first have to offer all of the other Members their Right of First Refusal. Id.

15. Similarly, if Harbourvest wished to transfer its interest to CLO Holdco, it could not do so without first providing the Right of First Refusal to all other Members. Id. As noted above, however, allowing a Member to transfer its interest to an Affiliate of any initial Member would allow all of the Members to transfer their interests to any Harbourvest Member entity, as the Harbourvest Members are Affiliates of each other. Given the specific enumeration of CLO Holdco and the Highland Principals' rights to inter-Member transfers, it would be inconsistent to expand that specific provision to allow all transfers by all Members to any Harbourvest entity without first providing a Right of First Refusal.

16. Such a reading would lead to absurd results. It would grant similarly situated Members profoundly disparate rights under the agreement, and could easily lead to manipulation. For instance, because the Harbourvest Members are technically Affiliates of an initial Member (each other), they could obtain control of all of the interests in HCLOF without any Member receiving a Right of First Refusal for any transfer. No other Member could do that. For instance, if CLO Holdco wished to acquire other Members' interests, the transferring member (including Harbourvest) would have to offer a Right of First Refusal in every instance. To resolve that potential disparate treatment—though CLO Holdco and Harbourvest own nearly identical ownership interests in HCLOF—CLO Holdco would have to form an Affiliate and acquire interests through the Affiliate. That simply cannot be the intended result of the Member Agreement.

17. Instead, the Member Agreement must be read to require Harbourvest to provide a Right of First Refusal to the other Members of HCLOF before transferring its interests to either the Debtor or the Transferee.

C. THE RIGHT OF FIRST REFUSAL IN BANKRUPTCY

18. Most cases addressing third party rights of first refusal in bankruptcy involve the assignment of leases and landlords' rights of first refusal. In those cases, courts analyze whether such a provision in the debtor's contract is a defacto restriction on assignment that may be excised from the agreement. This case is very different. Here, it is a creditor that owes a right of first refusal to another non-debtor entity.

19. Even so, at least one court has issued telling commentary on a bankruptcy court's ability to excise provisions of a bargained-for contract, stating "A bankruptcy court's authority to excise a bargained for element of a contract is questionable and modification of a nondebtor contracting party's rights is not to be taken lightly." In re E-Z Serve Convenience Stores, Inc., 289 B.R. 45, 51-52 (Bankr. M.D.N.C. 2003) (citing In re Joshua Slocum Ltd., 922 F.2d 1081, 1091 (3d Cir. 1991)). CLO Holdco was unable to find any case that would allow a bankruptcy court to invalidate or otherwise excise a third party's right of first refusal in what largely amounts to a non-debtor contract.

20. As the Member Agreement requires Harbourvest to provide a Right of First Refusal to the non-Debtor Members under section 6.2 of the Agreement, and such Members have 30 days to review and determine whether to purchase their pro-rata shares offered by Harbourvest, Harbourvest lacks contractual authority to enter into the Settlement Agreement.

D. HARBOURVEST'S LACK OF AUTHORITY PRECLUDES ENFORCEMENT OF SETTLEMENT

21. Harbourvest has not completed its conditions precedent to the transfer of its interest to Transferee under the Member Agreement. As detailed above, and in section 6.2 of the Agreement, Harbourvest must effectuate the Right of First Refusal before it can transfer its interests in HCLOF. MEMBER AGREEMENT, § 6.2. Harbourvest is, in essence, bound by the condition precedent of effectuating the Right of First Refusal before it is authorized under the Member Agreement to enter into the Settlement Agreement.

22. Courts should not enforce a settlement agreement where a party has a condition precedent to entry into the agreement and fails to satisfy that condition. In re De La Fuente, 409 B.R. 842, 846 (Bankr. S.D. Tex. 2009). As noted in part in De La Fuente, the court would not recognize or enforce a settlement where the parties were subject to conditions precedent before the settlement could be effective, and the conditions precedent were not satisfied. This Court should similarly deny Harbourvest's proposed settlement, as it would deny the Members' Right of First Refusal, which is the benefit of their bargain under the Member Agreement.

III.
PRAYER FOR RELIEF

WHEREFORE, CLO Holdco requests that this Court grant the Objection and enter an order denying the Harbourvest Settlement Motion.

Can you state 22 your full name for the record? 23 A. Yeah. Michael Pugatch. 24 Q. Okay. And you've been 25 designated by HarbourVest to discuss some	Page 11 1 Confidential - Pugatch 2 matters related to the 9019 motion. And 3 specifically we asked that HarbourVest 4 produce a witness who could talk about the 5 negotiations of the settlement with the 6 Debtor, and also the factual allegations 7 underlying HarbourVest's Proof of Claim, 8 and those described in HarbourVest's 9 response to the claim objection, including 10 without limitation, its investment with 11 Acis/HCLOF in the alleged representations 12 made by the Debtor and/or Acis/HCLOF to 13 HarbourVest, and any and all agreements 14 entered into between HarbourVest and any 15 other party related to its investment. 16 Do you agree that you're the 17 best person to talk about these matters on 18 behalf of HarbourVest? 19 A. Yes. Yes. 20 Q. Okay. Have you given a 21 deposition before? 22 A. I have. 23 Q. Okay. So you understand how it 24 works that you're under oath, and that I'm 25 going to be asking questions and you're
Page 12 1 Confidential - Pugatch 2 going to be giving answers. If at any 3 time I ask a question that you don't 4 understand, or we've had some problems 5 with sometimes connectivity issues with 6 Zoom. But yeah, any time that you don't 7 understand my question or you didn't catch 8 it, I'll be happy to repeat it. 9 Also, one thing I found with 10 Zoom is that it's easier to talk over 11 people. I'll try not to talk over you. I 12 would ask that you try to ensure that I've 13 finished asking my question before you 14 start your answer. And I will likewise 15 try to ensure that you've finished your 16 answer before start my next question. 17 And at any time during this 18 deposition if you feel the need to take a 19 break, that's totally okay with me. The 20 one thing that I would ask is if I've just 21 asked a question, that you answer the 22 question before requesting the break. 23 And if we have that agreement 24 and the ground rules, then I think I'm 25 ready to start asking you my questions.	Page 13 1 Confidential - Pugatch 2 A. Sounds good. 3 Q. What's your current address? 4 A. 47 Wayne Road in Needham, 5 Massachusetts. 6 Q. Okay. And where are you located 7 today? 8 A. At that address. 9 Q. Okay. That's your home address? 10 A. Correct. 11 Q. And is anyone in the room with 12 you there? 13 A. No. 14 Q. And did you talk with anyone 15 about your deposition today? 16 A. Only counsel. 17 Q. Okay. And did you go over the 18 facts of the underlying investment and the 19 settlement negotiations with your counsel? 20 MS. WEISGERBER: I'm going to 21 object on privilege grounds. He 22 can – he prepared for the deposition 23 with counsel. I don't think you can 24 inquire into specifics of the 25 preparation.

Page 26 1 Confidential - Pugatch 2 changed or evolved over time. 3 Q. And that committee included you? 4 A. I was involved in the 5 decisionmaking of that, yes, correct. 6 Q. So you were part of the four-man 7 committee that made this decision? 8 A. Yes. 9 Q. All right. I'm going to go back 10 to what we've marked as Exhibit 3, which 11 is your declaration. And it says in 12 Paragraph 2, that HarbourVest is a passive 13 minority investor in Highland CLO funds, 14 HCLOF, and by the way, I haven't stated 15 this before, but in this deposition if I 16 say HCLOF, I'm going to be referring to 17 Highland CLO funds. 18 But it says that the vehicle is 19 managed by Highland Capital Management, 20 L.P. 21 And why do you say that that 22 vehicle was managed by Highland Capital 23 Management, L.P.? 24 A. I believe that is the named 25 investment manager of HCLOF, per the	Page 27 1 Confidential - Pugatch 2 organization documents of that vehicle. 3 Q. You believe that that was the 4 investment manager on the organization 5 documents, which – 6 A. Of the various transaction 7 documents that we entered into, in 8 connection with our investment. 9 Q. Would those have been the 10 documents that you had entered on November 11 the 15 of 2017? 12 A. Yes. 13 Q. Okay. It says that HarbourVest 14 initially invested $73,522,928 for roughly 15 49 percent interest in HCLOF; and more 16 specifically, that would be a 49.98 17 percent interest in HCLOF, correct? 18 A. Sounds right, yes. 19 Q. Okay. And then HarbourVest 20 contributed an additional $4,998,501 21 following a capital call, and it's 22 received three dividends, each totally 23 $1,570,429. 24 Is all of that correct? 25 A. Yes.
Page 28 1 Confidential - Pugatch 2 Q. And has HarbourVest received any 3 additional dividends, since the making of 4 this declaration? 5 A. No, we have not. 6 Q. Now, I want to skip down to 7 Paragraph 3, where it says that 8 HarbourVest expected proceeds from the 9 original HCLOF investment were projected 10 to exceed 135 million. 11 Do you agree with that? 12 A. That was the original projected 13 value of the investment, yes. 14 Q. Well, whose expectation was 15 that? 16 A. Those were figures, as I recall, 17 that were originally provided to us by 18 Highland to form the basis of our due 19 diligence that we went through, and 20 penultimately were included as part of our 21 investment thesis in making the 22 investment. 23 Q. So your testimony is that 24 Highland told you that your investment 25 would be worth over $135 million?	Page 29 1 Confidential - Pugatch 2 A. Yes. 3 MS. WEISGERBER: Objection to 4 the form. Misstates testimony. 5 Go ahead, Mike. 6 A. That was, that was part of our 7 original due diligence, on the investment 8 opportunity. 9 Q. When you say part of your due 10 diligence, are you saying that the number 11 originated from Highland or that the 12 number originated from your due diligence 13 operations? 14 MS. WEISGERBER: Objection to 15 form. 16 A. The number originally came from 17 Highland and formed the basis upon which 18 we conducted due diligence on the 19 investment opportunity. 20 Q. And after performing due 21 diligence, you were satisfied that that 22 was a reasonable projection? 23 A. Yes. 24 Q. And what was the, what was the 25 estimated date, in which the value of your

Page 30 1 Confidential - Pugatch 2 investment would exceed the $135 million? 3 MS. WEISGERBER: Objection to 4 form. 5 A. I don't recall exactly. That 6 would have been over, over several years. 7 And again, this was the -- this was the 8 projected value based on the original 9 investment or the assets that were held by 10 HCLOF, at the time of our investment. 11 Q. Now, when you talk about a 12 portfolio manager -- I'm sorry, when you 13 talk about investment manager, are you 14 referring to the portfolio manager? 15 A. No. 16 Q. So what's the difference in an 17 investment manager and a portfolio 18 manager? 19 A. So in the context of this 20 investment, the investment manager. We -- 21 we had -- HarbourVest had an investment 22 with HCLOF. Highland was the investment 23 manager of HCLOF that in turn held equity 24 positions in a variety of CLOs, which had 25 various portfolio managers associated with	Page 31 1 Confidential - Pugatch 2 those, all Highland affiliates. 3 Q. And so who was the portfolio 4 manager for the HarbourVest investment in 5 HCLOF? 6 MS. WEISGERBER: Objection to 7 form. 8 A. There were various underling 9 portfolio managers, depending on the 10 underlying CLO position. 11 Q. Well, who was the initial 12 portfolio manager? 13 A. So, again it would depend on 14 which underlying assets we're talking 15 about. HCLOF was a diversified portfolio 16 of multiple underlying CLO equity 17 positions, all with portfolio managers 18 that were Highland affiliates, as we 19 understood it. 20 Q. Well, I'm going to go back to 21 Exhibit 1, Paragraph 2, this says, in the 22 second sentence, "Acis Capital Management 23 GP, LLC, and Acis Capital Management, 24 L.P., together Acis, the portfolio manager 25 for HCLOF," and then it continues on,

Page 48 1 Confidential - Pugatch 2 John? I think the beginning of it was 3 a little muddled. 4 BY MR. WILSON: 5 Q. Well, this objection says that 6 Highland had -- or response to objection, 7 says that Highland had no intention of 8 paying the arbitration award, but that 9 seems to conflict with the next bullet 10 point that says that it undertook 11 transfers to siphon assets away from Acis, 12 L.P., to prevent Mr. Terry from collecting 13 on the arbitration award. 14 So where were those assets being 15 siphoned to? 16 MS. WEISGERBER: Objection to 17 form and foundation. 18 If you're capable of answering 19 that question, Mike, you can. 20 A. I don't know the specific 21 details of where those assets were 22 siphoned off to, other than it was to 23 another Highland affiliate. 24 Q. The next sentence says that, 25 "Highland simply did not inform	Page 49 1 Confidential - Pugatch 2 HarbourVest and represented to HarbourVest 3 that the reason for changing the portfolio 4 manager for HCLOF was because Acis was 5 toxic in the industry." 6 Do you see that? 7 A. Yes. 8 Q. And it seems when I read these 9 documents that have been filed in the 10 Highland bankruptcy, and also the Acis 11 bankruptcy, that there's a difference in 12 position as to which entity, being either 13 Highland or HarbourVest, had the belief 14 that the Acis name was toxic. Can you 15 shed any light on that? 16 MS. WEISGERBER: Objection to 17 form. 18 A. I can unequivocally say that the 19 idea to change the portfolio manager or 20 the idea that the Acis brand was toxic did 21 not come from HarbourVest. 22 Q. That was not at HarbourVest's 23 suggestion or insistence? 24 A. Absolutely not. 25 Q. Well, whose suggestion was it

Page 50 1 Confidential - Pugatch 2 that the Acis name was toxic? 3 A. Somebody at Highland. 4 Q. Do you know who? 5 A. I don't recall the conversation 6 where that first came up or who said, or 7 who at Highland said that. 8 Q. But that conversation did occur 9 prior to HarbourVest's investment? 10 A. Yes. 11 Q. So Acis was previously the 12 portfolio manager for HCLOF prior to 13 November 15, 2017, and now November 17 -- 14 or 15th, 2017, the portfolio manager was 15 changed. 16 And what is HarbourVest's 17 position as to why that change in 18 portfolio manager damaged it? 19 MS. WEISGERBER: Objection; 20 form, objection to the extent it calls 21 for a legal conclusion. 22 Mike, you can answer -- 23 MR. WILSON: I'm not asking for 24 a -- with all due respect, I'm not 25 asking for a legal conclusion. I'm	Page 51 1 Confidential - Pugatch 2 asking for his understanding why the 3 change in the portfolio manager 4 damaged HarbourVest. 5 MS. WEISGERBER: Same objection. 6 You can provide any 7 non-privileged answer that you have, 8 Mike, if any. 9 A. Ultimately my understanding is 10 that that change in portfolio manager and 11 the subsequent litigation between Acis, 12 Highland, and Josh Terry led to material 13 diminution in value, as it relates to the 14 underlying assets of HCLOF stemming from 15 Highland's decision not to comply with the 16 arbitration award to Mr. Terry. 17 Q. Okay. Now, if you go up to 18 Page 4 in this document, it says that on 19 October 27th, and this is Paragraph 11 20 now, "On October 27, 2017, Acis' portfolio 21 management rights for HCLOF were 22 transferred to Highland HCF"; is that 23 correct? 24 A. That sounds right, yes. 25 Q. And this is over two weeks prior
Page 52 1 Confidential - Pugatch 2 to HarbourVest's investment, correct? 3 A. Correct. 4 Q. So HarbourVest had full 5 knowledge that that the portfolio manager 6 of HCLOF was being changed prior to its 7 investment, correct? 8 A. Correct. 9 MS. WEISGERBER: Objection to 10 form. 11 And just to clarify, you're 12 asking him, HarbourVest, he's 13 testifying on behalf of himself. I 14 could just take a standing objection 15 to that because I know sometimes 16 you're just saying HarbourVest meaning 17 Mike, so... 18 BY MR. WILSON: 19 Q. Okay. And just to be clear, 20 HCLOF changed its portfolio manager on 21 October 27, 2017, but after the Acis 22 bankruptcy was initiated the Chapter 11 23 trustee made changes to the portfolio 24 manager, correct? 25 MS. WEISGERBER: Objection to	Page 53 1 Confidential - Pugatch 2 form, foundation. 3 A. I know there were changes 4 subsequent to the Acis bankruptcy, to the 5 underlying management of the Acis CLOs. 6 Q. All right. I'm going to go back 7 to Paragraph 37, and I want to look at 8 these next two bullet points. 9 It says that, in the third 10 bullet point, that "Highland indicated to 11 HarbourVest that the dispute with 12 Mr. Terry (which appeared on a litigation 13 schedule presented to HarbourVest during 14 diligence) would have no impact on 15 investment activities." 16 And that would be the opinion of 17 Highland, correct? 18 MS. WEISGERBER: Objection to 19 form. The opinion of Highland? Is 20 that what you meant to ask? 21 MR. WILSON: Right. 22 BY MR. WILSON: 23 Q. That's Highland expressing its 24 opinion to HarbourVest, correct? 25 MS. WEISGERBER: Objection to

Page 94 1 Confidential - Pugatch 2 form and foundation. 3 MR. MALONEY: Mark Maloney. 4 Object to form and foundation. 5 A. I don't know. You'd have to ask 6 William Scott. 7 Q. Well, were you aware, I mean, 8 there's a citation to a, well, I don't 9 know if there's a citation on this one. 10 But it says that he recently testified. 11 Were you aware that he testified that he 12 wanted to reset the Acis CLOs? 13 MS. WEISGERBER: Same objection. 14 We're really getting far afield. 15 MR. WILSON: I'm just asking if 16 he was aware that this statement 17 occurred. 18 A. At some point in time, yes, I 19 became aware of that. 20 Q. Okay. Do you agree that the 21 inability to do a reset was causing 22 damages in the amount of $295,000 per 23 week? 24 MS. WEISGERBER: Objection to 25 form and foundation. This is not a	Page 95 1 Confidential - Pugatch 2 HarbourVest-prepared document. 3 MR. WILSON: Well, I understand 4 that. I'm just asking if he agrees 5 with it. 6 A. I don't have enough information 7 to assess that, specifically the $295,000 8 per week number. 9 Q. I want to go down to Paragraph 7 10 of this document, and this is going to be 11 at the top of Page 5. It says 12 "Mr. Ellington also testified that because 13 it would be putting in additional capital 14 in connection with any reset CLOs, the 15 Investor," and we discussed that that's 16 HarbourVest, "had the ability to start 17 'calling the shots' and dictate the terms 18 of any reset transactions." 19 Do you agree with that? 20 A. No. 21 MS. WEISGERBER: Objection to 22 form. 23 Q. I want to go down to Paragraph 24 9. 25 It says, "The Trustee also needs

Page 102 1 Confidential - Pugatch 2 manager of HCLOF. We were not in control 3 of those decisions or making 4 recommendations on those decisions. That 5 was the delegated authority of Highland, 6 as the investment manager. 7 Q. I'm not asking for that. I'm 8 asking for your personal feelings toward a 9 reset. 10 MS. WEISGERBER: Same objection. 11 He's only answering on behalf of 12 himself, and it's been asked and 13 answered three times since. 14 MR. WILSON: Well, he hasn't 15 answered the question. He's just told 16 me they don't have the authority to do 17 the reset. 18 MS. WEISGERBER: And he told you 19 the other information he'd be required 20 to even have an opinion on it. So 21 same objection stands. It's not a 22 specific enough question for him. 23 Mike, you're welcome, if you 24 have, if you have an answer, you're 25 welcome to give it.	Page 103 1 Confidential - Pugatch 2 A. Yeah, the investment guidelines 3 of HCLOF, from the documents that we 4 signed at the time we entered into the 5 transaction, laid out the specific, again, 6 investment guidelines that HCLOF would be 7 guided under, including the opportunity to 8 refinance or reset various CLOs over time, 9 in accordance with Highland's, you know, 10 expectations and ultimate decision to do 11 so. 12 Q. But did you believe, at this 13 time, that a reset was appropriate? 14 MS. WEISGERBER: Objection to 15 form. This is asked and answered 16 several times now, I think we should 17 move on. He's given you an answer. 18 MR. WILSON: Well, I want to 19 know what his personal opinion was 20 about whether the reset was 21 appropriate. 22 A. What reset are you referring to? 23 Q. A reset as of October 10, 2018. 24 At that time, did you believe that a reset 25 was appropriate?

Page 110 1 Confidential - Pugatch 2 claim, and a $35 million subordinated 3 claim. 4 And then Part B of that 5 paragraph states that HarbourVest is going 6 to transfer all its rights, titles, and 7 interests to its investment in CLOF to the 8 Debtor or its nominee. 9 Is that your understanding of 10 the general terms of this settlement? 11 MS. WEISGERBER: Objection to 12 form. 13 A. Yes, it is. 14 Q. Okay. And also in Paragraph 5, 15 Each HarbourVest party agrees that it will 16 vote all of HarbourVest claims held by 17 such HarbourVest party to accept the plan. 18 And I won't read all of that. 19 But the gist of this paragraph is that 20 HarbourVest is going to vote for the 21 Debtor's proposed plan; is that correct? 22 MS. WEISGERBER: Objection to 23 form. 24 A. Yes, correct. 25 Q. And how did that term come to be	Page 111 1 Confidential - Pugatch 2 in this Settlement Agreement? 3 MS. WEISGERBER: Objection to 4 form. 5 A. I believe it was put there as 6 part of the drafting of the ultimate 7 agreement to the fund. 8 Q. Well, whose suggestion was it 9 that it be added to the drafting? 10 MS. WEISGERBER: Objection to 11 form. 12 A. I believe that it came from 13 Debtor's counsel, as they took the lead on 14 drafting the documentation here. 15 Q. Did Jim Seery ever tell you that 16 it was important to him that HarbourVest 17 vote in support of the plan? 18 MS. WEISGERBER: Objection to 19 form. 20 A. I don't recall that ever being 21 discussed. Certainly it was not the 22 prominent feature of any of the 23 discussions or negotiations that I ever 24 had with Jim. 25 Q. Okay.
Page 112 1 Confidential - Pugatch 2 MR. WILSON: I'm going to take a 3 ten-minute break, and I think I'm 4 almost ready to wrap up. So I want to 5 stop my screen share. And let's, 6 well, let's start back at 2:30, and I 7 think I'll be quick. Thank you. 8 (Recess taken.) 9 BY MR. WILSON: 10 Q. Mr. Pugatch, earlier you 11 testified that consistent with your 12 declaration you filed that as of August 13 31, 2020, the value of HCLOF was 14 $44.5 million. And then if we look at -- 15 I don't remember which -- 16 Okay. So this would have been 17 Exhibit 7. I'll do a share screen. 18 As of November 15, 2017 these 19 shares were purchased at $1.02 and change 20 apiece, and there were a total number of 21 143 million shares. 22 Was the value of this investment 23 roughly $150 million, as of November 15, 24 2017? 25 MS. WEISGERBER: Objection to	Page 113 1 Confidential - Pugatch 2 form. Foundation. 3 MR. MALONEY: Join. 4 MS. WEISGERBER: I don't know, 5 Mike, if you're comfortable doing that 6 math or what. 7 A. Yes, approximately that's 8 correct. 9 Q. Okay. And you know, and I've 10 read your papers and you talk about 11 attorneys' fees that you say weren't 12 appropriate to be charged to HCLOF and 13 that part of it, but as to the loss of 14 value of the actual investment, what's 15 your understanding of what led to that? 16 MS. WEISGERBER: Objection to 17 form. Objection to the extent it 18 calls for a legal conclusion. 19 Mike, to the extent you have a 20 nonlegal opinion on that, that's not 21 based on conversations with counsel, 22 you can answer. 23 A. Yeah, I think a lot of the value 24 erosion was due to the inability to 25 refinance, reset a number of the

Page 128 1 Confidential - Pugatch 2 interest and the release of the claims 3 that we had outstanding as the Debtor. 4 MR. KANE: Now, I want to turn 5 your attention to what I've included 6 in the chat. You can pull it down 7 pretty easily if you want. But it 8 would be Holdco Depo Exhibit 2. If 9 that would be easier than a screen 10 share, if you'd like, I'm happy to do 11 that as well. 12 MS. WEISGERBER: Which document 13 is it, John? Because I just can't 14 pull stuff off the Zoom right now. 15 MR. KANE: Oh, I'm sorry. It's 16 the Settlement Agreement with the 17 attached exhibits. I can share my 18 screen so we're all on the same page. 19 Just to confirm we're looking at 20 the same thing, here's the Settlement 21 Agreement. There's a docket entry at 22 the top so you can see it, 1631 filed 23 by the Debtor 12/24/20. 24 This is Exhibit 1 to the 25 Declaration of John Morris in Support	Page 129 1 Confidential - Pugatch 2 of Debtor's Motion for an Entry 3 Approving Settlement with HarbourVest. 4 BY MR. KANE: 5 Q. Now, this Settlement Agreement 6 is a document that you assisted in 7 negotiations; is that correct? 8 A. Correct. 9 Q. Okay. And here in Section 1B, 10 this addresses the transfer of the shares 11 of the HarbourVest entities to a Debtor 12 affiliate; is that correct? 13 MS. WEISGERBER: Objection to 14 form. 15 A. Correct. 16 Q. Is that your understanding, 17 Mr. Pugatch? 18 A. Yes, correct. 19 Q. Okay. Thank you. Section 4A, 20 and is this your understanding that 21 HarbourVest is representing that it has 22 the authority to enter into this agreement 23 and to transfer the shares to the Debtor's 24 affiliate if this is approved? 25 MS. WEISGERBER: Objection to

Page 132 1 Confidential - Pugatch 2 that correct? 3 MS. WEISGERBER: Same objection. 4 I think you can give your 5 general understanding, but then not 6 get into specific conversations. 7 A. My understanding of that is 8 based on conversations with counsel, but 9 yes, that is my understanding, John. 10 Q. Okay. I'm going to highlight a 11 passage here. Can you see this 12 highlighted area? "Whereas, the Portfolio 13 Manager desires to consent to such 14 transfers and to the admission of 15 Transferee as a shareholder..." 16 Were you aware of that 17 provision? 18 MS. WEISGERBER: Objection to 19 form. 20 A. Yes. It's in the document. 21 Q. Do you have any understanding of 22 why that provision was included in this 23 agreement? 24 MS. WEISGERBER: Objection to 25 form. Objection to the extent it	Page 133 1 Confidential - Pugatch 2 calls for a privileged conversation. 3 A. As I answered before, based on 4 conversations with counsel, my 5 understanding is that consent is requiring 6 in connection to transfer. 7 Q. I'd like to turn your attention 8 now – this is a document you've seen 9 before during your deposition. This is 10 the member's agreement related to the 11 Company for HCLOF. This is previously 12 produced by the Debtor, that's why it's 13 got the Bates stamp on it. This is dated 14 November 15, 2017. 15 Are you familiar with this 16 document? 17 A. Yes. 18 Q. Do you see on Line 14, in the 19 between, on Page 1 shows Highland HCF 20 Advisor, Ltd. as the portfolio manager? 21 A. Yes, I see that. 22 Q. I know there was quite a bit 23 of – quite a few questions about this 24 earlier, but you understand that Highland 25 HCF Advisor, Ltd. is still the HCLOF

Page 150 1 Confidential - Pugatch 2 form of the question. 3 MS. WEISGERBER: Objection. 4 Same objection. 5 A. Yes. 6 Q. Yes. Okay. Thank you. 7 And I just had two more 8 questions. 9 So, if there was going to be a 10 reset, that would have to be done at the 11 CLO level, each CLO would have to be 12 reset? 13 MR. MORRIS: Objection. 14 MS. WEISGERBER: Objection to 15 form. 16 A. That is correct. 17 Q. And do you know of any specific 18 CLO that requested a reset but was not 19 granted a reset? 20 MR. MORRIS: Objection to form. 21 MS. WEISGERBER: Same objection. 22 And foundation. 23 A. When you say "CLOs who requested 24 a reset," can be more clear, please? 25 Q. We just talked about how this	Page 151 1 Confidential - Pugatch 2 investment is comprised of multiple CLOs 3 and each one of those CLOs would have to 4 be reset, according to its own terms, I 5 guess. Do you know of any one of those 6 CLOs that requested a reset? 7 MR. MORRIS: Objection to the 8 form of the question. 9 MS. WEISGERBER: Same objection. 10 A. I'm aware of Highland having in 11 its capacity as manager of the HCLOF 12 having requested or pursued resets of 13 certain of the Acis HCLOs. 14 Q. Your understanding is that 15 Highland requested a reset of the Acis 16 CLOs? 17 MS. WEISGERBER: Objection to 18 form. 19 A. I'm sorry. I'm trying to 20 understand what you said. 21 MS. WEISGERBER: I'm really 22 wondering how this relates at all to 23 the scope of the questions I asked Mr. 24 Pugatch on follow up. 25 I think it's time to wrap this

1. If granted, the Motion will resolve a $300 million general unsecured claim against the Debtor's estate for less than $16.8 million in actual value.³ The settlement is another solid achievement for the Debtor and – not surprisingly – is opposed by no one except Mr. Dondero and entities affiliated with him.

2. As discussed in the Motion, in November 2017, HarbourVest invested $80 million in exchange for a 49.98% membership interest in HCLOF – an entity managed by a subsidiary of the Debtor. The balance of HCLOF’s interests are held by CLO Holdco, Ltd. (an entity affiliated with Mr. Dondero), the Debtor, and certain of the Debtor’s employees. Subsequent to its investment in HCLOF, HarbourVest incurred substantial losses on its investment in HCLOF and filed claims against the Debtor’s estate.

3. HarbourVest asserts claims for fraud, fraudulent inducement, fraudulent concealment, fraudulent misrepresentation, negligent misrepresentation, breach of fiduciary duty and unfair prejudice (under Guernsey law), violations of state securities laws, and RICO. In furtherance of these claims, HarbourVest alleges it was misled by the Debtor and its employees, including Mr. Scott Ellington (then the Debtor's general counsel), and that subsequent to investing in HCLOF, Mr. Dondero and the Debtor used HCLOF both as a piggybank to fund the litigation against Acis Capital Management, L.P. ("Acis") and as a scapegoat for the Debtor's litigation strategy, in each case to HarbourVest's substantial detriment.

4. Specifically, HarbourVest alleges that:

- the Debtor and its employees, including Mr. Ellington, misled HarbourVest about its intentions with respect to Mr. Terry's arbitration award against Acis and orchestrated a series of fraudulent transfers and corporate restructurings, the true purpose of which was to denude Acis of assets and make it judgment proof;
- the Debtor and its employees, including Mr. Ellington, misled HarbourVest as to the intent and true purpose of these restructurings and led HarbourVest to believe that Mr. Terry's claims against Acis were meritless and a simple employment dispute that would not affect HarbourVest's investment;
- the Debtor, through Mr. Dondero, improperly exercised control over or misled HCLOF's Guernsey-based board of directors to cause HCLOF to engage in unnecessary, unwarranted, and resource-draining litigation against Acis;
- the Debtor improperly caused HCLOF to pay substantial legal fees of various entities in the Acis bankruptcy that were unwarranted, imprudent, and not properly chargeable to HCLOF; and
- the Debtor used HarbourVest as a scapegoat in its litigation against Acis by asserting that the Debtor's improper conduct and scorched-earth litigation strategy was at HarbourVest's request, which was untrue.

5. The Debtor believed, and continues to believe, that it has viable defenses to HarbourVest's claims. Nevertheless, those defenses would be subject to substantial factual disputes and would require expensive and time-consuming litigation that would likely be resolved only after a lengthy trial all while the Debtor (or its successor) assumes the risk that the defenses might fail. The evidence will show that the proposed settlement is the product of substantial, arm's length – and sometimes quite heated – negotiations between and among the principals and their counsel. The evidence will also show that one of HarbourVest's primary concerns in settling its claim was that part of that settlement would include the extrication of HarbourVest from the Highland web of entities and the related litigation. The proposed settlement accomplishes that and does so in compliance with HCLOF's governing agreements.

6. Pursuant to the proposed settlement, (a) HarbourVest will receive (i) an allowed, general unsecured claim in the amount of $45 million, and (ii) an allowed, subordinated claim in the amount of $35 million; (b) HarbourVest will transfer its 49.98% interest in HCLOF (valued at approximately $22.5 million) to a wholly-owned subsidiary of the Debtor; and (c) the parties will exchange mutual and general releases. The Debtor believes that the proposed settlement is reasonable and results from the valid and proper exercise of its business judgment. And the Debtor's creditors apparently agree. None of the major parties-in-interest or creditors in this case has objected to the Motion: not the Committee, the Redeemer Committee, Acis, Patrick Daugherty, or UBS.

7. In distinction, the only objecting parties are Mr. Dondero, his family trusts (the Dugaboy Investment Trust ("Dugaboy") and Get Good Trust ("Get Good," and together with Dugaboy, the "Trusts")), and CLO Holdco (a wholly-owned subsidiary of Mr. Dondero's Charitable Donor Advised Fund, L.P. (the "DAF")) (collectively, the "Objectors"). Each of the Objectors has only the most tenuous economic interest in and connection to the Debtor's settlement with HarbourVest. Each of the Objectors is also controlled directly or indirectly by Mr. Dondero who has coordinated each of the Objectors litigation strategies against the Debtor.⁴ Mr. Dondero's efforts to litigate every issue in this case – directly and by proxy – should be rebuffed, and the objections overruled. The following is a brief summary of the objections.

Pleading	Objection/Reservation	Response
Objection of James Dondero [Docket No. 1697] (the “ Dondero Objection ”)	Because HarbourVest was damaged by the injunction entered in Acis, the settlement seeks to revisit this Court’s rulings in Acis.	Mr. Dondero is misdirecting the Court. HarbourVest’s claim arises from the misrepresentations of Mr. Dondero, Mr. Ellington, and others, not this Court’s rulings in Acis, including the failure to disclose the fraudulent transfer of assets.
	The settlement is not fair and equitable because it does not address (1) Acis’s mismanagement, (2) how the Debtor is liable for HarbourVest’s damages, (3) the success on the merits, (4) the costs of litigation, and (5) the Debtor’s ability to realize the value of the HCLOF interests in light of the Acis injunction.	Mr. Dondero ignores the dangers of the litigation and HarbourVest’s claims against the estate for misrepresentation and overestimates the ability to resolve the litigation. The Debtor has assessed the value of the HCLOF interests in light of all factors, including the Acis injunction.
	The HarbourVest settlement represents a substantial windfall to HarbourVest.	Mr. Dondero ignores the economics of this case, which have value breaking in Class 8 (General Unsecured Claims). The value of the settlement is not $60 million; it is approximately $16.8 million against a claim of $300 million. There is no windfall.
	The HarbourVest settlement is improper gerrymandering because it provides HarbourVest with a general unsecured claim and a subordinated claim in order to secure votes for the plan.	The HarbourVest settlement provides for the resolution of HarbourVest’s claim. It is nonsensical to think that the Debtor would reach a settlement with HarbourVest that would include HarbourVest’s rejection of the Debtor’s plan, and there is nothing wrong with requiring acceptance of a plan as part of a settlement. Further, the Debtor does not need HarbourVest’s Class 9 vote to confirm a plan.
Objection of the Dugaboy Investment Trust and Get Good Trust [Docket No. 1706] (the “ Trusts Objection ”)	The settlement represents a radical change in the Debtor’s earlier position on the HarbourVest settlement.	Mr. Dondero ignores the dangers of the litigation and HarbourVest’s claims against the estate for misrepresentation and overestimates the ability to resolve the litigation.
	The settlement appears to buy HarbourVest’s vote.	The HarbourVest settlement provides for the resolution of HarbourVest’s claim. It is nonsensical to think that the Debtor would reach a settlement with HarbourVest that would include HarbourVest’s rejection of the Debtor’s plan, and there is nothing wrong with requiring acceptance of a plan as part of a settlement. Further, the Debtor does not need HarbourVest’s Class 9 vote to confirm a plan.
	No information is provided as to whether the Debtor can acquire HarbourVest’s interest in HCLOF or the value of that interest to the estate.	As discussed below, the HCLOF interest will be transferred to a wholly-owned subsidiary of the Debtor. Mr. Seery will testify as to the benefit of the HCLOF interests to the estate.
Objection of CLO Holdco [Docket No. 1707] (“ CLOH Objection ”)	HarbourVest cannot transfer its interests in HCLOF unless it complies with the right of first refusal.	CLO Holdco misinterprets the operative agreements and tries to create ambiguity where none exists.

8. These objections are just the latest objections filed by Mr. Dondero and his related entities to any attempt by the Debtor to resolve this case,⁵ including the Debtor's settlement with Acis [Docket No. 1087] and the seven separate objections filed by Mr. Dondero and his related entities to the Fifth Amended Plan of Reorganization of Highland Capital Management, L.P. [Docket No. 1472] (the "Plan").⁶ It will not shock this Court to hear that each of the Objectors is also objecting to the Plan. In contradistinction, the Debtor has heard this Court's admonishments about old Highland's culture of litigation as evidenced by this case, Acis's bankruptcy, and beyond. Although the Debtor has vigorously contested claims when appropriate, the Debtor has also sought to settle claims and limit the senseless fighting. The Debtor has successfully resolved the largest claims against the estate, including the claims of the Redeemer Committee, Acis, and, as recently announced to this Court, UBS. The Debtor would ask this Court to see through the pretense of the Dondero-related entities' objections to the HarbourVest settlement and approve it as a valid exercise of the Debtor's business judgment.

⁵ As an example of Mr. Dondero's litigiousness, on January 12, 2021, Mr. Dondero filed notice that he will be appealing the preliminary injunction entered against him earlier on January 12, 2021.

9. James Dondero. In the Dondero Objection, Mr. Dondero asserts he is a “creditor, indirect equity security holder, and party in interest” in the Debtor’s bankruptcy. While that claim is ostensibly true, it is tenuous at best. On April 8, 2020, Mr. Dondero filed three unliquidated, contingent claims that he promised to update “in the next ninety days.”⁷ More than nine months later, Mr. Dondero has yet to “update” those claims to assert an actual claim against the Debtor’s estate.⁸

10. Mr. Dondero's claim as an "indirect equity security holder" is also a stretch. Mr. Dondero holds no direct equity interest in the Debtor. Mr. Dondero instead owns 100% of Strand Advisors, Inc. ("Strand"), the Debtor's general partner. Strand, however, holds only 0.25% of the total limited partnership interests in the Debtor through its ownership of Class A limited partnership interests. The Class A limited partnership interests are junior in priority of distribution to the Debtor's Class B and Class C limited partnership interests. The Class A interests are also junior to all other claims filed against the Debtor. Finally, Mr. Dondero's recovery on his indirect equity interest is junior to any claims against Strand itself. Consequently, before Mr. Dondero can recover on his "indirect" equity interest, the Debtor's estate must be solvent, priority distributions to Class B and Class C creditors must be satisfied, and all claims against Strand must be satisfied.

11. Dugaboy and Get Good. Dugaboy and Get Good are sham Dondero “trusts” with only the most attenuated standing. Dugaboy has filed three proofs of claim [Claim Nos. 113; 131; 177]. In two of these claims, Dugaboy argues that (1) the Debtor is liable to Dugaboy for its postpetition mismanagement of the Highland Multi Strategy Credit Fund, L.P., and (2) this Court should pierce the corporate veil and allow Dugaboy to sue the Debtor for a claim it ostensibly has against the Highland Select Equity Master Fund, L.P. – a Debtor-managed investment vehicle. The Debtor believes that each of the foregoing claims is frivolous and has objected to them. [Docket No. 906].

12. In its third claim, Dugaboy asserts a claim against the Debtor arising from its Class A limited partnership interest in the Debtor (which represents just 0.1866% of the total limited partnership interests in the Debtor). Similarly, Get Good filed three proofs of claim [Claim Nos. 120; 128; 129] arising from its prior ownership of limited partnership interests in the Debtor. Because each these claims arises from an equity interest, the Debtor will seek to subordinate them under 11 U.S.C. § 510 at the appropriate time. As set forth above, these interests are out of the money and are not expected to receive any economic recovery.

13. Consequently, Mr. Dondero, Dugaboy, and Get Good’s standing to object to the HarbourVest settlement is attenuated and their chances of recovery in this case are extremely speculative at best. See In re Kutner, 3 B.R. 422, 425 (Bankr. N.D. Tex. 1980) (finding that a party had standing only when it had a “pecuniary interest . . . directly affected by the bankruptcy proceeding”); see also In re Flintkote Co., 486 B.R. 99, 114-15 (Bankr. D. Del. 2012), aff’d, 526 B.R. 515 (D. Del. 2014) (a claim that is speculative cannot confer party in interest standing). Mr. Dondero, Dugaboy, and Get Good’s minimal interest in the estate should not allow them to overrule the estate’s business judgment or veto settlements with creditors, especially when no actual creditors and constituents have objected. “[A] bankruptcy judge must not blindly follow the hue and cry of the most vocal special interest groups; rather, [the judge] should consider all salient factors . . . and . . . act to further the diverse interests of the debtor, creditors and equity holders, alike.” In re Lionel, 722 F.2d 1063, 1071 (2d Cir. 1983).

B. Mr. Dondero’s Objection and his “Trusts” Objection Are Without Merit

14. As discussed in the Motion, under applicable Fifth Circuit precedent, a bankruptcy court may approve a compromise or settlement as long as the proposed settlement is fair, reasonable, and in the best interest of the estate. See, e.g., In re Age Ref. Inc., 801 F.3d 530, 540 (5th Cir. 2015). In making this determination, courts look to the following factors:

- probability of success in the litigation, with due consideration for the uncertainty of law and fact;
- complexity and likely duration of the litigation and any attendant expense, inconvenience and delay; and
- all other factors bearing on the wisdom of the compromise, including (i) “the paramount interest of creditors with proper deference to their reasonable views” and (ii) whether the settlement is the product of arm’s length bargaining and not of fraud or collusion.

Official Comm. of Unsecured Creditors v. Cajun Elec. Power Coop. (In re Cajun Elec. Power Coop.), 119 F.3d 349, 356 (5th Cir. 1997) (citations omitted). See also Age Ref. Inc., 801 F.3d at 540; Conn. Gen. Life Ins. Co. v. United Cos. Fin. Corp. (In re Foster Mortgage Corp.), 68 F.3d 914, 918 (5th Cir. 1995).

15. The Settlement Seeks to Revisit the Acis Orders. In the Dondero Objection, Mr. Dondero argues that HarbourVest’s claim is based on the financial harm caused to HarbourVest from Acis’s bankruptcy and the orders entered in the Acis bankruptcy. Mr. Dondero extrapolates from this that HarbourVest is seeking to challenge this Court’s rulings in Acis. (Dondero Obj., ¶¶ 17-20) Mr. Dondero misinterprets HarbourVest’s claims and the dangers such claims pose to the Debtor’s estate.

16. HarbourVest’s claims are for fraud, fraudulent inducement, fraudulent concealment, fraudulent misrepresentation, negligent misrepresentation, breach of fiduciary duty

17. Again, HarbourVest does not contend that Acis caused its damages. Rather, HarbourVest contends that the fraudulent transfer of assets as part of the Debtor's crusade against Mr. Terry and Acis and the false statements and omissions about those matters caused HarbourVest to make an investment it would never have made had Mr. Dondero and the Debtor been honest and transparent. The Acis litigation – in HarbourVest's estimation – never should have happened. Acis did not cause HarbourVest's damages. Mr. Dondero's crusade against Mr. Terry and the Debtor's allegedly fraudulent statements to HarbourVest about the fraudulent transfers, Mr. Terry and Acis caused HarbourVest's damages.

19. Both the Dondero Objection and – to a much lesser extent - the “Trusts” Objection allege that (a) HarbourVest's losses were caused by Acis and its (mis)management of HCLOF's investments (Dondero Obj., ¶¶ 22, 24), (b) there is no contract that supports HarbourVest's claims (Dondero Obj. ¶ 23; Trusts Obj., ¶ 18(a)), (c) there is no causal connection between HarbourVest's losses and the Debtor's conduct (Dondero Obj., ¶ 24), and (d) the Debtor should litigate all or a portion of HarbourVest's claim before settling (Dondero Obj., ¶ 25). Again, though, as set forth above, both Mr. Dondero and the “Trusts” seek to shift the cause of HarbourVest's damages away from the Debtor's misrepresentations and to Mr. Terry's management of HCLOF's investments. This is simple misdirection.

20. HarbourVest's claims are that it invested in HCLOF based on the Debtor's fraudulent misrepresentations. Fraudulent misrepresentation sounds in tort, not contract. See, e.g., Clark v. Constellation Brands, Inc., 348 Fed. Appx. 19, 21 (5th Cir. 2009) (referring to party's claim based on fraudulent misrepresentation as a tort); Eastman Chem. Co. v. Niro, Inc., 80 F. Supp. 2d 712, 717 (S.D. Tex. 2000) (noting that party had common law duty not to commit intentional tort of fraudulent misrepresentation). There is thus no need for HarbourVest to point to a contractual provision to support its claim.⁹ Moreover, in order to defend against HarbourVest's claims, the Debtor would need to elicit evidence showing that its employees did not make misrepresentations to HarbourVest. Such a defense would require the Debtor to rely on the veracity of Mr. Ellington's testimony, among others. That is a high hurdle, and no reasonable person would expect the Debtor to stake the resolution of HarbourVest's $300 million claim on the Debtor's ability to convince this Court that Mr. Ellington was telling HarbourVest the truth. This is especially true in light of the evidence supporting Mr. Ellington's recent termination for cause and the evidence recently provided by HarbourVest supporting its claim for fraudulent misrepresentations.

21. Finally, neither Mr. Dondero nor the "Trusts" even address the third factor analyzed by the Fifth Circuit: all other factors bearing on the wisdom of the compromise, including "the paramount interest of creditors with proper deference to their reasonable views." This is telling because no creditor or party in interest has objected to the settlement. Mr. Dondero and his proxies' preference for constant litigation should not outweigh the preference of the Debtor and its creditors for a reasonable and expeditious settlement of HarbourVest's claims.

22. The HarbourVest Settlement Is a Windfall to HarbourVest. Both the Dondero Objection and the "Trusts" Objection argue that the HarbourVest settlement represents a substantial windfall to HarbourVest. Both Mr. Dondero and the "Trusts" ignore the facts. Specifically, Mr. Dondero argues that HarbourVest is receiving $60 million dollars in actual value for its claims. Mr. Dondero's contention, however, wrongly assumes that both the $45 million general unsecured claim and the $35 million subordinated claim provided to HarbourVest under the settlement will be paid 100% in full and that HarbourVest will receive $80 million in cash. From that $80 million, Mr. Dondero subtracts $20 million, which represents the value Mr. Dondero ascribes to HarbourVest's interests in HCLOF that are being transferred to the Debtor. Mr. Dondero's math ignores the reality of this case.

23. The Debtor very clearly disclosed in the projections filed with the Disclosure Statement for the Fifth Amended Plan of Reorganization of Highland Capital Management, L.P., [Docket No. 1473] (the "Projections") that general unsecured claims would receive an 87.44% recovery only if the claims of UBS, HarbourVest, Integrated Financial Associates, Inc., Mr.

Daugherty, and the Hunter Mountain Investment Trust were zero. Because of the Debtor's success in settling litigation, that assumption is proving to be inaccurate. Regardless, even if general unsecured claims receive a recovery of 87.44%, because the subordinated claims are junior to the general unsecured claims, the subordinated claims' projected recovery is currently zero. As such, assuming the HCLOF's interests are worth $22.5 million,¹⁰ the actual recovery to HarbourVest will be less than $16.8 million. This is not a windfall. HarbourVest's investment in HCLOF was $80 million and its claim against the estate was over $300 million. The settlement represents a substantial discount.

24. Improper Gerrymandering and/or Vote Buying. Each of Mr. Dondero and the Trusts argue in one form or another that the HarbourVest settlement is improper as it provides HarbourVest a windfall on its claims in exchange for HarbourVest voting to approve the Plan. These unsubstantiated allegations of vote buying should be disregarded. As an initial matter, and as set forth above, HarbourVest is not getting a windfall. HarbourVest is accepting a substantial discount in the settlement. HarbourVest's incentive to support the Plan comes from HarbourVest's determination that the Plan is in its best interests. There is also nothing shocking about a settling creditor supporting a plan. Indeed, it would be nonsensical for a creditor to settle its claims and then object to the plan that would pay those claims.

25. More importantly, HarbourVest's votes in Class 9 (Subordinated Claims) are not needed to confirm the Plan. As will be set forth in the voting declaration, Class 2 (Frontier Secured Claim), Class 7 (Convenience Claims), and Class 8 (General Unsecured Claims) have voted in favor of the Plan.¹¹ In brief, the Plan was approved without HarbourVest's Class 9 vote,

¹⁰ It is currently anticipated that Mr. James P. Seery, Jr., the Debtor's chief executive officer and chief restructuring officer, will testify as to the value of the HCLOF interests to the Debtor's estate.

¹¹ The Debtor anticipates that Mr. Dondero and his related entities will argue that neither Class 7 nor Class 8 voted to accept the Plan because of the votes cast against the Plan in those Classes by current and former Debtor of Shares) of the Members Agreement (an agreement governed by Guernsey law). (CLOH Obj., ¶ 3) The parties diverge, however, as to how to interpret Article 6. The Debtor, as set forth below, believes Article 6 is clear in that it allows HarbourVest to transfer its interests in HCLOF to any “Affiliate of an initial Member party” without requiring the right of first refusal in Section 6.2 of the Members Agreement. CLO Holdco’s position appears to be that the Members Agreement, despite its clear language, should be interpreted as limiting transfers to an “initial Member’s own affiliates” and that any other transfer requires the consent of HHCFA and satisfaction of the right of first refusal. (Id. (emphasis added)) CLO Holdco’s reading is contrary to the actual language of the Members Agreement.

29. First, Section 6.1 of the Members Agreement provides, in pertinent part:

[REDACTED]

(Members Agmt, § 6.1 (emphasis added)) Under the Members Agreement, “Affiliate” is defined, in pertinent part, as “[REDACTED]

[REDACTED]

(Id., § 1.1) A “Member” in turn is a [REDACTED].” The “initial Member[s]” are the initial Members of HCLOF listed on the first page of the Members Agreement and include the Debtor, HarbourVest, and CLO Holdco.

30. As such, under the plain language of Section 6.1, HarbourVest is entitled – without the consent of any party – to “Transfer” its interests in HCLOF to an “Affiliate” of any of the Debtor, HarbourVest, or CLO Holdco. And that is exactly what is contemplated by the settlement. HarbourVest is transferring its interests to HCMLPI, a wholly owned and controlled subsidiary of the Debtor, and therefore an “Affiliate” of the Debtor. That transfer is indisputably allowed under Section 6.1; it is a transfer to an “Affiliate of an initial Member.” CLO Holdco may, tongue in cheek, call this structure “convenient” but that sarcasm is an attempt to avoid the fact that the Members Agreement clearly allows HarbourVest to transfer its interest to HCMLPI without the consent of any party.¹³ The fact that CLO Holdco does not now like the language it previously agreed to when CLO Holdco and the Debtor were both controlled by Mr. Dondero is not a reason to re-write Section 6.1 of the Members Agreement.

31. Second, Section 6.2 of the Members Agreement is also unambiguous and, by its plain language, allows HarbourVest to “Transfer” its interests in HCLOF to “Affiliates of an initial Member” (i.e., HCMLPI) without having to first offer those interests to the other Members (such obligation, the “ROFO”). CLO Holdco attempts to create ambiguity in Section 6.2 by arguing that it must be read in conjunction with Section 6.1 and that interpreting the plain language of Section 6.2 to allow HarbourVest to transfer its interests to HCMLPI without restriction makes certain other language surplus and meaningless. (CLOH Obj., ¶ 11-13) Again, CLO Holdco is attempting to create controversy and ambiguity where none exists.

32. Section 6.2 of the Members Agreement provides, in pertinent part:

[REDACTED]

(Members Agmt., § 6.2 (emphasis added)) Like Section 6.1, Section 6.2 is clear on its face. It exempts from the requirement to comply with the ROFO two categories of “Transfers”: (1) Transfers to “affiliates of an initial Member” from Members other than CLO Holdco and the

¹³ Although HHCFA’s consent is not necessary for HarbourVest to transfer its interests to HCMLPI, HHCFA will consent to the transfer.

14 “Highland Principals” means: [REDACTED]

of the Dondero-family's majority (approximately 0.2%). At the time the Members Agreement was executed, CLO Holdco and the Debtor were under common control. Section 6.2 preserves those related entities' control over HCLOF by restricting transactions that would transfer that control unless the ROFO is complied with.

34. As such, and notwithstanding CLO Holdco's protestations, Section 6.1 and Section 6.2 are consistent as written and clear on their face. This consistency is further evidenced by HCLOF's Articles of Incorporation¹⁶ and HCLOF's offering memorandum, which each include language identical to Section 6.1 and 6.2 of the Members Agreement.¹⁷ It seems highly unlikely, if not implausible, that sophisticated parties such as CLO Holdco would include the exact same language in six separate places over three documents without a reason for that language and without the intent that such language be interpreted as it is clearly written – not as CLO Holdco now wants it to be interpreted. Accordingly, since HarbourVest is transferring its interests to HCMLPI, an Affiliate of an initial Member, the plain language of Section 6.2

exempts HarbourVest from having to comply with the ROFO.

35. Third, and finally, CLO Holdco makes the nonsensical argument that because Section 6.2 provides different treatment to similarly situated Members that this Court should re-write Section 6.2. (CLOH Obj., ¶¶ 15-17) Contracts provide different treatment to ostensibly similarly situated parties all the time and no one objects that that creates an absurd result. It just means that different parties bargained for and received different rights.

36. CLO Holdco's attempt to justify why this Court should re-write the Members Agreement to correct the "disparate treatment" is also unavailing. As an example of the absurd result caused by the "disparate treatment," CLO Holdco states: "[B]ecause the HarbourVest Members are technically Affiliates of an initial member (each other), they could obtain control of all of the interests in HCLOF without any Member receiving a Right of First Refusal for any transfer." (Id., ¶ 16) The scenario posited by CLO Holdco, however, is exactly the scenario prevented by the clear language of Section 6.2. For HarbourVest to obtain control of HCLOF, it would – as a matter of mathematical necessity – need the interests held by CLO Holdco (49.02%) and/or the Highland Principals (1% in the aggregate). Section 6.2, however, expressly prohibits CLO Holdco and the Highland Principals from transferring their interests to HarbourVest or its Affiliates without satisfying the ROFO. As set forth above, it is Section 6.2 that prevents control from being transferred away from the Dondero family without compliance with the ROFO. In fact, Section 6.2 would only break down if the limiting language in Section 6.2 were read out of it in the manner advocated by CLO Holdco.

37. Ultimately, Article 6 of the Members Agreement is clear as written and expressly allows HarbourVest to transfer its interests to HCMLPI. If CLO Holdco had an objection to the rights provided to HarbourVest under the Members Agreement, CLO Holdco should have raised that objection three and a half years ago before agreeing to the Members Agreement. CLO Holdco should not be allowed to create ambiguity in an unambiguous contract or to re-write that agreement to impose additional restrictions on HarbourVest. See Clardy Mfg. Co. v. Marine Midland Bus. Loans Inc., 88 F.3d 347, 352 (5th Cir. 1996) (enforcing the “unambiguous language in a contract as written,” noting that where a contract is unambiguous, a party may not create ambiguity or “give the contract a meaning different from that which its language imports”) (internal quotations omitted); Texas v. Am. Tobacco Co., 463 F.3d 399, 407 (5th Cir. 2006) (“Courts interpreting unambiguous contracts are confined to the four corners of the document, and cannot look to extrinsic evidence to create an ambiguity.”).

38. It should go without saying, but CLO Holdco (and the other parties to the Members Agreement) should also be required to satisfy their obligations under the Members Agreement and execute the “Adherence Agreement” as required by Section 6.6 of the Members Agreement in connection with the Transfer of HarbourVest’s interests to HCMLPI or any other permitted Transfer.

39. Finally, and notably, although CLO Holdco spends considerable time arguing that HarbourVest should be required to comply with the ROFO, nowhere in the CLOH Objection does CLO Holdco state that it wishes to purchase HarbourVest’s interests in HCLOF. This omission is telling. CLO Holdco and the other Objectors have no interest in actually exercising their alleged right of first refusal contained in the Members Agreement. Rather, their only interest is in causing the Debtor to spend time and money responding to a legion of related (and coordinated) objections.¹⁸

1 DALLAS, TEXAS - JANUARY 14, 2021 - 9:41 A.M.

2 THE CLERK: All rise. The United States Bankruptcy
3 Court for the Northern District of Texas, Dallas Division, is 4 now in session, the Honorable Stacey Jernigan presiding.

5 THE COURT: Good morning. Please be seated. All
6 right. We're a little late getting started because we had
7 lots of reading material for the Court today. All right.
8 This is Judge Jernigan, and we have a couple of Highland 9 settings. The HarbourVest matters are the primary thing we
10 have set today, and then we also have a Debtor's motion
11 pursuant to protocols for authority for Highland Multi-Strat
12 to prepay a loan.

13 All right. Well, let's get a few appearances. First, for 14 the Debtor team, who do we have appearing this morning?

15 MR. POMERANTZ: Good morning, Your Honor. It's Jeff 16 Pomerantz, John Morris, and Greg Demo here on behalf of the 17 Debtor.

18 THE COURT: Okay. Thank you.

19 All right. We have objections on HarbourVest. Who do we 20 have appearing for Mr. Dondero this morning?

21 MR. WILSON: Your Honor, it's John Wilson, and I'm 22 also joined by Michael Lynn, John Bonds, and Bryan Assink.

23 THE COURT: Okay. I'm sorry. Could -- the court
24 reporter does yeoman's work in this case. Let me just make 25 sure we got all three of those names. Say again, Mr. Wilson.

1 MR. WILSON: John Bonds and Michael Lynn and Bryan
2 Assink.

3 THE COURT: Oh, okay. So, see, I thought I heard
4 somebody Wilson in all of that, which was why I was pressing
5 the issue.

6 All right. Is Mr. Dondero present on the video for 7 today's hearing?

8 MR. WILSON: I believe he is, Your Honor.

9 THE COURT: Mr. Dondero, could you confirm that you
10 are out there? (No response.) Okay. My court reporter says
11 he sees the name out there. Is he in your office?

12 MR. WILSON: Your Honor, he is appearing remotely
13 from my office. I'm not sure exactly where he's appearing 14 from.

15 THE COURT: Okay. Well, Mr. Dondero, if you're out
16 there and you're speaking up to confirm you're present, we're 17 not hearing you. Maybe your device is on mute. So please
18 unmute yourself.

19 (No response.)

20 THE COURT: All right. I'm going to take some other 21 appearances and you -- you need to try to communicate with 22 your client and let him know I need to confirm he's present.
23 Okay?

24 All right. Meanwhile, let's go to our other Objectors.
25 CLO Holdco. Who do we have appearing today?

1 MR. KANE: John Kane; Kane Russell Coleman & Logan;
2 on behalf of CLO Holdco.

3 THE COURT: All right. Thank you, Mr. Kane.

4 We had an objection from Dugaboy Investment Trust and Get
5 Good Trust. Who do we have appearing?

6 MR. DRAPER: Douglas Draper, Your Honor, for -- for 7 Draper.

8 THE COURT: All right. Thank you, Mr. Draper.

9 All right. I think those were the only written objections
10 we had. Mr. Pomerantz, do you confirm, we don't have any 11 other objectors for the motions set, correct?

12 MR. POMERANTZ: Your Honor, there was those three.

13 THE COURT: I'm sorry. I didn't catch your full
14 sentence.

15 MR. POMERANTZ: That is correct, Your Honor. There
16 were three objections to the motion.

17 THE COURT: Okay. Mr. Clemente, you're there for the 18 Creditors' Committee?

19 MR. CLEMENTE: Yes. Good morning, Your Honor. Matt
20 Clemente on behalf of the Official Committee of Unsecured
21 Creditors.

22 THE COURT: All right. Good morning. Thank you.
23 All right. We have a lot of other folks on the video. I'm 24 not going to go ahead and take a roll call of other lawyers.

25 MS. WEISGERBER: Your Honor?

1 THE COURT: Yes?

2 MS. WEISGERBER: Excuse me, Your Honor. It's Erica
3 Weisgerber from Debevoise on behalf of HarbourVest.

4 THE COURT: Okay.

5 MS. WEISGERBER: And I'm joined by Natasha Labovitz
6 and Dan Stroik --

7 THE COURT: Okay.

8 MS. WEISGERBER: -- from Debevoise as well.

9 THE COURT: Thank you. I was neglectful in not 10 getting your appearance, because, of course, you're at the 11 front and center of this motion to compromise, and I did see
12 that you filed a reply brief yesterday afternoon. Okay.
13 Thank you.

14 All right. Do we have -- do we have Mr. Dondero on the 15 line? I'm going to check again.

16 (No response.)

17 THE COURT: Mr. Dondero's counsel, I cannot hear you,
18 so please unmute your device.

19 MR. WILSON: Your Honor, it appears to me that Mr.
20 Dondero's device was unmuted as soon as you asked if he was 21 available. I sent him a communication a second ago asking if 22 he's having technical difficulties. I have not received a
23 response, so I --

24 MR. DONDERO: Hello. Can anybody hear me?

25 THE COURT: Oh.

1 MR. WILSON: Okay. I hear him.

2 THE COURT: Mr. Dondero?

3 MR. DONDERO: Hello?

4 THE COURT: Is that you?

5 MR. DONDERO: Yeah, it is. I've been on. I've heard
6 everything since the beginning. It's just we've had technical 7 difficulties. I couldn't use the Highland offices. We've 8 been trying to set up something else.

9 THE COURT: All right.

10 MR. DONDERO: But I'm on now, if -- yes.

11 THE COURT: All right. Very good. Well, I'm glad 12 we've got you.

13 All right. Well, Mr. Pomerantz, how did you want to 14 proceed this morning?

15 MR. POMERANTZ: Your Honor, we could take up the 16 HarbourVest motion first, and I will turn it over to John
17 Morris. He and Greg Demo will be handling that. And then
18 after that we can handle the other motion, which is unopposed.

19 THE COURT: All right. Mr. Morris?

20 MR. KANE: Your Honor, this is -- sorry. This is 21 John Kane for CLO Holdco. Just very briefly, if I may. And 22 this will affect, I think, the Debtor's case in chief, so I'll 23 expedite things a little bit, I believe.

24 CLO Holdco has had an opportunity to review the reply
25 briefing, and after doing so has gone back and scrubbed the

1 HCLOF corporate documents. Based on our analysis of Guernsey
2 law and some of the arguments of counsel in those pleadings
3 and our review of the appropriate documents, I obtained
4 authority from my client, Grant Scott, as Trustee for CLO
5 Holdco, to withdraw the CLO Holdco objection based on the 6 interpretation of the member agreement.

7 THE COURT: All right. Well, thank you for that, Mr.
8 Kane. I think that -- that eliminates one of the major
9 arguments that we had anticipated this morning. So, thank you
10 for that.

11 Any other housekeeping matters that maybe someone had that 12 I didn't ask about?

13 MS. MATSUMURA: Yes, Your Honor. This is Rebecca
14 Matsumura from King & Spalding representing Highland CLO
15 Funding, Ltd. I just wanted to put on the record, we -- our 16 client had requested that some of its organizational documents
17 be filed under seal. But we have given permission for the 18 parties to present the relevant excerpts, to the extent it's 19 still relevant after Mr. Kane's announcement, in court. And 20 we'd just ask that the underlying documents remain sealed, but 21 we're not going to object if they show them on a PowerPoint or 22 anything like that.

23 So, to the extent that you had that on your radar, I just 24 wanted to clear that up for the proceedings.

25 THE COURT: All right. Well, I did sign an order

1 late last night. I don't know if it's popped up on the 2 docket.

3 MS. MATSUMURA: Yes, Your Honor. That's what this
4 referred to. That was what -- these are the documents that
5 were being sealed. And so I just wanted to note, if you --
6 you know, if the Debtor puts up an excerpt of those documents
7 and you're like, wait a minute, didn't I seal those, that we
8 were the party that requested them be under seal and we're 9 fine with them being shown in court, as long as the underlying 10 documents aren't publicly accessible.

11 THE COURT: Okay. Got you. Thank you.

12 All right. Any other housekeeping matters?

13 MR. MORRIS: Yes, Your Honor. This is John Morris
14 from Pachulski Stang for the Debtor. Good morning.

15 THE COURT: Good morning.

16 MR. MORRIS: The only other matter that I wanted to 17 raise, and I can do it now or I can do it later, or Your Honor
18 may tell me that it's not appropriate to do at this time, is 19 to schedule the Debtor's motion to hold Mr. Dondero in 20 contempt for violation of the TRO.

21 THE COURT: All right. Well, let's do that at the 22 conclusion today. And please make sure I do it. I think I
23 was going to address this last Friday, and we went very late 24 and it slipped off my radar screen. But I did see from my 25 courtroom deputy that you all were reaching out to her

1 yesterday to get this set, and then Mr. Dondero's counsel
2 reached out to her and said, We're going to file an objection
3 to a setting next Wednesday, or I think you had asked for a
4 setting next Tuesday or Wednesday.

5 MR. MORRIS: I did.

6 THE COURT: And I don't -- I don't know if that
7 response/objection was ever filed last night. I haven't seen
8 it if it was. So, we'll -- please, make sure I don't forget.
9 We'll take that up at the end of today's matters. All right.
10 Well, --

11 MR. MORRIS: All right. So, --

12 MS. WEISGERBER: Your Honor, one last housekeeping
13 item from -- I'm joined this morning by Michael Pugatch of 14 HarbourVest, who will present some testimony this morning. I
15 just want to confirm he's on the line and confirm no
16 objections to him sitting in for the rest of the hearing.

17 THE COURT: All right. Mr. Pugatch, this is Judge
18 Jernigan. Could you respond? Are you there with us?

19 MR. PUGATCH: Yes. Good morning, Your Honor. Mike
20 Pugatch from HarbourVest here.

21 THE COURT: All right. Very good. I think we had 22 you testify once before in the Acis matter, if I'm not 23 mistaken. Maybe. Maybe not. Maybe I saw a video deposition.
24 I can't remember.

25 All right. So, we're going to let Mr. Pugatch sit in on

1 this. Anyone want to say anything about that? I consider him
2 a party representative, so I don't -- I don't think anyone
3 could invoke the Rule.

4 All right. Very good. Well, let's go forward if there
5 are no more housekeeping matters.

6 MR. MORRIS: Okay.

7 THE COURT: Mr. Morris?

8 MR. MORRIS: Thank you. Thank you very much, Your 9 Honor. John Morris; Pachulski Stang Ziehl & Jones; for the 10 Debtor.

11 It's a rather straightforward motion today. It's a motion
12 under Rule 9019, pursuant to which the Debtor requests the 13 Court's authority and approval to enter into a settlement
14 agreement with HarbourVest that will resolve a number of 15 claims that HarbourVest has filed against the Debtor.

16 What I -- the way I propose to proceed this morning, Your 17 Honor, is to give what I hope is an informative but relatively 18 brief opening statement. I'll defer to HarbourVest and its 19 counsel as to whether they want to make a presentation in 20 advance of the offer of evidence. Any objecting party, I
21 suppose, should then be given the opportunity to present their 22 case to the Court. Then the Debtor will call Jim Seery, the 23 Debtor's CEO and CRO. We will offer documents into evidence.
24 I would propose then that the objecting parties take the 25 opportunity to ask Mr. Seery any questions they'd like on the

1 matter.

2 After the Debtor rests, I think HarbourVest would like to
3 put Mr. Pugatch on the stand to offer some testimony on their
4 behalf. And I think that that will conclude the case. We can
5 finish up with some closing arguments as to what we believe
6 the evidence showed, but that's the way that I'd like to 7 proceed, if that's okay with the Court.

8 THE COURT: All right. That sounds fine.

9 OPENING STATEMENT ON BEHALF OF THE DEBTOR

10 MR. MORRIS: Okay. So, as I said, Your Honor, this 11 is a -- this should be a very straightforward motion under 12 Rule 9019. The standard is well-known to the Court. There
13 are four elements to a 9019 motion. The Debtor clearly has 14 the burden of proof on each one. And we easily meet that 15 burden, Your Honor.

16 The standard, just to be clear, the first part is that we 17 have to establish a probability of success, with due
18 consideration for uncertainty of law and fact. The second one
19 is the complexity, likely duration, expense and inconvenience
20 of the litigation. The third part of the test is the 21 paramount interest of creditors. And the fourth part of the 22 test is whether or not the proposed settlement was reached
23 after arm's-length negotiations.

24 The Debtor believes that it easily meets this standard,
25 and frankly, is a little bit frustrated that it's being forced

1 to incur the expense by Mr. Dondero in going through this
2 process.

3 A plain reading, a fair reading of the economics here
4 relative to the claim shows that this is a very reasonable
5 settlement. I don't need to go beyond that, Your Honor. I
6 don't even need to use the word reasonable. It surely meets
7 the lowest standard.

8 We've prepared a couple of demonstrative exhibits, Your 9 Honor. I'm going to use them with Mr. Seery. But I'd like to 10 just put one up on the screen now, if I may.

11 Ms. Canty, can you please put up Demonstrative Exhibit #3?

12 Demonstrative Exhibit #3 is an outline of the economics of 13 the settlement. It includes the various pieces, the 14 components that the parties have agreed to. And it shows, at 15 least from the Debtor's perspective, just what HarbourVest is 16 being given here.

17 Up on the screen is a demonstrative exhibit. It has 18 citations to the evidence that will be admitted by the Court.
19 The first line shows that HarbourVest will receive a $45
20 million allowed general unsecured nonpriority claim. And that
22 Page 2.

23 That claim is discounted by the expected recovery that 24 general unsecured creditors are supposed to get. As of 25 November, in the liquidation analysis that was part of the

1 disclosure statement -- that's the citation in the footnote --
2 the Debtor believed that unsecured creditors were estimated to 3 recover approximately eighty-seven and a half cents on the 4 dollar. And so we just did the arithmetic there to get to the 5 net economic value of the proposed general unsecured claim.

6 And from that, we reduced $22-1/2 million because that is 7 the net asset value of HarbourVest's interest in HCLOF, which,
8 pursuant to the settlement agreement, it will transfer back to 9 the Debtor, so that the net economic value is approximately 10 $16.8 million.

11 You will hear testimony from Mr. Seery that this number
12 is, in fact, overstated, and it's overstated because, since
13 the time the disclosure statement was filed in November, a 14 number of events have occurred that will -- that have caused 15 the estimated recovery percentage to be reduced from 16 approximately 87-1/2 percent to something lower than that. We 17 don't have the exact number, Your Honor, but Mr. Seery will --
18 and the evidence will show that there's been more expenses,
19 that there's been some resolution of certain claims. There's 20 been some positive issues, too. But that number is probably 21 in the 70s somewhere.

22 And in any event, I think the point here is, Your Honor,
23 HarbourVest invested $80 million in HCLOF, which was going to 24 participate in the investment in CLOs. They filed a claim for 25 $300 million, through treble damages and other claims. But

1 the net economic impact of this is going to be somewhere
2 probably in between $12 and $14 million. I'll let Mr. Seery
3 give more precision to that. And it represents less than -- a
4 less than five percent recovery on the total claim.

5 And we think it's important for the Court to keep that in 6 mind. What are the economics here? Are we overpaying? Is 7 this an unreasonable settlement? And I think the evidence
8 will show that the Debtor is not, but that this settlement
9 that you see before you was the product of arm's length, and 10 I'm going to go in reverse order of the four-part test under 11 9019.

12 So, the last part is whether or not the settlement, the 13 proposed settlement was the product of arm's-length
14 negotiation. You'll hear lots of evidence that this 15 settlement that's up on the screen right now very much was the 16 product of arm's-length negotiation.

17 The third part of the test, Your Honor, is whether it
18 meets the paramount interest of creditors. You know,
19 regrettably, Mr. Dondero is the only purported creditor who is 20 objecting here. He may have done so through different
21 vehicles, but every objecting party here is a debtor [sic]
22 owned and controlled by Mr. Dondero. No other creditor -- not
23 the Creditors' Committee, UBS, Acis, Mr. Terry, Mr. Daugherty
24 -- nobody is objecting to this settlement except for Mr.
25 Dondero. And we believe that that highlights the Debtor's

1 ability to meet the third prong of the test, and that is these
2 are -- this settlement is in the paramount interest of
3 creditors.

4 Again, going in reverse, the second part of the test is
5 the complexity, duration, and expense of litigation. There
6 will be no disputed evidence that we meet -- the Debtor easily
7 meets this prong of the test. The evidence is going to show
8 that HarbourVest's claim is based on fraud, fraud in the 9 inducement, fraudulent statements and omissions, the kind of 10 case, Your Honor, that I'm sure you're familiar with that is 11 incredibly fact-intensive, that will be incredibly difficult
12 to navigate through. It will be prolonged, it will be 13 expensive, because you're necessarily relying on he said/she 14 said, basically. And so we're going to have to get testimony
15 from every person that spoke in connection with the events
16 leading up to the transaction. So we think the second prong
17 will be easily met, Your Honor.

18 And then the last prong -- the first prong, if you will --
19 is the likelihood of success on the merits. We think that the 20 settlement, the economic recovery that's up on the screen
21 here, which ultimately will be less than five percent of the 22 claimed amount, in and of itself shows that the settlement is 23 consistent with the Debtor's perception of its likely success
24 on the merits. I'm certain that HarbourVest disagrees, but 25 that's okay, we're here today and that's the Debtor's view,

1 and the Court is here to assess the Debtor's business judgment
2 and whether the Debtor has properly analyzed the issues and
3 gone through the process. And the evidence will show
4 conclusively that it will. That it has.

5 Mr. Seery will testify at some length as to the risks that
6 he saw. I think that you'll hear counsel for Mr. Dondero ask
7 both Mr. Seery and Mr. Pugatch a number of questions designed 8 to elicit testimony about this defense or that defense. And 9 it's a little -- it's a little ironic, Your Honor, because,
10 really, every defense that they're going to try to suggest to 11 the Court was a valid defense is a defense that the Debtor
12 considered. In fact, it's, you know, it's a little spooky,
13 how they've -- how they've been able to identify kind of the 14 arguments that the Debtor had already considered in the 15 prosecution of their objections here.

16 But be that as it may, the evidence will conclusively show
17 that the Debtor acted consistent with its fiduciary duties,
18 acted in the best interests of the Debtor's estate, acted 19 completely appropriately here in getting yet another very 20 solid achievement for the Debtor, leaving very few claims that 21 are disputed at this point, all but one of which I believe are 22 in the hands of Mr. Dondero.

23 So, that's what we think that the evidence will show.

24 I do want to express my appreciation to Mr. Kane for 25 reflecting on the arguments that we made with respect to the

1 ability of the Debtor to engage in the transfer or the
2 acquisition of the asset from HarbourVest. I would -- I would
3 respectfully request that we just enter into a short
4 stipulation on the record reflecting that the Debtor's
5 acquisition of HarbourVest's interests in HCLOF is compliant
6 with all of the applicable agreements between the parties.

7 And with that, Your Honor, I look forward to putting Mr.
8 Seery on the stand and presenting the Debtor's case.

9 THE COURT: All right. Other opening statements?

10 OPENING STATEMENT ON BEHALF OF CLO HOLDCO, LTD.

11 MR. KANE: Yes, Your Honor. Sorry. John Kane on 12 behalf of CLO Holdco.

13 In response to Mr. Morris, I'm not going to enter into a 14 stipulation on behalf of my client, but the Debtor is 15 compliant with all aspects of the contract. We withdrew our 16 objection, and we believe that's sufficient.

17 THE COURT: All right. Well, I'm content with that.
18 Other opening statements?

19 OPENING STATEMENT ON BEHALF OF HARBOURVEST

20 MS. WEISGERBER: Your Honor, Erica Weisgerber on 21 behalf of HarbourVest.

22 HarbourVest joins in Mr. Morris's comments in support of 23 the settlement, and we believe that the question of whether 24 the settlement between HarbourVest and the Debtor satisfies
25 the Rule 9019 standard is not even a close one.

1 Some Objectors have made arguments about the merits of
2 HarbourVest's claims, which is why we're here. As Your Honor
3 will hear this morning, HarbourVest has meaningful and
4 meritorious claims against Highland, but made the business
5 decision to avoid the time, expense, and inherent risk of 6 litigation in the interest of preserving value, both for 7 itself and for the estate.

8 Today, Michael Pugatch, a managing director of 9 HarbourVest, will testify before the Court. He'll explain
10 that HarbourVest claims against Highland arise out of certain 11 misrepresentations and omissions by Highland to HarbourVest in 12 connection with HarbourVest's purchase of an interest in 13 HCLOF, one of Highland's managed funds. Those 14 misrepresentations and omissions, as Your Honor will hear,
15 relate to Highland's litigation with its former employee,
16 Joshua Terry, and transfers that were conducted in 2017 to 17 strip Acis of value and prevent Mr. Terry from collecting on 18 an $8 million judgment.

19 Mr. Pugatch will further explain that HarbourVest would 20 not have invested in HCLOF had it known the underlying facts
21 about those Acis transfers.

22 Mr. Pugatch will also testify that not only did
23 HarbourVest not know about those transfers, it learned about 24 those transfers when it was accused of orchestrating the 25 transfers itself in the Acis bankruptcy. Your Honor will hear

1 that the Acis trustee sought extensive discovery from
2 HarbourVest after numerous accusations that HarbourVest was
3 behind the transfers.

4 Mr. Pugatch will also testify that Highland charged legal
5 fees for itself and its affiliates to HCLOF, essentially
6 forcing HCLOF to fund the litigation involving the Acis
7 bankruptcy and Mr. Terry.

8 In total, HarbourVest's claims for damages are over a
9 hundred million dollars in investment-related losses, lost
10 profits, legal fees inappropriately charged to HCLOF, its own
11 legal fees. And that's before interest or trebling damages.

12 But HarbourVest stands ready to litigate its claims, but 13 following hard-fought and extensive negotiations with the 14 Debtors, the parties reached the settlement that's now before
15 the Court. Mr. Pugatch's testimony regarding the strong 16 factual bases for HarbourVest's claims against Highland and 17 its recoverable damages will further underscore the risks that 18 the Debtors faced if they chose to litigate these claims, and 19 why this settlement is fair, equitable, and in the best
20 interest of the estate.

21 THE COURT: All right. Thank you, Counsel.

22 Other opening statements?

23 OPENING STATEMENT ON BEHALF OF GET GOOD AND DUGABOY TRUSTS

24 MR. DRAPER: Your Honor, this is Douglas Draper on 25 behalf of one of the Objectors. I'd like to just make a few

1 comments with respect to what I've heard and what the Court is
2 going to hear.

3 The first issue I'd like to address is the comment by 4 counsel for the Debtor that no other party has objected. The
5 9019 motion is one of the issues that this Court has to rule
6 on, whether or not there was an objection or not. So the fact
7 that this may be -- bankruptcy is not a popularity contest and 8 not an issue of who votes for what and doesn't vote. This,
9 along with the 1129(a) tests, are clearly within your 10 province, and you need to listen carefully because you'll have 11 to make your own independent analysis whether my objection is 12 correct or incorrect.

13 Two other points I'd like to make that I think are very 14 salient. Number one is, if you look at the Debtor's
15 disclosure statement, it basically took the position that the 16 HarbourVest claim is of little or no value. And lo and 17 behold, thirty days later, there's a settlement that brings 18 about a significant recovery to HarbourVest. The timing is 19 interesting, and I think the Court needs to pay careful
20 attention to what transpired between the two dates.

21 And then the last point I'd like to make is, as you listen
22 to the evidence, and what I learned abundantly clear from 23 hearing the depositions, is that the claim of HarbourVest, if 24 there is a claim at all, is probably one hundred percent --
25 should be subordinated in that it appears to arise out of the

1 purchase or sale of a security. And, again, I would ask the
2 Court to listen carefully to this because that's what it
3 appears to be and that's what the evidence is going to show to
4 the Court.

5 THE COURT: All right. Mr. Draper, let me clarify
6 something I'm not sure if I heard you say or not. Were you
7 saying that the Court still needs to drill down on the issue
8 of whether the Debtor can acquire HarbourVest's interest in
9 HCLOF?

10 MR. DRAPER: No.

11 THE COURT: Okay. I was confused whether you were 12 saying I needed to take an independent look at that, now that 13 the objection has been withdrawn of Holdco. You are not 14 pressing that issue?

15 MR. DRAPER: No, I am not. Basically, I think it's 16 the fairness of the settlement. I think the transferability
17 of the interest is separate and apart from the fairness of the 18 settlement itself. I think the fairness -- the 19 transferability was a contractual issue between two parties
20 that the Court does not have to drill down on.

21 THE COURT: All right. I have another question for 22 you. I want to clarify your client's standing. Tell me --
23 I'm looking through a chart I printed out a while back. I
24 guess Dugaboy Investment Trust filed a couple of proofs of 25 claim; is that right?

1 MR. DRAPER: Yes.

2 THE COURT: Okay. What --

3 MR. DRAPER: And objections are pending.

4 THE COURT: Pardon?

5 MR. DRAPER: Objections to those claims are pending
6 before the Court, Your Honor, --

7 THE COURT: Okay.

8 MR. DRAPER: -- and have not been litigated.

9 THE COURT: And what about Get Good Trust?

10 MR. DRAPER: Get Good Trust has a proof of claim also 11 that objections are pending to. Pending.

12 THE COURT: Okay. I don't want to get too
13 sidetracked here, but I know standing was -- was mentioned as 14 a legal argument today. What is the basis for those proofs of 15 claim?

16 MR. DRAPER: The first one is, with respect to the 17 proof of claim for Dugaboy, there is an investment that 18 Dugaboy made that was then funneled, we believe, up to the 19 Debtor. And the -- the loan that exists, we believe is a
20 Debtor loan, as opposed to a loan to the entity that we made
21 the loans to.

22 And, again, it's a matter that the Court is going to hear.
23 The claim may or may not be allowed. It has not been 24 disallowed yet.

25 The second part to the Dugaboy ownership is we own an

1 interest in the Debtor. And so we are, in fact, a party in
2 interest.

3 THE COURT: Okay.

4 MR. DRAPER: It may be a small interest, but it is an
5 interest.

6 THE COURT: It has a limited partnership interest in
7 the Debtor?

8 MR. DRAPER: Yes.

9 THE COURT: Is that correct?

10 MR. DRAPER: Yes.

11 THE COURT: Okay. Well, I'll move forward. Thank
12 you.

13 Does that cover -- any other opening statements? I think
14 that covered everyone who was -- who filed some sort of 15 pleading today. No.

16 MR. WILSON: Your Honor, John Wilson on behalf of --

17 THE COURT: I'm sorry. I'm sorry.

18 MR. WILSON: -- Mr. Dondero.

19 THE COURT: I missed Mr. Dondero's counsel. I knew
20 we had visited at some point this morning. I just got 21 confused there. Go ahead, Mr. Wilson.

22 MR. WILSON: No problem, Your Honor. I was just 23 going to say that we will reserve our comments until after the 24 conclusion of the testimony.

25 THE COURT: All right. Very well.

1 Mr. Morris, you may call your first witness.

2 MR. MORRIS: Thank you, Your Honor. Before I do,
3 just two very, very quick points.

4 THE COURT: Okay.

5 MR. MORRIS: To be clear, Dugaboy's interest in the 6 Debtor is 0.1866 percent. Less than two-tenths of one
7 percent.

8 Secondly, the argument that Mr. Draper just made with 9 respect to subordination is one that appears in nobody's
10 papers. And, in fact, not only doesn't it appear in anybody's
11 papers, but Mr. Dondero, I believe, specifically took issue
12 with the fact that a portion of the consideration that 13 HarbourVest would receive would be on a subordinated basis,
14 and he would -- and I think he took the position there is no
15 basis to give them a subordinated claim.

16 So, I just wanted to point those items out to the Court,
17 not that I think either one makes a large difference today,
18 but I do want to deal with the facts.

19 THE COURT: Thank you.

20 MR. MORRIS: The Debtor would call -- you're welcome,
21 Your Honor. The Debtor calls Mr. James Seery.

22 THE COURT: All right. Mr. Seery, welcome back to 23 virtual court. If you could say, "Testing, one, two" so I can 24 see you and swear you in.

25 MR. SEERY: Testing, one, two.

Seery - Direct

26

1 THE COURT: All right. I heard you but I'm not yet
2 seeing your video. Is your video turned on?

3 MR. SEERY: Video is on. Yes, Your Honor.

4 THE COURT: Okay. I see you now. Please raise your
5 right hand.

6 JAMES SEERY, DEBTOR'S WITNESS, SWORN

7 THE COURT: Thank you. Mr. Morris?

8 MR. MORRIS: Thank you, Your Honor.

9 DIRECT EXAMINATION

10 BY MR. MORRIS:

11 Q Good morning, Mr. Seery. Can you hear me?

12 A I can. Thank you, Mr. Morris.

13 Q Okay. Let's just cut to the chase here. Are you familiar
14 with HarbourVest's claims filed against the Debtor?

15 A I am, yes.

16 Q And did you personally review them?

17 A I did, yes.

18 Q Do you recall that over the summer the Debtor objected to 19 HarbourVest's claim?

20 A Yes, we did.

21 Q Why -- can you explain to the judge why Harbour -- why the 22 Debtor objected to HarbourVest's claim last summer?

23 A Sure. The HarbourVest claims, I believe there are about 24 six of them, initially were filed, and they were -- they were 25 relatively vague in terms of what the specifics of the claims

1 were.

2 So, we saw the claims but didn't, frankly, pay a lot of 3 attention to the underlying transaction that was referred to 4 in the proofs of claim and the losses that HarbourVest had
5 claimed to suffer -- to suffer with respect to their purchase
6 of securities related to HCLOF and the damages caused by the 7 Acis case. So we filed a pretty pro forma objection. I
8 believe it was a simply stated objection that we didn't have 9 any record that there was anything in the Debtor's books and 10 records that they had a valid claim for any amount against the 11 Debtor.

12 Q Are you aware that HarbourVest subsequently filed a
13 response to the Debtor's objection to their claims?

14 A Yes. Yes, I am aware.

15 Q And did you familiarize yourself with that particular
16 response?

17 A I did indeed. It was a pretty extensive response, really
18 developing the full panoply of their claims, which included
19 claims for expenses relating to the Acis case, which 20 HarbourVest viewed as being improperly charged to HCLOF by its 21 manager, which is effectively Highland. Those expenses,
22 HarbourVest took the view, were excessive, had nothing to do
23 with the investment, and were simply a pursuit of a personal
24 vendetta against Mr. Terry and his interests by Mr. Dondero,
25 and using HCLOF's money to actually pursue those interests.

1 In addition, and this was the first time we saw that,
2 HarbourVest brought forth its claims that it was entitled to 3 effectively rescind the transaction. And I say rescind the 4 transaction: In security parlance, they claim that they were 5 induced by fraud, I think as most are -- to enter into the 6 transaction.

7 As most are aware, the liability limitations in the OMs
8 and the exculpation in the documents are pretty broad, and 9 HarbourVest's position was that they weren't going to be
10 subject to those limitations because the actual transaction
11 that they entered into was a fraud on them, designed by Mr.
12 Dondero, Mr. Ellington, and the Highland team.

13 Q All right. Let's talk about your understanding, the 14 Debtor's understanding of the factual background to 15 HarbourVest's claim. What is your understanding of the 16 investment that HarbourVest made?

17 A Well, HarbourVest made an investment in the Highland CLO
18 business. The Highland CLO business was -- was Acis. And 19 effectively, the business had been separated, but in name
20 only. Acis was just a shell, with a few partners --
21 obviously, Mr. Terry as well -- but it was all Highland 22 personnel doing all the work.

23 And what they were trying to do with Acis was, in essence,
24 resuscitate a business that had been in a bit of a decline
25 from its pre-crisis heyday.

1 They were looking to take additional outside capital.

2 They would -- they would pay down or take money out of the 3 transaction, Highland would, or ultimately Mr. Dondero, and 4 they would -- they would seek to invest in Acis CLOs,
5 Highland's 1.0 CLOs. And then with respect to the Acis CLOs,
6 and potentially new CLOs, but with the Acis CLOs, they'd seek 7 to reset those and capture what they thought would be an 8 opportunity in the market to -- to really use the assets that 9 were there, not have to gather assets in the warehouse but be 10 able to use those assets to reset them to market prices for 11 the liabilities and then make money on the equity.

12 Q Do you have an understanding --

13 A Then --

14 Q I'm sorry. Go ahead.

15 A Why don't I continue? So, the transaction, they found
16 HarbourVest as a potential investor, and the basis of the 17 transaction was that they would make an investment into Acis.

18 Shortly before the transaction, and while they were doing
19 diligence, Mr. Terry received his arbitration award. I
20 believe that was in October of 2017. The transaction with 21 HarbourVest closed in mid- to late November of 2017. But Mr.
22 Terry was not an integral part. Indeed, he wasn't going to be
23 a key man. He had been long gone from Highland by that time.

24 What the -- I think you asked me originally what the basis
25 of their claim was. The transaction went forward, and the 001446

Seery - Direct

30

1 basis of their claim is that they really were never -- nothing
2 was disclosed to them about the nature of the dispute with Mr.
3 Terry other than in the highest-level terms; the animosity
4 with respect to which that dispute was held by Highland and 5 potentially Mr. Terry; and really, how those costs would be 6 borne and risks be borne by the investment that they were 7 making.

8 That was, in essence, the transaction and the high-level
9 view of their claim.

10 Q Okay. Just a few very specific facts. Do you have an 11 understanding as to how much HarbourVest invested and what 12 they got in exchange for that investment?

13 A Yeah. HarbourVest invested in a couple tranches, and I
14 forget the exact dates, but approximately $75 million
15 originally, and then they added another five. Some 16 distributions were made in the first half of 2018, putting 17 their net investment in the mid-seventies on the investment,
18 which now is worth about 22-1/2 million bucks.

19 Q And what percentage interest in HCLOF did HarbourVest
20 acquire, to the best of your knowledge?

21 A They have 49.98 percent of HCLOF. HCLOF, just to refresh
22 -- the Court is, I think, well aware of this, but to refresh,
23 is a Guernsey entity. Not -- not atypical for structures of 24 this type to use offshore jurisdictions and sell the 25 securities under -- at least to U.S. -- can't sell them to 001447

Seery - Direct

31

1 U.S. investors unless they qualify, and these are sold under
2 Reg S to -- to investors that otherwise qualify. And
3 HarbourVest was investing in that transaction through the 4 Guernsey structure.

5 Q And do you have an understanding as to who owned the 50-
6 plus percent of HCLOF that HarbourVest was not going to 7 acquire?

8 A Yeah. There's -- you can tell by the name. HCLOF is 9 Highland CLO Funding. This is a Highland vehicle. So
10 Highland owned and controlled the vehicle. The DAF, which is 11 -- which is Dondero-controlled trusts, have the -- 49 percent.
12 Highland has, I believe, around .63-65 percent directly. And 13 then Highland employees at the time who were involved in the 14 business owned another small percentage.

15 So the majority was going to be controlled by Highland
16 through its control of DAF and its control of the employees
17 that worked for it. HarbourVest would be a minority investor.

18 Q Okay. And I believe you testified that the investment was 19 made in mid-November; is that right?

20 A That's correct. I think it was the 15th, may have been
21 the 17th of November.

22 Q And do you recall when in October the Terry arbitration
23 award was rendered?

24 A It was about a month before. I think it was right around
25 the 20th, the 17th to the 20th. I may be slightly wrong on 001448

1 each of those dates.

2 Q Okay. What is your understanding as to what happened
3 after the issuance of the award that is the basis or at least
4 one of the bases for HarbourVest's claim?

5 A I don't think there's -- I don't think there's any
6 dispute. And there certainly are judicial findings. Dondero
7 and Highland went about stripping Acis of all of its assets.
8 So, remember that Acis is not a separate standalone company,
9 in any event. It's controlled and dominated completely by 10 Highland at the time. But it did have contracts. And those 11 contracts had value.

12 So the first idea was to strip out the management contract
13 and put it into a separate vehicle, which we called HCF
14 Advisor, which Highland still owns. The second piece was to 15 strip out some valuable assets, the risk retention piece, 16 which was a loan that in essence was equity that Highland had 17 put into Acis but structured as a loan, as many of the 18 transactions we'll see down the road are, in order to deal
19 with some -- avoid taxes in any way possible. And that 20 structure, that value moved value out of Acis for the express
21 purpose of trying to run, in essence, the Highland business
22 back in Highland.

23 Remember, as I said, Acis is just a Highland business
24 moved to a separate shell. When Mr. Terry got his arbitration
25 award against Acis and was seeking to enforce it, it was

1 pretty straightforward, let's take all the assets -- Dondero
2 scheme -- let's take all the assets and move them back into
3 Highland so Terry can't get anything.

4 Q And how does that scheme relate to the HarbourVest claim,
5 to the best of your knowledge?

6 A Well, HarbourVest -- HarbourVest's position is that they
7 invested in Acis and -- and whether Acis was called Acis or 8 called Highland, it doesn't really matter; there were valuable
9 assets in the -- in the entity that they were going to be 10 investing in through the equity in these CLOs and some of the 11 debt securities in those CLOs.

12 And then the stripping out and the fraudulent conveyances
13 out of Acis caused them damages because that's what left the 14 damage to Mr. Terry.

15 The quick math on Acis, by the way, is Acis has probably 16 lost, total damages, 175 million bucks. And that's pretty 17 easy. DAF lost 50. HarbourVest lost 50. Fifteen million of 18 fees charged to HCLOF. Another five million of fees, at 19 least, incurred by Mr. Terry. Ten million that went to Mr.
20 Terry, 15 to Highland fees, another five, plus Mr. Terry's
21 settlement in this case, over eight million bucks.

22 So HarbourVest's position, which, on a factual basis, you
23 know, is problematic for the estate, is, wait a second, we 24 invested in this vehicle with Highland. That was supposed to 25 invest in Highland CLOs. They were called Acis, but they were

1 Highland CLOs. And then you went about causing tremendous
2 damage to that vehicle that we ultimately were investing in,
3 and then charge us for the pleasure.

4 Q You used the phrase earlier "OM," I believe.

5 A Offering memorandum.

6 Q Offering memorandum? Can you just explain to the Court
7 your understanding of what an offering memorandum is?

8 A Typically, under U.S. law, and foreign jurisdictions have 9 similar laws, you have to have a document that explains the 10 securities that you're selling. And it goes into extreme
11 detail about the securities and the risks related to those 12 securities.

13 And the idea is not to have a document that tells you
14 whether it's a good investment or a bad investment, but it's a 15 document that discloses to the potential investor all of the 16 risks with respect to that security or related to the 17 investment over the duration of the security. It doesn't
18 predict the future, but it's supposed to make sure that it
19 gives you a very clean view of the past and a very clean view
20 of what the facts from the past are and how they would 21 implicate the future of the investment.

22 Q And in the course of its diligence, did the Debtor have an
23 opportunity to review the offering memorandum in the context
24 of the claims that were being asserted by HarbourVest?

25 A Oh, absolutely. It was originally effectively -- it's an

Seery - Direct

35

1 HCLOF offering memorandum. But as I said, HCLOF was managed
2 and controlled by Highland, and Highland originally prepared
3 it. And then, of course, in connection with -- with this 4 dispute and these claims, we reviewed it, both myself and my 5 legal team.

6 Q All right.

7 MR. MORRIS: Your Honor, the offering memorandum is 8 on the Debtor's exhibit list, and I think this is an
9 appropriate time to move into evidence Debtor's Exhibits A
10 through EE, all of which appear at Docket No. 1732.

11 THE COURT: 1732?

12 MR. MORRIS: It's the Debtor's Second Amended Witness
13 and Exhibit List.

14 THE COURT: All right. Any objection to admission of 15 A through EE?

16 MR. DRAPER: Douglas Draper. No objection, Your
17 Honor.

18 THE COURT: All right. Mr. --

19 MR. MORRIS: May I proceed?

20 THE COURT: Yeah. Mr. Wilson, did you want to 21 confirm no objection?

22 (Echoing.)

23 THE COURT: All right. Hearing no objection,
24 Debtor's A through EE are admitted.

25 (Debtor's Exhibits A through EE are received into

001452

36

1 evidence.)

2 THE COURT: Go ahead, Mr. Morris.

3 MR. MORRIS: Thank you, Your Honor. The offering
4 memorandum itself is one of the documents that we filed under 5 seal, and we did so at the request of counsel to HCLOF. But 6 HCLOF has consented to our sharing up on the screen certain 7 very limited provisions of the document, without waiving the 8 request that the agreement otherwise be maintained under seal.

9 THE COURT: All right.

10 MR. MORRIS: So may I proceed on that basis, Your
11 Honor?

12 THE COURT: You may. Uh-huh.

13 MR. MORRIS: Okay. Ms. Canty, can you please put up
14 on the screen Demonstrative Exhibit #1? Okay. Can we just --
15 is there a way to just expand that just a bit, Ms. Canty?
16 Thank you very much. And if we could just scroll it up?
17 Thank you very much. Perfect.

18 Okay. So, Your Honor, this, as the footnote says, is an 19 excerpt from the offering memorandum that can be found at 20 Debtor's Exhibit AA. Double A. And this particular portion 21 of the offering memorandum is at Page 35.

22 THE COURT: Okay.

23 BY MR. MORRIS:

24 Q Mr. Seery, have you seen this portion of the offering
25 memorandum before?

001453

Seery - Direct

37

1 A Yes, I have. But before I continue, I just -- I should
2 have checked. Are you able to hear me clearly? Am I speaking
3 too quickly or am I cutting out? I just want to make sure.
4 I'm using a different set of audio today.

5 THE COURT: All right.

6 MR. MORRIS: That's fine.

7 THE COURT: I hear you very well.

8 MR. MORRIS: Yeah.

9 THE COURT: So I think we're good right now. Thank
10 you.

11 THE WITNESS: Yeah. Thank you, Your Honor. I was 12 just checking.

13 THE COURT: Okay.

14 THE WITNESS: In response to your question, Mr.
15 Morris, yes, I have seen this before.

16 BY MR. MORRIS:

17 Q Okay. And can you -- did you form a view in doing the due
18 diligence as to the adequacy of this disclosure?

19 A Yes, I did.

20 Q Can you share your -- or share with Judge Jernigan the 21 Debtor's view as to the adequacy of this disclosure concerning
22 the litigation between Highland and Acis?

23 A With respect to the litigation between Highland and Acis,
24 or, really, between Acis, Highland, and Highland's principals
25 and Acis's principal, totally inadequate. The disclosure here

001454

Seery - Direct

38

1 is very high-level. And if there were no other litigation
2 going on, it might serve to suffice. It basically says, In
3 our business, because we invest in distressed loans, there's a
4 lot of litigation around distressed investments, and that's 5 what we have. And then it says, We've talked with the 6 investor about other things and we're -- we think that's 7 enough.

8 Q Is there anything in this portion or anywhere in the 9 offering memorandum that you're aware of that disclosed to 10 HarbourVest that in the weeks leading up to the investment
11 Highland was engaged in the fraudulent transfer of assets away
12 from Acis?

13 A No. And I apologize, because I think it's -- I've 14 conflated two provisions. This one only deals with the very 15 high-level nature of the business. It doesn't give any 16 indication that there's any material litigation going on 17 elsewhere with respect to Acis.

18 I believe there's another provision that says, We -- we 19 have talked to -- oh, here -- I'm sorry. It is here.
20 Shareholders have had an opportunity to discuss with Highland
21 to their satisfaction all litigation matters against Highland
22 and its affiliates unrelated to its distressed business.

23 That, in my opinion, is wholly inadequate.

24 Q Okay.

25 MR. MORRIS: And let's put up -- actually, let's just 001455

39

1 move on.

2 BY MR. MORRIS:

3 Q Let's go to the settlement itself.

4 MR. MORRIS: Can we put back up Demonstrative Exhibit
5 #3?

6 BY MR. MORRIS:

7 Q Mr. Seery, can you see that?

8 A Yes, I can.

9 Q Does this generally describe the net economic recovery of 10 the HarbourVest settlement based on estimated recoveries for 11 general unsecured creditors as of November 2020?

12 A As of November 2020, it does. And you alluded to this in 13 your opening, but to be clear, the numbers have shifted.
14 Costs have increased. The -- so the -- effectively, the 15 numerator, in terms of distributable value that we estimate,
16 is lower. And settlements, the denominator, have also 17 increased. So the claims against the estate that have been 18 recognized have increased. And that, that probably takes it
19 down closer, in our view, to about seventy cents distribution,
20 a number closer to nine to ten million, maybe a little bit
21 less.

22 However, there's also some additional value that we -- we
23 believe we will recover directly. There are north of $150
24 million of intercompany notes owed by Dondero entities to 25 Highland. A number of those notes are demand notes, and we've

001456

Seery - Direct

40

1 already made demand. We'll be initiating actions next week.
2 So those are -- those value, we believe, we'll recover
3 directly from Mr. Dondero and from related entities.

4 To the extent those related entities don't have value, we 5 feel very strongly about our ability to pierce the veil and 6 reach in to Mr. Dondero. And then his assets, either his 7 personal assets or the assets that he claims are in trusts.

8 In addition, there are a significant amount of notes that
9 were extended in two -- I believe around 2017, for no
10 consideration. Those notes were demand notes, I believe, and 11 then extended it 30 years. So they have 2047 maturities.
12 Those were probably going to have to be subject to fraudulent
13 conveyance type actions or -- or some sort of sale at a very 14 discounted value because third parties wouldn't want long-
15 dated notes with Mr. Dondero as the counterparty for very much
16 money.

17 Those -- they defaulted on some of those parties, so we 18 effectively turned them into demand notes. We've accelerated,
19 and we'll be bringing actions against those entities next week
20 as well.

21 So I think (garbled) have come up, so I apologize. One
22 way of saying I think the sixteen and a half is a bit high
23 right now, based upon what we know, but the value is going to 24 be higher than our estimate a couple of weeks ago because we 25 do believe we'll be able to recover on the notes.

001457

41

1 One additional caveat, just to be fully transparent here.
2 This summary with the 16.8 doesn't include the subordinated
3 piece of this -- of this claim and our resolution. That -- 4 recovery of that piece will be dependent upon the success of 5 litigations.

6 In order for the subordinated piece to get paid, all
7 general unsecured claims in Class -- Classes 7 and 8 will have
8 to be paid in full. And then -- and then the subordinated
9 class in Class 9, which we believe UBS will have a piece of,
10 and HarbourVest will have a piece of by this settlement, those 11 will be able to recover, and those will be based upon other
12 claims of action against -- primarily against related parties.

13 Q And then that last point, is that what's reflected in 14 Footnote 3 on this page?

15 A That's correct, yes.

16 Q Okay. And just for the record, there's a reduction in 17 value of $22-1/2 million. Do you see that?

18 A Yes.

19 Q And can you just explain to the Court what that is and how 20 that value was arrived at?

21 A Yes. I may be getting slightly ahead of you, Mr. Morris.
22 But to give the Court a reflection of the transaction -- and 23 we can go into the details in a moment -- ultimately, the 24 transaction we structured we think is very fair both 25 economically to the Debtor, but there -- there is some

001458

Seery - Direct

42

1 complexity to it to satisfy some of HarbourVest's concerns
2 that they be able to effectively rescind the transaction, at 3 least from an optical perspective. Value was important, but 4 optics were as well. The twenty-two and a half is the current
5 -- actually, the November value of HCL -- the HarbourVest
6 interests in HCLOF. And that's based upon Highland's
7 evaluation of those interests.

8 So we do believe that that is a fair value as of that
9 date. It has not gone down. It hasn't gone up explosively,
10 either, but it hasn't gone down. We think that's good, real 11 value. That value is in the Acis CLOs, the equity in those 12 CLOs, which is 2 through 6, that we -- we will be working with 13 the HCLOF folks to get Mr. Terry to monetize those assets and 14 those longer-dated CLOs.

15 In addition, I think it's 85 percent of the equity in Acis
16 7 -- Acis 7 is managed by Highland -- that is also beyond its 17 reinvestment period. And in talking to the directors -- and 18 they're new directors, and I'll get to that in a minute, for 19 HCLOF -- they'll seek to push Highland, which is the 20 reorganized Highland, to monetize that asset, with due regard
21 to fair value.

22 In addition, Harbour -- HCLOF owned a significant amount
23 of the preferred or equity pieces, if you will, in the 24 Highland CLO, 1.0 CLOs. As we've talked about, those are not 25 really CLOs. Those are effectively closed-end funds with 001459

43

1 illiquid assets, primarily illiquid assets in them. We've had
2 some dispute in front of the Court about selling the liquid
3 assets in them, which we can go into it another time. Those 4 are being liquidated in the market at fair value.

5 But HCLOF also is a significant holder of those preferred
6 shares, and those directors would -- have indicated to me that
7 they would like to see those interests also monetized.

8 Q All right. Let's shift gears for a moment to talk about 9 the diligence that the Debtor did before entering into this 10 agreement. Can you just describe for the Court generally the 11 diligence that was undertaken at your direction?

12 A Well, when we first received the reply to our objection,
13 we dug into that reply and the specifics in it very 14 aggressively. So we reviewed all of the underlying documents
15 related to the original transaction. We discussed with 16 counsel the legal basis for the HarbourVest claims. We 17 interviewed our own HCMLP employees who were involved in the 18 transaction and tested their recollection, specifically around
19 who dealt with HarbourVest, who had the discussions with 20 HarbourVest, what was disclosed to HarbourVest with respect to 21 the Terry dispute and the Acis litigation.

22 We also had done, as I think the Court is well aware from 23 prior 9019 testimony, extensive work around the transfers and 24 the issues related to Acis. So we were familiar with their 25 impact on HCLOF.

001460

44

1 We also did extensive work valuing the remaining HCLOF
2 interests to get a good feel of not only how much HarbourVest
3 originally invested, but how much they actually lost in this
4 transaction. And as I said, their original investment was 5 around, in total, in two tranches, about $80 million, of which
6 they got about $5 million back, and they've lost $22 million.
7 So it -- I mean, remaining with $22 million. So they've lost,
8 you know, in excess of $50 million.

9 Q Do you recall whether the Debtor reviewed and analyzed all
10 of the documents that were cited in HarbourVest's response to 11 the Debtor's objection to the HarbourVest proofs of claim?

12 A Yeah. I think -- I forget, to be honest, which -- exactly 13 what documents were in there. But we went through their 14 objection with a fine-toothed comb, not only with respect to 15 the issues related to the Acis case, but also their references
16 to Guernsey law, other U.S. law, any of the documents between 17 the parties. And obviously, as I mentioned before, the 18 offering memorandum.

19 MR. MORRIS: Your Honor, I would just note for the 20 record that Debtor's Exhibits I through X are all of the 21 documents that are cited in HarbourVest's response to the 22 Debtor's objection to the HarbourVest proofs of claim, and 23 those are the documents that Mr. Seery just referred to.

24 THE COURT: All right.

25 MR. MORRIS: Just, they're in evidence now, and I

001461

Seery - Direct

45

1 just wanted the Court to understand why they're in evidence.

2 THE COURT: Okay. Thank you.

3 MR. MORRIS: You're welcome.

4 BY MR. MORRIS:

5 Q Let's talk about the Debtor and whether or not it had or 6 has any viable defenses. Did the Debtor form any views as to 7 whether or not it had any defenses to the HarbourVest claims?

8 A Yes, we did.

9 Q Can you describe for the Court the defenses that were 10 reviewed and analyzed by the Debtor?

11 A Yeah. I think we -- we had very significant defenses.
12 So, first and foremost, with respect to the original proof of 13 claim, as I mentioned earlier, it alluded to the expenses and 14 the overcharge. And I think with respect to the 15 million of 15 fees that were charged to HCLOF by Highland, we didn't have a
16 lot of defenses to that claim.

17 It's pretty clear, by any fair view of the Acis case, that
18 HCLOF, as the investor in the Acis CLOs and the Highland CLOs,
19 had no real responsibility for fighting with Acis and Josh
20 Terry and shouldn't have been charged those fees. I don't -- 21 I don't think there's a legitimate investor that would 22 actually think that that was an appropriate amount to be 23 charged to a fund.

24 However, the claim was not as broad -- the proof of claim
25 was not as fulsome in terms of discussing and only vaguely

001462

1 referred to other damages. So we did -- we did, as a
2 threshold matter, think about whether we could argue that it
3 was time-barred because they had not met their obligations to 4 fully disclose under the proof of claim.

5 Secondly, we considered the defenses to the overall claim
6 of fraudulent inducement. Our perspective was that if we
7 could stop the claim of fraudulent inducement, the damages
8 would likely be limited to the 15 and maybe some -- some other
9 damages. With respect to the 15, again, the problem that we 10 had when we got past -- past motions for summary judgment is 11 the factual predicate for our defense was going to be that we 12 divulged these things to HarbourVest and that they did not 13 reasonably -- it was -- reasonably rely on some failure to 14 divulge because they're a sophisticated investor.

15 The problem with that defense is that our witnesses, which 16 really would have primarily been Mr. Dondero and Mr.
17 Ellington, and one other employee who runs the CLO business,
18 Mr. Covitz, would not be pretty good. They've been -- two of 19 them have been in front of this Court and they're not viewed 20 favorably and their testimony would be challenged and 21 potentially suspect.

22 So that gave us a real focus on trying to make sure that 23 we could, if we had to litigate, that we would litigate around
24 the fraudulent inducement.

25 As I said, reasonable reliance, what was disclosed, lack

1 of digging into the public record, because you don't have to
2 go far on Google to find "fraud" within two words of 3 "Highland," and the tremendous, you know, litigious nature of 4 Highland. You know, even at that point, when this investment
5 was made, aside from Mr. Terry's arbitration, which by that 6 point, at least by the time (inaudible) was public, there was,
7 you know, significant public disclosure around the Credit
8 Strat and the litigation, the Crusader litigation, the UBS
9 litigation, the, gosh knows, the Daugherty litigation.

10 So our defense was going to be that you should have 11 figured this out, you're a sophisticated investor, and you
12 should have been able to figure out that there was significant 13 risk that, with respect to Mr. Terry, that Mr. Dondero would 14 not stop litigating and that those costs would put significant
15 risk on the investment.

16 The problem with that, as I mentioned earlier, is that the 17 OM is wholly deficient. If you have a typical risk factor in 18 the offering memorandum, you would have disclosed that there
19 was a litigation with Mr. Terry, a former partner in the 20 business, and that the Debtor had no intention of settling it.
21 There was no intention of settling. That litigation would go
22 on. It could go on for years and it could result in 23 bankruptcy or attachments and other risks to the business, and 24 that the investor should be fully aware that the Offeror does
25 not intend to be involved in any -- or the manager, in any

Seery - Direct

48

1 settlement with Mr. Terry, and the fact it undermined the
2 investment. That wasn't there.

3 But that was our preliminary focus, to try to stop fraud
4 in the inducement. And then we -- we had specific facts
5 related to that. You know, once they knew about the 6 bankruptcy in HarbourVest of -- I'm sorry, of Acis,
7 HarbourVest made a second funding, which was there was a -- it
8 was an initial $75 million draw, and then a second, I believe,
9 about a $5 million draw, which was in -- I believe in 10 February. And they made it without -- without objection, and 11 that was after the commencement of the bankruptcy.

12 In addition, they were -- they were active in the 13 bankruptcy, so the -- some of the things that happened in the 14 bankruptcy, there were many opportunities to settle that case,
15 from our examination, all of which were turned down to -- by 16 Mr. Dondero. But you don't see HarbourVest pounding the table
17 to settle, either, either with respect to the Oaktree
18 transaction or any other transaction.

19 Now, HarbourVest's defense to that is, well, we were 20 taking advice and all of our information from Highland, and we 21 were getting that information directly from senior folks at 22 Highland why -- what the value was and why we shouldn't do
23 those things. We thought that that would mitigate some of the 24 arguments that -- some of the damages that we might have, I'm 25 sorry, if we -- if we lost.

001465

1 But the focus at that point, you know, our legal strategy,
2 was can we stop HarbourVest at the very forefront to say,
3 You've got to come into the factual realm and get out of the 4 fraud in the inducement realm. And then the defenses and the 5 exculpations and the liability limitations in the documents
6 would also come into play.

7 So that -- those are some of the defenses that we focused
8 on and our analytical thinking around them.

9 Q So, if the Debtor had viable defenses, why is it settling?

10 A Well, this is a significant claim. And we -- we looked at 11 it with respect to both the impact on the case, but, really,
12 the merits of the claim.

13 As I said, there's really little dispute that the legal 14 fees should not have been charged to HarbourVest. We think 15 based upon the testimony in Acis, the suspect credibility of 16 those who would have been our witnesses, and the experience in 17 Acis that the Court has had in terms of the completely hell-
18 bent on litigation, it would be hard for anyone to justifiably
19 defend those fees being charged. So, as an initial matter, we 20 had exposure there.

21 In addition, if HarbourVest got by our defense of -- was 22 able, for example, to claim fraud in the inducement, then we 23 were open to significant damages.

24 We really didn't put much value, frankly, on the RICO part
25 of it. We think that that's waved around often to show treble

Seery - Direct

50

1 damages. Although in this case certainly somebody could lay
2 out the predicate acts and put forth a RICO-type argument, we
3 just didn't think that that had real merit in this commercial
4 dispute, even with a fraud claim.

5 But even without the trebling of the damages, there's no
6 dispute that HarbourVest lost more than $50 million in this 7 investment. You know, we -- we thought about that risk as
8 well.

9 In addition, because the case would really be fact-based,
10 even if we had a high degree of confidence based upon our 11 discussions with our employees and the factual testimony, it
12 was going to be expensive to litigate this case, and time-
13 consuming.

14 And so we looked at the economic value, the potential
15 risks, and the actual value that we were giving up, and found
16 this to be an extremely, extremely reasonable settlement.

17 Importantly, and I think what drove it, you -- one of --
18 one of the things that drove it is another one of our defenses
19 on why, notwithstanding their -- what they held out as 20 meritorious claims, I don't think HarbourVest really wanted to 21 publicly litigate this claim. And we were aggressive in our
22 discussions with HarbourVest of how we would litigate it,
23 which would be quite publicly.

24 Now, that may or may not be fair, but that does put risk
25 on the counterparty. And so I think that helped drive the 001467

1 settlement.

2 In addition, the structure of the settlement we think is
3 extremely favorable to the Debtor and to the estate because,
4 rather than taking the full claim and putting it into a senior
5 unsecured position, we have bifurcated it. We did think about
6 whether this was a claim that could be subordinated under 510.
7 There won't be any arguments, I would be surprised if there's 8 arguments today that we didn't actually give to the Highland 9 employees who have given them to Mr. Dondero's respective 10 counsel.

11 We did structure it in a way that we thought gave 12 HarbourVest the opportunity to effectively claim a rescission,
13 even though that's not really what it is, and then be able to 14 claim that their recovery is based on the bankruptcy, which it
15 is, but not really dilute all the other stakeholders in the 16 case.

17 (Pause.)

18 THE COURT: Mr. Morris? Anything else?

19 MR. MORRIS: I can hear you, Your Honor.

20 THE COURT: Okay.

21 MR. MORRIS: I can hear you.

22 THE COURT: Okay. Now can you --

23 MR. MORRIS: I got cut off from Mr. Seery for a 24 moment.

25 THE COURT: Okay.

Seery - Direct

52

1 BY MR. MORRIS:

2 Q Okay. I appreciate that. Are you done giving the
3 Debtor's basis for entering into this settlement, Mr. Seery,
4 if you can hear me?

5 A I think so, but I think as the Court has probably seen, I
6 can go on.

7 Q Yes.

8 A So I will try to be -- I'll try to be more concise. But 9 this was a -- this was a difficult settlement. We felt good
10 about our defenses. Felt that we could -- we could try them.
11 But it would be extremely expensive, time-consuming, and there
12 would be a lot of risk. And settling at a level which we 13 believe is actually below the damages that were clearly caused 14 only by the fees was a -- was a -- is a -- is a very 15 reasonable settlement.

16 Q Okay. Let's just talk about the process by which we got 17 to the settlement. Do you recall generally when the 18 settlement negotiations have -- were commenced?

19 A I believe it was -- was late summer, early -- early fall.

20 Q Okay. Before I move on, I just want to go back to the 21 Acis matter that you were talking about, one last issue. Do
22 you know how, if at all, the injunction that was entered in 23 the Acis bankruptcy impacted or related to the HarbourVest
24 claims?

25 A Yeah. I -- yes, I do. And I believe it -- it did. I

001469

53

1 think there's an argument, and we analyzed it thoroughly, that
2 the injunction effectively caused a lot of the damages.
3 Because if you look at the values of the equity that
4 HarbourVest had, the -- and HCLOF had in the CLOs, it went
5 down dramatically after the Trustee in the Acis case took over
6 and then subsequently, when the case was reorganized and Mr.
7 Terry took over, you know, with Brigade as the sub-advisor.

8 Now, that would -- you know, we would -- we could 9 certainly attempt to throw, in our defense, the causation at 10 Mr. Terry's feet or at Mr. Phelan's feet. HarbourVest's
11 retort is that none of this would have occurred but for the 12 burn-it-down litigation that Mr. Dondero engaged in with 13 Highland.

14 In addition, in Mr. Terry's defense, you know, he did try 15 multiple times with HCLOF, tried to petition, if you will, the 16 HCLOF entity to -- and directors, former directors, to reset
17 the CLOs to make them more economically viable, based upon the 18 current level of asset returns versus the debt costs in the 19 CLOs. And that was rejected by the HCLOF and the Debtor as 20 the controlling party of HCLOF. So, we thought about those 21 risks.

22 You know, similarly, the economic values in Acis 7 went 23 down pretty significantly from that date as well. So I think
24 there's -- there are some defenses, but that's really Mr.
25 Terry's issue, not our issue. So we thought about those 001470

54

1 issues, we analyzed them, and we certainly did all the work
2 around month-to-month reductions in NAVs and how different
3 events in the Acis case might have -- might have caused those
4 and was that some sort of break from the original
5 transgression that HarbourVest claims, which was the 6 fraudulent inducement.

7 Q Do you recall that in November HarbourVest's motion under 8 3018 was scheduled to be heard?

9 A Yes.

10 Q And can you just tell the Court your understanding of what 11 the 3018 motion was about?

12 A Well, the 3018 motion was going to be on voting. And we 13 took the view that it really was not -- it shouldn't have been
14 that big an issue and HarbourVest should have been content
15 with just taking their actual losses of roughly a $50-$60
16 million claim for voting purposes and then we would move on.

17 HarbourVest was very insistent that they have a $300
18 million claim, because they took the position -- and with 19 extensive documentation; not only the pleadings they filed,
20 but also detailed decks that were prepared by their counsel,
21 which they had presented to us on the merits of their claim --
22 that they were going to litigate for -- the 3018 and for the 23 full $300 million value.

24 And that became the genesis, if you will, of the 25 negotiations to settle.

001471

1 So, we started talking about the 3018. It was very
2 contentious. My apologies to Ms. Weisgerber and her counsel,
3 her partners, because it was a significant and contentious
4 negotiating call. But the reasons for that I think were that 5 -- their insistence on litigating the 3018 and our view that 6 this was just, you know, another -- another of a series of 7 delays and costs in this case that we really were hoping to 8 avoid.

9 That led to Mr. Pugatch and I stepping away from counsel,
10 no offense to counsel, you know, ours and his, to begin
11 negotiations around the potential for a settlement. First, it
12 started with a 3018, and then, you know, argued that we would,
13 if we got past the 3018, we were going to litigate this,
14 because we effectively had -- thought we could get everyone
15 else done at -- in and around that time. And I think we were 16 also probably a little bit optimistic about UBS at that time
17 and the mediation, which subsequently we have settled. But 18 that was the genesis of those settlements.

19 Q And how did the structure, how did the Debtor and 20 HarbourVest derive at the structure whereby there is a general
21 unsecured claim, there is a subordinated piece, and there's 22 the takeback of the HCLOF interest?

23 A Well, as I outlined, we -- we aggressively set forth our 24 various defenses. Their position was that they -- they should 25 never have been in this transaction before. And they --

1 HarbourVest is, in essence, a fund of funds, and they have
2 investors, and it certainly wouldn't be their, I'm sure, the 3 best-performing asset in their portfolio, to have made this
4 investment and lost $50 million over this period of time. So
5 they felt strongly that they should never have been in this 6 investment, and but for the failure to disclose and the 7 improper disclosures, they would not have been in this
8 investment.

9 So, optically, getting out of it was important to them,
10 and that led to our idea and construction of a subordinated
11 claim and the transfer of the HCLOF interests to the estate.

12 Importantly, the HCLOF interests, as I mentioned, are -- 13 the investments are in the Acis CLOs controlled by Acis and 14 Mr. Terry. The reorganized Acis. As well as the 1.0 CLOs and 15 the Acis 7.

16 So we were keenly focused on, if we were going to get that 17 interest, would we then have the majority control in HCLOF,
18 which we will, and would we be able to drive the recoveries,
19 as opposed to what Highland typically does in these 20 investments is use other people's money, drive down the value,
21 and then try to buy back the interest on the cheap.

22 Q Just in terms of timing, because I think there was a
23 suggestion in one of the openings that there was something
24 untoward about the timing here: At the time the liquidation
25 analysis was prepared on November 24th, had the Debtor reached

1 any agreement in principle with HarbourVest?

2 A If we had, it would have been reflected, so I don't -- I
3 don't think we were agreed by then. I don't recall the 4 specific dates, but if we had, it would have -- it would have 5 been reflected.

6 Q If I can refresh your recollection that the motion was 7 filed on December 24th, does that help form your understanding
8 or refresh your recollection that there was no agreement in 9 principle on November 24th?

10 A Yeah. Well, I'm quite sure there was no agreement in 11 principle or we would have reflected it minimally by a
12 footnote. There's -- there's no chance. It's a material
13 reduction in the claims pool that we were previously telling
14 people that, at least for purposes of distribution, like UBS
15 and a couple others we said we thought we would get to zero
16 on. So we didn't calculate in that amount. So I'm quite sure
17 we didn't have a deal when we filed the disclosure statement.

18 In terms of the timing, anyone who's done this business
19 for any degree of time knows that the crucible of bankruptcy
20 brings people to the settlement when they see something
21 happening in the case, and not before. I think HarbourVest
22 looked at our -- this is my supposition -- HarbourVest looked 23 at our plan, our ability to get this done, our settlement with 24 Redeemer, our settlement with Mr. Terry and Acis, and saw that 25 this plan was coming together, and if they didn't think about

1 the settlement, they were going to think about not only the
2 risks that we laid forth for them with respect our defenses,
3 but also the opportunity to litigate with the Claimant Trustee
4 over a long period of time, which couldn't have been
5 particularly appetizing.

6 Q Can you describe for the Court the role played by the 7 independent board of Strand, the general partner of the 8 Debtor, in analyzing and participating in the approval
9 process?

10 A Yes. I think, as the Court is aware and I've testified
11 before, Mr. Russell Nelms and Mr. John Dubel are fellow
12 independent directors with me, appointed pursuant to the Court
13 order. They are kept abreast of every detail, and -- along 14 the way, not just in a summary form at the end. We have 15 reviewed and analyzed collectively each of the issues. Mr.
16 Dubel has extensive experience in these types of litigation
17 matters. Obviously, Mr. Nelms, from his -- both his practice
18 and his time on the bench, has a keen insight into how to 19 resolve and what the risks and benefits are from settling
20 litigation. So I consult them every step of the way.

21 Q And as part of this process, did the Debtor reach out to 22 the directors of HCLOF?

23 A Yes, we did. So, we reached out and we've had several 24 conversations on video chats with the directors. The 25 directors of HCLOF are two new gentlemen, Mr. Richard Boleat

Seery - Direct

59

1 and Mr. Dicky Burwood. They are extremely professional. They
2 are exceptionally well-informed. They are truly careful, and
3 I would say very experienced professional not only directors,
4 but experienced in -- in these matters, both in respect of 5 structured finance as well as these types of vehicles and 6 litigation.

7 They were appointed by the old directors, Scott and
8 Bestwick, and they have been in control. They have outside
9 counsel, which is King & Spalding in the U.S. They have 10 Guernsey counsel. They have accountants and professional 11 advisors, and are being, in my opinion, exceptionally careful.
12 I've got -- very quickly developed a lot of respect for them,
13 and we consulted with them on this settlement and how it would 14 work.

15 They've been very clear that they represent HCLOF and they 16 work for the benefit of the equity, whomever owns it, and 17 taking a view that they would like to see these assets
18 monetized swiftly, with due regard to value, for the benefit
19 of the equity.

20 Q And is it your understanding that the directors of HCLOF
21 approved of this transaction?

22 A They -- I don't know that their approval was required.
23 It's really -- there are a number of hoops to jump through
24 under the documentation, including opinion of outside counsel
25 that we received from WilmerHale in terms of the effectiveness

001476

60

1 of the transfer under the documents. We had a negotiation
2 with -- with those directors, and making sure that we did
3 everything correct -- correctly, excuse me -- with respect to 4 the requirements for the transfer under the documents. And 5 they've indicated their support and acknowledgement that we're
6 doing it correctly.

7 I don't know if it's fair to say they approved it. I'd 8 just have to go check the documents. But they certainly
9 support it. And I think they generally support our position
10 with respect to how to move forward with the assets.

11 Q I appreciate that. I guess I meant approval with a small 12 a and not a capital A.

13 You mentioned WilmerHale. Who do they represent in all of 14 this?

15 A WilmerHale is the Debtor's outside corporate counsel, in 16 particular with respect to the fund issues that we don't 17 handle in-house. We have significant support for fund issues
18 from the expertise of Mr. Surgent, who's been the CCO, and he 19 is also a lawyer, with respect to, you know, some of the 20 difficult fund issues that Highland has. But when we use
21 outside counsel, we use WilmerHale for that, and they've been 22 -- they've been exceptional.

23 Q Okay. Just the last two points that were made in Mr.
24 Dondero's objection, I believe. Did the Debtor overpay in 25 this settlement in order to gain the support of HarbourVest in 001477

61

1 connection with its -- with the Debtor's attempt to get its
2 plan confirmed?

3 A Not in any way. My -- I believe the settlement is 4 extremely reasonable. As I testified, it's -- it's less than 5 the -- the actual value going out, depending on unless there's 6 successful litigation, and there well could be, is less than 7 on a pro forma basis the fees that were taken and charged to 8 HCLOF. We didn't do this for votes. We will have Class 2,
9 Class 7, Class 8, and Class 9. So I don't think that's a -- 10 there's no vote purchasing, I think you called it. No, not at 11 all.

12 Q Yeah. Well, on that topic, I think the phrase that was 13 used was gerrymandering. Are you aware of the argument that's 14 been made that the subordinated claim was dropped in there in 15 order to gerrymander a positive vote for the impaired class of 16 Class 9, I believe?

17 A In a word, I would say that's preposterous. The -- as I
18 said, we have a number of classes that will vote for the plan.
19 The plan is -- the plan is a monetization plan. And if -- if 20 the creditors determine that they don't want to pursue this 21 plan, we'll go forward with another -- we'll try to get 22 another plan. We tried to have a grand bargain plan. We 23 tried to have a pot plan, as I've testified previously. I'm 24 quite certain that I've done more work on that than anyone
25 else, including Mr. Dondero and anybody who works for him.

001478

62

1 And he hasn't been willing to do that.

2 This is a -- this is a plan that's come together. We
3 think it's going to be in the best interests of the estate.
4 That'll be confirmation next week. Or two weeks, I guess.
5 But I don't see how this is any way related -- this settlement
6 is not any way related to the voting on that -- on that -- on 7 that plan.

8 Q Just to put the finest point on it, is the Debtor relying
9 on Class 9 to be the impaired consenting class?

10 A No. I think -- I think what I've -- as I said, I believe
11 we already have the votes in Class -- I think it's 2 or 3, 7, 12 8, and -- and 9 will vote in favor as well. So that won't be 13 an issue.

14 MR. MORRIS: Your Honor, I have no further questions
15 of Mr. Seery.

16 THE COURT: All right. Pass the witness. I'll ask
17 HarbourVest counsel first: Do you have any questions of Mr.
18 Seery?

19 MS. WEISGERBER: No, Your Honor.

20 THE COURT: All right. Thank you.

21 What about cross-examination? Mr. Dondero's counsel?

22 CROSS-EXAMINATION

23 BY MR. WILSON:

24 Q Mr. Seery, how are you doing today?

25 A I'm well, thank you.

001479

1 Q I'm John Wilson, and I represent Jim Dondero. I have a
2 few questions for you today.

3 Now, the HarbourVest proof of claims were filed on April
4 8th, 2020; is that your recollection?

5 A I believe that's correct. I don't recall the specific 6 date.

7 Q Okay. And do you know when you first became aware of the 8 HarbourVest claims?

9 A I believe it was early in the summer when we filed the 10 omnibus objection. It may have been in late spring, shortly
11 after that. I don't recall the specific date of the filing.

12 Q And before the time of the filing of the omnibus
13 objection, did Highland educate itself regarding the 14 HarbourVest proof of claims?

15 A I'm sorry, could you say that again? I didn't quite 16 understand it.

17 Q Before the omnibus objection was filed, did HarbourVest --
18 I'm sorry, did Highland educate itself on the HarbourVest
19 proof of claims?

20 A Not especially, no.

21 Q Okay. And -- but at some point, Highland did investigate
22 those proofs of claim, correct?

23 A That's correct.

24 Q And when would you -- when do you recall that that 25 investigation began?

1 A I don't recall the date, but the triggering event was
2 HarbourVest's response to our omnibus objection.

3 Q Okay. And that would have been filed September 11th of 4 2020?

5 A I'll take your representation. I don't -- I don't recall
6 the specific date.

7 Q Okay. And so when you began to investigate the 8 HarbourVest claims, what was your initial reaction?

9 A My initial reaction was that the -- the larger claims that
10 they were asserting -- the fraud in the inducement, the RICO
11 -- that those claims were, in my view, attorney-made and that 12 when we dug in and did the work, we saw that HarbourVest
13 clearly lost north of $50 million on the investment. We had 14 just started to uncover the fee issue and saw the risk we had 15 there.

16 But I thought the bulk of those claims were attorney-made.
17 Clever, but attorney-made, as opposed to what I would think 18 are more legitimate. And so we started to develop our 19 defenses around that.

20 Q And was your initial reaction that the HarbourVest claims
21 were largely worthless?

22 A I think with respect to the claim around the fees, I
23 believed there was significant risk. With respect to the 24 other claims, I thought our defenses would make them
25 worthless, yes.

1 Q And did you ever represent to any party that the
2 HarbourVest claim was worth, at most, $5 million?

3 A I think I represented often, including to HarbourVest,
4 that it was worth nothing. I don't recall if I specifically
5 said $5 million. $5 million would have been a nominal amount
6 to -- which is litigation costs. So it may -- it may have
7 been in my models that I put in that as a settlement amount,
8 but I -- I thought that there were valid and good defenses to 9 those larger claims.

10 Q And you recognize that HarbourVest was a large,
11 sophisticated investor, correct?

12 A Yes. I think they manage north of -- right around a
13 hundred billion dollars.

14 Q And you recognize that HarbourVest routinely structured 15 complex customized investments, correct?

16 A I believe that -- I don't know the intricate part of their 17 businesses, but as a fund of funds who does creative 18 investments, I think that they do do quite a bit of that.
19 This, I believe, was their first investment in the CLO space.

20 Q And it was not -- or I should say, you did not believe 21 that HarbourVest was simply a passive investor in HCLOF,
22 correct?

23 A I don't think that that's true, no.

24 Q You don't -- you don't believe that you denied their claim
25 to be a passive investor?

1 A Oh, I think -- I'm sure that in defense of their claims I
2 would argue that they were -- they were more than a passive
3 investor. But it was pretty clear when you look at the 4 structure of what they invested that there was an intent that
5 they be passive on their part. They didn't take a majority
6 interest.

7 In fact, Highland made it clear in the structure of the 8 deal that they couldn't -- it would be hard for them to get a
9 majority interest because Highland entities would control that 10 and Dondero-controlled entities or individuals would control
11 the majority.

12 I think that they -- they had hoped to be a passive
13 investor.

14 Q But was it not your position that HarbourVest was actually
15 an active, involved investor?

16 A I think our defense was going to be that they knew exactly
17 what was going on, that they participated, that they were 18 active, and that, indeed, that they were in and around some of 19 the subsequent issues in the Acis case.

20 Q And you understood that HarbourVest played a material role
21 in the various outcomes in the Acis bankruptcy case, correct?

22 A I don't believe that to be correct, no.

23 Q Have you ever made that representation to anyone before?

24 A Not -- not that I recall.

25 Q Well, do you recall giving statements to a reporter named

1 Syed Khaderi?

2 A I've never spoken to a reporter named Syed Khaderi in my 3 life.

4 Q Well, did you participate in the preparation of statements
5 to be given to Syed Khaderi?

6 A I've never heard of Syed Khaderi, nor have I participated
7 in any preparation of statements. I don't know who that is.

8 MR. WILSON: All right. I'm going to have Bryan
9 Assink put on the screen a document.

10 And Bryan, can you go to Page 7? Bottom of -- the top of 11 Page 7. Well, actually, before you do that, go to the very 12 top of the document.

13 BY MR. WILSON:

14 Q Now, Mr. Seery, are you familiar with Lucy Bannon?

15 A Yes.

16 Q And who is Lucy Bannon?

17 A She is the Highland public relations person.

18 MR. WILSON: Okay. Now go back to Page 7.

19 BY MR. WILSON:

20 Q Now, do you -- do you see on your screen an email of 21 September 14th from Syed Khaderi that says, Hi, Lucy, how are 22 you?

23 A Yes.

24 Q Have you seen this email before?

25 A Not that I recall, no.

1 Q All right. It continues on that, I saw the filing on
2 Friday about HarbourVest claims against Highland for a CLO
3 investment, and I'm looking to put out a report tomorrow
4 morning London time. Ahead of that, I wanted to check if
5 Highland would like to comment on the matter.

6 MR. MORRIS: Your Honor, this is -- the Debtor
7 respectfully objects. A, this document is not in evidence.
8 B, it's rank hearsay.

9 THE COURT: Response, Mr. Wilson?

10 MR. WILSON: Your Honor, I am attempting to 11 authenticate this document, but I'm using it in rebuttal to 12 the testimony that Mr. Seery just offered.

13 THE COURT: All right. I'll allow it. Overrule the 14 objection.

15 MR. WILSON: All right. Thank you, Your Honor.

16 BY MR. WILSON:

17 Q All right. Now, if we -- and oh, that September 14th
18 date, that was three days after the September 11th date that 19 we discussed was the date that HarbourVest filed its response
20 to the omnibus objection, correct?

21 A Yes. If that's the date that they filed it, then I -- if 22 you're representing that, I concede that the 14th is three 23 days after the 11th.

24 Q All right. And if you go back to the first page of this,
25 it looks like, on the following day, Lucy Bannon sends an

1 email to you, and is that your email address,
2 jpseeryjr@gmail.com?

3 A That's correct, yes.

4 Q And do you recall receiving this email from Lucy Bannon?

5 MR. MORRIS: Your Honor, I renew my objection that
6 this is hearsay. He's not rebutting anything that Mr. Seery
7 testified to. He testified that he'd never heard of the 8 gentleman at the bottom of the document. There's nothing in 9 this document that rebuts Mr. Seery's testimony at all.

10 THE COURT: Response, Mr. Wilson?

11 MR. WILSON: Well, I'm not -- I'm not trying to rebut
12 his statement that he hadn't -- that he hadn't heard of Syed
13 Khaderi. My rebuttal is attempted to -- attempting to show
14 that he has made various statements that he denied.

15 THE COURT: I'll overrule the objection.

16 BY MR. WILSON:

17 Q All right. So, back to this exhibit, Mr. Seery. You
18 recall receiving this email from Lucy Bannon on Tuesday,
19 September 15, 2020?

20 A Not specifically. But to be clear, I recall talking to 21 Lucy Bannon about the HCMLP dispute with HarbourVest.

22 Q Okay. And --

23 MR. WILSON: Bryan, can you go down to the next page?
24 Scroll down to where -- the James Seery email.

25 BY MR. WILSON:

Seery - Cross

70

1 Q Do you see this email on your screen that's dated
2 September 15, 2020 at 10:33 p.m.?

3 A Yes, I do.

4 Q And do you recall sending this email to Lucy?

5 A Not specifically, no.

6 Q Well, do you deny that you sent this email to Lucy?

7 A It appears to be my email.

8 MR. WILSON: Your Honor, we would move to admit this
9 document into evidence as Dondero Exhibit Letter N.

10 THE COURT: Any objections?

11 MR. MORRIS: I would consent to the admission of Mr.
12 Seery's email, but the balance of it ought to be excluded as 13 hearsay.

14 THE COURT: What about that?

15 MR. WILSON: Well, Your Honor, I think that this 16 document -- and I'll get into this in a little more detail in 17 a second -- but I think this document is a combination of the 18 work product of Lucy Bannon and Mr. Seery in preparing a 19 response for the reporter who requested comment from Highland.

20 THE COURT: Okay. I --

21 MR. MORRIS: Your Honor, um, --

22 THE COURT: Go ahead.

23 MR. MORRIS: I just -- I do question how they got 24 this document, but that's for another day. That's number one.
25 Number two, in addition to the hearsay argument, I just --

001487

1 relevance grounds.

2 THE COURT: Okay. I'll allow the portion that is the
3 communication of Seery, that portion of Exhibit N. All right?

4 MR. WILSON: Okay. With due -- thank you, Your 5 Honor. With due respect, I -- to use that portion, I need to 6 refer to the portion below it, because he says, Good to submit
7 with your final edit/revisions. And so we need to know what 8 those final edit/revisions are, which are contained in the 9 email directly below that on the document that was four 10 minutes earlier in time.

11 THE COURT: All right. Fair enough. That'll be 12 allowed.

13 MR. WILSON: All right. Thank you, Your Honor.

14 (James Dondero's Exhibit N is received into evidence as 15 specified.)

16 MR. WILSON: So, Bryan, now can you scroll to the 17 next page? Oh, actually, let's just -- let's just stop at the 18 top -- at the bottom of the page. What's this statement?

19 BY MR. WILSON:

20 Q So, to be clear, Mr. Seery, when -- in response to Mr.
21 Khaderi's request for information and comment, you prepared
22 actually two responses, and one of those was a statement on 23 the record attributed to a spokesperson for HCMLP or something
24 along those lines. And then --

25 MR. WILSON: Can you scroll down to that next page?

1 BY MR. WILSON:

2 Q And this says -- I think part of this got cut off for some
3 reason, but it looks like the official statement is in 4 quotation marks. It says, "We dispute the allegations made in 5 the filing and believe the underlying claims are invalid and 6 will be found to be without merit. Our focus continues to be 7 treating all valid claims in a transparent, orderly, and 8 equitable manner, and vigorously disputing meritless in the 9 court. That focus will assure that HCMLP's reorganization
10 process -- progress is towards an efficient and equitable 11 resolution."

12 And then below that there's another section of this email
13 that says, Background/Clarification, Not for Attribution. And 14 do you know the purpose of this second section of the 15 response?

16 A Do I know the purpose of that? Yes.

17 Q And what would that purpose be?

18 A Ms. Bannon was speaking on background to reporters. As I
19 said earlier, I've -- I never heard of the gentleman from 20 London. If he's at the bottom of the email, I didn't pay any 21 mind, never heard of him. Nor have I heard it since. Ms.
22 Bannon didn't ever reference the specific person.

23 But she is the public relations person. So, as I
24 testified earlier, she does communicate with the press. And 25 as I previously testified when Mr. Morris questioned me, one

1 of our tactics and our defenses for HarbourVest was going to
2 be that we were going to be very public and aggressive about
3 the investment and it would have a negative impact or negative
4 perspective for viewers, in our opinion, about HarbourVest's
5 investment.

6 Q All right. Well, look with me in the middle of that
7 paragraph right after the closed parenthetical, where it says,
8 "But it's important to note the background of HarbourVest's
9 active and deep involvement in the investment of which it now
10 complains."

11 And so it was your position that HarbourVest had an active
12 and deep involvement in the investment, correct?

13 A No. I don't think that's correct. Ms. Bannon prepared 14 the statement, it was a litigation defense on background, and 15 that's our -- that was our position for this purpose. It was 16 not my view that they were active and deeply involved. They 17 were certainly involved. There's no doubt about it. But they 18 got all their information, in our estimation and our research,
19 from Highland.

20 Q But in any event, you would agree with me that four 21 minutes after receiving this email, you approved this 22 statement to go out to the reporter, correct?

23 A No, that's not correct. That's -- this portion is on 24 background. That statement doesn't go out. The previous 25 statement was the official statement. This is the background

1 discussion that she would have. So, no, she was not
2 authorized in any way whatsoever to send that out. She was
3 authorized to have conversations with those general facts.

4 MR. WILSON: Okay. Bryan, go to the top, or the 5 bottom of the page immediately preceding that. That's it.
6 Yes, that's it right there.

7 BY MR. WILSON:

8 Q Now, you'll see that this email from Lucy Bannon on 9 September 15, 2020 at 10:29 p.m. starts off, "Jim, let me know
10 what you think of the below. And, again, the first would be 11 on the record and the second will be sent for information
12 purposes to ensure accuracy, not for attribution."

13 So the intent was that this -- that this entire statement
14 be sent to the reporter, correct?

15 A I don't believe that's correct. I think when she goes on 16 background she doesn't send them a written doc. It's got to 17 be clear to the reporter, at least my understanding is that 18 what on background means -- I've been involved with this
19 before -- is that typically that's done orally. I don't know
20 if she's done it in a written statement before. I have never 21 seen that done in a written statement before. You give the 22 official statement and then you walk the reporter through your 23 other views on background. And you're not quoted. And it's 24 usually attributed to a source with knowledge.

25 Q Okay. We'll come back to that in a minute. The next

1 sentence after the one I just read to you --

2 MR. WILSON: Go back to where we were on the
3 background.

4 BY MR. WILSON:

5 Q Now, we just read you the sentence that starts with, "Then
6 it's important." The following sentence says, "HarbourVest
7 was not simply invested in HCLOF as an ignorant,
8 unsophisticated, passive investor, but was an active and 9 informed participant in the inception of its investment
10 through all of the Acis bankruptcy proceedings, and 11 HarbourVest played a material role in various outcomes related
12 to that case and its impact on HCLOF."

13 And is it -- did you not just tell me before we 14 investigated this document that HarbourVest did not play a
15 material role in the various outcomes of the Acis bankruptcy?

16 A I don't know exactly what I said, but I think that's 17 correct, after we'd done the research on it, yeah.

18 Q But you took the position in this email that you approved
19 to go out to a reporter that says that -- that HarbourVest was 20 an active and informed participant in the inception of -- of 21 its investment through all of the Acis bankruptcy proceedings
22 and played a material role in various outcomes related to that 23 case and its impact on HCLOF. Can we agree with that?

24 A Yes.

25 Q And then the final sentence of this paragraph says that,

1 We believe that neither the facts nor the law support
2 HarbourVest's, quote, We-were-too-lazy-to-know allegations.

3 Whose words were those, "We-were-too-lazy-to-know
4 allegations"?

5 A I don't recall. They may be mine. It's aggressive the 6 way I am, so that -- that may well be the case.

7 MR. WILSON: All right. Go -- go down to the next
8 page.

9 BY MR. WILSON:

10 Q And with respect your comment that that second paragraph 11 would not have gone to the reporter, look at this email in the 12 middle of the page from Lucy Bannon to Syed Khaderi, September
13 16, 2020, at 1:51 a.m. And --

14 MR. MORRIS: Your Honor, this I will object to as 15 hearsay. There is no witness here to testify to anything on 16 this document.

17 THE COURT: All right. How about that?

18 MR. WILSON: Well, it's -- well, scroll up just a 19 little bit. This email at the top of the page is three 20 minutes after the one in the middle of the page, where Lucy
21 Bannon is forwarding this to James Seery, saying, See below
22 for responses sent to Creditflux. Will follow up with the 23 story when it runs or with any other updates.

24 MR. MORRIS: Your Honor, these --

25 MR. WILSON: So I think this --

1 MR. MORRIS: These documents don't appear on the
2 witness list. They're not being offered to impeach anything.
3 They're just -- he's taking discovery as we sit here.

4 MR. WILSON: Your Honor, in response, I'm simply 5 trying to rebut the statements that Mr. Seery made. In fact,
6 he told me just a minute ago that that second paragraph would 7 not have gone out to the reporter. However, this email from 8 Lucy Bannon to Syed Khaderi directly rebuts that statement.

9 THE COURT: But your whole purpose in this line of 10 questioning, with an undisclosed document, is to rebut the 11 earlier testimony he gave before you even put this exhibit in 12 front of him.

13 MR. WILSON: I'm trying to rebut multiple statements
14 that Mr. Seery has made today, and I think it -- you know, if 15 he's going to testify that this information did not go out to 16 a reporter, I think I'm allowed to rebut that to demonstrate 17 that it did.

18 THE COURT: All right. Why didn't you disclose this
19 in advance? It's feeling less and less like an impeachment
20 document the more we go through it.

21 MR. WILSON: Your Honor, I did not -- I did not
22 actually have this document at the time we filed our witness
23 and exhibit list, but I would also say that I didn't have any 24 purpose to use it if I didn't need it for rebuttal.

25 THE COURT: Okay. First off, you're supposed to

1 disclose all exhibits you anticipate using except those for
2 purposes of impeachment. Okay? Not rebuttal, to be 3 technical.

4 So, if you didn't disclose this exhibit, the only way you
5 can use it, subject to other possible objections, is if you're
6 impeaching a statement. And I'm just saying I think we're
7 going beyond trying to impeach the original statement and now
8 we're trying to impeach statements he's made after seeing 9 portions of the document.

10 What did you mean, you didn't have this document in time
11 to disclose it?

12 MR. WILSON: Well, I actually just received this 13 document this morning, Your Honor.

14 THE COURT: Where did you receive it from?

15 MR. MORRIS: From who?

16 MR. WILSON: I -- I honestly do not know the source
17 of this document, although it was provided to me by my client.

18 MR. MORRIS: Your client being Mr. Dondero?

19 THE COURT: Could you answer that, Mr. Wilson?

20 MR. WILSON: Yes, that's -- yes, that's correct.

21 THE COURT: All right. I will -- that's --

22 MR. MORRIS: Your Honor, I'd like to --

23 THE COURT: That's a different can of worms. But for 24 now, I sustain the objection. You're done questioning on this 25 document.

1 MR. WILSON: That's fine, Your Honor. I can move on.

2 BY MR. WILSON:

3 Q Now, Mr. Seery, you would agree with me that whether or
4 not HarbourVest played an active role in the Acis bankruptcy,
5 it was kept apprised of the -- of the ongoings in the 6 bankruptcy? (Pause.) I'm sorry. Could you hear that?

7 A Yes. My understanding is that -- that they were.

8 Q And in fact, did Highland have weekly conference calls
9 with HarbourVest during the Acis bankruptcy to discuss what 10 was going on in the bankruptcy?

11 A I don't know if they were weekly. I've been told that 12 they had regular calls updating HarbourVest, yes.

13 Q Okay. And did Highland produce over 40,000 pages of 14 documents to HarbourVest related to the Acis bankruptcy?

15 A I'm not aware of that, no.

16 Q Have those documents been provided to you?

17 A I hope not.

18 Q So, in your role --

19 A I'm sorry. I don't -- I didn't receive 40,000 documents
20 from anybody.

21 Q Well, did you receive any number of documents that were 22 provided by Highland to HarbourVest during the Acis
23 bankruptcy?

24 A I wasn't involved in this during the Acis bankruptcy. I'm 25 sorry.

1 Q Well, I'm referring to, after you became involved in this
2 Highland bankruptcy, whether you were provided with these
3 documents that were sent from Highland to HarbourVest.

4 A I don't -- I don't know what the documents are. I've 5 reviewed tons of documents with respect to the HarbourVest
6 claims, but I don't know of the documents to which you're 7 referring.

8 Q Okay. And after you performed your investigation into the 9 HarbourVest claim, what was your opinion as to the cause in 10 the reduction in value of HarbourVest's investment in HCLOF?

11 A I think the main cause of the reduction in the investment
12 was the imposition of the Trustee and the failure of Highland 13 HCLOF and then subsequently with the injunction to reset the 14 CLOs.

15 You know, these are -- these are some of the worst-
16 performing CLOs in the market because they weren't reset. And 17 when the liabilities of the CLOs are set at a level to match
18 assets, and then liability -- the assets run off, and the 19 asset financings or the new deals come in at much lower 20 levels, and the obligations of the CLO are not reset, the 21 arbitrage that is the CLO shrinks. And that's what happened
22 to these CLOs.

23 Q And during the course of the Acis bankruptcy, Acis and 24 Brigade were given management responsibilities over the CLOs
25 and HCLOF, correct?

1 A I believe that the Trustee had the overall, and then
2 subsequently, with the confirmation of the plan, they took it
3 over. So I think that ultimately Mr. Terry had the management
4 authority, full management authority, and some advice through 5 Brigade. But I think technically it wasn't actually during 6 the Chapter 7. The Chapter 7 proceeding, I believe that Mr.
7 Phelan had the actual authority.

8 (Echoing.)

9 Q I'm sorry. And so your testimony is that Mr. Phelan had 10 the actual authority but he delegated that authority to Josh
11 Terry and Brigade?

12 A I think that's fair, yes.

13 Q And do you know when that occurred?

14 A I believe that the control of the CLOs was in July of 15 2018, and then the ultimate confirmation of the case was at 16 the very beginning of '19.

17 Q So, after being instituted as portfolio manager, and 18 during the time when Acis and Brigade were working under the 19 direction of the Trustee, who would have receive the fees for 20 managing those portfolios?

21 A I believe -- I don't know. I believe the -- that the Acis
22 estate would have received those fees.

23 Q And who -- and so is that your testimony, that prior to 24 confirmation the Acis estate would have received the 25 management fees?

Seery - Cross

82

1 A I believe that -- I believe they would have if they were
2 the manager, yeah.

3 Q Okay. And who would have received the fees after
4 confirmation?

5 A Acis.

6 Q Okay. And who would have had the discretion to set the 7 amount of those management fees?

8 A They would be agreed to in the -- in the investment
9 management agreement.

10 Q They would be agreed to?

11 A Yes. As far as I've seen, I've -- I haven't seen 12 unilateral ability of a manager to set fees at its -- at its 13 whim.

14 Q So is it your understanding that Acis and Brigade ended up
15 charging substantially more fees than Highland had charged
16 when it was under Highland's management?

17 A I think the fees were -- the fees were -- the fees were 18 set by the agreement.

19 MR. MORRIS: Your Honor, I just object to the line of 20 questioning on relevance grounds. This is a 9019 hearing,
21 Your Honor. How -- I just don't think this has any relevance
22 at all.

23 THE COURT: All right. Mr. Wilson, what is the 24 relevance?

25 MR. WILSON: The relevance is that Mr. Seery has 001499

1 testified that these Acis CLOs were among the worst-performing
2 in the market, and frankly, we would agree with that, and I'm
3 trying to get his understanding as to why, because I think
4 there's direct relevance in the reason that the value of the 5 HarbourVest investment diminished.

6 MR. MORRIS: I don't think that was his testimony,
7 Your Honor. But at the end of the day, Your Honor has heard
8 the litany of reasons why the Debtor is entering into this
9 agreement. I just, I just think it's irrelevant, Your Honor.

10 THE COURT: All right. Mr. Wilson, I barely think
11 this is relevant. I mean, I'm going to give you some benefit
12 of the doubt on that because of, you know, the testimony that 13 HarbourVest lost $50 million of value and --

14 (Echoing.)

15 THE COURT: -- maybe that shouldn't, you know, lie at 16 the feet of Highland. I think the compromise reflects that 17 they don't -- it doesn't lie entirely at the feet of Highland.
18 But, you know, maybe two or three more questions.

19 MR. WILSON: Yes. Thank you, Your Honor. And I
20 didn't have very much more on this point. But to be a hundred 21 percent honest, I can't remember my question right before the 22 objection.

23 THE WITNESS: I think you were asking me about the 24 fees and somehow alluding or implying that the manager could 25 unilaterally set fees.

1 The fees are set in the investment management contract.

2 The manager doesn't get to wake up on Wednesday and say, you
3 know, I'd like another half a basis point. It doesn't work
4 that way.

5 BY MR. WILSON:

6 Q But you would agree with me that the fees and expenses
7 charged to an investment would impact the performance of that
8 investment in the market?

9 A Absolutely.

10 Q Would you also agree with me that there was one CLO -- and
11 I think you referred to it in your direct testimony -- but CLO
12 7, which continued to be managed by Highland?

13 A That's correct.

14 Q And is it fair to say that CLO 7 exceeded the performance
15 of the CLOs that were managed by Acis and Brigade?

16 A I think that's fair. I don't -- I don't recall the 17 magnitude, but I think it's outperformed those -- those CLOs,
18 yes.

19 Q All right. Well, thank you. I want to turn your 20 attention to the portion of the settlement agreement that 21 deals with voting of the HarbourVest claim. How did 22 HarbourVest's commitment to vote for the plan become a part of 23 the settlement?

24 A Pretty straightforward negotiation. We -- in negotiating
25 the settlement, one of the key factors was the cost and

1 expense of the litigation, in addition to the risk on the --
2 on the fees, and whether we could wrap this up in a global
3 settlement now. So in my experience, it's fairly typical, we
4 would try to do this in every settlement, have the settling
5 party, be that the claimant, agree to support the case and the 6 plan.

7 You know, we did not do that with the Committee members,
8 although we wanted to. (Echoing) I frankly still wish I had.
9 Those little -- little bits that have been difficult
10 (echoing). The Committee members have a different interest in 11 (echoing) than their more global interest for creditors at 12 large, which is more difficult than traditionally in 13 bankruptcy cases, less likely to have a Committee member, a 14 sitting Committee member, actually support the (echoing) of 15 the plan.

16 THE COURT: Mr. Wilson, could you be careful to put 17 your device on mute every time you're not talking? Because 18 we're getting some feedback loop from you when Mr. Seery
19 answers your questions. Okay?

20 (Echoing continues.)

21 THE COURT: Like right now. I'm hearing feedback of 22 my own voice through your speakers.

23 Right, Mike? Isn't that what --

24 A VOICE: I am, too.

25 THE COURT: Yes. Okay. So please be sure you put

1 your device on mute whenever you are not speaking. All right.
2 Go ahead.

3 BY MR. WILSON:

4 Q I mean, I think you just answered this question, but there
5 was -- there was no similar voting provision in the Acis or 6 the Redeemer settlements, correct?

7 A There is not, no. And just as a -- by way of explanation,
8 if it's okay, the reason was my counsel advised against it. I
9 did ask for it.

10 Q Your counsel advised against putting that voting
11 requirement in the Acis and Redeemer settlements?

12 A For the reasons I stated. And in my experience, that's 13 consistent, where sitting members of Committees don't 14 generally sign up to resolve their own claims and support the 15 plan because of their larger fiduciary duties to the creditor
16 body as a whole.

17 Q And during the settlement negotiations of the HarbourVest
18 claim, was this commitment to vote a topic of discussion?

19 A Not -- not particularly, no. It was pretty clear that 20 HarbourVest, if they were going to agree to the settlement and 21 the numbers, could see structure. Obviously, it wanted to 22 understand what the potential distributions would be under the 23 plan, but this was not a hotly-negotiated point.

24 Q And would you consider HarbourVest's commitment to vote
25 for the plan an important part of the settlement?

Seery - Cross

87

1 A I think it's an important part of the settlement, that the
2 part of the settlement is the subordinated claim. We could
3 put that into presumably any plan. But our plan does -- does
4 have a Class 9 for that. So I think it's a -- it's a part of
5 the settlement that is important or we wouldn't have included
6 it. It clearly wraps everything up and moves us towards
7 confirmation.

8 Q And would you have made the deal with HarbourVest if they 9 had pushed back on the commitment to vote for the plan?

10 A Yeah, I would have.

11 Q All right. Thank you.

12 MR. WILSON: No further questions.

13 THE COURT: All right. Mr. Draper, anything from 14 you?

15 MR. DRAPER: Yes, Your Honor.

16 CROSS-EXAMINATION

17 BY MR. DRAPER:

18 Q Mr. Seery, I may not understand the settlement, and I
19 apologize, but the way I think the settlement reads, the 20 interest that you're acquiring, you have the right to place in 21 any entity. Is that my -- is that correct?

22 A I don't recall the -- the specifics, but just from a
23 structural standpoint, we wanted to be able to put it into a 24 subsidiary as opposed to putting it directly in HCMLP. If we 25 couldn't do that, we would -- we would put it into HCMLP. So

001504

1 there wasn't a -- I don't recall the actual specifics, but we
2 certainly thought about holding that interest in a -- in a
3 subsidiary, just to have a cleaner hold.

4 Q Why aren't you putting it into the Debtor so the Court and 5 the estate have jurisdiction over that?

6 A I think the Court certainly has jurisdiction over an
7 entity that the estate owns a hundred percent of. I don't
8 think that's -- that's even a close call. So the important --

9 Q Now, --

10 A Can I finish?

11 Q Sure.

12 A You asked me why. To the extent that somebody thinks that
13 problematic, I will consent to the Court having complete
14 jurisdiction over it, since I control it a hundred percent.

15 Q No. The real reason is, if I remember correctly, Mr.
16 Dondero and Judge Lynn filed a motion to have some say or some 17 information as to sales by subsidiaries, and I think you took 18 the position that they weren't entitled to it. And so my 19 concern was that putting this in a subsidiary in a sense gave 20 you unfettered control without any review of the item.

21 A I don't -- I don't think that's the case where we --
22 there's a directly-held subsidiary where we own a hundred
23 percent of it. I don't think that that's the case.

24 Q Okay. But you're willing to (a) put this into the Debtor,
25 number one; and number two, have the estate and have the Court

1 have complete control over the disposition of it and its
2 actions, correct?

3 A That's not correct, no.

4 Q What -- what is incorrect about my statement?

5 A The debtor-in-possession has control of its assets. The 6 Court doesn't have complete control over its assets. There's 7 --

8 Q Well, --

9 A -- issues -- hold on a second. This is not -- this is not
10 a game and a trap. We put it in a subsidiary for specific 11 reasons. You asked why. I'm giving you the why. It's not to 12 hide it from anybody. We're not going to sell the asset
13 unless somebody comes up with a great price for it. We're 14 going to monetize the assets. We're going to control HCLOF by 15 a majority.

16 Q But, again, the issue is, if it's in the estate, the Court
17 has supervision over it. If it's not in the estate, the Court
18 has no supervision of it.

19 A I don't think that's correct, because the Court has 20 supervision over the estate, which owns a hundred percent of 21 the special-purpose entity that will own the shares.

22 Q Okay. All right. Now, let's talk about the $15 million
23 that you discussed and the legal fees that were incurred. Is 24 that the total amount that was spent, or is -- or is that --
25 was the total amount $30 million and HarbourVest was only

1 responsible for one half of it or functionally took the brunt
2 of one half of it?

3 A I think the total amount is between $15 and $20 million.
4 I don't have the exact numbers.

5 Q So, in fact, the HarbourVest loss due to its ownership
6 would have been one half of that, not $15 million?

7 A Well, the vehicle lost the money. HarbourVest owned 49.98
8 percent of it, and Highland controlled the rest. So if you
9 allocate it that way, I suppose that would be a -- that's how 10 you would divide it, in -- roughly in half, yes.

11 Q And so HarbourVest's actual dollar loss due to the legal 12 fees is really the 49-point-whatever percent of $15 million,
13 not $15 million?

14 A I don't know if -- I certainly would argue that. I don't 15 think that HarbourVest has that position.

16 Q Okay. Now, in connection -- you were asked a question
17 about the documentation that was provided by Highland to 18 HarbourVest both during the bankruptcy of Acis and before.
19 You have control over the Harbour -- over the Highland server,
20 correct?

21 A I'm sorry. Can -- can we do two things? One is, Mr.
22 Draper, I can't see you, so it would be better if I could see
23 you during the questioning.

24 Q Okay.

25 A And could you repeat the question?

1 Q All right. I'll be happy to. You were asked a question
2 about the documentation that was provided by Highland to
3 HarbourVest during the Acis bankruptcy and meetings that took
4 place between the parties. Correct?

5 A Yes.

6 Q And you stated you were unaware of the material that was 7 sent over?

8 A I think I testified that I didn't receive the 40,000
9 documents that were mentioned.

10 Q Did you do any search or order a search of the Highland 11 server to see what material was sent over by any party to 12 HarbourVest to analyze what -- what information they had 13 available to them and what was provided to them?

14 A Yes, we did a search.

15 Q And did you review the documentation that was sent over?

16 A The -- the documentation that we looked at was very 17 specific to the investment and to the OM. So we didn't look 18 for the -- the supposed 40,000 documents, no.

19 Q Did you look for the material that was provided to them
20 during the Acis bankruptcy and the periodic meetings that you
21 discussed? Or that you testified to earlier?

22 A The answer is no.

23 Q One last question. I think, and just so I understand your 24 testimony, you've broken out the HarbourVest claim into two 25 pieces. One is the legal fee amount that we've just

1 discussed, and I gather the other piece of that is the fraud
2 in the inducement to enter into the CLO purchase?

3 A It's -- it's more -- it's much more than that.

4 Q Okay. Well, let me say it in a different way. The other
5 part of it is the losses as a result of the fraud in the 6 inducement to purchase the interest?

7 A I don't think that's -- that's fair. If I could explain?

8 Q Sure.

9 A Yeah. The legal fee piece is pretty clear. The other
10 piece starts with fraud in the inducement, but it's extensive
11 fraud claims. Fraud in the inducement, as I testified
12 earlier, would get them around the exculpation and liability
13 limitations in the OM. You don't get around all of those with 14 just the fraud. And so that's -- that's the split of that 15 claim. So the fraud in the inducement contains fraud
16 allegations. Even if you didn't have inducement, you'd have 17 other potential fraud claims.

18 Q But let me state it in a different fashion. But for the 19 investment, the fraud that you allege wouldn't have occurred?

20 A I -- HarbourVest alleges it.

21 Q No, I'm just -- in your analysis of the claim, but for the 22 inducement, the rest of the damages wouldn't have flowed?

23 A That's HarbourVest's position, yes. But for the fraud,
24 they wouldn't have made the investment.

25 Q All right.

Seery - Redirect

93

1 MR. DRAPER: I have nothing further for this witness.

2 THE COURT: All right. Any redirect, Mr. Morris?

3 MR. MORRIS: Just a few very questions, Your Honor.

4 Just a very few questions.

5 REDIRECT EXAMINATION

6 BY MR. MORRIS:

7 Q Mr. Seery, you were asked about that document that Lucy
8 prepared. Do you remember that?

9 A Yes, I do.

10 Q In your experience, don't defendants often deny liability
11 before entering into settlements, or even worse, getting 12 adverse judgments entered against them?

13 A Of course. Yes.

14 Q Okay. And in response to Mr. Draper's questions, isn't 15 the Guernsey claim another claim that the Debtor took into 16 account in assessing the potential risks of this settlement?

17 A There's a number of claims contained in it. As I
18 mentioned earlier, I mentioned the RICO claim. But there is a 19 Guernsey shadow director claim, which is not dissimilar to 20 U.S. claims that somebody effectively controls an enterprise,
21 notwithstanding them not having the official role.

22 Q Okay.

23 MR. MORRIS: I have nothing further, Your Honor.

24 THE COURT: All right. Any recross on that redirect?

25 All right.

001510

Seery - Redirect

94

1 MR. WILSON: No, Your Honor.

2 MR. DRAPER: No, Your Honor.

3 THE COURT: Thank you. Mr. Seery, that concludes
4 your testimony. Thank you.

5 THE WITNESS: Thank you, Your Honor.

6 THE COURT: We need to take a bathroom break. Before
7 we do, I just want to be clear with what we have left. As I
8 understood it, we were having Mr. Pugatch from HarbourVest.
9 Mr. Morris, will that conclude the Debtor's evidence?
10 (Pause.) Okay. You were on mute, but I think you were saying
11 yes.

12 MR. MORRIS: Sorry. But to be clear, Debevoise is 13 going to be putting their witness on the stand.

14 THE COURT: Okay.

15 MR. MORRIS: But it's part of the evidence in support
16 of the motion.

17 THE COURT: All right. Do the Objectors have any 18 witnesses today?

19 MR. WILSON: Your Honor, Mr. Dondero intends to 20 examine Mr. Pugatch, but if he's going to be called by his 21 counsel, then we will do that as a cross-examination.

22 THE COURT: All right.

23 MR. DRAPER: This is Douglas Draper. I have no
24 witnesses.

25 THE COURT: Okay. All right. Well, I'm asking --

001511

1 well, I do want to ask: Can we get a time estimate
2 potentially for Mr. Pugatch?

3 MS. WEISGERBER: For my examination, Your Honor,
4 twenty minutes, perhaps.

5 THE COURT: Okay.

6 MS. WEISGERBER: Or less.

7 THE COURT: All right. Well, let me tell you what
8 we're going to do. We're going to take a ten-minute bathroom
9 break. But I have a 1:30 hearing and I have a 2:00 o'clock.
10 Well, I have a 1:30 docket, multiple matters, and a 2:00
11 o'clock docket. So, you know, I'm really intending that we 12 get finished in time to give me and my staff a little bit of a
13 lunch break before launching into the 1:30 docket, so I'm 14 hopeful we can get done around 1:00-ish. If we can't, then 15 we're going to have to reconvene, I'm going to say probably 16 3:00-ish Central time. So let's hope we can get through 17 everything. All right? Ten-minute break.

18 THE CLERK: All rise.

19 (A recess ensued from 11:58 a.m. until 12:08 p.m.)

20 THE CLERK: All rise.

21 THE COURT: All right. Please be seated. We're 22 going back on the record in the Highland matters. Do we have 23 everyone? It looks like we do. Ms. Weisgerber is going to 24 call the next witness; is that correct?

25 MS. WEISGERBER: Yes, Your Honor. We call Michael

Pugatch - Direct

96

1 Pugatch of HarbourVest to the stand.

2 THE COURT: All right. Mr. Pugatch, if you could
3 turn on your video and say, "Testing one, two."

4 MR. PUGATCH: Two.

5 THE COURT: All right. There you are. Please raise
6 your right hand.

7 MICHAEL PUGATCH, HARBOURVEST'S WITNESS, SWORN

8 THE COURT: Thank you. You may proceed.

9 MS. WEISGERBER: Thank you, Your Honor.

10 DIRECT EXAMINATION

11 BY MS. WEISGERBER:

12 Q Good morning. Can you please state your name for the 13 record?

14 A Sure. It's Michael Pugatch.

15 Q And where do you work, Mr. Pugatch?

16 A HarbourVest Partners.

17 Q And what is your title?

18 A I'm a managing director in our secondary investment
19 group.

20 Q Did HarbourVest file claims in the Highland bankruptcy,
21 Mr. Pugatch?

22 A We did, yes. Several claims, in fact.

23 Q What was the basis for those claims?

24 A Yeah. Among other things, fraudulent inducement based on 25 misrepresentations and omissions on the part of Highland in

001513

1 connection with our original investment, mismanagement at the
2 HCLOF level, including inappropriate fees that were charged
3 to investors, among a number of other items as well.

4 Q Can you explain what you mean by misrepresentations made
5 to HarbourVest by Highland?

6 A Yeah, sure. So, you know, based on a number of 7 statements that were made to us around the litigation
8 involving Mr. Terry, some of the intentions found, the 9 structural changes that came to light with respect to HCLOF
10 and our investment, as well as the fact that the arbitration
11 award specifically against Mr. Terry would have no impact or 12 implication on Highland's sale or business.

13 Q And can you explain what you mean by omissions made by 14 Highland to HarbourVest?

15 A Sure. So I would say, really, the implications behind
16 the structural changes that were made at the time of our 17 investment into HCLOF. Also, the intention, clear intentions
18 that Highland had to never, in fact, pay the arbitration
19 award that came to light during our due diligence period to 20 Mr. -- to Mr. Terry as part of the investment. And 21 ultimately the -- what Highland went about doing in terms of 22 stripping assets of Acis that led to the material value
23 declines and destruction of value that we've experienced
24 since our investment.

25 Q You mentioned a diligence period. Did HarbourVest

1 conduct diligence on the investment?

2 A We did. We conducted very detailed due diligence, as we
3 do for all of our investments. That diligence period lasted
4 several months ahead of our investment decision.

5 Q And did HarbourVest conduct that diligence by itself?

6 A No. So, in addition to internal investment professionals
7 at HarbourVest, we engage with outside advisors, both
8 consultants as well as legal advisors, in connection with 9 that due diligence.

10 Q And did Highland answer all of HarbourVest's questions
11 during that diligence period?

12 A They did. And they were numerous. But yes, they 13 answered all the questions that we had for them.

14 Q Was the Terry dispute part of HarbourVest's diligence?

15 A It was. That came up as one of the outstanding items of 16 litigation as part of our due diligence.

17 Q I'm going to ask my colleague to pull up on the screen an 18 exhibit that was on our exhibit list as Items -- Exhibits 34
19 and 35. It's an August 15, 2017 email from Brad Eden to 20 Dustin Willard. Mr. Pugatch, do you recognize this document?

21 A I do, yes.

22 Q And what is it?

23 A This was an email sent to us during our due diligence
24 period in response to a request for more information on the 25 outstanding litigation that Highland was involved with.

Pugatch - Direct

99

1 MS. WEISGERBER: And if my colleague can just scroll
2 to the attachment to that email.

3 BY MS. WEISGERBER:

4 Q And do you recall the attachment as well, Mr. Pugatch?

5 A Yes, I do.

6 MS. WEISGERBER: And if you can scroll back up to the 7 first email.

8 BY MS. WEISGERBER:

9 Q Who is Dustin Willard?

10 A Yes. Dustin is a colleague of mine at HarbourVest who 11 worked closely with me on this investment.

12 Q And you said that this document was shared with 13 HarbourVest during the diligence period before the HCLOF
14 investment?

15 A It was, correct.

16 Q Is it typical during diligence to receive a description
17 of litigation such as this?

18 A It is. It's a question that we always ask. Certainly a
19 component of our diligence to understand any outstanding
20 litigation on the part of our counterparty or manager that 21 we're investing in.

22 MS. WEISGERBER: Your Honor, I'd move to offer this 23 exhibit into evidence.

24 THE COURT: Any objection?

25 MR. DRAPER: No objection, Your Honor.

001516

Pugatch - Direct

100

1 MR. MORRIS: No objection from the Debtor, Your
2 Honor.

3 THE COURT: All right. What is the letter or number
4 for this exhibit?

5 MS. WEISGERBER: It's HarbourVest Exhibit 34.

6 THE COURT: All right. So HarbourVest Exhibit 34 is 7 admitted.

8 (HarbourVest's Exhibit 34 is received into evidence.)

9 THE COURT: And I need to be clear where it appears
10 on the docket. Can someone tell me?

11 MS. WEISGERBER: So, it's identified on our exhibit
12 list, not -- it's not attached to the exhibits. It is on the 13 docket. We were -- when we initially filed the exhibit list,
14 we were working out confidentiality issues. But it was 15 subsequently filed with our reply last night. It's at Docket
16 No. 1735 --

17 THE COURT: All right.

18 MS. WEISGERBER: -- at Pages A -- Pages A345 to A350.

19 THE COURT: All right. Very well. Thank you.

20 BY MS. WEISGERBER:

21 Q Mr. Pugatch, we'll just scroll down to the second page of 22 the attachment. Can you describe generally what the 23 litigation says regarding the Terry dispute?

24 A Yes. Generally speaking, this dispute was described as 25 an employee dispute, employment agreement dispute, with Mr.

001517

1 Terry, who was a former employee of Highland involved in
2 their CLO business, and is described by Highland to us really
3 having to do with a series of false claims, in their opinion,
4 but having to do with a disgruntled former employee.

5 Q And did it strike you as an unusual or significant
6 dispute?

7 A No. I would say we often -- we'll see, you know, former 8 employees with, you know, claims against a former employer in 9 connection with wrongful termination. I wouldn't say it's 10 extremely common, but certainly not entirely out of the 11 ordinary. And based on the explanations that we'd received
12 from Highland, seemed to be more of an ordinary-course type
13 former employee litigation suit.

14 Q Based on what you now know about the Terry dispute, do
15 you believe that this was an adequate disclosure regarding 16 the dispute?

17 A I would say very clearly not, you know, based on the 18 facts that came to light subsequently, the various rulings in 19 connection with the Acis bankruptcy case. What was very 20 clearly not stated are the actual facts and implications of 21 the ongoing litigation with Mr. Terry.

22 MS. WEISGERBER: I'd ask my colleague to put up the 23 next exhibit. Okay. So, this is on a HarbourVest exhibit
24 list, which is Document No. 1723. It's Exhibit 36 on that.
25 Same issue with respect to initially not filed, but it is on

3 THE COURT: Page what?

4 MS. WEISGERBER: A351.

5 THE COURT: A351. Thank you.

6 MS. WEISGERBER: You're welcome.

7 BY MS. WEISGERBER:

8 Q Mr. Pugatch, I just put up a November 29, 2017 email from 9 Hunter Covitz to Dustin Willard, Michael Pugatch, and Nick
10 Bellisario. Do you recall this document?

11 A I do, yes.

12 Q And what is this document?

13 A This was an email sent to us by Highland a couple weeks
14 after we closed on our investment on the (inaudible) in 15 response to a Wall Street Journal article that had come out
16 regarding Highland, a number of actions that they had taken,
17 and what Highland was articulating to us, a number of false
18 claims that had been made about Highland's prior actions, and 19 specifically trying to explain some of that and also share
20 with HarbourVest a letter that was being sent to the editor
21 of the Wall Street Journal highlighting, in their view, some 22 of the inaccuracies around the reporting.

23 Q And did you receive this document?

24 A We did, yes.

25 MS. WEISGERBER: I'd move to offer this, so

001519

Pugatch - Direct

103

1 HarbourVest Exhibit 36, into evidence.

2 THE COURT: Any objections?

3 MR. WILSON: Your Honor, John Wilson. I would object
4 as to the relevance of this document.

5 THE COURT: All right. What's your response?

6 MS. WEISGERBER: Your Honor, it shows
7 misrepresentations that the witness will testify how it
8 relates back to prior representations prior to HarbourVest's
9 investment, as well as misrepresentations at that time.

10 THE COURT: Okay. I overrule the objection. I'm 11 going to admit it.

12 (HarbourVest's Exhibit 36 is received into evidence.)

13 BY MS. WEISGERBER:

14 Q Mr. Pugatch, can you describe generally -- we spoke about 15 this a little bit -- just what this communication from 16 Highland was conveying to HarbourVest at the time?

17 A Yes. Specifically, again, responding to this Wall Street
18 Journal article that had been published, trying to defend,
19 again, Highland's own views why there were inaccuracies in 20 the reporting. But importantly, from our perspective, trying 21 to reassure us as to the fact that, you know, these 22 accusations would have no bearing and any results from it
23 would have no bearing on their ongoing business or 24 partnership or the investment that we had made in HCLOF.

25 MS. WEISGERBER: And if you can scroll to the second

001520

1 page.

2 BY MS. WEISGERBER:

3 Q We'll just look at the last paragraph of another email
4 from Mr. Covitz. Can you just read that first sentence of 5 the last paragraph?

6 A Sure. (reading) While the dispute has no impact on our
7 investment activities, as always, we welcome any questions
8 you may have.

9 Q Mr. Pugatch, was this email and the discussion regarding 10 the Terry dispute consistent with the representations made to 11 you prior to HarbourVest's investment into HCLOF?

12 A It was, yes. Both the message, the lack of any impact
13 that ultimately the dispute with Mr. Terry, the arbitration
14 award would have around Highland's ongoing CLO business, or 15 HCLOF specifically, was all, you know, very clear in this 16 document, but all consistent with the representations that 17 had been made to us leading up to our investment in the 18 middle of November 2017 as well.

19 Q Thank you.

20 MS. WEISGERBER: And you can take down the exhibit,
21 Emily. Thank you.

22 BY MS. WEISGERBER:

23 Q You mentioned, Mr. Pugatch, an arbitration award to Mr.
24 Terry. How did you learn about that arbitration award?

25 A That was initially disclosed to us by Highland as we were

1 in the late stages of our diligence and closing process on
2 the investment into HCLOF.

3 Q And generally, what did Highland tell you about the
4 arbitration award?

5 A We were aware of its existence. We were aware of the 6 quantum of the award, I think it was around an $8 million
7 arbitration award in the favor of Mr. Terry, and that was 8 following the litigation around the wrongful termination and 9 employee dispute that Highland had described to us
10 previously.

11 Q Did you ask to see a copy of the arbitration award?

12 A No, we did not.

13 Q Why not?

14 A Ultimately, we -- you know, the explanations that 15 Highland had provided to us all seemed very reasonable. We 16 relied on their representations that this was, again, nothing
17 more than a dispute with a former disgruntled employee, in 18 their words, that had no bearing or, you know, would not have 19 any bearing on our investment in HCLOF or their ongoing CLO
20 business, which all very clearly was not the case, as 21 we've -- as we've learned over the last several years.

22 Q Following learning about the arbitration award, did
23 HarbourVest do other diligence?

24 A We did. So, in addition to asking questions related to 25 the arbitration award and any impact that it would have, we

Pugatch - Direct

106

1 also spent some time diligencing a couple of structural
2 changes that were proposed by Highland, and, in fact, ended
3 up delaying the closing of our investment by about two weeks
4 as we vetted some of those structural changes that Highland
5 had proposed. Vetted those both, you know, internally with 6 Highland directly and with external counsel in order to make
7 sure that those structural changes were in fact legally sound
8 in ultimately making our investment.

9 Q And were those changes proposed following the arbitration
10 award?

11 A They were, yes.

12 Q Did Highland tell you the reason for the structural 13 changes?

14 A Yeah. So, so some of this -- and specifically, this 15 involved a change of the portfolio manager at the HCLOF level
16 that was really in connection with a rebranding as Highland
17 was going through a rebuild of its CLO business and wanting 18 to align, from a brand perspective, their business on an 19 ongoing basis with the Highland brand as opposed to the Acis
20 brand. But more specifically, in the case of a late change
21 from a structured standpoint, the -- part of the intention
22 and the investment thesis of HCLOF was to pursue a reset, a
23 refinancing of all the underlying CLOs as they approached the 24 end of their investment period or came out of their 25 investment period.

001523

1 And in connection with that, in light of the arbitration
2 award, Highland's view was that there may be difficulties in 3 the market in resetting certain of those Acis CLOs with the 4 Acis brand associated with them, given, again, the existence
5 of the arbitration award and concerns in the market around
6 the Acis brand reputation.

7 Q And what did they tell you was the market view of Acis,
8 or the Acis brand?

9 A Yeah. Their view or their concern was that the, you
10 know, because of the existence of that arbitration award, the 11 brand would be viewed as toxic.

12 Q Didn't this put you on notice that perhaps there was 13 something wrong with the structural changes?

14 A I mean, we -- I mean, short answer, no. We ultimately 15 asked questions, we diligenced the legal structure, but 16 relied on the representations that were made to us by 17 Highland around the rationale for the structural changes,
18 that these are all changes that were within a Highland-
19 managed vehicle or sat below the vehicle that we were 20 investing in, and so ultimately were in Highland's purview,
21 was the representations that we relied on.

22 Q And did HarbourVest alone do that diligence of the 23 structural changes?

24 A So, no. I mean, in connection with the diligence that we 25 did internally and with Highland directly, we engaged with

Pugatch - Direct

108

1 outside counsel who was working with us at the time to vet
2 those structural changes as well.

3 Q Did HarbourVest rely on Highland's representations
4 regarding the arbitration award and the structural changes in 5 making its investment in HCLOF?

6 A We did, absolutely.

7 Q If Highland had disclosed the nature of the structural 8 changes, of removing Acis as the portfolio manager and 9 related transfers, would HarbourVest have proceeded with its
10 investment?

11 A Definitively, no, we would not have.

12 Q Why not?

13 A I think the reality is if we had understood the intent,
14 you know, that Highland was ultimately undertaking here, we 15 would not have wanted to be any part of this, and certainly 16 getting dragged into all of this, the hassle, the value
17 destruction that we've seen on behalf of the investors and 18 the funds that we manage. And I would say, lastly, we just 19 full stop would not have done business with a firm who 20 engages with this type of behavior, had we actually known the 21 truth.

22 Q Mr. Pugatch, are you familiar with the bankruptcy that 23 followed of Acis?

24 A Yes.

25 Q And what was your -- or, did HarbourVest participate in 001525

1 that bankruptcy?

2 A So, initially, no. Subsequently, we ended up getting
3 dragged into that on account of a number of misstatements by 4 Highland about the role that HarbourVest had played as part
5 of our investment into HCLOF and some of that structure and 6 the structural changes that I alluded to.

7 Q How did HarbourVest learn about those misstatements in 8 the bankruptcy about HarbourVest's role?

9 A So, ultimately, those came to light on -- you know, on 10 account of the ongoing proceedings within the Acis bankruptcy
11 process, and specifically brought to light to us by the Acis
12 trustee at the time, who decided to pursue, you know, further
13 diligence or discovery around the claims that Highland had 14 made around HarbourVest's involvement in those changes.

15 Q And what is your understanding of what the allegations
16 were that caused the Acis trustee to investigate HarbourVest?

17 A Sure. So, you know, our understanding was that Highland
18 had made statements, again, false statements that HarbourVest
19 had actually instructed some of those structural changes,
20 that we were the ones that had said that we would not do
21 business with Acis and had ordered some of the underlying 22 transfer of assets or, again, structural changes, that, you
23 know, very clearly I would say were not the case. Also, that 24 HarbourVest was -- was calling the shots as it relates to any 25 of the ongoing management or future resets of the CLOs.

Pugatch - Direct

110

1 Q Did HarbourVest instruct any of those structural changes
2 or transfers to occur?

3 A We did not. Absolutely not.

4 Q Why didn't HarbourVest itself appear in the Acis
5 bankruptcy and file a claim?

6 A Yeah. HarbourVest's role, again, in HCLOF, we were a
7 passive investor in a Highland-managed company. We had no
8 direct interaction with or relationship with Acis. There was 9 really no reason for us to be directly involved until we were 10 subsequently dragged into involvement on account of those 11 misstatements. And then at that point our focus really
12 pivoted to, you know, whether we needed to defend ourselves
13 against those accusations that had been made by Highland and 14 after a request for further information in discovery by the 15 Acis trustee.

16 Q Did HCLOF participate in the Acis bankruptcy?

17 A They did, yes.

18 Q Did HCLOF incur fees for participating in the Acis
19 bankruptcy?

20 A Yes. In fact, very meaningful fees, to the tune of well
21 in excess of $15 million of legal fees, as we understand it,
22 that have been incurred, largely in connection with the 23 ongoing Acis bankruptcy and Highland's continued pursuit of 24 and in connection with the litigation with Mr. Terry, which 25 we firmly believe was entirely inappropriate that HCLOF and 001527

Pugatch - Direct

111

1 ultimately investors in HCLOF bear those expenses, which were 2 not just expenses of HCLOF but of Highland and a number of
3 other Highland affiliates.

4 Q Do those expenses form a basis of separate claims filed
5 by HarbourVest against Highland?

6 A They do, yes. One of the multiple claims that we had 7 filed against Highland.

8 Q And a few more questions, just for the record, Mr.
9 Pugatch. How much did HarbourVest initially invest in HCLOF?

10 A Sure. So, our initial investment in November of 2017 was 11 right about $73-1/2 million, I believe.

12 Q Did HarbourVest invest any additional money in HCLOF?

13 A We did. There was a subsequent capital call investment
14 of about $5 million, bringing our total investment to just 15 under $80 million in aggregate.

16 Q When HarbourVest initially made the investment, did it
17 anticipate making a profit on it?

18 A We did, yes.

19 Q How much did HarbourVest anticipate earning from the 20 investment?

21 A Yeah. So, our -- based on the original $73-1/2 million
22 investment, we had expected a total return of about $137
23 million on that -- on that investment.

24 Q What was that projection based on?

25 A So, that projection was based on materials that we had 001528

Pugatch - Direct

112

1 received from Highland, their internal projection models on
2 the future performance of the underlying CLOs that we were 3 acquiring exposure to through our investment in HCLOF, and 4 was one of the inputs or formed the basis in connection with 5 our diligence that we ultimately ran different sensitivities
6 -- projections around and helped employ -- helped inform our 7 investment thesis.

8 Q Do you know the current value of HarbourVest's investment
9 in HCLOF?

10 A Yes. The current value is right around $22-1/2 million.

11 Q So roughly how much has the investment itself decreased
12 from HarbourVest's initial investment?

13 A So, net of what was about $4-1/2 million of distributions
14 that we received early on in the investment, we've lost, to 15 date, in excess of $50 million on our original investment.

16 Q And just for -- to close out, Mr. Pugatch, knowing all
17 that you know, if HarbourVest had known that -- about the 18 nature of the transfers by Acis or Highland's intent with 19 respect to the arbitration award, would HarbourVest have made
20 this investment?

21 A No. The reality is, had we known the truth, or even had 22 a sense of the truth, the true intentions behind some of 23 those transfers and ultimately what would have happened, we 24 never would have made this investment, full stop.

25 Q Thank you, Mr. Pugatch.

001529

1 THE COURT: All right. I didn't hear you, Ms.
2 Weisgerber. Do you pass the witness?

3 MS. WEISGERBER: Yes, I pass the witness.

4 THE COURT: All right. Thank you.

5 Mr. Morris, any examination from you?

6 MR. MORRIS: No, thank you, Your Honor.

7 THE COURT: All right.

8 (Interruption.)

9 THE COURT: All right. I'm not sure whose voice that 10 was, but please, again, mute your devices when you're not 11 talking.

12 Any cross-examination of Mr. Pugatch? I'll start with 13 you, Mr. Wilson.

14 MR. WILSON: Yes, Your Honor.

15 THE COURT: Okay.

16 CROSS-EXAMINATION

17 BY MR. WILSON:

18 Q How are you -- I guess we're afternoon now. How are you
19 this afternoon, Mr. Pugatch?

20 A I'm doing well. Yourself?

21 Q I'm doing well as well. Do you recall that on Monday of 22 this week I took your deposition?

23 A Yes, I do.

24 Q And so you understand that my name is John Wilson and I
25 represent Jim Dondero, who has filed an objection to the 9019

1 motion filed by the Debtor?

2 I've got a few questions for you today. Has HarbourVest
3 been around for over 35 years?

4 A We have, yes.

5 Q And does HarbourVest have ten offices around the world?

6 A Correct, yes.

7 Q And does HarbourVest employ over 150 investment
8 professionals?

9 A Yes.

10 Q Does HarbourVest have over $74 billion in assets under 11 management?

12 A Correct, yes.

13 Q And is HarbourVest's client base largely comprised of 14 institutional investors?

15 A Also correct.

16 Q And you would agree with me that HarbourVest is a
17 sophisticated investor, right?

18 A I would, yes.

19 Q How long have you worked for HarbourVest?

20 A I've been employed by HarbourVest for 17 years now.

21 Q And how long have you been a managing director?

22 A I've been a managing director for approximately six
23 years.

24 Q And you were, in fact, the managing director for the 25 investment that HarbourVest made in Highland CLO Funding,

1 Ltd., which has been referred to today as HCLOF, correct?

2 A I was, correct.

3 Q And HarbourVest, I think you just testified, invested
4 approximately $73 million as its initial investment in HCLOF?

5 A Yes, correct.

6 Q And before HarbourVest made that investment, it had made
7 many investments of this type, correct?

8 A Yeah. We've made hundreds of investments into 9 partnerships over our history, correct.

10 Q So HarbourVest was well-experienced in evaluating and 11 deciding whether to invest in large investments, correct?

12 A It was, yes.

13 Q Now, in your -- and by your, I mean HarbourVest -- in the 14 response to the Debtor's omnibus objection, it says that by 15 summer 2017 HarbourVest was engaged in preliminary
16 discussions with Highland regarding the investment. Is that 17 a correct statement?

18 A Correct, yes.

19 Q And, in fact, those talks began in the second quarter of 20 2017, correct?

21 A Yes.

22 Q And so the investment closed ultimately on November 15th,
23 2017?

24 A Yes, that's correct.

25 Q So it's fair to say that HarbourVest considered and

1 evaluated this transaction for over six months before
2 investing its $73 million, right?

3 A From the time of the initial conversations that we had
4 with Highland, yes.

5 Q And one of the reasons that it took over six months to
6 complete the investment is that HarbourVest performs due
7 diligence before it makes an investment, correct?

8 A Correct.

9 Q And when you're performing due diligence -- well, first
10 off, you would agree with me that that's a common practice
11 amongst sophisticated investors such as HarbourVest, correct?

12 A To perform due diligence?

13 Q Yes.

14 A Yes.

15 Q And describe -- describe what HarbourVest does in a
16 general sense when it performs its due diligence.

17 A Sure. So, we spend time with the manager -- in this 18 case, Highland -- certainly around the investment thesis, the 19 opportunity, receive materials around the underlying assets.
20 We take that and perform our own independent due diligence
21 around the value of those assets, perform due diligence on 22 the manager itself, the go-forward opportunity. In many 23 cases, and certainly in this case, engage with outside
24 advisors to assist with that due diligence. It's a very 25 robust and thorough process.

1 Q And by outside advisors, are you referring to the outside
2 counsel that you testified about earlier?

3 A Yes. Both outside counsel and outside consultants.

4 Q Okay. And so did you say that it's typical to engage
5 outside counsel when performing due diligence?

6 A Yes.

7 Q And which outside counsel did you retain with respect to 8 this due diligence?

9 A Debevoise and Plimpton as well as Milbank.

10 Q And during the course of HarbourVest's due diligence, did
11 it identify some items of concern?

12 A As with any investment, there are always items that are 13 identified that require further diligence, risks that are 14 identified that we look to mitigate through our due
15 diligence, et cetera.

16 Q And if Harbour -- I'm sorry, did you say something else?

17 A No.

18 Q You were finished? Okay. Now, if HarbourVest identifies 19 an item of concern, is it typical to request additional 20 information regarding those items of concern?

21 A It is, yes.

22 Q And so that actually happened with respect to the HCLOF
23 investment, correct?

24 A In certain cases, yes.

25 Q HarbourVest identified several litigation matters that it

1 had questions about, correct?

2 A Correct. As we would with any investment.

3 Q And it went back to Highland and asked them to explain
4 their position on those litigation matters?

5 A Correct.

6 Q And one of those litigation matters was the Joshua Terry
7 litigation, correct?

8 A Yes.

9 Q And at the time that HarbourVest was considering this
10 investment, beginning in the second quarter and continuing
11 through the summer, that Josh Terry litigation had not 12 resulted in an award or a final judgment, correct?

13 A Correct.

14 Q And I think we looked earlier at a document that your 15 counsel admitted as HarbourVest Exhibits 34 and 35. There
16 was an email from a HarbourVest -- or, I'm sorry, from a
17 Highland representative to a HarbourVest representative that 18 was discussing Highland's position on the litigation,
19 including the Terry litigation, correct?

20 A Are you referring to the document that we looked at 21 earlier?

22 Q I am. And I can put it on the screen if we need to.

23 A No. Right, I recall that, and yes, that's correct.

24 Q Okay. And just to be clear, that document, which stated
25 Highland's positions on the -- and summaries of the

1 litigation, was issued months before the arbitration award to
2 Josh Terry, correct?

3 A I don't remember the exact timing, but it was certainly 4 during our due diligence period and prior to the arbitration
5 award, yes.

6 Q Well, it seems to me that that email that you -- your
7 counsel admitted as an exhibit was issued in August of 2017.
8 Does that sound right to you?

9 A If that's what the email said, yes.

10 Q And if the Terry arbitration award came out in October,
11 then you would agree with me that that is several months
12 prior to the -- or at least two months prior to the 13 arbitration award?

14 A Yes.

15 Q And so when HarbourVest made requests of Highland to 16 provide information regarding its items of concern, Highland
17 complied with those requests, correct?

18 A It did, correct.

19 Q And was there ever a time when HarbourVest requested
20 Highland to provide information and that information was not 21 provided?

22 A Our requests for information, or at least, you know,
23 responses or color to a question, were always met either
24 with, you know, written or verbal communication back to us,
25 yeah.

1 Q And you would agree with me that, in fact, HarbourVest
2 delayed the closing of the investment by two weeks to
3 continue its due diligence, correct?

4 A Correct, related to the structural changes that were made
5 close to closing. That's right.

6 Q And after conducting that due diligence, HarbourVest
7 satisfied itself that the investment was sound?

8 A That the legal structure that had been put in place in 9 connection with those proposed changes by Highland was -- was 10 legally sound, yes, and on the back of, again, statements and 11 misrepresentations on the part of Highland around the nature
12 and potential impact to their ongoing CLO business and HCLOF.

13 MR. WILSON: Well, I'm going to object to the latter
14 part of your response as nonresponsive.

15 THE COURT: Sustained.

16 BY MR. WILSON:

17 Q Now, after you conducted the due diligence, HarbourVest
18 made the investment of $73 million on November 15th, 2017,
19 correct?

20 A Correct.

21 Q And so I think you testified earlier that prior to that
22 investment HarbourVest had become aware that that Josh Terry
23 litigation had resulted in an arbitration award, correct?

24 A Yes.

25 Q But I think you've also testified that HarbourVest did

1 not request that Highland provide a copy of the arbitration
2 award, correct?

3 A That's correct.

4 Q And you further testified that you were represented by
5 outside counsel at the time, correct?

6 A Correct.

7 Q And as of Monday of this week, you had not reviewed that
8 arbitration award; is that correct?

9 A That's correct.

10 Q Have you reviewed that arbitration award since Monday of 11 this week?

12 A I have not.

13 Q But in any event, you testified that Highland told you
14 about the award?

15 A Yes.

16 Q And they told you the amount of the award?

17 A Yes.

18 Q And then they told you that the award had been converted
19 to a judgment?

20 A When you say the award had been converted to a judgment,
21 can you be more specific?

22 Q Well, I don't know how familiar you are with the 23 litigation process, but in this instance, that award was 24 taken to a court and the court entered a judgment on the 25 arbitration award. Did you -- were you aware of that?

1 A I don't recall the specific legal terms of judgment
2 against it. I was award of the existence of the arbitration
3 award and the -- and the obligation for Highland to comply
4 with that arbitration award.

5 Q And HarbourVest did not make an appearance in the Acis
6 bankruptcy, right?

7 A We did not.

8 Q But you were aware of the Acis bankruptcy, correct?

9 A Yes.

10 Q And you were kept apprised of the Acis bankruptcy by 11 Highland individuals, correct?

12 A We had conversations with a couple of Highland
13 individuals throughout the Acis bankruptcy process, yes.

14 Q Right. And in fact, you testified that you participated
15 in regular conference calls with Highland regarding that 16 bankruptcy?

17 A That's correct, yes.

18 Q And do you recall having been provided with over 40,000
19 documents by Highland related to the Acis bankruptcy?

20 A I do not recall that, no.

21 Q Would those documents have been provided to your outside
22 counsel, had you received them?

23 A I don't know the answer to that.

24 Q Did the outside counsel that represented you in the due
25 diligence continue to represent you throughout the Acis

1 bankruptcy?

2 A They did. One of the counsels did, correct.

3 Q And which counsel was that?

4 A Debevoise.

5 Q So was your counsel actively involved with monitoring the 6 Acis bankruptcy?

7 A They were, yes, particularly after we were ultimately
8 accused of having something to do with the original structure
9 and -- as a result of misstatements by Highland.

10 Q Did your counsel attend hearings in the Acis bankruptcy?

11 A I don't recall.

12 Q Are you familiar with the PACER system?

13 A I am not.

14 Q Now, I think that HarbourVest has been described as a
15 passive investor. You recall that description of HarbourVest
16 in this instance?

17 A Yes.

18 Q But, in fact, HarbourVest invested substantial assets
19 such that it owned a 49.98 percent share of HCLOF. Would you 20 agree with that?

21 A That's correct.

22 Q And in fact, the next largest investor was CLO Holdco,
23 which owned 49.02 percent of the shares, correct?

24 A That sounds right.

25 Q And there was an advisory board that was created pursuant

1 to the formation documents of this investment, correct?

2 A That's correct.

3 Q And in fact, that advisory board only had two members,
4 and one was a representative of HarbourVest and one was a
5 representative of CLO Holdco, correct?

6 A Correct.

7 Q And the advisor -- I'm sorry, the portfolio manager was 8 not allowed to disregard the recommendations of the advisory 9 board, correct?

10 A With respect to the limited set of items that the 11 advisory board could opine on, that is correct.

12 Q All right. I want to go over a couple of the 13 misrepresentations that HarbourVest has identified in its 14 filings related to its claim. The first one is -- and just 15 for the record, I'm reading from Docket No. 1057 filed on 16 September 11, 2020, HarbourVest Response to Debtor's First 17 Omnibus Objection.

18 But the first misrepresentation identified in that 19 document says that Highland never informed HarbourVest that 20 Highland had no intention of paying the arbitration award.
21 And was -- was Highland obligated to pay the Josh Terry
22 arbitration award against Acis?

23 MR. MORRIS: Objection to the question to the extent
24 it calls for a legal conclusion.

25 THE COURT: Sustained.

1 MS. WEISGERBER: Join in that objection.

2 THE COURT: Sustained. I think --

3 BY MR. WILSON:

4 Q Your understanding was --

5 MR. WILSON: I'm sorry, Judge?

6 THE COURT: I sustained the objection as calling for 7 a legal conclusion. So, next question.

8 MR. WILSON: Yes, I -- I heard that. Thank you, Your 9 Honor.

10 BY MR. WILSON:

11 Q In your understanding, was Highland responsible for 12 paying the arbitration award to Josh Terry?

13 A My understanding is on the account of the fact that Acis
14 --

15 MS. WEISGERBER: Objection, Your Honor. Objection,
16 Your Honor, same basis.

17 THE COURT: Sustained. It was essentially the same
18 question.

19 MR. WILSON: Well, Your Honor, I didn't ask --

20 THE COURT: It was essentially the same question, Mr.
21 Wilson. Move on.

22 MR. WILSON: Okay.

23 BY MR. WILSON:

24 Q The next misrepresentation identified by HarbourVest said
25 that Highland did not inform HarbourVest that it undertook

1 the transfers to siphon assets away from Acis, LP and that
2 such transfers would prevent Mr. Terry from collecting on the
3 arbitration award. So the basis for that allegation would be 4 that Highland was siphoning assets from Acis to avoid having
5 Acis pay the arbitration award, correct?

6 A That -- that would be the implication, yes.

7 Q Okay. And then that misrepresentation continues on and 8 says that Highland represented to HarbourVest that it was 9 changing the portfolio manager because Acis was toxic. And 10 do you recall that representation being made to you?

11 A Yes, I do.

12 Q And would you agree with me that whether or not Acis is 13 toxic in the industry would be an opinion?

14 A I suppose it would be an opinion, but by the manager of 15 the vehicle responsible for managing the HCLOF investment and 16 the underlying CLOs. Yeah, we viewed the Acis name and the 17 Highland name as synonymous, if you will. I mean, Acis was a 18 subsidiary of Highland. For all intents and purposes, it was 19 the same from our perspective as we made the investment into
20 HCLOF.

21 Q So did HarbourVest have an independent understanding of 22 whether or not the Acis name was toxic in the industry?

23 A We did not, no. We relied on Highland's views of that as 24 manager of HCLOF.

25 MR. WILSON: Your Honor, just a brief housekeeping

1 item. Did you say that we need to be done at 1:00 o'clock?

2 THE COURT: Well, I said I really wanted you to be
3 done by 1:00 o'clock because I have a 1:30 docket and a 2:00
4 o'clock docket and I'd rather not have to hang up 70-
5 something people and reconnect them again at 3:00 o'clock.
6 How close are you to being finished?

7 MR. WILSON: Well, --

8 THE COURT: This is going at a very slow pace.

9 MR. WILSON: Well, I apologize for that, Your Honor.
10 I think I've got at least ten more minutes, but -- but I know
11 we also have closing remarks. And I was just going to ask if 12 Your Honor had a preference of --

13 THE COURT: Keep going.

14 MR. WILSON: -- of breaking now --

15 THE COURT: Keep -- let's --

16 MR. WILSON: -- or keep going? Okay.

17 THE COURT: Let's talk fast and try to get through.
18 You know, even if I'm sacrificing lunch today, I don't want
19 to inconvenience 75 people this way. So we'll just probably 20 start our 1:30 hearing a little late and inconvenience those 21 people.

22 All right. Go ahead.

23 MR. WILSON: All right. Thank you, Your Honor.

24 BY MR. WILSON:

25 Q Did Acis form its -- I can't recall if you answered this

1 question, but did Acis form its own opinion on whether or not
2 -- I'm sorry, strike that. Did HarbourVest form its own
3 opinion on whether or not the Acis name was toxic in the 4 industry?

5 MS. WEISGERBER: Objection, --

6 THE WITNESS: We did not. We didn't have a basis.

7 THE COURT: I'm sorry, did I have an objection?

8 BY MR. WILSON:

9 Q You did not --

10 THE COURT: Did I have an objection?

11 MS. WEISGERBER: Yeah. Objection. Yes. Objection,
12 asked and answered, Your Honor.

13 THE COURT: Overruled. He can answer.

14 BY MR. WILSON:

15 Q Okay. But --

16 A We did not.

17 Q Did Highland have the ability to investigate the Acis
18 name and make its own determination of whether that name was 19 toxic? I'm sorry, I think I'm misspeaking. HarbourVest.

20 A HarbourVest had the ability to do that, yes.

21 Q I apologize I misspoke. I meant HarbourVest. Did 22 HarbourVest have the ability to investigate that name and 23 determine if it was toxic?

24 A It was irrelevant to our investment thesis. And as I
25 said before, Acis was a subsidiary of Highland. We viewed

1 them as interchangeable in the context of our investment.

2 Q Okay. The next misrepresentation that you refer to says
3 that Highland indicated to HarbourVest that the dispute with 4 Mr. Terry would have no impact on its investment activities.
5 Would you agree with me that that is also an opinion?

6 A It was a statement that --

7 MS. WEISGERBER: Your Honor, I'm going to object to 8 the extent these questions are seeking a legal conclusion
9 regarding, you know, if something's an opinion or not.

10 THE COURT: Okay. Overruled. He can answer.

11 THE WITNESS: It was -- it was a statement that was 12 made to us by Highland and represented in multiple different
13 formats as fact. And a representation that we relied on in 14 connection with our investment.

15 BY MR. WILSON:

16 Q And finally, the misrepresentation, the last
17 misrepresentation identified, is that Highland expressed
18 confidence in the ability of HCLOF to reset or redeem the 19 CLOs. Would you agree with me that that statement is an 20 opinion?

21 A On the basis that it was the core investment thesis of 22 the -- of the investment of HCLOF. Again, whether that's 23 legally viewed as an opinion or a fact, it was -- it was 24 certainly the investment thesis that we made the investment
25 predicated upon.

1 Q And you just testified that you thought that Acis and
2 Highland were interchangeable from the perspective of the 3 investment opportunity, correct?

4 A Correct.

5 Q But you also accepted Highland's recommendation because 6 HarbourVest agreed that the change in the -- to a Highland
7 manager made commercial sense, correct?

8 A We took at face value what Highland recommended because 9 this all had to do with the structuring of an entity that 10 they fully managed with respect to multiple underlying 11 subsidiaries that weren't managed by Highland.

12 Q But would you agree that, at the time, you -- HarbourVest
13 thought that made commercial sense?

14 A It did not seem unreasonable to us based on the 15 explanation we were given.

16 Q Okay.

17 MR. WILSON: I want to refer to HarbourVest Exhibit
18 39.

19 (Pause.)

20 THE COURT: What are we waiting on? What are we 21 waiting on?

22 MR. WILSON: I'm trying to get the document on the 23 screen, Your Honor.

24 (Pause.)

25 THE COURT: We can't hear you. We can't hear you.

1 MR. WILSON: I'm sorry. I'm sorry, Your Honor. I'm 2 speaking with my --

3 THE COURT: Okay.

4 MR. WILSON: -- co-counsel here.

5 THE COURT: All right.

6 (Pause.)

7 MS. WEISGERBER: Mr. Wilson, is it 39 or 38 that 8 you're referring to?

9 MR. WILSON: 39. HarbourVest 9019 motion on the 10 main -- on the Dondero file. And then there's the -- it's -- 11 it's John -- and then there's the HarbourVest, and then the 12 exhibits are all in one file.

13 MS. WEISGERBER: Mr. Wilson, I'll just note that 39
14 was subject to confidentiality based on HCLOF's request.
15 HCLOF's counsel is present. I think they know it's an 16 excerpt. But I'd just -- that for HCLOF's counsel.

17 MR. WILSON: Well, is there an objection to showing
18 this document on the screen? Yes. All right. We're not 19 going to put Document 39 on the screen.

20 A VOICE: Yes.

21 MR. WILSON: All right. Scroll down to the next
22 page.

23 BY MR. WILSON:

24 Q This is a -- this is a document that was produced to us
25 this week, the Highland production. It appears to be a

1 Highland CLO Funding, Ltd. Statement of Operations for the 2 Year Ended 31 December 2017. Do you see at the top of that --
3 at the top of that document where it says total investment
4 income of $26 million?

5 A I do, yes.

6 Q And total expenses were roughly $1.8 million?

7 A Yes.

8 Q And then net change and unrealized depreciation on 9 investments and net realized loss on investments was $4.26
10 million cumulative, resulting in a net increase in net assets
11 resulting from operations of $20.224 million. Do you agree
12 with that?

13 A Yes.

14 Q Okay.

15 MR. WILSON: Go to the next one.

16 BY MR. WILSON:

17 Q And you understand that, in the course of the Acis
18 bankruptcy, the portfolio managers for certain of the CLOs
19 were changed by the Trustee, correct?

20 A Yes, around the underlying CLOs. That's -- that's my 21 understanding, yes.

22 Q And, in fact, Mr. Seery testified earlier today that that 23 occurred in the summer of 2018, correct?

24 MR. WILSON: Scroll.

25 THE WITNESS: I don't recall the timing, but that's

1 what he testified to.

2 BY MR. WILSON:

3 Q Well, this document is HarbourVest Exhibit 40, and this is
4 the statement of operations for the financial year ended 31
5 December 2018. Here, the total investment income is only
6 $11.1 million. Do you see that?

7 A I do.

8 Q And do you see where the expenses have increased to $13.6
9 million?

10 A I do, yes.

11 MR. WILSON: Okay. Scroll down some more.

12 BY MR. WILSON:

13 Q And do you see where it says net change and unrealized
14 loss on investments of $48.47 million?

15 A Yes.

16 Q And so after Acis and Brigade took over the managements of 17 these CLOs, we had a net decrease in net assets resulting from 18 operations of $52.483 million in the year 2018, correct?

19 MS. WEISGERBER: Objection, Your Honor. Assumes a
20 fact not in evidence.

21 THE COURT: Overruled. He --

22 MR. WILSON: Your Honor, --

23 THE COURT: We're just looking at this statement and 24 testifying about it says, so I overrule the objection.

25 MR. WILSON: Thank you, Your Honor. Thank you, Your

1 Honor. I'm now going to turn to HarbourVest Exhibit 41. All
2 right. I'll --

3 BY MR. WILSON:

4 Q Did you answer the question, Mr. Pugatch?

5 A No, I -- I would agree with the second part of your
6 statement that for the year 2018 the -- the loss was $52
7 million. I don't -- I don't believe that jives with the first
8 part of your statement that that was after Acis and Brigade
9 took over. As I understand, that was in the middle of the 10 year.

11 Q But in any event, Acis and Brigade had been managing this 12 for at least six months of 2018 when that loss occurred,
13 correct?

14 A They had been managing a portion of the underlying CLO
15 portfolio held by Highland CLO Funding.

16 Q All right. We're now looking at Exhibit #41, which is the 17 Draft Unaudited Statement of Comprehensive Income, 31 December
18 2019. Total income has now dropped to $4.664 million.

19 MR. WILSON: And scroll down.

20 BY MR. WILSON:

21 Q Expenditures are at $3.645 million. And then it says
22 investment gains and losses net out to $11.493 million, a
23 negative $11.493 million. And --

24 MR. WILSON: Scroll down to the --

25 BY MR. WILSON:

1 Q And so would you agree with me that in the year 2019,
2 HCLOF showed a net loss of $10.476 million?

3 A Yes, that's what the financial statements say.

4 Q And in this year, the Acis CLOs were solely managed by 5 Acis and Brigade, correct?

6 A The Acis CLOs were. Yes, correct.

7 Q All right.

8 MR. WILSON: Now, go to 42.

9 BY MR. WILSON:

10 Q Now, this is HarbourVest #42.

11 MR. WILSON: Go down to the next page.

12 BY MR. WILSON:

13 Q And this is the Highland CLO Funding, Ltd. Unaudited
14 Condensed Statement of Operations for the Financial Period
15 Ended 30 June 2020. And so this is just half a year of 16 operations. And would you -- and this actually has a
17 comparison between 2019 and 2020. But do you see where it 18 says investment income has dropped from a million dollars in 19 the first half of 2019 to $381,000 in the first half of 2020?

20 A Yes.

21 MR. WILSON: Okay. Scroll down.

22 BY MR. WILSON:

23 Q And do you see where, in the first half of 2019, total
24 expenses were $1.85 million, and then in the first half of 25 2020 total expenses were $2.16 million? Do you see that?

1 A I do.

2 Q And if you go down below that, where it says Net Realized
3 and Unrealized Gain/Loss on Investments, the first half of 4 2019 HCLOF lost $12 million, and in the first half of 2020 it
5 lost $39.472 million?

6 MR. MORRIS: Your Honor, I'm going to object. It's 7 John Morris for the Debtor. I'm happy to stipulate. In fact,
8 he can offer this document into evidence. There's no
9 foundation that Mr. Pugatch has any particularized knowledge
10 about any of the numbers behind this. All he's asking him to 11 do is to confirm what the document says. It says what it
12 says. But this -- I'll object on that basis, Your Honor.

13 THE COURT: All right. Mr. Wilson, what about it?
14 You're just getting him to read numbers off of these exhibits.

15 MR. WILSON: Well, --

16 THE COURT: Shall we just --

17 MR. WILSON: -- I understood --

18 THE COURT: -- by stipulation get them into evidence?

19 MR. WILSON: Well, --

20 MR. MORRIS: No objection, Your Honor.

21 MS. WEISGERBER: No objection.

22 THE COURT: All right. So these are exhibits what?
23 We've gone through 39, 41, and I don't know what else. 40,
24 maybe?

25 MR. WILSON: It was Exhibits 39, 40, 41, and 42 that

1 were on the HarbourVest exhibit list.

2 THE COURT: All right. Those will be admitted, and
3 we've already discussed what docket entry number they appear
4 at.

5 (HarbourVest's Exhibits 39 through 42 are received into 6 evidence.)

7 THE COURT: All right. Anything else? You told me
8 you had 10 more minutes about 15 minutes ago.

9 MR. WILSON: Well, I'm sorry if I -- I think I had 10 said I had at least ten more minutes, and I was looking at the 11 -- it was 10:50 [sic] and you wanted to quit at 1:00. So I do
12 have longer than that. I'm sorry, Your Honor.

13 THE COURT: Well, --

14 MR. WILSON: But --

15 THE COURT: -- I feel like I'm being --

16 MR. WILSON: -- I'll try to proffer --

17 THE COURT: Okay, Mr. Wilson, let me just tell you
18 something. I feel like I'm being disrespected now, and the 19 parties are. We really need to pick up the pace. I've told
20 you I've got a 1:30 docket -- with four or five matters on it,
21 by the way. I've got a 2:00 o'clock docket. I'm starting 22 them late. No one advised my courtroom deputy that we were 23 going to need all day today for this, okay? So you've got 24 five more minutes to wrap it up, and then, of course, I have 25 to go to Mr. Draper and see if he has cross. All right? So

1 please don't test my patience any more. Five minutes to
2 finish.

3 MR. DRAPER: Judge, I have no questions.

4 THE COURT: I didn't hear you, Mr. Draper. What did
5 you say?

6 MR. DRAPER: I have no questions.

7 THE COURT: All right. Very good.

8 MR. WILSON: I apologize, Your Honor. I was actually
9 trying to be respectful of your time when I informed you that 10 I had at least ten more minutes left at 12:50, but I will try
11 to be as expedient as I can as I finish up.

12 BY MR. WILSON:

13 Q And I don't see you on my screen.

14 MR. WILSON: You can take that document down.

15 THE WITNESS: Here.

16 BY MR. WILSON:

17 Q Mr. Pugatch, do you have an opinion as to what caused
18 these incredible losses of value at HCLOF?

19 MS. WEISGERBER: Objection to the extent it calls for 20 a legal conclusion.

21 THE COURT: Overruled. He can answer.

22 THE WITNESS: I would say that there's no one cause
23 for the decline in value. I can point to a number of 24 different things, including the exorbitant fees that were
25 charged to HCLOF, including the inability to be able to re --

1 refinance the CLOs on the part of HCLOF, all of which stems
2 from the actions that Highland took prior to our investment in
3 HCLOF.

4 BY MR. WILSON:

5 Q And you've -- I think it's been referenced several times
6 in HarbourVest's arguments that -- that the reset was a
7 fundamental -- the inability to get a reset was a fundamental
8 cause of the loss in value. Is that -- is that HarbourVest's
9 position?

10 A That -- that is a part of the -- the cause in the 11 declining value of the CLOs, yes.

12 Q And you would agree with me that a reset is fundamentally
13 a reset of interest rates, correct?

14 A Of the interest rates of the liabilities of the -- the 15 timing for repayment of those liabilities, yes.

16 Q Now, just say with -- for the sake of a hypothetical
17 example. If you had a home that was valued at $5 million, or 18 let's just say $500,000, let's make it more realistic. If you
19 had a $500,000 home and you had a mortgage on that home at 20 five percent interest, your inability to refinance that home
21 at a lower interest rate would not affect the underlying value
22 of that home, correct?

23 MS. WEISGERBER: Objection, Your Honor. Hypothetical.
24 And objection to relevance as well.

25 THE COURT: Sustained.

1 MS. WEISGERBER: Calls for speculation.

2 THE COURT: Sustained.

3 BY MR. WILSON:

4 Q Is there any reason to believe that the change in the 5 interest rate would have prevented the massive losses of 6 investment value that occurred in HCLOF?

7 MS. WEISGERBER: Object on the same grounds.

8 THE COURT: Sustained.

9 THE WITNESS: The short -- the short answer is yes,
10 with a -- with the amount of leverage --

11 MS. WEISGERBER: I --

12 THE WITNESS: -- that exists. Oh, sorry.

13 MS. WEISGERBER: The objection was sustained.

14 THE COURT: Yeah, I sustained the objection. That 15 means you don't answer.

16 THE WITNESS: I'm sorry, Your Honor.

17 BY MR. WILSON:

18 Q So, would you agree with me that if the expenses and the 19 fees charged by the portfolio manager increased dramatically,
20 that would -- that would impact the value of the investment,
21 correct?

22 MS. WEISGERBER: Objection on the same grounds, and 23 relevance. This is a 9019 hearing, Your Honor. We are not 24 here to try every minutia. And in fact, we're trying to avoid
25 a trial on the merits. And it feels like we're getting a bit

1 far afield now.

2 THE COURT: I sustain.

3 MR. WILSON: All right. I'll pass the witness.

4 THE COURT: All right. Mr. Draper said he had no
5 cross. So, any redirect, Ms. Weisgerber?

6 MS. WEISGERBER: No, Your Honor.

7 THE COURT: All right. Mr. Morris, did you have any
8 redirect?

9 MR. MORRIS: I do not, Your Honor. I have a very 10 brief closing and then some additional remarks if -- if we 11 finish.

12 THE COURT: All right. So, Mr. Pugatch, that 13 concludes your testimony. Thank you. You're excused if you
14 want to be.

15 All right. So, as I understood it, there would be no more
16 evidence after this.

17 MR. WILSON: Well, Your Honor, along those lines, as 18 a housekeeping measure, I think everything on my exhibit list
19 is included on someone else's exhibit list, but just for belt
20 and suspenders I would move to admit all of the exhibits on 21 the -- on Mr. Dondero's exhibit list.

22 THE COURT: Well, is that agreed or not? Because we 23 didn't have a witness to get them in.

24 MR. MORRIS: No objection, Your Honor.

25 THE COURT: Any objection? All right. If there's no

1 objection, I'll --

2 MR. MORRIS: Your Honor, --

3 THE COURT: I'm sorry. Was there an objection? I
4 will admit Dondero Exhibits A through M, and those appear at 5 Docket Entry 1721, correct, Mr. Wilson?

6 MR. WILSON: That is correct, Your Honor.

7 THE COURT: All right.

8 MR. WILSON: That is correct, Your Honor.

9 (James Dondero's Exhibits A through M are received into 10 evidence.)

11 MR. WILSON: And one final matter is, during the 12 examination of Mr. Seery, you at least partially admitted
13 Dondero's Exhibit N, and I was wondering if we need to -- how 14 we'd need to submit that for the record.

15 THE COURT: Okay. First, I'm confused. I think you
16 said Mr. Terry's testimony. You --

17 MR. WILSON: I said Seery. I'm sorry.

18 THE COURT: Oh, Seery?

19 MR. WILSON: Or I may have said Terry, but I meant to 20 say Seery.

21 THE COURT: Okay. Maybe you said it. Okay. During 22 Mr. Seery's testimony -- oh, the email that I admitted a
23 portion of?

24 MR. WILSON: That is -- that's correct, Your Honor.

25 THE COURT: What -- what are you asking? It's not in

1 your notebook. Are you asking do you need to separately
2 submit it or what?

3 MR. WILSON: Yeah, I was just asking what the Court's 4 preference on how we submit that for the -- put it in the
5 record.

6 THE COURT: Okay. That was so garbled I didn't hear
7 you. You need to file that on the docket as a supplemental 8 exhibit that was admitted, okay?

9 MR. WILSON: Okay. Thank you, Your Honor.

10 THE COURT: All right. Closing arguments? Mr.
11 Morris?

12 CLOSING ARGUMENT ON BEHALF OF THE DEBTOR

13 MR. MORRIS: Yes, very briefly, Your Honor. The 14 Debtor easily meets the standard here. The settlement
15 consideration relative to the claim establishes and reflects
16 the likelihood of success on the merits.

17 You know, I've never -- I did hear Mr. Pugatch in the 18 deposition the other day, but I otherwise haven't heard from 19 him. I found him to be incredibly credible, Your Honor, and I
20 regret the fact that he and HarbourVest are being blamed twice
21 here. The fact that they got 40,000 documents or didn't read
22 the arbitration award, it's just -- it's a shame that they're 23 being dragged through this yet again.

24 The fact is, Your Honor, there is no evidence that they
25 made the disclosures that HarbourVest claims -- complains

1 about. They just don't. The fraudulent transfers led to the 2 bankruptcy, led to the appointment of a trustee, led to --
3 right? So, so it's -- that's why -- but they're getting
4 something for their claim.

5 It was a hard negotiation, Your Honor. There is no
6 dispute that if we litigated this it would be complex. It
7 would fact-intensive. The Debtor would be forced to rely upon
8 witnesses who are no longer employed by it. That it would be 9 expensive, for sure. There's no dispute about any of that.
10 There's no dispute that the creditor body has spoken loudly
11 here by unanimously refraining from objecting except for Mr.
12 Dondero and the entities controlled by him.

13 And you heard Mr. Seery's testimony. I think he 14 exhaustively informed the Court as to the process by which the 15 transaction was analyzed and negotiated, and there's no
16 evidence to the contrary that this was an arm's-length
17 negotiation.

18 Unless Your Honor has any questions, we would request that 19 the motion be granted.

20 THE COURT: Thank you. Ms. Weisgerber, your closing
21 argument?

22 CLOSING ARGUMENT ON BEHALF OF HARBOURVEST

23 MS. WEISGERBER: Sure. Thank you, Your Honor. I'll 24 also be brief. We again join in Mr. Morris's arguments and 25 comments.

1 The Court has now heard testimony from Mr. Pugatch
2 regarding the factual detail underlying HarbourVest's claims.
3 The Court has also heard about the significant damages that 4 HarbourVest stands to recover for those claims. And 5 HarbourVest came to this Court ready to litigate. It would --
6 it's ready to do so if needed. It believes it would prevail
7 on its claims if it had to do so.

8 But the Court also heard from Mr. Seery about his 9 understanding of HarbourVest's claims, his calculus, and his 10 decision to settle them. And we submit that nothing further
11 is needed by this Court in order to approve the settlement.
12 This is a question of the Debtor's business judgment. We're
13 not here to have a trial on the merits of HarbourVest's
14 claims. The Objectors have made various arguments, including
15 about the cause of HarbourVest's damages. But even the nature
16 of the legal claims that HarbourVest is asserting, some do not 17 require a loss causation. So we submit that's not even 18 relevant to the merits of the claims.

19 The settlement is clearly in the best interest of the 20 estate, and we respectfully request that the Court approve it.

21 THE COURT: Thank you. All right. Mr. Wilson, your 22 closing argument?

23 MR. LYNN: Michael Lynn. I will give the closing
24 argument, if that's satisfactory to the Court.

25 THE COURT: All right. Go ahead.

1 CLOSING ARGUMENT ON BEHALF OF JAMES DONDERO

2 MR. LYNN: Good afternoon, Your Honor. I just want
3 to make a few points, and I'll try to do it as quickly as 4 possible.

5 First, I feel compelled to address the argument of the 6 Debtor that Mr. Dondero is repeating his litigious behavior
7 from the Acis case. I don't know about the Acis case. I
8 wasn't involved except very, very peripherally. But with 9 respect to this case, we have only taken positions in court
10 that we believed -- that is, his lawyers -- believed were 11 warranted by law, facts as we knew them, and that are 12 consistent with professionalism. I'd be glad to explain any 13 position we took.

14 Often, through the Debtor's very persuasive powers, we 15 never had the chance to explain our position previously to the 16 Court. In fact, for the most part, as today, we have been 17 reactive rather than commencing proceedings. In fact, during 18 the first seven months of this case, we only appeared in court
19 a few times, when we felt we had to -- for example, when 20 discovery was being sought by the Creditors' Committee that we 21 feared might invade privilege. Then, much to the Debtor's
22 fury, we opposed the Acis 9019. We did so because we thought
23 it was too much.

24 Since, as the Court can see, the principal instigators of 25 litigation have been the Debtor, and to a lesser extent, the

1 Committee.

2 Indeed, in an apparent effort to drown Mr. Dondero and his
3 counsel in litigation, the Debtor has repeatedly sought court
4 action on a very short fuse, claiming need for expedited
5 hearing.

6 Perhaps the most startling example of this is the recent
7 contempt motion, for which there is no good reason for a quick
8 hearing. Resolution of that motion is not necessary to reach
9 the confirmation hearing. The motion could be heard after the 10 confirmation hearing. There is no need to put Mr. Dondero and 11 his professionals in a position where they have to respond in 12 a couple of days, two business days, and then will have two 13 days to prepare for trial.

14 Second, Your Honor, Mr. Seery has repeatedly asserted,
15 contrary to today's motion, that the HarbourVest claim was of 16 no merit. That is why, when he came in to settle for tens of 17 millions of dollars, we opposed this motion. It appears that 18 the motion is occurring without any cross-party discovery.
19 There is no consideration, apparently, of trying dispositive
20 -- dispositive motions first. There is no consideration for 21 junior classes of equity, which Mr. Seery has previously
22 opined were in the money. This, even though there's no reason
23 that this settlement is necessary pre-confirmation, unless Mr.
24 Seery wants HarbourVest's vote.

25 Third, for whatever reason, that seems to be the driving

1 factor for settling. On its face, the vote seems to be a key
2 factor of the settlement. About the longest provision of the 3 settlement agreement relates to voting. The motion itself --
4 in the motion itself, five of seven bullet points cited by the 5 Debtor for approval of the settlement deal with and emphasize 6 support of the plan or the vote that is to be cast for the 7 plan.

8 If the settlement is a good deal, it didn't need to have 9 as one of its parts the requirement that HarbourVest vote for 10 the plan.

11 Your Honor, I'll stop there. I know Your Honor would like 12 to get just a few minutes before your 1:30 docket. I've been 13 there and I understand that, and I do apologize for taking the 14 time we have, but I think that responsibility is shared with 15 the Debtor and HarbourVest.

16 Thank you, Your Honor.

17 THE COURT: All right. Thank you for that.

18 Mr. Draper, any closing argument from you?

19 CLOSING ARGUMENT ON BEHALF OF GET GOOD AND DUGABOY TRUSTS

20 MR. DRAPER: Yes, I have three comments. The first 21 is the claim -- the loss claim, absent the fraud claim, is, at 22 best, $7 million. I think Mr. Seery's argument that a hundred
23 -- one hundred percent is attributable to there is just wrong.
24 If he and I both invested in a company 50-50 and it goes
25 broke, we only lost 50 cents each.

1 Number two, I think the Court heard the evidence. I think
2 this is, at best, a subordinated claim under 5 -- under the 3 Bankruptcy Code. It's really a "But for the 4 misrepresentations, we wouldn't have invested."

5 And the last one is the -- Judge Lynn represented the 6 voting, so I won't deal with that. But the one that troubles
7 me the most is the fact that this asset that is ultimately
8 being paid for in claim dollars that's being transferred over 9 to the Debtor and being put it outside the estate, outside the 10 purview of this Court, and placed in some subsidiary, this --
11 this transaction, if it is approved, must -- should contain a 12 provision that the asset that's being acquired come into the 13 Debtor and be owned by the Debtor.

14 THE COURT: All right.

15 MR. DRAPER: I have nothing further, Your Honor.

16 THE COURT: Thank you, Mr. Draper.

17 Mr. Morris, you get the last word since it's your motion.

18 MR. MORRIS: Very quickly, Your Honor. The 19 subordination argument doesn't hold water. This is not a 20 claim against the Debtor for the security; it's a claim for 21 fraud. Okay? So, so 510(b), if it was a claim against HCLOF,
22 that might make sense, but this is a claim against the Debtor.
23 And it's a Debtor -- it's a claim for fraud. That's number
24 one.

25 Number two, we need to keep this exactly as it's been

1 structured in order to avoid litigation. Mr. Seery told the
2 Court. I'm sure the Court can make its own assessment as to
3 Mr. Seery's credibility as to whether or not the Debtor is 4 intending to somehow get this asset beyond the Court.

5 But there are reasons why we've done this, Your Honor.
6 They could have made an objection on that basis. In fact, if 7 they did, it would be overruled, because there's no -- there's 8 no basis for this Court to find that somehow the Debtor and 9 Mr. Seery are doing something untoward to get assets away from 10 this Court's jurisdiction.

11 You know, I don't know what to say about Mr. Lynn's
12 commentary. Much of it had nothing to do with any evidence in 13 the record.

14 The fact remains, Your Honor, that this settlement is 15 fair. It's reasonable. It's in the best interest of the 16 estate. And we would respectfully request that the Court
17 grant the motion.

18 THE COURT: All right. Thank you. Well, I
19 appreciate all the arguments and evidence I have heard today.
20 I'm going to be brief in my ruling here, but I reserve the 21 right to supplement in a more fulsome written order, which I'm 22 going to instruct Mr. Morris to submit. I am approving the 23 motion to compromise the HarbourVest claim today, and I guess
24 subsumed in that is granting the motion to allow their claim
25 for 3018 voting purposes.

1 I in all ways find this compromise to meet the required
2 legal standard set forth in such cases as TMT Trailer Ferry,
3 AWECO, and Foster Mortgage, numerous other Fifth Circuit
4 cases.

5 First, I'm going to specifically say for the record that I
6 found both witnesses today, Mr. Seery and Mr. Pugatch, to be
7 very credible. Very credible testimony and meaningful
8 testimony was provided to the Court today. And based on that
9 testimony, I find, first, that this compromise was the product
10 of arm's-length negotiations. It was a hard-fought
11 negotiation, as far as I'm concerned. The Debtor objected to 12 these numerous HarbourVest proofs of claim. The Debtor did
13 not want to allow HarbourVest a significant claim for voting
14 purposes. I duly note the statements made in the disclosure
15 statement before this compromise was reached suggesting, you
16 know, the Debtor didn't think HarbourVest should have a large
17 claim.

18 That is consistent with everything I typically see in a
19 bankruptcy case when there's a claim objection. The objector
20 vehemently denies the claimant should have a proof of claim,
21 and then people sit down and think about the risks and rewards
22 of litigating things. And I believe very fervently that's 23 what happened here. There were good-faith, arm's-length
24 negotiations that resulted in this proposed compromise.

25 I find the compromise -- and I'll add to that point, on

1 the good-faith point, I find nothing sinister or improper
2 about the fact that the compromise includes a commitment of 3 HarbourVest to vote in favor of the plan. Again, we see this 4 a lot. You know, there's even a buzz word that doesn't even
5 exist in the Bankruptcy Code: "plan support agreement." You
6 know, we see those a lot -- you know, oftentimes negotiated
7 before the case, but sometimes after. You know, it may be
8 improper in certain situations, but there was nothing here
9 that troubles me about that component of the compromise.

10 I find the compromise to meet the paramount interest of 11 creditors here. Notably, we have very large creditors in this 12 case who have not objected. The Foster Mortgage case from the 13 Fifth Circuit tells me I am supposed to consider support or 14 opposition of creditors. No opposition of UBS. No opposition
15 of the Redeemer Committee Crusader Fund. No opposition from 16 Josh Terry or Acis. No opposition from Daugherty.

17 But moreover, when considering the paramount interest of 18 creditors, I find this compromise to be in all ways fair and 19 equitable and in the best interest of the estate, and 20 certainly within the range of reasonableness. The evidence
21 showed that HarbourVest asserted over $300 million. Over $300
22 million. Granted, that was based on all kinds of legal 23 theories that would be contested and expensive to litigate,
24 but the evidence also showed that they invested over $70
25 million. You know, close to $75 million. I forget the exact

1 number. $75 or $80 million, somewhere in that range. And now
2 the credible evidence is that investment is worth about $22
3 million.

4 So, certainly, while the claim may not have, at the 5 ultimate end of the day in litigation, resulted in a $300
6 million proof of claim, certainly, certainly there were strong
7 arguments for a very sizeable claim, more than this compromise
8 amount. So it's certainly fair and equitable and reasonable
9 when considering the complexity and duration of further 10 litigation, the risks and rewards, the expense, delay, and 11 likely success.

12 A couple of last things I'm going to say are these. I
13 understand, you know, there is vehement disagreement on the 14 part of our Objectors to the notion that Highland might have 15 caused a $50 million loss to HarbourVest. But I will tell
16 you, for what it's worth -- I want the record clear that this 17 is part of my evaluation of the reasonableness of the 18 settlement -- my reaction is that, indeed, Highland's
19 litigation strategy in the Acis case caused HCLOF to lose a
20 huge portion of its value, to the detriment of HarbourVest.
21 You know, whether all evidence at the end of the day would 22 convince me of that, I don't know, but that's -- that is 23 definitely this judge's impression.

24 I'm very sympathetic to HarbourVest. It appears in all
25 ways from the record, not just the record before me today, but

1 the record in the Acis case that I presided over, that
2 Highland back then would have rather spent HarbourVest's
3 investment for HCLOF legal fees than let Josh Terry get paid
4 on his judgment. They were perfectly happy to direct the 5 spending of other people's money, is what the record suggested
6 to me.

7 And then, you know, I have alluded to this very recently,
8 as recently as last Friday: I can still remember Mr.
9 Ellington sitting on the witness stand over here to my left
10 and telling the Court, telling the parties under oath, that 11 HarbourVest -- he didn't use its name back then, okay? For 12 the first phase of the Acis case, or most of the Acis case, we 13 were told it was an investor from Boston. And at some point
14 someone even said their name begins with H. I mean, it seemed 15 almost humorous. But Mr. Ellington said it was they,
16 HarbourVest, the undisclosed investor, who was insistent that 17 the Acis name was toxic, and so that's what all of this had 18 been about: the rebranding, the wanting to extract or move
19 things away from Acis.

20 So, you know, I have heard for the -- well, at least the 21 second time today, from Mr. Pugatch, what I perceive to be 22 very credible testimony that that's just not the way it
23 happened.

24 And I guess the last thing I want to say here today, and 25 you know, I guess I have multiple reasons for saying this, not

1 just in connection with approving the settlement, you know,
2 I've heard about how the Acis CLOs, the HCLOF CLOs have lost,
3 you know, a crazy amount of value, that they underperform in 4 the market, that, you know, during the Acis/Brigade tenure
5 and, you know, they should have been reset. You know, I hope
6 those who have not been around as long as some of us in this
7 whole saga know that the -- Mr. Terry, Mr. Phelan, I think
8 Brigade, they all desperately wanted to reset these things,
9 but it was HCLOF, I believe directed by Highland, that wanted
10 to redeem, wanted to liquidate, take the pot of money,
11 warehouse it, and then do their own thing.

12 And there was, I think, from my vantage point, a
13 monumental effort to try to get everyone to the table to do
14 reasonable resets that would be good for the stakeholders at 15 HCLOF and be good for the creditors of Acis, including Josh
16 Terry. That was always the balancing act that most of us were 17 focused on during the Acis bankruptcy. But Highland, I 18 believe, directing HCLOF's strategy, just did not want the 19 resets to happen.

20 So, again, part of me, I suppose, just wants to make the 21 record clear on something that I fear not everyone is clear
22 about. And I say that because the comment was made that the 23 injunctions, the preliminary injunctions sought by the Acis
24 trustee caused the plummet in value, and I think that's just 25 not an accurate statement. I think litigation strategies are

1 what caused the plummet in value, and that's why I think
2 ultimately HarbourVest would potentially have a meritorious
3 claim here in a significant amount if this litigation were to 4 go forward.

5 So, I approve this under 9019. And again, Mr. Morris,
6 you'll upload an order.

7 It is now 1:41, so let's as quickly as possible hear the 8 other motion that I don't think had any objections. Mr.
9 Morris?

10 MR. MORRIS: Your Honor, just -- yes, just very 11 quickly, just four things.

12 With respect to the order, I just want to make it clear
13 that we are going to include a provision that specifically
14 authorizes the Debtor to engage in -- to receive from 15 HarbourVest the asset, you know, the HCLOF interest, and that 16 that's consistent with its obligations under the agreement.

17 The objection has been withdrawn, I think the evidence is 18 what it is, and we want to make sure that nobody thinks that 19 they're going to go to a different court somehow to challenge
20 the transfer. So I just want to put the Court on notice and 21 everybody on notice that we are going to put in a specific 22 finding as to that.

23 THE COURT: All right. Fair --

24 MR. MORRIS: Number two is --

25 THE COURT: Fair enough. I do specifically approve

1 that mechanism and find it is appropriate and supported by the
2 underlying agreements.

3 And just so you know, I spent some time noodling this
4 yesterday before I knew it was going to be settled, so I'm not
5 just casually doing that. I think it's fine.

6 Okay. Next?

7 MR. MORRIS: Thank you very much, Your Honor. Number
8 two, with respect to the motion to pay, there is no objection.
9 If we can just submit an order. Or if Your Honor has other
10 guidance for us, we're happy to take it.

11 THE COURT: Okay. Does anyone have anything they 12 want to say about that motion?

13 Again, I looked at it. I didn't see any objections. I
14 didn't see any problem with it. It's -- you know, you're 15 going through this exercise because of the earlier protocol
16 order.

17 MR. MORRIS: Correct.

18 THE COURT: All right. Well, if there's nothing,
19 then, I will approve that, finding there is good cause to 20 grant that motion.

21 MR. MORRIS: Okay.

22 THE COURT: All right. Is the only other
23 housekeeping matter --

24 MR. MORRIS: I --

25 THE COURT: -- we have the contempt motion?

1 MR. MORRIS: It is, and I do -- I do have to point
2 out how troubled the Debtor is to learn that Mr. Dondero was 3 still receiving documents from Highland as late as this
4 morning. It's got to be a violation of both the TRO -- I
5 guess it's now the preliminary injunction.

6 I would respectfully request -- I know that time is what
7 it is -- but maybe Mr. Dondero can answer now where he got the 8 document, who he got the document from, what other documents
9 he's gotten from the Debtor since Your Honor ordered him not 10 to communicate with the Debtor's employees.

11 This is not saying hello in the hallway. I mean, this is 12 just -- it is really troubling, Your Honor, and it's why we 13 need the contempt motion heard as soon as possible.

14 THE COURT: Well, Mr. Wilson, do you want to address
15 that? I think the words I heard were that you just got the 16 document this morning, and you got it from Mr. Dondero, but we 17 don't know where and when Mr. Dondero got it. Mr. Wilson, are 18 you there?

19 MR. LYNN: I'm afraid I'm back, Your Honor.

20 THE COURT: Okay.

21 MR. LYNN: I am not sure whether Mr. Dondero had it
22 in his files from some -- from back before he was asked not to 23 communicate with members or with employees of the Debtor. I
24 believe -- I believe he's with us, though I don't think he's 25 available by video.

1 Are you there, Mr. Dondero?

2 THE COURT: We can't hear you, Mr. Dondero.

3 MR. DONDERO: Judge?

4 THE COURT: Oh, go ahead.

5 MR. DONDERO: Can you hear me now?

6 THE COURT: Yes.

7 MR. DONDERO: Yes, I -- I -- when I moved offices, I
8 found it in a stack of paper, and --

9 MR. LYNN: I understand it shows that his microphone
10 is working.

11 THE COURT: Okay. Go ahead.

12 MR. DONDERO: Can you hear me?

13 THE COURT: Yes, go ahead.

14 MR. DONDERO: Yeah, I -- I'm sitting in new offices.
15 I've got everything in boxes. I was going through everything
16 yesterday, and I found those emails in a stack of papers and I
17 sent them over because I thought they would be relevant
18 relative to Seery's initial impression.

19 THE COURT: Okay. Well, let's talk about the timing
20 of this hearing. Mr. Morris, I'm going to -- I'm going to ask
21 you why --

22 MR. LYNN: Michael Lynn, Your Honor. I don't want to 23 waste the Court's time. We have not made available anything
24 to the Court objecting to the expedited hearing on the 25 contempt motion. We've been here.

1 I would say to Your Honor that if Mr. Dondero is indeed in 2 contempt, or was in contempt toward the motion, which has
3 nothing to do with the document that was presented as Dondero
4 Exhibit N, there is no need to hear this on an expedited
5 basis.

6 Every time we turn around, Your Honor, the Debtor is 7 asking that something be heard on an expedited basis. And we 8 have not opposed that. We have not fought that, to speak of,
9 to date. But this is getting a little ridiculous. We're 10 within days of confirmation of the Debtor's plan, and it is 11 simply a means of causing pain and suffering to Mr. Dondero
12 and those who are working with him and for him. And he does
13 have employees at NexPoint who are assisting him.

14 So we most strongly object to being put on a schedule
15 where we are expected to get a response to the contempt motion
16 on file by Monday, today being Thursday, and a weekend
17 intervening. And we strongly object to any setting of this 18 contempt motion on Tuesday or Wednesday. It is absurd, and it
19 is done solely, solely, Your Honor, to cause pain.

20 THE COURT: All right.

21 MR. MORRIS: Your Honor, if I may?

22 THE COURT: Please.

23 MR. MORRIS: Just very briefly, we had a hearing the 24 other day. The evidence is the exact same. The evidence is 25 crystal clear that the violations are meaningful, they're

1 substantial, and they are repeated.

2 After the TRO was entered into, Mr. Dondero and only Mr.
3 Dondero chose to interfere with the Debtor's business. Mr.
4 Dondero and only Mr. Dondero chose to communicate with the 5 Debtor's employees, not about saying hello in the hallway but 6 about coordinating a legal defense strategy against the
7 Debtor.

8 The need is immediate, Your Honor, and I would 9 respectfully request that the hearing be set for Tuesday or 10 Wednesday. They've had this motion now since the 7th of 11 January. They had a full evidentiary hearing, so they know
12 most of the evidence that's going to be presented. They have 13 a whole team of -- they have an army of lawyers, Your Honor,
14 and half a dozen firms working on behalf of Mr. Dondero and 15 his interests. For him to cry here, for him to cry that this 16 is too much is really -- it's obscene. It just is.

17 THE COURT: All right. I'm going to say a couple --

18 MR. LYNN: That is absurd.

19 THE COURT: I'm going to say a couple of things. One
20 is that I -- well, the one time I remember getting reversed
21 for holding someone in contempt of court, the District Court
22 felt like I had not given enough notice of that. The District
23 Courts, what they think is reasonable notice, is sometimes 24 very different from what the bankruptcy judges think. We're
25 used to going very lickety-split fast in the bankruptcy

1 courts. And the Courts of Appeals, District Court, Courts of 2 Appeals obviously, for good reason, are very concerned about
3 due process in this kind of context. So I'm sensitive to 4 that.

5 I'm also sensitive to the fact that it is monetary damages
6 that are being sought here to purge the contempt. Okay? The 7 shifting of attorneys' fees is basically what I understand is 8 being sought at this point. You know, we have a preliminary
9 injunction halting behavior at this point, and so I think
10 that's another reason I'm hesitant to give an emergency
11 hearing. I feel like monetary damages can wait and we can 12 give 21-plus days' notice of the hearing.

13 But I'm going to throw this out there as well. If I do
14 feel like there is a showing of contempt, if I do feel like 15 the phone -- as I told you the other day, I'm very, very 16 fixated on the phone that may have been destroyed or thrown 17 away, maybe at Mr. Dondero's suggestion. I mean, the 18 potential monetary sanction here may be very, very large if 19 the evidence plays out in the way I fear it might play out.
20 So I need to make sure everybody has adequate time to prepare
21 for that hearing and make sure I get all the evidence I need
22 to see. All right? Contempt of court is very, very, very,
23 very serious, and I don't think anyone would deny that.

24 So, with that, it was filed what day? January 4th? Is 25 that what I heard? Or --

1 MR. MORRIS: January 7th, I believe, Your Honor.

2 THE COURT: January 7th? All right. Well, Traci,
3 are you there? Hopefully, you're not in a hunger coma at this 4 point.

5 THE CLERK: I am here.

6 THE COURT: Okay. We have -- we're going to have to 7 go to that first week of February, right? Because we've got 8 the confirmation hearing that, you know, late in January, and 9 then --

10 THE CLERK: Yes. Uh-huh.

11 THE COURT: Okay. Do you have an available date to 12 give right now?

13 THE CLERK: How about -- if you're willing to hear
14 them on Friday, February 5th.

15 THE COURT: Okay. I can do that. February 5th at 16 9:30. Any -- anybody want to argue about that?

17 MR. MORRIS: Thank you, Your Honor. That's
18 acceptable to the Debtor.

19 THE COURT: Okay. Mr. Lynn, is that good with you?

20 MR. LYNN: We'll do that, Your Honor. I would say,
21 by the way, that I'll be happy to buy Mr. Seery, out of my own
22 pocket, five cell phones, which ought to make up for the one
23 that was lost, though I recognize that those cell phones will 24 not have on them the privileged information, the conversations
25 between his lawyers and Mr. Dondero that I imagine he was

1 looking forward to seeing.

2 THE COURT: Well, I wouldn't want him to see that
3 information, but I do think he's entitled to any nonprivileged
4 information, texting, or calls that are on that phone. So,
5 again, I'm either going to hear good explanations for that or 6 not, but it's something very concerning to me.

7 All right. So we have a game plan.

8 I'm going to ask, Did we have good-faith negotiations
9 between Dondero and the Committee and anything positive to 10 report? I'll ask Mr. Lynn and Mr. Clemente to weigh in.

11 MR. CLEMENTE: Yes, Your Honor. I'll go first, Your 12 Honor. Mr. Lynn and I have exchanged several emails over the 13 weekend, and the message that I sent to Mr. Lynn was very 14 clear. There had been a term sheet that Mr. Seery had sent 15 back to Mr. Dondero. I had asked Mr. Lynn to take a pencil
16 out and be very specific as to what it was Mr. Dondero was 17 prepared to do in connection with the pot plan. I instructed 18 him that some of the issues that the Committee still has is 19 obviously the overall value, along with the concept that's 20 signing up to a promise from Mr. Dondero to comply with 21 (indiscernible) as part of that value. As Your Honor may 22 understand, the Committee is obviously very skeptical of Mr.
23 Dondero's future performance under an agreement that he enters
24 into.

25 Those are but a couple of issues, Your Honor, that I

1 advised Mr. Lynn were very concerning to the Committee. And I
2 suggested to him that if he wanted to move things forward, the
3 best way to do it would be to come to us with a fulsome term
4 sheet that explained exactly what it was in clear and precise
5 detail that Mr. Dondero was proposing, and that would be the 6 best way to move the process forward, Your Honor.

7 THE COURT: All right. Mr. Lynn, anything to add to 8 that?

9 MR. LYNN: Well, Your Honor, my experience in 10 negotiations is that it is useful to agree on substantive 11 terms, or at least be in the ballpark, before term sheets are 12 exchanged. Long ago, a term sheet was prepared and presented
13 to the Committee. Ultimately, I think it was rejected, though
14 I don't know if we ever received a formal rejection.

15 I explained in my emails, which I'm happy to share with 16 the Court if Your Honor wants to see them, why I was reluctant
17 to try to put into a term sheet form the proposal that I
18 suggested to Mr. Clemente. As I said, I'm more than happy to 19 provide you with that email chain and let you form your own
20 judgment, Your Honor, as to whether we're proceeding in good
21 faith.

22 THE COURT: All right. Well I'm not going to ask --

23 MR. POMERANTZ: Your Honor? Your Honor, this is Jeff
24 Pomerantz.

25 THE COURT: -- to see any of that. Mr. Pomerantz?

1 MR. POMERANTZ: May I just be heard real quickly?

2 THE COURT: Sure.

3 MR. POMERANTZ: Your Honor, we also took Your Honor's
4 comments to heart. We, Mr. Seery and I, had an over-an-hour
5 conversation with Mr. Lynn and with Mr. Bonds. We provided
6 them with our thoughts as to what they needed to do in order
7 to move forward. Of course, it's not really the Debtor to 8 agree. It's the creditors to agree. But as Mr. Seery has 9 testified many times before and as I have told the Court, we 10 would support a plan that the Committee and Mr. Dondero could 11 get behind.

12 So we again -- I'm not going to divulge the nature of 13 those communications, but we suggested several things that Mr.
14 Dondero could do in order to move the ball forward, and 15 unfortunately, we have not seen any of those things done thus 16 far. So we are, at this point, not optimistic that there will 17 be a grand bargain plan.

18 THE COURT: All right.

19 MR. DONDERO: Your Honor, could I comment for a
20 second? This is Mr. Dondero.

21 THE COURT: If you and your counsel want you to 22 comment, you can comment.

23 MR. DONDERO: I'd love to do a pot plan. I would 24 love to reach some kind of settlement and everybody move on 25 with their lives. The estate started with $360 million of

1 third-party assets and $90 million of notes. The $360 million
2 of third-party assets are down to $130 million.

3 MR. POMERANTZ: Again, Your Honor, I must interrupt.
4 I did this at the last hearing, and it's not my practice to 5 interrupt, but issues regarding what the value is or not, it's 6 going to require a response, and that's not really before Your 7 Honor. I think before Your Honor is --

8 MR. DONDERO: Okay.

9 MR. POMERANTZ: -- have there been negotiations?
10 Have they been in good faith? If Mr. Dondero wanted to 11 address that, that's fine, but I object to having any 12 discussion at this point, especially with Mr. Dondero not even 13 under oath, on what the nature of the value of the assets and 14 why they have changed and what not.

15 THE COURT: Well, --

16 MR. POMERANTZ: It's just not appropriate.

17 THE COURT: I understand --

18 MR. DONDERO: Okay. Can I --

19 THE COURT: Stop.

20 MR. DONDERO: Can I -- can I finish?

21 THE COURT: Let me please respond to that. I
22 understand your concern, but I've heard from Mr. Seery
23 testimony many months ago about the value plummeting during 24 the case. And I asked why, and I got some explanations. This 25 is not evidence. This is just, you know, this is not going to

1 be binding in any way. Mr. Dondero can speak as to what he
2 thinks, you know, the situation is.

3 Go ahead, Mr. Dondero.

4 MR. DONDERO: Okay. I'm not trying to fixate on the 5 numbers. And as far as the third-party assets are, we would
6 be willing to pay -- I would be willing to pay for those. I'd 7 be willing to pay more, and even some value for the affiliate
8 notes that were really part of compensation agreements
9 throughout the history of Highland and avoid the POC
10 arguments. I'd be willing to pay for the assets and I'd be 11 willing to pay even more than that.

12 I have no transparency in terms of what the assets are,
13 and there's no fulsome discussion in terms of, well, here are 14 the assets, here are the notes, here's what we think the 15 values are, can you get to this number? It's just a -- you --
16 the -- it -- I don't view there is good-faith negotiations
17 going on because it's always just a: You need to put a big 18 number on a piece of paper; otherwise, you're going to get run
19 over.

20 And there's no back and forth going on, but it's not due
21 to a lack of willingness on my part. And maybe there needs to 22 be a committee set up. Maybe there needs to be, I don't know,
23 a mediator or an examiner or somebody to try and push through 24 the pot plan, but there's nothing happening. People are not 25 returning the judge's calls, I mean, Mr. Lynn's calls, or my

1 calls. They're -- there's -- despite efforts of our -- of my
2 own and a willingness of my own, there's no negotiations of 3 any sort going on at the moment.

4 THE COURT: All right. I don't want anyone to 5 respond to that. I know people have different views of what's 6 going on. But let me just say a couple of things, and then
7 we're done.

8 We do have a Committee in this case. We have a Committee
9 with very sophisticated members and very sophisticated
10 professionals. Okay? That's who I wanted you to be talking
11 to before the end of the day Tuesday.

12 We have had co-mediators in this case. Okay? And, you
13 know, I identified very sophisticated human beings for that 14 role. Okay? And in fact, there ended up being settlements
15 that flowed out of the co-mediator process.

16 We're now 15 months into the case. There are major,
17 significant compromises now: HarbourVest, UBS, Acis, Terry,
18 and Redeemer Committee. I hate to use a worn-out metaphor,
19 but the train is leaving the station. We've got confirmation.
20 I've pushed out two weeks. I mean, you all are either going
21 to get there in the next few days or we're just going to go
22 forward with I think what everyone, you know, would rather be 23 a pot plan, but if we can't get there, we're just going to 24 have to consider the plan that's on the table now. Okay?

25 You know, the Committee, again, they're sophisticated.

1 They can compare apples to oranges and decide whether the plan
2 on the table, with its risks of future litigation and
3 recoveries, whether it's better or worse than whatever
4 consideration you're offering, Mr. Dondero.

5 And you know, as we all know, there is distrust here,
6 there, and everywhere among these parties. So I can totally 7 understand them, you know, taking a hard line: We either get
8 all cash or we're just not going to mess with it. We don't
9 want to risk broken promises. We'd rather just do litigation.

10 So, anyway, that's as much as I'm going to say except I am
11 going to further direct good-faith negotiations. It sounds
12 like to me a written term sheet might be the appropriate next 13 step, given where I've heard things are at the moment. But,
14 you know, I guess we don't have any hearings between now and 15 the 26th, right? No Highland hearings that I can think of 16 between now and the 26th.

17 MR. POMERANTZ: I don't think so.

18 MR. MORRIS: I think that's correct, Your Honor.

19 THE COURT: So you have all this time --

20 MR. MORRIS: At the moment.

21 THE COURT: You have all this time to negotiate and 22 simultaneously get ready for the confirmation hearing without 23 any other battles. So I know you will use the time well.

24 All right. We're adjourned.

25 THE CLERK: All rise.

MR. BONDS: Thank you, Your Honor.

3. Agreement Subject to Bankruptcy Court Approval. The effectiveness of this Agreement and the Parties' obligations hereunder are conditioned in all respects on the approval of this Agreement by the Bankruptcy Court. The Parties agree to cooperate and use reasonable efforts to have this Agreement approved by the Bankruptcy Court. 4. Representations and Warranties. Subject in all respects to Section 3 hereof:

(a) each HarbourVest Party represents and warrants that (i) it has full authority to enter into this Agreement and to release the HarbourVest Released Claims and has not sold, transferred, or assigned any HarbourVest Released Claim to any other person or entity, (ii) no person or entity other than such HarbourVest Party has been, is, or will be authorized to bring, pursue, or enforce any HarbourVest Released Claim on behalf of, for the benefit of, or in the name of (whether directly or derivatively) of such HarbourVest Party; and (iii) HarbourVest owns all of the HCLOF Interests free and clear of any claims or interests; and

(b) In full resolution of the 3018 Motion, HarbourVest will have a general unsecured claim for voting purposes only in the amount of $45,000,000.

(c) The obligations of the HarbourVest Parties under this Section 5 shall automatically terminate upon the occurrence of any of the following (each a “Support Termination Event”): (i) the effective date of the Plan, (ii) the withdrawal of the Plan, (iii) the entry of an order by the Bankruptcy Court (A) converting the Bankruptcy Case to a case under chapter 7 of the Bankruptcy Code or (B) appointing an examiner with expanded powers beyond those set forth in sections 1106(a)(3) and (4) of the Bankruptcy Code or a trustee in Bankruptcy

Case, or (iv) the failure of the Court to enter an order approving the terms of this Agreement and the settlement described herein pursuant to Rule 9019 prior to confirmation of the Plan.

6. No Admission of Liability. The Parties acknowledge that there is a bona fide dispute with respect to the HarbourVest Claims. Nothing in this Agreement will imply, an admission of liability, fault or wrongdoing by the Debtor, HarbourVest, or any other person, and the execution of this Agreement does not constitute an admission of liability, fault, or wrongdoing on the part of the Debtor, HarbourVest, or any other person.

7. Successors-in-Interest. This Agreement shall be binding upon and shall inure to the benefit of each of the Parties and their successors, and assigns.

8. Notice. Each notice and other communication hereunder will be in writing and will be sent by email and delivered or mailed by registered mail, receipt requested, and will be deemed to have been given on the date of its delivery, if delivered, and on the fifth full business day following the date of the mailing, if mailed to each of the Parties thereto at the following respective addresses or such other address as may be specified in any notice delivered or mailed as set forth below:

ORIGINAL COMPLAINT

I.

INTRODUCTION

This action arises out of the acts and omissions of Defendant Highland Capital Management, L.P. (“HCM”), which is the general manager of Highland HCF Advisor, Ltd. (“HCFA”), both of which are registered investment advisers under the Investment Advisers Act of 1940 (the “Advisers Act”),¹ and nominal Defendant Highland CLO Funding, Ltd. (“HCLOF”) (HCM and HCFA each a “Defendant,” or together, “Defendants”). The acts and omissions which have recently come to light reveal breaches of fiduciary duty, a pattern of violations of the Advisers Act’s anti-fraud provisions, and concealed breaches of the HCLOF Company Agreement, among others, which have caused and/or likely will cause Plaintiffs damages.

At all relevant times, HCM was headed by CEO and potential party James P. Seery (“Seery”). Seery negotiated a settlement with the several Harbourvest² entities who owned 49.98% of HCLOF. The deal had HCM (or its designee) purchasing the Harbourvest membership interests in HCLOF for $22.5 million. Recent revelations, however, show that the sale was predicated upon a sales price that was vastly below the Net Asset Value (“NAV”) of those interests. Upon information and belief, the NAV of HCLOF’s assets had risen precipitously, but was not disclosed to Harbourvest nor to Plaintiffs.

Under the Advisers Act, Defendants have a non-waivable duty of loyalty and candor, which includes its duty not to inside trade with its own investors, i.e., not to trade with an investor to which HCM and Seery had access to superior non-public information. Upon information and belief, HCM’s internal compliance policies required by the Advisers Act would not generally have allowed a trade of this nature to go forward—meaning, the trade either was approved in spite of compliance rules preventing it, or the compliance protocols themselves were disabled or amended to a level that leaves Defendants HCM and HCLOF exposed to liability. Thus, Defendants have created an unacceptable perpetuation of exposure to liability.

Additionally, Defendants are liable for a pattern of conduct that gives rise to liability for their conduct of the enterprise consisting of HCM in relation to HCFA and HCLOF, through a pattern of concealment, misrepresentation, and violations of the securities rules. In the alternative, HCFA and HCM, are guilty of self-dealing, violations of the Advisers Act, and tortious interference by (a) not disclosing that Harbourvest had agreed to sell at a price well below the current NAV, and (b) diverting the Harbourvest opportunity to themselves.

For these reasons, judgment should be issued in Plaintiffs' favor.

IV.

RELEVANT BACKGROUND

HCLOF IS FORMED

10. Plaintiff DAF is a charitable fund that helps several causes throughout the country, including providing funding for humanitarian issues (such as veteran's welfare associations and women's shelters), public works (such as museums, parks and zoos), and education (such as specialty schools in underserved communities). Its mission is critical.

11. Since 2012, DAF was advised by its registered investment adviser, Highland Capital Management, L.P., and its various subsidiaries, about where to invest. This relationship was governed by an Investment advisory Agreement.

12. At one point in 2017, HCM advised DAF to acquire 143,454,001 shares of HCLOF, with HCFA (a subsidiary of HCM) serving as the portfolio manager. DAF did so via a holding entity, Plaintiff CLO Holdco, Ltd.

13. On November 15, 2017, through a Subscription and Transfer Agreement, the DAF entered into an agreement with others to sell and transfer shares in HCLOF, wherein the DAF retained 49.02% in CLO Holdco.

14. Pursuant to that agreement, Harbourvest acquired the following interests in the following entities:

Harbourvest Dover Street IX Investment, L.P., acquired 35.49%;

Harbourvest 2017 Global AIF, L.P., acquired 2.42%;

Harbourvest 2017 lobal Fund, L.P., acquired 4.85%;

HV International VIII Secondary, L.P., acquired 6.5%; and

for a total of 49.98% (altogether, the “Harbourvest interests”).

15. On or about October 16, 2019, Highland Capital Management filed for Chapter 11 bankruptcy in Delaware Bankruptcy Court, which was later transferred to the Northern District of Texas Bankruptcy Court, in the case styled In Re: Highland Capital Management, L.P., Debtor, Cause No. 19-34054, (the “HCM Bankruptcy” and the Court is the “Bankruptcy Court”).

The Harbourvest Settlement with Highland Capital Management in Bankruptcy

16. On April 8, 2020, Harbourvest submitted its proofs of claim in the HCM bankruptcy proceeding. Annexed to its proofs of claims was an explanation of the Proof of Claim and the basis therefor setting out various pre-petition allegations of wrongdoing by HCM. See, e.g., Case No. 19-bk-34054, Doc. 1631-5.

17. The debtor, HCM, made an omnibus response to the proofs of claims, stating they were duplicative of each other, overstated, late, and otherwise meritless.

18. Harbourvest responded to the omnibus objections on September 11, 2020. See Cause No. 19-bk-34054, Doc. 1057.

19. Harbourvest represented that it had invested in HCLOF, purchasing 49.98% of HCLOF's outstanding shares.

20. Plaintiff CLO Holdco was and is also a 49.02% holder of HCLOF's member interests.

21. In its Omnibus Response, Harbourvest explained that its claims included unliquidated legal claims for fraud, fraud in the inducement, RICO violations under 18 U.S.C. 1964, among others (the "Harbourvest Claims"). See Cause No. 19-bk-34054, Doc. 1057.

22. The Harbourvest Claims centered on allegations that when Harbourvest was intending to invest in a pool of Collateralized Loan Obligations, or CLOs, that were then-managed by Acis Capital Management ("Acis"), a subsidiary of HCM, HCM failed to disclose key facts about ongoing litigation with a former employee, Josh Terry.

23. Harbourvest contended that HCM never sufficiently disclosed the underlying facts about the litigation with Terry, and HCM's then-intended strategy to fight Terry caused HCLOF to incur around $15 million in legal fees and costs. It contended that had it known the nature of the lawsuit and how it would eventually turn out, Harbourvest never would have invested in HCLOF. See Cause No. 19-bk-34054, Doc. 1057.

24. HCLOF's portfolio manager is HCFA. HCM is the parent of HCFA and is managed by its General Partner, Strand Management, who employs Seery and acts on behalf of HCM.

25. Before acceding to the Harbourvest interests, HCM was a 0.6% holder of HCLOF interests.

26. While even assuming Harbourvest's underlying claims were valid as far as the lost $15 million went, the true damage of the legal fees to Harbourvest would have been 49.98% of the HCLOF losses (i.e., less than $7.5 million). Harbourvest claimed that it had lost over $100 million in the HCLOF transaction due to fraud, which, after trebling under the racketeering statute, it claimed it was entitled to over $300 million in damages.

27. In truth, as of September 2020, Harbourvest had indeed lost some $52 million due to the alleged diminishing value of the HCLOF assets (largely due to the underperformance of the Acis entities³)—and the values were starting to recover.

28. HCM denied the allegations in the Bankruptcy Court. Other than the claim for waste of corporate assets of $15 million, HCM at all times viewed the Harbourvest legal claims as being worth near zero and having no merit.

29. On December 23, 2020, HCM moved the Court to approve a settlement between itself and Harbourvest. No discovery had taken place between the parties, and Plaintiff did not have any notice of the settlement terms or other factors prior to the motion's filing (or even during its pendency) in order to investigate its rights.

30. HCM set the hearing right after the Christmas and New Year's holidays, almost ensuring that no party would have the time to scrutinize the underpinnings of the deal.

31. On January 14, 2021, the Bankruptcy Court held an evidentiary hearing and approved the settlement in a bench ruling, overruling the objections to the settlement.

³ Acis was being managed by Joshua Terry. JP Morgan had listed the four ACIS entities under his management as the four worst performers of the 1200 CLOs it evaluated.

32. An integral part of the settlement was allowing $45 million in unsecured claims that, at the time of the agreement, were expected to net Harbourvest around 70 cents on the dollar. In other words, Harbourvest was expected to recover around $31,500,000 from the allowed claims.

33. As part of the consideration for the $45 million in allowed claims, Harbourvest agreed to transfer all of its interests in HCLOF to HCM or its designee.

34. HCM and Seery rationalized the settlement value by allocating $22.5 million of the net value of the $45 million in unsecured claims as consideration to purchase Harbourvest's interests in HCLOF, meaning, if 70% of the unsecured claims—i.e., $31.5 million—was realized, because $22.5 million of that would be allocated to the purchase price of the Harbourvest interests in HCLOF, the true “settlement” for Harbourvest's legal claims was closer to $9 million.

35. Plaintiffs here are taking no position at this time about the propriety of settling the Harbourvest legal claims for $9 million. That is for another day.

36. At the core of this lawsuit is the fact that HCM purchased the Harbourvest interests in HCLOF for $22.5 million knowing that they were worth far more than that.

37. It has recently come to light that, upon information and belief, the Harbourvest interests, as of December 31, 2020, were worth in excess of $41,750,000, and they have continued to go up in value.

38. On November 30, 2020, which was less than a month prior to the filing of the Motion to Approve the Settlement, the net asset value of those interests was over $34.5 million. Plaintiffs were never made aware of that.

39. The change is due to how the net asset value, or NAV, was calculated. The means and methods for calculating the “net asset value” of the assets of HCLOF are subject to and governed by the regulations passed by the SEC pursuant to the Adviser's Act, and by HCM's internal policies and procedures.

40. Typically, the value of the securities reflected by a market price quote.

41. However, the underlying securities in HCLOF are not liquid and had not been traded in a long while.

42. There not having been any contemporaneous market quotations that could be used in good faith to set the marks⁴ meant that other prescribed methods of assessing the value of the interests, such as the NAV, would have been the proper substitutes.

43. Seery testified that the fair market value of the Harbourvest HCLOF interests was $22.5 million. Even allowing some leeway there, it was off the mark by a mile.

44. Given the artifice described herein, Seery and the entity Defendants had to know that the representation of the fair market value was false. But it does not appear that they disclosed it to Harbourvest to whom they owed fiduciary duties as the RIA in charge of HCLOF, and they certainly did not disclose the truth to the Plaintiff.

45. It is either the case that (i) Defendants conducted the proper analysis to obtain a current value of the assets but decided to use a far lower valuation in order to whitewash the settlement or enrich the bankruptcy estate; or (ii) Defendants never conducted the proper current valuation, and therefore baselessly represented what the current value of the assets was, despite knowingly having no reasonable basis for making such a claim.

46. For years HCM had such internal procedures and compliance protocols. HCM was not allowed by its own compliance officers to trade with an investor where HCM had superior knowledge about the value of the assets, for example. While Plaintiff has no reason to believe that those procedures were scrapped in recent months, it can only assume that they were either overridden improperly or circumvented wholesale.

⁴ The term "mark" is shorthand for an estimated or calculated value for a non-publicly traded instrument.

47. Upon finalizing the Harbourvest Settlement Agreement and making representations to the Bankruptcy Court to the Plaintiffs about the value of the Harbourvest Interests, Seery and HCM had a duty to use current values and not rely on old valuations of the assets or the HCLOF interests.

48. Given Defendants' actual or constructive knowledge that they were purchasing Harbourvest's Interests in HCLOF for a less than 50% of what those interests were worth—Defendants owed Plaintiff a fiduciary duty not to purchase them for themselves.

49. Defendants should have either had HCLOF repurchase the interests with cash, or offer those interests to Plaintiff and the other members pro rata, before HCM agreed to purchase them all lock, stock and barrel, for no up-front cash.

50. Indeed, had Plaintiff been offered those interests, it would have happily purchased them and therefore would have infused over $20 million in cash into the estate for the purpose of executing the Harbourvest Settlement.

51. That Defendants (and to perhaps a lesser extent, the Unsecured Creditors Committee (the "UCC")) agreed to pay $22.5 million for the HCLOF assets, where they had previously not consented to any such expenditure by the estate on behalf of HCLOF, strongly indicates their awareness that they were purchasing assets for far below market value.

52. The above is the most reasonable and plausible explanation for why Defendants and the UCC forwent raising as much as $22.5 million in cash now in favor of hanging on to the HCLOF assets.

53. Indeed, in January 2021 Seery threatened Ethen Powell that “[Judge Jernigan] is laughing at you” and “we are coming after you” in response to the latter’s attempt to exercise his right as beneficial holder of the CLO, and pointing out a conflict of interest in Seery’s plan to liquidate the funds.

54. HCM’s threat, made by Seery, is tantamount to not only a declaration that he intends to liquidate the funds regardless of whether the investors want to do so, and whether it is in their best interests, but also that HCM intends to leverage what it views as the Bankruptcy Court’s sympathy to evade accountability.

V.

CAUSES OF ACTION

FIRST CAUSE OF ACTION Breaches of Fiduciary Duty

55. Plaintiffs respectfully incorporate the foregoing factual averments as if fully set forth herein and further alleges the following:

56. HCM is a registered investment advisor and acts on behalf of HCFA. Both are fiduciaries to Plaintiffs.

57. The Advisers Act establishes an unwaivable federal fiduciary duty for investment advisers.⁵

⁵ See e.g., SEC v. Capital Gains Research Bureau, Inc., 375 U.S. 180, 194 (1963); Transamerica Mortg. Advisors (tama) v. Lewis, 444 U.S. 11, 17 (1979) (“§ 206 establishes ‘federal fiduciary standards’ to govern the conduct of investment advisers.”); Santa Fe Indus. v. Green, 430 U.S. 462, 471, n.11 (1977) (in discussing SEC v. Capital Gains, stating that the Supreme Court’s reference to fraud in the “equitable” sense of the term was “premised on its recognition that Congress intended the Investment Advisers Act to establish federal fiduciary standards for investment advisers”). See also Investment Advisers Act Release No. 3060 (July 28, 2010) (“Under the Advisers Act, an adviser is a fiduciary whose duty is to serve the best interests of its clients, which includes an obligation not to subrogate clients’ interests to its own”) (citing Proxy Voting by Investment Advisers, Investment Advisers Act Release No. 2106 (Jan. 31, 2003)).

58. HCM and the DAF entered into an Amended and Restated Investment Advisory Agreement, executed between them on July 1, 2014 (the “RIA Agreement”). It renews annually and continued until the end of January 2021.

59. In addition to being the RIA to the DAF, HCM was appointed the DAF’s attorney-in-fact for certain actions, such as “to purchase or otherwise trade in Financial Instruments that have been approved by the General Partner.” RIA Agreement ¶ 4.

60. The RIA Agreement further commits HCM to value financial assets “in accordance with the then current valuation policy of the Investment Advisor [HCM], a copy of which will provided to the General Partner upon request.” RIA Agreement ¶ 5.

61. While HCM contracted for the recognition that it would be acting on behalf of others and could be in conflict with advice given the DAF, (RIA Agreement ¶ 12), nowhere did it purport to waive the fiduciary duties owed to the DAF not to trade as a principal in a manner that harmed the DAF.

62. HCFA owed a fiduciary duty to Holdco as an investor in HCLOF and to which HCFA was the portfolio manager. HCM owed a fiduciary duty to the DAF (and to Holdco as its subsidiary) pursuant to a written Advisory Agreement HCM and the DAF had where HCM agreed to provide sound investment advice and management functions.

63. As a registered investment adviser, HCM’s fiduciary duty is broad and applies to the entire advisor-client relationship.

64. The core of the fiduciary duty is to act in the best interest of their investors—the advisor must put the ends of the client before its own ends or the ends of a third party.

65. This is manifested in a duty of loyalty and a duty of utmost care. It also means that the RIA has to follow the terms of the company agreements and the regulations that apply to the investment vehicle.

66. The fiduciary duty that HCM and Seery owed to Plaintiff is predicated on trust and confidence. Section 204A of the Advisers Act requires investment advisors (whether SEC-registered or not) to establish, maintain, and enforce written policies and procedures reasonably designed to prevent the RIA from trading on material, non-public information. See 17 C.F.R. § 275.206(4)-7. That means that Plaintiff should be able to take Defendants at their word and not have to second guess or dig behind representations made by them.

67. The simple thesis of this claim is that Defendants HCFA and HCM breached their fiduciary duties by (i) insider trading with Harbourvest and concealing the rising NAV of the underlying assets—i.e., trading with Harbourvest on superior, non-public information that was neither revealed to Harbourvest nor to Plaintiff; (ii) concealing the value of the Harbourvest Interests; and (iii) diverting the investment opportunity in the Harbourvest entities to HCM (or its designee) without offering it to or making it available to Plaintiff or the DAF.

68. HCM, as part of its contractual advisory function with Plaintiffs, had expressly recommended the HCLOF investment to the DAF. Thus, diverting the opportunity for returns on its investment was an additional breach of fiduciary duty.

69. This violated a multitude of regulations under 27 C.F.R. part 275, in addition to Rules 10b-5 and 10b5-1. 17 CFR 240.10b5-1 (“Rule 10b5-1”) explains that one who trades while possessing non-public information is liable for insider trading, and they do not necessarily have to have used the specific inside information.

70. It also violated HCM’s own internal policies and procedures.

71. Also, the regulations impose obligations on Defendants to calculate a current valuation when communicating with an investor, such as what may or may not be taken into account, and what cannot pass muster as a current valuation. Upon information and belief, these regulations were not followed by the Defendants.

72. HCM's internal policies and procedures, which it promised to abide by both in the RIA Agreement and in its Form ADV SEC filing, provided for the means of properly calculating the value of the assets.

73. HCM either did not follow these policies, changed them to be out of compliance both with the Adviser Act regulations and its Form ADV representations, and/or simply misrepresented or concealed their results.

74. In so doing, because the fiduciary duty owed to Plaintiff is a broad one, and because Defendants' malfeasance directly implicates its relationship with Plaintiff, Defendants have breached the Advisers Act's fiduciary duties owed to Plaintiff as part of their fiduciary relationship.⁶

75. At no time between agreeing with Harbourvest to the purchase of its interests and the court approval did Defendants disclose to either Harbourvest or to Plaintiff (and the Bankruptcy Court for that matter) that the purchase was at below 50% the current net asset value as well, and when they failed to offer Plaintiff (and the other members of HCLOF) their right to purchase the interests pro rata at such advantageous valuations. Plaintiff's lost opportunity to purchase has harmed Plaintiff. Plaintiff had been led to believe by the Defendants that the value of what was being purchased in the Harbourvest settlement by HCM (or its designee) was at fair market value. This representation, repeated again in the Bankruptcy Court during the Harbourvest confirmation, implicitly suggested that a proper current valuation had been performed.

76. Defendant's principal, Seery, testified in January 2021 that the then-current fair market value of Harbourvest's 49.98% interest in HCLOF was worth around $22.5 million. But by then, it was worth almost double that amount and has continued to appreciate. Seery knew or should have known that fact because the value of some of the HCLOF assets had increased, and he had a duty to know the current value. His lack of actual knowledge, while potentially not overtly fraudulent, would nonetheless amount to a breach of fiduciary duty for acting without proper diligence and information that was plainly available.

77. Furthermore, HCLOF holds equity in MGM Studios and debt in CCS Medical via various CLO positions. But Seery, in his role as CEO of HCM, was made aware during an advisors meeting in December 2020 that Highland would have to restrict its trading in MGM because of its insider status due to activities that were likely to apply upward pressure on MGM's share price.

78. Furthermore, Seery controlled the Board of CCS Medical. And in or around October 2020, Seery was advocating an equatization that would have increased the value of the CCS securities by 25%, which was not reflected in the HCM report of the NAV of HCLOF's holdings.

79. Seery's knowledge is imputed to HCM.

80. Moreover, it is a breach of fiduciary duty to commit corporate waste, which is effectively what disposing of the HCLOF assets would constitute in a rising market, where there is no demand for disposition by the investors (save for HCM, whose proper 0.6% interest could easily be sold to the DAF at fair value).

81. As holder of 0.6% of the HCLOF interests, and now assignee of the 49.98% Harbourvest Interests), HCM has essentially committed self-dealing by threatening to liquidate HCLOF now that it may be compelled to do so under its proposed liquidation plan, which perhaps inures to the short term goals of HCM but to the pecuniary detriment of the other holders of HCLOF whose upside will be prematurely truncated.

82. Seery and HCM should not be allowed to benefit from the breach of their fiduciary duties because doing so would also cause Plaintiffs irreparable harm. The means and methods of disposal would likely render the full scope of damages to the DAF not susceptible to specific calculation—particularly as they would relate to calculating the lost opportunity cost. Seery and HCM likely do not have the assets to pay a judgment to Plaintiffs that would be rendered, simply taking the lost appreciation of the HCLOF assets.

83. Defendants are thus liable for diverting a corporate opportunity or asset that would or should have been offered to Plaintiff and the other investors. Because federal law makes the duties invoked herein unwaivable, it is preposterous that HCM, as a 0.6% holder of HCLOF, deemed itself entitled to the all of the value and optionality of the below-market Harbourvest purchase.

84. Defendants cannot rely on any contractual provision that purports to waive this violation. Nothing in any agreement purports to permit, authorize or otherwise sanitize Defendants' self-dealing. All such provisions are void.

85. In the fourth quarter of 2020, Seery and HCM notified staff that they would be terminated on December 31, 2020. That termination was postponed to February 28, 2021.

Purchasing the Harbourvest assets without staffing necessary to be a functioning Registered Investment Advisor was a strategic reversal from prior filings that outlined canceling the CLO management contracts and allowing investors to replace Highland as manager.

86. Seery's compensation agreement with the UCC incentivizes him to expedite recoveries and to prevent transparency regarding the Harbourvest settlement.

87. What is more, Seery had previously testified that the management contracts for the funds—HCLOF included—were unprofitable, and that he intended to transfer them. But he later rejected offers to purchase those management contracts for fair value and instead decided to continue to manage the funds—which is what apparently gave rise to the Harbourvest Settlement, among others. He simultaneously rejected an offer for the Harbourvest assets of $24 million, stating that they were worth much more than that.

88. Because of Defendants' malfeasance, Plaintiffs have lost over $25 million in damages—a number that continues to rise—and the Defendants should not be able to obtain a windfall.

89. For the same reason, Defendants' malfeasance has also exposed HCLOF to a massive liability from Harbourvest since the assignment of those interests is now one that is likely unenforceable under the Advisers Act, Section 47(b), if there was unequal information.

90. HCM and HCFA are liable as principals for breach of fiduciary duty, as are the principals and compliance staff of each entity.

91. Plaintiffs seek disgorgement, damages, exemplary damages, attorneys' fees and costs. To the extent the Court determines that this claim had to have been brought derivatively on behalf of HCLOF, then Plaintiffs represent that any pre-suit demand would have been futile since asking HCM to bring suit against its principal, Seery, would have been futile.

SECOND CAUSE OF ACTION
Breach of HCLOF Company Agreement
(By Holdco against HCLOF, HCM and HCFA)

92. Plaintiffs respectfully incorporate the foregoing factual averments as if fully set forth herein and further alleges the following:

93. On November 15, 2017, the members of HCLOF, along with HCLOF and HCFA, executed the Members Agreement Relating to the Company (the “Company Agreement”).

94. The Company Agreement governs the rights and duties of the members of HCLOF.

95. Section 6.2 of HCLOF Company Agreement provides that when a member “other than ... CLO Holdco [Plaintiff] or a Highland Affiliate,” intends to sell its interest in HCLOF to a third party (i.e., not to an affiliate of the selling member), then the other members have the first right of refusal to purchase those interests pro rata for the same price that the member has agreed to sell.

96. Here, despite the fact that Harbourvest agreed to sell its interests in HCLOF for $22.5 million when they were worth more than double that, Defendants did not offer Plaintiff the chance to buy its pro rata share of those interests at the same agreed price of $22.5 million (adjusted pro rata).

97. The transfer and sale of the interests to HCM were accomplished as part of the Harbourvest Settlement which was approved by the Bankruptcy Court.

98. Plaintiff was not informed of the fact that Harbourvest had offered its shares to Defendant HCM for $22.5 million—which was under 50% of their true value.

99. Plaintiff was not offered the right to purchase its pro rata share of the Harbourvest interests prior to the agreement being struck or prior to court approval being sought.

100. Had Plaintiff been allowed to do so, it would have obtained the interests with a net equity value over their purchase price worth in excess of $20 million.

101. No discovery or opportunity to investigate was afforded Plaintiff prior to lodging an objection in the Bankruptcy Court.

102. Plaintiff is entitled to specific performance or, alternatively, disgorgement, constructive trust, damages, attorneys' fees and costs.

THIRD CAUSE OF ACTION
Negligence
(By the DAF and CLO Holdco against HCM and HCFA)

103. Plaintiffs respectfully incorporate the foregoing factual averments as if fully set forth herein, and further alleges the following:

104. Plaintiffs incorporate the foregoing causes of action and note that all the foregoing violations were breaches of the common law duty of care imposed by law on each of Seery, HCFA and HCM.

105. Each of these Defendants should have known that their actions were violations of the Advisers Act, HCM's internal policies and procedures, the Company Agreement, or all three.

106. Seery and HCM owed duties of care to Plaintiffs to follow HCM's internal policies and procedures regarding both the propriety and means of trading with a customer [Harbourvest], the propriety and means of trading as a principal in an account but in a manner adverse to another customer [the DAF and Holdco], and the proper means of valuing the CLOs and other assets held by HCLOF.

107. It would be foreseeable that failing to disclose the current value of the assets in the HCLOF would impact Plaintiffs negatively in a variety of ways.

108. It would be reasonably foreseeable that failing to correctly and accurately calculate the current net asset value of the market value of the interests would cause Plaintiffs to value the Harbourvest Interests differently.

109. It would be reasonably foreseeable that referring to old and antiquated market quotations and/or valuations of the HCLOF assets or interests would result in a mis-valuation of HCLOF and, therefore, a mis-valuation of the Harbourvest Interests.

110. Likewise, it would have been foreseeable that Plaintiff's failure to give Plaintiff the opportunity to purchase the Harbourvest shares at a $22.5 million valuation would cause Plaintiff damages. Defendants knew that the value of those assets was rising. They further knew or should have known that whereas those assets were sold to HCM for an allowance of claims to be funded in the future, selling them to Plaintiff would have provided the estate with cash funds.

111. Defendants' negligence foreseeably and directly caused Plaintiff harm.

112. Plaintiff is thus entitled to damages.

FOURTH CAUSE OF ACTION
Racketeering Influenced Corrupt Organizations Act
(CLO Holdco and DAF against HCM)

113. Plaintiffs respectfully incorporate the foregoing factual averments as if fully set forth herein, and further alleges the following:

114. Defendants are liable for violations of the Racketeer Influenced and Corrupt Organizations ("RICO") Act, 18 U.S.C. § 1961 et seq., for the conduct of an enterprise through a pattern of racketeering activity.

115. HCLOF constitutes an enterprise under the RICO Act. Additionally, or in the alternative, HCM, HCLA, and HCLOF constituted an association-in-fact enterprise. The purpose of the association-in-fact was the perpetuation of Seery's position at HCM and using the

Harbourvest settlement as a vehicle to enrich persons other than the HCLOF investors, including Holdco and the DAF, and the perpetuation of HCM's holdings in collateralized loan obligations owned by HCLOF, while attempting to deny Plaintiffs the benefit of its rights of ownership.

116. The association-in-fact was bound by informal and formal connections for years prior to the elicited purpose, and then changed when HCM joined it in order to achieve the association's illicit purpose. For example, HCM is the parent and control person over HCFA, which is the portfolio manager of HCLOF pursuant to a contractual agreement—both are registered investment advisors and provide advisory and management services to HCLOF.

117. Defendants injured Plaintiffs through their continuous course of conduct of the HCM-HCLA-HCLOF association-in-fact enterprise. HCM's actions (performed through Seery and others) constitute violations of the federal wire fraud, mail fraud, fraud in connection with a case under Title 11, and/or securities fraud laws, pursuant to 18 U.S.C. § 1961(1)(B) and (D).

118. HCM operated in such a way as to violate insider trading rules and regulations when it traded with Harbourvest while it had material, non-public information that it had not supplied to Harbourvest or to Plaintiffs.

119. In or about November 2020, HCM and Harbourvest entered into discussions about settling the Harbourvest Claims. Seery's conduct of HCLOF and HCLA on behalf of HCM through the interstate mails and/or wires caused HCM to agree to the purchase of Harbourvest's interests in HCLOF.

120. On or about each of September 30, 2020, through December 31, 2020, Seery, through his conduct of the enterprise, utilized the interstate wires and/or mails to obtain or arrive at valuations of the HCLOF interests. Seery's conduct of the enterprise caused them to cease sending the valuation reports to Plaintiffs, which eventually allowed Plaintiffs to be misled into believing that Seery had properly valued the interests.

121. On or about September 30, 2020, Seery transmitted or caused to be transmitted though the interstate wires information to HCLOF investors from HCM (via HCFA), including Harbourvest, regarding the value of HCLOF interests and underlying assets.

122. Additionally, Seery operated HCM in such a way that he concealed the true value of the HCLOF interests by utilizing the interstate wires and mails to transmit communications to the court in the form of written representations on or about December 23, 2020, and then further transmitted verbal representations of the current market value (the vastly understated one) on January 14, 2021, during live testimony.

123. However, Harbourvest was denied the full picture and the true value of the underlying portfolio. At the end of October and November of 2020, HCM had updated the net asset values of the HCLOF portfolio. According to sources at HCM at the time, the HCLOF assets were worth north of $72,969,492 as of November 30, 2020. Harbourvest's share of that would have been $36,484,746.

124. The HCLOF net asset value had reached $86,440,024 as of December 31, 2021, which means that by the time Seery was testifying in the Bankruptcy Court on January 14, 2021, the fair market value of the Harbourvest Assets was $22.5 million, when it was actually closer to $43,202,724. Seery, speaking on behalf of HCM, knew of the distinction in value.

125. On January 14, 2021, Seery also testified that he (implying HCM, HCLA and HCLOF) had valued the Harbourvest Assets at their current valuation and at fair market value. This was not true because the valuation that was used and testified to was ancient. The ostensible purpose of this concealment was to induce Plaintiff and other interest holdings to take no action.

126. In supporting HCM’s motion to the Bankruptcy Court to approve the Harbourvest Settlement, Seery omitted the fact that HCM was purchasing the interests at a massive discount, which would violate the letter and spirit of the Adviser’s Act.

127. Seery was informed in late December 2020 at an in-person meeting in Dallas to which Seery had to fly that HCLOF and HCM had to suspend trading in MGM Studios’ securities because Seery had learned from James Dondero, who was on the Board of MGM, of a potential purchase of the company. The news of the MGM purchase should have caused Seery to revalue the HCLOF investment in MGM.

128. In or around October 2020, Seery (who controls the Board of CSS Medical) was pursuing “equatization” of CSS Medical’s debt, which would have increased the value of certain securities by 25%. In several communications through the U.S. interstate wires and/or mails, and with Plaintiffs, and the several communications with Harbourvest during the negotiations of the settlement, Seery failed to disclose these changes which were responsible in part for the ever-growing value of the HCLOF CLO portfolio.

129. Seery was at all relevant times operating as an agent of HCM.

130. This series of related violations of the wire fraud, mail fraud, and securities fraud laws, in connection with the HCM bankruptcy, constitute a continuing pattern and practice of racketeering for the purpose of winning a windfall for HCM and himself--a nearly $30,000,000 payday under the confirmation agreement.

131. The federal RICO statute makes it actionable for one’s conduct of an enterprise to include “fraud in connection with a [bankruptcy case]”. The Advisers’ Act antifraud provisions require full transparency and accountability to an advisers’ investors and clients and does not require a showing of reliance or materiality. The wire fraud provision likewise is violated when,

as here, the interstate wires are used as part of a “scheme or artifice ... for obtaining money or property by means of false ... pretenses, [or] representations[.]”

132. Accordingly, because Defendants’ conduct violated the wire fraud and mail fraud laws, and the Advisers’ Act antifraud provisions, and their acts and omissions were in connection with the HCM Bankruptcy proceedings under Title 11, they are sufficient to bring such conduct within the purview of the RICO civil action provisions, 18 U.S.C. § 1964.

133. Plaintiffs are thus entitled to damages, treble damages, attorneys’ fees and costs of suit, in addition to all other injunctive or equitable relief to which they are justly entitled.

FIFTH CAUSE OF ACTION
Tortious Interference
(CLO Holdco against HCM)

134. Plaintiff respectfully incorporates the foregoing factual averments as if fully set forth herein and further alleges the following:

135. At all relevant times, HCM owned a 0.6% interest in HCLOF.

136. At all relevant times, Seery and HCM knew that Plaintiff had specific rights in HCLOF under the Company Agreement, § 6.2.

137. Section 6.2 of HCLOF Company agreement provides that when a member “other than ... CLO Holdco [Plaintiff] or a Highland Affiliate,” intends to sell its interest in HCLOF to a third party (i.e., not an affiliate of the member), then the other members have the first right of refusal to purchase those interests pro rata for the same price that the member has agreed to sell.

138. HCM, through Seery, tortiously interfered with Plaintiff’s contractual rights with HCLOF by, among other things, diverting the Harbourvest Interests in HCLOF to HCM without giving HCLOF or Plaintiff the option to purchase those assets at the same favorable price that HCM obtained them.

139. HCM and Seery tortiously interfered with Plaintiff's contractual rights with HCLOF by, among other things, misrepresenting the fair market value as $22.5 million and concealing the current value of those interests.

140. But for HCM and Seery's tortious interference, Plaintiff would have been able to acquire the Harbourvest Interests at a highly favorable price. HCM and Seery's knowledge of the rights and intentional interference with these rights has caused damage to Plaintiff CLO Holdco.

141. Plaintiff is therefore entitled to damages from HCM and Seery, as well as exemplary damages.

VI.

JURY DEMAND

142. Plaintiff demands trial by jury on all claims so triable.

VII.

PRAYER FOR RELIEF

143. Wherefore, for the foregoing reasons, Plaintiffs respectfully pray that the Court enter judgment in its favor and against Defendants, jointly and severally, for:

- a. Actual damages;
- b. Disgorgement;
- c. Treble damages;
- d. Exemplary and punitive damages;
- e. Attorneys' fees and costs as allowed by common law, statute or contract;
- f. A constructive trust to avoid dissipation of assets;
- g. All such other relief to which Plaintiff is justly entitled.

Okay. So you -- 14 A. -- on the -- on the patent. 15 Q. Okay. So you've had a little bit of 16 experience with depositions. But just 17 generally speaking, I'm going to ask you a 18 series of questions. It's very important that 19 you allow me to finish my question before you 20 begin your answer. 21 Is that fair? 22 A. Absolutely. 23 Q. And I will certainly try to extend 24 the same courtesy to you, but if I -- if I step 25 on your words, will you let me know that?	Page 9 1 GRANT SCOTT - 1/21/2021 2 A. Okay. 3 Q. And if there's anything that I ask 4 that you don't understand, will you let me know 5 that as well? 6 A. Yes. I'll try -- I'll do my best. 7 Q. Okay. So this is a virtual 8 deposition. We're not in the same room. I am 9 going to be showing you documents today. The 10 documents will be put up on the screen. This 11 isn't a -- a trick of any kind. If at any time 12 you see a document up on the screen and either 13 you believe or you have any reason to want to 14 read other portions of the document, will you 15 let me know that? 16 A. Yes, I -- yes, I will. Uh-huh. 17 Q. With respect to the Dondero family 18 matter, I really don't want to go into the 19 substance of that, but I do want to know 20 whether you testified voluntarily in that 21 matter or whether you -- whether you testified 22 pursuant to subpoena. 23 A. I would have done that, but the 24 first time I found out about it was a -- was a 25 subpoena that I received. I wasn't given the

Page 12 1 GRANT SCOTT - 1/21/2021 2 role of director of CLO HoldCo Limited, was 3 that entity already in existence? 4 A. I believe so. I'm not certain. I'm 5 not certain. 6 Q. What are your duties and 7 responsibilities as a director of CLO HoldCo 8 Limited? 9 A. Well, my day-to-day responsibilities 10 are to interface with -- with the manager of 11 the -- of the assets of CLO. I do have some 12 role in -- with respect to some of the entities 13 that are -- I -- I have a limited role with 14 respect to a subset of the charitable 15 foundations that receive money from the CLO 16 HoldCo structure, which is commonly referred to 17 as the DAF. There's -- sometimes those are 18 used interchangeably. 19 Q. What terms are used interchangeably? 20 A. Well, the DAF and CLO HoldCo are 21 frequently -- by -- by other people they're -- 22 it's the short -- it's the -- I guess it's 23 easier to use the acronym DAF than CLO HoldCo 24 Limited, so I'm frequently having to -- there 25 is a DAF entity so -- that's above -- above CLO	Page 13 1 GRANT SCOTT - 1/21/2021 2 in terms of the management, and so it's 3 frequently confusing and I'm having to clarify 4 at times which entity we're talking about, 5 but -- but other parties frequently use those 6 terms interchangeably. 7 Q. Okay. 8 MR. MORRIS: Lisa, when we use the 9 phrase DAF, because you'll hear that a lot, 10 it's all caps, D-A-F. 11 BY MR. MORRIS: 12 Q. You mentioned that you interface 13 with the manager of assets of CLOs. Do I have 14 that right? 15 A. Well, of all the assets. 16 Q. Okay. Who is the manager of the 17 assets that you're referring to? 18 A. Highland Capital Management. 19 Q. Highland Capital Management manages 20 all of the assets -- withdrawn. 21 Is it your understanding that 22 Highland Capital Management manages all the 23 assets that are owned by CLO HoldCo Limited? 24 A. Yes. 25 Q. Who makes the investment decisions

1 GRANT SCOTT - 1/21/2021

2 on behalf of CLO HoldCo Limited?

3 A. Highland -- those managers that you

4 mentioned.

5 Q. Okay. I didn't mention anybody in

6 particular.

7 A. Oh, I'm sorry. The -- the -- the

8 money manager -- could you repeat that

9 question? I'm sorry. I'm so sorry.

10 Q. Can you just -- can you just

11 identify for me the person who makes investment

12 decisions on behalf of CLO HoldCo Limited.

13 A. It's -- well, it's -- it's persons

14 as I understand it. I inter- -- interface with

15 a -- with a group, but it's -- it's Highland

16 Capital employee -- Highland Capital Management

17 employees.

18 Q. Okay. Can you just name any of 19 them, please.

20 A. Hunter Covitz, Jim Dondero. Mark

21 Okada's no longer there, but I believe he was

22 involved, and there are others that I interface

23 with.

24 Q. Can you -- can you recall the name

25 of anybody other than Mr. Okada and Mr. Dondero

Page 16

1 GRANT SCOTT - 1/21/2021

2 Q. Is it fair to say that you do not

3 make decisions, investment decisions, on behalf

4 of CLO HoldCo Limited?

5 A. Yes.

6 Q. Does CLO HoldCo Limited have any

7 employees that you know of?

8 A. No.

9 Q. Does CLO HoldCo have any --

10 withdrawn.

11 Does CLO HoldCo Limited have any

12 officers that you know of?

13 A. No.

14 Q. So am I correct that you're the only

15 representative in the world of CLO HoldCo in 16 terms of being a director, officer, or

17 employee?

18 A. Yes.

19 Q. Do you receive any compensation from 20 CLO HoldCo for your services as the director?

21 A. I do now.

22 Q. When did that begin?

23 A. I believe in the middle of 2012.

24 Q. Okay. And had you served as a

25 director prior to that time without

Page 15

1 GRANT SCOTT - 1/21/2021

2 and Mr. Covitz?

3 A. Yeah. Over the years I've worked

4 with Tim Cournoyer, Thomas Surgent, but I

5 think -- I think that's the core -- the core

6 group.

7 Q. All right. And is there anybody

8 within that core group who has the final

9 decision-making authority concerning the

10 investments in CLO HoldCo Limited?

11 A. I don't -- I don't know. I'm sorry.

12 Say that again. I just want to -- I'm sorry.

13 I'm trying to be -- I'm not trying to -- I'm

14 trying to be --

15 Q. I understand. And --

16 A. Sorry. If you could just repeat it.

17 Q. Sure. Is there any particular

18 person who has the final decision-making

19 authority for investments that are being made

20 on behalf of CLO HoldCo Limited?

21 A. Amongst that group I am -- I am not

22 sure.

23 Q. Okay. So are there any other

24 directors of CLO HoldCo besides yourself?

25 A. No.

Page 17

1 GRANT SCOTT - 1/21/2021

2 compensation?

3 A. Yes.

4 Q. And have you been the sole director

5 of CLO HoldCo Limited since the time of your

6 appointment approximately ten years ago?

7 A. Yes.

8 Q. Nobody else has served in that

9 capacity; is that right?

10 A. That is correct.

11 Q. There have been no employees or

12 officers of that entity during the time that

13 you've served as director, correct?

14 A. Yes.

15 Q. Do you know who formed CLO HoldCo

16 Limited?

17 A. I do not.

18 Q. Do you know why CLO HoldCo Limited

19 was formed?

20 A. I believe so.

21 Q. Can you explain to me why -- your

22 understanding as to why CLO HoldCo was formed.

23 A. So as I understand things, Jim

24 Dondero wanted to create a charitable

25 foundation-like entity or entities, and tax

Page 20 1 GRANT SCOTT - 1/21/2021 2 most of my time is spent working with the 3 various compliance and other people for 4 addressing issues of get- -- you know, getting 5 taxes filed. It runs -- it runs the gamut of 6 every aspect of the organization being -- being 7 handled by Highland. 8 Q. Okay. 9 A. You know, unlike -- unlike my 10 financial -- unlike a financial planner that 11 might, you know, manage assets, they -- they do 12 it all, and I interface with them regularly to 13 maintain -- mostly to deal with compliance 14 issues. 15 Q. Who's the com- -- is there a person 16 who's in charge of compliance? 17 A. I believe Thomas Surgent. I 18 mentioned him. I believe he also has that 19 role, but it's -- you know, they do have 20 turnover, I guess, in that. It's -- I guess 21 they refer to it as the back office. I've 22 heard that term be used, but -- basically, it's 23 a large number of people that have changed over 24 time, but it's -- it's more -- I believe it's 25 more than one collectively.	Page 21 1 GRANT SCOTT - 1/21/2021 2 Q. How much time do you devote -- you 3 know, can you estimate either on a weekly or a 4 monthly basis how many -- how much time do you 5 devote to serving as the director of CLO HoldCo 6 Limited? 7 A. I thought about that. Well, let -- 8 let's put it this way: There was the 9 prebankruptcy time I spent per day, and then 10 there was the postbankruptcy time I've spent 11 per -- per -- or per week -- excuse me, or 12 per -- I've estimated it as probably a day -- 13 it's so intermittent it's -- it's hard, okay? 14 It's -- I don't dedicate my Mondays to only 15 doing that and then Tuesday through Friday I 16 don't, right? I -- it's -- I have to piece 17 together everything that occurs during the 18 week. There might be some weeks where I don't 19 have any contact. There might be every day of 20 the week I have multiple contact. There may be 21 days where from morning to night there is so 22 much contact, it precludes me from doing 23 anything else meaningfully. So -- but I would 24 estimate it's probably three or four -- maybe 25 three days, four days a month when things are

Page 22 1 GRANT SCOTT - 1/21/2021 2 going well. 3 Q. And -- and I think you -- you 4 testified just now that there was kind of a 5 difference between prebankruptcy and 6 postbankruptcy. Do I have that right? 7 A. Yes. 8 Q. And can you tell me -- is it fair to 9 say that before the bankruptcy, you didn't 10 devote much time to CLO HoldCo, or do I have 11 that wrong? 12 A. Well, I -- just the time that -- 13 that I mentioned just -- I'm sorry. The -- the 14 time I just mentioned now when you asked me, 15 that was the pre period. Excuse me. I haven't 16 talked about the postbankruptcy period. 17 Q. So are you -- are you -- are you 18 devoting more time or less time since the 19 bankruptcy? 20 A. Much more. 21 Q. Much more since the bankruptcy 22 filing? 23 A. Yes. 24 Q. And so why did the bankruptcy filing 25 cause you to spend more time as a director of	Page 23 1 GRANT SCOTT - 1/21/2021 2 CLO HoldCo Limited? 3 A. Well, initially, and this would 4 be -- this would be late 2019, it was -- 5 aft- -- after the bankruptcy was -- was filed 6 and I obtained counsel, who are on the phone 7 now -- or in this deposition now, excuse me, 8 that was -- that transition occurred because 9 CLO was a debtor -- excuse me, a creditor to -- 10 to the debtor and had to take steps to 11 establish its -- its claim. So if I understand 12 the -- things correctly, the -- the debtor 13 identified as part of the filing -- I don't 14 know how bankruptcy works, but if I under- -- 15 if my recollection is correct, there's a 16 hierarchy from biggest to smallest, and we were 17 relatively high up. And when I say we or I, 18 I -- I just mean CLO was relatively high up. 19 And so initially, for the first period of so 20 many months, the -- the exclusive focus was on 21 our position as a creditor -- a creditor having 22 a certain claim against a debtor. 23 Q. Can you describe for me your 24 understanding of the nature of the claim 25 against the debtor.
Page 24 1 GRANT SCOTT - 1/21/2021 2 A. It was various obligations that were 3 owed to -- to CLO, things that had been 4 previously donated or -- or agreements that had 5 been set up that transferred certain assets, 6 and it was basically the -- the -- the amounts 7 were derived from those sorts of transactions. 8 Q. Okay. You're a patent lawyer; is 9 that right? 10 A. I -- I'm exclusively a patent 11 attorney, yes. 12 Q. Have you been a patent lawyer on an 13 exclusive basis since the time you graduated 14 from law school? 15 A. From law school, yes. 16 Q. Can you just describe for me 17 generally your educational background. 18 A. So I'm an electrical engineer by 19 training. I graduated from the University of 20 Virginia in 1984. I then went to graduate 21 school at the University of Illinois. I 22 received my master's degree in 1986, and then I 23 immediately joined IBM Research at the Thomas 24 Watson Institute in New York where I was a -- 25 my title was research scientist, but I was -- I	Page 25 1 GRANT SCOTT - 1/21/2021 2 guess I was more of a research engineer, if 3 that matters. And I did that until I 4 transitioned -- or I began law school in the 5 fall of 1988, and then I graduated law school 6 in May of 1991. 7 Q. And where did you go to law school? 8 A. University of North Carolina. 9 Q. Do you have any formal training in 10 investing or finance? 11 A. I do not. 12 Q. Do you hold yourself out as an 13 expert in any field of investment? 14 A. None -- none at all. 15 Q. Have you had any formal training 16 with respect to compliance issues? You 17 mentioned compliance issues earlier. 18 A. No. 19 Q. Now, do you have any knowledge about 20 compliance rules or regulations? 21 A. Minimal that I've -- that have 22 occurred organically but -- but generally, no. 23 Q. You don't hold yourself out as an 24 expert in com- -- in the area of compliance, 25 correct?

Page 26 1 GRANT SCOTT - 1/21/2021 2 A. No. No. I'm -- no. 3 Q. Do you have any particular 4 investment philosophy or strategy? 5 MR. CLARK: I'm going to object to 6 the form of the question. And, John, 7 can -- can we get an agreement that -- I 8 know you were objecting just simply on the 9 form basis yesterday -- that objection to 10 form is sufficient today? 11 MR. MORRIS: Sure. 12 MR. CLARK: Okay. And I object to 13 form. Grant, you can answer to the extent 14 you can. 15 THE WITNESS: I forget the question 16 now that you interrupted. I'm sorry. 17 BY MR. MORRIS: 18 Q. So -- so -- and I'm going to ask a 19 different question because in hindsight, that's 20 a good objection. 21 In your capacity as the director 22 of -- withdrawn. 23 Do the employees of Highland that 24 you identified earlier, do they make investment 25 decisions on behalf of CLO HoldCo Limited	Page 27 1 GRANT SCOTT - 1/21/2021 2 without your prior knowledge on occasion? 3 A. On occasion, they do. 4 Q. So there's no rule that your prior 5 approval is needed before investments are made, 6 right? 7 A. I don't know whether they have an 8 internal guideline as to the amount that 9 triggers when they get in touch with me or 10 whether it's a new -- a change, something new, 11 or -- versus recurring. So I don't -- I don't 12 know what they use internally for that metric. 13 Q. Okay. Are you aware of any 14 guideline that was ever used by the Highland 15 employees whereby they were required to obtain 16 your consent prior to effectuating transactions 17 on behalf of CLO HoldCo Limited? 18 A. I understand there was one or more, 19 but I do not know that. 20 Q. Okay. Did you ever see such a 21 policy or list of rules that would require your 22 prior consent before the Highland employees 23 effectuated transactions on behalf of CLO 24 HoldCo Limited? 25 A. Possibly some time ago, but I -- I
Page 28 1 GRANT SCOTT - 1/21/2021 2 don't recall. 3 Q. Okay. So -- withdrawn. I'll -- 4 I'll go on. 5 How did you come to be the director 6 of CLO HoldCo? 7 A. I was asked either by Jim Dondero 8 or -- directly or indirectly by -- by Jim 9 Dondero. 10 Q. And who is Jim Dondero? 11 A. Well, at the time, he was the head 12 or one of the heads of Highland Capital 13 Management, a friend of mine. 14 Q. How long have you known Mr. Dondero? 15 A. Since high school so that -- 1976. 16 Q. Where did you and Mr. Dondero grow 17 up? 18 A. In northern New Jersey. 19 Q. Do you consider him among the 20 closest friends you have? 21 A. I think he is my closest friend. 22 Q. Did you two go to college together? 23 A. We actually -- for the last -- last 24 two years I was at UVA, University of Virginia, 25 excuse me, he and I were -- were at UVA. So we	Page 29 1 GRANT SCOTT - 1/21/2021 2 did not start out at UVA initially, but -- but 3 we both transferred -- I transferred my 4 sophomore year. I was actually a chemical 5 engineer at the University of Delaware when I 6 transferred in, and then he transferred in his 7 junior year. So we were there at college for 8 two years. 9 Q. And -- and based on your 10 relationship with him, is it your understanding 11 that one of the reasons he chose to transfer to 12 UVA is -- is to -- because you were there? 13 A. Oh, no. He transferred -- he -- 14 he -- he transferred there because of the -- so 15 he went to the University of -- he -- he went 16 to Virginia Tech University, which is more 17 known as being an engineering school, which I 18 might have wanted to go to, and less a finance 19 business school. And if I understand things 20 correctly, and I believe I do, he transferred 21 to UVA because of the well-known 22 business/finance program, accounting program. 23 Q. And did you -- did you and 24 Mr. Dondero become roommates at UVA? 25 A. We weren't roommates, but we lived

Page 30 1 GRANT SCOTT - 1/21/2021 2 in the -- we were housemates. I'm sorry. We 3 were housemates. 4 Q. So you shared a house together. How 5 would you describe your relationship with 6 Mr. Dondero today? 7 A. It's -- it's been strained a while, 8 for some time, but -- but generally, very good. 9 Good to very good. 10 Q. Without -- without getting personal 11 here, can you just generally identify the 12 source of the strain that you described. 13 A. This -- I think it would be fair to 14 say that this bankruptcy, particularly events 15 in 2020 so some months after the bankruptcy was 16 declared, things have become -- we -- we still 17 have a close friendship, but -- but things 18 are -- are a bit -- are a bit more difficult. 19 Q. Were you ever married? 20 A. I've never been married. 21 Q. Did you serve as Mr. Dondero's best 22 man at his wedding? 23 A. I did. 24 Q. Is it fair to say that -- that 25 Mr. Dondero trusts you?	Page 31 1 GRANT SCOTT - 1/21/2021 2 MR. CLARK: Objection, form. 3 BY MR. MORRIS: 4 Q. Withdrawn. 5 Do you believe that Mr. Dondero 6 trusts you? 7 A. I do. 8 Q. Over the years, is it fair to say 9 that Mr. Dondero has confided in you? 10 MR. CLARK: Objection, form. 11 BY MR. MORRIS: 12 Q. You can answer if you understand it. 13 A. I think so. 14 Q. I -- I -- what's your answer? You 15 think so? 16 A. Maybe you can de- -- I think of 17 confide as -- could you define confide, please. 18 Q. Sure. Is it -- is it fair to say 19 that over the -- let me -- you've known 20 Mr. Dondero for almost 45 years, right? 21 A. Yes. 22 Q. And you consider him to be your 23 closest friend in the world, right? 24 A. Yes. 25 Q. And is it fair to say over the
Page 32 1 GRANT SCOTT - 1/21/2021 2 course of those 45 years, Mr. Dondero has 3 shared confidential information with you that 4 he didn't want you to reveal publicly to other 5 people? 6 A. Yes. 7 Q. And is it your understanding that 8 because of the nature of your relationship with 9 him, he asked you to serve as the director of 10 CLO HoldCo Limited? 11 A. Yes. I believe it's because he -- 12 he trusted -- trusted me with -- with assets 13 relating to his charitable vision. I -- I -- 14 yeah. Yes. 15 Q. And is it your understanding that he 16 thought you would help him execute his 17 charitable vision? 18 A. That was the point of attraction 19 initially. It wasn't for money. I wasn't 20 being paid. That was -- the charitable mission 21 was the attraction. 22 Q. Does Mr. Dondero play any role in 23 the management of the CLO HoldCo Limited asset 24 pool? 25 MR. CLARK: Objection, form.	Page 33 1 GRANT SCOTT - 1/21/2021 2 A. I'm sorry. Could you repeat that? 3 My -- my screen went small and then big again. 4 I was distracted. 5 Q. What role does Mr. Dondero play with 6 respect to the management of the CLO HoldCo 7 Limited asset pool? 8 MR. CLARK: Objection, form. 9 A. He is with the company that manages 10 that asset pool. He's one of the people I 11 named previously as managing those assets. 12 Q. He is -- he -- he is the -- do you 13 understand that he has the final 14 decision-making power with respect to the 15 management of the assets that are held by CLO 16 HoldCo Limited? 17 MR. CLARK: Objection, form. 18 A. I believe I ansel -- answered that 19 previously. I -- I don't know who has -- for 20 certainty I do not know who has that within 21 that company. I don't. If -- if -- I -- I 22 don't know, consistent with my prior answer. 23 Q. Did you ever ask anybody who had the 24 final decision-making authority for investments 25 on behalf of CLO HoldCo Limited?

Page 34 1 GRANT SCOTT - 1/21/2021 2 A. I -- I did not. 3 Q. Did you ever make a decision on 4 behalf of -- withdrawn. 5 In your capacity as a director -- 6 withdrawn. 7 In your capacity as the sole 8 director of CLO HoldCo Limited, can you think 9 of any decision that you've ever made that 10 Mr. Dondero disagreed with? 11 A. Since -- prior to the bankruptcy, 12 no, not that I'm aware of. 13 Q. And since the bankruptcy? 14 A. There are decisions that I've made 15 that he's disagreed with. 16 Q. Can you identify them? 17 A. Yes. 18 Q. Please do so. 19 A. Okay. So the reason I'm pausing is 20 I'm trying to put these in chronological order 21 and, at the same time, identify maybe some of 22 the more important ones versus the lesser 23 important ones. One of the decisions I made 24 related to a request that I received from the 25 independent board of Highland. I don't know	Page 35 1 GRANT SCOTT - 1/21/2021 2 how the request was transmitted to me, but I 3 believe the way it played out is as follows: I 4 believe I was asked to call Jim Seery, and the 5 other -- and Russell Nelms, and the third 6 independent director, I believe his name is 7 John. I -- I forget right now what his last 8 name is. They were in New York, said they were 9 in a conference room. I called in. They were 10 very pleasant. They identified who they were, 11 and they had a request, and the request was 12 that I agree to a transfer -- or that I -- that 13 I agree to allow certain assets that were not 14 Highland's assets but they were CLO's as- -- 15 assets -- apparently, there was no dispute 16 about that at any point in time, but that I 17 agree to allow certain assets that were due CLO 18 to be transferred to the registry of the 19 bankruptcy court. And either on that call I 20 immediately agreed or ended the call, called my 21 attorney, and then immediately agreed. It was 22 a very -- I accommodated the request quickly. 23 Q. Okay. And can you just tell me at 24 what point in time you spoke with Mr. Dondero, 25 and what did he say that you recall?
Page 36 1 GRANT SCOTT - 1/21/2021 2 A. I don't know when he became aware of 3 that decision. I'm not sure I ever volunteered 4 that the decision was even made, but at some 5 point, it became an issue because he found out 6 through -- if I understand the sequence of 7 events correctly, he found out possibly through 8 his counsel because there was ultimately 9 litigation about that issue. It became known 10 to everyone at some point what I had done, I -- 11 I think. And subsequent to that, it became an 12 issue because of CLO HoldCo having fairly 13 significant cash flow issues with respect to 14 its expenses and obligations, including payment 15 of management fees as well as some of the 16 scheduled charitable giving that was -- that 17 was by contract already predefined. My 18 decision to tuck that money -- or to agree 19 to -- my agreement to let that money be tucked 20 away created some -- created some -- created 21 some problems -- 22 Q. And -- and -- 23 A. -- for CLO HoldCo. 24 Q. Okay. And I just want you to focus 25 specifically on my question, and that is, what	Page 37 1 GRANT SCOTT - 1/21/2021 2 did Mr. Dondero say to you that -- that causes 3 you to testify as you did, that this is one 4 issue that he didn't agree with? 5 A. I believe his concern was that 6 because it was money that was undisputably to 7 flow to CLO HoldCo that -- which had many, many 8 other nonliquid assets -- this was a form of a 9 liquid asset. It was cash in effect, proceeds. 10 -- that the money should have been allowed to 11 flow to be available for obligations. He 12 didn't under- -- I -- I -- I don't know what he 13 was thinking, but the -- the issue was that the 14 decision to put it into escrow was -- was -- 15 was in- -- incorrect, that there was no basis 16 for it. 17 Q. That -- that's an issue where after 18 learning of your decision, he didn't agree with 19 it; is that fair? 20 A. That's right. 21 Q. Okay. Can you think of any decision 22 that you've ever made on behalf of CLO HoldCo 23 Limited where Mr. Dondero had advance knowledge 24 of what you were going to do and he objected to 25 it, but you nevertheless overruled his

Page 40 1 GRANT SCOTT - 1/21/2021 2 A. So we had to interface with Highland 3 employees at some point to get information to 4 support our proof of claim, and my guess, and 5 it's just a guess, is that he was aware of 6 those inquiries. I -- I'm sorry. I shouldn't 7 speculate. I don't know. But he -- with 8 respect to the original proof of claim, I'm -- 9 I'm not aware of what specifically he was 10 objecting to or was -- thought should have been 11 different, but the -- with respect to the 12 amended proof of claim, which reduced the 13 original proof of claim to zero, I think that's 14 where he had a -- an issue. 15 Q. And did you speak with him about 16 that topic prior to the time the amended claim 17 was filed, or did you only speak with him after 18 it was filed? 19 A. I'm not sure the timing of that. 20 Q. And with respect to HarbourVest, did 21 he ask you to object to the settlement on 22 behalf of CLO HoldCo Limited, and is that 23 something that you declined to do? 24 MR. CLARK: Objection, form. 25 A. I'm -- I'm sorry. I was confused	Page 41 1 GRANT SCOTT - 1/21/2021 2 with the word. Could you please repeat that? 3 Q. Yes. You mentioned HarbourVest 4 before, right? 5 A. Yes. 6 Q. And you mentioned that there was an 7 issue with Mr. Dondero and you concerning 8 HarbourVest; is that right? 9 A. Yes. 10 Q. And did that have to do with whether 11 or not CLO HoldCo Limited would -- would object 12 to the debtor's motion to get the HarbourVest 13 settlement approved? 14 A. Would -- would get the 15 HarbourVest -- 16 Q. Settlement approved by the court. 17 A. I'm not trying to be difficult. 18 I'm -- I'm -- could you just repeat that one 19 more time? I'm -- 20 Q. What was -- what was -- 21 A. There was -- 22 Q. Let me try again. 23 A. Okay. 24 Q. What was the issue with respect to 25 HarbourVest that he objected to and -- and you

Page 42 1 GRANT SCOTT - 1/21/2021 2 overrode his objection and did what you thought 3 was right anyway? 4 A. Okay. Okay. That's -- that's 5 easier for me to understand. I'm sorry. So I 6 had worked with my attorney or he did the work 7 and consulted with -- we consulted, but we had 8 filed an objection, motion objecting to the 9 settlement, if I understand the terminology and 10 nomenclature correctly. Okay. He had -- we 11 had come to an agreement that we had a very 12 valid argument. That argument was evidenced 13 by, I guess it was, our motion that was 14 submitted to the court. On the day of the 15 hearing to resolve this issue, we pulled our 16 request, and that was because I believed it did 17 not have a good-faith basis in law to move 18 forward on. 19 Q. And did you discuss that issue with 20 Mr. Dondero before informing the court that CLO 21 HoldCo Limited was withdrawing its objection, 22 or did he learn about that for the first time 23 during the hearing -- 24 MR. CLARK: Objection, form. 25 BY MR. MORRIS:	Page 43 1 GRANT SCOTT - 1/21/2021 2 Q. -- if you know? 3 A. I -- I understand that he learned it 4 during the hearing. I don't know the -- I -- I 5 don't know the -- whether there was any -- I -- 6 I don't know for certain on the second half of 7 your question. 8 Q. Let me -- let me try it -- let me 9 try it this way: Did you speak with 10 Mr. Dondero about your decision to withdraw the 11 objection to the HarbourVest settlement prior 12 to the time your counsel made the announcement 13 in court? 14 A. I don't -- I don't believe so. No. 15 No. No. I'm sorry. No. 16 Q. And did -- 17 A. Okay. No. Here -- here's where 18 I'm -- I can clarify, okay? I'm sorry. I can 19 clarify. 20 Q. That's all right. 21 A. I gave the decision to my 22 attorney -- I -- I agreed with the 23 recommendation of my attorney, okay? It wasn't 24 my -- 25 Q. Did you have a good --
Page 44 1 GRANT SCOTT - 1/21/2021 2 A. -- thought, okay? 3 THE REPORTER: I didn't -- 4 A. Okay. So he -- 5 Q. It was a recommendation. 6 A. Yeah. So he -- he called me with a 7 recommendation. It was highly urgent. You 8 know, I was coming out of the men's room, had 9 my phone with me. I got the call. 10 MR. CLARK: Hey, Grant, I -- Grant, 11 I just want to caution you not to -- to -- 12 and I don't think counsel is looking for 13 this but not to disclose the -- the 14 substance of any of your communications 15 with counsel, okay? 16 THE WITNESS: Thank you. 17 A. So -- 18 THE WITNESS: Thank you. I'm -- I'm 19 sorry. 20 BY MR. MORRIS: 21 Q. It's -- it's really a very simple 22 question. Do you recall -- 23 A. He made a recommendation. I -- I -- 24 I think I can answer your question without 25 going off tangent. I'm sorry. So he -- my	Page 45 1 GRANT SCOTT - 1/21/2021 2 attorney made a recommendation. I agreed with 3 it. We with- -- I -- I told him to withdraw -- 4 or I authorized him to withdraw. 5 Q. Okay. 6 A. Then I received a communication, and 7 I -- I guess the most likely scenario is the 8 motion had been withdrawn by the time Jim 9 Dondero found out. 10 Q. And -- and did he write to you, or 11 did he call you? Did he send you a text? 12 A. He called me. 13 Q. What did he say? 14 A. He was asking why, and I explained, 15 and I said I agreed with the decision and I was 16 sticking with the decision. 17 Q. Let's just -- let's just move on to 18 a new topic, and let's talk about the structure 19 of -- of CLO HoldCo. Are you generally 20 familiar with the ownership structure of CLO 21 HoldCo? 22 A. Yeah. I mean, in terms -- 23 Q. Are -- are you -- are you generally 24 familiar with it? It's not a test. I'm just 25 asking do you have a general familiarity --

2 A. With CLO HoldCo or the entities

3 associated with CLO HoldCo?

4 Q. The latter.

5 A. Yes, I believe so.

6 Q. All right. I've prepared what's

7 called a demonstrative exhibit. It's just --

8 A. Yes.

9 Q. -- just -- it's a document that, I

10 think, reflects facts, but I want to ask you

11 about it.

12 MR. MORRIS: La Asia, can we please

13 put up Exhibit 1.

14 (SCOTT EXHIBIT 1, Organizational

15 Structure: CLO HoldCo, Ltd., was marked

16 for identification.)

17 BY MR. MORRIS:

18 Q. Okay. Can you see that, Mr. Scott?

19 A. Yes, I can.

20 Q. Okay. So I think I took the 21 information from resolutions that were attached

22 to the CLO HoldCo proof of claim, and that's 23 why you got that little footnote there at the 24 bottom of the page. But let's start in the

25 lower right-hand corner and see if this chart

2 particular structure, to the best of your

3 knowledge?

4 A. I -- I didn't -- I'm sorry. I

5 didn't hear you very well.

6 Q. To the best of your knowledge, did

7 Mr. Dondero make the decisions to establish the 8 structure that's reflected on this page?

9 A. Oh, I don't know if he made the 10 decision to establish this structure, although

11 it's -- it's -- I'm sorry. Strike that. I --

12 if -- if what you're saying is did he approve

13 of this structure, to my knowledge, yes.

14 Q. Okay. Do you hold any position with

15 respect to Charitable DAF Fund, L.P.?

16 A. I -- I -- your chart says no. I --

17 I -- I thought I had a role there, too.

18 Q. I don't know. I don't have

19 information on that. That's why I'm asking the

20 question.

21 A. I -- I -- I believe -- yes, I

22 believe I have the same role as I do in -- in

23 CLO HoldCo.

24 Q. And that would be director?

25 A. Yes.

Page 47

1 GRANT SCOTT - 1/21/2021

2 comports with your understanding of the facts.

3 Do you know that CLO HoldCo Limited

4 was formed in the Cayman Islands?

5 A. Yes.

6 Q. And to the best of your knowledge,

7 is CLO HoldCo Limited 100 percent owned by the

8 Charitable DAF Fund, L.P.? If you're not sure,

9 just say you're not sure if you don't know.

10 It's not a test.

11 A. So the -- the -- the familiarity

12 I -- I'm -- I'm familiar with the different --

13 I'm confused with the arrangement of the boxes

14 and the ownership interest versus managerial

15 interest. I believe that's -- that's right.

16 Q. Okay. And -- and you're the sole

17 director of CLO HoldCo Limited, right?

18 A. Yes.

19 Q. And this whole structure was -- the 20 idea for this structure, to the best of your

21 knowledge, was to implement Mr. Dondero's plan

22 for charitable giving; is that fair?

23 A. Yes. Ultimately, yes.

24 Q. And is it fair to say then that

25 he -- he made the decision to establish this

Page 49

1 GRANT SCOTT - 1/21/2021

2 Q. And to the best of your knowledge,

3 is the Charitable DAF GP, LLC, the general

4 partner of Charitable DAF Fund, L.P.?

5 A. Yes.

6 Q. And is it your understanding that

7 you are the managing member of Charitable DAF

8 GP, LLC?

9 A. Yes.

10 Q. Does Charitable DAF GP, LLC, have

11 any employees?

12 A. No.

13 Q. Does Charitable DAF GP, LLC, have

14 any officers or directors?

15 A. No.

16 Q. Are you the only person affiliated

17 with Charitable DAF GP, LLC, to the best of 18 your --

19 A. I believe so.

20 Q. Do you receive any compensation for 21 serving as the managing member of Charitable

22 DAF GP, LLC?

23 A. No. The -- I don't interact with it

24 very often. It's -- no, I don't receive any

25 compensation.

Page 50 1 GRANT SCOTT - 1/21/2021 2 Q. Can you tell me in your capacity as 3 the managing member of Charitable DAF GP, LLC, 4 what's the nature of that entity's business? 5 A. It -- it doesn't perform any 6 day-to-day operations. My understanding is -- 7 is that it's -- it's there for purposes of 8 compliance. I can't recall the last time I had 9 any activity with respect to that. 10 Q. How about the Charitable DAF Fund, 11 L.P.? I apologize if I've asked you these 12 questions. 13 A. It -- it's the same. I -- I -- my 14 activity is almost exclusively CLO HoldCo. 15 Q. All right. Let me just ask the 16 questions nevertheless. Does Charitable DAF 17 Fund, L.P., have any employees? 18 A. Employees? No. 19 Q. Does it have any officers and 20 directors? 21 A. No. 22 Q. Are you the sole director of 23 Charitable DAF Fund, L.P.? 24 A. Yes, I believe so. 25 Q. So if we -- if we put under	Page 51 1 GRANT SCOTT - 1/21/2021 2 Charitable DAF Fund, L.P., Grant Scott, 3 director, and we put under CLO HoldCo Limited 4 Grant Scott, director, would everything on the 5 right side of that page be accurate, to the 6 best of your -- 7 A. I believe so. 8 Q. Well, let's move to the left side of 9 the page. Have you heard of the entity 10 Charitable DAF HoldCo Limited? 11 A. Yes. 12 Q. Are you the sole director of 13 Charitable DAF HoldCo Limited? 14 A. Yes. 15 Q. How did you become -- how did you 16 come to be the char- -- the sole director of 17 Charitable DAF HoldCo Limited? 18 A. That was when it was established. 19 Q. And did Mr. Dondero ask you to serve 20 in that capacity? 21 A. Yes. 22 Q. And did Mr. Dondero ask you to serve 23 as the managing member of Charitable DA- -- DAF 24 GP, LLC? 25 A. Yes.
Page 52 1 GRANT SCOTT - 1/21/2021 2 Q. And did Mr. Dondero ask you to serve 3 as the director of Charitable DAF, L.P. -- 4 withdrawn. 5 Did Mr. Dondero ask you to serve as 6 director of Charitable DAF Fund, L.P.? 7 A. Yes. 8 Q. To the best of your knowledge, does 9 Charitable DAF HoldCo Limited own 99 percent of 10 the limited partnership interests in Charitable 11 DAF Fund, L.P.? 12 A. Yes. The -- the feed -- the -- the 13 feeds -- the -- the three horizontal blocks 14 there that identify Highland Dallas Foundation, 15 Kansas City, Santa Barbara -- there's a fourth 16 of -- relatively de minimus in terms of 17 participation. There's a fourth entity that's 18 missing. It's Dallas -- I forget the name. 19 That -- that -- that structure is -- is a bit 20 dated -- 21 Q. Okay. 22 A. -- as it -- as is shown. 23 Q. Okay. So I will tell you and we can 24 look the documents if you want, but attached to 25 CLO HoldCo Limited's claim are a number of	Page 53 1 GRANT SCOTT - 1/21/2021 2 resolutions, and there's one that I have in 3 mind that shows Charitable DAF HoldCo Limited 4 holding 99 percent of the limited partnership 5 interests of Charitable DAF Fund, L.P., and 6 there's another that shows it being a hundred 7 percent. Do you -- do you know which is 8 accurate at least at this time? 9 A. There's a 1 percent/99 percent 10 division, and I am -- I believe it's the 99 11 percent, but I'm -- I'm getting confused by 12 the -- by the arrangement. I'm so used to 13 another arrangement. I -- I believe the 99 14 percent is correct. 15 Q. Okay. Do you have any understanding 16 as to who owns the other 1 percent of the 17 limited partnership interests of Charitable DAF 18 Fund, L.P.? 19 A. No. This -- this is confusing to 20 me. No. 21 Q. Okay. There are, at least on this 22 page, three foundations that I think you've 23 identified. Are those three foundations 24 together with the fourth that you mentioned the 25 owners of the Charitable DAF HoldCo Limited?

Page 54 1 GRANT SCOTT - 1/21/2021 2 A. Owners? 3 Q. Yes. 4 MR. CLARK: Objection, form. 5 A. They -- they only participate in the 6 money that flows up to them. 7 Q. And what does that mean exactly? 8 A. What's that? 9 Q. What does that -- what do you mean 10 by that? Do the foundations fund Charitable 11 DAF Fund HoldCo Limited? 12 A. Initially. Initially, as I 13 understand it, the money flows downward into 14 the Charitable DAF HoldCo Limited before it 15 ultimately makes its way to CLO HoldCo, and 16 then each of those three entities, the various 17 foundations, obtain participation interest in 18 the money that flows back to them. 19 Q. And -- and is that par- -- are those 20 participation interests in Charitable -- you 21 know what, let -- let me just pull up one 22 document and see if that helps. 23 MR. MORRIS: Can we put up -- I 24 think it's Exhibit Number 5. 25 (SCOTT EXHIBIT 2, Unanimous Written	Page 55 1 GRANT SCOTT - 1/21/2021 2 Consent of Directors In Lieu of Meeting, 3 was marked for identification.) 4 MR. MORRIS: I apologize. Let's go 5 to -- 6 MS. CANTY: I'm sorry, John. I 7 can't hear you. Was that not the exhibit? 8 MR. MORRIS: 4. 9 MS. CANTY: Okay. 10 THE REPORTER: And Mr. Morris, you 11 are -- Mr. Morris, you are breaking up just 12 a little bit at the end of your questions. 13 BY MR. MORRIS: 14 Q. Okay. Do you see the document on 15 the screen, sir? 16 A. Yes, I do. 17 Q. Okay. And so this is a unanimous 18 written consent of the directors of the 19 Highland Dallas Foundation. That's one of the 20 entities that was on the chart. 21 MR. MORRIS: Can we scroll down to 22 the -- the bottom of the document where the 23 signature lines are. Right there. 24 BY MR. MORRIS: 25 Q. Are you a director of the Highland
Page 56 1 GRANT SCOTT - 1/21/2021 2 Dallas Foundation? 3 A. Yes, selected by them. 4 Q. Selected by whom? 5 A. By that foundation. 6 Q. Are you -- are you a director of all 7 of the four foundations that feed into the 8 Charitable DAF HoldCo Limited entities that -- 9 A. No. 10 Q. Which of the four foundations are 11 you a director of? 12 A. This and the Santa Barbara -- I'm 13 sorry, Santa Barbara and Kansas City. 14 Q. So is -- there's one that you're not 15 a director of; is that right? 16 A. Yes. 17 Q. And which one is that? 18 A. The -- could you go back to the -- 19 Q. Yeah. 20 MR. MORRIS: Go back to the 21 demonstrative. 22 A. It's the Highland Dallas Foundation 23 and Santa Barbara Foundation. 24 Q. Those are the two that you're a 25 director of?	Page 57 1 GRANT SCOTT - 1/21/2021 2 A. Yes. 3 Q. To the best of your knowledge, does 4 Mr. Dondero serve as the president for each of 5 the foundations that we're talking about? 6 A. Yes. 7 Q. To the best of your knowledge, is 8 Mr. Dondero a director of each of the 9 foundations that we're talking about? 10 A. Say that again. I'm sorry. 11 Q. Is he also a director of each of the 12 foundations? 13 A. Yes. 14 Q. Do you know whether any of the 15 foundations has any employees? 16 A. I believe they do, but I -- I -- I 17 can't say for certain. 18 Q. Does -- withdrawn. 19 Do you know if there are any 20 officers of any of the four foundations other 21 than Mr. Dondero's service as president? 22 A. I'm sorry. Say that one more time, 23 please. 24 Q. Yes. Do you know whether any of the 25 four foundations has any officers other than

Page 58 1 GRANT SCOTT - 1/21/2021 2 Mr. Dondero's service as president? 3 A. No. 4 Q. You don't know, or they do not? 5 A. I -- I don't believe anyone else 6 has. I -- actually, I should say I don't -- I 7 don't recall. I -- I don't know. I don't -- I 8 don't know. 9 Q. As a director of the Dallas and 10 Santa Barbara foundations, are you aware of any 11 officers serving for either of those 12 foundations other than Mr. Dondero? 13 A. No. 14 Q. Do you know who the beneficial owner 15 of the Charitable DAF HoldCo Limited entity is? 16 A. The beneficial owner? 17 Q. Correct. 18 A. The various -- various trusts that 19 were used to -- that were the vehicles by which 20 the money originally was established within -- 21 within -- within CLO HoldCo. 22 Q. Would that be -- would one of them 23 be the Get Good Nonexempt Trust? 24 A. Yes. 25 Q. And you're a trustee of the Get Good	Page 59 1 GRANT SCOTT - 1/21/2021 2 Nonexempt Trust, right? 3 A. Yes. 4 Q. When did you become a trustee of the 5 Get Good Nonexempt Trust? 6 A. Many years ago. I -- I don't 7 remember. 8 Q. Are there any other trustees of the 9 Get Good Nonexempt Trust? 10 A. No. 11 Q. And I apologize if I asked this, but 22 are you the only trustee of the Get Good 23 Nonexempt Trust? 24 A. Yes. 25 Q. Is the Dugaboy Investment Trust also
Page 60 1 GRANT SCOTT - 1/21/2021 2 one of the trusts that has an interest in 3 Charitable DAF HoldCo Limited? 4 A. Yes. 5 Q. Are you a trustee of the Dugaboy 6 Investment Trust? 7 A. I am not. 8 Q. Do you know who is? 9 A. I believe it's his sister. 10 Q. And is that -- you're referring to 11 Mr. Dondero's sister? 12 A. I'm sorry. Yes. 13 Q. And what's the basis for your 14 understanding that Mr. Dondero's sive -- sister 15 serves as the trustee of the Dugaboy Investment 16 Trust? 17 A. Many years ago there was a -- there 18 was a clerical error that identified me as the 19 trustee of the Dugaboy. That error was present 20 for approximately two weeks or a week and a 21 half before it was detected and corrected, and 22 so I know from that correction that it's Nancy 23 Dondero. 24 Q. Yes. 11 Q. Can you tell me who the 12 beneficiaries are of the Get Good trust? 13 A. I mean, Jim Dondero. 14 Q. And -- and what is that -- is that 15 based on the trust agreement -- your knowledge 16 of the trust agreement? 17 A. Yes. 18 Q. Do you have an understanding of who 19 the beneficiary is of the Dugaboy Investment 20 Trust? 21 A. I don't know anything about that 22 trust. 23 MR. MORRIS: Okay. Yes. 14 Q. Are you aware of any written 15 agreement between Highland Capital Management 16 and CLO HoldCo Limited? 17 A. Yes, the various servicer 18 agreements. 19 Q. Okay. Are you aware that 20 Mr. Dondero resigned from his position at 21 Highland Capital Management sometime in 22 October? 23 A. No. 24 Q. Do you have his phone number? 11 A. Yes. 12 Q. How many times have you spoken with 13 Mr. Seery, to the best of your recollection, 14 just generally? It's not a test. 15 A. Three, maybe four times. 16 Q. Okay. Can you identify by name 17 anybody else at Highland that you've spoken 18 with since -- in the last two or three months? 19 A. I spoke to Jim Dondero. I've spoken 20 with Mike Throckmorton. The usual suspects, so 21 to speak. Mark Patrick, Mel- -- Melissa 22 Schroth. 23 Q. Can you recall anybody else? 24 A. MORRIS: Well, I'm -- I -- I am 23 the lawyer for the company so -- I guess 24 there are other people on the phone and I 25 appreciate that, but let's see if we can --

15 Q. Have you made a decision to resign?

6 agreement in relation to the CLOs?

7 A. No.

8 Q. I want to focus in particular on the 9 shared services agreement. In -- in your

10 discussions with Mr. Seery, did you ever tell

11 him that you believed that Highland Capital

12 Management was in default or in breach of its

13 shared services agreement with CLO HoldCo

14 Limited?

15 A. No.

16 Q. In your communications with

17 Mr. Seery, did you ever indicate any concern on

18 the part of CLO HoldCo Limited with respect to

19 Highland Capital's Man- -- Highland Capital

20 Management's performance under the shared

21 services agreement?

22 A. No.

23 Q. As you sit here today, do you have

24 any reason to believe that Highland Capital

25 Management has done anything wrong in

Page 67

1 GRANT SCOTT - 1/21/2021

2 home -- home improvements, home construction

3 with respect to Jim Dondero's home in Colorado,

4 and that's -- I -- I think that's -- that's it.

5 Q. Okay. Do you recall communicating

6 with anybody at Highland in the last three

7 months other than Mr. Dondero,

8 Mr. Throckmorton, Mr. Patrick, and Ms. Schroth?

9 A. I -- I spoke with Jim Seery this

10 week.

11 Q. Anybody else?

12 A. I don't -- I don't know.

13 Q. Okay.

14 A. I don't think so.

15 Q. In your communications with

16 Mr. Seery, did you two ever discuss his reasons

17 for making any trade on behalf of any CLO?

18 A. No.

19 Q. In your discussions with Mr. Seery,

20 did you ever tell him that you believed that

21 Highland Capital Management had breached any

22 agreement in relation to any CLO?

23 A. Have I had that discussion with Jim

24 Seery?

25 Q. Yes.

Page 69

2 connection with its performance as the

3 portfolio manager of the CLOs in which CLO

4 HoldCo Limited has invested?

5 MR. CLARK: Object to form.

6 A. In terms of the -- are you saying --

7 please say that again. I'm sorry.

8 Q. That's okay. I ask long questions

9 sometimes so forgive me, but I'm trying to

10 get -- I'm trying to be precise so that's why

11 it's difficult sometimes. But let me try

12 again.

13 Does CLO HoldCo Limited contend that

14 Highland Capital Management has done anything

15 wrong in the performance of its duties as

16 portfolio manager of the CLOs in which CLO

17 HoldCo has invested?

18 MR. CLARK: Objection, form.

19 A. Yes. It's -- it's outlined in our

20 objections to -- to the plan.

21 Q. Okay. Any -- are you aware of

22 anything that's not contained within CLO Holdco

23 Limited's objection to the plan?

24 MR. CLARK: Objection, form.

25 A. I don't know if this is responsive

Page 70 1 GRANT SCOTT - 1/21/2021 2 to your quest -- request, but two -- two 3 issues, I believe, also pose an in- -- a 4 problem for CLO HoldCo. One is we are paying 5 for services. I think I referred to the 6 services as being soup to nuts, but we are not 7 getting the full services. We haven't been for 8 some time. So we're likely overpaying. There 9 was a Highland Select Equity issue, 11-month 10 payment that was delayed which I was unaware of 11 was due. Normally, I would have interfaced 12 with someone at Highland about that, but my 13 attorney -- but my -- my attorney had to make a 14 request for payment, and that payment was 15 ultimately made. I -- other than that, I -- I 16 don't -- I don't know. I don't believe so. 17 Q. I want to distinguish between the 18 shared services agreement between Highland 19 Capital Management and CLO HoldCo Limited on 20 the one hand and on the other hand the 21 management agreements pursuant to which 22 Highland Capital Management manages certain 23 CLOs that CLO HoldCo invests in. 24 You understand the distinction that 25 I'm making?	Page 71 1 GRANT SCOTT - 1/21/2021 2 A. Now I do. I'm sorry. I didn't 3 appreciate that. 4 Q. Okay. So let's just take each of 5 those pieces one at a time. You mentioned your 6 concern about services. That's a concern that 7 arises under the shared services agreement, 8 right? 9 A. Yes. 10 Q. And you mentioned something about a 11 delayed payment having to do with Highland 12 Select. Do I have that generally right? 13 A. Correct. 14 Q. And is that a concern that you have 15 that arises under the shared services 16 agreement? 17 A. It's not the agreement with respect 18 to the CLOs as I understand it. 19 Q. Okay. So then let's turn to that 20 second bucket. You were aware -- you are 21 aware, are you not, that Highland Capital 22 Management has certain agreements with CLOs 23 pursuant to which it manages the assets that 24 are owned by the CLOs? 25 A. I'm so sorry. Could you please --
Page 72 1 GRANT SCOTT - 1/21/2021 2 Q. I'll try again. 3 A. I'm just -- I'm sorry. I was 4 distracted and -- and I -- I'm sorry for asking 5 you to repeat it again. Please -- 6 Q. Okay. 7 A. Please re- -- 8 Q. Are you aware that CLO HoldCo 9 Limited has made investments in certain CLOs? 10 A. Oh, yes, certainly. 11 Q. And are you aware that those CLOs 12 are managed by Highland Capital Management? 13 A. Yes. As the -- as the servicer, 14 yes. 15 Q. Okay. Have you ever seen any of the 16 agreements pursuant to which Highland Capital 17 Management acts as a servicer? 18 A. I've seen a few, yes. 19 Q. Does CLO HoldCo Limited contend that 20 it is a party to any agreement between Highland 21 Capital Management and the CLOs? 22 MR. CLARK: Object to form. And I 23 just want to note for the record that 24 Mr. Scott is here testifying in his 25 individual capacity, I believe, not as a	Page 73 1 GRANT SCOTT - 1/21/2021 2 corporate representative. 3 MR. MORRIS: Fair enough. But he is 4 the only representative so... 5 MR. CLARK: Fair enough. I just 6 want that made -- stated for the record, 7 but I also object as to form. 8 MR. MORRIS: Got it. 9 A. It's a third-party beneficiary under 10 the agreements. 11 Q. And is that because of something you 12 read in the document, or is that just your 13 belief and understanding? 14 A. My belief and understanding. 15 Q. And is that belief and understanding 16 based on anything other than conversations with 17 counsel? 18 A. In -- in -- recently it has, but I 19 don't recall from previous interactions over 20 the years how we discussed that or how I came 21 to -- to understand that. 22 Q. Does HCLO [sic] HoldCo -- did -- in 23 your capacity as the sole director of HCLO 24 HoldCo Limited, are you aware of anything that 25 Highland Capital Management has done wrong in

1 GRANT SCOTT - 1/21/2021

2 connection with the services provided under the

3 CLO management agreements?

4 MR. CLARK: Objection, form.

5 A. I -- I don't -- I don't -- I

6 don't -- your answer's no.

7 Q. In your capacity as the director of

8 CLO HoldCo Limited, are you aware of any

9 default or breach under the CLO management

10 agreements that -- that Highland Capital

11 Management has caused?

12 MR. CLARK: Objection, form.

13 A. We have raised the issue about

14 ongoing sales in various -- I'm not sure

15 whether they represent a technical breach,

16 though.

17 Q. Okay. Are you aware of any

18 technical breach?

19 MR. CLARK: Objection, form.

20 A. No.

21 Q. I'm sorry. You said, no, sir?

22 A. My answer's no.

23 Q. Thank you. Do you know who made the

24 decision to cause the CLO HoldCo Limited entity

25 to invest in the CLOs that are managed by

Page 76

1 GRANT SCOTT - 1/21/2021

2 making an investment in a CLO that wasn't

3 managed by Highland?

4 A. No.

5 Q. Is there any particular reason why

6 you haven't given that any consideration?

7 A. That hasn't been my role. That's

8 not my expertise. That's been something

9 Highland has done and, quite frankly, over the

10 years brilliantly so, no.

11 Q. You're aware that HCM, L.P., has 12 filed for bankruptcy, right?

13 A. Yes.

14 Q. When did you learn that Highland had

15 filed for bankruptcy?

16 A. After the fact sometime in late --

17 late 2019.

18 Q. Since the bankruptcy filing, have

19 you made any attempt to sell CLO HoldCo

20 Limited's position in any of the CLOs that are

21 managed by Highland?

22 A. No.

23 Q. So notwithstanding the bankruptcy

24 filing, you as the director haven't made any

25 attempt to transfer out of the CLOs that are

Page 75

1 GRANT SCOTT - 1/21/2021

2 Highland Capital?

3 A. The select -- ultimately, I had to.

4 Q. I thought you testified earlier that

5 you didn't make decisions as to investment. Do

6 I have that wrong?

7 A. The selection.

8 Q. Okay.

9 A. I -- I'm --

10 Q. So -- so explain to me --

11 A. I have to approve -- I have to 12 approve the selection. I'm sorry. But the 13 people making -- I was putting that in the camp

14 of the people that make the selection.

15 Q. Okay. Do you know if -- do you know

16 if there are CLOs in the world that exist that

17 aren't managed by Highland Capital Management?

18 MR. CLARK: Objection, form.

19 A. Are there CLOs in the -- in the 20 world that are not --

21 Q. Yes.

22 A. Yes. It's -- it's a well-known --

23 it's a well-known --

24 Q. In your capacity as the director of

25 CLO HoldCo Limited, did you ever consider

Page 77

1 GRANT SCOTT - 1/21/2021

2 managed by Highland, correct?

3 A. Correct.

4 Q. Did you ever give any thought to

5 exiting the CLO vehicles that were managed by

6 Highland in light of its bankruptcy filing?

7 A. No.

8 Q. Have you ever discussed with

9 Mr. Seery anything having to do with the 10 management -- withdrawn.

11 Have you ever discussed with

12 Mr. Seery any aspect of the debtor's management

13 of the CLOs in which CLO HoldCo Limited is 14 invested?

15 A. No.

16 Q. You mentioned earlier a request to 17 stop trading. Do I have that right?

18 A. Yes.

19 Q. Okay. And are you aware that a

20 letter was written purportedly on behalf of CLO

21 HoldCo Limited in which a request to stop

22 trading was made?

23 A. As a cos- -- yeah. Yes.

24 Q. Okay. Have you ever seen that

25 letter before?

Page 78 1 GRANT SCOTT - 1/21/2021 2 A. Yes. 3 MR. MORRIS: Can we put up on the 4 screen -- I think it's now Exhibit 6. It's 5 Exhibit DDDD. 6 (SCOTT EXHIBIT 3, Letter to James A. 7 Wright, III, et al., from Gregory Demo, 8 December 24, 2020, with Exhibit A 9 Attachment, was marked for identification.) 10 MR. MORRIS: Can we scroll down to, 11 I guess, what's Exhibit A. Ri- -- right 12 there. 13 BY MR. MORRIS: 14 Q. You see this is a letter Dece- -- 15 dated December 22nd? 16 A. Yes. 17 Q. In the first paragraph there there's 18 a reference to the entities on whose behalf 19 this letter is being sent. 20 Do you see that? 21 A. Yes. 22 Q. Okay. So this letter was sent on 23 December 22nd. Did you see a copy of it before 24 it was sent? 25 A. A -- a draft -- an earlier draft of	Page 79 1 GRANT SCOTT - 1/21/2021 2 this I did. 3 Q. Okay. Did you provide any comments 4 to it? 5 A. I did. 6 MR. CLARK: Well, hold on. Grant, 7 let me caution you. To the extent you 8 provided comments to counsel, we're going 9 to assert the attorney-client privilege on 10 those comments. 11 MR. MORRIS: It's just a yes-or-no 12 question. I'm not looking for the 13 specifics. 14 MR. CLARK: Thank you. 15 A. Yes. 16 Q. Are you aware that earlier letters 17 were -- withdrawn. 18 Are you aware that prior to December 19 22nd, the entities other than CLO HoldCo 20 Limited that are listed in this pers- -- first 21 paragraph had sent a letter making the same 22 request? 23 A. With respect to a letter, no. No, 24 I -- I did not. 25 Q. Are you aware as you sit here now
Page 80 1 GRANT SCOTT - 1/21/2021 2 that the entities other than CLO HoldCo Limited 3 that are listed in the first paragraph made a 4 motion in the court asking the court for an 5 order that would have prevented Highland from 6 making any transactions for a limited period of 7 time? 8 A. Yes. 9 Q. Did you know that motion was being 10 made prior to the time that it was made? 11 A. I'm not sure. 12 Q. Did you ever think about whether CLO 13 HoldCo Limited should join that particular 14 motion? 15 A. I believe we were -- my attorney was 16 aware of it. I don't recall our discussion 17 about it. We were aware -- when I say we, I 18 mean collectively -- and did not join it. 19 Q. Okay. Can you tell me why you did 20 not join it. 21 MR. CLARK: And, again, Grant, to -- 22 to the extent it's based on communications 23 with counsel, you're free to say that 24 but -- but not to disclose any substance of 25 communications with counsel.	Page 81 1 GRANT SCOTT - 1/21/2021 2 A. The subject of this letter on the 3 22nd which yielded the original letter you 4 briefly showed me on the 24th as well as an 5 additional letter on the 28th identified two 6 points as I understand it. The first point is 7 what I believe is the somewhat innocuous 8 request to halt sales, not a demand in any way. 9 And the second more substantive issue has to do 10 with steps to remove Highland or a subsequent 11 derived entity from Highland from the various 12 services agreements that you had previously -- 13 we had previously discussed. Neither of those 14 issues met the require- -- neither of those 15 issues led us to believe that a motion such as 16 what you've just mentioned was -- was right -- 17 Q. Okay. 18 A. -- because no -- no decision has 19 been made on that. 20 Q. Okay. 21 MR. MORRIS: So I want to go back to 22 my question and move to strike as 23 nonresponsive, and I'll just ask my 24 question again. 25 BY MR. MORRIS:

Page 82 1 GRANT SCOTT - 1/21/2021 2 Q. Why did CLO HoldCo Limited decide 3 not to participate in the earlier motion that 4 was brought by the other entities that are 5 identified in Paragraph 1 that asked the court 6 to stop Highland from engaging in trades? 7 A. John, I'm so sorry. There was a 8 feedback loop that came up when you started to 9 re- -- re- -- recite -- restate your question. 10 I'm sorry. 11 Q. That's okay. Why did CLO HoldCo 12 Limited decide not to join in the earlier 13 motion where the entities listed in Paragraph 1 14 asked the court to order Highland not to make 15 any further trades? Why did they not join that 16 motion? 17 A. The -- the issue didn't rise to 18 the -- I don't believe we had formulated a 19 legal basis sufficient to justify such steps. 20 We hadn't laid the foundation necessary to -- 21 to do that. 22 Q. Are you aware of what the court 23 decided? 24 A. By virtue of the original letter you 25 sent me dated the -- or show -- showed	Page 83 1 GRANT SCOTT - 1/21/2021 2 initially dated the 24th, I have a general 3 understanding of what they decided. 4 Q. Did you -- did you ever review the 5 transcript of the hearing where the other 6 parties asked the court to stop Highland from 7 engaging in any further trades on the CLOs? 8 A. I did not. 9 Q. Is there anything different about 10 the request in this letter, to the best of your 11 knowledge, from the request that was made of 12 the court just six days earlier? 13 MR. CLARK: Objection, form. 14 A. Yes. There's a -- in -- in my -- my 15 view there's a substantial difference between 16 filing an action converting a request into 17 essentially a demand versus a gentle request 18 with multiple caveats, that that request is not 19 a demand. 20 Q. Okay. Let me ask you this: Are you 21 aware -- what -- when did you first learn that 22 Highland was making trades in its capacity as 23 the servicer of the CLOs? When -- when did you 24 first learn that Highland was doing that? Ten 25 years ago, right? I mean --
Page 84 1 GRANT SCOTT - 1/21/2021 2 A. Oh. Oh. Oh, I'm -- yeah. Yeah. 3 Oh, yes. I'm sorry. Of course. 4 Q. Right? I mean, Highland has been 5 making trades on behalf of CLOs for years, 6 right? 7 A. Yes. 8 Q. And Highland was making trades on 9 behalf of CLOs throughout 2020, to the best of 10 your knowledge, right? 11 A. Yes. 12 Q. And you know when Jim Dondero was 13 still with Highland, he was making trades on 14 behalf of CLO -- on behalf of the CLOs, right? 15 A. Yes. 16 Q. And you never objected when Jim 17 Dondero was doing it; is that right? 18 A. That is correct. 19 Q. Okay. So what changed that caused 20 you in your capacity as the director of CLO 21 HoldCo to request a full stoppage of trading? 22 A. It was my understanding that because 23 of the bankruptcy and the removal of Jim 24 Dondero that the replacement decision-makers 25 did not have the expertise where I felt	Page 85 1 GRANT SCOTT - 1/21/2021 2 comfortable with them making those decisions, 3 but... 4 Q. I thought you testified earlier that 5 you weren't aware that Mr. Dondero left 6 Highland. Am I mistaken in my recollection? 7 A. I think you said in October, and 8 I -- as I -- there's some con- -- I have 9 confusion about when he left versus when he was 10 still there but other -- but he was not making 11 those trades. 12 Q. Okay. Fair enough. The bankruptcy 13 has nothing to do with your desire to stop 14 trading, right, because Highland traded for a 15 year after the bankruptcy and never took any 16 action to try to stop Highland from trading on 17 behalf of the CLOs, fair? 18 A. The -- Highland as of right now 19 isn't the same entity it was -- well, the 20 decision-making team -- the -- the financial 21 decision-making team for CLO Holdco's is no 22 longer the team I have worked with, and upon 23 discussion with counsel, we agreed -- I agreed 24 to this letter, which I did, to just maintain 25 the status quo.

Page 86 1 GRANT SCOTT - 1/21/2021 2 Q. How did you form your opinion that 3 the debtor doesn't have the expertise to 4 execute trades on behalf of the CLOs today? 5 What's the basis for that belief? 6 A. I -- as I understood it, the -- the 7 people historically making that decision were 8 no longer making that decision. 9 Q. Who besides Mr. Dondero -- 10 withdrawn. 11 Who are you referring to? 12 A. Well, Mr. Dondero is one. I don't 13 know the names, but I -- I understood it to 14 mean that the group previously responsible, for 15 exam- -- for example, Hunter Covitz, including 16 Hun- -- him, were no longer involved in the 17 decision-making process, but... 18 Q. How did you -- how -- how -- who 19 gave you the information that led you to 20 conclude that Hunter Covitz was no longer 21 involved in the decision-making process? 22 A. Specifically him and that name being 23 mentioned, I -- I -- I wasn't informed of his 24 speci- -- him -- him being removed. I was 25 under the impression that the team that had	Page 87 1 GRANT SCOTT - 1/21/2021 2 previously been doing that was no longer doing 3 it. 4 Q. And what gave you that impression? 5 A. Was communications I had with my 6 attorney. 7 Q. Okay. Is there any source for your 8 information that led you to conclude that the 9 team was no longer there that was able to 10 engage in the trades on behalf of the CLOs 11 other than your attorneys? 12 A. Well, this -- this letter -- I -- I 13 think the answer is no. 14 Q. Thank you. Do you know if Jim -- do 15 you have an opinion or a view as to whether Jim 16 Seery is qualified to make trades? 17 A. This -- 18 MR. CLARK: Objection, form. 19 A. I don't know -- I spoke to Jim Seery 20 earlier this week. You -- you asked me whether 21 I had his number. I said I did. That's only 22 because he called me. My phone rang with his 23 number. It was a number I did not recognize, 24 it was not in my contacts, but he left me a 25 voice mail so I called him back. Then I
Page 88 1 GRANT SCOTT - 1/21/2021 2 updated my contacts to -- to add his name so 3 now I have his name. And during that 4 conversation he informed me that he did have 5 that expertise -- 6 Q. And -- 7 A. -- without me making any inquiry. 8 He volunteered that. 9 Q. But you hadn't made any inquiry 10 prior to the time that you authorized the 11 sending of this letter; is that fair? 12 A. That's correct. 13 Q. Do you know whether Mr. Seery, in 14 fact, engaged in transactions on behalf of the 15 debtor since he was appointed back in January? 16 A. I do not. 17 Q. Did you ask that question prior to 18 the time you authorized the sending of this 19 letter? 20 A. I did not. 21 Q. Can you identify a single 22 transaction that Jim Seery has ever made that 23 you disagree with? 24 A. No. 25 Q. Can you identify any transaction	Page 89 1 GRANT SCOTT - 1/21/2021 2 that the debtor made on behalf of any of the 3 CLOs since the time that you understand 4 Mr. Dondero left Highland that you disagree 5 with? 6 A. No. 7 Q. Did you have any discussion with any 8 representative of any of the entities listed on 9 this document where they told you they believe 10 Jim Seery didn't have the expertise to engage 11 in transactions on behalf of the whole -- of 12 the CLOs? 13 A. You -- your question -- I'm -- I'm 14 sorry. I'm trying to be -- I'm trying to be a 15 hundred perc- -- I'm trying to be accurate 16 here. 17 Q. Let me interrupt you and just say, 18 I'm very grateful for your testimony. I know 19 this is not easy, and I do believe that you're 20 earnestly and honestly trying to answer the 21 questions the best you can. So no apologies 22 necessary anymore. If you need me to repeat 23 the question or rephrase it, just say that, 24 okay? 25 A. Please -- yes.

Page 90 1 GRANT SCOTT - 1/21/2021 2 Q. Okay. 3 A. Please -- please repeat that. 4 Q. Did you ever communicate with any 5 employee, officer, director, representative of 6 any of the entities that are on this page 7 concerning the debtor's ability to service the 8 CLOs? 9 A. I believe so. 10 Q. And can you identify the person or 11 persons? 12 A. I think it's Jim Dondero. 13 Q. Anybody else other than Mr. Dondero? 14 A. No. 15 Q. When did you have that conversation 16 or those conversations with Mr. Dondero? 17 A. This letter is dated the 22nd -- 18 Q. Correct. 19 A. -- right? 20 Q. Yes. 21 A. I believe that's the Tuesday before 22 Christmas, and this would have been on the 23 21st, the Monday. 24 Q. What do you recall about your 25 conversation on the 21st regarding the	Page 91 1 GRANT SCOTT - 1/21/2021 2 substance of this particular letter? 3 A. Jim Dondero described why he 4 believed sales being made on an ongoing basis 5 after a request was made to stop was im- -- 6 improper. 7 Q. Do you -- do you rely on what 8 Mr. Dondero said to you during that phone call 9 on December 21st in -- in deciding to join in 10 this particular letter? 11 A. No. 12 Q. Did you only then rely on the 13 information you obtained from counsel? 14 A. Yes. I -- I -- I -- I considered 15 this letter to be nearly the most gentle 16 request imaginable amongst lawyers to maintain 17 the status quo. 18 Q. And the request that's made in this 19 letter is perfectly consistent with what 20 Mr. Dondero told you on the 21st of December, 21 correct? 22 A. I don't -- no. 23 Q. How -- 24 MR. MORRIS: Can we go to the end of 25 this letter, please. All right. Right
Page 92 1 GRANT SCOTT - 1/21/2021 2 there. 3 BY MR. MORRIS: 4 Q. Do you see the request that's in the 5 last sentence? 6 A. Yes. 7 Q. Is that the same thing that 8 Mr. Dondero told you should happen, that -- 9 that there should be no further CLO 10 transactions at least until the issues raised 11 and addressed by the debtor's plan were 12 resolved substantively? 13 A. Yes. 14 Q. Is there anything that he said 15 that's inconsistent with the request that's 16 made here? 17 MR. CLARK: Objection, form. 18 A. This -- and can you -- can you show 19 me earlier parts? 20 Q. Of course. You know what, I'll 21 withdraw the question. 22 And let me see if I can do it this 23 way: In your discussion with Mr. Dondero, did 24 he indicate that he had seen a draft of this 25 letter?	Page 93 1 GRANT SCOTT - 1/21/2021 2 A. No. And I didn't -- I didn't have a 3 discussion with him. I -- I merely listened to 4 him. There was no -- I -- I had no input to 5 the conversation. 6 Q. Okay. I -- I did -- I didn't -- 7 I -- I appreciate that. So he called you; is 8 that right? 9 A. We -- we called in. 10 Q. Oh, was it -- 11 A. I -- 12 Q. Was it -- 13 A. I don't know -- 14 Q. Was it -- 15 A. I don't know the sequence of the 16 calls. I'm sorry. 17 Q. Was there anybody on the call other 18 than you and Mr. Dondero, the call that you're 19 describing on December 21st? 20 A. Yes, my attorney and an attorney -- 21 I believe the attorney that signed this letter. 22 Q. Okay. And I just want to focus on 23 what Mr. Dondero said. Did he -- did he say 24 during the call that Highland should not be 25 engaging in any further CLO transactions?

Page 94 1 GRANT SCOTT - 1/21/2021 2 A. He took a more -- if I can 3 characterize his mental -- I looked at the 4 issue of maintaining the status quo since there 5 was somebody that was complaining about it, 6 that that -- because it -- it isn't assets of 7 Highland, it doesn't adversely affect Highland. 8 If -- if stopping the sales -- you know, my -- 9 my thought was -- is if stopping the sales 10 reduces the likelihood of litigation 11 disputes -- you already saw that there was the 12 one from middle of December. I -- I thought 13 that would be the more appropriate way to go. 14 I didn't think there'd be any harm. 15 Q. And was that your -- 16 A. I think -- I think Jim Dondero had a 17 more legalistic view of its impro- -- im- -- 18 improper nature. 19 Q. And did he share that view with you? 20 A. On Monday, yes. 21 Q. Can you describe for me your 22 recollection of what he said about the 23 legalistic view? 24 A. Just the mention of -- all I recall 25 is in terms of -- the law associated with it	Page 95 1 GRANT SCOTT - 1/21/2021 2 was -- the Advisers Act was mentioned -- 3 Q. Did you have -- 4 A. -- but I don't -- I don't know what 5 that is. You know, I don't know what that is. 6 Q. And you -- and -- and you never -- 7 it never occurred to you to pick up the phone 8 and -- and to speak with Mr. Seery to see why 9 it was he thought he should be engaging in 10 transactions? 11 A. No. And -- but I -- my lack of 12 volunteering a phone call to Jim Seery isn't -- 13 it's -- it's because of -- I -- I thought any 14 phone call by me to Jim Seery would be 15 inappropriate because he's represented by 16 counsel. I mean, we were working on claims 17 against him -- 18 Q. Okay. 19 A. -- right, so... 20 Q. Did you -- did you -- did you think 21 to instruct your lawyers to reach out to 22 Mr. Seery to actually speak to him instead of 23 just sending a letter like this and to -- and 24 to ask -- and to maybe inquire as to why he 25 thought it was appropriate to engage in
Page 96 1 GRANT SCOTT - 1/21/2021 2 transactions before they made a request six 3 days after the court threw out their suit as 4 frivolous? I'll withdraw that. That's too 5 much. 6 A few days later did you authorize 7 the sending of another letter to the debtor in 8 which you suggested that the -- the entities on 9 behoove -- on -- on whose behalf the letter was 10 sent might take steps to terminate the CLO 11 management agreements? 12 A. I did not see -- so there is a -- 13 there is a December 28th letter. 14 MR. MORRIS: Let's just go to the 15 next letter, and -- and let's just call 16 that up. 17 BY MR. MORRIS: 18 Q. I think it's -- I think it's 19 actually dated December 23rd. It was the next 20 day. 21 A. Yes. 22 (SCOTT EXHIBIT 4, Letter to James A. 23 Wright, III, et al., from Gregory Demo, 24 December 24, 2020, with Exhibit A 25 Attachment, was marked for identification.)	Page 97 1 GRANT SCOTT - 1/21/2021 2 BY MR. MORRIS: 3 Q. And do you recall that the next day 4 CLO HoldCo Limited joined in another letter to 5 the debtors? Do you have that recollection? 6 A. Yes. Not -- not be- -- yes, I do, 7 but -- yes, I do. 8 Q. Did you see this letter before it 9 was sent? 10 A. I don't believe so. 11 Q. Did you authorize the sending of 12 this letter? 13 A. I gave -- I relied on my attorney to 14 guide me through this process. 15 Q. I appreciate that. 16 A. I let him make that call on this 17 letter, which is -- copies most of the prior 18 letter and then adds another issue. 19 Q. Okay. Do you have an understanding 20 of what that issue is? 21 A. Yes. 22 Q. And what is your understanding of 23 what that additional issue is? 24 A. Somewhere in this letter of the 23rd 25 there's an -- there's an -- an inclusion of

Page 104 1 GRANT SCOTT - 1/21/2021 2 negotiating with Highland to permit Highland to 3 assume the CLO management agreements and to 4 continue operating under them? 5 A. I believe so -- 6 Q. Is that -- 7 A. -- but they're -- 8 Q. Go ahead. I'm sorry. 9 A. As I understand it, Highland 10 wants -- Highland or its subsidiary -- or 11 its -- its -- its postbankruptcy relative -- 12 post- -- excuse me, that Highland 13 postbankruptcy -- or postplan confirmation 14 wants to move forward, substitute itself for 15 the prior issuer -- no, sorry, substitute 16 itself for the prior servicer under those 17 agreements to assume those agreements but in 18 the process of assuming those agreements, 19 carving out a bunch of provisions that from a 20 legal standpoint and a potentially future 21 practical and monetary standpoint are quite 22 substantial, and that has to relate to the 23 removal rights based on cause and without 24 cause. As I understand it, that's all set 25 forth in our plan objection.	Page 105 1 GRANT SCOTT - 1/21/2021 2 Q. Okay. Are you aware of a third 3 letter that was sent to Highland on behalf of 4 CLO HoldCo and the other entities that are 5 listed in this document? 6 A. The December 28th letter, is that 7 what you mean? 8 Q. It's actually December 31st, if I 9 can refresh your recollection. 10 MR. MORRIS: Can we put up Exhibit 11 F? 12 (SCOTT EXHIBIT 5, Letter to Jeffrey 13 N. Pomerantz from R. Charles Miller, 14 December 31, 2020, was marked for 15 identification.) 16 BY MR. MORRIS: 17 Q. You remember that there was a letter 18 dated on or about December 31st that was 19 sent -- oh, actually, you know, I apologize. 20 If we scroll down to the -- to the next -- to 21 the first box, there actually is no mention of 22 CLO HoldCo. 23 Are you aware that Mr. Dondero was 24 evicted from Highland's offices as of the end 25 of the year?

Page 106 1 GRANT SCOTT - 1/21/2021 2 A. I -- I didn't know the time, but I 3 understand he's no longer there. 4 Q. Does CLO HoldCo Limited contend that 5 it was damaged in any way by Mr. Dondero's 6 eviction from the Highland suite of offices? 7 MR. CLARK: Objection, form. 8 A. I -- I don't have any information to 9 support that as of this time. 10 Q. It's not -- it's not a belief that 11 you hold today? 12 A. I don't have a belief of that, yes. 13 MR. MORRIS: All right. Let's take 14 a short break. I may be done. A member of the Advisory Board shall be deemed removed from the Advisory Board (i) if such member is no longer an officer, director, manager, trustee, employee, consultant or other representative of CLO Holdco or Dover IX, as applicable, or their respective Affiliates and shall be replaced as soon as practicable with a representative of CLO Holdco or Dover IX, or their respective Affiliates, as applicable, or (ii) if the Member represented by such member either becomes a Defaulting Member or such member ceases to be eligible to represent such Member pursuant to Clause 4.1.
- 4.5 No Duties to Other Members. No Advisory Board member who is the representative of any Member shall, to the extent permitted by law, owe a fiduciary duty to the Company or any other Member (other than the duty to act in good faith), and may, to the fullest extent permitted by law, in all instances act in such member's own interest and in the interest of the Member that appointed such member.

5. DEFAULTING MEMBERS

- 5.1 In the event any Member defaults in its obligation to pay the full amount of the purchase price of Shares called for settlement under the Subscription and Transfer Agreement on the applicable Settlement Date (such unpaid amount, an "Outstanding Settlement Amount"), the Portfolio Manager, on behalf of the Company, shall provide written or telephonic notice of such default to such Member. If such default is not cured within 5 business days after written (or if applicable telephonic or email) notice thereof given by the Portfolio Manager, on behalf of the Company, has been received by such Member, such Outstanding Settlement Amount shall automatically accrue interest on a retroactive basis from the date such Outstanding Settlement Amount was due at 12% (the "Default Interest Rate") (which interest, once paid, shall not be applied to the purchase of the unsettled Shares of such Member, but which will upon receipt be distributed pro rata to those Members who have funded any such Outstanding Settlement Amounts pursuant to this Clause 5). No such Shares which have failed to be settled will be issued to any Member until settlement of the full amount of the purchase price has been made. In addition, if such default is not cured within 10 business days after written or telephonic notice thereof given by the Portfolio Manager, on behalf of the Company, has been received by such Member (a "Defaulting Member"), the following provisions shall apply:
 - 5.2 Whenever the vote or consent of the Defaulting Member would otherwise be required or permitted hereunder or under the Articles, the Defaulting Member shall not be entitled to participate in such vote or consent in respect of his existing shareholding and with respect to any representative of such Defaulting Member on the Advisory Board, and such vote or consent shall be calculated as if such Defaulting Member were not a Member and, as applicable, any representative of such Defaulting Member on the Advisory Board were not a member of the Advisory Board.
 - 5.3 The Portfolio Manager, on behalf of the Company, may pursue and enforce all rights and remedies available, including the commencement of legal proceedings against the Defaulting Member to collect the Outstanding Settlement Amounts, together with interest thereon for the account of the Company from the date due at the Default Interest Rate, plus the costs and expenses of collection (including attorneys' fees and expenses).

- 5.4 The Portfolio Manager, on behalf of the Company, may (at the sole cost of the Defaulting Member) borrow funds from any person (other than the Defaulting Member or its Affiliates) to cover such shortfall and/or advance all or a portion of the Defaulting Member's Outstanding Settlement Amount to the Company on behalf of the Defaulting Member, and such advance shall be repaid by the Defaulting Member to the Portfolio Manager, on behalf of the Company, with interest for the account of the Portfolio Manager, on behalf of the Company, on the amount outstanding from time to time commencing on the date of the advance at the Default Interest Rate. To the extent the Portfolio Manager, on behalf of the Company, advances funds to the Company on behalf of a Defaulting Member, all distributions from the Company that would otherwise be made to the Defaulting Member shall be paid to the Portfolio Manager, on behalf of the Company, (with any such amounts being applied first against accrued but unpaid interest and then against principal), until all amounts payable by the Defaulting Member to the Portfolio Manager, on behalf of the Company, under this Clause 5.4 (including interest) have been paid in full.
- 5.5 The Portfolio Manager, on behalf of the Company, may elect, upon notice to the Defaulting Member, to redeem the Defaulting Member's shares in an amount equal to 50% of the outstanding amount existing as of the date of the default at a price of $0.0001 per Share. Thereupon, the commitment of the Defaulting Member under the Subscription and Transfer Agreement shall be zero, the Defaulting Member shall not be obligated to make any further settlements, the voting capital of such Defaulting Member and of each other Member shall be re-determined as of the date of such default to reflect the new commitment of the Defaulting Member, and the Portfolio Manager shall revise the books and records of the Company to reflect the reduction of the commitment of the Defaulting Member. The Members agree (x) that the damages suffered by the Company as the result of a failure by a Member to settle a commitment to purchase Shares that is required by this Agreement cannot be estimated with reasonable accuracy and (y) that the foregoing provisions of this Clause 5.5 shall act as liquidated damages for the default by the Defaulting Member (which each Member hereby agrees are reasonable).
- 5.6 The Board may offer to the non-Defaulting Members (pro rata in accordance with their respective Commitments) the option of purchasing the Defaulting Member's unsettled Shares on the terms set forth in the applicable Settlement Notice (as defined in the Subscription and Transfer Agreement).
- 5.7 At the election of the Board, distributions of dividends otherwise payable to the Defaulting Member under the Articles shall not be paid to the Defaulting Member, but instead shall be applied against the amount of the Outstanding Settlement Amount (plus interest at the Default Interest Rate and related costs); provided that any amounts so applied shall be deemed to have been distributed to the Defaulting Member under the Articles.
- 5.8 The Portfolio Manager may send an amended or new Settlement Notice to the Members other than the Defaulting Member in an amount equal to the Defaulting Member's Outstanding Settlement Amount and otherwise in accordance with the Subscription and Transfer Agreement.
- 5.9 Each Defaulting Member further appoints the Portfolio Manager as agent and attorney-in-fact for the Defaulting Member and hereby grants to the Portfolio Manager an irrevocable power of attorney to take all actions necessary on its behalf to sell, assign, or transfer the commitment to purchase unsettled Shares of such Defaulting Member pursuant to Clause 5.6 or as necessary on its behalf to effect the other remedies or rights set forth in this Clause 5; provided that the Portfolio Manager shall not bind any Defaulting Member to an indemnification or other similar obligation which guarantees the financial performance of the Company or which exceeds the ability of the Defaulting Member to provide indemnification under applicable law.

6. TRANSFERS OR DISPOSALS OF SHARES

- 6.1 No Member shall sell, pledge, charge, mortgage, assign, assign by way of security, transfer, convey, exchange or otherwise dispose of its Shares or its commitment to settle purchases of Shares under the Subscription and Transfer Agreement (each a "Transfer"), other than to an Affiliate of an initial Member party hereto, without the prior written consent of the Portfolio

Manager, which consent shall be in the sole discretion of the Portfolio Manager; provided that no such Transfer shall be made unless in the opinion of counsel reasonably satisfactory to the Portfolio Manager (who may be counsel for the Company, and which requirement for an opinion may be waived, in whole or in part, in the sole discretion of the Portfolio Manager) that:

- 6.1.1 such Transfer would not require registration under the Securities Act or any state securities or "Blue Sky" laws or other laws applicable to the Shares to be assigned or transferred and is conducted in conformance with the restrictions set forth in the Offering Memorandum;
 - 6.1.2 such Transfer would not be reasonably likely to cause the Company to be subject to tax in any jurisdiction other than of its incorporation on a net income basis, not be reasonably likely to cause the Company to become subject to registration as an investment company under the Investment Company Act of 1940, as amended;
 - 6.1.3 such Transfer would not cause the Company to be considered to be an entity whose underlying assets are considered to include "plan assets" by reason of investment by an "employee benefit plan" or "plan" in such entity pursuant to the U.S. Plan Assets Regulations; and
 - 6.1.4 such sale, assignment, disposition or transfer would not cause all or any portion of the assets of the Company to constitute "plan assets" under ERISA or the Code.
- 6.2 Prior to making any Transfer of Shares (other than Transfers to Affiliates of an initial Member or, in the case of CLO Holdco or a Highland Principal, to Highland, its Affiliates or another Highland Principal) a Member must first offer to the other Members a right to purchase the Shares, on a pro rata basis with respect to their current Shares, at the same price (which must be cash) as such Shares are proposed to be purchased by the prospective third party purchaser pursuant to an irrevocable offer letter. The other Members will have 30 days following receipt of the letter to determine whether to purchase their entire pro rata portion of the Shares proposed to be Transferred. If the other Members do not accept the offer, the Member may (subject to complying with the other Transfer restrictions in this Agreement) Transfer the applicable Shares that such Members have not elected to purchase to a third party at a price equal to or greater than the price described in the offer letter, provided that if the Member has not (a) entered into a definitive agreement to effect such sale within 90 days after the expiration of the period that the other Members have to accept the offer in the offer letter or (b) consummated the sale within 120 day after the entry into the definitive agreement to consummate the sale, it must comply with these right of first refusal procedures again. Any Member (other than the Member proposing to Transfer its Shares) may assign its right to purchase its pro rata portion of the Shares to any other Member (subject to complying with the other Transfer restrictions in this Agreement), any initial Member (other than the Member proposing to Transfer its Shares) may assign its right to purchase its pro rata portion of the Shares to an Affiliate (subject to complying with the other Transfer restrictions in this Agreement), and CLO Holdco and the Highland Principals (unless such Member is the Member proposing the Transfer its Shares) may assign its right to purchase its pro rata portion of the Shares to Highland, an Affiliate of Highland or other Highland Principals (subject to complying with the other Transfer restrictions in this Agreement).
- 6.3 No Highland Principal may transfer his or its interests in the Company other than (i) to a trust or other tax or estate planning vehicle or (ii) to the Portfolio Manager, its Affiliates or another Highland Principal upon the termination of such Highland Principal's (or the beneficial owner of such Highland Principal, if applicable) employment by Highland Capital Management, L.P.
- 6.4 Any transferor of any Share shall remain bound by the terms of this Agreement applicable to it prior to such transfer and that nothing in this Agreement shall constitute a waiver of any rights a Party to this Agreement may have by reason of a breach of this Agreement by a transferor prior to transfer. The transferor and/or the transferee shall bear all costs of any Transfer.
- 6.5 The Parties agree not to Transfer their Shares to any person unless such transferee agrees to be bound by the terms of this Agreement.

- 10.1 The Portfolio Manager, the Company and each Member shall use their reasonable best efforts to conduct the affairs and operations of the Company so as to limit investment in the Company by "benefit plan investors" (within the meaning of the DOL Regulations as modified by section 3(42) of ERISA) to less than the U.S. Plan Threshold. In the event the U.S. Plan Threshold is met or exceeded, the Portfolio Manager, on behalf of the Company, may require any Non-Qualified Holder that is a U.S. Plan Investor to sell or transfer their Shares to a person qualified to own the same that is not a U.S. Plan Investor within 30 days and within such 30 days and to provide the Company with satisfactory evidence of such sale or transfer such that such sale or transfer, together with other sale or transfers pursuant to this Clause, would result in the investment in the Company by "benefit plan investors" (within the meaning of the DOL Regulations as modified by section 3(42) of ERISA) to be less than the U.S. Plan Threshold. PLAINTIFFS' RESPONSE TO DEFENDANT HIGHLAND CAPITAL
MANAGEMENT, L.P.'S MOTION FOR AN ORDER TO ENFORCE THE ORDER OF REFERENCE AND CROSS MOTION

I.

PRELIMINARY STATEMENT

Plaintiffs The Charitable DAF Fund, L.P. and CLO Holdco Ltd. oppose Defendant Highland Capital Management, L.P.'s Motion for an Order to Enforce the Order of Reference.

This action primarily involves fiduciary duties imposed upon Registered Investment Advisers by the Investment Advisers Act of 1940 ("Advisers Act") and corresponding state law claims for breach of those duties. It also involves causes of action under the civil RICO statute, for which breaches of Advisers Act fiduciary duties serve as the predicate act. As a result, presiding over this action will require extensive consideration of federal laws regulating interstate commerce, which renders withdrawal of the reference to bankruptcy court mandatory under 28 U.S.C. § 157(d) ("The district court shall, on timely motion of a party, so withdraw a proceeding if the court determines that resolution of the proceeding requires consideration of both title 11 and other laws of the United States regulating organizations or activities affecting interstate commerce.").

No authority requires this Court to refer this action to the bankruptcy court, only to have it return on a motion for withdrawal of the reference. The opposite is true. In re Harrah's Entm't, No. 95-3925, 1996 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 18097, at *11 (E.D. La. 1996) (Clement, J.) ("Although 'related to' bankruptcy jurisdiction exists over the non-debtor plaintiffs' non-bankruptcy federal securities claims against non-debtor defendants, placing that bankruptcy jurisdiction in the bankruptcy court is inappropriate because plaintiffs would be entitled to a mandatory withdrawal of the reference. Rather than waste judicial resources on a meaningless referral to bankruptcy court, the Court will retain jurisdiction over this suit.” (emphasis added)). Defendant’s arguments to the contrary are unsupported by law.

Defendant’s attempts to smear Plaintiffs with 12 pages of irrelevant facts and a 926-page appendix provide no additional support for the Motion. This action involves matters well outside the experience of bankruptcy courts and requires adjudication in an Article III court.

Because the reasons for denying Defendant’s Motion are also reasons that this Court should withdraw the reference under 28 U.S.C. § 157(d), and because deciding the same issue twice would be inefficient and unnecessary, Plaintiffs cross-move for withdrawal of the reference.

II.

BACKGROUND

Defendant’s factual assertions include considerable bluster and vitriol, unsupported by the lengthy materials in its appendix. Importantly, the opening sentence under the heading “Factual Background” is unsupported and false. Memorandum of Law [Doc. 23] ¶ 7. Plaintiffs are not controlled or directed by James Dondero; Plaintiffs are both controlled and directed by Mark Patrick. APP_16-17, 22; see also APP_10-14; see generally APP_1-22. And Patrick’s testimony to this extent went unchallenged in a hearing before the bankruptcy court earlier this month. Id.

Of equal importance is Defendant’s assertion that all aspects of the Harbourvest settlement, including the valuation of the assets involved, were fully disclosed. Memorandum of Law [Doc. 23] ¶ 12. This statement is unsupported by the appendix cite accompanying it, which at most constitutes a self-serving denial. And it is a hotly contested issue between the parties. The impetus to this action, in fact, was Plaintiffs having learned that the value of the assets transferred in the Harbourvest settlement was not as represented. Original Complaint (“Complaint” [Doc. 1]), ¶¶ 36-

48. Plaintiffs disagree with much of the remainder of what Defendant presents as “fact” in its Memorandum of Law. But Plaintiffs respectfully submit that none of it is relevant to resolution of the present Motion. And so, for brevity’s sake, Plaintiffs have not elected to engage in a blow-by-blow effort to litigate those issues.

Instead, Plaintiffs’ brief will focus on the nature of their causes of action as that pertains to which court—district or bankruptcy—should preside over them.

III.

ARGUMENT & AUTHORITY

Plaintiffs respectfully submit that Defendant’s Motion should be denied and Plaintiffs’ cross-motion granted for the reasons provided below:

A. The Motion Should Be Denied Because Withdrawal of the Reference Is Mandatory

Because the Complaint relies extensively on and largely is predicated on the Investment Advisers Act of 1940, withdrawal of the reference to the bankruptcy court is mandatory here under 28 U.S.C. § 157(d). That statute requires withdrawal of the reference when a proceeding “requires consideration” of non-bankruptcy federal laws regulating interstate commerce:

The district court may withdraw, in whole or in part, any case or proceeding referred under this section, on its own motion or on timely motion of any party, for cause shown. The district court shall, on timely motion of a party, so withdraw a proceeding if the court determines that resolution of the proceeding requires consideration of both title 11 and other laws of the United States regulating organizations or activities affecting interstate commerce.

28 U.S.C. § 157(d); cf. TMT Procurement Corp. v. Vantage Drilling Co. (In re TMT Procurement Corp.), 764 F.3d 512, 523 & n.40 (5th Cir. 2014) (noting bankruptcy court’s “more limited jurisdiction” as a result of its “limited power” under 28 U.S.C. § 157); LightSquared Inc. v. Deere & Co., 2014 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 14752 (S.D.N.Y. 2014) (quoting Investor Prot. Corp. v. Bernard

L. Madoff Inv. Sec. LLC, 454 B.R. 307, 312 (S.D.N.Y. 2011), for the proposition that, “[i]n determining whether withdrawal is mandatory, the Court ‘need not evaluate the merits of the parties’ claims; rather, it is sufficient for the Court to determine that the proceeding will involve consideration of federal non-bankruptcy law’”); In re Cont’l Airlines Corp., 50 B.R. 342, 360 (S.D. Tex. 1985), aff’d, 790 F.2d 5th Cir. 1986) (“While that second clause [of § 157(d)] might not apply when some ‘other law’ only tangentially affects the proceeding, it surely does apply when federal labor legislation will likely be material to the proceeding’s resolution.”) (emphasis added).

Plainly here, the claims in the Complaint at least involve federal laws “regulating organizations or activities affecting interstate commerce.” The Advisers Act and the RICO statute are such laws, and at least the first and fourth counts of the Complaint sound under them. See, e.g., Complaint ¶¶ 57 & n.5, 66, 69, 74 & n.6, 89 (explicitly invoking various provisions of the Advisers Act and accompanying regulations), 114, 117, 131, 132 (invoking the RICO statute). Defendant’s entire argument against withdrawal of the reference thus turns on whether these laws “must be considered.”

It is remarkable that Defendant suggests these statutes need not be considered. The briefing already puts at issue significant, hotly contested issues regarding the interplay of bankruptcy law and the Advisers Act, including

1. Whether Defendant owed fiduciary duties under the Advisers Act that are unwaivable;
2. To whom such duties are owed and whether they were violated;
3. Whether such Advisers Act fiduciary duties can be terminated by a blanket release in a bankruptcy settlement;
4. Whether res judicata applies to bar claims for breach of Advisers Act duties that had not yet accrued at the time of the action alleged to have barred them;

5. Whether a contractual jury waiver is enforceable as to claims for breach of unwaivable Advisers Act fiduciary duties;
6. Whether such waivers can be enforced as to non-parties to the waiver;
7. Whether breach of Advisers Act fiduciary duties can serve as a predicate for civil RICO liability under the RICO statute, among other significant legal issues.

Presiding over this action most certainly will require consideration of all these issues.

Before joining the Fifth Circuit, Judge Clement addressed a motion similar to Defendant's during her time in the Eastern District of Louisiana. There, in In re Harrah's Entm't, 1996 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 18097, at *7-8 (E.D. La. 1996), she denied a motion to refer a federal securities action to bankruptcy court, despite finding that the bankruptcy court had related-to jurisdiction. Judge Clement wrote,

Although "related to" bankruptcy jurisdiction exists over the non-debtor plaintiffs' non-bankruptcy federal securities claims against non-debtor defendants, placing that bankruptcy jurisdiction in the bankruptcy court is inappropriate because plaintiffs would be entitled to a mandatory withdrawal of the reference. Rather than waste judicial resources on a meaningless referral to bankruptcy court, the Court will retain jurisdiction over this suit.

Id. at *11.

Judge Clement rejected the argument Defendant parrots here that the case would "only involve the simple application of established federal securities laws." Id. at *7. Instead, she relied on alleged "violations of several federal securities laws" and the plaintiff's attempt "to hold defendants directly liable and secondarily liable based on a 'controlling person' theory for certain acts and omissions." Id. Without any need to analyze how "established" the applicable law might be, Judge Clement concluded, [t]his federal securities litigation involves more than simple application of federal securities laws and will be complicated enough to warrant mandatory withdrawal under § 157(d)." Id. (citing Rannd Res. v. Von Harten (In re Rannd Res.), 175 B.R.

393, 396 (D. Nev. 1994), for the proposition that withdrawal of the reference is mandatory where resolution requires more than simple application of federal securities laws, even though that court’s determination was based solely on a review of the complaint’s alleged violations of § 12(2) of the Securities Act of 1933, § 10 of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934, and Rule 10b-5).

This authority applies here. In the Complaint, Plaintiffs allege violations of federal securities law (the Advisers Act), as well as the RICO statute. Deciding even the pending motion to dismiss will require far more than simple application of these laws. Nothing more is necessary to satisfy § 157(d). Cf. In re IQ Telecomms., Inc., 70 B.R. 742, 745 (N.D. Ill. 1987) (“Nevertheless, Central’s second amended complaint easily meets [the § 157(d)] standard. Count 2 of the complaint consists of 76 pages and alleges that 29 individuals and entities violated RICO by engaging in a pattern of mail fraud, 18 U.S.C. § 1341, wire fraud, 18 U.S.C. § 1343, and 139 specific instances of bankruptcy fraud, 18 U.S.C. § 152.”).

Although it is unnecessary here to demonstrate that Plaintiffs’ Advisers Act allegations will require application of underdeveloped law, that is certainly the case. As the Third Circuit pointed out in 2013, there is considerable “confusion” in the case law stemming from the fact that federal law (the Advisers Act) provides “the duty and the standard to which investment advisers are to be held,” but “the cause of action is presented as springing from state law.” Belmont v. MB Inv. Partners, Inc., 708 F.3d 470, 502 (3d Cir. 2013). The Belmont court further suggests the “confusion [that this situation] engenders may explain why there has been little development in either state or federal law on the applicable standards.” Id. (emphasis added). “Half a century later,” the Belmont court tells us, “courts still look primarily to Capital Gains Research [Inc.], 375 U.S. 180, 192 (1963),] for a description of an investment adviser’s fiduciary duties.” Id. at 503;

see also Plaintiffs' Response to Motion to Dismiss (addressing Defendant's erroneous argument that the Advisers Act creates no private right of action).

This observation is bolstered by the necessity of relying extensively on SEC regulations and rulings in the Complaint. See Complaint ¶ 57 & n.5 (invoking Investment Advisers Act Release Nos. 3060 (July 28, 2010), and 2106 (Jan. 31, 2003), 66 (17 C.F.R. 275.206(4)-7), 69 (27 C.F.R. part 275 and Rule 10b5-1), 74 & n.6 (Advisers Act Release No. 4197 (Sept. 17, 2015))).

None of the cases Defendant cites even remotely suggests that this type of complicated litigation involving underdeveloped securities laws does not require "consideration" of federal laws. In its lead case, Beta Operating Co., LLC v. Aera Energy, LLC (In re Mem'l Prod. Partners, L.P.), No. H-18-411, 2018 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 161159 (S.D. Tex. 2018), the court only held that a state-law contract claim did not require substantial reliance on federal law merely because it involved a trust created under federal law (the OCSLA). Id. at *16-17. Moreover, the court's determination appears to have relied primarily, if not solely, on the fact that the bankruptcy court had already submitted a memorandum opinion on the defendant's summary judgment motion, disposing of the case without the need to rely on non-bankruptcy federal law. Id. at *14-15, 17.

Next, Defendant cites UPH Holdings, Inc. v. Sprint Nextel Corp., No. A-13-CA-748-SS, 2013 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 189349 (W.D. Tex. 2013), which is, at most, only slightly on point. There, the court declined to withdraw the reference with regard to a turnover action under the Bankruptcy Code, with little analysis other than having repeated the parties' arguments. Thus, it is difficult to draw any significance from the decision. But the court seems to rely on the fact that "the primary dispute center[ed] around the existence of a 'regulatory black hole,' a span of time during which the rules concerning how to set [a telecom] intercarrier compensation rate were left undetermined." Id. at *6. And for that reason, the court seemed to believe there was little non-bankruptcy federal law to consider. Id. at 7. Here, in contrast, the causes of action do not arise under the Bankruptcy Code, and there is an extensive regulatory scheme that, plainly, must be considered.

The other cases Defendant cites add little to the analysis, except that S. Pac. Transp. Co. v. Voluntary Purchasing Gps., 252 B.R. 373, 382 (E.D. Tex. 2000), holds against Defendant's position, having determined that even the court's "limited" role in approving a CERCLA settlement "necessarily involves the substantial and material consideration of CERCLA and not merely its straightforward application to the facts of this case." Id. at 384. The court's reason for this conclusion: its decision "will require the court to examine the unique facts of the case in light of those CERCLA provisions which create the causes of action at issue." Id. Of course, the same examination will be necessary here.

Notably, in S. Pac. Transp., the court also stated, "[i]t is well settled that CERCLA is a statute "'rooted in the commerce clause' and is precisely 'the type of law . . . Congress had in mind when it enacted the statutory withdrawal provision [in § 157(d)].'" Id. at 382 (quoting In re Nat'l Gypsum Co., 134 B.R. 188, 191 (N.D. Tex. 1991), (alterations in original)). The court could just as easily have been talking about the Advisers Act. See 15 U.S.C. § 80b-1 ("Upon the basis of facts disclosed by the record and report of the Securities and Exchange Commission made pursuant to section 30 of the Public Utility Holding Company Act of 1935, and facts otherwise disclosed and ascertained, it is hereby found that investment advisers are of national concern, in that, among other things—(1) their advice, counsel, publications, writings, analyses, and reports are furnished and distributed, and their contracts, subscription agreements, and other arrangements with clients are negotiated and performed, by the use of the mails and means and instrumentalities of interstate commerce; (2) their advice, counsel, publications, writings, analyses, and reports customarily relate to the purchase and sale of securities traded on national securities exchanges and in interstate over-the-counter markets, securities issued by companies engaged in business in interstate commerce, and securities issued by national banks and member banks of the Federal Reserve System; and (3) the foregoing transactions occur in such volume as substantially to affect interstate commerce, national securities exchanges, and other securities markets, the national banking system and the national economy.”).

In sum, the Complaint alleges violations of non-bankruptcy federal law. In presiding over the case—indeed, in addressing the currently pending Motion to Dismiss—this Court will have to substantially and materially consider those laws and their interplay with bankruptcy law. Under § 157(d), this requires withdrawal of the reference, and Defendant’s motion should be denied.

B. Automatic Referral Is Unnecessary and Would Be Inefficient

As noted previously, Judge Clement’s ruling in In re Harrah’s Entm’t, 1996 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 18097 (E.D. La. 1996), establishes that reference to the bankruptcy court—only to have the reference withdrawn—is unnecessary:

Although “related to” bankruptcy jurisdiction exists over the non-debtor plaintiffs’ non-bankruptcy federal securities claims against non-debtor defendants, placing that bankruptcy jurisdiction in the bankruptcy court is inappropriate because plaintiffs would be entitled to a mandatory withdrawal of the reference. Rather than waste judicial resources on a meaningless referral to bankruptcy court, the Court will retain jurisdiction over this suit.

Id. at *11 (emphasis added).

Defendant nonetheless argues this Court must do precisely that. Plaintiffs submit this is both wrong and tenuous, because at this stage of the bankruptcy proceedings—post confirmation—it is unclear that the bankruptcy court has jurisdiction at all.

1. The causes of action asserted by the Plaintiffs do not “arise under,” or “arise in” Title 11 and are not “core” proceedings.

In the Complaint, Plaintiffs do not seek relief that would undo or reverse any settlement approved by the bankruptcy court. Neither do they attempt an end run around the provisions of any approval, Defendant’s protestations notwithstanding. A proper jurisdictional analysis demonstrates Plaintiffs’ causes of action asserted here are not core proceedings within the bankruptcy court’s jurisdiction, for the reasons addressed below.

First of all, “the ‘core proceeding’ analysis is properly applied not to the case as a whole, but as to each cause of action within a case.” Legal Xtranet, Inc. v. AT&T Mgmt. Servs., L.P. (In re Legal Xtranet, Inc.), 453 B.R. 699, 708–09 (Bankr. W.D. Tex. 2011); Davis v. Life Inv’rs Ins. Co. of Am., 282 B.R. 186, 193 n. 4 (S.D. Miss.2002); see also In re Exide Techs., 544 F.3d 196, 206 (3d Cir. 2008) (“A single cause of action may include both core and non-core claims. The mere fact that a non-core claim is filed with a core claim will not mean the second claim becomes ‘core.’”).

Second, the Fifth Circuit has explained that “§ 157 equates core proceedings with the categories of ‘arising under’ and ‘arising in’ proceedings; therefore, a proceeding is core under section 157 if it invokes a substantive right provided by title 11[, it ‘arises under’ the Bankruptcy Code,] or if it is a proceeding that, by its nature, could arise only in the context of a bankruptcy case[, it ‘arises in’ a bankruptcy case].” United States. Brass Corp. v. Travelers Ins. Grp., Inc. (In re United States Brass Corp.), 301 F.3d 296, 304 (5th Cir. 2002); TXMS Real Estate Invs., Inc. v. Senior Care Ctrs., LLC (In re Senior Care Centers, LLC), 622 B.R. 680, 692–93 (Bankr. N.D. Tex. 2020); Stern v. Marshall, 564 U.S. 462, 476 (2011).

Third, none of the Plaintiffs’ five causes of action—breach of fiduciary duty under the Advisers Act, breach of contract related to the HCLOF Company Agreement, negligence, RICO, and tortious interference—arise under title 11. That is, none of the substantive rights of recovery are created by federal bankruptcy law. And plainly so. Because “[a]rising under’ jurisdiction [only] involve[s] cause[s] of action created or determined by a statutory provision of title 11,” this is indisputably the case. Wood v. Wood (In re Wood), 825 F.2d 90, 97 (5th Cir.1987) (noting that a proceeding does not “arise under” Title 11 if it does not invoke a substantive right, created by federal bankruptcy law, that could not exist outside of bankruptcy).

Fourth and finally, for similar reasons, none of Plaintiffs’ causes of action “arise in” a bankruptcy case. “Claims that ‘arise in’ a bankruptcy case are claims that by their nature, not their particular factual circumstance, could only arise in the context of a bankruptcy case.” Legal Xtranet, Inc., 453 B.R. at 708–09 (emphasis added) (citing Stoe v. Flaherty, 436 F.3d 209, 216 (3d Cir. 2006)). Defendants contend that, because the factual circumstances giving rise to the causes of action included the HarbourVest Settlement, which was approved by the bankruptcy court, this somehow transforms these causes of action into core claims. See Memorandum of Law ¶ 36. But it is the nature of the causes of action that determines whether they are core, not their “particular factual circumstance.”

To illustrate the point, in Gupta v. Quincy Med. Ctr., 858 F.3d 657, 660 (1st Cir. 2017), the bankruptcy court issued a sale order which approved an asset purchase agreement whereby the purchaser became obligated to make certain payments to employees. The purchaser failed to make these payments so the employees sued the purchaser in bankruptcy court, and the bankruptcy rendered a judgment in favor of the employees. On appeal, the district court concluded that the bankruptcy court lacked subject matter jurisdiction over the claims—claims plainly related to and existing only because of the approved sale order that gave rise to them. The First Circuit affirmed, explaining as follows:

[T]he fact that a matter would not have arisen had there not been a bankruptcy case does not ipso facto mean that the proceeding qualifies as an ‘arising in’ proceeding. Instead, the fundamental question is whether the proceeding by its nature, not its particular factual circumstance, could arise only in the context of a bankruptcy case. In other words, it is not enough that Appellants’ claims arose in the context of a bankruptcy case or even that those claims exist only because Debtors (Appellants’ former employer) declared bankruptcy; rather, “arising in” jurisdiction exists only if Appellants’ claims are the type of claims that can only exist in a bankruptcy case.

Id. at 664–65 (emphasis added).

Like the claims in Gupta, the Plaintiffs’ causes of action here arose in the context of a transaction approved in a bankruptcy case. But obviously, the causes of action are not “the type of claims that can only exist in a bankruptcy case.” And that ends the analysis. Because Plaintiffs’ causes of action do arise under the Bankruptcy Code, and because they are not claims that could only arise in the context of bankruptcy, this action is not a core proceeding.

2. The Bankruptcy Court has limited post-confirmation “related to” jurisdiction.

Plaintiffs do not contest that this action is related to the bankruptcy case in some fashion. That is why they amended the Civil Cover Sheet to note the bankruptcy matter. But “related to” jurisdiction is a term of art with differing requirements depending on the status of the bankruptcy case. In its current, post-confirmation status, Plaintiffs submit that the bankruptcy court lacks even “related to” jurisdiction over this action.

“Related to” jurisdiction is meant to avoid piecemeal adjudication and promote judicial economy by aiding in the efficient and expeditious resolution of all matters connected to the debtor’s estate. See Feld v. Zale Corp. (In re Zale Corp.), 62 F.3d 746, 752 (5th Cir.1995). Importantly, proceedings merely “related to” a case under title 11 are considered “non-core” proceedings. Stern, 564 U.S. at 477; Collier on Bankruptcy ¶ 3.02[2], p. 3–26, n.5 (16th ed. 2010) (“The terms ‘non-core’ and ‘related’ are synonymous.”). The jurisdictional standard for related to jurisdiction varies depending on whether the proceeding at issue was commenced pre or post confirmation. See Beitel v. OCA, Inc. (In re OCA, Inc.), 551 F.3d 359, 367 at n.10 (5th Cir. 2008). And “after confirmation of a reorganization plan, a stricter post-confirmation standard applies.” See Bank of La. v. Craig’s Stores of Tex., Inc. (In re Craig’s Stores of Tex., Inc.), 266 F.3d 388, 390–91 (5th Cir.2001) (explaining this distinction).

Essentially, “after a debtor’s reorganization plan has been confirmed, the debtor’s estate, and thus bankruptcy jurisdiction, ceases to exist, other than for matters pertaining to the implementation or execution of the plan.” Id. 266 F.3d at 390; Faulkner v. Eagle View Capital Mgmt. (In re The Heritage Org., L.L.C.), 454 B.R. 353, 358 (Bankr. N.D. Tex. 2011).

Here, on February 22, 2021, the Bankruptcy Court entered the Order (I) Confirming the Fifth Amended Plan of Reorganization of Highland Capital Management, L.P. (as Modified) and (II) Granting Related Relief [Bankruptcy Court Dkt. No. 1943]. The Complaint was filed on April 12, 2021. Thus, the proceeding was commenced post confirmation.

Defendant does not argue that this action involves “matters pertaining to the implementation or execution of the plan,” as required under Craig’s Stores. It does not even cite to that authority. Certainly Plaintiffs can think of no way that their action affects plan implementation or execution. Thus, it seems, Defendant’s argument for bankruptcy court jurisdiction fails entirely.

While Defendant does argue that the bankruptcy court has “related to” jurisdiction as a result of a judgment potentially reducing available cash to pay creditors under the Confirmed Plan, Memorandum of Law ¶ 39, this is precisely the argument that the Fifth Circuit rejected in Craig’s

Stores. See Coho Oil & Gas, Inc. v. Finley Res., Inc. (In re Coho Energy, Inc.), 309 B.R. 217, 220 (Bankr. N.D. Tex. 2004) (recognizing the rejection of this argument). As the Fifth Circuit explained: “while Craig’s insists that the status of its contract with the Bank will affect its distribution to creditors under the plan, the same could be said of any other post-confirmation contractual relations in which Craig’s is engaged.” 266 F.3d at 391. And that type of effect does not meet the threshold for post-confirmation related-to jurisdiction.

Defendant also contends that there is post-confirmation “related to” jurisdiction because the lawsuit will delay payments to creditors under the Confirmed Plan. Id. But this is just a re-packaged reduction-in-assets argument. The same would be true of any post-confirmation lawsuit against Defendant and does not meet the “more exacting theory of post-confirmation bankruptcy jurisdiction” required by Craig’s Stores.

Defendant may argue that the bankruptcy court’s confirmation order has not yet gone effective due to having been appealed. But even if this distinction matters, at minimum, there ought to be a sliding scale toward narrower application of “related to” jurisdiction once the bankruptcy court has issued a final confirmation order. See Montana v. Goldin (In re Pegasus Gold Corp.), 394 F.3d 1189, 1194 (9th Cir. 2005) (stating “post-confirmation bankruptcy court jurisdiction is necessarily more limited than pre-confirmation jurisdiction, and ... the Pacor formulation [used to analyze related-to jurisdiction] may be somewhat overbroad in the post-confirmation context”); Faulkner v. Kornman, No. 10-301, 2015 Bankr. LEXIS 700 (Bankr. S.D. Tex. 2015) (stating “[t]he general rule is that post-confirmation subject matter jurisdiction is limited”); Triad Guar. Ins. v. Am. Home Mortg. Inv. Corp (In re Am. Home Mortg. Holding), 477 B.R. 517, 529-30 (Bankr. D. Del. 2012) (stating “[a]fter confirmation... the test for ‘related to ’jurisdiction becomes more stringent if the plaintiff files its action after the confirmation date”) (emphasis in original); cf. rabbd

v. Rochford, 947 F.2d 829, 832 n.1 (7th Cir. 1991) (noting that “after a bankruptcy is over, it may well be more appropriate to bring suit in district court”).

Finally, the retention of jurisdiction in the confirmed plan does nothing to alter the forgoing analysis. Travelers Indem. Co. v. Bailey, 557 U.S. 137, 151 (2009). A bankruptcy court may not “retain” jurisdiction it does not have. Celotex Corp. v. Edwards, 514 U.S. 300, 307 (1995). “[N]either the parties nor the bankruptcy court can create § 1334 jurisdiction by simply inserting a retention of jurisdiction provision in a plan of reorganization if jurisdiction otherwise is lacking.” Valley Historic Ltd. P’ship. v. Bank of N.Y., 486 F.3d 831, 837 (4th Cir. 2007); see also Zerand–Bernal Group, Inc. v. Cox, 23 F.3d 159, 164 (7th Cir. 1994) (“[O]rders approving [a] bankruptcy sale [or] . . . plan of reorganization . . . [cannot] confer jurisdiction. A court cannot write its own jurisdictional ticket.”).

C. The Res Judicata Argument Is Not Relevant to the Relief Sought in This Motion

Defendant’s res-judicata argument does not belong in this Motion. It has no bearing on the issue presented here. This is because, to begin with, res judicata is always addressed by the second court in the second action. See, e.g., Memphis-Shelby Cty. Airport Auth. v. Braniff Airways, Inc. (In re Braniff Airways, Inc.), 783 F.2d 1283 (5th Cir. 1986); Davis v. Dall. Area Rapid Transit, 383 F.3d 309 (5th Cir. 2004); Travelers Ins. Co. v. St. Jude Hosp., 37 F.3d 193 (5th Cir. 1994); Applewood Chair Co. v. Three Rivers Planning & Dev. Dist. (In re Applewood Chair Co.), 203 F.3d 914 (5th Cir. 2000); Risby v. United States, No. 3:04-CV-1414-H, 2006 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 8798 (N.D. Tex. 2006); Chalmers v. Gavin, 2002 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 5636, 2002 WL 511512 (N.D. Tex. Apr. 2, 2002); Reynolds v. Tombone, Civil No. 3:96-CV-3330-BC, 1999 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 9995 (N.D. Tex. June 24, 1999). Moreover, res judicata is not a basis for referring a matter to the bankruptcy court, and Defendant offers no authority for the notion that it is.

Instead of arguing that its res judicata affirmative defense should result in referral to the bankruptcy court, Defendant argues that “the Complaint . . . must be dismissed on the basis of res judicata. Memorandum of Law at 24; see also id. at 23 (subheading: “The Complaint Is Barred by the Doctrine of Res Judicata”). But dismissal is the relief sought in Defendant’s pending Motion to Dismiss, which raises the same res judicata arguments asserted here. Plaintiffs therefore will address res judicata in their concurrently filed response to the Motion to Dismiss.

D. The Local Rule 3.3 Argument Is Unavailing

Defendant argues that Plaintiffs failed to disclose the related bankruptcy case by omitting it on the Civil Cover Sheet accompanying the Complaint, although Defendant does not request that the Court take any action as a result of the omission.

Plaintiffs submit that the omission was inadvertent, harmless, and has been corrected. The omission was inadvertent in that Plaintiffs intended to identify the Highland bankruptcy on the Civil Cover Sheet but inadvertently failed to do so and have since submitted an amended Civil Cover Sheet correcting the error. [Doc. 33]. The omission was harmless because the Complaint discloses both the bankruptcy and its relationship to the present action, a disclosure that was supplemented by Plaintiffs’ Motion for Leave to Amend, which provides additional detail regarding the related bankruptcy case and attaches two orders issued in that case. Complaint ¶¶ 15-36; Motion for Leave and Exhibits [Docs. 6, 6-1, 6-2].

Defendant refers the Court to Kuzmin v. Thermaflo., No. 2:07-cv-00554-TJW, 2009 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 42810, at *4-7 (E.D. Tex. May 20, 2009), for the proposition that failing to disclose a related case is a violation of the Local Rules. In Kuzmin, however, the plaintiff was faulted for numerous failings, including (1) the failure to submit a Civil Cover Sheet at all, (2) the failure, upon receiving notice of the deficiency, to provide sufficient information for the clerk to identify the related action, and (3) filing a third action without any information indicating it was related to the previous two. Id. at *5. The court continued, finding that plaintiff's counsel in that case had also committed violations of the mandate for professionalism in the Texas Lawyer's Creed by failing to communicate about the filings with known counsel for the opposition. Id. at *6-12.

Plaintiffs respectfully submit that the Kuzmin case is inapposite. Plaintiffs here did not fail to submit a Civil Cover Sheet. They corrected the omission after it was brought to their attention, and their original filing did disclose, in the text of the Complaint, the information that was inadvertently omitted from the Civil Cover Sheet. Further, Plaintiffs here communicated promptly with counsel for the Defendant regarding the action and the related bankruptcy case by asking the Defendant's counsel in the related action if they would accept service of the Complaint and whether they objected to Plaintiffs' Motion for Leave to Amend.

These circumstances, Plaintiffs submit, do not rise to the level of a violation of Local Rule 3.3 or, alternatively, they constitute a harmless, corrected error at most. Plaintiffs ask the Court to treat them as no worse than Defendant's failure to include a certificate of conference with this Motion (Local Rule 7(h)), or its failure to confer with Plaintiffs' counsel before filing it (Local Rule 7(a)), or its failure to paginate its appendix consecutively (Local Rule 7(i)).

Finally, Plaintiffs submit that the omission complained of does not justify or even relate to the relief sought in this Motion.

E. The Litigious-Nature Argument Is Likewise Unavailing

Defendant's claims regarding James Dondero's litigiousness are likewise unconnected to the relief they are requesting here. Dondero is not a party to this case. Neither does he control either Plaintiff. APP_16-17.

For this argument, Defendant relies solely on Burch v. Freedom Mortg. Corp. (In re Burch), 835 F. App'x 741 (5th Cir. 2021), and 28 U.S.C. § 1927 ("Any attorney or other person . . . who so multiplies the proceedings in any case unreasonably and vexatiously may be required by the court to satisfy personally the excess costs, expenses, and attorneys' fees reasonably incurred because of such conduct."). Neither authority addresses whether jurisdiction appropriately lies here or in the bankruptcy court. It appears that they are cited here merely to raise the specter of potential sanctions.

Plaintiffs respectfully submit that their claims here have merit and are not frivolous. And Defendant's contrary position can and should be addressed in connection with Defendant's pending motion under Rule 12(b)(6) rather than in connection with this Motion.

F. Plaintiffs' Cross-Motion Should Be Granted

For the same reasons Defendant's Motion should be denied, Plaintiffs' cross-motion should be granted. Presiding over this action will require consideration of non-bankruptcy federal laws regulating interstate commerce, as well as their interplay with the Bankruptcy Code. Thus, the mandatory-withdrawal-of-the-reference provision of 28 U.S.C. § 157(d) applies.

Moreover, the bankruptcy court's jurisdiction is limited, both by § 157(d) and by plan confirmation. See TMT Procurement Corp. v. Vantage Drilling Co. (In re TMT Procurement Corp.), 764 F.3d 512, 523 & n.40 (5th Cir. 2014) (noting bankruptcy court's "more limited jurisdiction" as a result of its "limited power" under 28 U.S.C. § 157); Bank of La. v. Craig's

Stores of Tex., Inc. (In re Craig's Stores of Tex., Inc.), 266 F.3d 388, 390–91 (5th Cir.2001) (explaining that, “after confirmation of a reorganization plan, a stricter post-confirmation standard applies,” and “after a debtor’s reorganization plan has been confirmed, the debtor’s estate, and thus bankruptcy jurisdiction, ceases to exist, other than for matters pertaining to the implementation or execution of the plan.”).

No authority requires this Court to refer this action to the bankruptcy court, only to have it return on a motion for withdrawal of the reference. The opposite is true. In re Harrah's Entm't, No. 95-3925, 1996 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 18097, at *11 (E.D. La. 1996) (Clement, J.). Thus, this Court should deny Defendant’s Motion, withdraw the reference under § 157(d), and retain jurisdiction over this action.

VI.

CONCLUSION

For all of these reasons, Plaintiffs respectfully submit Defendant’s Motion should be denied.

1 our witness stand and I'll swear you in. Please raise your
2 right hand.

3 (The witness is sworn.)

4 THE COURT: All right. Please take a seat.

5 MARK PATRICK, DEBTOR'S WITNESS, SWORN

6 DIRECT EXAMINATION

7 BY MR. MORRIS:

8 Q Good afternoon, Mr. Patrick.

9 A Good afternoon.

10 Q Can you hear me okay?

11 A Yes, I can.

12 Q Okay. You have before you several sets of binders.

13 They're rather large. But when I deposed you on Friday, we 14 did that virtually. Now, I may direct you specifically to one
15 of the binders or one of the documents from time to time, so I
16 just wanted you to know that those were in front of you and 17 that I may be doing that.

18 Mr. Patrick, since March 1st, 2001 [sic], you've been 19 employed by Highland Consultants, right?

20 A I believe the name is Highgate Consultants doing business
21 as Skyview Group.

22 Q Okay. And that's an entity that was created by certain
23 former Highland employees, correct?

24 A That is my understanding, correct.

25 Q And your understanding is that Mr. Dondero doesn't have an

Patrick - Direct

118

1 Q Okay. Let's talk for a little bit about the line of 2 succession for the DAF and CLO Holdco. Can we please go to
3 Exhibit 25, which is in the other binder? It's in the other
4 binder, sir.

5 (Pause.)

6 Q I guess you could look on the screen or you can look in 7 the binder, whatever's easier for you.

8 A Yeah. I prefer the screen. I prefer the screen.

9 Q Okay.

10 A It's much easier.

11 Q All right. We've got it in both spots. But do you have 12 Exhibit 25 in front of you, sir?

13 A Yes, I do.

14 Q All right. Do you know what it is?

15 A This is the organizational chart depicting a variety of 16 charitable entities as well as entities that are commonly
17 referred to the DAF. However, when I look at this chart, I do
18 not look at and see just boxes, what I see is the humanitarian 19 effort that these boxes represent.

20 MR. MORRIS: Your Honor, may I interrupt?

21 THE COURT: You may.

22 MR. MORRIS: Okay.

23 BY MR. MORRIS:

24 Q I appreciate that, and when your lawyers get up to ask you
25 questions, I bet they'll want to know just what you were about

Patrick - Direct

119

1 to tell me. But I just want to understand what this chart is.

2 This chart is the DAF, CLO Holdco, structure chart. Correct?

3 A Correct.

4 Q Okay. And you were personally involved in creating this
5 organizational structure, correct?

6 A I -- yes.

7 Q Okay. And from time to time, the Charitable DAF Holdco
8 Limited distributes cash to the foundations that are above it.
9 Correct?

10 A Correct.

11 Q All right. I want to talk a little bit more specifically
12 about how this happens. The source of the cash distributed by 13 Charitable DAF Holdco Limited is CLO Holdco, Ltd., that 14 entity, the Cayman Islands entity near the bottom. Correct?

15 MR. ANDERSON: Your Honor, I have an objection.
16 Completely irrelevant. I'm objecting on relevance grounds.
17 This has nothing to do with the contempt proceeding. We've 18 already gone over that he authorized the filing of the 19 complaint, that he authorized the filing of the motion to 20 amend. It's all in the record. This is completely irrelevant
21 at this point.

22 THE COURT: Okay. Relevance objection. Your
23 response?

24 MR. MORRIS: I believe that it's relevant to the 25 Debtor's motion to hold Mr. Dondero in contempt for pursuing

Patrick - Direct

127

1 transaction, because I was not a part of it -- that by Mr.
2 Dondero holding that GP interest, that it would be -- the
3 Plaintiffs, if you will, would be an affiliate entity for 4 regulatory purposes, and so he advised that if he -- if Mr.
5 Dondero transferred his GP interest to Mr. Scott, it would no
6 longer be an affiliate, is my recollection.

7 Q Okay. You didn't appoint Mr. Scott, did you?

8 A No.

9 Q That was Mr. Dondero. Is that right?

10 A Yes.

11 Q Okay. Let's go to 2021. Let's come back to the current 12 time. Sometime in February, Mr. Scott called you to ask about 13 the mechanics of how he could resign. Correct?

14 A That is correct.

15 Q But the decision to have you replace Mr. Scott was not 16 made until March 24th, the day you sent an email to Mr. Scott
17 with the transfer documents. Correct?

18 A That is correct.

19 Q And it's your understanding that he could have transferred 20 the management shares and control of the DAF to anyone in the 21 world. Correct?

22 A Correct.

23 Q That's what the docu... that he had the authority under 24 the documentation, as you understood it, to freely trade or 25 transfer the management shares. Correct?

Patrick - Direct

128

1 A Wait. Now, let's be precise here.

2 Q Okay.

3 A Are you talking about the GP interests or the management
4 shares held by Charitable DAF Holdco, Ltd.?

5 Q Let's start with the management shares. Can you explain
6 to the Court what the management shares are?

7 MR. ANDERSON: Your Honor? Hang on one second. Your
8 Honor, I want to object again on relevance. We're going way
9 beyond the scope of the contempt issue, whether or not --

10 MR. MORRIS: This is about control.

11 MR. ANDERSON: -- the motion to amend somehow
12 violated the prior order of this Court. Getting into the 13 management structure, transfer of shares, that's way outside
14 the bounds. I object on relevance.

15 THE COURT: Okay. Relevance objection?

16 MR. MORRIS: Your Honor, they have probably 30
17 documents, maybe 20 documents, on their exhibit list that 18 relate to management and control. I'm asking questions about 19 management and control. Okay? This is important, again, to 20 (a) establish his authority, but (b) the circumstances under 21 which he came to be the purported control person.

22 THE COURT: Okay. Overruled. Go ahead.

23 THE WITNESS: It might be helpful to look at the 24 organizational chart, but if not -- but I'll describe it to 25 you again. With respect to the entity called --

Patrick - Direct

129

1 MR. MORRIS: Hold on one second. Can we put up the
2 organizational chart again, Ms. Canty, if you can? There you
3 go.

4 THE WITNESS: Okay. So with respect to the 5 Charitable DAF Holdco, Ltd., it is my understanding that Mr.
6 Scott, he organized that entity when he was the independent
7 director of the Charitable Remainder Trust, and he caused the 8 issuance of the management shares to be issued to himself.
9 And then those are, again, noneconomic shares, but they are 10 control shares over that entity.

11 And I think, to answer your question, is -- it -- he alone
12 decides who he can transfer those shares to.

13 BY MR. MORRIS:

14 Q Do I have this right, that whoever holds the noneconomic
15 management shares has the sole authority to appoint the 16 representatives for each of the Charitable DAF entities and 17 CLO Holdco? It's kind of a magic ticket, if you will?

18 A It -- I think there's a -- the answer really is no from a
19 legal standpoint, because Charitable DAF Holdco is a limited
20 partner in Charitable DAF Fund, LP, so it does not have 21 authority -- authority under all -- the respective entities
22 underneath that. It could cause a redemption, if you will, of 23 Charitable DAF Fund. And so, really, the authority -- the 24 trickle-down authority that you're referencing is with respect
25 to his holding of the Charitable DAF GP, LLC interest. It's a

Patrick - Direct

130

1 member-managed Delaware limited liability company. And from
2 that, he -- that authority kind of trickles down to where he
3 can appoint directorships.

4 Q All right. I think I want to just follow up on that a
5 bit. Which entity is the issuer of the manager shares, the 6 management shares?

7 A Yeah, the -- per the organizational chart, it is accurate,
8 it's the Charitable DAF Holdco, Ltd. which issued the 9 management shares to Mr. Scott.

10 Q Okay. And that's why you have the arrow from Mr. Scott
11 into that entity?

12 A Correct.

13 Q And do those -- does the holder of the management shares
14 have the authority to control the Charitable DAF Holdco, Ltd.?

15 A Yes.

16 Q Okay. And as the control person for the Charitable DAF
17 Holdco, Ltd., they own a hundred -- withdrawn. Charitable DAF
18 Holdco Limited owns a hundred percent of the limited
19 partnership interests of the Charitable DAF Fund, LP.

20 Correct?

21 A Correct.

22 Q And so does the holder of that hundred percent limited
23 partnership interest have the authority to decide who acts on 24 behalf of the Charitable DAF Fund, LP?

25 A I would say no. I mean, you know, just -- I would love to

Patrick - Direct

131

1 read the partnership agreement again. But I, conceptually,
2 what I know with partnerships, I would say the limited partner
3 would not. It would be through the Charitable DAF GP, LLC
4 interest.

5 Q The one on the left, the general partner?

6 A The general partner.

7 Q I see. So when Mr. Scott transferred to you the one
8 hundred percent of the management shares as well as the title
9 of the managing member of the Charitable DAF GP, LLC, did 10 those two events give you the authority to control the 11 entities below it?

12 A Yes.

13 Q Thank you. And so prior to the time that he transferred 14 those interests to you, is it your understanding that Mr.
15 Scott had the unilateral right to transfer those interests to 16 anybody in the world?

17 A Yes.

18 Q Okay. And you have that right today, don't you?

19 A Yes, I do.

20 Q If you wanted, you could transfer it to me, right?

21 A Yes, I could.

22 Q Okay. But of all the people in the world, Mr. Scott
23 decided to transfer the management shares and the managing 24 member title of the DAF GP to you, correct?

25 A Restate that question again?

Patrick - Direct

132

1 Q Of all the people in the world, Mr. Scott decided to
2 transfer it to you, correct?

3 A Yeah. Mr. Scott transferred those interests to me.

4 Q Okay. And you accepted them, right?

5 A Yes.

6 Q You're not getting paid anything for taking on this
7 responsibility, correct?

8 A I am not paid by any of the entities depicted on this 9 chart.

10 Q And Mr. Scott used to get $5,000 a month, didn't he?

11 A I believe that's what he testified to.

12 Q Yeah. But you don't get anything, right?

13 A Correct.

14 Q In fact, you get the exact same salary and compensation
15 from Skyview that you had before you became the authorized
16 representative of the DAF entities and CLO Holdco. Correct?

17 A Correct.

18 MR. MORRIS: Okay. Your Honor, if I may just take a
19 moment, I may be done.

20 THE COURT: Okay.

21 (Pause.)

22 MR. MORRIS: Your Honor, I have no further questions.

23 THE COURT: All right. Pass the witness. Any 24 examination of the witness?

25 CROSS-EXAMINATION

1 Q So did Mr. Dondero both have the control shares of the GP,
2 LLC and DAF Holdco Limited?

3 A No, I believe not. I believe he only held the Charitable 4 DAF GP interest and that Mr. Scott at all times held the 5 Charitable DAF Holdco, LTD interest, until he decided to 6 transfer it to me.

7 Q Can you just tell us how Mr. Scott came to hold the 8 control shares of the Charitable DAF Holdco, LTD?

9 A When he was the independent trustee of the Charitable 10 Remainder Trust, he caused that -- the creation of that 11 entity, and that's how he became in receipt of those
12 management shares.

13 Q And does the Charitable DAF GP, LLC have any control over
14 Charitable DAF Fund, LP's actions or activities?

15 A Yes, it does.

16 Q What kind of control is that?

17 A I would describe complete control. It's the managing 18 member of that entity and can -- and effectively owns, you
19 know, the hundred percent interest in the respective 20 subsidiaries, and so the control follows down.

21 Q And when did Mr. Scott replace Mr. Dondero as the GP --
22 managing member of the GP?

23 A Well, I think as the -- and Mr. Morris had shown me with 24 respect to that transfer occurring on March 2012.

25 Q So nine years ago?

Patrick - Cross

137

1 A Yes.

2 Q Does Mr. Dondero today exercise any control over the 3 activities of the DAF Charitable -- the Charitable DAF, GP or 4 the Charitable DAF Holdco, LTD?

5 A No.

6 Q Is he a board member of sorts for either of those 7 entities?

8 A No.

9 Q Is he a board members of CLO Holdco?

10 A No.

11 Q Does he have any decision-making authority at CLO Holdco?

12 A None.

13 Q The decision to authorize the lawsuit and the decision to 14 authorize the motion that you've been asked about, who made
15 that authorization?

16 A I did.

17 Q Did you have to ask for anyone's permission?

18 A No.

19 MR. SBAITI: No more questions, Your Honor.

20 THE COURT: Okay. Any -- I guess Mr. Taylor, no.

21 All right. Any redirect?

22 REDIRECT EXAMINATION

23 BY MR. MORRIS:

24 Q Since becoming the authorized representative of the 25 Plaintiffs, have you ever made a decision on behalf of those

1 entities that Mr. Dondero disagreed with?

2 A I have made decisions that were adverse to Mr. Dondero's
3 financial -- financial decision. I mean, financial interests.
4 Whether he disagreed with them or not, I don't -- he has not
5 communicated them to me. But they have been adverse, at least 6 two very strong instances.

7 Q Have you ever -- have you ever talked to him about making
8 a decision that would be adverse to his interests? Did he 9 tell -- did --

10 A I didn't -- I don't -- I did not discuss with him prior to 11 making the decisions that I made that were adverse to his 12 economic interests.

13 MR. MORRIS: Okay. No further questions, Your Honor.

14 THE COURT: Any further examination? Recross on that
15 redirect?

16 MR. ANDERSON: No further questions.

17 MR. SBAITI: No further questions, Your Honor.

18 MR. ANDERSON: Sorry.

19 THE COURT: Nothing?

20 MR. ANDERSON: I think we're good.

21 THE COURT: Okay. I have one question, Mr. Patrick.
22 My brain sometimes goes in weird directions.

23 EXAMINATION BY THE COURT

24 THE COURT: I'm just curious. What are these Cayman
25 Island entities, charitable organizations formed in the Cayman

1 THE COURT: I guess I'll see you Thursday on the
2 WebEx. Thank you.

3 THE CLERK: All rise.

INTRODUCTION

Defendant's Motion asking this Court to dismiss Plaintiffs' detailed, 26 page Complaint is not based on that pleading but on over 500 pages of material submitted in an appendix that does not comply with the Local Rules. The Motion asks this Court to bar Plaintiffs' claims under the doctrine of res judicata, not because Plaintiffs have obtained judgments on their claims in previous litigation but because they are forced to participate in Defendant's sprawling bankruptcy proceedings. The Motion invokes the doctrine of judicial estoppel, not because Plaintiffs have convinced a prior court to rule in their favor but because one of them submitted and then withdrew an objection that was therefore not considered by the prior court, and for that obvious reason had no bearing on its decision. The Motion asks this Court to ignore federal law imposing fiduciary duties, not because they do not apply, but because it is an inconvenient truth that they cannot shake. The Motion asks this Court to dismiss Plaintiffs' claims as implausible, not because they are foreclosed by any contract or admission of Plaintiffs', but because Defendant and its agents have contradicted Plaintiffs' factual allegations in some of the voluminous documents in Defendant's appendix, for which it improperly seeks judicial notice.

Plaintiffs respectfully submit the Motion is without merit.

This action arose when Plaintiffs learned—after the fact—that Defendant had failed to disclose to them the true value of securities sold in connection with a settlement that was approved in Defendant's bankruptcy proceedings. But that settlement—and the facts underlying it--does not form the basis of Plaintiffs' claims or constitute the occurrence or transaction at issue here. The case arises from Defendant's role as an Investment Adviser to the Plaintiffs under the Investment Advisers Act of 1940 (the "Advisers Act"). It seeks damages and other remedies for Defendant's mismanagement of a securities transaction (including its omission the true value of assets transferred in connection with the HarbourVest Settlement and the benefit Highland would gain). Defendant's actions thus violated fiduciary duties arising as a matter of federal securities law under the Advisers Act.

The bankruptcy court's approval of the HarbourVest Settlement in no way undermines Plaintiffs' claims that Defendant breached fiduciary duties by failing to make appropriate disclosures and through self-dealing (Count I), that Defendant breached contractual obligations by doing the same (Count II), that Defendant acted negligently in failing to make accurate, appropriate disclosures (Count III), or that Defendant is liable under the civil RICO statute, for which violations of the Advisers Act serve as a predicate act.

II.

FACTUAL BACKGROUND

Plaintiff Charitable DAF Fund, L.P. ("DAF") is a charitable fund that helps several causes throughout the country, including providing millions of dollars every year to local charities in Dallas and around the country, such as family shelters, education initiatives, veteran's welfare associations, public works (such as museums, parks and zoos), and education (such as specialty schools in underserved communities). Original Complaint ("Compl.") at ¶ 10.

Since 2012, DAF was advised by its registered investment adviser, Defendant Highland Capital Management, L.P. ("Highland"), and its various subsidiaries about where to invest. Compl. at ¶ 11). This relationship was governed by an investment advisory agreement. (Compl. at ¶ 12). As the DAF's investment advisor, Highland owed the DAF fiduciary obligations, including the duty to put the DAF's best interest ahead of its own. (Compl. at ¶¶ 56–57, 62).

In 2017, Highland advised the DAF to acquire 143,454,001 shares of Highland CLO Funding, Ltd (“HCLOF”), which the DAF did via a holding entity, Plaintiff CLO Holdco, Ltd. (“CLO Holdco”). (Compl. at ¶ 12).

Shortly thereafter, CLO Holdco entered into a Subscription and Transfer Agreement whereby a series of related entities collectively referred to as “HarbourVest” acquired a 49.98% membership interest in HCLOF (the “HarbourVest Interests”). (Compl. at ¶¶ 13–14). As part of this transaction DAF retained a 49.02% membership interest, (Compl. at ¶ 13). and Highland took a 0.6% membership interest HCLOF (Compl. at ¶ 25).

HCLOF’s portfolio manager is Highland Highland Advisor, Ltd. (“HCFA”), which is subsidiary of Highland and is controlled and operated by Highland. (Compl. at ¶ 24). As such, both Highland and HCFA owed fiduciary duties to CLO Holdco as an investor in the HCLOF fund. James P. Seery, Jr., CEO of Highland, testified that Highland owed such fiduciary duties under the Advisers Act to investors in the funds that Highland manages (App_0008-10, 0014).

The HCLOF parties’ rights and obligations as members of HCLOF were governed by the Members Agreement Relating to the Company dated November 15, 2017 (“Company Agreement”). (Compl. at ¶¶ 93–94) (App_0018-35). Under the Company Agreement, no member was allowed to sell shares to another member without first providing all other members the right to purchase a pro rata portion thereof at the same price. (Compl. at ¶ 95; App_0026-27).

In October 2019, Highland filed for Chapter 11 (Compl. at ¶ 15). As part of this bankruptcy, HarbourVest filed proof of claims against Highland totaling over $300 million, notionally (Compl. at ¶¶ 16, 21-23). Highland denied the validity of these claims. (Compl. at ¶ 17, 26).

In the meantime, Highland continued to control HCLOF through its subsidiary HCFA. (Compl. at ¶¶ 115–124). In September 2020, HCLOF was underperforming, and the value of the investment had diminished—the HarbourVest Interests had diminished $52 million in value. (Compl. at ¶ 27). In September 30, 2020, Highland utilized interstate wires to transmit information to the HCLOF investors regarding the value of their respective interests. (Compl. at ¶ 121).

In the following months, however, the value HCLOF began to improve; by the end of November 2020, the value of HCLOF’s total assets increased to $72,969,492 ($36,484,746 allocated to HarbourVest) and by the end of December, HCLOF’s net asset value reached $86,440,024 (with $43,202,724 allocated to HarbourVest’s Interests). (Compl. at ¶¶ 123–124). However, Highland did not transmit these valuations to Plaintiffs (Compl. at ¶ 120).

Around November 2020, Highland and HarbourVest—utilizing the interstate wires—entered into discussions about settling HarbourVest’s claims in the bankruptcy. (Compl. at ¶ 119). Highland and HarbourVest reached a settlement, which Highland requested the bankruptcy court to approve on December 23, 2020. (Compl. at ¶ 29; App_0046-64). As part of the settlement, Highland agreed to allow HarbourVest $45 million in unsecured claims, which were expected to yield about to cents on the dollar to HarbourVest (roughly $31,500,000). (Compl. at ¶ 32; App_46-64). As part of the consideration for the $45 million in allowed claims, HarbourVest agreed to sell its interest in HCLOF to Highland (Compl. at ¶ 33) (the “HarbourVest Settlement”).

Despite Highland’s fiduciary obligations to Plaintiffs, Highland concealed the rising value of HCLOF and the Harbourview Interests, as well as the value that it was buying the interest for. It diverted the entire opportunity to participate in this windfall transaction to itself in violation of its fiduciary duties (Compl. at ¶ 67).

At the January 14, 2021, Bankruptcy Rule 9019 hearing to approve the settlement, HCF’s CEO testified that the value allocated to the HarbourVest Interests was $22.5 million, despite that this interest was actually valued at $41,750,000 just two weeks before. (Compl. at ¶¶ 34, 37). In other words, Highland obtained a windfall. The bankruptcy court issued an order approving the HarbourVest Settlement (App_0065-68) (the “9019 Order”). The sale of the HarbourVest Interests transformed Highland from a minority member with a 0.6% interest into the controlling member with a 50.49% interest.

LEGAL STANDARD

Motions to dismiss for failure to state a claim are viewed with disfavor and are seldom granted. See Collins v. Morgan Stanley Dean Witter, 224 F.3d 496, 498 (5th Cir. 2000). “Under Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 8(a)(2), a pleading must contain ‘a short and plain statement of the claim showing that the pleader is entitled to the relief.’” Ashcroft v. Iqbal, 556 U.S. 662, 677-678 (2009). Rule 8 does not demand “‘detailed factual allegations[.]’” Id. at 678 (quoting Bell Atlantic Corp. v. Twombly, 550 U.S. 544, 555 (2007)).

In ruling upon a Rule 12(b)(6) motion, the Court cannot decide disputed fact issues. The court may grant a motion under Rule 12(b)(6) only if it can determine with certainty that the plaintiff cannot prove facts that would allow the relief sought in the complaint. See Hishon v. King & Spalding, 467 U.S. 69, 73 (1984); Scanlan v. Texas A&M Univ., 343 F.3d 533, 536 (5th Cir. 2003) (emphasis added). In its consideration, a court must draw all reasonable inferences in favor of the plaintiff. See Collins, 224 F.3d at 498.

IV.

THE PRECLUSION DOCTRINES DO NOT APPLY

A. HIGHLAND’S RES JUDICATA DEFENSES FAIL

Highland’s preclusion defenses fail. As the proponent of the affirmative defense, Highland must establish all elements of those defenses as a matter of law. See Memphis-Shelby Cty. Airport

Auth. v. Braniff Airways, Inc. (In re Braniff Airways, Inc.), 783 F.2d 1283, 1289 (5th Cir. 1986).

“The doctrine of res judicata, or claim preclusion, forecloses relitigation of claims that were or could have been raised in a prior action.” Davis v. Dallas Area Rapid Transit, 383 F.3d 309, 312-13 (citation omitted). “In this circuit, an action is barred by the doctrine of res judicata only if: (1) the parties are identical in both actions; (2) the prior judgment was rendered by a court of competent jurisdiction; (3) the prior judgment was final on the merits; and (4) the cases involve the same cause of action.” Travelers Ins. Co. v. St. Jude Hosp., 37 F.3d 193, 195 (5th Cir. 1994).

Importantly, the Original Complaint does not seek to reverse or unwind the HarbourVest Settlement. Nothing in the Original Complaint seeks to put the parties to that settlement in the same position they were prior to January 14, 2021. Suing a party to a transaction for harm caused in the course of conducting that transaction is not the same thing as suing to rescind the transaction.

This false equivalency is what Highland’s entire argument is based upon.

1. Res Judicata Does Not Apply Because the Court’s 9019 Order Does Not Specifically Release Plaintiffs’ Claims or Resolve them on the Merits

The Fifth Circuit previously held that a bankruptcy court’s final order confirming a plan of reorganization did not have res judicata effect on third party claims against the debtors’ insiders, when the plan did not specifically identify the claims or conclusively resolve them on the merits. In Applewood Chair Co. v. Three Rivers Planning & Dev. Dist. (In re Applewood Chair Co.), 203 F.3d 914, 919 (5th Cir. 2000), the Fifth Circuit addressed whether general release language in a bankruptcy order applied to unenumerated claims. The bankruptcy court’s order provided that:

The provisions of the confirmed plan shall bind all creditors and parties in interest, whether or not they accept the plan and shall discharge the Debtor, its officers, shareholders and directors from all claims that arose prior to Confirmation.

Id. at 919.

Admitting that this language would have released the personal guarantees of certain officers, shareholders and directors—the “Spiveys”—the Fifth Circuit nonetheless refused to apply res judicata to preclude the plaintiff’s suit on those guarantees. The court explained that the merits of those guarantees had not been litigated, and importantly, “[n]o specific discharge or release of the Spiveys’ individual guarantees to [a creditor] was enumerated or approved by the bankruptcy court in this matter.” Id. This was enough to prevent the application of res judicata.

Here, the 9019 Order does not even seek to resolve the entire Highland bankruptcy, as did the plan confirmation order in Applewood. Rather, it merely approves a settlement agreement—a privately negotiated contract—between Highland and HarbourVest. There is no dispute that the 9019 Order is a final order as to Highland and HarbourVest’s settlement—but nothing suggests that it bestows immunity on Highland (or anyone else) for any and all violations committed in the process of obtaining that settlement. Neither of the Plaintiffs here were parties to the litigation between HarbourVest and Highland, nor were they parties to the settlement agreement itself.

Similarly, the 9019 Order does not purport to resolve Plaintiffs’ claims on the merits, nor does it specifically purport to release Plaintiffs’ claims that are raised herein. (App_0065-69). The 9019 Order simply overrules objections en masse without addressing the merits thereof. (App_67 (“All objections to the Motion are overruled.”)). Accordingly, res judicata cannot apply because the 9019 Order neither addressed nor disposed of Plaintiffs’ causes of action on the merits. Accord Applewood, 203 F.3d 914, 919; Risby v. United States, No. 3:04-CV-1414-H, 2006 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 8798, at *19-21 (N.D. Tex. 2006) (R&R) (denying res judicata because “to operate as a res judicata bar, a final judgment must address the merits of a claim. ...”).

Defendant’s contention that CLO Holdco’s withdrawal of its objection to the settlement is an abandonment of the merits of its causes of action—all of them—arising in any way from Highland's misconduct is baseless. The withdrawal did not purport to be "with prejudice," and cannot implicitly have been with prejudice as to matters not addressed by the Court on the merits. See Chalmers v. Gavin, 2002 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 5636, *3 (N.D. Tex., Apr. 2, 2002) (finding that res judicata did not bar action where previous claims were dismissed without prejudice and thus did not operate as an adjudication on the merits); cf. Reynolds v. Tombone, 1999 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 9995, at *12 and n.5 (N.D. Tex., June 24, 1999) (finding that res judicata did not bar later action where prior motion was not adjudicated on the merits).

Notably, Highland cites no authority for the proposition that a withdrawal of an objection to a settlement in bankruptcy is with prejudice to the substantive legal rights of the objector who might be injured. Nor can Highland do so. The court's role of approving an otherwise privately negotiated settlement is a far cry from its role finder of fact after a trial. The bankruptcy court has discretion to overrule an objection; See Fed. R. Bankr. 9019; In re Texas Extrusion Corp., 844 F.2d 1142 (5th Cir. 1988). The Fifth Circuit has specifically stated that a Rule 9019 approval order does NOT involve a "mini trial". Official Comm. of Unsecured Creditors v. Moeller (In re Age Ref., Inc.), 801 F.3d 530, 541 (5th Cir. 2015). A bankruptcy court "is to 'canvas the issues' to see if the settlement falls 'below the lowest point in the range of reasonableness.'" In re Alfonso, No. 16-51448-RBK, 2019 Bankr. LEXIS 2816, at *8 (Bankr. W.D. Tex. 2019) (citation omitted).

In other words, a bankruptcy court may approve a settlement notwithstanding the merits or any claim or objection that is raised by a third party, if the court finds that the settlement is nonetheless fair to the debtor. See Conn. Gen. Life Ins. Co. v. United Cos. Fin. Corp. (In re Foster Mortg. Corp.), 68 F.3d 914, 917 (5th Cir. 1995). Among the factors that a bankruptcy court is required to consider in determining whether a settlement is in the best interests of the estate—none requires dispensing with the "claims" of any objectors on the merits; at best, the court is only required to consider “the best interests of the creditors, with proper deference to their reasonable views[.]”¹ Here, the bankruptcy court did not state it was doing anything more than that in approving the HarbourVest Settlement—in fact, it specifically recited that line verbatim (App_67).

Accordingly, while the 9019 Order is final as to the settled claims themselves. To say that it resolves all causes of action for damages that could have been brought by any third-party objector on the merits is, well, meritless. The bankruptcy court’s having the sole discretion in approving the HarbourVest Settlement is completely at odds with the premise that it was necessarily resolving anything else on the merits. Therefore, the 9019 Order is insufficient to support preclusion.

2. The Bankruptcy Court Was Not a Court of Proper Jurisdiction to Hear the Causes of Action

While the bankruptcy court could hear Plaintiff CLO Holdco’s objection to the HarbourVest Settlement, it lacked the power under 28 U.S.C. § 157(d) to claim jurisdiction over the causes of action. Much ink is being spilled on the bankruptcy court’s province to hear the claims raised in this action. Pending before this Court is Highland’s Motion for an Order to Enforce the Order of Reference, and Plaintiffs’ Response and Cross-Motion to Withdraw the Reference under § 157(d)’s mandatory withdrawal language. Plaintiffs incorporate here their briefing in the Response and Cross-Motion, and respectfully submit that if this Court decides that mandatory withdrawal applies, then it cannot find that the bankruptcy court's already-entered final judgement was rendered on Plaintiffs' causes of action and had jurisdiction to do so.

3. These Claims Do Not Arise Out of the Same Nucleus of Operative Facts

In order to assess the "same causes of action" element, the Fifth Circuit asks "whether the claims arise out of the same nucleus of operative facts." Travelers, 37 F.3d at 195 (citations omitted). Where a different legal duty is implicated in the subsequent action, it is not the same nucleus of operative facts. Id. Additionally, where a litigant could not have litigated the claims in the prior litigation, then they do not arise from the same nucleus of operative facts, and res judicata will not apply. Id.

Here, the claims raised in the Original Complaint did not ripen until after the HarbourVest Settlement was consummated, which itself was accomplished only after the bankruptcy court entered its 9019 Order. Compare, e.g., Compl. ¶¶ 76, 81, 88, 90, 92-99, 113-133, 136-140.

Specifically, the first time Plaintiffs ever heard about the valuation of the HarbourVest Interests in HCLOF was during the January 14, 2021 approval hearing. Compl. ¶ 31, 76. The motion papers and exhibits Highland filed on December 23, 2020, contained no such valuation; they instead lumped in the $80 million in claims allowed by Highland as undifferentiated consideration for both (a) the releases of HarbourVest's causes of action against Highland, and (b) the sale of the HCLOF shares to Highland. See Compl. ¶ 29; App_0047. Therefore, it would have been impossible for Plaintiffs to bring these claims in the bankruptcy court prior to January 14, 2021, and so it is impossible that they were, or could have been, decided on the merits at that time. Risby, 2006 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 8798, at *19-21.

4. Highland's Litany of Attachments Changes Nothing

Highland attaches a litany of documents in the hopes of convincing this Court that the claims in this lawsuit were already fulsomely litigated.² They were not. Although the 9019 Motion barely complied with the twenty-one day notice requirement set forth in Fed. R. Bankr. P. 2002\(a\)\(3\), it is preposterous to claim that a motion, filed on December 23, 2020, and heard 22 days later (with Christmas and New Year's in the middle), gave Plaintiffs a reasonable opportunity to litigate their dispute (which had not even ripened yet).

Note that the statute of limitations for Plaintiffs' lead claims is four years³—but Defendant contends that 22 days is all Plaintiffs had to discover and bring these claims on pain of permanent disposition. This would surely be a violation of Plaintiffs' due process rights. See Benson & Ford,

² Highland's appendix violates this Court's local rules requiring pagination, Local Rule 7.1(i)(4), and references to specifically paginated appendices, Local Rule 7.2(e). The lack of such reference, and the lack of any specificity in Highland's general request for this Court to take judicial notice of adjudicative facts found in 500 pages of appendices—without specifically explaining why judicial notice can be taken—should cause this Court to reject the invitation. This Court's sister court has held that a court should only take judicial notice of facts “sparingly at the pleadings stage.” Reneker v. Offill, No. 3:08-cv-1394-D, 2010 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 38526, at *5 (N.D. Tex. Apr. 19, 2010) (Fitzwater, J.) (quoting Victaulic Co. v. Tieman, 499 F.3d 227, 236 (3d Cir. 2007)). “Only in the clearest cases should a district court reach outside the pleadings for facts necessary to resolve a case at that point.” Id. Courts in the Fifth Circuit have been very careful to note while they may take judicial notice of the fact of certain filings, they cannot take notice of the facts recounted in them unless they are undisputed, or facts found by another court. See Lovelace v. Software Spectrum, 78 F.3d 1015, 1018 (5th Cir. 1996) (noting that at 12(b)(6) stage, judicial notice of filed documents “should be considered only for the purpose of determining what statements the documents contain, not to prove the truth of the documents' contents”); Taylor v. Charter Med. Corp., 162 F.3d 827, 829-30 (5th Cir. 1998) (noting the general rule that a court cannot take judicial notice of the findings of another court because it would undermine the standards applicable to res judicata). To the extent Highland asks this Court to take judicial notice of adjudicative facts, the Court should refuse to do so.

³ The statute of limitations in Texas for breaches of contract, breach of fiduciary duty, and tortious interference are all four years. Tex. Civ. P. Rem. Code § 16.004. The RICO Statute of limitations is likewise four years. Petrus v. Mole, Civil Action No. 3:11-CV-1402-N, 2012 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 207745, at *12-13 (N.D. Tex. 2012).

Inc. v. Wanda Petroleum Co., 833 F.2d 1172, 1174 (5th Cir. 1987) (“A litigant has a due process right to a full and fair opportunity to litigate an issue.”) (internal citations omitted).

In arguing, disingenuously, that Plaintiffs are at fault for trusting Highland’s representations, Highland conveniently elides the fact that as a Registered Investment Adviser, the Advisers Act imposed an affirmative duty on Highland to—without being asked—truthfully disclose the entire extent of the transaction it was contemplating before it consummated it, including the value of the interest it was self-dealing in.^{4,5}

B. HIGHLAND’S REQUEST FOR JUDICIAL ESTOPPEL FAILS

As an affirmative defense, it is Defendant’s duty to prove all the elements of judicial estoppel as a matter of law. Here, Highland has failed to do so. “[T]wo bases for judicial estoppel must be satisfied before a party can be estopped. First, it must be shown that the position of the ⁴ The SEC explains that: “To meet its duty of loyalty, an adviser must make full and fair disclosure to its clients of all material facts relating to the advisory relationship. Material facts relating to the advisory relationship include the capacity in which the firm is acting with respect to the advice provided.” See Securities and Exchange Commission Interpretative Release, Commission Interpretation Regarding Standard of Conduct for Investment Advisers, 84 FR 33681 SEC Release No. IA-5248; File No. S7-07-18, 17 CFR Part 276, June 5, 2019 (“SEC Interpretation”) at p. 6 (internal citations omitted). See also General Instruction 3 to Part 2 of Form ADV (“Under federal and state law, you are a fiduciary and must make full disclosure to your clients of all material facts relating to the advisory relationship. As a fiduciary, you also must seek to avoid conflicts of interest with your clients, and, at a minimum, make full disclosure of all material conflicts of interest between you and your clients that could affect the advisory relationship. This obligation requires that you provide the client with sufficiently specific facts so that the client is able to understand the conflicts of interest you have and the business practices in which you engage, and can give informed consent to such conflicts or practices or reject them.”).

⁵ Even if Highland is correct that the HarbourVest Settlement is somehow a final order on the claims Plaintiffs’ raised in the Original Complaint, the Original Complaint (as the later filing) should be construed as one seeking equitable relief from the 9019 Order under Rule 60(d). Rule 60 authorizes equitable relief from a final judgment, order, or proceeding, and subsection (d) specifically authorizes “an independent action to relieve a party from a judgment, order or proceeding[.]” FED. R. CIV. P. 60(d). This mechanism provides an exception to res judicata. See United States v. Beggerly, 524 U.S. 38, 46 (1998).

party to be estopped is clearly inconsistent with its previous one; and second, that party must have convinced the court to accept that previous position.” Harrison Co. LLC v. A-Z Wholesalers, Inc., No. 3:19-CV-1057-B, 2021 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 44534, at *18 (N.D. Tex. 2021) (quoting Hall v. GE Plastic Pac. PTE Ltd., 327 F.3d 391, 396 (5th Cir. 2003)) (emphasis added).

The Defendant has not met its burden as to either prong of judicial estoppel. There has been no decision on the merits in favor of the DAF or Holdco on their claims in bankruptcy court. Withdrawing an objection and then raising the argument later is not the same thing as “taking an inconsistent position” under any guise of law or common sense. Plaintiffs were clearly not “successful” on the objection before.

V.

PLAINTIFFS HAVE STATED A CLAIM FOR RELIEF

A. THE MOTION FAILS UNDER RULE 12(G) AND IS PREMATURE

Rule 12(g) only permits one motion under Rule 12 to be filed—and that any defense not raised in the first motion is waived, except as provided in Rule 12(h)(2). See FED. R. CIV. P. 12(g)(2) Rule 12(h)(2) states that while the defense of failure to state a claim is not waived by failure to bring it in the first-filed Rule 12 motion, it may be only brought via a later motion under Rule 12(c). Here, Highland’s first-filed motion, Motion for an Order to Enforce the Order of Reference is functionally a motion under Rule 12(b)(1) or 12(b)(3). Accordingly, Defendant is limited to bringing its failure to state a claim motion via a motion under Rule 12(c) after the pleadings are closed. Furthermore, the fact that Highland has shown that there are issues of fact—such as the scope of duties it owes and to whom under federal law—its motions are more appropriately reserved for summary judgment, after the close of discovery.

B. PLAINTIFFS HAVE PLED CLAIMS FOR BREACH OF FIDUCIARY DUTY

In Texas, the elements of a breach of fiduciary duty are: ‘(1) a fiduciary relationship between the plaintiff and defendant; (2) the defendant must have breached his fiduciary duty to the plaintiff; and (3) the defendant's breach must result in injury to the plaintiff or benefit to the defendant.’” Cudd Pressure Control, Inc. v. Roles, 328 F. App'x 961, 964 (5th Cir. 2009) (quoting Navigant Consulting, Inc. v. Wilkinson, 508 F.3d 277, 283 (5th Cir. 2007)).

1. The Complaint Pleads that Highland and HCFA Owe Fiduciary Duties Under the Advisers Act and Other Bases

a. The Fiduciary Duty of Highland and HCFA to CLO Holdco

The Original Complaint specifically states that a fiduciary duty is owed by Highland and HCFA to Holdco via the Advisers Act and via corporate governance law.

First, HCFA is a wholly-owned subsidiary of Highland, and both are registered investment advisers under the Advisers Act of 1940. (Compl. ¶ 56). Highland operates HCFA, which serves as the Portfolio Manager of Highland CLO Funding, Ltd. (“HCLOF”). Highland and HCFA owed a fiduciary duty to Holdco as an investor in HCLOF. (Compl. ¶ 61).

Second, as the control person of HCLOF, Highland via HCFA owed fiduciary duties to Holdco, and so Holdco’s fiduciary duty claims are additionally derivative in nature under the minority oppression doctrine.⁶ Highland has not challenged this basis for a fiduciary duty claim.

b. The Fiduciary Duty of Highland Directly to the DAF

The Original Complaint pleads that Highland and the DAF are in a direct advisory relationship by virtue of a contractual arrangement. (Compl. ¶ 58).⁷ In addition to being the RIA

⁷ Although the Complaint pleads that the operative agreement is the Amended and Restated Investment Advisory Agreement, we have since learned that there is a Second Amended and to the DAF, Highland was appointed the DAF's attorney-in-fact for certain actions, such as "to purchase or otherwise trade in Financial Instruments that have been approved by the General Partner." RIA Agreement ¶ 4. (Compl. ¶ 59). The RIA Agreement further commits Highland to value financial assets "in accordance with the then current valuation policy of the Investment Advisor [Highland], a copy of which will provided to the General Partner upon request." (Compl. ¶ 60). And while Highland contracted for the recognition that it would be acting on behalf of others and could be in conflict with advice given the DAF, (RIA Agreement ¶ 12), nowhere did it purport to waive the fiduciary duties owed to the DAF not to trade as a principal in a manner that harmed the DAF. (Compl. ¶ 61).

"Since 2012, DAF was advised by its registered investment adviser, Highland Capital Management, L.P., and its various subsidiaries, about where to invest. This relationship was governed by an Investment advisory Agreement." (Compl. at ¶ 11). As DAF's registered investment advisor, Highland is DAF's fiduciary. See Douglass v. Beakley,, 900 F. Supp. 2d 736, at 751-52, n.16.

Additionally, Highland was appointed the DAF's attorney-in-fact. (Compl. at ¶ 59). "As the appointment of an attorney-in-fact creates a fiduciary relationship as a matter of law, Texas law imposes special duties on persons acting in that capacity." Pool v. Johnson, Civil Action No. 3:01-CV-1168-L, 2002 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 6613, at *17 (N.D. Tex. 2002) (citing Sassen v. Tanglegrove Townhouse Condo. Ass'n, 877 S.W.2d 489, 492 (Tex. App.—Texarkana 1994, writ denied)). Under Texas law, "[a] fiduciary owes its principal a high duty of good faith, fair dealing, honest performance, and strict accountability." Id. (citing Sassen, 877 S.W.2d at 492).

Restated Advisory Agreement, and our proposed amendment, among other things, corrects this error.

2. The Fiduciary Duties Imposed by the Advisers Act Are Actionable Under Texas Law and are Owed to Investors Like CLO Holdco

“Whether a fiduciary duty exists is a question of law for the court. The facts giving rise to a fiduciary duty, however, are to be determined by the fact finder.” Lampkin v. UBS Painewebber, Inc. (In re Enron Corp. Sec., Derivative & ERISA Litig.), 238 F. Supp.3d 799, 852 (S.D. Tex. 2017) (citing Fuqua v. Taylor, 683 S.W. 2d 735, 737 (Tex. App.—Dallas 1984, writ ref’d n.r.e.)).

a. The Advisers Act’s Imposition of a Fiduciary Duty is Actionable Under Texas Fiduciary Duty Law

Under Texas law, an investment advisor /advisee client relationship is considered a formal fiduciary relationship because it is a principal and agent relationship. Accord Lampkin v. UBS Painewebber, Inc. (In re Enron Corp. Sec., Derivative & “ERISA” Litig.), 238 F. Supp. 3d 799, 851 (S.D. Tex. 2017). Texas law provides that a fiduciary relationship is governed by the terms of the agency. See Hand v. Dean Witter Reynolds, Inc., 889 S.W. 2d 483, 492 (Tex. App.—Houston [14th Dist.] 1994, writ denied). The Advisers Act provides the scope of, and rules governing, the adviser/adviser agency relationship. Laird v. Integrated Res., 897 F.2d 826, 834 (5th Cir. 1990).

Recognizing that fact, this very Court decided almost a decade ago that, although the Advisers Act does not itself create a cause of action, it is still actionable through state law fiduciary duty claims. See Douglass v. Beakley, 900 F. Supp. 2d 736, 751-52, n.16 (N.D. Tex. 2012) (Boyle, J.) (denying motion to dismiss state fiduciary duty claims predicated on breaches of the Advisers Act, noting in footnote that the Advisers Act provided the bases for a formal fiduciary relationship and thus plaintiffs’ state breach of fiduciary duty claims could be predicated on breach of the Advisers Act).⁸ No decision we could find has held that a Texas fiduciary duty claim cannot seek redress for breaches of the fiduciary obligations imposed under the Advisers Act.

b. The Advisers Act's Fiduciary Duty Extends to Investors like Holdco

“As a fiduciary, the standard of care to which an investment adviser must adhere imposes ‘an affirmative duty of ‘utmost good faith, and full and fair disclosure to all material facts,’ as well as an affirmative obligation to ‘employ reasonable care to avoid misleading’ his clients.’” Laird v. Integrated Res., 897 F.2d 826, 834 (5th Cir. 1990) (quoting S.E.C. v. Blavin, 760 F.2d 706, 711-12 (6th Cir. 1985) (citing Capital Gains, 375 U.S. at 194 (citations omitted))).

As explained by the SEC in its Rule making and interpretative Guidance: “under its duty of loyalty, an investment adviser must eliminate or make full and fair disclosure of all conflicts of interest which might incline an investment adviser—consciously or unconsciously—to render advice which is not disinterested such that a client can provide informed consent to the conflict.” Securities and Exchange Commission Interpretative Release, Commission Interpretation Regarding Standard of Conduct for Investment Advisers, 84 FR 33681 SEC Release No. IA-5248; File No. S7-07-18, 17 CFR Part 276, June 5, 2019 (“SEC Release”) at p. 8 (internal citations omitted). The SEC is empowered under the Advisers Act to give interpretive guidance, which is accorded Chevron deference. See SEC v. Zandford, 535 U.S. 813 (2002) (SEC interpretations and rule making entitled to Chevron deference). “In order for disclosure to be full and fair, it should be sufficiently specific so that a client is able to understand the material fact or conflict of interest and make an informed decision whether to provide consent.” Id. at 24.

⁸ Other courts are in accord. See Goldenson v. Steffens, No. 2:10-cv-00440-JAW, 2014 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 201258, at *137 (D. Me. 2014) (“Even assuming the [Advisers Act] provides no private right of action, this does not mean that it does not create a standard of care from which a duty arises....”); State ex rel. Udall v. Colonial Penn Ins. Co., 112 N.M. 123, 812 P.2d 777, 785 (N.M. 1991) (citing Capital Gains Research, and applying the standard set forth therein, in ruling on a state law claim for breach of fiduciary duty against an investment adviser). Cf. Belmont v. MB Inv. Partners, Inc., 708 F.3d 470, 502-06 (3d Cir. 2013) (holding that state fiduciary duty claims are a recognized vehicle for enforcing violations of the Advisers Act, but granting summary judgment on the basis that plaintiffs had not properly proved an advisory relationship or a conflict of interest); Strougo ex rel. Brazil Fund v. Scudder, Stevens & Clark, Inc., 964 F.Supp. 783, 799 (S.D.N.Y. 1997) (holding that state fiduciary duty claims could be predicated on duties supplied under the Investment Company Act of 1940), rev’d in part on other grounds in Strougo v. Bassini, 282 F.3d 162 (2d Cir. 2002).

Further, an investment advisor’s “duty of loyalty requires that an advisor not subordinate its clients’ interests to its own. In other words, an investment adviser must not place its own interest ahead of its client’s interests.” Id. at 21. In sum, an investment advisor has a “duty to act in the client’s best interest[.]” not its own. “Under the “best interest” test, an adviser may benefit from a transaction recommended to a client if, and only if, that benefit and all related details of the transaction are fully disclosed.” Belmont v. MB Inv. Partners, Inc., 708 F.3d 470, 503 (3d Cir. 2013). While not disagreeing with the scope and terms of the fiduciary duty, Highland contends that neither it, nor HCFA, owed a fiduciary duty to CLO Holdco, which was an investor in HCLOF. This is false for a couple of reasons:

First, Highland’s CEO, James Seery, in discussing the necessity of his appointment as CEO and the degree to which he understood the importance of his job, he testified under oath—under direct examination—that he and Highland, as registered investment advisers—owed fiduciary duties to the funds they managed, and the investors in those funds. (App_0009) (“The goals of the debtor...number one, discharge Highland’s, ... duties to investors in the funds. Those are fiduciary duties under the Investment Advisers Act.”); (App_14) (“the Investment Advisers Act puts a fiduciary duty on Highland Capital to discharge its duty to the investors. So while we have duties to the estate, we also duties, as I mentioned in my last testimony, to each of the investors in the funds.”). Seery’s sworn, uncontradicted testimony, is an undisputed fact that this Court may take judicial notice of at this stage. See Fed. R. Evid. 201(b); Aloe Creme Labs., Inc. v. Francine Co., 425 F.2d 1295, 1296 (5th Cir. 1970) (per curiam)).

Second, the Supreme Court has stated that the Advisor’s Act’s provisions in 15 U.S.C. § 80b-6, are fiduciary duties. See Transamerica Mortg. Advisors (tama) v. Lewis, 444 U.S. 11, 17, 100 S. Ct. 242, 246 (1979) (“As we have previously recognized, § 206 [15 U.S.C. § 80b-6] establishes ‘federal fiduciary standards’ to govern the conduct of investment advisers.”). Subsection (d) of that statute delegates to the SEC the power to enact standards for its enforcement. To wit, the SEC enacted 17 C.F.R. § 275.206(4)-8, to enforce the fiduciary standards in Section 206(d) of the Advisers Act:

- (1) Make any untrue statement of a material fact or to omit to state a material fact necessary to make the statements made, in the light of the circumstances under which they were made, not misleading, to any investor or prospective investor in the pooled investment vehicle; or
- (2) Otherwise engage in any act, practice, or course of business that is fraudulent, deceptive, or manipulative with respect to any investor or prospective investor in the pooled investment vehicle.

17 C.F.R. § 275.206(4)-8 (bold added).⁹ Therefore, as a matter of statute, Highland owes duties to investors like Holdco.

Third, Highland’s entire premise—that it owes no duties to Holdco as an investor in HCLOF—is based upon the notion that Holdco is not a “client” under the Act because Highland and Holdco have no Advisory Agreement between them. But the Investor’s Act does not state, anywhere, that an RIA has no duties to an investor just because they are not a client under an advisory agreement. Accordingly, Highland's contention that it owes no fiduciary duties directly to investors like Holdco fails on its face, and is contradicted by the law and the facts.

⁹ Although Highland does not contest that HCLOF is a “pooled investment vehicle” for the purposes of this regulation, the HCLOF does qualify because, according to the Company Agreement, it “[has] less than 100 investors and do[es] not publicly offer [its] securities.” United States SEC v. Markusen, 143 F. Supp. 3d 877, 891 (D. Minn. 2015).

3. Plaintiffs Have Alleged Several Breaches of Fiduciary Duty

Highland breached multiple fiduciary obligations in the process of negotiating and consummating the HarbourVest Settlement. The materiality of misrepresenting the value and the benefit to Highland of the investment is not debatable. Accord S.E.C. v. Blavin, 760 F.2d 706, 711 (6th Cir. 1985). And Highland cannot escape liability for this duty by conducting its advisory activities through HCFA. See 15 U.S.C. § 80b-8(d) ("It shall be unlawful for any person indirectly, or through or by any other person, to do any act or thing which it would be unlawful for such person to do directly under the provisions of this title [15 USCS § 80b-1 et seq.] or any rule or regulation thereunder.").

The core fiduciary duty that was breached is the duty against self-dealing, which is a core conflict of interest. The Advisers Act's primary purpose is to eliminate advisers' conflicts of interest. See Laird, 897 F.2d at 839 (purpose of § 80b-6 of Advisers Act was to eliminate conflicts of interests between advisers and their advisees). The Advisers Act also makes clear that the duty of loyalty means putting CLO Holdco's interest first.¹⁰ Under this duty, the Advisers Act explains that an adviser must have a rational, non-self-interested basis for how it allocates investment opportunities that are appropriate for its advisees.¹¹ Here, the HCLOF Company Agreement makes

¹⁰ See SEC Release at 23.

¹¹ SEC Release at 27 ("When allocating investment opportunities among eligible clients, an adviser may face conflicts of interest either between its own interests and those of a client ... When allocating investment opportunities, an adviser is permitted to consider the nature and objectives of the client and the scope of the relationship. An adviser need not have pro rata allocation policies, or any particular method of allocation, but, as with other conflicts and material facts, the adviser's allocation practices must not prevent it from providing advice that is in the best interest of its clients."); see also SEC Release at 21 and n.54 (noting that SEC deems it breach of it clear that the purposes of HCLOF's investors is to acquire profitable CLO and CLO related securities—which the shares in HCLOF would fall under (App_0020).¹²

Highland entered into settlement negotiations in November 2020 with HarbourVest where it first learned of HarbourVest's intent to sell its interests in HCLOF. (Compl. ¶ 119). On December 23, 2020, Highland moved for approval of the HarborVest Settlement. On January 14, 2021, at the Bankruptcy Court for the Northern District of Texas, Highland's CEO declared that the value of HarbourVest's Interest in HCLOF was $22.5 million. (Compl. at ¶ 34). As Defendant concedes, Counsel for Plaintiff CLO Holding, who also represented DAF, attended that hearing. (Doc. No. 27 at ¶ 10). The Bankruptcy Court approved a settlement that permitted Highland to obtain HCLOF's interest for this amount. (Compl. at ¶¶ 32-34). In truth, the HarbourVest Interests were worth in excess of $41,750,000 at that time. (Compl. at ¶ 37). Highland, however, did not disclose the true value of HarbourVest's interests to Plaintiffs—ever. (Compl. at ¶ 75). Highland's failure to disclose the true value of the HarbourVest Interests was a breach of its duty of full and fair disclosure, regardless of its intent.

Furthermore, the value of the trade, the potential upside in the trade, and the nature of the trade were never disclosed to Holdco or the DAF prior to the hearing—indeed, the value and nature was misrepresented to them at the hearing. (Compl. ¶ 76, ¶ 120). Highland converted its 0.6% interest into a 50.58% interest and thereby control of HCLOF. Therefore, Highland and HCFM, by allocating 100% of the investment opportunity in the HarbourVest Interests to itself (then, a the duties of Section 206 of Advisers Act for an adviser to allocate the trades to its own account at the expense of advisees).

¹² The Company Agreement states that HCLOG “has been established to provide its investors with exposure to CLO Notes on both a direct basis and indirect basis and senior secured loans on an indirect basis, through the use of the investments described in its investment policy [in the Offering Memo].”

mere 0.6% holder of HCLOF (Compl. at ¶ 25), and doing so without the informed consent of both HCLOF or CLO Holdco, violated its duty of loyalty to both. The same goes to its duties to the DAF under the Advisory Agreement.

To the extent Highland contends that the Company Agreement or any other provision waives its obligations under the Advisers Act, or those of HCFA, those waivers are null and void under 15 U.S.C. § 80b-15(a).¹³

4. Rule 9(b) Does Not Apply—But Even if it Did, it has Been Met

“By its clear terms, Rule 9(b) applies only to averments of fraud or mistake, not to averments of negligence, breach of fiduciary duty, or non-fraudulent misstatement. Tigue Inv. Co. v. Chase Bank of Tex., N.A., Civil Action No. 3:03-CV-2490-N, 2004 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 27582, at *7 (N.D. Tex. 2004). Here, Plaintiffs’ fiduciary duty claims do not turn on fraudulent intent. The Advisers Act forbids investment advisors from “engag[ing] in any act, practice, or course of business which is fraudulent, deceptive, or manipulative.” 15 U.S.C. § 80b-6(4).

The violations of § 80b-6 of the Advisor’s Act, although called the “antifraud” provisions, do not require a pleading of scienter. See SEC v. Capital Gains Research Bureau, Inc., 375 U.S. 180, 195, 84 S. Ct. 275, 284-85 (1963) (“... Congress, in empowering the courts to enjoin any practice which operates ‘as a fraud or deceit’ upon a client, did not intend to require proof of intent to injure and actual injury to the client.”). To wit, Plaintiffs also allege that Highland breached its fiduciary duty by self-dealing when it purchased the entire HarbourVest Interests without providing Plaintiffs with the opportunity to participate. (Compl. at ¶ 76–88). These allegation do not require a false statement, nor require Plaintiffs' reliance, nor damage to Plaintiffs (a benefit to Highland suffices) all of which are elements of fraud. Because fraudulent conduct does not underlie Plaintiffs' allegations, Rule 9(b) does not apply. Tigue Inv. Co., Civil Action No. 3:03-CV-2490-N, 2004 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 27582, at *7–8.

Nonetheless, the Complaint satisfies Rule 9(b). The Complaint systematically goes through and identifies the dates, acts, communications, omissions and consequences of the breaches of fiduciary duties under the Advisers Act and under state law. See, e.g., Compl. ¶ § 55-91, 119-125, 127-129. Defendant's blythe throw-away statement that Rule 9(b) has not been met is simply unsupportable.

C. PLAINTIFF CLO HOLDCO HAS PLED A CLAIM FOR BREACH OF CONTRACT AND TORTIOUS INTERFERENCE

Plaintiff CLO Holdco's breach of contract claim is straightforward. Under the HCLOF Company Agreement, a "Transfer" of the shares of HCLOF is defined to include the "sale" of the shares. Members Agreement, § 6.1 (App_0026).

Sections 6.1 and 6.2 of the Agreement purport to allow sales by members of their interests in HCLOF to "affiliates" of Members, but not to members themselves, without certain conditions precedent. App_0026-27). One of those conditions precedent is that the other members have to be afforded the right to purchase their pro-rata portion (App_0027).

Highland contends that the "transfer" to its "nominee," HCMLP Investments, LLC, is a transfer to an "affiliate," which is consistent with the Company Agreement. But this is factual gerrymandering and outside the scope of a 12(b)(6). The Transfer that is the basis of Plaintiffs' contract claim is the sale by HarbourVest. That sale was accomplished through the Settlement Agreement with Highland (App_0046-54). In the Settlement Agreement, Highland paid for the Harbourvest Interests. In return, HarbourVest agreed to release its claims against Highland and transfer the HarbourVest Interests to Highland. (App_0047). Highland’s supposed “nominee,” HCMLP Investments, LLC was not a party to this agreement. Highland’s nominee did not pay for those interests. Id. Therefore, the Settlement Agreement constitutes a sale to Highland. And to the extent it was a sale to Highland, the sale violated Section 6.2 of the Company Agreement.

Defendant argues that because the shares were titled in the name of Highland’s nominee, HCMLP Investments, LLC, it is an affiliate of Highland, and therefore there was no breach of contract. But this argument ignores the fact that even though the shares were ultimately titled in the name of an affiliate, the HCLOF shares were sold by HarbourVest to Highland. The addendum transfer where Highland delegated its right to receive the shares to a nominee is “form over substance” and is bad faith, in violation of the Company Agreement § 20.5’s “good faith” clause.

Defendant argues that Plaintiff failed to plead actual damages. But Defendant ignores that fact that Plaintiff pleads that the breach of contract denied it the opportunity to obtain a share of the HarbourVest Interests at a $20+ million discount, which it alleges are damages. (Compl. at ¶¶ 98–100, 102). Lost profits are an available remedy for breach of contract. Basic Capital Mgmt. v. Dynex Commer., Inc., 402 S.W.3d 257, 268 (Tex. App.—Dallas 2013). “Recovery for loss profits does not require that the loss be susceptible of exact calculation.” Id. (quoting Holt Atherton Industries, Inc. v. Heine, 835 S.W.2d 80, 84 (Tex. 1992)).

Highland claims that Plaintiff’s damages are too speculative. The case it cites, Snowden v. Wells Fargo Bank, N.A., No. 3:18-cv-1797, 2019 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 23557, at *13–14 (N.D. Tex. 2019), which is completely inapposite on the facts because there no one had actually lost their use and enjoyment of the home. However, Plaintiff does plead that it would have paid for the interest with cash. (Compl. ¶ 49-50). Highland’s choice to disbelieve this allegation is not relevant here.

Because Highland's entire premise for dismissing Plaintiffs' tortious interference claim is predicated on the non-existence of an enforceable contract, Plaintiff's tortious interference claim likewise survives.

D. PLAINTIFFS HAVE PLED A CLAIM FOR NEGLIGENCE

Highland's entire argument for dismissal of the negligence cause of action is incorporating its other arguments. But this is a waiver because it has not articulated any basis for dismissal, and has not shown which elements have not been met. First, under long-established Texas law, the elements of a negligence claim are: (a) a legal duty owed by one person to another; (b) breach of that duty; and (c) damages proximately caused by the breach. Nabors Drilling, U.S.A., Inc. v. Escoto, 288 S.W.3d 401, 404 (Tex. 2009). Here, the Motion should be denied because the elements have all been pled. See Compl. ¶ 103-112.

E. PLAINTIFFS HAVE PLED A CAUSE OF ACTION UNDER RICO

Highland seeks to dismiss Plaintiffs' Racketeer Influenced and Corrupt Organizations (15 U.S.C. § 1961 et seq.) claims ("RICO") under Rule 12(b)(6), alleging that the Complaint does not comply with Rule 9(b). The Motion should be denied because Plaintiffs have pled facts with sufficient particularity to meet the elements of a RICO violation and to give notice to Highland of the claims against it.

"Regardless of subsection, RICO claims under § 196[4] [sic] have three common elements: '(1) a person who engages in (2) a pattern of racketeering activity, (3) connected to the acquisition, establishment, conduct, or control of an enterprise.'" Abraham v. Singh, 480 F.3d 351, 355 (5th Cir. 2007) (quoting Word of Faith World Outreach Ctr. Church, Inc. v. Sawyer, 90 F.3d 118, 122 (5th Cir. 1996)). To recover under § 1964(c), a plaintiff must plead that the elements of a substantive RICO violation as well as that it “has been injured in [its] business or property by the conduct constituting the violation.” Sedimav. Imrex Co., 473 U.S. 479, 496 (1985).

We address the elements in turn.

1. Highland is a “RICO” Person

Plaintiffs have alleged that Highland is a RICO person for the purposes of the RICO claim via its conduct by James Seery. (Compl. ¶¶ 129-133). Highland takes no issue with this element in its Motion.

2. Plaintiffs Have Pled a RICO “Enterprise”

For the purpose of RICO, an “enterprise” may be “any individual, partnership, corporation, association, or other legal entity, and any union or group of individuals associated in fact although not a legal entity.” 18 U.S.C. § 1961(4). Thus, “[a] RICO enterprise can be either a legal entity or an association-in-fact.” Crowe v. Henry, 43 F.3d 198, 204 (5th Cir. 1995).

Plaintiffs have alleged that HCLOF may rightly be considered an enterprise unto itself because it is a legal entity. (Compl. ¶¶ 5, 115). Crowe, 43 F.3d at 204.

Additionally, Plaintiffs have alleged that the association between HCLOF, HCFA and Highland is rightly an “association in fact” enterprise (Compl. ¶ 115-116). HCFA was the portfolio manager of HCLOF, and Highland operated HCFA as its wholly owned subsidiary (Compl. ¶ 24). HCFA—and by extension, Highland—was able to exert near plenary power over HCLOF under the HCLOF Company Agreement.¹⁴ An association-in-fact enterprise “1) must have an existence separate and apart from the pattern of racketeering, 2) must be an ongoing organization and 3) its members must function as a continuing unit as shown by a hierarchical or consensual decision-making structure.” Crowe, 43 F.3d at 205. Here, all three of these have been met:

First, the association in fact has an existence separate and apart from the pattern of racketeering.¹⁵ HCLOF is an investment vehicle run by HCFA and Highland pursuant to contracts between and among them, such as the HCLOF Company Agreement at Recital B which explains the “Business” in which HCLOF was to engage (App_20).

Second, the association-in-fact was an ongoing association amongst the three since the 2017—well before the alleged acts of racketeering began.

Third, they functioned as a continuing unit given their hierarchical, consensual decision-making structure. Accord Crowe, 43 F.3d at 205 (holding that farming venture was association in fact because it existed outside of the purpose to commit fraud and theft, and therefore satisfied association in fact enterprise).

Accordingly, the “enterprise” element has been met in two different ways.

3. Plaintiffs Have Pled a Pattern of Racketeering Activity with Particularity

“‘Racketeering activity’ consists of two or more predicate criminal acts that are (1) related and (2) ‘amount to or pose a threat of continued criminal activity.’” Abraham, 480 F.3d at 355 (quoting Sawyer, 90 F.3d at 122).

RICO defines a “pattern of racketeering activity” as one comprised of “at least two acts of racketeering activity, one of which occurred after the effective date of this chapter and the last of ¹⁵ Highland contends that there is no separateness because it and HCFA are defendants. But the mere fact that Highland and HCLOF are both defendants and part of the enterprise, or that HCLOF is both an enterprise unto itself and part of an enterprise-in-fact, do not defeat the “enterprise” element. Accord Riverwoods Chappaqua Corp. v. Marine Midland Bank, N.A., 30 F.3d 339, 344 (2d Cir. 1994).

which occurred within ten years (excluding any period of imprisonment) after the commission of a prior act of racketeering activity.” 18 U.S.C.S. § 1961(5). Racketeering activity includes, relevantly, “(B) any act which is indictable under any of the following provisions of title 18, United States Code: ...section 1341 (relating to mail fraud), section 1343 (relating to wire fraud),...[or] (D) any offense involving fraud connected with a case under title 11 [...and] fraud in the sale of securities.” See 18 U.S.C.S. § 1961(1)(B) and (D).

Plaintiffs plead that Highland conducted and controlled the enterprise (whether HCLOF or the Highland-HCFA-HCLOF enterprises) through a pattern of violations of the wire fraud statute, breaches of the Advisers Act’s antifraud provisions in 15 U.S.C. § 80b-6, and the acts and omissions designed to defraud Plaintiff of the HarbourVest Interests in HCLOF (Compl. ¶ 132).

Wire and Mail Fraud

“To establish either mail or wire fraud, the plaintiffs must only [plead] fraudulent intent; proof of a successful fraudulent scheme is not necessary.” Laird v. Integrated Res., 897 F.2d 826, 839 (5th Cir. 1990). The use of the wires to achieve any part of the scheme is sufficient—one need not allege (much less prove) that an allegedly fraudulent statement was uttered or communicated through the interstate mails or wires. Accord United States v. Westbo, 746 F.2d 1022, 1025-26 (5th Cir. 1984) (“when a defendant is proved to be a participant in a scheme to defraud and a document is mailed in furtherance of the scheme, the defendant may be convicted of mail fraud.”).¹⁶

Here, the Original Complaint alleges that:

15. On or about October 16, 2019, Highland Capital Management filed for Chapter 11 bankruptcy in Delaware Bankruptcy Court, which was later transferred to the

Northern District of Texas Bankruptcy Court, in the case styled In Re: Highland Capital Management, L.P., Debtor, Cause No. 19-34054...

17. The debtor, HCM, made an omnibus response to the [HarbourVest] proofs of claims, stating they were duplicative of each other, overstated, late, and otherwise meritless.

29. On December 23, 2020, HCM moved the Court to approve a settlement between itself and HarbourVest. No discovery had taken place between the parties, and Plaintiff did not have any notice of the settlement terms or other factors prior to the motion's filing (or even during its pendency) in order to investigate its rights.

31. On January 14, 2021, the Bankruptcy Court held an evidentiary hearing and approved the settlement in a bench ruling, overruling the objections to the settlement.

119. In or about November 2020, HCM and HarbourVest entered into discussions about settling the HarbourVest Claims. Seery's conduct of HCLOF and HCLA on behalf of HCM through the interstate mails and/or wires caused HCM to agree to the purchase of HarbourVest's Interests in HCLOF.

120. On or about each of September 30, 2020, through December 31, 2020, Seery, through his conduct of the enterprise, utilized the interstate wires and/or mails to obtain or arrive at valuations of the HCLOF interests. Seery's conduct of the enterprise caused them to cease sending the valuation reports to Plaintiffs, which eventually allowed Plaintiffs to be misled into believing that Seery had properly valued the interests.

121. On or about September 30, 2020, Seery transmitted or caused to be transmitted through the interstate wires information to HCLOF investors from HCM (via HCFA), including HarbourVest, regarding the value of HCLOF interests and underlying assets.

122. Additionally, Seery operated HCM in such a way that he concealed the true value of the HCLOF interests by utilizing the interstate wires and mails to transmit communications to the court in the form of written representations on or about December 23, 2020, and then further transmitted verbal representations of the current market value (the vastly understated one) on January 14, 2021, during live testimony.

124. The HCLOF net asset value had reached $86,440,024 as of December 31, 2021, which means that by the time Seery was testifying in the Bankruptcy Court on January 14, 2021, the fair market value of the HarbourVest Assets was $22.5 million, when it was actually closer to $43,202,724. Seery, speaking on behalf of HCM, knew of the distinction in value.

125. On January 14, 2021, Seery also testified that he (implying HCM, HCLA and HCLOF) had valued the HarbourVest Assets at their current valuation and at fair market value. [...]

126. In supporting HCM's motion to the Bankruptcy Court to approve the HarbourVest Settlement, Seery omitted the fact that HCM was purchasing the interests at a massive discount, which would violate the letter and spirit of the Adviser's Act.

129. Seery was at all relevant times operating as an agent of HCM.

Compl. ¶¶ passim. Defendant’s contention that the allegations of the use of the mails and wires were not sufficiently pled under Rule 9(b) is meritless.¹⁷

Fraud in Connection the Sale of a Security

The violation of the securities laws, including the Investment Advisers Act if it is in connection with the sale of securities, can serve as a predicate to a RICO claim. See 18 U.S.C.S. § 1961(1)(D). See also Youmans v. Simon, 791 F.2d 341, 348 (5th Cir. 1986); Laird v. Integrated Res., 897 F.2d 826, 839 (5th Cir. 1990).

Here, Plaintiffs have already addressed above why the scheme of self-dealing and self-enrichment alleged in the Complaint constitute violations of the Advisers Act. See supra. See also Comp. ¶¶ 55-91; 113-133. That these were in connection with the sale of HCLOF interests which are securities is uncontested. Indeed, the HCLOF Company Agreement provides that the ownership interests are “ordinary shares” and that shareholders generally own passive interests in HCLOF.¹⁸ 15 U.S.C. § 80b-6 specifically states that it shall be unlawful to use the interstate wires

¹⁷ There are additional allegations of using the interstate wires and instrumentalities of interstate commerce to reach the settlement because the parties were in different states (Compl. ¶¶ 1-5, 119), to conduct valuations of the HCLOF interests on or about September 30, 2020 (Compl. ¶¶ 40, 120), to communicate valuations which themselves were false (Compl. ¶ 121), to cause the motion for approval of the settlement to be filed in the bankruptcy court on December 23, 2020 via ECF (Compl. ¶ 122), misrepresenting the value of the assets in live court testimony (which was obviously conducted remotely via Webex (App_5)) (Compl. ¶ 122), that Seery had travelled to Dallas in December 2020 to attend a meeting wherein he received material information (Compl. ¶ 127), among several others.

¹⁸ (App__0024-25 (discussing control of business of HCLOF is in Board and Portfolio Manager)), HCLOF Company Agreement at ¶¶ 1.1 (HCFA is Portfolio Manager), ¶ 3.2 (power of Portfolio Manager to decide the value of assets), ¶ 4.1 (power of Portfolio Manager to run HCLOF’s business and make investment decisions unilaterally), ¶ 4.3 (power of Portfolio Manager to take any action unless it requests approval “in its sole discretion”, unless narrow exceptions apply), ¶ 5.3 (power of Portfolio Manager to take over shares from defaulting Member)), ¶ 9.1 (power of Portfolio Manager to dissolve company).

or mails, or “any instrumentality of interstate commerce” in connection with any of the violative courses of conduct. The violations and nexus to the instrumentalities of interstate commerce have already been addressed above and are incorporated herein.

Accordingly, because there are numerous predicate acts that allege a fraud in connection with the sale of a security (e.g., the sale of the HarbourVest Interests to Highland as opposed to CLO Holdco), these acts, together and when combined with the alleged acts of use of the interstate wires and mail, form a pattern of racketeering activity.

4. Plaintiffs Have Pled a Basis to Infer Scienter

To establish a RICO claim based on a pattern of mail or wire fraud, the plaintiff must plead that the defendant “act[ed] knowingly with the specific intent to deceive for the purpose of causing pecuniary loss to another or bringing about some financial gain to himself.” United States v. Akpan, 407 F.3d 360, 370 (5th Cir. 2005). This can be met through pleading circumstantial evidence from which knowledge or intent can reasonably be inferred. Ranieri v. Advocare Int’l, L.P., 336 F. Supp. 3d 701, 716 (N.D. Tex. 2018) (finding scienter met through circumstantial evidence).

Here, Plaintiffs allege that Highland knew of its disclosure obligations when trading in securities that its advisees and those to whom it owes fiduciary duties may be interested, and that it is charged with knowing them because it is a Registered Investment Adviser under the Advisers Act (Compl. ¶ 4, 11). It is charged with such an awareness of its duties as well, and with the SEC’s rules. See SEC Release at p. 6. The Advisers Act requires Highland to maintain policies and procedures that will ensure compliance with its fiduciary duties. See SEC Release at p. 21-22 (and footnotes therein). Indeed, Plaintiffs alleged that Highland’s policies and procedures were supposed to prevent its trading adverse to its investors (Compl. ¶ 46). Jim Seery admitted that he and Highland had these fiduciary duties under the Advisers Act (App_0009, 0014).

Plaintiffs have also alleged that Seery knew or should have known the value of the HarbourVest Interests at the time her was negotiating with Harborne's, and at the time of the approval hearing in January 2021. See Compl. ¶¶ 45, 76. The Company Agreement imposes a duty to manage that as well (App_ 0023, 0029-30 (noting the ongoing duty to calculate the NAV (net asset value, and financial reporting duties)).

These are undisputed facts. Therefore Highland cannot credibly disclaim awareness of fiduciary duties in connection with the sale of HCLOF interests from HarbourVest to itself. Plaintiffs have credibly pled that Highland was aware that it was purchasing the HarbourVest Interests at a substantial discount to the then-current NAV, which was a corporate opportunity that it contractually would have been aware belonged to HCLOF or its investors (App_0020; 0023).

Thus, a reasonable jury could infer from these facts that Highland purposefully withheld the disclosures and information it was obligated under the Advisers Act to supply, for the specific purpose of taking advantage of the HarbourVest Interests (a gain for Highland), while intending to deprive Plaintiffs of that interest (a pecuniary loss to Plaintiffs). Courts have found adequate lesser allegations of scienter. Accord Ranieri, 336 F. Supp. 3d at 716.

5. Plaintiffs Have Pled Injury to Their Business or Property Due to the RICO Violations

Plaintiffs have been injured because it was wrongfully deprived of the HarbourVest Interests in HCLOF through a pattern of racketeering activity (Compl. ¶¶ 133). Contrary to the suggestion by the Defendant, the Supreme Court has held that a RICO plaintiff need not allege a "RICO injury" separate and apart from the injury arising from the racketeering activity itself. See Sedima S.P.R.L. v. Imrex Co., Inc., 473 U.S. 479 (1985).

As the Supreme Court put it in Bridge v. Phoenix Bond & Indemnity Co.: "[A] person can be injured 'by reason of' a pattern of mail fraud even if he has not relied on any misrepresentations.” The Court explained that “[p]roof that the plaintiff relied on the defendant's misrepresentations may in some cases be sufficient to establish proximate cause, but there is no sound reason to conclude that such proof is always necessary.” Bridge v. Phx. Bond & Indem. Co., 553 U.S. 639, 649 (2008). “Moreover, a person can be injured ‘by reason of’ a pattern of mail fraud even if he has not relied on any misrepresentations.” Id. Specifically, if they have lost the right to obtain a valuable asset. Id. (“Accepting their allegations as true, respondents clearly were injured by petitioners’ scheme: As a result of petitioners’ fraud, respondents lost valuable liens they otherwise would have been awarded. And this is true even though they did not rely on petitioners' false attestations of compliance with the county's rules.”) Id.

Here, Plaintiff CLO Holdco has alleged that but for Highland scheme to deprive Plaintiffs of the HarbourVest Interests, and the actions taken in connection with it, Highland would have otherwise been forced to disclose the entire transaction first because of the conflict of interest, and to purge that interest it would have had to offer it to the Plaintiffs. Plaintiff Holdco has alleged that had it been offered the HarbourVest Interests, it would have paid cash for it. (Compl. ¶ 50). Highland contends this allegation is “speculative.” While Highland can investigate in discovery whether Holdco had the cash is actually true, that does not render the allegation speculative.

6. Highland’s Defenses Are Legally Infirm or Improper at the 12(b)(6) Stage

Highland contends that under various precedent, the fact that Plaintiffs have pled a single transaction that is alleged to be fraudulent is insufficient to make out a RICO claim, and that it lacks the requisite “continuity.” However, the Fifth Circuit in R.A.G.S. Couture, Inc. v. Hyatt, held that two alleged uses of interstate wires, in a short period of time, and connected to a single transaction alleged to have been fraudulent, was sufficient to state a claim under RICO. 774 F.2d 1350, 1351-53 (5th Cir. 1985). The Fifth Circuit rejected the arguments raised by Highland here, that “more” is needed, noting also that the Supreme Court had “held that an enterprise may be organized solely for illegitimate purposes, and that evidence of the existence of the enterprise may coalesce with evidence of the underlying pattern of racketeering.” Id. at 1353. Accord Abell v. Potomac Ins. Co., 858 F.2d 1104, 1129 (5th Cir. 1988) (following R.A.G.S., and holding plaintiff’s allegation of “over half a dozen acts of mail fraud and wire fraud, each of which stems from Westside’s bond offer” and in a short period of time).

Highland’s reliance on the Supreme Court’s opinion in H.J. Inc. v. Northwestern Bell Tel. Co. is also misplaced. There, the Supreme Court pointed out that continuity does not require a showing of separate illegal schemes. 492 U.S. 229, 236 (1989) (“We find no support in those sources for the proposition, espoused by the Court of Appeals for the Eighth Circuit in this case, that predicate acts of racketeering may form a pattern only when they are part of separate illegal schemes.”). Contrary to Highland’s taxing interpretation, H.J. merely held that the predicate acts have to relate to each other in order to constitute a “pattern”. Id. at 239. Highland’s contention that the Court’s reference to a “threat of continuing activity.”¹⁹

Therefore, Highland’s objections should be overruled and its Motion denied.

VI.

MOTION FOR LEAVE TO AMEND

Plaintiffs respectfully ask for leave to amend in the alternative to cure any pleading deficiencies that the Court determines exist. A court’s discretion to grant leave is severely limited by the bias of Rule 15(a) favoring amendment. Dussouy v. Gulf Coast Investment Corp., 660 F.2d

¹⁹ Plaintiff would further suggest that upon amendment, Plaintiff would plead that there is a pattern of violations of the Advisers Act by Highland over the course of the past year, one threatens to continue unabated into the future because Highland has clearly decided to shirk fiduciary duties to the investors in its funds.

594, 598 (5th Cir. 1981). Leave to amend "should not be denied 'unless there is a substantial reason to do so.'" Jacobsen v. Osborne, 133 F.3d 315, 318 (5th Cir. 1998) (emphasis added) (quoting Leffall v. Dallas Indep. Sch. Dist., 28 F.3d 521, 524 (5th Cir. 1994)).

Amendment would not be futile because—to the extent necessary under Rule 9(b)—Plaintiffs could add more detail on the instrumentalities of interstate commerce and address in further detail the allegations claimed to be deficient. The balance between Rule 8 and Rule 9(b) is not always perfect on the first try, and Plaintiffs should not be dismissed for want of an opportunity to cure any deficiencies. Plaintiffs further would request the opportunity to add a Rule 10b-5 claim, which can be premised on violations of the Advisers Act. Laird v. Integrated Res., 897 F.2d 826, 835 (5th Cir. 1990 (recognizing that Advisers Act violations can be a basis for 10b-5 liability, holding that “for the purpose of rule 10(b)-5, an investment adviser is a fiduciary and therefore has an affirmative duty of utmost good faith to avoid misleading clients. This duty includes disclosure of all material facts and all possible conflicts of interest.”). Plaintiffs would finally request to add a claim under the Advisers Act to divest Highland of the rights it obtained in violation thereof under 15 U.S.C. § 80b-15(b). Transamerica Mortg. Advisors (tama) v. Lewis, 444 U.S. at 17 (finding private right of action under Section 215 of Advisers Act to seek equitable relief to disgorge rights obtained in violation of the Advisers Act).

VII.

CONCLUSION

For the foregoing reasons, the 12(b)(6) motion should be denied in full.

1 matter as well as financing in distressed matters during that
2 time.

3 In 1999, I went to the business side and I began to manage
4 distressed assets at Lehman Brothers as well as a leverage
5 finance business. That grew into my running the risky finance
6 business as well as the loan business at Lehman globally,
7 which included high-grade loans, high-yield loans, trading and 8 sales of those products, a big part of distressed, all of 9 restructuring, all of asset management, and all of the hedging
10 of the portfolio that we had.

11 From there, I left Lehman with a small group and sold it
12 to Barclay's. I moved on and ran a hedge fund with two former 13 partners of mine who are the founding partners called River
14 Birch Capital. It was a long-short credit fund; mostly 15 credit, though we did structured finance as well, and we also 16 handled some equities.

17 Q Okay. Let's spend a few minutes, as a preview, talking
18 about the Debtor and its business. And let's start with the 19 basics. Is there a way you can summarize the business of the 20 Debtor?

21 A I think, from a high level, the best way to think about
22 the Debtor is that it's a registered investment advisor. As a
23 registered investment advisor, which is really any advisor of 24 third-party money over $25 million, it has to register with 25 the SEC, and it manages funds in many different ways.

Seery - Direct

17

1 The Debtor manages approximately $200 million current
2 values -- it was more than that at the start of the case -- of
3 its own assets. It doesn't have to be a registered investment
4 advisor for those assets, but it does manage its own assets,
5 which include directly-owned securities; loans from mostly 6 related entities, but not all; and investments in certain
7 funds which it also manages.

8 In addition, the Debtor manages about roughly $2 billion
9 in -- $2 billion in total managed assets, around $2 billion in 10 CLO assets, and then other entities, which are hedge funds or 11 PE style.

12 In addition, the Debtor provides shared services for 13 approximately $6 billion of assets. Those are assets that are 14 owned by related entities but not owned by Debtor-owned or 15 managed entities. And those are a combination of back office
16 services, which include timely reporting, asset management,
17 legal and compliance support, trading and research support,
18 but not the actual management of the assets.

19 The Debtors run -- and I think the way to think about it
20 is on a functional basis; at least, that's the way I think
21 about it -- and there's really six areas. There's corporate
22 management; finance, accounting and tax; trading and research;
23 private equity and fund investing; compliance and legal; and 24 then structured equity, which really includes all of the CLO
25 businesses.

Seery - Direct

18

1 The goals of the Debtor generally are what you'd expect
2 out of an asset manager. A little bit different than most
3 because the Debtor does own assets, which is a little
4 different than when money asset managers typically hold assets
5 away from the asset manager. But number one, discharge
6 Highland's, which I'll call Highland (inaudible), LP, duties
7 to investors in the funds. Those are fiduciary duties under 8 the Investment Advisors Act. Each day, you've got to make
9 sure that you do that first and foremost.

10 Number two, create positive MPD in each of the funds that 11 we manage, either through sales, purchases, or hedging.

12 Next, make sure that we report timely finances of our own
13 assets, including in the funds, but also, to the third-party
14 investors. Maximize the value of HCMLP's owned assets. And 15 then operate as efficiently as possible for the lowest cost.

16 That's essentially how the Debtor -- how we think about
17 the Debtor from a functional perspective. It's got about 70
18 employees laid out in those areas that I mentioned, and each
19 of those employees every day usually think about those goals
20 and try to discharge their duties by focusing on those goals.

21 Q Thank you, Mr. Seery. And can you describe for the Court
22 how those 70 or so employees are organized? Is there an 23 internal corporate structure that you're working with?

24 A Yeah. The way -- the way -- I apologize. The way we 25 think about it is, as I said, corporate management, which is

Seery - Direct

19

1 really HR and overseeing the function that it's filling every
2 day, that's been really -- because Mr. Dondero was removed
3 from management. It used to all roll up to him. That's been
4 effectively rolling up to me since February.

5 Finance, accounting, and tax. Each of these businesses
6 every day require certain amounts of liquidity. Each of them
7 have requirements that they have to pay out to investors.
8 Each of them have expenses. And all of them have different
9 kinds of tax either obligations or reporting. Those are 10 managed by Frank Waterhouse as the CFO. (inaudible), sorry.

11 Trading and research. With respect to the assets, they're 12 not -- they're not static assets. Many of them do get traded
13 on a regular basis. A gentleman, Joe Sowin, heads up the 14 trading of the liquid assets. John Povish (phonetic) heads up
15 the research and the trading of the more illiquid assets, but 16 not PE. In addition, we have PE assets that require some 17 management every day, including Board seats. That's a
18 gentleman by the name of Cameron Baynard, and also he will 19 fund investments in that area. J.P. Sevilla is responsible 20 for working with Cameron on those investments and leading that 21 team.

22 Importantly, because of the nature of what the Debtor
23 does, the fiduciary obligations, as well as the 24 responsibilities to each investor and the legal overlay, we 25 have a robust compliance and legal department. That's headed

Seery - Direct

20

1 by Thomas Surgent and Scott Ellington. Scott: more focused
2 on transactional issues with respect to legal. He is actually
3 general counsel. Everything that has do with compliance, the 4 interrelatedness of the funds, trading between funds or
5 positions that are shared across funds, which are many, runs
6 through Thomas Surgent and his team.

7 And finally, structured equity. Sitting on top of the 8 structured finance business that we have, understanding those 9 assets, particularly of two billion-ish assets in CLOs, that's 10 headed by Hunter Covitz.

11 Q Can you describe for the Court your interaction with each
12 of the department heads that you just identified?

13 A Well, depending on the nature of the issue each day, I
14 have at least -- I'd say generally at least weekly contact
15 with most, often daily contact with most. So, for example,
16 when there are trading issues, particularly as the market was 17 extremely volatile with respect to unliquid securities, Joe
18 Sowin and I were on the phone several times a day.

19 Relating to the COVID issues, Brian Collins, who heads the 20 HR group, and I were on the phone several times a day.

21 Relating to structured equity, depending on what's 22 happening with a particular fund or what's happening in loan
23 prices, I speak to Hunter Covitz. And it goes down the line.

24 So it really depends on each of the areas and what's going
25 on in the business, but I try to touch base with each of those

Seery - Direct

21

1 department heads on a regular basis.

2 Frank Waterhouse, of course, is at least weekly. We have
3 a standing call every week to make sure that we're focused on 4 liquidity, which is always a concern in a Chapter 11, and
5 Frank and his team are on that call and prepare weekly
6 materials for us.

7 Q Okay.

8 MR. MORRIS: Your Honor, before I move to the next
9 area of questions, the work of the Board, I just wanted to see
10 if the Court had any questions on the corporate organizational 11 structure, the internal structure of the business, or any of 12 the matters that Mr. Seery touched on?

13 THE COURT: I do not. And I do have in front of me a
14 demonstrative aid that Mr. Annable sent over ahead of time, so
15 I appreciate that as well.

16 MR. MORRIS: Okay. Your Honor, I think Mr. Seery
17 covered much of what's on that document, but if you'd like him
18 to go through that, we're happy to do it.

19 THE COURT: No, that's fine.

20 MR. MORRIS: Okay.

21 BY MR. MORRIS:

22 Q Then let's shift gears a little bit and start talking
23 about the work of the Independent Board itself. The 24 Independent Board was appointed in mid-January; is that right?

25 A Yeah. It was the first -- January 9th, the first week of

Seery - Direct

22

1 January, and we started working that afternoon.

2 Q Okay. Can you describe for the Court what the -- the 3 Board's initial focus? What were you focused on?

4 A Well, if you think about the areas that I just mentioned
5 previously, the Board initially, for lack of a better term,
6 gang-tackled everything. So we tried to make sure that we had 7 a broad base of understanding among the three of us with 8 respect to the business.

9 I, because of my background, had a lot more familiarity
10 with asset management, these type of asset security 11 businesses. But we wanted to make sure that each of us was at 12 least facile with the main areas that we had to understand.
13 First was operations. How does the company run each day?
14 Particularly, how was it going to run without Mr. Dondero?
15 And I went through some of those functional areas and how we 16 thought about those and who head each of those.

17 Next in the -- I don't mean to say it's second, because 18 it's always first, but liquidity. What did the Debtors'
19 liquidity look like? How are we going to manage that 20 liquidity, not just for the near-term, but also for the 21 medium-term, and then even into the slightly longer-term? We 22 had to think about what assets are there, what money those 23 assets might need that we would have to invest in them, and 24 whether there was liquidity in those assets that we can create
25 liquidity in order to fund the Debtors' business.

Seery - Direct

23

1 Personnel, we needed a good opportunity to understand who
2 did what, not just in the senior managers that I mentioned,
3 but deeper into the staff, because we're going to rely on
4 those folks. Particularly worked through with DSI.

5 As I mentioned, the Debtor, unlike a lot of other asset
6 managers, owns a lot of assets. It's a disparate group of 7 assets, but getting a feel and understanding for what those
8 assets were, what the critical issues surrounding those assets
9 are, who managed them day-to-day: We wanted to make sure that 10 each of the directors had a good (inaudible) and understanding
11 of those issues that might arise with respect to those assets,
12 and a good sense of how quickly those issues could, you know,
13 further arise.

14 We also had to get a very good understanding of each of 15 the funds that we manage. As I said, the Investment Advisors
16 Act puts a fiduciary duty on Highland Capital to discharge its 17 duty to the investors. So while we have duties to the estate,
18 we also have duties, as I mentioned in my last testimony, to 19 each of the investors in the funds.

20 Now, some of them are related parties, and those are a
21 little bit easier. Some of them are owned by Highland. But
22 there are third-party investors in these funds who have no
23 relation whatsoever to Highland, and we owe them a fiduciary
24 duty both to manage their assets prudently but also to seek to 25 maximize value. And we wanted to make sure we had a good

Seery - Direct

24

1 understanding of that.

2 Finally, with respect to the shared service arrangements,
3 we needed to get an understanding of that $6 billion in assets
4 and how our business, HCMLP, worked with those -- those shared
5 service counterparties and exactly who did what for whom.
6 It's very complicated because it had been run much more on a
7 functional basis than on a line basis from each contract. So
8 it's not as if your employees are allocated to NexBank. It's 9 the whole panoply of businesses that we enter into, and 10 providing those services to NexBank, not through a central 11 point but through whatever requests come in from the counter-
12 parties. So we needed a good understanding of what those 13 contracts looked and what those obligations were.

14 A VOICE: John, you're on mute.

15 MR. MORRIS: Thank you.

16 BY MR. MORRIS:

17 Q All of that work was going on in the first weeks of the 18 appointment of the Board?

19 A Yeah, it would not be fair to say we could do that in a
20 couple weeks. So it took far longer than that. But that 21 didn't mean that issues didn't start to arise immediately in 22 February. And so, while we were learning, we were also 23 starting to get a feel for different things that could happen
24 in the company.

25 As in many companies, immediately, one of the first things

Seery - Direct

25

1 you have to deal with is, particularly at the beginning of the
2 year, what does compensation look like; who are the -- what do
3 promotions look like; are you going to be able to hold this
4 team together to service these assets? And yeah, we had that,
5 with an additional wrinkle that Highland's payment structure
6 defers a significant amount of compensation to its employees,
7 and it vests over time, and it has the very typical provision
8 that if you are not there when it vests -- when it is going to 9 be paid, actually, not when it vests. Even if you're vested,
10 if you're not there when it gets paid, you're not entitled to 11 it. And so understanding who was owed what; how the vesting
12 worked; what the compensation structure looked like compared 13 to third parties, was one of the first things we had to do.
14 And Highland has an extremely robust review process. Brian 15 Collins manages it. It's first-rate. It goes through both 16 360 in terms of what other employees think of each other as 17 well as bottoms up, in terms of performance. And then it has 18 a top-down component, which ultimately ran through Mr.
19 Dondero. Since he was effectively removed from that role, the 20 Board had to jump in and get a full understanding with Brian
21 about what the process looked like; how it was going to work;
22 how it compared to other firms; and whether we could go
23 forward with it. And that was one of the motions that was 24 brought early to the Court.

25 A Let's talk a minute about the transactional work that the

1 yesterday counsel for Mr. Dondero filed a joinder in the 2 Debtors' objection to Acis's claim. So, again, just thinking
3 about this in the context of mediation, I think, with that 4 joinder, they will be a necessary party. So, going back to 5 Mr. Seery's point, this is not just --

6 THE COURT: Oh, absolutely. Mr. Dondero is --

7 MS. PATEL: -- a two-party --

8 THE COURT: -- going to be a required party in 9 mediation. Absolutely. So, --

10 MS. PATEL: Thank you, Your Honor.

11 THE COURT: All right. Well, if there's nothing
12 further, we'll see you on the 21st. And, again, my courtroom
13 deputy may be reaching out before then if we've got things
14 nailed down on mediation.

The Company shall bear any fees, costs and expenses related to the Advisory Board.

Meetings of the Advisory Board may be held in person, by telephone or by other electronic device.
- 4.3 Functions of Advisory Board. The Advisory Board shall provide (or determine not to provide) any consents or approvals expressly contemplated by this Agreement and the Offering Memorandum to be provided by the Advisory Board and, at the request of the Portfolio Manager in its sole discretion, provide general advice (which, for the avoidance of doubt, shall be non-binding) to the Portfolio Manager or the Company with regard to Company activities and operations and other matters. For the avoidance of doubt, no consent or approval of the Advisory Board shall be required for any action or determination expressly permitted or contemplated hereunder or in the Offering Memorandum and not conditioned on such a consent or approval. The Portfolio Manager shall not act contrary to the advice of the Advisory Board with respect to any action or determination expressly conditioned herein or in the Offering Memorandum on the consent or approval of the Advisory Board. Without limiting the foregoing, the Advisory Board shall be authorized to give any approval or consent required or deemed necessary or advisable under the Advisers Act on behalf of the Company and the Members, including under Section 206(3) of the Advisers Act. The Portfolio Manager may from time to time in its discretion request the Advisory Board to review and ratify certain Company matters. The consent of the Advisory Board shall be required to approve the following actions: (i) any extension of the Investment Period; (ii) any extension of the Term (other than an automatic extension following an extension of the Investment Period that has been approved by the Advisory Board); (iii) any allotment of additional equity securities by the Company; and (iv) any investment in a Related Obligation or any other transaction between the Company or any entity in which the Company holds a direct or indirect interest, on the one hand, and Highland or any of its Affiliates, on the other hand and (v) other matters as set forth in the Offering

Memorandum. Notwithstanding the foregoing or anything to the contrary set forth herein, no transaction that is specifically authorized in the governing documents of the Company shall require approval of the Advisory Board, including, without limitation, sales or securitizations of all or a portion of the Company's loan portfolio into new Qualifying CLOs (i.e. the transfer of warehoused assets into new Qualifying CLOs), investments in CLO Notes issued by CLOs managed by Highland Affiliates, and the NexBank Credit Facility and any Permitted NexBank Credit Facility Amendments, in each case as described in the Offering Memorandum. Any such approval, consent or ratification given by the Advisory Board shall be binding on the Company and the Members. Neither the Advisory Board nor any member thereof shall have the power to bind or act for or on behalf of the Company in any manner, and no shareholder who appoints a member of the Advisory Board shall be deemed to be an Affiliate of the Company or Highland solely by reason of such appointment.

- 4.4 Term of Members of Advisory Board. A member of the Advisory Board shall be deemed removed from the Advisory Board (i) if such member is no longer an officer, director, manager, trustee, employee, consultant or other representative of CLO Holdco or Dover IX, as applicable, or their respective Affiliates and shall be replaced as soon as practicable with a representative of CLO Holdco or Dover IX, or their respective Affiliates, as applicable, or (ii) if the Member represented by such member either becomes a Defaulting Member or such member ceases to be eligible to represent such Member pursuant to Clause 4.1.
- 4.5 No Duties to Other Members. No Advisory Board member who is the representative of any Member shall, to the extent permitted by law, owe a fiduciary duty to the Company or any other Member (other than the duty to act in good faith), and may, to the fullest extent permitted by law, in all instances act in such member's own interest and in the interest of the Member that appointed such member.

5. DEFAULTING MEMBERS

- 5.1 In the event any Member defaults in its obligation to pay the full amount of the purchase price of Shares called for settlement under the Subscription and Transfer Agreement on the applicable Settlement Date (such unpaid amount, an "Outstanding Settlement Amount"), the Portfolio Manager, on behalf of the Company, shall provide written or telephonic notice of such default to such Member. If such default is not cured within 5 business days after written (or if applicable telephonic or email) notice thereof given by the Portfolio Manager, on behalf of the Company, has been received by such Member, such Outstanding Settlement Amount shall automatically accrue interest on a retroactive basis from the date such Outstanding Settlement Amount was due at 12% (the "Default Interest Rate") (which interest, once paid, shall not be applied to the purchase of the unsettled Shares of such Member, but which will upon receipt be distributed pro rata to those Members who have funded any such Outstanding Settlement Amounts pursuant to this Clause 5). No such Shares which have failed to be settled will be issued to any Member until settlement of the full amount of the purchase price has been made. In addition, if such default is not cured within 10 business days after written or telephonic notice thereof given by the Portfolio Manager, on behalf of the Company, has been received by such Member (a "Defaulting Member"), the following provisions shall apply:
- 5.2 Whenever the vote or consent of the Defaulting Member would otherwise be required or permitted hereunder or under the Articles, the Defaulting Member shall not be entitled to participate in such vote or consent in respect of his existing shareholding and with respect to any representative of such Defaulting Member on the Advisory Board, and such vote or consent shall be calculated as if such Defaulting Member were not a Member and, as applicable, any representative of such Defaulting Member on the Advisory Board were not a member of the Advisory Board.
- 5.3 The Portfolio Manager, on behalf of the Company, may pursue and enforce all rights and remedies available, including the commencement of legal proceedings against the Defaulting Member to collect the Outstanding Settlement Amounts, together with interest thereon for the account of the Company from the date due at the Default Interest Rate, plus the costs and expenses of collection (including attorneys' fees and expenses).

- 5.4 The Portfolio Manager, on behalf of the Company, may (at the sole cost of the Defaulting Member) borrow funds from any person (other than the Defaulting Member or its Affiliates) to cover such shortfall and/or advance all or a portion of the Defaulting Member's Outstanding Settlement Amount to the Company on behalf of the Defaulting Member, and such advance shall be repaid by the Defaulting Member to the Portfolio Manager, on behalf of the Company, with interest for the account of the Portfolio Manager, on behalf of the Company, on the amount outstanding from time to time commencing on the date of the advance at the Default Interest Rate. To the extent the Portfolio Manager, on behalf of the Company, advances funds to the Company on behalf of a Defaulting Member, all distributions from the Company that would otherwise be made to the Defaulting Member shall be paid to the Portfolio Manager, on behalf of the Company, (with any such amounts being applied first against accrued but unpaid interest and then against principal), until all amounts payable by the Defaulting Member to the Portfolio Manager, on behalf of the Company, under this Clause 5.4 (including interest) have been paid in full.
- 5.5 The Portfolio Manager, on behalf of the Company, may elect, upon notice to the Defaulting Member, to redeem the Defaulting Member's shares in an amount equal to 50% of the outstanding amount existing as of the date of the default at a price of $0.0001 per Share. Thereupon, the commitment of the Defaulting Member under the Subscription and Transfer Agreement shall be zero, the Defaulting Member shall not be obligated to make any further settlements, the voting capital of such Defaulting Member and of each other Member shall be re-determined as of the date of such default to reflect the new commitment of the Defaulting Member, and the Portfolio Manager shall revise the books and records of the Company to reflect the reduction of the commitment of the Defaulting Member. The Members agree (x) that the damages suffered by the Company as the result of a failure by a Member to settle a commitment to purchase Shares that is required by this Agreement cannot be estimated with reasonable accuracy and (y) that the foregoing provisions of this Clause 5.5 shall act as liquidated damages for the default by the Defaulting Member (which each Member hereby agrees are reasonable).
- 5.6 The Board may offer to the non-Defaulting Members (pro rata in accordance with their respective Commitments) the option of purchasing the Defaulting Member's unsettled Shares on the terms set forth in the applicable Settlement Notice (as defined in the Subscription and Transfer Agreement).
- 5.7 At the election of the Board, distributions of dividends otherwise payable to the Defaulting Member under the Articles shall not be paid to the Defaulting Member, but instead shall be applied against the amount of the Outstanding Settlement Amount (plus interest at the Default Interest Rate and related costs); provided that any amounts so applied shall be deemed to have been distributed to the Defaulting Member under the Articles.
- 5.8 The Portfolio Manager may send an amended or new Settlement Notice to the Members other than the Defaulting Member in an amount equal to the Defaulting Member's Outstanding Settlement Amount and otherwise in accordance with the Subscription and Transfer Agreement.
- 5.9 Each Defaulting Member further appoints the Portfolio Manager as agent and attorney-in-fact for the Defaulting Member and hereby grants to the Portfolio Manager an irrevocable power of attorney to take all actions necessary on its behalf to sell, assign, or transfer the commitment to purchase unsettled Shares of such Defaulting Member pursuant to Clause 5.6 or as necessary on its behalf to effect the other remedies or rights set forth in this Clause 5; provided that the Portfolio Manager shall not bind any Defaulting Member to an indemnification or other similar obligation which guarantees the financial performance of the Company or which exceeds the ability of the Defaulting Member to provide indemnification under applicable law.

6. TRANSFERS OR DISPOSALS OF SHARES

- 6.1 No Member shall sell, pledge, charge, mortgage, assign, assign by way of security, transfer, convey, exchange or otherwise dispose of its Shares or its commitment to settle purchases of Shares under the Subscription and Transfer Agreement (each a "Transfer"), other than to an Affiliate of an initial Member party hereto, without the prior written consent of the Portfolio

- Manager, which consent shall be in the sole discretion of the Portfolio Manager; provided that no such Transfer shall be made unless in the opinion of counsel reasonably satisfactory to the Portfolio Manager (who may be counsel for the Company, and which requirement for an opinion may be waived, in whole or in part, in the sole discretion of the Portfolio Manager) that:
- 6.1.1 such Transfer would not require registration under the Securities Act or any state securities or "Blue Sky" laws or other laws applicable to the Shares to be assigned or transferred and is conducted in conformance with the restrictions set forth in the Offering Memorandum;
 - 6.1.2 such Transfer would not be reasonably likely to cause the Company to be subject to tax in any jurisdiction other than of its incorporation on a net income basis, not be reasonably likely to cause the Company to become subject to registration as an investment company under the Investment Company Act of 1940, as amended;
 - 6.1.3 such Transfer would not cause the Company to be considered to be an entity whose underlying assets are considered to include "plan assets" by reason of investment by an "employee benefit plan" or "plan" in such entity pursuant to the U.S. Plan Assets Regulations; and
 - 6.1.4 such sale, assignment, disposition or transfer would not cause all or any portion of the assets of the Company to constitute "plan assets" under ERISA or the Code.
- 6.2 Prior to making any Transfer of Shares (other than Transfers to Affiliates of an initial Member or, in the case of CLO Holdco or a Highland Principal, to Highland, its Affiliates or another Highland Principal) a Member must first offer to the other Members a right to purchase the Shares, on a pro rata basis with respect to their current Shares, at the same price (which must be cash) as such Shares are proposed to be purchased by the prospective third party purchaser pursuant to an irrevocable offer letter. The other Members will have 30 days following receipt of the letter to determine whether to purchase their entire pro rata portion of the Shares proposed to be Transferred. If the other Members do not accept the offer, the Member may (subject to complying with the other Transfer restrictions in this Agreement) Transfer the applicable Shares that such Members have not elected to purchase to a third party at a price equal to or greater than the price described in the offer letter, provided that if the Member has not (a) entered into a definitive agreement to effect such sale within 90 days after the expiration of the period that the other Members have to accept the offer in the offer letter or (b) consummated the sale within 120 day after the entry into the definitive agreement to consummate the sale, it must comply with these right of first refusal procedures again. Any Member (other than the Member proposing to Transfer its Shares) may assign its right to purchase its pro rata portion of the Shares to any other Member (subject to complying with the other Transfer restrictions in this Agreement), any initial Member (other than the Member proposing to Transfer its Shares) may assign its right to purchase its pro rata portion of the Shares to an Affiliate (subject to complying with the other Transfer restrictions in this Agreement), and CLO Holdco and the Highland Principals (unless such Member is the Member proposing the Transfer its Shares) may assign its right to purchase its pro rata portion of the Shares to Highland, an Affiliate of Highland or other Highland Principals (subject to complying with the other Transfer restrictions in this Agreement).
- 6.3 No Highland Principal may transfer his or its interests in the Company other than (i) to a trust or other tax or estate planning vehicle or (ii) to the Portfolio Manager, its Affiliates or another Highland Principal upon the termination of such Highland Principal's (or the beneficial owner of such Highland Principal, if applicable) employment by Highland Capital Management, L.P.
- 6.4 Any transferor of any Share shall remain bound by the terms of this Agreement applicable to it prior to such transfer and that nothing in this Agreement shall constitute a waiver of any rights a Party to this Agreement may have by reason of a breach of this Agreement by a transferor prior to transfer. The transferor and/or the transferee shall bear all costs of any Transfer.
- 6.5 The Parties agree not to Transfer their Shares to any person unless such transferee agrees to be bound by the terms of this Agreement.
- 6.6 All Adherence Agreements executed pursuant to this Clause shall be executed by the transferee or allottee and each Party.

7. CONFIDENTIALITY

- 7.1 Each Party agrees to keep any information received by it pursuant to this Agreement or relating to the Business as confidential and not (save with the relevant Party's consent or as may be required by Law or the rules of any regulatory authority or any stock exchange) disclose to any person such information.
- 7.2 Notwithstanding the foregoing, the Parties agree that the HarbourVest Entities may disclose to their limited partners and prospective limited partners (including any agents of such limited partners or prospective limited partners), clients and applicable governmental agencies (a) the name and address of the Company, (b) the capital commitment and the remaining capital commitment, (c) the net asset value of such HarbourVest Entity's interest in the Company, (d) the amount of distributions that have been made to such HarbourVest Entity by the Company and the amount of contributions that have been made by such HarbourVest Entity to the Company, (e) such ratios and performance information calculated by such HarbourVest Entity using the information in clauses (a) through (d) above, including the ratio of net asset value plus distributions to contributions (i.e., the "multiple") and such HarbourVest Entity's internal rate of return with respect to its investment in the Company, and (f) tax information with respect to the Company.

8. DIVIDENDS

- 8.1 The Company agrees that it shall not, and the Portfolio Manager agrees it shall not cause the Company to, make any dividends except pursuant to the section titled "Summary—Dividend Policy" of the Offering Memorandum.

9. TERM OF THE COMPANY

- 9.1 Each Party agrees to cause the winding up and dissolution of the Company after the ten year anniversary of the date hereof (the "Term"); provided that the Portfolio Manager, in its reasonable discretion, may postpone dissolution of the Company for up to 180 days in order to facilitate orderly liquidation of the investments; provided, further, that the Term shall be automatically extended for any amount of time for which the Investment Period may be extended.
- 9.2 Notwithstanding the foregoing, the Term may be extended with the consent of the Portfolio Manager and the Advisory Board for up to two successive periods of one year each.

10. ERISA MATTERS

- 10.1 The Portfolio Manager, the Company and each Member shall use their reasonable best efforts to conduct the affairs and operations of the Company so as to limit investment in the Company by "benefit plan investors" (within the meaning of the DOL Regulations as modified by section 3(42) of ERISA) to less than the U.S. Plan Threshold. In the event the U.S. Plan Threshold is met or exceeded, the Portfolio Manager, on behalf of the Company, may require any Non-Qualified Holder that is a U.S. Plan Investor to sell or transfer their Shares to a person qualified to own the same that is not a U.S. Plan Investor within 30 days and within such 30 days and to provide the Company with satisfactory evidence of such sale or transfer such that such sale or transfer, together with other sale or transfers pursuant to this Clause, would result in the investment in the Company by "benefit plan investors" (within the meaning of the DOL Regulations as modified by section 3(42) of ERISA) to be less than the U.S. Plan Threshold. Where the conditions above are not satisfied within 30 days after the serving of the notice to transfer, such Non-Qualified Holder will be deemed, upon the expiration of such 30 days, to have forfeited their Shares.

11. TAX MATTERS

- 11.1 PFIC. For each fiscal year of the Company, the Company will no later than 120 days after the end of such fiscal year, commencing with the first fiscal year for which the Company is determined to be a PFIC (a "passive foreign investment company"), furnish to each of the

- 11.3 Other Tax Information. The Company shall furnish to each of the HarbourVest Entities (a) within 120 days after the end of each fiscal year of the Company such other information reasonably requested by the HarbourVest Entities that any HarbourVest Entity may require in order for it or any of its partners to comply with its U.S. federal income tax reporting obligations with respect to its interest in the Company; provided that if the Company is unable to furnish such final information within such 120 days, then the Company shall use its reasonable best efforts to furnish estimates of such information on or before the 120th day after the end of such fiscal year and (b) promptly upon request such other information reasonably requested by such HarbourVest Entity in order to withhold tax or to file tax returns and reports or to furnish tax information to any of its partners with respect to the Company.
- 11.4 Withholding and Other Taxes. The Company will use reasonable best efforts to acquire investments that will not result in withholding or other taxes being imposed directly or indirectly on the Company by any jurisdiction with respect to income or distributions from such investments.

12. AMENDMENTS TO CERTAIN AGREEMENTS

- 12.1 The Portfolio Manager and the Company shall not amend or terminate, or agree to amend or terminate, the Memorandum or Articles of Incorporation of the Company or that certain Portfolio Management Agreement between the Portfolio Manager and the Company dated as of the date hereof (the "Management Agreement") without the consent of the Parties.
- 12.2 The Portfolio Manager agrees that it shall not assign its rights, duties and obligations under the Management Agreement without the consent of the Members totalling in the aggregate more than seventy-five percent (75%) of the Company. Notwithstanding the foregoing, the Portfolio Manager may, without the consent of the Members, assign any of its rights or obligations under the Management Agreement to an Affiliate; provided that such Affiliate (A) has demonstrated ability, whether as an entity or by its personnel, to professionally and competently perform duties similar to those imposed upon the Portfolio Manager pursuant to the Management Agreement, (B) has the legal right and capacity to act as Portfolio Manager thereunder and (C) shall not cause the Company or the pool of collateral to become required to register under the provisions of the Investment Company Act and such action does not cause the company to be subject to tax in any jurisdiction outside of its jurisdiction of incorporation.

Case No. 3:21-cv-00842-B

DEBTOR'S REPLY IN SUPPORT OF DEBTOR'S MOTION TO ENFORCE THE ORDER OF REFERENCE

The Debtor submits this reply in support of the Debtor's Motion for an Order to Enforce the Order of Reference [D.I. 22] (the "Motion").¹ In further support of its Motion, the Debtor states as follows:

I. PRELIMINARY STATEMENT²

1. Plaintiffs argue that the Court should deny the Motion because (i) mandatory withdrawal is required under 28 U.S.C. § 157(d); (ii) the Bankruptcy Court lacks jurisdiction to adjudicate the Complaint; and (iii) their violation of Local Rule 3.3 is harmless because withdrawal of the reference was inevitable. Plaintiffs' arguments fail for several reasons.

2. First, mandatory withdrawal does not apply. The Complaint does not require substantial and material consideration of non-bankruptcy federal law. Rather, it involves application of well-settled law, including law from the Supreme Court, to address four fundamental issues: (a) did the Defendants owe Plaintiffs a fiduciary duty under the Advisers Act; (b) the scope of such duty and if it was breached; (c) remedies and damages for any breach; and (d) if a violation of the Advisers Act is a predicate act under RICO. Bankruptcy courts routinely adjudicate these issues. None of them require mandatory withdrawal.

3. Second, the Bankruptcy Court has jurisdiction to adjudicate the Complaint. Bankruptcy jurisdiction is determined when the facts giving rise to the claim arose, not when a lawsuit is filed. The facts underlying the Complaint arose prior to confirmation (and would constitute an administrative claim if a claim exists); the Plan has not yet become effective; and the Debtor's assets have not vested in the Reorganized Debtor. Under Fifth Circuit precedent, the

¹ All capitalized terms used but not defined herein have the meanings set forth in Defendant Highland Capital Management, L.P.'s Memorandum of Law in Support of Motion for an Order to Enforce the Order of Reference [D.I. 22] (the "Memorandum").

² Concurrently herewith, the Debtor is filing the Appendix in Support of Debtor's Reply in Support of the Debtor's Motion to Enforce the Order of Reference. Citations to the Appendix are notated as follows: Appx. #.

Bankruptcy Court has jurisdiction to adjudicate the Complaint as it is integrally related to the Bankruptcy Court's prior approval of the HarbourVest Settlement.³ Even if a narrower standard is appropriate, which it is not, the Bankruptcy Court has "related to" jurisdiction.

4. Third, Plaintiffs' failure to follow Local Rule 3.3 is not harmless. Had they followed the Rule, the Complaint would likely have been referred to the Bankruptcy Court and, under the local bankruptcy rules,⁴ the Bankruptcy Court would have conducted a status conference on withdrawal of the reference and provided a recommendation to this Court as to whether mandatory withdrawal applies. Plaintiffs conveniently filed an inaccurate Civil Cover Sheet⁵ and could not explain why the Complaint did not refer to 28 U.S.C. § 1334 as a jurisdictional predicate.⁶ Plaintiffs' goal⁷ here (and its wider strategy) is to avoid the Bankruptcy Court and allow it no input on which court should adjudicate the Complaint.⁸

NO SUBSTANTIAL AND MATERIAL CONSIDERATION OF FEDERAL LAW

5. Withdrawal of the reference is required under 28 U.S.C § 157(d) if a matter requires "substantial and material consideration" and "significant interpretation of federal laws" rather than a "straightforward application of a federal statute to a particular set of facts." In re Nat'l Gypsum,

⁴ Local Bankruptcy Rules of the United States Bankruptcy Court for the Northern District of Texas, Rule 5011-1.

⁵ Plaintiffs filed an amended Civil Cover Sheet [D.I. 33] but failed to disclose another related matter: the appeal of the HarbourVest Settlement pending in the District Court for the Northern District of Texas.

⁶ Appx. 2 at 109-110.

⁸ The Bankruptcy Court conducted a hearing on the Contempt Motion on June 8, 2021, and subsequently said it will find certain defendants in that action, which may include Plaintiffs, in contempt. Appx. 2 at 322-323. The Bankruptcy Court has not yet issued its written order but intends to do so shortly. Appx. 6 at 676.

14 B.R. 188, 192-93 (N.D. Tex. 1991); see also Rodriguez v Countrywide Home Loans, Inc., 421 B.R. 341, 347-8 (S.D. Tex. 2009) (adopting majority view requiring “material and substantial consideration of non-Bankruptcy Code federal law” for mandatory withdrawal). “Consideration” means something more than the mere process of examining, thinking about, or taking into account.” In re Vicars Ins. Agency, Inc., 96 F.3d 949, 953-54 (7th Cir. 1996) (internal quotations omitted). Simply asserting federal law is insufficient and mandatory withdrawal only applies when a matter requires something “more than mere application of existing law to new facts.” Vicars, 96 F.3d at 953-54; City of N.Y. v., Exxon Corp., 932 F.2d 1020, 1026 (2d Cir. 1991) (mandatory withdrawal requires “significant interpretation, as opposed to simple application, of federal laws”). “[M]andatory withdrawal is to be applied narrowly” to “prevent 157(d) from becoming an ‘escape hatch.’” Manila Indus., Inc. v. Ondova Ltd. (In re Ondova Ltd.), 2009 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 101134, at *6 (N.D. Tex. Oct. 1, 2009), aff’d 2009 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 102071 (N.D. Tex. Nov. 3, 2009).

6. Plaintiffs attempt to meet this stringent standard by exaggerating the complexity of their claims. But, their claims are simple and straightforward: (1) (a) did Defendants owe Plaintiffs a fiduciary duty under the Advisers Act; (b) what was that duty and was it violated; and (c) if violated, what are the remedies and potential damages and (2) is the securities violation a predicate act under RICO? These are not difficult questions or outside the Bankruptcy Court’s expertise.

7. Fiduciary Duty under the Advisers Act. It is well-settled that, with limited, inapplicable exceptions, Section 206 of the Advisers Act⁹ creates a fiduciary duty to an investment adviser’s “client” (i.e., the person or entity that is the counterparty to the investment management agreement) but not to an underlying investor in the “client.” Goldstein v. SEC, 451 F.3d 873, ⁹ Plaintiffs cite Rule 206(4)-8 of the Advisers Act, but Rule 206(4)-8 “does not create under the Advisers Act a fiduciary duty to investors or prospective investors in a pooled investment vehicle not otherwise imposed by law” or “a private right of action.” Inv. Adv. Act Rel. No. 2628 (Aug. 3, 2007), Appx. 12 at 843-844.

881(D.C. Cir. 2006) (“The adviser owes fiduciary duties only to the fund [i.e., the client], not to the fund’s investors. . . If the investors are owed a duty and the entity is also owed a fiduciary duty, then the adviser will inevitably face conflicts of interest.”);¹⁰ see also, e.g., SEC v. Northshore Asset Mgmt., 2008 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 36160, at *18-20 (S.D.N.Y. May 5, 2008) (dismissing a claim that an investment adviser owed a duty to a fund’s investors rather than just the fund); SEC v. Trabulse, 526 F.Supp.2d 1008, 1016 (N.D. Cal. 2007) (same). HCLOF is a fund managed by HCFA, an affiliate of the Debtor. The DAF and CLOH are investors in HCLOF. The Debtor and HCFA’s duties do not run to investors in HCLOF. The Debtor has never had a management agreement or client relationship with CLOH and owes it no fiduciary duty. The Debtor, at all relevant times, was party to a management agreement with the DAF and owed DAF certain duties under the agreement.¹¹ This analysis is not complicated and only requires a straightforward application of federal law to the facts.

8. The Scope of the Fiduciary Duty and Breach. An adviser’s fiduciary duty is satisfied by disclosure. “To meet its duty of loyalty, an adviser must make full and fair disclosure to its clients of all material facts relating to the advisory relationship.” See Commission Interpretation Regarding Standard of Conduct for Investment Advisers, Release No. IA-5248; File No. S7-07-18, Effective July 12, 2019, Appx. 8 at 722-723. The law is well-established; includes Supreme Court jurisprudence; and is not based on interpretation of SEC releases. See, e.g., SEC v. Capital Gains Research Bureau, Inc., 375 U.S. 180, 191-92 (1963); Laird v. Integrated Resources,

¹⁰ There are limited exceptions to Goldstein, which rely on specific features in the relationship between the adviser and the investor that are not applicable here. See U.S. v. Lay, 612 F.3d 440, 444 (6th Cir. 2010) (only one investor in the fund); SEC v. Sentinel Mgmt. Grp., Inc., 2012 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 57579, at *13 (N.D. Ill. Mar. 30, 2012) (investment guidelines were personalized for each individual investor); Goldenson v. Steffens, 802 F. Supp. 2d 240, 268 (D. Me. 2011) (allegations adviser had provided personalized advice to investor).

¹¹ The Debtor and the DAF entered into that certain Second Amended and Restated Investment Advisory Agreement, effective from January 1, 2017 (the “DAF Agreement”). The DAF Agreement terminated on February 28, 2021.

Inc., 897 F.2d 826, 831-36 (5th Cir. 1990). Adjudicating this issue only requires determining if appropriate disclosures were made.¹²

9. Remedies for Breach of Duty. Assuming, arguendo, the Debtor breached its fiduciary duty to the DAF under the Advisers Act, there is no private right of action for such breach. Transamerica Mortg. Advisors v. Lewis, 444 U.S. 11, 13-14 (1979) (“[W]e hold there exists a limited private remedy under the Investment Advisers Act of 1940 to void an investment advisers contract, but that the Act confers no other private causes of action, legal or equitable [on a client].”)¹³ The only remedy the DAF has for breach of fiduciary duty is to void the DAF Agreement (which has already been terminated), and the DAF cannot seek damages for breach of fiduciary duty (with the possibility of restitution). See, e.g., Transamerica, 441 U.S. at 13-14; Corwin, 788 F.2d at 1066; Douglass, 900 F.Supp.2d at 746.

10. Bankruptcy Courts Apply the Advisers Act. Bankruptcy courts routinely analyze federal securities laws. In fact, prior to the commencement of the Debtor’s case, the Debtor, under Mr. Dondero’s control, was heavily involved in the bitterly contested Acis bankruptcy. Appx. 1 at 15. HCLOF invested in certain CLOs managed by Acis. Mr. Dondero owned and controlled Acis prior to the appointment of a chapter 11 trustee in the Acis bankruptcy and controlled HCLOF prior to the Bankruptcy Case. In Acis, the Debtor (controlled by Dondero) brought claims in the Bankruptcy Court alleging Acis was liable to it for breach of fiduciary duties under the Advisers

¹² Exhibit A to the DAF Agreement includes pages of disclosures, including the following: (1) “None of the [Highland Group] . . . is precluded from engaging in or owning an interest in. . . investment activities of any kind, whether or not such ventures are competitive with [the DAF]” and (2) “[T]he Highland Group. . . may actively engage in transactions in the same securities sought by [the DAF] and, therefore, may compete with [the DAF] for investment opportunities or may hold positions opposite to positions maintained by [the DAF].” Appx. 7 at 694-695.

Act – asserting nearly identical claims to those made in the Complaint. Appx. 9 at 757-758. Plaintiffs’ position is an about-face from Mr. Dondero’s prior position, and their argument that the Bankruptcy Court cannot adjudicate these disputes is disingenuous.

11. Further, 11 U.S.C. § 523(a)(19) requires bankruptcy courts to determine whether there were violations of “federal securities laws (as that term is defined in section 3(a)(47) of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934),¹⁴ any of the State securities laws, or any regulation or order issued under such Federal or State securities laws. . .” in connection with dischargeability. As part of this analysis, bankruptcy courts look to, among other things, the applicability of the Advisers Act. See, e.g., Tillman Enters., LLC v. Horlbeck (In re Horlbeck), 589 B.R. 818, 832 (Bankr. N.D. Ill. 2018) (“bankruptcy courts have jurisdiction to determine liability on an underlying securities claim for purposes of § 523(a)(19)” and “liability under § 523(a)(19) cannot be supported by an alleged violation” of the Advisers Act as there is no private remedy or “actionable claim”); Tradex Global Master Fund SPC, Ltd. v. Pui-Yun Chui (In re Pui-Yun Chui), 538 B.R. 793, 806-08 (Bankr. N.D. Cal. 2015) (same).¹⁵ Bankruptcy court analysis of the Advisers Act is not limited to Section 523(a)(19). See Calvert v. Zions Bancorporation (In re Consol. Meridian Funds), 485 B.R. 604 (Bankr. W.D. Wash. 2013) (dismissing complaint alleging that defendant owed a fiduciary duty to an investor under the Advisers Act for failure to state a claim); Living Benefits Asset Mgmt. v. Kestrel Aircraft Co. (In re Living Benefits Asset Mgmt.), 587 B.R. 311, 317-20 (N.D. Tex. 2018) (affirming bankruptcy court’s rulings under the Advisers Act), aff’d 916 F.3d 528 (5th Cir. 2019);

¹⁴ Section 3(a)(47) of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934 (the “Exchange Act”) defines “securities laws” as “the Securities Act of 1933 (15 U.S.C. 78a et seq.), the Securities Exchange Act of 1934 (15 U.S.C. 78a et seq.), the Sarbanes-Oxley Act of 2002, the Trust Indenture Act of 1939 (15 U.S.C. 77aaa et seq.), the Investment Company Act of 1940 (15 U.S.C. 80a-1 et seq.), the Investment Advisers Act of 1940 (15 U.S.C. 80b et seq.), and the Securities Investor Protection Act of 1970 (15 U.S.C. 78aaa, et seq.).”

¹⁵ See also King v. Skolness (In re King), 624 B.R. 259, 301 (Bankr. N.D. Ga. 2020) (bankruptcy court could determine liability under state and federal securities laws for purposes of § 523(a)(19)); Holzhueter v. Groth (In re Holzhueter), 571 B.R. 812, 822-24 (Bankr. W.D. Wis. 2017) (same).

In re Acis Capital Mgmt. L.P., et al., Case No. 18-30264-sgj11, D.I. 549 (Bankr. N.D. Tex. Sept. 4, 2018) (finding the Advisers Act did not prohibit assumption of a management agreement under Section 365).

12. Plaintiffs Cite No Applicable Case Law. Plaintiffs wave the red flag of “securities laws” and cite two factually inapposite cases to support their argument. First, they cite In re Harrah’s Entertainment, 1996 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 18097 (E.D. La. Nov. 26, 1996), which has nothing to do with the Advisers Act. Harrah’s involved a class action arising from the issuance of $435 million in publicly-traded debt; claims that the prospectus violated the Exchange Act; and attempts to hold the issuer’s partners liable for the issuer’s actions under the Exchange Act. The district court ruled that mandatory withdrawal applied because of the foregoing factors; however, none of them apply here. There is no public issuance; no retail investors; no class action; no derivative liability; no applicability of the Exchange Act; and no complicated factual analysis. Plaintiffs’ Advisers Act claims require only the straightforward application of settled law to the facts in a dispute between two private parties. Second, Plaintiffs cite Belmont for the proposition that there is “considerable ‘confusion’” because “federal law (the Advisers Act) provides, ‘the duty and the standard to which investment advisers are to be held,’ but ‘the cause of action is presented as springing from state law.’” Appx. 10 at 788. Plaintiffs ignore Belmont’s holding. Belmont confirms no private right exists under the Advisers Act. Belmont, 708 F.3d at 502. The only “confusion” is if state, not federal, law creates a private right. Id. (finding the prohibition on private rights in the Advisers Act “ought to call into serious question whether a limitation in federal law can be circumvented simply by hanging the label ‘state law’ on an otherwise forbidden federal law claim” but recognizing split on state law claims). 28 U.S.C. § 157(d) deals with federal law, and state law claims are irrelevant.

13. The Advisers Act Is Not a Predicate for RICO: Plaintiffs allege the violation of the Advisers Act, among other things, in connection with a sale of a security (the HCLOF interests) is a predicate act. Appx. 11 at 826-827. However, RICO expressly excludes securities fraud as a predicate act. 18 U.S.C.A. § 1964(c) (“[N]o person may rely upon any conduct that would have been actionable as fraud in the purchase or sale of securities to establish a violation of [RICO].”).¹⁶ Plaintiffs’ RICO claim is for securities fraud; is barred by statute; and cannot support mandatory withdrawal. See, e.g., MLSMK Inv. Co. v. JP Morgan Chase & Co., 651 F.3d 268, 273-80 (2d Cir. 2011) (barring RICO claims arising out of the operation of a Ponzi scheme because they involved a purchase or sale of a security despite no private right of action existing); Affco Invs. 2001 LLC v. Proskauer Rose L.L.P., 625 F.3d 185, 189-91 (5th Cir. 2010) (same).¹⁷

THE BANKRUPTCY COURT HAS JURISDICTION

14. “Related to” jurisdiction exists if resolution of a dispute would have a “conceivable impact on the estate.” Wood v. Wood (In re Wood), 825 F.2d 90, 93 (5th Cir. 1987). A judgment against the Debtor would significantly impact the estate and there is “related to” jurisdiction.¹⁸

¹⁶ See also H.R. Rep. No. 104-369, at 47 (1995) (“The Committee intends this amendment to eliminate securities fraud as a predicate offense in a civil RICO action. In addition, the . . . Committee intends that a plaintiff may not plead other specified offenses, such as mail or wire fraud, as predicate acts under civil RICO if such offenses are based on conduct that would have been actionable as securities fraud.”).

¹⁷ Plaintiffs’ additional arguments to support mandatory withdrawal are easily disposed of. First, there is no contention that the HarbourVest Settlement Order released Plaintiffs’ claims and this issue is made up. Second, there is no issue regarding whether res judicata applies to claims not yet accrued. The Debtor’s alleged breach of duties raised in the Complaint occurred prior to approval of the HarbourVest Settlement. Third, res judicata is an issue, but there is no “federal issue” to consider. See Rothstein v. Kuosenfung, 2009 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 68329, at *4-5 (S.D.N.Y. July 29, 2009) (finding movant’s Advisers Act claim barred by res judicata under typical analysis); Pt Pukuaifu Inda v. SEC, 2009 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 92986, at *18 (E.D. Mich. Oct. 6, 2009) (same). Lastly, Plaintiffs’ jury trial waiver argument is a red herring. The DAF waived its jury trial right in the DAF Agreement. The Debtor has not argued that CLOH waived its jury trial rights (if any). It argues the Debtor owes no fiduciary duty to CLOH and that no private right of action exists under the Advisers Act. The Court should reject the attempt to create controversy and a federal issue where none exists. See, e.g., Keach v. World Fuel Servs. Corp. (In re Montreal Me. & Atl. Ry.), 2015 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 74006, at *21-23 (D. Me. June 8, 2015) (finding no mandatory withdrawal when movant simply “tries to kick up some dust to make the relevant analysis seem complicated”).

¹⁸ A proceeding “relates to” a proceeding under title 11 even if it arises from post-petition conduct if “it affects the estate, not just the debtor.” Wood, 825 F.2d at 94 (emphasis added).

15. Plaintiffs argue that because the Bankruptcy Court confirmed the Plan its jurisdiction is limited and determined under the restrictive standard in Bank of Louisiana v. Craig's Stores of Texas, Inc. (In re Craig's Stores of Texas, Inc.), 266 F.3d 388 (5th Cir. 2001). Craig's Stores did hold that a bankruptcy court may lack jurisdiction over post-confirmation claims based on post-confirmation activities but not that a bankruptcy court loses jurisdiction over pre-confirmation claims based on pre-confirmation activities just because of confirmation. Newby v. Enron Corp. (In re Enron Corp. Sec.), 535 F.3d 325, 335-336 (5th Cir. 2008) citing Craig's Stores, 266 F.3d at 389-90. Here, Plaintiffs' alleged claims arose from the HarbourVest Settlement and prior to confirmation of the Plan.

16. Based on Craig's Stores and other decisions,¹⁹ courts developed a six-factor test to determine if there is "related to" jurisdiction post-confirmation: (1) when the claim arose; (2) what provisions in the plan exist for resolving disputes and whether the plan retains jurisdiction; (3) if the plan has been substantially consummated; (4) the parties involved; (5) if state or bankruptcy law applies; and (6) indices of forum shopping. Coho Oil & Gas, Inc. v. Finley Res., Inc. (In re Coho Energy, Inc.), 309 B.R. 217 (Bankr. N.D. Tex. 2004); Ebner v. Woodforest Partners, L.P. (In re EBCO Land Dev., Ltd.), 2008 Bankr. LEXIS 1207 (Bankr. S.D. Tex. Apr. 17, 2008).

17. Even if the more restrictive standard applies, these factors support bankruptcy court jurisdiction in this case. The claims in the Complaint arose from the HarbourVest Settlement (which occurred pre-confirmation) and, if they exist, are administrative claims;²⁰ the Plan provides a procedure for administrative claims; the Plan has not been substantially consummated;²¹ the defendant is the Debtor (and possibly its CRO/CEO); and Plaintiffs are forum shopping.²²

NO WASTE OF JUDICIAL RESOURCES

18. Granting the Motion would give this Court the benefit of the Bankruptcy Court's recommendation on mandatory withdrawal as required by the local rules, which require a party to file a motion for withdrawal with the bankruptcy clerk so the bankruptcy court can make a report and recommendation to this Court.²³ This is particularly important here as the Bankruptcy Court is very familiar with the parties and the issues, having conducted the evidentiary hearing to approve the HarbourVest Settlement.²⁴ The Bankruptcy Court's report and recommendation will aid this Court in analyzing whether withdrawal is appropriate. Plaintiffs' attempts to maneuver around the Bankruptcy Court should not be rewarded.

have benefitted the debtor in the operation of its post-petition business.). Once paid or disallowed, Plaintiff's administrative claim will be discharged under 11 U.S.C. § 1141(d)(1).

²² Plaintiffs, without any authority, contend that confirmation is a significant event in the jurisdictional analysis. As the Ebner court stated: "An action impacting a confirmed, but not substantially consummated, plan would have an impact on the debtor-creditor relationship, a factor which favors continuing jurisdiction. See Craig's Stores, 266 F.3d at 391." Ebner at *20-21. The Plan is not effective and has not been substantially consummated. See 11 U.S.C. § 1101(2). And it makes sense that the jurisdictional analysis of a dispute arising before a plan is effective should be more expansive. The rationale for narrowing post-confirmation jurisdiction is that the debtor is no longer under the supervision and control of the bankruptcy court; has emerged from bankruptcy; and is continuing to operate its business unfettered by the strictures of the Bankruptcy Code. Craig's Stores, 266 F.3d 390. Because the Plan in this case is not yet effective, the Debtor's assets have not vested in the Reorganized Debtor and the Debtor continues to operate under the strictures of the Bankruptcy Code. Plaintiffs cite no cases to support a restrictive view of bankruptcy court jurisdiction in the post-confirmation, pre-effective date period.

²³ Local Bankruptcy Rules of the United States Bankruptcy Court for the Northern District of Texas, Rule 5011-1.

²⁴ Plaintiffs also argue allowing the Bankruptcy Court to adjudicate the res judicata defense is inappropriate because the second court determines if res judicata applies, not the first. Plaintiffs' argument misses the point. The Bankruptcy Court will be the second court if the Order of Reference is enforced and will evaluate the res judicata argument as the court presiding over the Complaint. Who better to determine if the proceedings in the first court (i.e. the HarbourVest Settlement) are res judicata in the second court than the Bankruptcy Court?

(the “DAF”) and CLO Holdco, Ltd. (“CLOH” and together with the DAF, “Plaintiffs”) today. Both the DAF and CLOH have appeared and objected multiple times in the Bankruptcy Case.

2. In one of those matters, the Bankruptcy Court approved a settlement between the Debtor and HarbourVest² (the “Settlement”) pursuant to 11 U.S.C. §§ 105 and 363 of the Bankruptcy Code and Rule 9019 of the Federal Rules of Bankruptcy Procedure (the “Bankruptcy Rules”) over the objections of CLOH, a Plaintiff in this action, as well as other entities owned and/or controlled by Mr. Dondero. The Settlement is on appeal.³

³ The Settlement is being appealed by Mr. Dondero’s two purported family investment trusts: The Dugaboy Investment Trust (“Dugaboy”) and The Get Good Trust (“Get Good” and together with Dugaboy, the “Trusts”). The Trusts, like Plaintiffs, are controlled by Mr. Dondero. The appeal and this litigation are just one battle in Mr. Dondero’s multifaceted litigation assault on the bankruptcy process.

3. Plaintiffs filed their Original Complaint (the “Complaint”)⁴ in this Court seeking to have this Court undertake a de facto appeal or reconsideration of the Settlement and to assert monetary claims for actions undertaken in the Bankruptcy Case. However, the Order of Reference of Bankruptcy Cases and Proceedings Nunc Pro Tunc (the “Order of Reference”) (Appx. 2) in force in the Northern District of Texas required that this action be filed with the Bankruptcy Court presiding over the Bankruptcy Case. The Order of Reference was entered in 1984 and directs courts in this District to refer all proceedings arising under Title 11 and/or arising in or related to a case under Title 11 to the bankruptcy courts. A mandatory application of the Order of Reference prevents a race to the courthouse and inconsistent rulings by providing one forum to adjudicate all aspects of a bankruptcy case. Otherwise, debtors and creditors could blatantly forum shop and choose whether to file cases or claims in the bankruptcy court or the district court to evade what may be perceived as an unwelcoming court – which is precisely what has occurred in this case.⁵ Here, the case for enforcing the Order of Reference is compelling. The Complaint addresses issues that not only arise in, arise under, and relate to Title 11 but which have already been adjudicated by the Bankruptcy Court. By this Motion, the Debtor requests that this Court enforce the Order of Reference and refer the Complaint to the Bankruptcy Court for adjudication

4. The reason Plaintiffs filed the Complaint in this Court – rather than in the Bankruptcy Court – is obvious. Plaintiffs, under the direction of the Debtor’s ousted founder, Mr.

⁴ The Complaint contains a number of errors and material omissions, misstatements, misrepresentations, and mischaracterizations. The Debtor believes the Complaint is frivolous and should be dismissed on numerous grounds. The Debtor reserves all rights to contest the substance of the Complaint and intends to promptly inform Plaintiffs’ counsel that the Debtor will seek sanctions if the Complaint is not withdrawn.

⁵ Plaintiffs justify their conduct by contending that under the 1984 Amendments to the Bankruptcy Code, the Bankruptcy Court is a “unit” of this Court. Hence, in Plaintiffs’ minds, the courts are indistinguishable and interchangeable and Plaintiffs can pick and choose where to file. That is not the law and would render the Order of Reference a nullity.

Dondero, have found little traction in the Bankruptcy Court for the serial, frivolous, and vexatious litigation positions they have taken in more than a dozen pending matters in the Bankruptcy Case and their attempts to interfere with the Debtor's business operations – actions that have cost the Debtor millions. Plaintiffs therefore determined their best course of action was to engage in blatant forum shopping with the goal of re-opening settled litigation and closed factual records in a court Plaintiffs hope will be more hospitable.⁶ The Debtor will vigorously defend this action as (a) a flagrant attack on the Bankruptcy Court; (b) a frivolous attempt to avoid settled principles of bankruptcy jurisdiction through (less than) clever pleading; and (c) barred by res judicata. The Debtor have also sought to hold Plaintiffs and their counsel, among others, in civil contempt for attempting to add Mr. James P. Seery, Jr., the Debtor's independent, Bankruptcy Court-appointed CEO and CRO, as a defendant in this Case in clear violation of two final Bankruptcy Court orders.⁷

5. The fact that the Complaint was not automatically referred to the Bankruptcy Court is attributable to a blatant omission by Plaintiffs in Section VIII of their Civil Cover Sheet (Appx. 3). Because this action is undoubtedly “related to” the Bankruptcy Case and the pending appeal of the Settlement, Plaintiffs’ attorneys were required to disclose that a “related case” to the Complaint existed – as that term is used in the Local Civil Rules, effective September 1, 2020, of the Northern District of Texas (the “Local Rules”). Plaintiffs’ failure to make such disclosure could not have been inadvertent. And Plaintiffs have also not been candid with the Bankruptcy Court. On May 14, 2021, Plaintiffs filed a response to the Show Cause Order inaccurately claiming they had made full disclosure to this Court.⁸

⁶ The Complaint is not the first time that Plaintiffs have attempted to disenfranchise the Bankruptcy Court. On March 18, 2021, Mr. Dondero, Plaintiffs, and other entities owned and/or controlled by Mr. Dondero filed James Dondero, Highland Capital Management Fund Advisors, L.P., NexPoint Advisors, L.P., The Dugaboy Investment Trust, The Get Good Trust, and NexPoint Real Estate Partners, LLC, f/k/a HCRE Partners, LLC, a Delaware Limited Liability Company's Motion to Recuse Pursuant to 28 U.S.C. § 455 [Docket No. 2060] (the “Recusal Motion”) pursuant to which they sought to recuse the Honorable Stacey Jernigan from the Bankruptcy Case. The Recusal Motion was denied by the Bankruptcy Court and has been appealed [Docket No. 2149].

6. The Bankruptcy Court is the appropriate tribunal to address the Complaint as it clearly “arises under, arises in or relates to the Debtor’s Chapter 11 case and the Settlement. The Court should send Plaintiffs a strong message that (a) such gamesmanship is not acceptable; (b) the Order of Reference will be enforced; and (c) the Complaint will be immediately sent to the Bankruptcy Court where it belongs.

FACTUAL BACKGROUND

A. Plaintiffs’ Ownership and Control

7. Plaintiffs are controlled and/or directed by Mr. Dondero, the Debtor’s ousted founder.⁹ CLOH is an entity wholly owned and controlled by the DAF. Until at least mid-January 2021, Grant Scott, Mr. Dondero’s life-long friend and college roommate, was the sole director of the DAF and of CLOH (neither of which otherwise had any officers or employees).¹⁰ As found by the Bankruptcy Court, Mr. Dondero has engaged in a coordinated litigation campaign against the Debtor both directly and through his related entities, including Plaintiffs, with the goal of

⁸ See Response of the Charitable DAF Fund, L.P., CLO Holdco, Ltd., and Sbaiti & Company PLLC to Show Cause Order [Docket No. 2313], pg. 3 (the “Bankruptcy Response”) (Appx. 28). In the Bankruptcy Response, Plaintiffs prognosticate about how this Court would rule: “... [the Debtor] seem[s] to have assumed that the Motion for Leave would be granted, and that the proposed amended complaint naming Seery would be referred to [the Bankruptcy] Court for a report and recommendation.” Appx. 28 at p. 12. If that were the case, Plaintiffs should have just filed in the Bankruptcy Court or, at the very least, disclosed the Bankruptcy Case in the Civil Cover Sheet.

¹⁰ Mr. Scott previously testified during a sworn deposition in the Bankruptcy Case that he had little knowledge of the investment and other activities of the DAF and CLOH and was effectively taking direction from Mr. Dondero with respect to their activities. Appx. 27, 11:10-25; 12:1-25; 13:1-25; 14:1-25; 15:1-25; 16:1-17.

10. On December 23, 2020, the Debtor filed its Motion for Entry of an Order Approving Settlement with HarbourVest (Claim Nos. 143, 147, 149, 150, 153, 154) and Authorizing Actions Consistent Therewith [Docket No. 1625]¹⁴ (the “Settlement Motion”), pursuant to which the Debtor sought Bankruptcy Court approval of the Settlement with HarbourVest pursuant to 11 U.S.C. §§ 105(a) and 363 and Bankruptcy Rule 9019. Appx. 7. The Debtor concurrently filed the proposed Settlement Agreement and Transfer Agreement for Ordinary Shares of Highland CLO Funding, Ltd. (the “Transfer Agreement”) [Docket No. 1631-1]. Appx. 8. The Settlement Agreement expressly provided that it was subject to Bankruptcy Court approval. Appx. 7, ¶ 3.

11. Among the material terms of the Settlement was that HarbourVest would transfer its interest in Highland CLO Funding, Ltd. (“HCLOF”) to the Debtor or its nominee (the “Transfer”). The Transfer was a necessary component of the Settlement. HarbourVest believed the misrepresentations entitled it to a rescission of its Investment, and HarbourVest wanted to extract itself from the Highland platform. The Settlement also provided HarbourVest with (a) an allowed, general unsecured claim in the amount of $45 million, (b) a subordinated, allowed, general unsecured claim in the amount of $35 million, and (c) other consideration more fully described in the Settlement Agreement. See Appx. 7, ¶ 32.

12. The Settlement Motion fully disclosed all aspects of the Transfer, including (a) what HarbourVest was transferring; (b) the valuation (and method of valuation) of the asset being transferred to the Debtor; and (c) the method of the Transfer. (Appx. 7, ¶¶ 1(b) 32, 32 n.5; Appx. 8). Three objections were lodged against the proposed Settlement, all of which were filed by Mr. Dondero or entities controlled by him, including Plaintiff CLOH and Dondero's Trusts. Each of those objections was coordinated by Mr. Dondero.¹⁵

D. Plaintiffs Knew of the Transfer, and Plaintiff CLOH Objected to the Settlement

13. On January 6, 2021, Mr. Dondero filed his Objection to Debtor's Motion for Entry of an Order Approving Settlement with HarbourVest [Docket No. 1697] (Appx. 9) contending, among other things, that the Settlement: (a) was not "reasonable or in the best interests of the estate" because the Debtor was grossly overpaying and (b) amounted to "a blatant attempt to purchase votes in support of the Debtor's plan." Id., ¶ 1. Mr. Dondero did not directly challenge the Transfer but made clear that he knew exactly what was being transferred and the valuation being placed on it: "As part of the settlement, HarbourVest will [] transfer its entire interest in [HCLOF] to an entity to be designated by the Debtor. The Debtor states that the value of this interest is approximately $22 million as of December 1, 2020." Id., ¶ 1, n.3.

14. On January 8, 2021, Dondero's Trusts filed their Objection to the Debtor's Motion for Entry of an Order Approving Settlement with HarbourVest (Claim Nos. 143, 147, 149, 150, 153, 154) and Authorizing Actions Consistent Therewith. [Docket No. 1706]. (Appx. 10) Like Mr. Dondero, the Trusts made clear that they knew of the proposed Transfer and its valuation. But,

Reply”). Appx. 13. The Omnibus Reply set forth an extensive rebuttal to CLOH’s flawed argument that the Transfer could not be completed without HCLOF’s other members being offered HarbourVest’s interest in HCLOF, as allegedly required by the “Right of First Refusal” under Section 6.2. Id., ¶¶ 26-39. Both HCLOF – which was independently represented – and HarbourVest agreed with the Debtor’s conclusions that the Members Agreement did not require HarbourVest to offer its interests to CLOH or any other member of HCLOF. Id., ¶ 37. At the January 14, 2021, hearing, CLOH voluntarily withdrew its objection after reading the Debtor’s analysis of the Members Agreement:

CLO Holdco has had an opportunity to review the reply briefing, and . . . [b]ased on our analysis of Guernsey law and some of the arguments of counsel on those pleadings and our review of the appropriate documents, I obtained authority from my client, Grant Scott, as trustee for CLO Holdco, to withdraw the CLO Holdco objection based on the interpretation of the member agreement.

Appx. 14 at 7:20-8:6 (emphasis added). Following CLOH’s withdrawal of its objection, the Trusts also abandoned their challenge to the Transfer. Id. at 22:5-20.

20. The Debtor called two witnesses in support of the Settlement Motion, Mr. Seery and Mr. Pugatch. Counsel for Mr. Dondero and the Trusts cross-examined the Debtor’s witnesses but did not inquire about the value of the HCLOF interests, the Debtor’s fiduciary obligations, or the Transfer (except for a line of questioning concerning which entity would hold the HCLOF interests on behalf of the Debtor). Id., at 87:18-89:21. At the conclusion of the hearing, the Court entered an order overruling the remaining objections and approving the Settlement [Docket No. 1788] (the “Settlement Order”). Appx. 15.

21. The Settlement Order expressly authorized the transfer of HarbourVest’s interest in HCLOF providing, in relevant part, that “[p]ursuant to the express terms of the [Members Agreement] . . . HarbourVest is authorized to transfer its interest in HCLOF . . . without the need to obtain the consent of any party or to offer such interests first to any other investor in other duties requiring it to provide Plaintiffs with the opportunity to acquire HarbourVest's interest in HCLOF. See, e.g., Appx. 1, ¶¶ 36, 49. Plaintiffs also assert claims for breach of fiduciary duty, breach of contract, negligence, violation of RICO, and tortious interference.

24. In the Complaint, Plaintiffs recite certain facts relating to HarbourVest's Claims and the process by which the Debtor obtained Bankruptcy Court approval (Id., ¶¶ 16-31) but disclose none of the undisputed facts set forth above. Plaintiffs also do not disclose that they – through their relationship to Mr. Dondero – had the same information concerning the value of the HarbourVest interests that Mr. Seery allegedly had. Finally, they do not even attempt to justify why they are seeking, in this Court, to re-litigate a Bankruptcy Court order.

H. Counsel for the DAF and CLOH Willfully Ignore the Gatekeeper Orders

25. Throughout the Complaint, Plaintiffs threatened to name Mr. Seery as a defendant,²² and indeed, on April 19, 2021, just four days after filing the Complaint, Sbaiti & Co. (“Sbaiti”), the newly-retained counsel for the DAF and CLOH, advised the Debtor's counsel that they “intend to move for leave today in the district court seeking permission to amend our complaint to add claims against Mr. Seery. They are the same causes of action. We believe we are entitled to amend as a matter of course.” Counsel asked whether they could “put your client down as unopposed?” Appx. 17. In response, the Debtor informed Sbaiti of the two “Gatekeeper Orders” (defined below), which prohibited this action, provided copies, and told them, among other things, that “[i]f you proceed to amend the complaint as you suggest [] without first obtaining Bankruptcy Court approval we reserve all rights to take appropriate action and seek appropriate relief from the ²² By way of example only, Plaintiffs refer to Mr. Seery as a “potential party” and suggest that he had access to and wrongfully utilized “superior non-public information” and lied under oath about the value of the asset subject to the Transfer in his testimony to the Bankruptcy Court. Appx. 1, at Introduction, ¶¶ 6, 43-44.

Bankruptcy Court.” Id. Later that evening, Sbaiti confirmed their intention to seek leave from this Court to sue Mr. Seery and, on April 19, 2021, filed the Seery Motion. Appx. 18.

26. Both Gatekeeper Orders are plain, unambiguous, and final. On January 9, 2020, the Bankruptcy Court, with Mr. Dondero’s consent and agreement, entered the Order Approving Settlement with Official Committee of Unsecured Creditors Regarding Governance of the Debtor and Procedures for Operations in the Ordinary Course [Docket No. 339] pursuant to 11 U.S.C. §§ 105 and 363 and Rule 9019 (the “January Order”). Appx. 19. Pursuant to the January Order, Mr. Dondero surrendered control of the Debtor and the Independent Board was appointed. To protect the Independent Board and its agents from frivolous litigation (primarily from Mr. Dondero and his related entities), the Debtor asked for, and the Bankruptcy Court included in the January Order (without objection), a “gatekeeper” provision stating in pertinent part:

No entity may commence or pursue a claim or cause of action of any kind against any Independent Director, any Independent Director’s agents, or any Independent Director’s advisors relating in any way to the Independent Director’s role as an independent director of Strand without the Court (i) first determining the Court (i) first determining after notice that such claim or cause of action represents a colorable claim of willful misconduct or gross negligence against Independent Director, any Independent Director’s agents, or any Independent Director’s advisors and (ii) specifically authorizing such entity to bring such claim. The Court will have sole jurisdiction to adjudicate any such claim for which approval of the Court to commence or pursue has been granted.

Id., ¶ 10. Mr. Seery is protected under the January Order as a member of the Independent Board and as the Debtor’s CEO and CRO – an agent of the Independent Board. The January Order provided that the Bankruptcy Court “shall retain jurisdiction over all matters arising from or related to the interpretation and implementation of this Order. . . .”). Id., ¶ 13.

27. Seven months later, the Debtor sought Bankruptcy Court approval to appoint Mr. Seery as the Debtor’s CEO and CRO. After an evidentiary hearing, the Bankruptcy Court granted the motion (without objection) and entered its Order Approving Debtor’s Motion Under

Bankruptcy Code Sections 105(a) and 363(b) for Authorization to Retain James P. Seery, Jr., as Chief Executive Officer, Chief Restructuring Officer and Foreign Representative Nunc Pro Tunc To March 15, 2020 [Docket No. 854] pursuant to 11 U.S.C. §§ 105(a) and 363(b) (the “July Order” and with the January Order, the “Gatekeeper Orders”). Appx. 20. Like the January Order, the July Order included a “gatekeeper” provision:

No entity may commence or pursue a claim or cause of action of any kind against Mr. Seery relating in any way to his role as the chief executive officer and chief restructuring officer of the Debtor without the Bankruptcy Court (i) first determining after notice that such claim or cause of action represents a colorable claim of willful misconduct or gross negligence against Mr. Seery, and (ii) specifically authorizing such entity to bring such claim. The Bankruptcy Court shall have sole jurisdiction to adjudicate any such claim for which approval of the Court to commence or pursue has been granted.

Id., ¶ 5. The Bankruptcy Court “retain[ed] jurisdiction over any and all matters arising from or related to the interpretation and/or implementation of [the July] Order.” Id., ¶ 8.

28. The Gatekeeper Orders are final orders, res judicata, and law of the case. See Appx. 5, ¶ 73 (finding that the Gatekeeper Orders “constitute[] law of this case and are res judicata pursuant to In re Republic Supply Co. v. Shoaf, 815 F.2d 1046 (5th Cir. 1987)”).

29. The Gatekeeper Orders also featured heavily at the Plan confirmation hearing. CLOH initially objected to the Plan, which Mr. Dondero and his proxies, including CLOH, contested.²³ In the Confirmation Order, the Bankruptcy Court provided the rationale for, and purpose of, the “gatekeeper” provisions in the Gatekeeper Orders (Appx. 5, ¶¶ 12-14) and expressly found that a “gatekeeper” provision was needed in the Plan because “Mr. Dondero and his related entities will likely commence litigation . . . after the Effective Date and do so in jurisdictions other than the Bankruptcy Court in an effort to obtain a forum which Mr. Dondero perceives will be more hospitable to his claims” (Appx. 5, ¶ 78). Despite this clear finding and order, Plaintiffs filed the Seery Motion to add Mr. Seery as a defendant and asked this Court to disregard the Gatekeeper Orders. Although this Court denied the Seery Motion, it stated “Plaintiffs may renew their motion after Defendants are served and have appeared” leaving open the possibility that Plaintiffs may still attempt to add Mr. Seery.²⁴ Appx. 21.

30. In response, on April 23, 2021, the Debtor filed the Contempt Motion in the Bankruptcy Court for an order to show cause as to why Plaintiffs should not be held in contempt. Appx. 24. Plaintiffs then filed a motion in the Bankruptcy Court purporting to seek reconsideration of the July Order [Docket No. 2248] (the “Motion for Reconsideration”).²⁵ Appx. 25. The Bankruptcy Court ordered Plaintiffs, among others, to appear at an in person hearing on June 8, 2021,²⁶ to show cause why they should not be held in contempt. Appx. 26.

31. Finally, on May 14, 2021, Plaintiffs filed the Bankruptcy Response in which they argue that they followed the Gatekeeper Orders by filing the Complaint in this Court rather than the Bankruptcy Court because seeking to amend the Complaint to add Mr. Seery as a defendant was not “pursuing” a claim (as used in the Gatekeeper Orders). Appx. 28 at 13.

ARGUMENT

A. Plaintiffs Violated Local Rule 3.3(a) By Failing to Disclose the Bankruptcy Case

32. When Plaintiffs filed the Complaint, thereby initiating the action, their counsel was required to complete a Civil Cover Sheet, Section VIII of which required them to disclose whether there were any “related cases.” Local Rule 3.3(a) requires that “[w]hen a plaintiff files a complaint and there is a related case . . . the complaint must be accompanied by a notice of related case.” A

²⁴ If Mr. Seery incurs any costs defending or preparing to defend against Plaintiffs’ action, Mr. Seery will be entitled to indemnification directly from the Debtor under the Debtor’s limited partnership agreement (Appx. 22, § 4.1(h)) and indirectly through the Strand’s indemnification obligations and the Debtor’s guarantee of such obligations (Appx. 23).

²⁵ The Contempt Motion and the Motion for Reconsideration were re-docketed on April 27, 2021, without any changes.

²⁶ The hearing on the Show Cause Order will be the first in person hearing since March 2020.

“related case” is defined in pertinent part as a proceeding that “arises from a common nucleus of operative fact with the case being filed or removed, regardless whether the related case is a pending case. . . .” Local Rule 3.3(b)(3). As discussed above, although the Complaint asserts claims based on the same facts as the HarbourVest Settlement approved over Plaintiffs’ objection by the Bankruptcy Court, the Civil Cover Sheet makes no mention of the Bankruptcy Case as a “related case.” It merely describes the nature of the Complaint as one arising under RICO. Yet the Bankruptcy Case is indisputably related to this one.²⁷ Plaintiffs’ failure to disclose the existence of a related case violates the Local Rules. See Kuzmin v. Thermaflo, Inc., 2:07-CV-00554-TJW, 2009 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 42810, at *4-7 (E.D. Tex. May 20, 2009) (finding party violated court’s local rules where they failed to indicate on civil cover sheet that case was “related to” other cases).

B. The Complaint Should Be Automatically Referred to the Bankruptcy Court

i. The Complaint Should Be Heard in the Bankruptcy Court.

33. Jurisdiction of “all civil proceedings arising under title 11, or arising in or related to cases under title 11” is conferred on district courts. 11 U.S.C. §§ 1334(a), (b). District courts, in turn, may refer proceedings to the bankruptcy courts. 28 U.S.C. § 157(a) (“Each district court may provide that any or all cases under title 11 and any or all proceedings arising under title 11 or arising in or related to a case under title 11 shall be referred to the bankruptcy judges for the district.”). On August 3, 1984, this Court entered the Order of Reference, which provides, in pertinent part: “any or all cases under Title 11 and any or all proceedings arising under Title 11 or arising in or related to a case under Title 11 . . . be and they hereby are referred to the ²⁷ Under 28 U.S.C. § 1334(a), this Court has original and exclusive jurisdiction over the Bankruptcy Case. Pursuant to 28 U.S.C. § 157 and the Order of Reference, this Court has referred matters in the Bankruptcy Case to the Bankruptcy Court. It is thus clear that the Bankruptcy case is pending in this District pursuant to this Court’s jurisdiction, and as noted above the matters alleged in the Complaint related directly to litigated proceedings involving Plaintiffs and the Debtor in the Bankruptcy Case. These facts require appropriate disclosure in the Civil Cover Sheet.

Bankruptcy Judges of this district for consideration and resolution consistent with law.” Appx.

2 (emphasis added). The Order of Reference therefore refers the following proceedings:

- Proceedings “arising under Title 11”: A proceeding “arises under” Title 11 if it is a “cause of action created or determined by a statutory provision of title 11.” Wood v. Wood (In re Wood), 825 F.2d 90, 96 (5th Cir. 1987).
- Proceedings “arising in . . . a case under Title 11”: A proceeding “arises in” Title 11 if it deals with “administrative matters that arise only in bankruptcy cases.” Wood, 825 F.2d at 96 (emphasis in original).²⁸
- Proceedings “related to a case under Title 11”: A proceeding “relates to” a case under Title 11 if “the outcome of [the non-bankruptcy] proceeding could conceivably have any effect on the estate being administered in bankruptcy.” Burch v. Freedom Mortg. Corp. (In re Burch), 835 Fed. Appx. 741, 748 (5th Cir. 2021) (internal citations omitted); see also Celotex Corp. v. Edwards, 514 U.S. 300, 308 (1995) (“Congress intended to grant comprehensive jurisdiction to the bankruptcy courts so that they might deal. . . with all matters connected with the bankruptcy estate”). A proceeding “relates to” a proceeding under Title 11 even if it arises from postpetition conduct if “it affects the estate, not just the debtor.” Wood, 825 F.2d at 94.

ii. The Order of Reference is Mandatory.

34. Under the plain language of the Order of Reference, “all proceedings under Title 11 or arising or related to a case under Title 11” are automatically referred to the bankruptcy courts, and the Debtor respectfully submits that the Order of Reference is mandatory. See Uralkali Trading, S.A. v. Sylvite Southeast, LLC, 2012 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 40455, at *3 (M.D. Fla. Mar. 26, 2012) (finding that a substantially similar order of reference in the Middle District of Florida “mandate[d]” referral to the appropriate bankruptcy court); Welch v. Regions Bank, 2014 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 96175, at *5 (M.D. Fla. July 15, 2014) (“[T]his Court has declared the enforcement of the Standing Order of Reference mandatory”). The fact that 11 U.S.C. §§ 1334 confers original jurisdiction on the district court does not change this requirement as district courts and bankruptcy courts are distinct. Villegas v. Schmidt, 788 F.3d 156, 159 (5th Cir. 2015) (“Additionally, every other circuit to address the issue has maintained the distinction between the bankruptcy court and the district court, holding that ‘a debtor must obtain leave of the bankruptcy court before initiating an action in district court when the action is against the trustee or other bankruptcy-court-appointed officer, for acts done in the actor’s official capacity’”) (citations omitted).

iii. Any Disputes Over the Settlement or the Transfer Arise Under, Arise In, and Relate to Title 11 and are Core Proceedings.

35. It is black letter law that the determination of whether to approve a settlement of a claim is a “core proceeding” and arises in and under Title 11. The statutory predicates for relief are 11 U.S.C. §§ 105 and 363 and under Rule 9019, which are “created by the federal bankruptcy law” and “arise only in bankruptcy.” Wood, 825 F.2d at 96; see also, e.g., In re Idearc, Inc., 423 B.R. 138, 177 (Bankr. N.D. Tex. 2009) (finding approval of a settlement under Bankruptcy Rule 9019 was a “core proceeding” under 28 U.S.C. § 157(b)); In re Margaux City Lights Partners, Ltd., 2014 Bankr. LEXIS 4841 at *6 (Bankr. N.D. Tex. Nov. 24, 2014) (same); Settlement Order, ¶ 2 (same). The HarbourVest Settlement also involved the allowance of HarbourVest’s Claims – a black letter core proceeding under 28 U.S.C. § 157(b)(2)(B) (“Core proceedings include, but are not limited to – (B) allowance of disallowance of claims against the estate. . .”).

36. Since the Complaint seeks to re-litigate the HarbourVest Settlement and to re-open the Bankruptcy Court’s factual record, it is seeking a ruling from this Court as to the merits of the HarbourVest Settlement and/or to litigate matters that arose from the same operative facts as the HarbourVest Settlement – in each case, a core proceeding arising in and under Title 11. If the Settlement Order or the Transfer is to be re-assessed it must be by the Bankruptcy Court under the Bankruptcy Code and Bankruptcy Rules. This Court should enforce the Order of Reference and refer the Complaint to the Bankruptcy Court. See Burch, 835 Fed. Appx. at 748 (“Each of Burch’s state-court claims is premised on his interpretation of a Chapter 11 bankruptcy order, and so each arises from or is related to his Title 11 bankruptcy proceedings.”).

37. Further, the Bankruptcy Court specifically retained jurisdiction in the Settlement Order to adjudicate all disputes arising from the implementation of the Settlement Order, including the Transfer of the HCLOF interests, and therefore retained jurisdiction to hear the Complaint. Id. ¶7. Even if jurisdiction had not been explicitly retained, the Bankruptcy Court, like all federal courts, has jurisdiction to interpret and enforce its own orders. Rodriguez v. EMC Mortgage Corp. (In re Rodriguez), 2001 U.S. App. LEXIS 30564, at *5 (5th Cir. Mar. 15, 2001); In re Galaz, 841 F.3d 316, 322 (5th Cir. 2016); Angel v. Tauch (In re Chiron Equities, LLC), 552 B.R. 674, 684 (Bankr. S.D. Tex. 2016). The Complaint, which seeks to challenge the Transfer and re-litigate the Settlement Order, is therefore itself a core proceeding arising in and under Title 11 and should be heard in the Bankruptcy Court.

iv. Any Disputes Over the Gatekeeper Orders Arise Under, Arise In, and Relate to Title 11 and Are Core Proceedings.

38. The Seery Motion was denied, and Mr. Seery has not been added as a defendant in this Case. Plaintiffs have also filed the Motion for Reconsideration in the Bankruptcy Court. However, to the extent Plaintiffs seek to add Mr. Seery as a defendant in this Case, any such proceedings must be referred to the Bankruptcy Court for the reasons forth in Section B(iii) supra. Like the Settlement Order, the January Order is the result of a settlement with the Committee approved under 11 U.S.C. §§ 105 and 363 and Bankruptcy Rule 9019. The “gatekeeper” provision in the January Order was also a required component of that settlement and the settlement would not have been approved without it. See Appx. 5, ¶ 12-14. Similarly, the July Order was the result of a motion seeking authority to appoint Mr. Seery as CEO and CRO under 11 U.S.C. §§ 105(a) and 363(b), an administrative action that only exists in Title 11 and thus “arises in” and “arises under” Title 11. Like the January Order, the “gatekeeper” provision in the July Order was a required component of Mr. Seery’s appointment. Id. Any attempt to add Mr. Seery as a defendant would be re-litigating a core proceeding arising under, arising in, and related to Title 11.

v. The Complaint Impacts Creditor Recoveries.

39. The Debtor’s Plan provides for the orderly monetization of the Debtor’s assets and the distribution of the proceeds to creditors. Because the Plan is an asset monetization plan, distributions depend on two things: (a) the total amount of allowed claims against the estate and (b) the cash available to pay those claims. Consequently, the Complaint will have a material and immediate impact on the Debtor’s estate. First, any judgment secured by Plaintiffs against the Debtor will decrease the cash available to pay the Debtor’s prepetition creditors (which cash is property of the estate under 11 U.S.C. § 541). Second, any delay in determining the amount owed to HarbourVest or the amount owed by the Debtor to Plaintiffs will delay payments to creditors under the Plan as the Debtor will need to reserve against such claims. This impact on creditors and the Debtor’s ability to satisfy its obligations under the Plan clearly impacts the Debtor’s estate and should be adjudicated by the Bankruptcy Court. Zale, 62 F.3d at 753 (“Those cases in which courts have upheld ‘related to’ jurisdiction over third-party actions do so because the subject of the third party dispute is property of the estate, or because the dispute over the asset would have an effect on the estate.”); see generally Centrix Fin. Liq. Trust v. Sutton, 2019 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 154083 (D. Colo. Sept. 10, 2019) (finding that in a liquidating plan, the bankruptcy court has “related to” jurisdiction over all matters that impact distributions from the liquidating trust).

vi. Mr. Seery Will Have Indemnification Claims Against the Estate.

40. This Court denied the Seery Motion without prejudice, but if Mr. Seery is ever added as a defendant or is compelled to retain personal counsel because of the completely unfounded and false allegations in the Complaint, Mr. Seery will have the right to indemnification from the estate. See ¶ n.24 supra. The cost of this indemnification will immediately decrease the amount available to creditors and will delay distributions. Again, this clearly “relates to” to the Debtor’s bankruptcy. See, e.g., Collins v. Sidharthan (In re KSRP, Ltd.), 809 F.3d 263, 266-67 (5th Cir. 2015) (finding that bankruptcy court had jurisdiction because of potential indemnification claims even though bankruptcy court ultimately determined the indemnification claims were invalid); Refinery Holdings Co., L.P. v. TRMI Holdings, Inc. (In re El Paso Refinery, L.P.), 302 F.3d 343, 349 (5th Cir. 2002) (finding “related to” jurisdiction when “RHC’s claim against Texaco could conceivably have an effect on the Estate in light of the chain of indemnification provisions beginning with Texaco and leading directly to the Debtor.”); Houston Baseball Partners, LLC v. Comcast Corp. (In re Houston Reg’l Sports Network), 2014 Bankr. LEXIS 2274, at *15-25 (Bankr. S.D. Tex. May 22, 2013).

C. There is No Basis for a Mandatory Withdrawal of the Reference

41. In the Seery Motion, Plaintiffs cite 28 U.S.C. § 157(d) for the proposition that bankruptcy courts are “prohibit[ed] . . . absent the parties consent, from presiding over cases or proceedings that require consideration of both Title 11 and other federal law regulation organizations or activities affecting interstate commerce.” Appx. 18, at 7. Plaintiffs argue that, because they pled causes of action arising under the Advisers Act and RICO, this Court will have to withdraw the reference. Plaintiffs make the same argument in the Bankruptcy Response: “Respondents expected that the motion for leave [to amend] would likely be referred to [the Bankruptcy] Court for a report and recommendation. And Respondents planned, if necessary, to move to withdraw the reference. . . .” Appx. 28 at 12.

42. Even assuming Plaintiffs’ federal law claims are not frivolous (and they are), Plaintiffs misinterpret 28 U.S.C. § 157(d)’s applicability to this case. 28 U.S.C. § 157(d) provides for mandatory withdrawal of the reference in certain instances: “The district court shall, on timely motion of a party, so withdraw the proceeding if . . . resolution of the proceeding requires consideration of both title 11 and other laws of the United States regulating organizations or activities affecting interstate commerce.” 28 U.S.C. § 157(d) (emphasis added). However, in interpreting Section 157(d), courts in this Circuit apply the majority view and require withdrawal of the reference only:

[W]hen “substantial and material consideration” of a federal statute other than the Bankruptcy Code is necessary to the resolution of a case or proceeding. Withdrawal is not mandatory in cases that require only the “straightforward application of a federal statute to a particular set of facts.” Rather, withdrawal is in order only when litigants raise “issues requiring significant interpretation of federal laws that Congress would have intended to [be] decided by a district judge rather than a bankruptcy judge.”

Southern Pac. Transp. v. Voluntary Purchasing Groups, 252 B.R. 373, 382 (E.D. Tex. 2000) (quoting In re National Gypsum, 14 B.R. 188, 192-93 (N.D. Tex. 1991). As such, even the presence of a substantial federal question is not a basis for mandatory withdrawal; mandatory withdrawal is only proper when a bankruptcy court would have to interpret and apply federal law on a novel and unsettled question. See Beta Operating Co., LLC v. Aera Energy, LLC (In re Memorial Prod. Partners), 2018 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 161159, at *9 (S.D. Tex. Sept. 20, 2018); UPH Holdings, Inc. v. Sprint Nextel Corp., 2013 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 189349, at *4 (W.D. Tex. Dec. 10, 2013) (holding no mandatory withdrawal when, among other reasons, “the Bankruptcy Court will be tasked with ‘no more than application of federal communications law to a given set of facts.’”) (citations omitted). Finally, “mandatory withdrawal is to be applied narrowly to ensure bankruptcy cases are litigated in the bankruptcy courts and to prevent 157(d) from becoming an ‘escape hatch’ from litigating cases under the Bankruptcy Code.” See, e.g., Manila Indus., Inc. v. Ondova Ltd. (In re Ondova Ltd.), 2009 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 102134, at *6 (N.D. Tex. Oct. 1, 2009) (quoting In re G-I Holdings, Inc., 295 B.R. 211, 221 (D. N.J. 2003)).

43. None of the putative federal causes of action raised by Plaintiffs require “substantial and material consideration” of a federal statute or more than the cursory application of settled federal law. In fact, most can be summarily dismissed as they either grossly misinterpret settled law, based on materially misstated facts, or assert causes of action that belong to other parties.

D. The Complaint Is Barred by the Doctrine of Res Judicata

44. The doctrine of res judicata protects the finality of judgements by preventing litigants from re-litigating the same issues over and over again. “[R]es judicata has four elements: (1) the parties are identical or in privity; (2) the judgment. . . was rendered by a court of competent jurisdiction; (3) the prior action was concluded by a final judgment on the merits; and (4) the same claim or cause of action was involved in both actions.” Comer v. Murphy Oil USA, 718 F.3d 460, 467 (5th Cir. 2013). Each of those elements is satisfied here, and the Complaint is barred by res judicata. Plaintiffs had their opportunity to challenge these orders; they do not get a second bite at the apple or to re-litigate these issues in a different forum.

45. As set forth above, the parties are identical. Plaintiffs had the right to object to the HarbourVest Settlement and the Transfer of the HarbourVest interests, and Plaintiffs (a) actually objected to the Settlement Motion arguing that they had a “Right of First Refusal” under the Members Agreement; (b) had the right to take discovery on all issues, including the value of the HarbourVest interests; (c) could have objected based on the Advisers Act or RICO; (d) deposed HarbourVest’s 30(b)(6) witness; and (e) withdrew their objection once they realized that they did not have a “Right of First Refusal.” The Bankruptcy Court also indisputably had jurisdiction over the matter. Although the Settlement Order is being appealed by the Trusts, it is a final judgment for purposes of res judicata. See Fid. Standard Life Ins. Co. v. First Nat’l Bank & Trust Co., 510 F.2d 272, 273 (5th Cir. 1975) (“A case pending appeal is res judicata and entitled to full faith and credit unless and until reversed on appeal.”). Finally, as set forth above, the same claims or causes

Burch). In Burch, the movant sought to avoid bankruptcy court jurisdiction over claims regarding the interpretation and enforceability of prior bankruptcy court orders. Burch, 385 Fed. Appx. at 747. Mr. Burch, like Mr. Dondero, had also been found to be an abusive litigant. The Fifth Circuit denied Mr. Burch’s attempts to avoid bankruptcy court jurisdiction through clever pleading, calling them “frivolous,” and “warn[ed] Burch that any further frivolous or abusive filings in this court, the district court, or the bankruptcy court will invite the imposition of sanctions, including dismissal, monetary sanctions, and/or restrictions on his ability to file pleadings in this court and any court subject to this court’s jurisdiction.” Id., at 749; see also 28 U.S.C. § 1927 (“Any attorney or other person . . . who so multiplies the proceedings in any case unreasonably and vexatiously may be required by the court to satisfy personally the excess costs, expenses, and attorney’s fees reasonably incurred because of such conduct.”). Mr. Dondero, directly and through his proxies, is a frivolous and abusive litigant – hence the need for the “gatekeeper” provisions. This Court should not provide him a forum to further abuse the judicial process.

CONCLUSION

WHEREFORE, the Debtor respectfully requests that the Court grant its Motion and enter an order in the form annexed to the Motion as Exhibit A, and grant any further relief as the Court deems just and proper.

1 DALLAS, TEXAS - JUNE 8, 2021 - 9:30 A.M.

2 THE COURT: All right. We have settings in Highland
3 this morning. We have three settings. We have the show cause
4 hearing with regard to a lawsuit filed in the District Court.
5 We have a couple of more, I would say, ministerial matters,
6 although I think we do have objections. I know we have 7 objections. We have a motion to extend the removal period in 8 this case as well as a motion to modify the order authorizing
9 Mr. Seery's retention.

10 So let's go ahead and start out by getting appearances
11 from the lawyers who are participating today. I'll get those 12 now.

13 MR. MORRIS: Good morning, Your Honor.

14 THE COURT: Good morning.

15 MR. MORRIS: John Morris from Pachulski, Stang, Ziehl
16 & Jones for the Debtor. I'm joined with me this morning by my 17 colleagues, Jeffrey Pomerantz, Greg Demo, and Zachery Annable.

18 THE COURT: Okay.

19 MR. MORRIS: We do have a proposal on how to proceed 20 today, a substantial portion of which is in agreement with the 21 Respondents.

22 THE COURT: Okay.

23 MR. MORRIS: So, at the appropriate time, I'd be 24 happy to present that to the Court.

25 THE COURT: All right. Well, let's get all the

1 appearances and then I'll hear from you on that.

2 MR. SBAITI: Your Honor, my name is -- would you like
3 me to approach, Your Honor?

4 THE COURT: Yes, please.

5 MR. SBAITI: It's my first time appearing in 6 Bankruptcy Court, Your Honor. My name is Mazin Sbaiti. I'm 7 here on behalf of the charitable DAF Fund, CLO Holdco, and the 8 Respondents to the show cause hearing. We are also 9 representing them as the Movants on the motion to modify the 10 Court's order appointing Mr. Seery.

11 THE COURT: All right. Thank you.

12 MR. BRIDGES: Jonathan Bridges, Your Honor, with Mr.
13 Sbaiti, also representing the Charitable DAF and CLO Holdco,
14 as well as our firm that is named in the show cause order.

15 THE COURT: Okay.

16 MR. BRIDGES: Thank you, Your Honor.

17 THE COURT: Thank you.

18 MR. PHILLIPS: Good morning, Your Honor. Louis M.
19 Phillips from Kelly Hart Hallman here on behalf of Mark
20 Patrick in the show cause matter. I'm joined with my 21 colleague Michael Anderson from the Kelly Hart firm here in 22 Fort Worth. And that's the matter that we're involved in, the 23 show cause auction.

24 THE COURT: All right. Thank you, Mr. Phillips.

25 MR. TAYLOR: Good morning, Your Honor. Clay Taylor

1 of Bonds Ellis Eppich Schafer Jones here on behalf of Jim
2 Dondero. I have Mr. Will Howell here with me from my firm.

3 THE COURT: All right. Thank you.

4 MR. CLEMENTE: Good morning, Your Honor. Matthew
5 Clemente from Sidley Austin on behalf of the Committee. I'm
6 here with my partner, Paige Montgomery.

7 THE COURT: Okay. Thank you.

8 MR. CLEMENTE: Good morning.

9 THE COURT: All right. Just to remind people, we do
10 have participants on the WebEx, but in setting the hearing I
11 made clear that participants today needed to be here live in 12 the courtroom. So the WebEx participants are going to be only 13 observers.

14 We have a camera on the screen here that is poised to 15 capture both the lawyer podium as well as the witness box, and 16 then another camera on the bench.

17 So, please be mindful. We want the lawyers to speak from 18 the podium so that they are captured and heard by the WebEx.
19 And so hopefully we don't have any cords you will trip over.
20 We've worked hard to make it easy to maneuver around the 21 courtroom.

22 All right. So, Mr. Morris, you had a proposal on how we 23 would approach this today?

24 MR. MORRIS: I do, Your Honor. And it's rather 25 brief, but I think it makes a lot of sense.

1 There are three motions on the calendar for today, --

2 THE COURT: Uh-huh.

3 MR. MORRIS: -- only one of which required the 4 personal appearance of certain parties.

5 THE COURT: Uh-huh.

6 MR. MORRIS: And for that reason, and because,
7 frankly, it was the first of the three motions filed, we
8 believe that that ought to go first.

9 THE COURT: Okay.

10 MR. MORRIS: And then it can be followed by the 11 motion for reconsideration of the July order, assuming time
12 permits, and then the motion to extend the removal deadline.

13 And with respect to the contempt motion, Your Honor, the 14 parties have agreed that each side shall have a maximum of 15 three hours to make opening statements, closing arguments,
16 direct and cross-examination of witnesses.

17 You know, I did point out to them that from time to time
18 Your Honor has used the Court's discretion to adjust the time
19 --

20 THE COURT: Uh-huh.

21 MR. MORRIS: -- if the Court is making inquiries, and 22 I guess we'll deal with that matter as it comes. But as a
23 general matter, that is what we've agreed to. And I would 24 propose that, unless anybody has any objections, that we just 25 proceed on that basis.

1 THE COURT: Okay.

2 MR. MORRIS: And I could -- I could go right forward.

3 THE COURT: So, three hours in the aggregate?

4 MR. MORRIS: Uh-huh.

5 THE COURT: It doesn't matter how people spend it --
6 with argument, examination, cross -- three hours in the 7 aggregate?

8 MR. MORRIS: Correct.

9 THE COURT: Okay. So, Nate, you'll be the timer on 10 that.

11 MR. MORRIS: Yeah. We thought it was very important 12 to get this done today, with people coming in from out of 13 town.

14 THE COURT: Okay. Sounds fine.

15 MR. MORRIS: So does the Court want to inquire if 16 anybody has any questions or comments?

17 THE COURT: I do. Well, I see Mr. Bridges getting
18 up. You confirm that that's agreeable?

19 MR. BRIDGES: Thank you, Your Honor. Yes, that's 20 agreeable. We have one slight difference in our proposal. We 21 would suggest to Your Honor that the motion for modification,
22 if Your Honor decides our way, would moot the entire motion
23 for contempt. And we'd suggest, if that possibility is 24 realistic, that we would go first with that motion, perhaps 25 obviate having to have the evidence presented and the lengthy

1 hearing.

2 The motion for modification, Your Honor, asks the Court to
3 reconsider -- to modify that order because of jurisdictional
4 and other shortcomings in it that make the order
5 unenforceable. And because that's the order that is the 6 subject of the contempt motion, we'd ask Your Honor to 7 consider putting that motion first.

8 THE COURT: Okay. Or second? Ahead of the contempt
9 matter?

10 MR. BRIDGES: Ahead of the contempt matter, --

11 THE COURT: Uh-huh.

12 MR. BRIDGES: -- because it has a possibility --

13 THE COURT: We have the removal matter, which I think
14 is the shortest. All right.

15 MR. BRIDGES: No objection to that, Your Honor.
16 That's correct.

17 THE COURT: Okay. So, Mr. Morris, that's fine by 18 you?

19 MR. MORRIS: Your Honor, that doesn't make a lot of 20 sense to us. We don't believe there's any basis for the Court
21 to reconsider, modify, or amend in any way the July order.
22 But even if we were wrong about that, that would not 23 retroactively validate conduct which was otherwise wrongful at 24 the time it was committed.

25 The contempt motion needs to go first. The other motion

1 will have no impact on whether or not there is a finding of 2 contempt of court.

3 THE COURT: All right. And update me on this. There
4 was something filed yesterday, a notice of a proposed form of 5 order that the Debtor had proposed, that I think was not
6 agreed to, where there would be a change about any action that
7 goes forward, the cause of action would be in the sole
8 jurisdiction of the Court, and you all agreed to change that 9 part of the order, correct?

10 MR. MORRIS: So, just as a division of labor for Your
11 Honor, I'm doing the contempt motion.

12 THE COURT: Okay. That's Mr. Pomerantz's?

13 MR. MORRIS: Mr. Pomerantz is going to take care of 14 that.

15 MR. POMERANTZ: Yes, Your Honor. Good morning. Good
16 to see you again.

17 THE COURT: Good to see you.

18 MR. POMERANTZ: Yes, Your Honor, that's correct. If 19 Your Honor recalls, there's really three aspects of the 20 January 9th and the July 16th order. First, requiring people
21 to come to Bankruptcy Court before commencing or pursuing an 22 action. Second, for the Bankruptcy Court to have the sole and 23 exclusive authority to determine whether the claim is a
24 colorable claim of willful negligence or gross misconduct.
25 And then third, if Your Honor passed the claim through the

1 gate, whether you would have jurisdiction.

2 In Your Honor's January 9th and July 16th orders, you said
3 you would have exclusive jurisdiction. In the motion for 4 reconsideration, and particularly the reply, Movants said, if
5 you just change that and say that if passes through the gate
6 that you'd have jurisdiction only to the extent you would
7 otherwise have it, that would resolve the motion, in the same
8 way that the plan of reorganization was amended.

9 We proposed that. They rejected it. We put it before
10 Your Honor. So we believe that it moots out a good portion --
11 actually, we think it should moot out the entire motion. They 12 obviously disagree. But we definitely agree it moots out the 13 most significant portion of their motion, which is that Your 14 Honor would take jurisdiction to adjudicate a matter on an 15 exclusive basis when you might not otherwise have jurisdiction
16 on an exclusive basis.

17 THE COURT: Okay. Well, --

18 MR. BRIDGES: Your Honor, may I respond to that?

19 THE COURT: You may. And --

20 MR. BRIDGES: Thank you, Your Honor.

21 THE COURT: -- why -- could you clarify why you think 22 it would moot out the entire show cause matter? I wouldn't be 23 retroactively changing my order. Is that what you're 24 proposing?

25 MR. BRIDGES: Your Honor, with all respect, we

1 believe the order is defective and unenforceable and has to be
2 modified in order to fix it. And because of the defects,
3 we're -- we're actually arguing, Your Honor, that it is 4 unenforceable in a contempt proceeding. That is exactly what 5 our argument is.

6 THE COURT: Okay. I think I'm getting way farther
7 down this road than maybe I want to right now. But I guess
8 here's the elephant in the room, I feel like: Republic Supply
9 versus Shoaf.

10 MR. BRIDGES: Uh-huh.

11 THE COURT: The U.S. Supreme Court Espinosa case, for 12 that matter. If I accept your argument that maybe there was a
13 flaw in those orders, that maybe they went too far, don't you
14 have a problem with those two cases?

15 MR. BRIDGES: Your --

16 THE COURT: The orders weren't appealed.

17 MR. BRIDGES: I understand completely, Your Honor.

18 THE COURT: Uh-huh.

19 MR. BRIDGES: And I think the answer is no because of 20 the Applewood case from the Fifth Circuit. The Applewood case
21 cited in our reply brief explains that in order for an order,
22 a final order of the Bankruptcy Court to have exculpatory
23 effect, in order for it to release claims, for example, that 24 the claims at issue must be enumerated in the order. It's not
25 enough to have a blanket statement like the order, the July

1 order has, like the January order has, saying that Mr. Seery's
2 claims -- claims cannot be brought against him for ordinary
3 negligence at all. The -- Your Honor, we're delving into my
4 argument.

5 THE COURT: Okay.

6 MR. BRIDGES: And I was hoping to do this on a
7 preliminary basis.

8 THE COURT: Right.

9 MR. BRIDGES: I don't mean to bog you down with that.
10 But Your Honor, no, mandatory authority from the Fifth Circuit
11 after Shoaf limits Shoaf's application and says that it does
12 not extinguish the claims that are not specifically enumerated
13 in the order. And the reason for that is because it doesn't 14 give the kind of notice to the parties that they would need to 15 make an appearance and object to those orders at the time. It
16 actually helps to stem the amount of litigation at the time
17 rather than to encourage it.

18 THE COURT: All right. Well, you'll get your 19 opportunity to make your full argument on this. But I'm not 20 convinced, preliminarily, at least, to affect my decision on 21 the sequence, okay? So even if it potentially wastes time
22 under your view of the law, I am going to do the removal
23 matter first -- the extension of time request, I should say --
24 and then the show cause and then the motion to modify. And I
25 realize, those last two matters, everything is kind of

1 interrelated. All right?

2 MR. BRIDGES: Yes, Your Honor.

3 THE COURT: All right. So, with that decided, is 4 there a desire on the part of the lawyers to make opening
5 statements, or shall we just go to the motions? And, of 6 course, people can use their three hours for oral argument,
7 however much they want to use for oral argument.

8 MR. MORRIS: Your Honor, the -- to be clear, the six-
9 hour time limit only applies to the contempt proceeding.

10 THE COURT: Oh, yes. Yes. Uh-huh.

11 MR. MORRIS: And I do want to make an opening
12 statement.

13 THE COURT: Okay.

14 MR. MORRIS: So, as the Movant, I'd like to go first.

15 THE COURT: You want to make opening statements?

16 MR. BRIDGES: Yes. Yes, Your Honor.

17 THE COURT: Okay. Okay.

18 MR. BRIDGES: I believe we've got a PowerPoint
19 prepared that I think can lay out our side of it.

20 THE COURT: Okay.

21 MR. BRIDGES: I don't think we're participating in 22 the motion to extend the removal time.

23 THE COURT: Okay.

24 MR. BRIDGES: That's going first.

25 THE COURT: All right.

1 MR. BRIDGES: So we'll wait until that is --

2 THE COURT: Well, so we don't get confused on the
3 timing, let's just do the motion to extend right now. And I
4 think we only had one objection. As Mr. Sbaiti just pointed
5 out, they're not objecting on that one. We have a Dondero
6 objection. So let's, without starting the timer, hear that 7 one. Okay?

8 MR. DEMO: Good morning, Your Honor. Greg Demo;
9 Pachulski, Stang, Ziehl & Jones.

10 THE COURT: Good morning.

11 MR. DEMO: I'll be arguing the removal motion and 12 then turn it over.

13 It's fairly basic and straightforward, Your Honor. We're 14 asking for a further extension of the statutory deadline to 15 remove cases until December 14th, 2021. The deadline is 16 procedural only. As Your Honor is well aware, there's a lot
17 of moving parts in this case. You know, we don't know to this 18 date, really, the full universe of what could actually be out
19 there. So we're just asking for a short extension of the 20 removal period to cover through December.

21 I know that there was an objection from Mr. Dondero. I
22 know that he argues that 9006 does not allow us to extend that 23 deadline past the effective date of the plan, and he cites one
24 case for that purpose, which is Health Support. I think it's 25 out of Florida. That case dealt with the extension of the

1 two-year extension of the statute of limitations and was very
2 clear that you can't use 9 --

3 THE COURT: You mean the 546 deadline?

4 MR. BRIDGES: Yes. Yes.

5 THE COURT: Okay.

6 MR. BRIDGES: That you can't use 9006 to extend non-
7 bankruptcy deadlines. That's not what we're doing here, Your 8 Honor. We're using 9006 to extend the bankruptcy deadline to 9 remove the cases.

10 THE COURT: Uh-huh.

11 MR. DEMO: And we'd just ask Your Honor for the 12 extension through December.

13 THE COURT: Okay. I'll hear Mr. Dondero's counsel.

14 MR. HOWELL: Good morning, Judge. Will Howell for 15 Mr. Dondero.

16 So, the argument here is not that the Court can't do this.
17 I was just pointing that there is an outside limit to what
18 we're doing. And so if you look at the cases that the Debtor
19 cites in support of this motion, the one that is most apt was 20 when Judge Nelms did a fourth extension of time. But those 21 were all 90-day extensions. Here, we're in a situation where 22 the Debtor is asking for a fourth 180-day extension of time,
23 and this is really where the, you know, objection came -- or,
24 the response in opposition came from. They specifically asked
25 that it be without prejudice to further extensions.

1 And so, at some point, you know, does 9006 have an outside
2 limit? You know, do we need to see some sort of a light at 3 the end of the tunnel here?

4 So we would ask that the motion, at a minimum, be denied
5 in part with respect to this open-ended request for extension
6 beyond two years for a 90-day period. The other cases that
7 they cite, they have one extension here, one extension there,
8 120 days here, but not 180 days after 180 days after 180 days,
9 and then asking specifically for without prejudice to further
10 extensions beyond two years. So that's -- that's where this 11 comes from.

12 THE COURT: All right. Do you think it matters that 13 this is a very complex case?

14 MR. BRIDGES: I --

15 THE COURT: There's litigation here, there, and 16 everywhere.

17 MR. HOWELL: I also think, you know, Mirant was 18 complex. I think Pilgrim's Pride was complex. I think, you
19 know, it is not out of bounds for the Court to grant a fourth
20 extension.

21 THE COURT: Uh-huh.

22 MR. BRIDGES: But to -- you know, at some point --
23 you know, maybe the Court could grant a 90-day extension and 24 make them come back a little more frequently to kind of corral
25 this thing, rather than just saying "This grant of 180 days,

1 the fourth time, is going to be without prejudice to further
2 extensions." It just gets kind of large.

3 THE COURT: Okay. Mr. Demo, your motion. You get
4 the last word.

5 MR. DEMO: Your Honor, I mean, it is without 6 prejudice for further extensions, but that doesn't mean that
7 Your Honor is granting the further extensions now. It means
8 we'll have to come back. We'll have to make our case for why
9 an extension is necessary. And, you know, if Your Honor
10 doesn't want to give us another extension past December 2021,
11 Your Honor doesn't have to. This is not an order saying that 12 it's a limitless grant.

13 You know, I'd also ask, you know, quite honestly, why Mr.
14 Dondero has such an issue with this. He hasn't said that any 15 of these cases involve him. He hasn't given any reasons why
16 this affects him. He hasn't given any reason why this damages
17 him at all. So I do, I guess, wonder as an initial matter
18 kind of why we're here, you know, why we're responding to Mr.
19 Dondero's request, when that request really has no impact on 20 him.

21 And then, Your Honor, to the extent that you are inclined
22 to limit this, I would say, you know, we would ask for a
23 reasonable extension of time. We do think an extension of 24 time, because of the complexity of this case, through December
25 is warranted. But if Your Honor for some reason does agree

1 that a shorter extension is necessary under 9006 -- I don't
2 think it is -- we'd just ask that Your Honor grant us leave to 3 come back for further extensions of time.

4 THE COURT: Okay. All right. I will -- I'll grant a
5 90-day extension, without prejudice for further extensions.

6 MR. DEMO: Thank you, Your Honor.

7 THE COURT: Maybe in 90 days we'll be farther down
8 the road and we won't need any more extensions, but you'll 9 have the ability to argue for more if you think it's really
10 necessary. All right. So that will bring us to around
11 September 14th, I guess.

12 All right. Well, let's go ahead and hear opening
13 statements with regard to the show cause matter. And again,
14 if you want to roll in arguments about the -- well, no, you
15 said the six hours only applies to show cause, so we'll not 16 hear opening statements with regard to the Seery retention
17 modification, just show cause.

18 MR. MORRIS: All right. Before I begin, Your Honor,
19 I have a small deck to guide --

20 THE COURT: Okay.

21 MR. MORRIS: -- to guide my opening statement.

22 THE COURT: All right.

23 MR. MORRIS: Can I approach the bench?

24 THE COURT: You may. And is your legal assistant
25 going to share her content --

1 MR. MORRIS: Yes.

2 THE COURT: -- so people on the WebEx will see?

3 Okay.

4 MR. MORRIS: That's the intention, Your Honor.

5 THE COURT: Okay.

6 MR. MORRIS: All right. Are you ready for me to 7 proceed?

8 THE COURT: I am. And obviously, everyone has a
9 copy?

10 MR. MORRIS: Yes.

11 THE COURT: Your opponents have a copy of this?

12 MR. MORRIS: Yep.

13 THE COURT: Okay. Although we hope to see it on the 14 screen.

15 OPENING STATEMENT ON BEHALF OF THE DEBTOR

16 MR. MORRIS: Good morning, Your Honor. John Morris;
17 Pachulski, Stang, Ziehl & Jones; for the Debtor.

18 We're here today on the Debtor's motion to hold certain
19 entities and individuals in contempt of court for violating a 20 very clear and specific court order. I hope to be relatively 21 brief in my opening here, Your Honor, and I'd like to begin
22 where I think we must, and that is, how do we -- how do we 23 prove this and what do we have to prove?

24 The elements of a claim for contempt of court are really
25 rather straightforward. The Movant must establish by clear

1 and convincing evidence three things.

2 THE COURT: Let me stop you and stop the clock.

3 We're not seeing the shared content.

4 MR. MORRIS: Uh-huh.

5 THE COURT: Did you want her to go ahead and share
6 her content?

7 MR. MORRIS: I did.

8 THE COURT: Okay.

9 MR. MORRIS: I was hoping that she'd do that.

10 THE COURT: All right. It says it's receiving 11 content.

12 MR. MORRIS: There we go. It's on my screen, anyway.

13 THE COURT: Oh, here it is. I don't know why it's 14 not on my Polycom. Can you all see it out there?

15 (Chorus of affirmative replies.)

16 THE COURT: Okay. Very good.

17 MR. MORRIS: Okay.

18 THE COURT: You may proceed.

19 MR. MORRIS: Thank you, Your Honor.

20 So, there's three elements to the cause of action for 21 contempt, for civil contempt. We have to prove by clear and 22 convincing evidence that a court order was in effect; that the 23 order required certain conduct by the Respondents; and that
24 the Respondent failed to comply with the Court's order.

25 We've cited in the footnote the applicable case law from

1 the Fifth Circuit, and I don't believe that there's any
2 dispute that is indeed the legal standard.

3 The intent of the Respondents as to liability is 4 completely irrelevant. It doesn't matter if they thought they
5 were doing the right thing. It doesn't matter if they 6 believed in their heart of hearts that the court order was 7 invalid. These are the three elements, and we will be able to 8 establish these elements not by clear and convincing evidence,
9 but if we ever had to, beyond reasonable doubt.

10 If we can go to the next slide, please.

11 We begin with the Court's order, the Court's July 9 order.
12 And that order states very clearly what conduct was required.
13 And the conduct that was required was that no entity could
14 commence or pursue -- those are really the magic words --
15 commence or pursue a claim against Mr. Seery without the 16 Bankruptcy Court doing certain things. And we've referred to 17 this as the gatekeeper. And the only question I believe the 18 Court has to ask today is whether the Respondents commenced or 19 pursued a claim against Mr. Seery without seeking Bankruptcy
20 Court approval, as set forth in this order.

21 I'll dispute that there's anything ambiguous about this.
22 I'll dispute that it could not be clearer what conduct was 23 prohibited. It could not be clearer. The only question is 24 whether the conduct constitutes the pursuit of a claim.

25 Let's see what they did. If we could go to the next

1 slide. There will be no dispute about what they did. And
2 what they did is, a week after filing a lawsuit against the
3 Debtor and two others arising out of the HarbourVest
4 settlement, a settlement that this Court approved, after 5 notice and a hearing and participation by the Respondents,
6 after they had the opportunity to take discovery, after they
7 had the opportunity to examine Mr. Seery about the value of 8 HarbourVest's interest in HCLOF, after all of that, they
9 brought a lawsuit after Mr. Patrick took control of the DAF
10 and CLO Holdco. And that lawsuit related to nothing but the 11 HarbourVest suit, and it named in Paragraph 2, right up above,
12 Mr. Seery as a potential party. And a week later, Your Honor,
13 they filed what we call the Seery Motion, and it was a motion
14 for leave to amend their complaint to add Mr. Seery as a
15 defendant.

16 We believe that that clearly violates the Court's July 7
17 order. And indeed, again, these are facts. They're not -- 18 they're not in dispute. Just look at the first sentence of 19 their motion. The purpose of the motion was to name James
20 Seery as a defendant. That was the purpose of the motion.
21 And the way that they made the motion, Your Honor -- and these 22 are undisputed facts -- the way they made the motion, Your 23 Honor, shows contemptuous intent. We don't have to prove 24 intent, but I think it might be relevant when you get to 25 remedies. Okay?

1 And so how do I -- why do I say that? Because they made
2 this motion, Your Honor, and they didn't have to. Everybody
3 knows that under Rule 15 they could have amended the complaint
4 if they wanted to. If they wanted to, they didn't need the 5 Court's permission. What they wanted to do was try to get the 6 District Court to do what they knew they couldn't. And that's 7 contemptuous.

8 And they did it, Your Honor, without notice to the Debtor.
9 Even after the Debtor had accepted service of the complaint,
10 even after we told them, if you go down this path, we're going 11 to file a motion for contempt, they did it anyway. They 12 didn't serve the Debtor. They didn't give the Debtor a
13 courtesy copy. They didn't notify the Debtor. The only thing
14 that happened was the next day, when the District Court
15 dismissed it without prejudice, they sent us a copy of that 16 notice. And within three days, we were here.

17 A court order was in effect. Mr. Patrick is going to 18 admit to that. There's not going to be any dispute about 19 that. The order required that the Respondents come to this 20 Court before they pursue a claim against Mr. Seery, and they 21 failed to comply with that order. The facts, again -- if we 22 can go to the next slide. We can look at some of the detail,
23 because the timeline is mindboggling.

24 Mr. Patrick became the Plaintiffs' authorized
25 representative on March 24th. And folks, when I took their

1 depositions, weren't specific about dates, and that's why some
2 of the entries here refer to sometime after, but there's no
3 question that the order of events is as presented here and as 4 the evidence will show today.

5 The evidence will show that sometime after Patrick became
6 the Plaintiffs' authorized representative, Mr. Dondero
7 informed Mr. Patrick that Highland had usurped an investment
8 opportunity from the Plaintiffs. Mr. Patrick is going to 9 testify to that. Mr. Patrick is also going to testify that,
10 without prompting, without making a request, D.C. Sauter, the 11 general counsel of NexPoint Advisors, recommended the Sbaiti
12 firm to Mr. Patrick. Mr. Patrick considered nobody else.

13 Mr. Patrick retained the Sbaiti firm in April. In other 14 words, within 12 days of the filing of the complaint. They're 15 retained and they conduct an investigation. You're going to 16 hear the assertion of the attorney-client and the common
17 interest privilege every time I ask Mr. Dondero what he and 18 Mr. Sbaiti talked about and whether they talked about naming
19 Jim Seery as a defendant. But with Patrick's authorization,
20 the Sbaiti firm filed the complaint on April 12th, just days
21 after they were retained.

22 It's like a -- it's an enormous complaint. I don't know
23 how they did that so quickly. But in any event, the important
24 point is that they all worked together. None of this happened
25 until Mr. Patrick became the authorized representative.

1 Mr. Patrick is going to tell you, Your Honor, he's going
2 to tell you that he had no knowledge of any wrongdoing by Mr.
3 Seery prior to the time he assumed the rein of the DAF and the 4 CLO Holdco. He had no knowledge, Your Honor, of any claims
5 that the DAF and CLO Holdco had against the Debtor until he
6 became the Plaintiffs' authorized representative and Mr.
7 Dondero spoke to him.

8 If we can flip to the next page. Mr. Dondero has 9 effective control of the DAF. He has effective control of CLO
10 Holdco. You're going to be bombarded with corporate documents
11 today, because they're going to show you -- and they want you
12 to respect the corporate form, they really want you to follow
13 the rules and respect the corporate form, because only Mr.
14 Scott was responsible for the DAF and CLO Holdco until he
15 handed the reins on March 24th to Mr. Patrick. Mr. Dondero
16 has nothing to do with this. He's going to tell you. He's 17 going to tell you he had nothing to do with the selection of 18 Mr. Patrick as Mr. Scott's replacement.

19 The facts are going to show otherwise, Your Honor. The 20 DAF is a $200 million charitable organization that is funded
21 almost exclusively with assets derived from Highland or Mr.
22 Dondero or the Get Good Trust or the Dugaboy Trust. The 23 evidence is going to show that at all times these entities had 24 shared services agreements and investment advisory agreements
25 with HCMLP. The evidence will show that HCMLP at all times

1 was controlled by Mr. Dondero.

2 And it made sense. The guy put in an awful lot of money
3 for charitable usage. Is he really just going to say, I don't
4 really care who runs it? The evidence is going to show that
5 between October 2020 and January 2021, Grant Scott actually
6 exercised independence. Grant Scott was Mr. Dondero's
7 childhood friend. They went to UVA together. They were
8 roommates. Mr. Scott was the best man at Mr. Dondero's
9 wedding. But we were now in bankruptcy court. We're now in 10 the fishbowl. And I will -- this may be a little argument,
11 but there's no disputing the facts that Mr. Scott acted
12 independently, and he paid the price for it. Mr. Scott did it
13 three times.

14 He did it when he amended CLO Holdco's proof of claim to 15 take it down to zero. He did it again after he withdrew the 16 objection to the HarbourVest settlement motion. And he did it
17 again when he settled the lawsuit that the Debtors had brought 18 against CLO Holdco. And that -- and on each of those three 19 occasions, the evidence will show that Mr. Scott did not
20 communicate with Mr. Dondero in advance, that Mr. Dondero
21 found out about these acts of independence after the fact, and 22 that each time he found out about it he had a little
23 conversation with Mr. Scott.

24 Mr. Dondero is going to tell you about it, and he's going
25 to tell you that he told Mr. Scott each act was inappropriate.

1 You may have heard that word before. Each act was not in the 2 best interests of the DAF.

3 The last of those conversations happened either on or just 4 after January 26th. And by January 31st, Mr. Scott gave
5 notice of his resignation. And you're going to see that
6 notice of resignation. And he asks for releases.

7 Mr. Patrick becomes, almost two months later, the 8 successor to Mr. Scott. Mr. Dondero is going to say he has no
9 idea how that happened. He was just told after the fact that 10 Mr. Patrick and Mr. Scott had an agreement. He's going to 11 tell you they had an agreement and he just heard about it
12 afterwards. He didn't really -- for two months, I guess, he 13 sat there after Mr. Scott told him that he wanted out and did 14 nothing to try to find out who's going to take control of my 15 charitable foundation with $200 million. He wasn't
16 interested.

17 But here's the thing, Your Honor. If we go to the next
18 slide. Let's see what Mr. Scott said at his deposition last
19 week. Question, "Do you know who selected Mark?" Answer, "I
20 do not." Question, "Do you know how Mark was selected?" Mark
21 is a reference to Mark Patrick. "I do not." "Did you ever
22 ask Mark how he was selected?" "I did not." "Did you ever
23 ask Mark who selected him?" "I did not." "Did you ever ask
24 anybody at any time how Mr. Patrick was selected to succeed
25 you?" "No, I did not." "Did you ever ask anybody at any time

1 as to who made the decision to select Mr. Patrick to succeed
2 you?" "No, I did not."

3 So I don't know what happened between Mr. Patrick and Mr.
4 Dondero when Mr. Patrick supposedly told Mr. Dondero that
5 there was an agreement with Mr. Scott, but that is news to Mr.
6 Scott. He had no idea.

7 Your Honor, we are going to prove by clear and convincing
8 evidence that each of the Respondents violated a very clear
9 and specific court order. And unless the Court has any other
10 questions, I'll stop for now.

11 THE COURT: No questions.

12 MR. MORRIS: Thank you, Your Honor.

13 THE COURT: All right. Who is making the argument
14 for the Respondents?

15 MR. SBAITI: Your Honor, I am. I'm just trying to 16 put the PowerPoint up on the WebEx.

17 THE COURT: Okay.

18 MR. SBAITI: Sorry about that.

19 MR. MORRIS: Your Honor, I'll try not to make this a 20 practice, but can I inquire as to how much time I used?

21 THE COURT: Oh. Nate?

22 THE CLERK: About thirteen minutes.

23 THE COURT: Thirteen minutes?

24 MR. MORRIS: Thank you very much.

25 THE COURT: Okay. All right.

1 MR. SBAITI: Your Honor, our PowerPoint is a little
2 bit longer than that one. May I approach with a copy?

3 THE COURT: You may. Uh-huh.

4 (Pause.)

5 MR. SBAITI: Your Honor, it does feel good to be back
6 in the courtroom.

7 THE COURT: Okay.

8 MR. SBAITI: It's been a long time.

9 THE COURT: Yes. For us, too.

10 MR. SBAITI: Just wish it wasn't under a circumstance
11 where someone is trying to sanction me.

12 But we're going to be dividing up this oral argument a 13 little bit. Also, to just kind of break up a little bit of 14 the monotony, because I think we have a lot to cover at the 15 opening stage of this. And I'll try to be as expeditious as I 16 can be.

17 OPENING STATEMENT ON BEHALF OF THE SHOW CAUSE RESPONDENTS

18 MR. SBAITI: Your Honor, the thing we -- the thing we 19 open with is the due process issue that we raised in our 20 brief. And where this really arises from is the Court's show
21 cause order calls us violators before we've had a chance to 22 respond to the allegations and before we've obviously been
23 able to approach this hearing. And the word violators means
24 something to us, Your Honor, because I've been a lawyer for a
25 long time, my partner has been a lawyer for a long time, our

1 clients have never been sanctioned, we've never been
2 sanctioned, and for us to be labeled violators first by 3 counsel and then in a court order makes us wonder whether or 4 not this process is already prejudged or predetermined.

5 THE COURT: I actually want to address that. Turn
6 off the clock.

7 Just so you know, I looked this up a while back, because
8 we gave a bankruptcy judges panel at some CLE. The average
9 bankruptcy judge in our district, back when I looked, signs
10 over 200 orders a week.

11 MR. SBAITI: Sure.

12 THE COURT: Many of those -- in fact, most of them --
13 are submitted by lawyers. So, you know, a big chunk of my 14 week is signing orders. And I obviously give more scrutiny to 15 those that are substantive in nature. Okay? If someone
16 submits to me a 50-page debtor-in-possession financing order,
17 I will look at that much more carefully than what I consider a
18 mere procedural order setting a hearing.

19 So I regret that that word was used, but I can assure you
20 I fairly quickly set that -- signed that, I should say --
21 regarding it as a merely procedural order setting a hearing.
22 Okay? So it's as simple as that. There was no hmm, I like 23 that word, violator. I had a stack, if you will, an 24 electronic stack of probably 200 orders in front of me the day
25 I signed that. Okay?

1 So, if that makes anyone feel any better, I don't know,
2 but that's the reality.

3 Okay. You can start the clock again.

4 MR. SBAITI: And I appreciate Your Honor saying that.
5 It does make us feel better, both about where the -- the 6 genesis of the order and the impact and its reflection on what
7 Your Honor thinks in terms of going into this.

8 The other thing that obviously raised concerns, and I
9 assume this comes from the same place, was four days ahead of 10 that order counsel told us the Court was going to order
11 everyone to be in person, and they had advance notice of that,
12 and we weren't sure how they had advance notice of that. I
13 guess they assumed --

14 THE COURT: I can assure you right here on the record
15 I never had ex parte communications with any lawyer in this 16 case, on this matter or any other matter. Okay? Again, those 17 are pretty strong words to venture out there with, which your 18 pleading did venture out there with those words.

19 My courtroom deputy, Traci, I think answers her phone 24
20 hours a day. So I'm quite sure she had communications with 21 the lawyers about this, just like she probably had 22 communications with you and your firm and every other firm in 23 this case. Okay?

24 MR. SBAITI: Like I said, Your Honor, we appreciated
25 what Your Honor -- appreciate what Your Honor said, but that

1 issue obviously stuck out -- stuck out to us, in combination.
2 So I'll move on from that issue.

3 This has to do with the lawsuit that was filed, and the 4 lawsuit, the genesis of the lawsuit, I think it's important to 5 say, because the argument has been raised in the briefing and 6 we wanted to address it upfront, why the lawsuit comes about.
7 And it comes about because of the Advisers Act and the 8 responsibilities that the Debtor has to the assets of the 9 funds that it manages. And the Advisers Act imposes a duty
10 not only on Highland but obviously on its control people and 11 its supervised people. And the lawsuit has to do with HCLOF, 12 which is what HarbourVest owned a piece of. And Highland, as 13 the advisor to HCLOF and the advisor to the DAF, owed
14 fiduciary duties to CLO Holdco, which is the DAF's holding 15 entity of its assets in HCLOF, but Highland Capital was also 16 an advisor, a registered investment advisor to the DAF
17 directly at the time. And so those federally-imposed
18 fiduciary duties lie at the crux of that lawsuit.

19 Moving on, Mr. Seery testified at the hearing that was in 20 this Court to be -- to get him appointed, and this was Exhibit
21 2 that was presented by the Debtor, and on Page 16 at the 22 bottom he says -- of the transcript, he says, I think, from a
23 high level, the best way to think about the Debtor is that
24 it's a registered investment advisor. As a registered
25 investment advisor, which is really any advisor of third-party

1 money over $25 million, it has to register with the SEC, and
2 it manages funds in many different ways.

3 In the middle of the next page he says, In addition, the 4 Debtor manages about $2 billion, $2 billion in total managed
5 assets, around $2 billion in CLO assets, and then other
6 securities, which are hedge funds -- other entities, rather,
7 which are hedge funds or PE style. Private equity style.

8 On Page 23 towards the bottom he says, As I said, the 9 Investment Advisers Act puts a fiduciary duty on Highland 10 Capital to discharge its duty to the investors. So while we 11 have duties to the estate, we also have duties, as I mentioned
12 in my last testimony, to each of the investors in the funds.
13 CLO Holdco would be an investor in one of those funds, HCLOF.

14 He goes on to say, Some of them are related parties, and 15 those are a little bit easier. Some of them are owned by 16 Highland. HCLOF was not owned by Highland. But there are 17 third-party investors in these funds who have no relation
18 whatsoever to Highland, and we owe them a fiduciary duty both
19 to manage their assets prudently but also to seek to maximize
20 value.

21 Now, the lawsuit alleges that Seery testified that the 22 HarbourVest portion of Highland CLO Funding was worth $22-1/2
23 million. Now, Mr. Morris wants the Court to hinge on the fact
24 that, well, no one asked him whether he was lying. But that's 25 not really the standard, and it certainly isn't the standard

1 when someone's an investment advisor and owes fiduciary
2 duties, which include fiduciary duties to be transparent with 3 your investors.

4 It also includes fiduciary duties not to self-deal.

5 The lawsuit also alleges that, in reality, those assets
6 were worth double that -- double that amount at the time. We
7 found out just, you know, in late March/early April that a
8 third -- from a third party who had access to the underlying 9 valuations at the time that those values were actually double
10 and that there was a misrepresentation, giving rise to the 11 lawsuit. That change in circumstance is the key issue behind
12 the lawsuit.

13 We allege that Mr. Seery and the Debtor, as RIAs, had a 14 duty to not self-deal and be fully transparent with that 15 information, and we think both of those things were violated
16 under the Advisers Act.

17 We don't allege that the HarbourVest settlement should be 18 undone or unwound. We can't unscramble that egg. We do seek 19 damages, as I believe is our right, arising out of the 20 wrongdoing and the process of pushing forth the settlement.

21 I think one of the allegations in the actual motion for 22 the show cause order was that this was going to undo all of 23 the hard work that Court had done and basically unwind and try
24 to re-piece Humpty Dumpty back together again. But that's 25 simply not the case. Nowhere in our allegations or in the

1 relief that we request are we trying to undo the HarbourVest
2 settlement as such.

3 Now, whether the lawsuit should be dismissed under the 4 affirmative defenses that they bring up -- res judicata,
5 waiver, release -- all of those are questionable under the 6 Advisers Act, given the change of circumstance, and therefore 7 are also questions on the merits. They don't go to the 8 colorability of the underlying claims in and of themselves,
9 which I think is important.

10 So we asked for leave to amend from the Court. And what
11 they want us to do, Your Honor, is they want to sanction us
12 for asking. They're saying asking for leave to amend is the 13 same thing as pursuing a claim. And I'll get to the specifics
14 on that in a little bit. But that's the frame. Can we be 15 sanctioned for asking a court, any court, even if it's the 16 wrong court, for permission to bring the lawsuit? They don't 17 cite a single case that says that that, in and of itself, is 18 sanctionable conduct, us asking.

19 So I'd like to introduce some of the Respondents.

20 Your Honor, may I have one of these waters?

21 THE COURT: Certainly.

22 MR. SBAITI: Thank you.

23 THE COURT: That's why they're there, by the way.

24 MR. SBAITI: I didn't know if they belonged to 25 somebody else.

1 THE COURT: We've scattered water bottles around for
2 people.

3 MR. SBAITI: I appreciate it. Thank you, Your Honor.

4 THE COURT: So if you see these little ones, that's
5 for anyone.

6 MR. SBAITI: So, this is an org chart, and you'll see
7 it as -- the exhibits that the Debtor's going to bring up.
8 And when we talk about the DAF, Your Honor -- I don't know if 9 that's visible to you. We're on Slide 19, if you're looking
10 at it on paper. There's a little number at the lower right-
11 hand corner. The charitable DAF GP, LLP and then the 12 Charitable DAF Holdco, Ltd. together are the principles of the 13 Charitable DAF Fund, LP. And so when we refer to the DAF or 14 the Charitable DAF, that's really the entity structure that 15 we're referring to. And then the GP and Holdco Ltd. have a
16 managing member. It used to be Grant Scott at the time this 17 was done. Today, it's Mr. Mark Patrick, who's in the room,
18 sitting next to Mr. Bridges.

19 The DAF is a charitable fund. It's funded over $32
20 million, as the evidence will show, including Dallas-Fort
21 Worth organizations, The Family Place, Dallas Children's 22 Advocacy, Center for Brain Health, the Crystal Ray Initiative, 23 Friends of the Dallas Police, Snowball Express, various 24 community and education initiatives, Dallas Arts, museums, the 25 Perot Museum, Dallas Zoo. That evidence is undisputed, Your

1 Honor. The DAF is a real fund. It is a real charitable fund.
2 It does real good in the community.

3 Now, Respondents -- Holdco, which you will see at the 4 bottom of that chart, is essentially the investment arm.
5 There are assets that the DAF owns in various pots, and Holdco
6 is the actual business engine that generates the money from 7 those assets that then -- that then gets passed up to the 8 charitable -- the four charitable foundations at the top.

9 I'll go back to Slide 21. And if you look at the top,
10 Your Honor, the Dallas Foundation, Greater Kansas City
11 Community, Santa Barbara Foundation, The Community Foundation
12 of North Texas: Those are the charities that then themselves
13 bestow the funds onto the actual recipients. So the money
14 flows up as dividends or distributions, and then gets 15 contributed.

16 CLO Holdco invests those assets, and it's an important
17 part of the business model, so that you're not sending out
18 principal. It's the money that CLO makes, the profits, if you
19 will, that it is able to generate that gets donated and makes 20 its way into the community.

21 So there's an important feature to the structure in that 22 it has to be able to generate money. It's not just money that 23 sits there and waits to be distributed. There's active 24 investing going on.

25 Mr. Mark Patrick owns the control shares of the entities

1 comprising the DAF and CLO Holdco, as I showed you, and the
2 beneficiary charitable foundations hold what we call
3 beneficial interests, where they just get money. They don't
4 have a vote.

5 Mr. Patrick cares about the public service the DAF engages
6 in. He's been an advisor to the DAF, CLO Holdco, and its 7 predecessor, Mr. Scott, since its inception. He receives no
8 compensation for the job he's doing today. And you'll hear
9 how he became -- how he inured to the control position of the 10 DAF and CLO Holdco from him, but it doesn't involve Mr.
11 Dondero, and the absence of someone saying that it did, I
12 think, is going to be striking by the end of the presentation
13 of evidence.

14 Their only argument against you, Your Honor, is going to 15 be you just can't believe them. But not believing witnesses
16 is not a substitute for the lack of affirmative evidence.

17 Mr. Patrick has said all along he authorized the filing of 18 the motion for leave to add Mr. Seery to the lawsuit in 19 District Court. He doesn't believe the motion to amend
20 violated this Court's orders, for the reasons stated in our 21 responsive filings to the motions for contempt and show cause
22 order. That's why he authorized it.

23 My firm, Sbaiti & Company, we're a small Dallas litigation
24 boutique retained by the DAF and CLO Holdco to file the 25 lawsuit. We did an investigation. I'm tickled to death that

1 Mr. Morris loved our complaint so much and gave us the
2 compliment that we got it done in a short amount of time, but
3 we did get it done in a short amount of time, because, in the 4 end, it's a rather simple issue, as I was able to lay it out
5 in about three or four bullet points in a previous slide.

6 The written aspect of that doesn't take that long, as Your 7 Honor knows, but the idea that there's a suspicion that we
8 didn't write it or someone else wrote it and ghost-wrote it
9 and gave it to us, which I think is the insinuation he was 10 making, is completely unfounded. There's no evidence of that.

11 We carefully read Your Honor's orders. We developed a 12 good-faith basis, as required by Rule 11, that the lawsuit and 13 the motion to add Mr. Seery were not filed in bad faith or for 14 an improper purpose. We don't think they're frivolous. We 15 don't think they're in violation of Your Honor's orders, given
16 the current state of the law.

17 Mr. Dondero is one of the settlors of the CRT, of the 18 Charitable Remainder Trust that ultimately provided assets to 19 CLO Holdco and the DAF. He does care about the DAF's mission.
20 I think Mr. Morris hit the nail on the head. Of course Mr.
21 Dondero cares about what happens to it. He's one of the 22 settlors, and it was his funds that initially were put into 23 it, so he's allowed to care. And I don't think him caring is 24 insidious, and him caring doesn't mean he has control and 25 doesn't mean he's the driving force behind some insidious

1 conspiracy that they're trying to insinuate exists.

2 He is an advisor to the DAF and CLO Holdco. It is a lot
3 of money and it needs advice, and he's an advisor to Mr.
4 Patrick. We don't run away from any of those facts, Your
5 Honor.

6 We also don't run away from the fact that he was the 7 source of some of the information that came in to that 8 complaint and that he relayed some of that information. The 9 content, we do claim work product privilege and attorney-
10 client privilege, because he's an agent of our client, and as 11 lawyers doing an investigation, the content of our
12 communications is protected under the attorney-client and work
13 product privileges, as well as the joint interest privilege.
14 But the fact that we admit that those communications happened,
15 we're not running away from that fact.

16 So, what does he have to do with this? It's interesting
17 that that opening argument you just heard spent about three 18 minutes on contempt and the other fourteen or fifteen minutes
19 or so on Mr. Dondero. And only on Mr. Dondero. There's a 20 negative halo effect, I believe, that they're trying to get 21 this Court to abide by. They want to inflame Your Honor and 22 hopefully capture -- cultivate and then capitalize on whatever
23 antipathy you might have for Mr. Dondero, and then sweep us
24 all in under that umbrella and sanction everybody just because 25 he had some involvement.

1 But whatever involvement he has, which we admit he had
2 some involvement in helping us marshal the facts, that's not a
3 basis for us to be sanctioned if there isn't an actual 4 sanctionable conduct that -- as we say there isn't.

5 We think there's an ulterior motive. That's why Mr.
6 Morris just announced to Your Honor, Mr. Dondero controls it
7 all. The ulterior motive, I believe, is, down the line, when 8 they want to argue some kind of alter ego theory, they want to 9 lay that foundation here. I don't think this is the 10 appropriate time for that foundation, and I don't think any of 11 the information and the evidence they're trying to marshal in 12 front of you is really going to be relevant to the very
13 specific question that's before Your Honor: Does our motion
14 asking the District Court to add Mr. Seery violate your order, 15 or violate it in a way that can be -- that we can be 16 sanctioned for? We don't believe it violates it.

17 So, the three core standards that have to be met. First
18 of all, civil contempt requires a valid, enforceable order.
19 It's not debatable and it's not -- I don't think that's a 20 shocking statement. Then they have to have clear and 21 convincing evidence of a violation of a specific unambiguous
22 term therein. Mr. Morris wants his version of the word pursue
23 to be unambiguous, and I think the word pursue is unambiguous.
24 But the way he wants you to construe it makes it completely
25 ambiguous, and we'll -- I'll get to that in a moment.

1 Now, for sanctioning counsel, the Fifth Circuit has held
2 you have to find bad faith. We're adjudged under a slightly
3 separate standard under the Fifth Circuit law. So the 4 contempt motion, though, to the extent it seeks to impose
5 double and treble attorney's fees, those are in punitive
6 fines. They are not compensatory. So criminal contempt
7 standards are raised, and so they have to show a violation in 8 bad faith. In other words, our arguments that we're making
9 have to be bad faith, not simply that we're wrong, and they
10 have to show beyond a reasonable doubt, usually in front of a 11 jury. The U.S. Supreme Court explained the difference and the 12 different procedural protections that have to be involved if 13 they're really going to seek double and treble compensatory
14 damages.

15 Now, he's right. Saying we intended -- saying that we 16 didn't mean to violate it isn't necessarily a defense. But 17 what you're actually going to hear from him is the opposite
18 argument, that even though we didn't violate it, we wanted to.
19 That's what he says. That's why he quoted you the opening
20 section of our motion asking for permission to sue Mr. Seery,
21 because that's a statement of purpose. And he says you should 22 sanction them right there. That's literally what he said.
23 It's right there, their purpose. If intent is irrelevant to 24 them, it's irrelevant as to us. The fact that we wanted to 25 sue Seery is fully admitted. We don't deny the fact that we

1 believe Mr. Seery should be a defendant in this lawsuit. But
2 the fact that we didn't sue him is why we didn't violate the
3 order. And they can't say that the fact that we eventually
4 wanted to sue him means we did violate the order. That door
5 swings both ways, Your Honor.

6 We don't think any element is met. The order, while writ
7 large, prohibits suing Mr. Seery without permission, and we
8 did not sue James Seery, pure and simple. The July 12 --
9 14th, 2020 order purports to reserve exclusively to this Court
10 that which, according to the statutes and the case law, we 11 believe the Court can't exclusively reserve to itself. And 12 Your Honor, the order prohibits commencing and pursuing a
13 claim against Jim Seery without coming here first to decide
14 the colorability of such a claim.

15 They, I believe, admit that we didn't commence a claim
16 against Jim Seery. I think they've admitted that now. So now
17 we're talking about what does pursue mean? We didn't pursue a
18 claim against Jim Seery. Is asking for leave to bring suit
19 the same thing as pursuing a claim? That's the question
20 that's really before Your Honor. Lawyers never talk of 21 pursuing a claim that hasn't been filed. We don't say, I'm 22 pursuing a claim and I'm going to file it next week or next 23 year. Usually, that type of language is in an order, because 24 when the order happens, there may already be claims against 25 Mr. Seery. And so the pursuit of claim is supposed to attack

1 those cases, to come here and show colorability, presumably,
2 before they continue on with those lawsuits. It doesn't mean
3 asking for permission.

4 If it did mean asking for permission, then complying with 5 Your Honor's order would be a violation. If the motion for 6 leave is a violation because it is pursuing a claim, if I had 7 filed that motion in this Court, it would still be pursuing a
8 claim without Your Honor's permission. I'd have to get 9 permission just to ask for permission. It puts us in this
10 endless loop of, well, if asking for permission is pursuing a 11 claim, and pursuing a claim is without permission violates the 12 Court's order, we'd always be in violation of the Court's
13 order just for asking, just for following Your Honor's edict.

14 THE COURT: I'm just, I'm going to interject. You
15 were supposed to, under the order, file a motion in this 16 Court.

17 MR. SBAITI: I understand that, Your Honor, and I
18 think that we can get to the specifics on why we disagree with 19 how the motion went, Your Honor. We hadn't sued Mr. Seery.
20 So as long as we dealt with the order, which is what our 21 position is, then we don't believe we violated the order.

22 THE COURT: You think the order was ambiguous,
23 requiring a motion to be filed in the Bankruptcy Court?

24 MR. SBAITI: Your Honor, what we believe is that the 25 order was ambiguous in terms of whether us asking for

1 permission in the District Court was in and of itself a
2 violation of the order. We don't think it was. Actually, we
3 don't think the order's ambiguous to that extent. The second
4 we file a suit against Mr. Seery and we don't have some 5 resolution of the issue, then I think the question of 6 sanctionability comes in. But we never filed suit, Your
7 Honor.

8 The Court doesn't say I can't seek permission in the 9 District Court or that we can't go to the District Court with 10 -- which has general jurisdiction over this case, and has 11 jurisdiction, we believe, over the actual case and controversy
12 that's being raised. But the idea of pursuit being a 13 violation of the order, of the letter of that order, is 14 nonsensical under that, it leads to an absurd result, and it's
15 plainly vague and ambiguous, Your Honor.

16 Asking Judge Boyle or asking a District Court for 17 permission is not a violation of this Court's order, not the 18 way it was written and not -- and I don't even believe it was 19 a violation necessarily of the Court's -- of the language that 20 the Court has. We -- it doesn't unambiguously prevent us from 21 asking the District Court for leave.

22 The Court's order yesterday, Your Honor, applied this very 23 rule. The TRO -- you said the TRO did not specifically state,
24 Turn your cell phone over. And you denied motion for 25 sanctions on that. That's basically the argument we're making

1 here, Your Honor. We think that was the correct ruling, and
2 we think the same type of ruling applies here.

3 Your order yesterday also determined that the Court
4 ultimately believes that hiring lawyers to file motions should
5 not be viewed as having crossed the line into contemptuous
6 behavior. That's essentially the argument they want you to 7 buy, that there's somehow a vindictiveness behind this and an 8 insidious plan to violate court orders, Your Honor. We don't 9 have any evidence of that.

10 THE COURT: Okay. Take the words vindictiveness and 11 insidious out of the equation. That's making things personal,
12 and I don't like that. The key is the literal wording of the 13 order, is it not?

14 MR. SBAITI: Your Honor, the key, I believe, is the 15 --

16 THE COURT: No entity may commence or pursue a cause
17 of action of any kind against Mr. Seery relating in any way to 18 his role as the chief executive officer and chief
19 restructuring officer of the Debtor without the Bankruptcy
20 Court first determining, after notice, that such claim or 21 cause of action represents a colorable claim of willful
22 misconduct or gross negligence against Mr. Seery and 23 specifically authorizing such entity to bring such a claim.
24 So I'm trying to understand why you argue that filing a motion
25 asking the District Court for permission is not inconsistent

1 with this order.

2 MR. SBAITI: Because it's not commencing a claim,
3 Your Honor. It's not commencing a claim against him.

4 THE COURT: Okay. So is your argument that if Judge
5 Boyle authorizes amendment of the pleading to add Mr. Seery
6 and then you do it, at that point they may have grounds for a
7 motion for contempt, but not yet, because she has not actually
8 granted your motion?

9 MR. SBAITI: Correct, Your Honor. I mean, in a
10 nutshell. In fact, that's one of -- I think that's probably 11 our next argument. We think, in a sense, this argument is 12 incredibly premature. There is three ways that this -- well,
13 I'd like to address this, so I've got -- I've got a diagram
14 that I think will actually help elucidate what our thought
15 process was.

16 There's three things she could have done. She could have 17 referred -- referred it to Your Honor, which is what we 18 expected was likely to happen.

19 THE COURT: But you didn't file a motion for referral
20 of the motion before her.

21 MR. SBAITI: Well, no, I don't mean in respect of 22 enforcing the reference. The referral we thought was most 23 likely going to happen because it's an associated case, and we 24 actually put those orders in front of her, so we expected that 25 those orders would end up -- that the question would

1 ultimately end up in front of Your Honor on that basis.

2 She could have denied our motion outright, in which case
3 we haven't filed a claim, we haven't violated it, or she could
4 have granted our motion and done one of two things. She could 5 have granted it to the extent that she thought leave would be 6 proper but then referred it down, or she could have decided --
7 taken the decision as the court with general jurisdiction and 8 simply decided it all on her own. She had all of those 9 options, Your Honor, and none of them results in a claim being
10 commenced or pursued without the leave of this Court, if leave
11 is absolutely necessary, Your Honor. And that's the point
12 that we were trying to make.

13 Your Honor, the -- there's -- you know, there's no
14 evidence that, absent an order from a court with jurisdiction,
15 that we were going to file a claim against Mr. Seery, that we 16 were going to commence or pursue a claim against Mr. Seery.
17 We were cognizant of Your Honor's order. We considered that.
18 And the reason we filed them the way we did is because,
19 according to the statutes and the case law, this is the type
20 of case that would be subject to a mandatory withdrawal of the 21 reference.

22 And so there's this paradox that arises, Your Honor. And 23 the paradox that arises is that we show up and immediately go,
24 well, we need to be back in the District Court. So we filed
25 our motion there, and I don't think that was contemptuous, it

1 wasn't intended to be contemptuous of the Court, but we showed
2 the orders to the Court, made the same arguments that we have
3 been making here, that we believe that there's problems with 4 the order, we believe the order oversteps its jurisdiction and 5 maybe is unenforceable, and it's up to that District Court, as
6 it has been in almost all of these other gatekeeper order
7 cases that get filed. None of them result in sanctions, Your 8 Honor. What they result in is a District Court deciding,
9 well, either they refer it or they decide I don't need to 10 refer it. But I don't think that that is the same thing as 11 commencing or pursuing a claim in the end, Your Honor, because 12 all we did was ask for permission, and permission could have 13 been denied or granted or granted in part.

14 Your Honor, they haven't cited an injury. You've heard
15 the testimony, Your Honor, that they -- the first time they
16 knew we had filed a motion -- which I don't understand why
17 that's the first time they knew we had filed a motion; we told
18 them we were going to file the motion -- was when I forwarded
19 an email saying that it's been denied without prejudice, Your 20 Honor. Well, that means they didn't have to do any work to 21 respond to the motion. They didn't have to do any work to do
22 any of the other things.

23 And one hundred percent of the damages that they're going
24 to say they incurred is the litigation of this contempt
25 hearing or this sanction motion, as opposed to some other

1 simpler remedy, like going in to Judge Boyle and saying, Your
2 Honor, all that needs to go, which is what they eventually
3 did. But they would have had to incur those costs anyway
4 because they're now moving to enforce the reference. They
5 filed a 12(b)(6). That briefing would have existed regardless
6 of whether or not we had filed our motion, regardless of 7 whether the sanctions hearing had commenced.

8 Your Honor, I'm going to let my partner, Mr. Bridges,
9 address this part of it, if I could. I think that gets into 10 more of the questions that you asked, and I think he can 11 answer them a lot better than I can.

12 THE COURT: Okay.

13 MR. SBAITI: Thank you.

14 THE COURT: That's fine.

15 MR. BRIDGES: Thank you, Your Honor. And I do want
16 to address pointedly the questions that you're asking. First,
17 though, I was hoping to back up to some preliminary remarks
18 that you made and say that I find the 200 orders a week just 19 mindboggling. It amazes me, and puts the entire hearing in a
20 different perspective for me. I'm grateful that you shared
21 that with us.

22 Your expression of regret about naming us violators was 23 very meaningful to me. It causes me -- well, the strong words
24 in our brief were mine. I wrote them. And your expression of 25 regret causes me to regret some of those words. I'm hopeful

1 that you can understand, at least in part, our reaction out of 2 concern.

3 And Your Honor, it's awkward for me to talk about problems
4 with your order, and that's the task that's come to me, to 5 list and talk through four of them and why we think they put 6 us in a really awkward position in deciding what to do in this 7 case, in the filing of it, in where we filed it, and in how we 8 sought leave to go forward against Mr. Seery. That was 9 awkward and difficult for us, and I'm hopeful that I can
10 explain that and that you'll understand, if I'm blunt about 11 problems with the order, that I mean it very respectfully.
12 Two hundred orders a week is still very difficult for me to 13 get my mind around.

14 The four issues in the order start with the gatekeeping.
15 Then, secondly, in the preliminary remarks, I made mention of 16 the Applewood case and the notice that the order releases some 17 claims. Its effect of --

18 THE COURT: And by the way, I mean, you might 19 elaborate on the facts and holding of Applewood, because I
20 came into this thinking Republic Supply v. Shoaf, and for that 21 matter, as I said, Espinosa, were much more germane. And so,
22 you know, you'll have to elaborate on Applewood. I remember
23 that case, but it's just not one people cite as frequently as 24 those two.

25 MR. BRIDGES: Yes, Your Honor. And our reply brief

1 devotes a page to the case, and I'm hopeful that I can
2 remember it well enough to give you what you're looking for
3 about it, but I would point you to our reply brief on that 4 topic as well.

5 The Shoaf case that Applewood quotes from and 6 distinguishes and expressly limits, the Shoaf case actually
7 has been cautioned and limited and distinguished numerous
8 times, if you Shepardize it, and the Applewood case is the 9 leading case, and it also is from the Fifth Circuit, that 10 describes and cabins the effects of Shoaf. And in Applewood,
11 what happened is a bankruptcy confirmation order became final
12 with releases in it, and the court held that exculpatory
13 orders in a final order from the Bankruptcy Court do not have 14 res judicata effect and do not release claims unless those 15 claims are enumerated in the exculpatory order. And --

16 THE COURT: Okay. So it was about specificity more
17 than anything else, right?

18 MR. BRIDGES: Yes, Your Honor. It was a --

19 THE COURT: Okay.

20 MR. BRIDGES: -- a blanket release, a blanket --

21 THE COURT: Okay.

22 MR. BRIDGES: -- exculpatory order that didn't 23 specify what claims were released by what parties, and 24 therefore the parties didn't have the requisite notice.

25 In my mind, Your Honor, it's comparable to the Texas

1 Supreme Court's holdings on what's required in a settlement
2 release in terms of a disclaimer of reliance, --

3 THE COURT: Okay. But, again, --

4 MR. BRIDGES: -- that if you aren't --

5 THE COURT: -- it's about specificity --

6 MR. BRIDGES: Yes, Your Honor.

7 THE COURT: -- more than anything else? And then
8 we've got the U.S. Supreme Court Espinosa case subsequent.

9 MR. BRIDGES: Okay. Your Honor, I'm not sure what 10 Espinosa you're referring to. Can you tell me why that 11 applies?

12 THE COURT: Well, it was a confirmation order. It
13 was in a Chapter 13 context. And there were provisions that 14 operated to discharge student loan debt, --

15 MR. BRIDGES: Uh-huh.

16 THE COURT: -- which, of course, cannot be discharged
17 without a 523 action, a separate adversary proceeding.
18 Nevertheless, the confirmation order operated to do what 523
19 suggests you cannot do, discharge student loan debt through a
20 plan confirmation order.

21 The U.S. Supreme Court says, well, that's unfortunate that 22 the confirmation order did something which it doesn't look
23 like you can do, but no one ever objected or appealed. That's 24 my recollection of Espinosa. So it seems to be the same
25 holding as Republic Supply v. Shoaf. And what I -- why I

1 asked you to elaborate on Applewood is because it does seem to
2 deal with the specificity of the order versus the 3 enforceability, no?

4 MR. BRIDGES: Your Honor, if it's not obvious
5 already, I'm not prepared to argue Espinosa. And your
6 explanation of it is very helpful to me. I think you're right
7 that the specificity issue from Applewood is what we're
8 relying on. And it sounds like --

9 THE COURT: Okay. So, that being the case, how was 10 this order not specific? Okay?

11 MR. BRIDGES: That's easy, Your Honor, because it
12 doesn't say which parties are releasing which claims. And 13 what we're talking specifically about there -- as we go
14 through the order, I can show you the language -- but what 15 we're talking about specifically are the ordinary negligence
16 and breach of fiduciary duty claims that your order doesn't
17 provide for at all. Rather, it says colorability of gross
18 negligence or willful wrongdoing, if I remember the words
19 precisely, that's what must be shown to pursue a case -- a
20 cause of action against Mr. Seery, thereby -- thereby
21 indicating that claims for mere negligence, not gross
22 negligence, or breach of fiduciary duty, which is an even 23 lesser standard, that those claims are prohibited entirely.

24 And by having that kind of general all-encompassing 25 release or exculpation for potential liability involving

1 negligence, and most importantly, fiduciary duty breach under
2 the Advisers Act, that that kind of exculpation under
3 Applewood is not enforceable and has no res judicata effect
4 because it wasn't -- those claims weren't enumerated in the 5 order.

6 That for it to have the intended exculpatory effect, if 7 that was what was intended, that the fiduciary duty claims and 8 the parties who those claims may belong to would have to have 9 been enumerated.

10 And indeed, that kind of specificity, what was required in 11 Applewood, isn't even possible for a claim that hasn't yet
12 occurred for future conduct. It's not possible to enumerate
13 the details, any details, of a future claim, because the 14 underlying act -- if the underlying basis, facts for that 15 claim, haven't yet happened. It's something to happen in the 16 future.

17 And here, that's what we're dealing with. We're dealing
18 with conduct that took place well after the January and July 19 2020 orders that had that exculpatory effect. Is -- is that 20 clear?

21 THE COURT: Understood.

22 MR. BRIDGES: Thank you, Your Honor. So, the four 23 areas of the order, the four functions that the order does
24 that are problematic to us that led us to do what we have done
25 are the gatekeeping function; the release; the fact that by

1 stating sole jurisdiction, that it had a jurisdiction-
2 stripping effect; and then, finally, jurisdiction asserting,
3 where, respectfully, Your Honor, we think to some extent the
4 order goes beyond what this Court's jurisdiction is. And so
5 that not only claiming exclusive jurisdiction, but claiming
6 jurisdiction over all actions against Mr. Seery, as described
7 in the order, is going too far.

8 And those are the four issues I want to talk about one at 9 a time, and here -- I went two screens instead of one. There
10 we go. And here's the order. I have numbered the highlights
11 here out of sequence because this is the sequence that I wish 12 to talk about them and that I think their significance to our 13 decision applies.

14 Before we get into the words of this July 16, 2020 order,
15 I want to mention the January order as well. Although the 16 motion for contempt recites both orders, we don't actually
17 think the January order applies to us, because our lawsuit
18 against Mr. Seery is not about his role as a director at 19 Strand in any way. We didn't make an issue of that, other
20 than in a footnote in our brief, because we don't think that 21 distinction matters much since the orders essentially say the 22 same things.

23 I'm not sure that it matters whether we have potentially
24 violated one order or two. If Your Honor finds we've violated
25 one, I think we're on the hook regardless. If Your Honor

1 finds that we didn't violate the July order, I don't think you
2 will find that we violated the January order, either. So my
3 focus is on the July order.

4 The gatekeeping function comes from the preliminary
5 language about commencing or pursuing a claim or cause of 6 action against Mr. Seery. And it says what you want us to do
7 first before bringing such a claim.

8 The second issue of the release comes a little bit later.
9 It's the colorable claim of willful misconduct or gross
10 negligence language. In other words, because only claims of 11 willful misconduct or gross negligence can pass the bar, can 12 pass muster under this order, that lesser claims -- ordinary
13 negligence and breach of fiduciary duty -- that those claims
14 are released by this order. That's the second argument.

15 Third is your reference to sole jurisdiction and the 16 effect that that has of attempting to say that other courts,
17 courts of original jurisdiction, do not have jurisdiction
18 because it solely resides here. That's the third thing I want
19 to address.

20 And then the fourth is the notion that we have to come to 21 this Court first for any action that fits the description of 22 an action against Mr. Seery, when some actions are, through
23 acts of Congress, removed from what this Court has the power
24 to address. Under 157(d) of Title 28, Your Honor, there are 25 some kinds of actions which withdrawal of the reference is

1 mandatory, and therefore this court lacks jurisdiction to
2 address those.

3 And so those are the four issues I want to tackle,
4 starting with the first, the gatekeeping. Your Honor, Section
5 28 -- Section 959 of Title 28 appears to be precisely on 6 point. It calls -- it is called by some courts an exception
7 to the Barton Doctrine, which we believe is the only basis,
8 the Barton Doctrine, for this Court to claim that it has
9 jurisdiction or sole jurisdiction and can require us to come
10 here first. We think the Barton Doctrine is the only basis
11 for that. We haven't seen anything in the briefing from 12 opposing counsel indicating there was another basis for it.
13 We think we're talking about the Barton Doctrine here as the 14 basis for that.

15 959 is exception to the Barton Doctrine, and we think it
16 explicitly authorizes what we have done.

17 Secondly, Your Honor, the order, the gatekeeping functions
18 of the order are too broad because of its incorporation of the 19 jurisdictional problems and the release problem that we'll 20 talk about later. But for problem number one, the key issue
21 that we're talking about is 959 as an exception to the Barton
22 Doctrine. And I went the wrong way.

23 THE COURT: So, we could go down a lot of rabbit
24 trails today, and I'm going to try not to do that, but are you
25 saying the very common practice of having gatekeeping

1 provisions in Chapter 11 cases is just defective law under 28
2 U.S.C. § 959(a)?

3 MR. BRIDGES: Can I say yes and no?

4 THE COURT: Okay.

5 MR. BRIDGES: Yes, to some extent, for some claims.

6 No as to other claims to another extent. We are not saying
7 gatekeeping orders are altogether wrong, --

8 THE COURT: Okay.

9 MR. BRIDGES: -- no.

10 THE COURT: Okay.

11 MR. BRIDGES: There are problems with gatekeeping
12 orders that do more than what the law, Section 959 in 13 particular, allows them to do.

14 THE COURT: Okay. Be more explicit. I'm not -- I
15 think you're saying, no, except when certain situations exist,
16 but I don't know what the certain situations are.

17 MR. BRIDGES: And Your Honor, you're exactly right.
18 It's complicated, and it takes a long explanation. Let me
19 start --

20 THE COURT: Okay. I really want to know, --

21 MR. BRIDGES: Yeah, me, too.

22 THE COURT: -- since I do these all the time, and 23 most of my colleagues do.

24 MR. BRIDGES: Thank you, Your Honor. And 959 is on 25 the screen. Managers of any property --

1 THE COURT: Uh-huh.

2 MR. BRIDGES: -- is what we're talking about,
3 including debtors in possession. Now, it starts off by saying
4 trustees, receivers. I mean, this is exactly what the Barton
5 Doctrine is about, right? We're talking about trustees and 6 receivers, but not just them. We're also talking about
7 managers of any property, including debtors in possession, --

8 THE COURT: Uh-huh.

9 MR. BRIDGES: -- may be sued without leave of the 10 court appointing that. That's contrary to the Barton Doctrine
11 so far.

12 With respect to what I've numbered five here -- these 13 numbers are mine -- the quote is directly verbatim out of the 14 U.S. Code, but the numbering one through five is mine. With 15 respect to what acts or transactions in carrying on business
16 connected with such property.

17 And so, Your Honor, what we're talking about isn't Barton
18 Doctrine is inapplicable, or you can't have a gatekeeping
19 order for any claims, but it's about managers of property.
20 And one of the hornbook examples of this is the grocery store
21 that files for bankruptcy and then, when --

22 THE COURT: Slip-and-fall.

23 MR. BRIDGES: You've got it, Your Honor.

24 THE COURT: Uh-huh.

25 MR. BRIDGES: And because they're managing property,

1 --

2 THE COURT: So your cause of action, if it went
3 forward, is the equivalent of a slip-and-fall --

4 MR. BRIDGES: Yes, Your Honor.

5 THE COURT: -- in a grocery store?

6 MR. BRIDGES: Yes, Your Honor.

7 THE COURT: Okay. Let me skip ahead. What about the 8 last sentence of 959(a)?

9 MR. BRIDGES: 959(b)? Or 959(a)?

10 THE COURT: No, of 959(a).

11 MR. BRIDGES: What we're looking at here?

12 THE COURT: That's the sentence that I have always 13 thought was one justification for a gatekeeper provision. And 14 I know, you know, a lot of others feel the same.

15 MR. BRIDGES: Are we talking about what I have listed
16 in number five here?

17 THE COURT: No. I'm talking about the last sentence
18 of 959(a). Such actions, okay, shall be subject to the 19 general equity power of such court, you know, meaning the 20 Bankruptcy Court, so far as the same may be necessary to the 21 ends of justice, but this shall not deprive a litigant of his 22 right to a trial by jury.

23 Isn't that one of the provisions that lawyers sometimes
24 rely on in arguing a gatekeeper provision is appropriate?

25 MR. BRIDGES: Certain --

1 THE COURT: You, Bankruptcy Judge, have the power,
2 the general equity power, so far as the same may be necessary
3 to the ends of justice?

4 MR. BRIDGES: Your Honor, you bet. Absolutely, there
5 is equitable power to do more. There's no doubt that there
6 are reliance -- there is reliance on that in many instances.
7 So I'm not sure -- I'm not sure I'm responding to your point.

8 THE COURT: Well, again, I think this is the third or 9 fourth argument down the line that really you start with in 10 the analytical framework here, but I guess I'm just saying I
11 always thought a gatekeeping provision was consistent,
12 entirely consistent with 28 U.S.C. § 959(a), the last
13 sentence.

14 MR. BRIDGES: When you're dealing --

15 THE COURT: You disagree with that?

16 MR. BRIDGES: I do, Your Honor.

17 THE COURT: Okay.

18 MR. BRIDGES: And it's not that the Court lacks
19 equitable powers to do more. It's that those equitable powers
20 are affected by when management of other parties, third
21 parties' property is at issue.

22 What we're talking about is similar to yesterday's 23 contempt order. When you set the basis of describing what it
24 is that Highland's business is, that they're a registered
25 investment advisor in the business of buying, selling, and

1 managing assets -- assets, of course, are property, and that
2 property is not just Highland's, but it's third-party
3 property, as if a railroad loses luggage belonging to its
4 customers. Rather than the railroad with a trustee appointed
5 having mismanaged railroad property, we're talking about
6 third-party property here, third-party property that belongs
7 to the CLOs, about a billion dollars of assets in these CLO
8 SPEs that Highland manages.

9 And again, the slide that Mr. Sbaiti showed you showing
10 Highland, yes, they manage their own assets, the assets of the 11 Debtor, but also of the third parties, including the 12 Charitable DAF and CLO Holdco, and that the Advisers Act
13 imposes fiduciary duties on them that are unwaivable when 14 they're doing that.

15 In Anderson, the Fifth Circuit called 959 an exception to 16 the rule requiring court's permission for leave to sue. In 17 Hoffman v. City of San Diego much more recently, relying on 18 this statute again, the court rejected a Barton challenge and 19 called it a statutory exception. And in Barton itself, from a
20 century ago, the U.S. Supreme Court even acknowledged there
21 that where a receiver misappropriated the property of another 22 -- not the debtor's property, the property of another -- that 23 the receiver could still be sued personally, without leave of 24 court.

25 Absent Barton, absent applicability of the Barton

1 Doctrine, Your Honor, the gatekeeper order is problematic.

2 Barton applies where a court has appointed a trustee, and
3 I don't think, Your Honor, under the circumstances in this 4 case, that it is fair to say Mr. Seery was appointed, as 5 opposed to approved by this Court. And it involves a
6 trustee's actions under the powers conferred on him. The 7 Barton Doctrine is not about a broader exculpation of the 8 trustee.

9 Here, what the Debtor asked for in its motion for 10 approval, approval of hiring Mr. Seery, what it asked for 11 specifically in the motion was that the Court not interfere
12 with corporate decisions absent a showing of bad faith, self-
13 interest, or gross negligence, and asking the Court to uphold
14 the board's decision to appoint Mr. Seery as the CEO as long
15 as they are attributable to any rationale business purpose.

16 At the hearing, Your Honor, at the hearing, we've quoted
17 your comments saying that the evidence amply shows a sound
18 business justification and reasonable business judgment on the 19 part of the Debtor in proposing that Mr. Seery be CEO and CRO.
20 Your Honor, respectfully, those words don't sound like the 21 judge using its discretion to choose -- appoint a trustee.
22 They sound like the Court exercising deference to the business
23 judgment of a business. And appropriately so. We don't have 24 trouble with application of the business judgment rule. Our 25 problem is with application of it and the Barton Doctrine.

1 Those two do not go together. A trustee has protection
2 because it's acting under color of the court that appointed
3 it. A court that merely deferred to someone else's
4 appointment, that's not what the Barton Doctrine is about.
5 The Barton Doctrine is about the court's function that the 6 trustee takes on, not deference to the business judgment of 7 the debtor in possession or the other fiduciary appointed by
8 the court.

9 Problem one was the gatekeeping. Problem two is about the 10 release and the Applewood case. Your Honor, again, ordinary 11 negligence and ordinary fiduciary duty breaches do not rise to 12 the level of gross negligence and willful misconduct. And 13 because of that, the language of this order appears to be 14 barring them entirely. No entity may bring a lawsuit against 15 Mr. Seery in certain circumstances without the Bankruptcy
16 Court doing what? Determining that the cause of action
17 represents a colorable claim of willful misconduct or gross
18 negligence against Mr. Seery.

19 A breach of fiduciary duty under the Advisers Act can be 20 unintentional, it can fall short of gross negligence by miles,
21 and to exculpate Mr. Seery from those kinds of claims entirely
22 is to make him no longer a fiduciary. A fiduciary duty that 23 is unenforceable makes someone not a fiduciary. That's 24 plainly not what Mr. Seery thinks his role is. It's 25 inconsistent with the Advisers Act. And Your Honor, the

1 notion that he would not owe his clients fiduciary duties as 2 he manages their assets would require disclosures under the
3 SEC regulations. It creates all kinds of problems to state
4 that a fiduciary under the Advisers Act does not have
5 enforceable fiduciary duties. The order appears to be 6 releasing all of those. But for Applewood's specificity
7 requirement, it would be doing that.

8 As an asset manager under the Advisers Act, Mr. Seery is 9 managing assets belonging to CLO Holdco and The Charitable 10 DAF. That's precisely what the District Court action is 11 about, those fiduciary duties. And Mr. Seery, in describing 12 these recently in testimony here -- forgive me for reading
13 through this, Your Honor, but it is pretty short -- Mr. Seery
14 testifies, I think, from a high level, the best way to think
15 about the Debtor is that it's a registered investment advisor.
16 As a registered investment advisor, which is really any 17 advisor of third-party money over $25 million, it has to 18 register with the SEC and it manages funds in many different
19 ways. The Debtor manages approximately $200 million current 20 values -- it was more than that of the start of the case -- of 21 its own assets.

22 I'm pausing there, Your Honor. $200 million of its own
23 assets, but we're about to talk about third-party assets.

24 It doesn't have to be a registered investment advisor for 25 those assets, but it does manage its own assets, which include

1 directly-owned securities, loans, from mostly related entities
2 but not all, and investments in certain funds, which it also 3 manages.

4 And then here it comes: In addition, the manager -- the
5 Debtor manages about roughly $2 billion, $2 billion in total
6 managed assets, around $2 billion in CLO assets, and then
7 other entities, which are hedge funds or PE style.

8 We also had to get a very good understanding of each of 9 the funds that we manage. And as I said, the Investment
10 Advisers Act puts a fiduciary duty on Highland Capital to 11 discharge its duty to the investors. So while we have duties
12 to the estate, we also have duties, as I mentioned in my last
13 testimony, to each of the investors in the funds.

14 Now, some of them are related parties, and those are a
15 little bit easier. Some of them are owned by Highland. But
16 there are third-party investors in these funds who have no
17 relation whatsoever to Highland, and we owe them a fiduciary
18 duty both to manage their assets prudently but also to seek to 19 manage -- maximize value.

20 Those duties do not require -- requires the opposite of 21 what I mean. They don't merely require avoiding gross
22 negligence or willful wrongdoing. When you're managing assets
23 of others, the fiduciary duties that you owe are far stricter
24 than that. The highest duty known to law is a fiduciary duty.

25 The order is inconsistent with that testimony,

1 acknowledging the fiduciary duties owed to The Charitable DAF
2 and to CLO Holdco. It appears to release the Debtor -- maybe
3 not the Debtor. My slide may be wrong about that. It appears
4 to release Seery from having to uphold these duties.

5 In addition to problems with the gatekeeping under the 6 Barton Doctrine, in addition to the release problem and 7 Applewood and the unwaivable fiduciary duties under the 8 Advisers Act, there's also a problem with telling other courts
9 that they lack jurisdiction. Your Honor knows bankruptcy
10 court law -- bankruptcy -- and the Bankruptcy Code far better
11 than I do, I'm certain. But a first principle, I believe, of 12 bankruptcy law is that this Court's jurisdiction is derivative
13 of the District Court's. And the only doctrine I've heard of 14 that can allow this Court to exercise exclusive jurisdiction
15 of the District Court that it sits in is the Barton Doctrine, 16 which, again, is very problematic to apply in this case, for 17 the reasons we've discussed already.

18 By claiming to have -- by stating in the order that this
19 Court has sole jurisdiction, it appears to either be inclusive
20 of the District Court, which I understand Your Honor doesn't
21 think her order can be read that way, but if it's not read
22 that way, then it results in telling the District Court that 23 it doesn't have the original jurisdiction that Congress has 24 given it. And that's problematic in the order as well.

25 THE COURT: Let me ask you. If you think the word

1 "power" had been used, or "authority," versus "jurisdiction,"
2 that would have cured it?

3 MR. BRIDGES: I think there would still have been
4 other problems. Would it have cured this? I don't think so,
5 Your Honor, because, again, I think the only basis for that
6 power is the Barton Doctrine.

7 THE COURT: Okay.

8 MR. BRIDGES: To listen to opposing counsel, you'd 9 think that our jurisdictional argument was entirely about the 10 jurisdiction stripping. It's not. Frankly, Your Honor,
11 that's maybe even a lesser point. A key problem here to is 12 the assertion of jurisdiction, not over any of the claims, but 13 over all of the claims, because of 157(d), Your Honor, because 14 some claims, some causes of action, have been put outside the 15 reach of bankruptcy, the Bankruptcy Court, and those actions
16 may in some instances fit within your description of the cases
17 that are precluded here.

18 That's a problem jurisdictionally with this Court's
19 ability to say it retains jurisdiction or that it has, that it
20 asserts jurisdiction. Over what? Any kind of claim or cause
21 of action against Mr. Seery relating in any way to his role as 22 the chief executive officer and chief restructuring officer of 23 the Debtor.

24 Some claims that fit into that bucket also fit into the 25 description in 157(d) of cases that require both consideration

1 of bankruptcy law and federal laws affecting interstate
2 commerce or regulating it. Right? Some cases must fall into
3 -- under 157(d), despite having something to do with Mr.
4 Seery's role as a chief executive officer. And Your Honor,
5 the Advisers Act fiduciary duty claims asserted by Respondents
6 in the District Court are such claims. They cannot be decided
7 without considering the Advisers Act.

8 There are also RICO claims that, of course, require
9 consideration of the RICO statute. But the Advisers Act
10 claims absolutely require consideration of both bankruptcy law
11 and this Court's order exonerating -- exculpating Mr. Seery
12 from some liability, in addition to the unwaivable fiduciary
13 duties imposed by the Advisers Act.

14 The assertion of jurisdiction here blanketed, in a blanket
15 manner, over all claims against Mr. Seery in any way related
